This year's Homecoming theme was selected by the Student Council to be "Living in the Past". The Juniors were the winners of the float competition, with their representation of a covered wagon.

Sixteen girls were pre-tapped and after a week of waiting six of these girls were finally tapped to be a part of the 1973-1974 Homecoming court. Chosen to represent their class were; Denise Langdon, Sophomore Maid; Gay Stelmach, Junior Maid; and Sandy Warden, Senior Maid. Kathy Watson and Becky Zachos were attendants to the Queen, Mickey Regineck.

Mickey Regineck gives a smile for everyone to see after she has been crowned Homecoming Queen.

BELOW: Sandy Warden sits on the Senior float of "The Little Red Schoolhouse"

Gay Stelmach, the Junior Maid, is driven to the ceremony in a convertible.

Offense and defense line up to start a competitive game.

Senior Coach Mr. Mackson, and players, watch from the sideline a very exciting and hilarious game.

Seniors overpower Juniors

In spite of the rainy weather for the 1973-1974 Powderpuff game, the Senior girls pulled through to gain a victory over the Juniors. The wet, slippery field made it a tough game.

Victorious Senior coaches were: Mr. Carter, Mr. Bartlett, Mr. Mackson and Mr. M. Johnson. The Juniors were coached by Mr. Tempelton, Mr. Horsch and Mr. Santavicca.

The Senior and Junior cheerleaders added excitement to the game and they were a delight to watch.

The referee for the powderpuff game calls a foul on the Seniors.

Junior Cheerleaders display their fine abilities in an awkward mount.

Looking through her work for the day is Mrs. Bortz.

Mrs. Allen, busy counting money, is surprised when she hears the camera click.

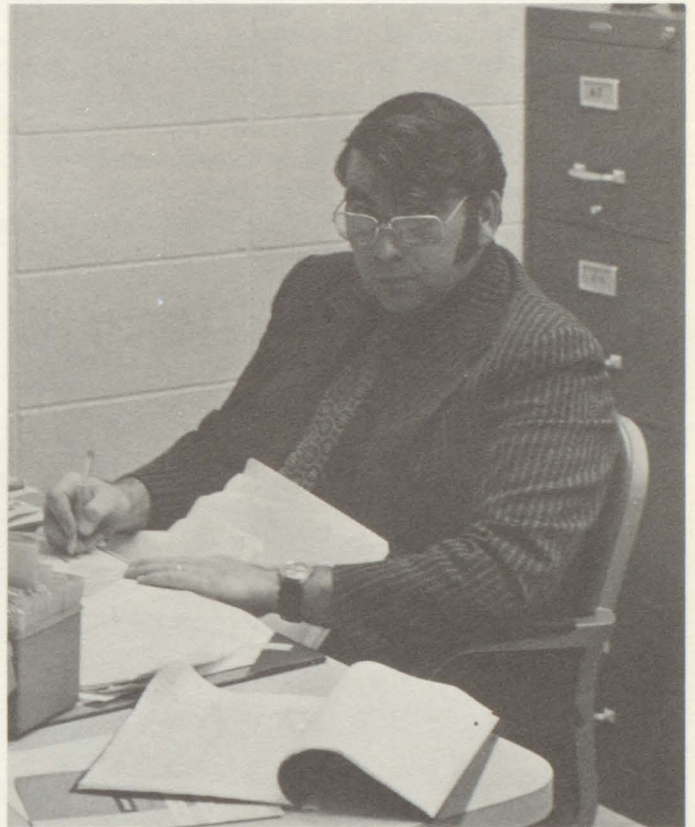

Counselors Attend To Student Needs

The counselors have one of the busiest schedules in our school. They are always at the call of the students, willing to help when a student needs assistance. They offer information in many areas dealing with school today, and future school plans. They should be commended for their time and effort given to the students. They are: Mr. Bonnell; sophomore counselor, Mrs. Lay junior counselor and Mrs. Hanson; seniors.

Mrs. Hanson listens as a student explains his plans for the future. RIGHT: Mrs. Lay double checks her appointments for the busy day ahead.

Looking over his glasses at the Photographer is Mr. Bonnell.

The Special Assistants at C.H.S.

The men and women who cook and clean for us deserve appreciation from all. They belong to their own special department as the rest of the faculty does. Many of these men and women have worked at C. H. S. for many years and have done an outstanding job.

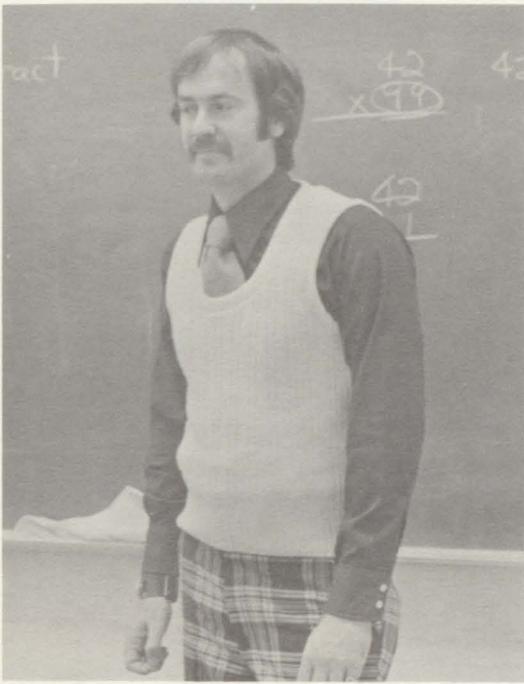

Taking a rest from cooking are our cooks, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Stanton, Mrs. Funk, Mrs. Blackerby, Mrs. Meade, and Mrs. Guilds.

Also taking time out from their busy schedule of cleaning is Mr. Barnes, Mrs. Barber, and Mr. Green.

Aids Add Help to Students

There are a few people that fall into a category of their own. They perform a certain job that no one else does. These are: the librarians; Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Whitehorn, who is new this year. Mr. McArthur and Mrs. Shebore who deal with our Co-op program and the students involved. Mr. Webster who teaches the Special Education class and Mrs. Reiter our social worker who came to this school at the end of last year.

Mr. Webster watches the students as they pass by in the hall.

Mr. McArthur and Mrs. Shebore compare notes about Co-op and the Wolves Den.

Mrs. Whitehorn and Mrs. Hansen laugh about a new book

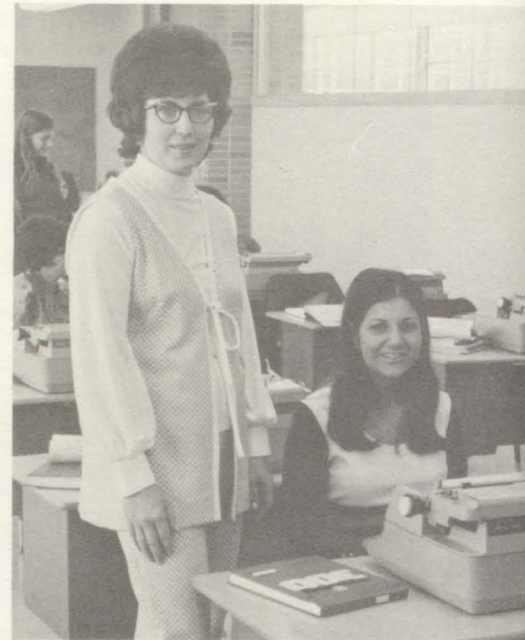

You can tell by her desk that Mrs. Reiter has lots of work to keep her busy.

Business Dept. Develop Careers

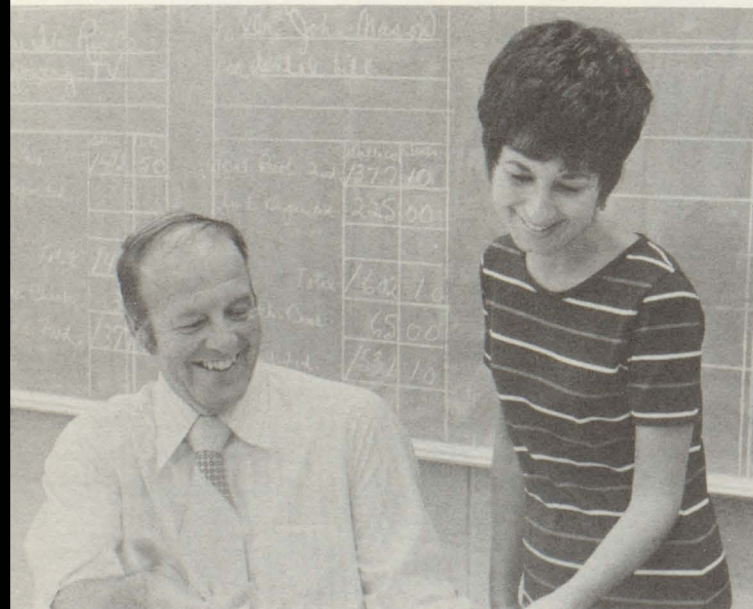

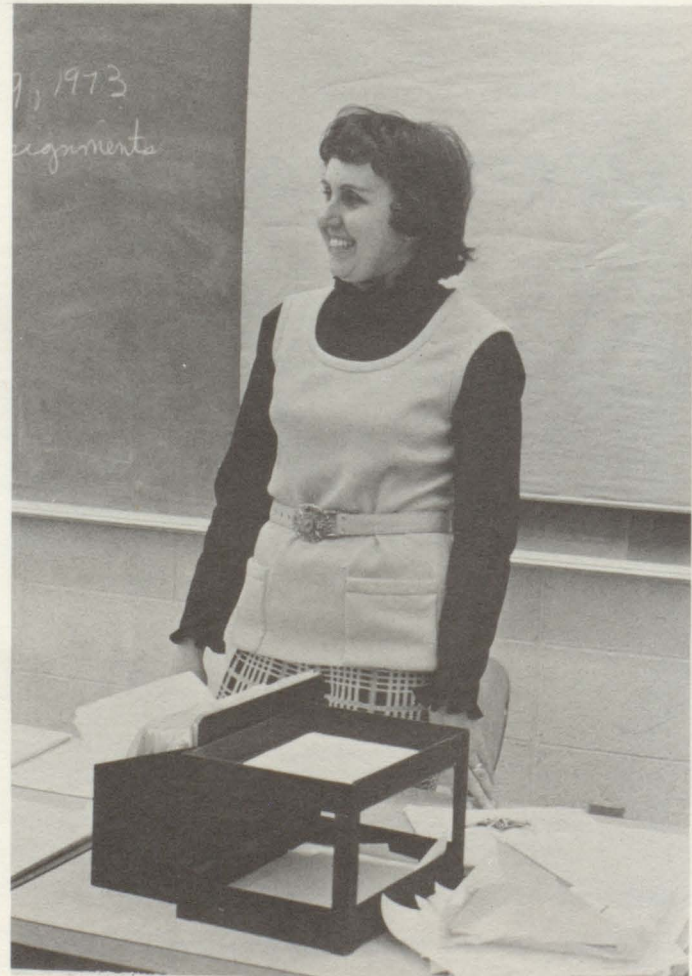

This year Business Department offers courses in general office procedures to advanced forms. These courses are; secretarial and personal typing; shorthand, book-keeping, record keeping, retailing, salesmanship and business machines. There is also a junior and senior block course offered which gives the student an idea of what an office job consists of.

All these courses are valuable if you plan to continue your education in any field or plan to work when you graduate.

LEFT: Mrs. Jervis and Mrs. Crowley talk over their classes and plans. RIGHT: Explaining the importance of speed to her Shorthand class is Mrs. Becker. BELOW: Mr. McCurdy and Mrs. Rankow discuss the lesson plans for the week ahead.

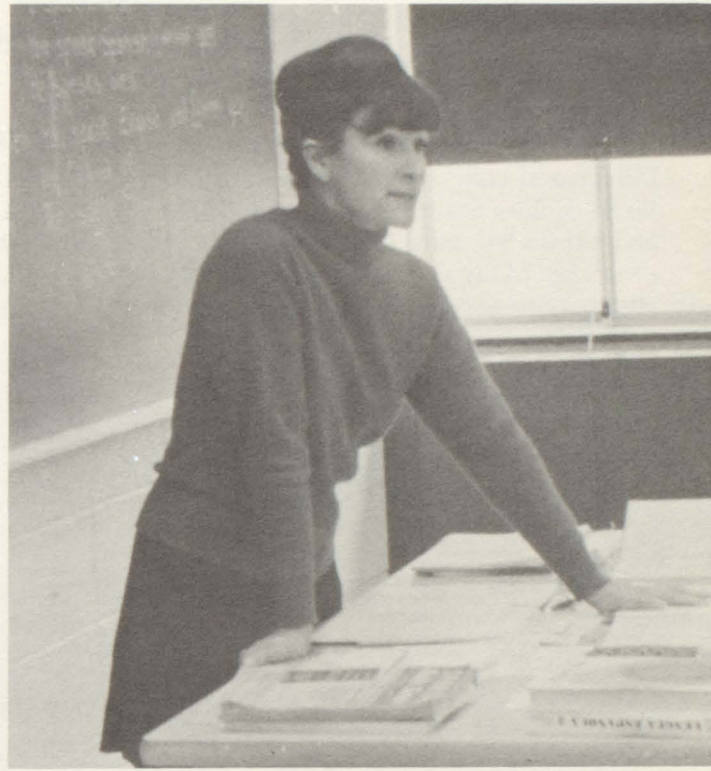

Mrs. Eaton demonstrates the proper way to sit at a typewriter while Mrs. Reeves looks on.

Mrs. Arend smiles at a joke a student is trying to tell in French.

Mrs. Addis instructs her Spanish class on the pronunciation of new words.

Enter a New World with Language

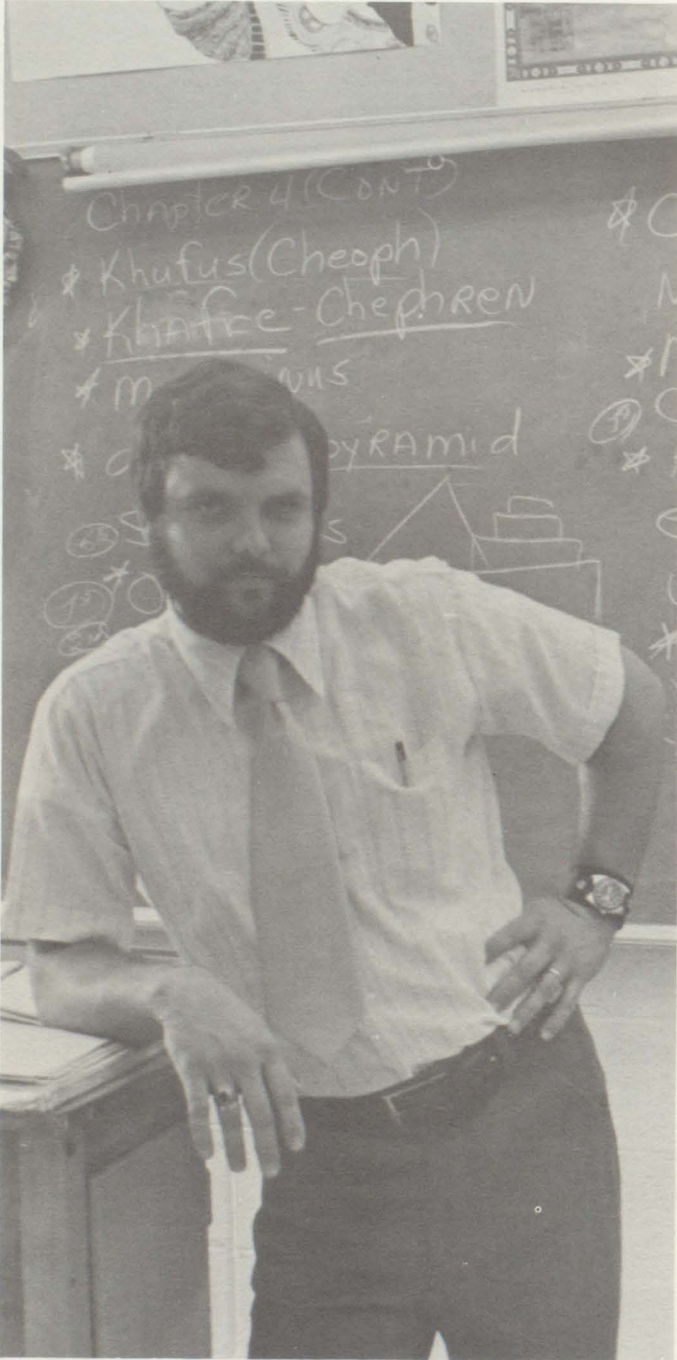

French, German, and Spanish are the languages students may choose from in the Foreign Language Department. Culture and conversation are learned in each specific language. The French Department is planning a European trip this summer, traveling extensively in France and visiting Italy, Switzerland and Germany; students have an excellent chance to apply what they have learned this way.

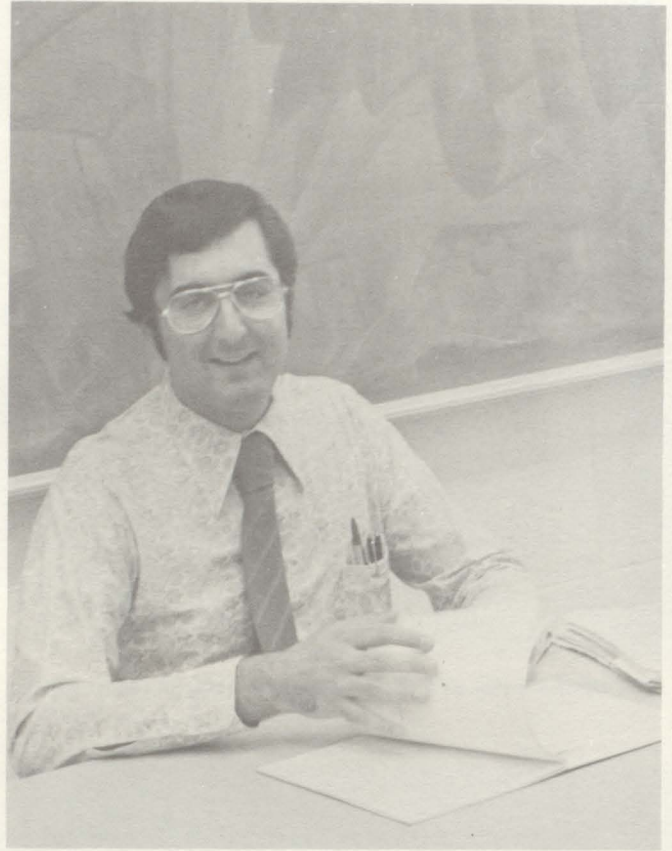

Mrs. Dennis teaches German fourth hour. The rest of the day she is busy at the Junior High.

Discover Their Life and Ours

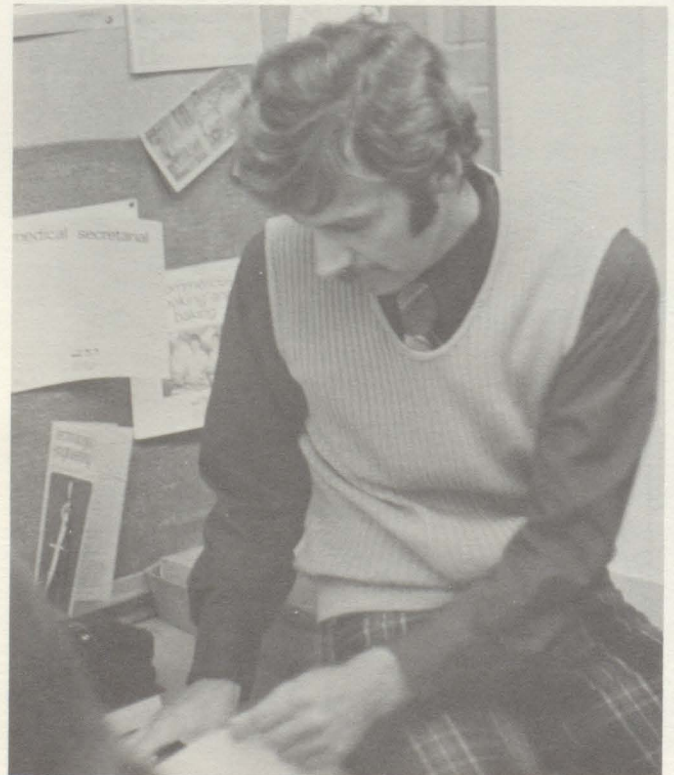

Our Social Studies Department deals in the area of history and culture of other countries as well as ours. Some courses deal primarily with history of countries, and others go into the people that make up these countries. Many of these courses go into detail dealing with specific aspects that make up a culture.

Mr. Rosso lectures to his class concerning the Watergate Tapes.

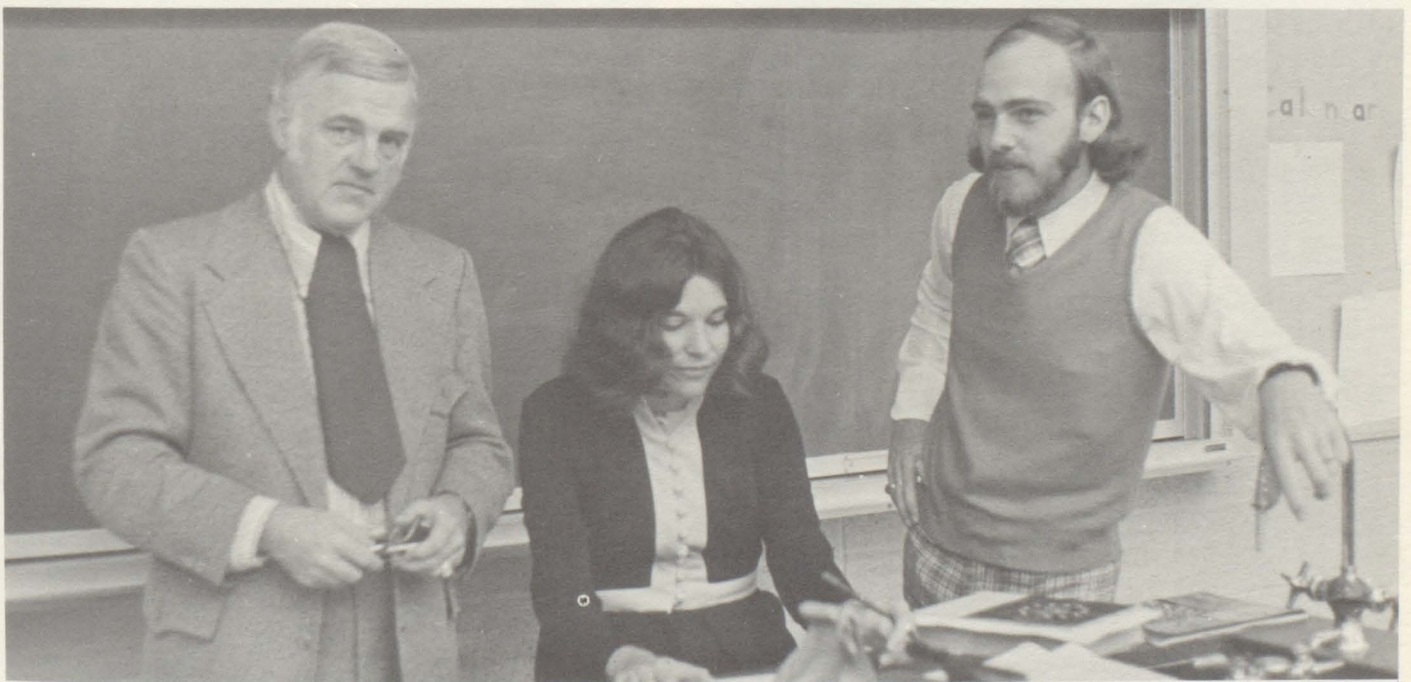

Mr. Wagoner and Mr. Wenger check out the grades on the Government test.

Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Pasineau share a little joke before starting their classes.

The U.S. History staff, Mr. Bonner, Mrs. Miller, and Mr. Johnson take a breather before the daily lesson begins.

The Science Department consists of two categories, biology section and a chemistry section. These two categories make it easier on the student to decide what he wishes to take. The biology section offers nineteen various courses many of them are related to another course. Mr. White, Mr. Mackson, Mr. Carter, and Mrs. Fowler teach the biology courses.

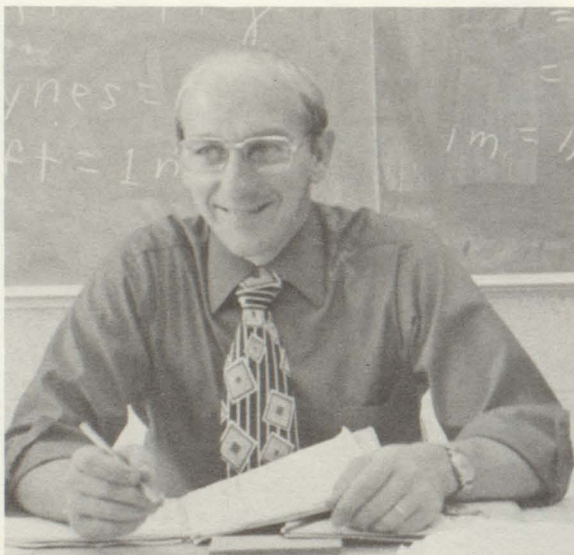

The Chemistry Department has courses that deal with chemicals and their use. There are also courses involving the usage of math related to science. The teachers teaching this section are: Mr. Hansen, Mr. Solley, and Miss Spencer.

The student can take courses with a general science background or college prep courses. Any way he wishes science is a very interesting course for everyone.

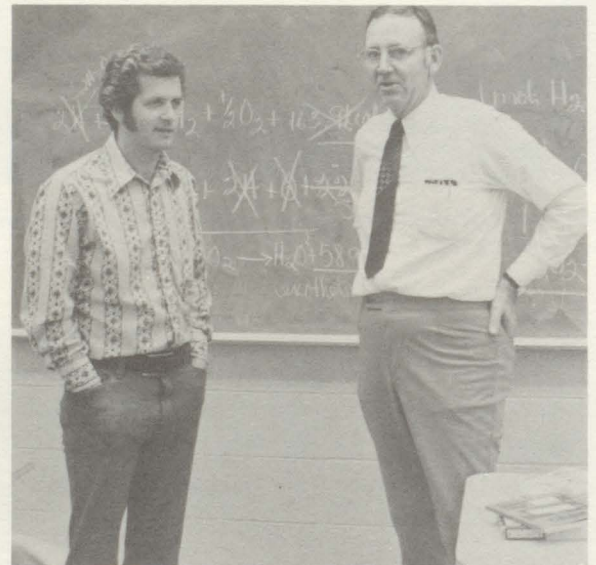

Mr. Carter helps Miss Spencer locate the material she needs for an experiment.

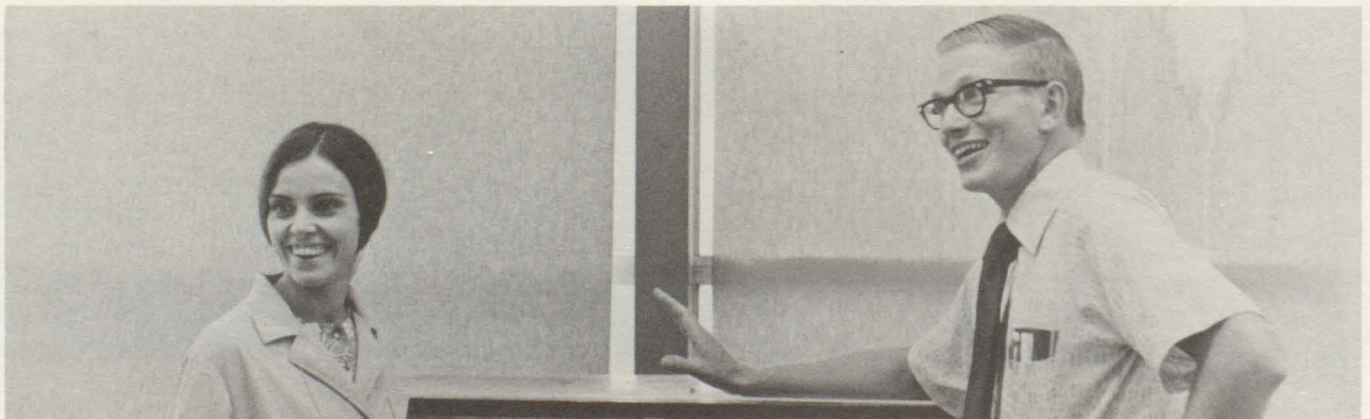

Science Develops a Wider Field

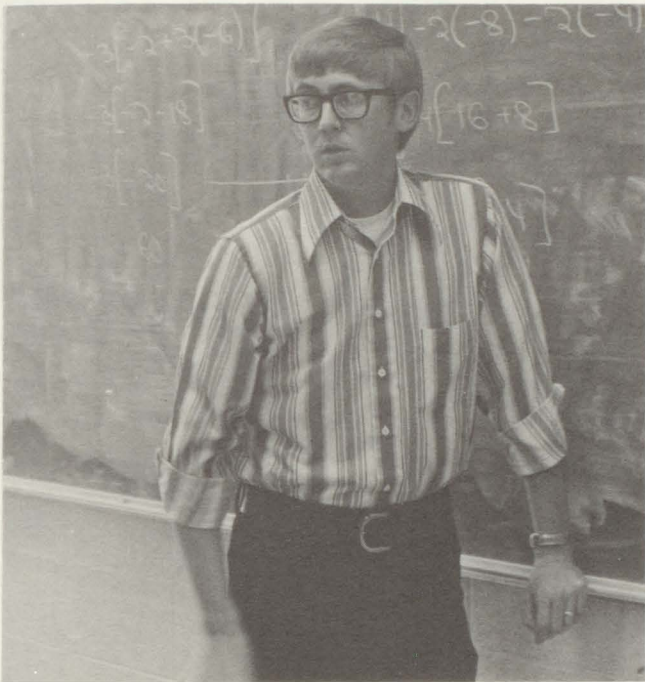

Mr. Solley smiles at the results of his recent Earth Science test.

Mrs. Fowler smiles as Mr. White explains to his class the various fish in the tank.

Math Applies to Future Life

Mr. Jacobsen listens while a student asks a question about his Algebra homework.

Sorting out their own papers before class begins are Mr. Tungate and Mr. Skillman.

Math is not required in our school, but many students take it, either general or advanced. Clarkston offers beginning courses like Consumers Math and more advanced courses such as Calculus. If you plan to take math, homework is expected since applying what is learned is very important. One of the requirements for entering many colleges is some form of background in mathematics.

Either way he decides to chose, math is certainly one of the most important courses offered!

Miss Modesitt finds her geometry class amusing, or is she telling about the recent girls basketball game?

Shop Students Help Others

The Industrial Art Department has many valuable courses available to the student interested in this line of work. Drawing, woods, mechanics, auto, machine classes are all offered. Some of these classes take in cars and other types of machinery, which gives the student good practical experience.

Mr. Smith gives his students the answers to their homework problems.

Mr. Pierson corrects his students nine-week tests.

Mr. LaMagna, Mr. Moscovic and Mr. Tiebault pose behind a project which is in the progress of being completed. LEFT: Trying to find out why this car will not start are Mr. Santavicca and Mr. Templeton. BELOW: Mr. Horsh explains to a student the use of a wood file.

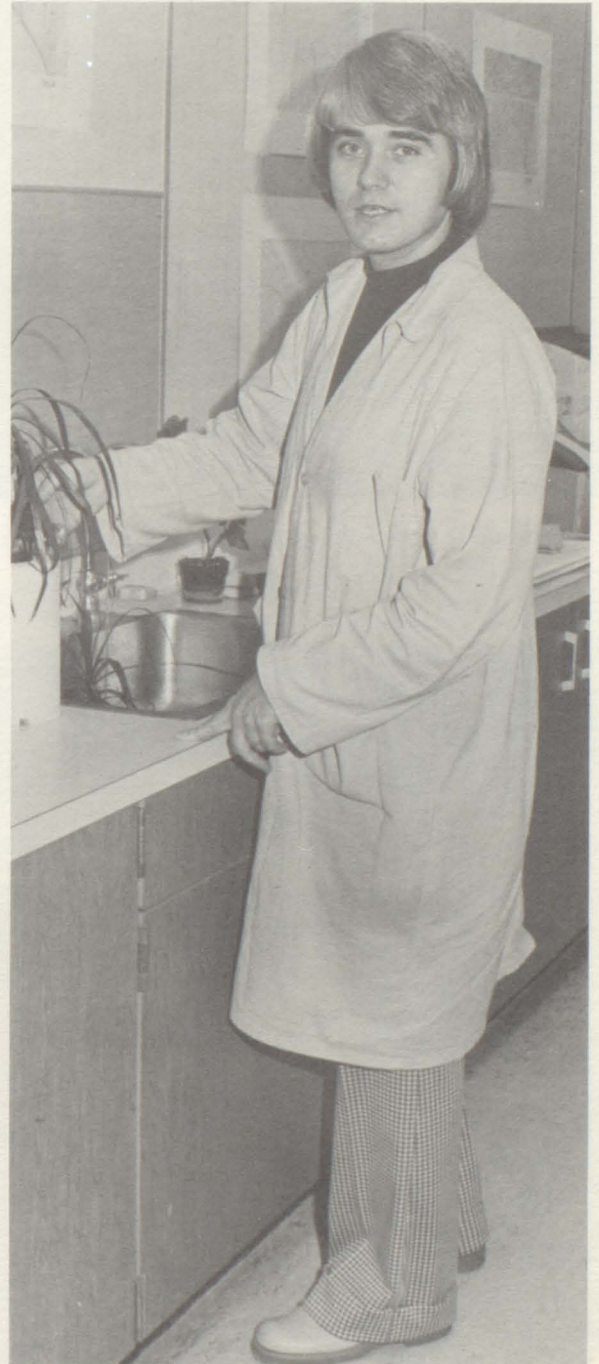

Art Makes School Life Colorful

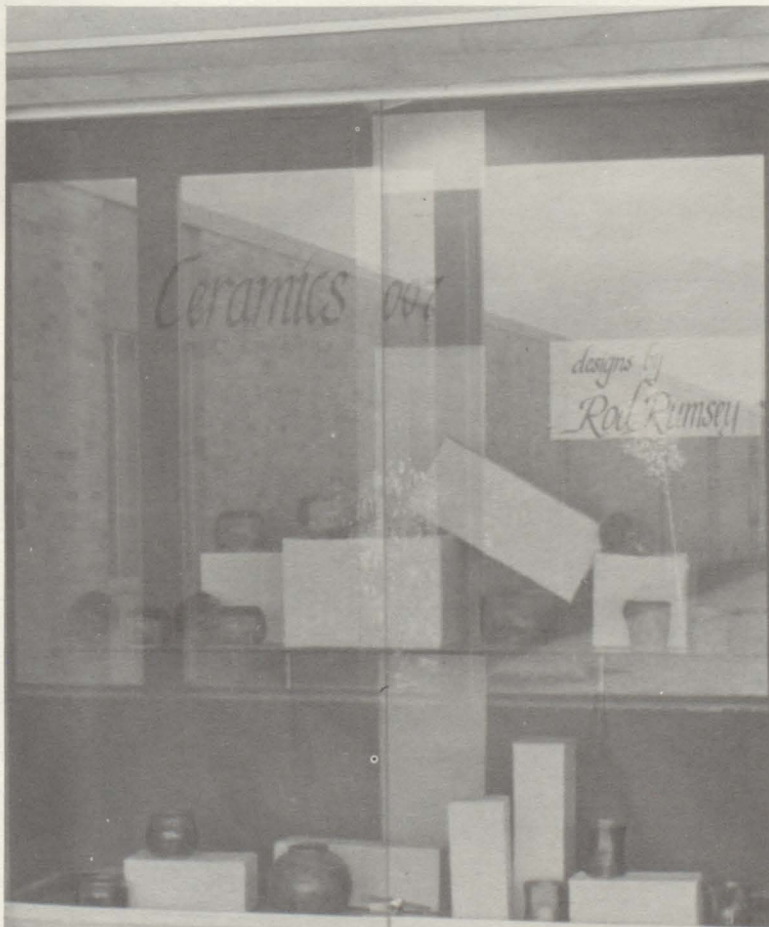

Miss Miller shows her class the way to draw a still life pose.

The student who wishes to study art in a specific field has a variety of choices at C. H. S. They deal with drawing, painting, sculpturing, weaving, pottery, and other courses related to art. Our school has two fine teachers offering these courses; Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Miller.

Mr. Johnson poses before one of the creations completed in his classroom. LEFT: One of the colorful displays around our school.

Home Economics Goes Co-ed

The department with the greatest change this year is the Home Economic department. It has gone Co-ed, which means there are boys cooking and sewing along with the girls. These courses are taught by Mrs. Bronson, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Wronski. They must consider it a challenge teaching boys, traditionally girls classes.

Showing her students the proper way to thread a sewing machine is Mrs. Wilson.

Miss Hennig keeps an eye out for students skipping her class.

New Outlook on Physical Education

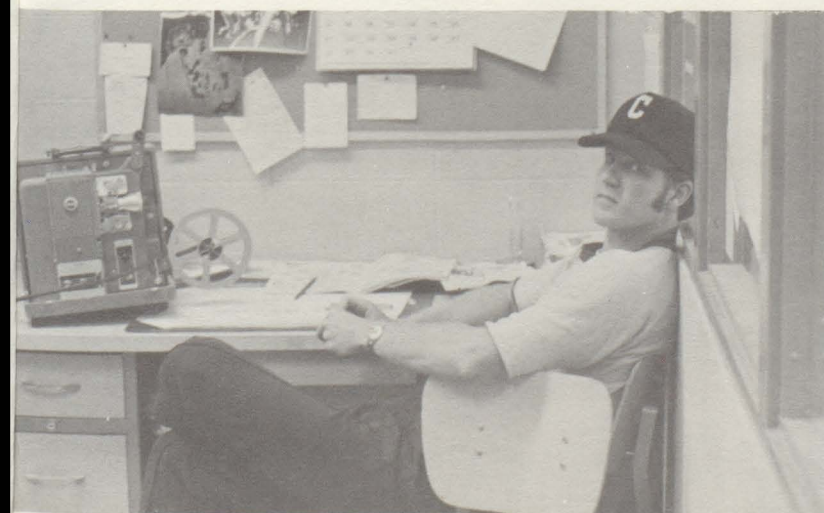

Mr. Johnson helps a student with his first-aid problems.

The Physical Education courses offered this year are Team Sports, Individual Activities, First-Aid and Health Problems. Being arranged this way students can participate in many sports.

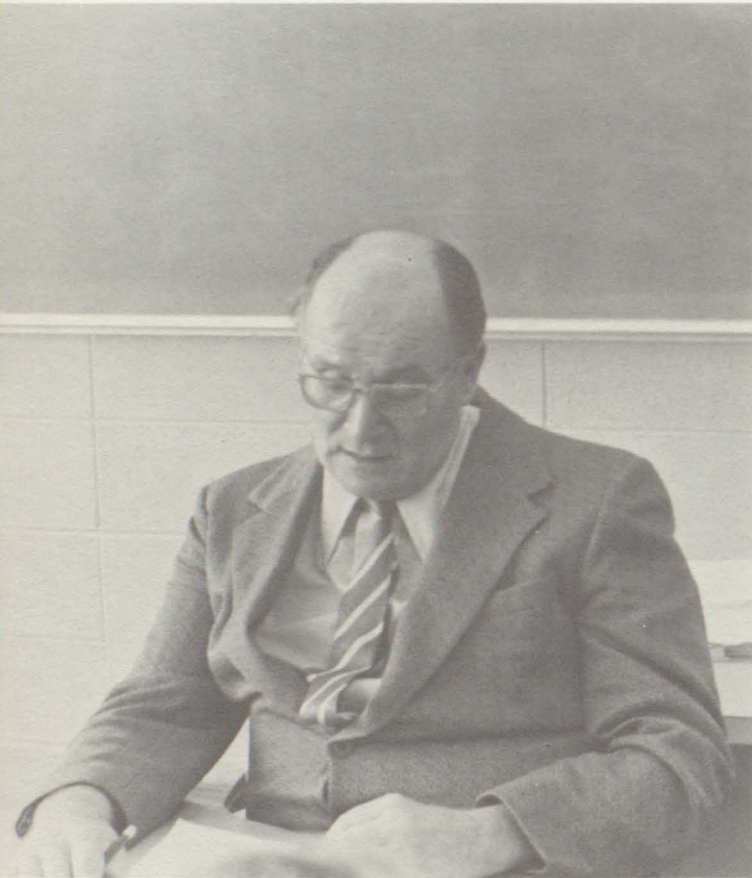

"Pop Warner" takes time out to give the camera one of his frequent smiles. LEFT: Mr. White takes a break before the scrimmage between Brandon and Clarkston.

English Offers Variety To Students

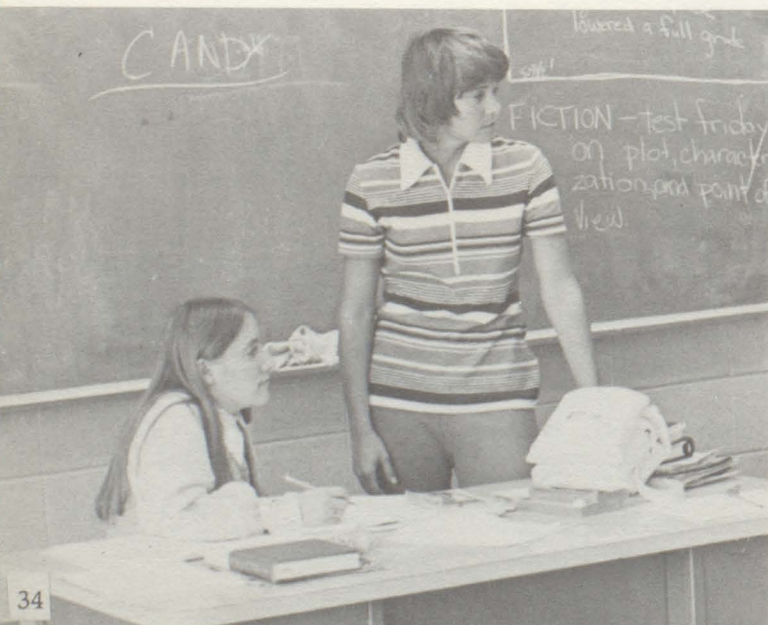

English is the only required subject in C.H.S. for sophomores and juniors. It is left up to the seniors own needs of whether to take it. This department offers greater selection of courses than any other department. Each course is distinct and has its own idea to get across to the student.

Mr. Bartlett tries very hard to get a point across to his class.

Mrs. DeHorn corrects papers while her class listens to the recordplayer.

Mr. Chamberlain is checking over the list of novels for his class.

Mrs. Denstead and Mrs. McArthur look through a book of interesting quotes.

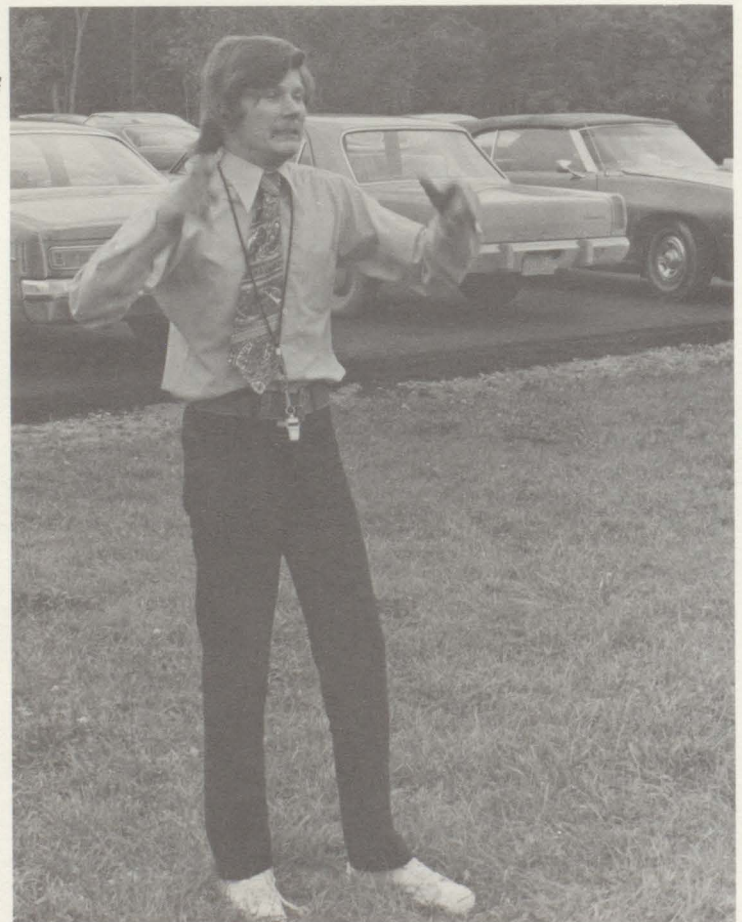

Music is Everywhere

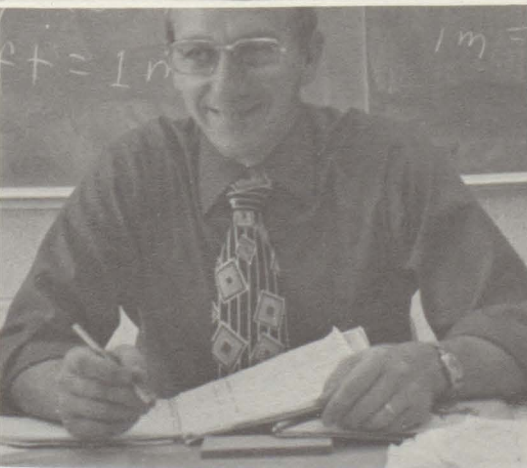

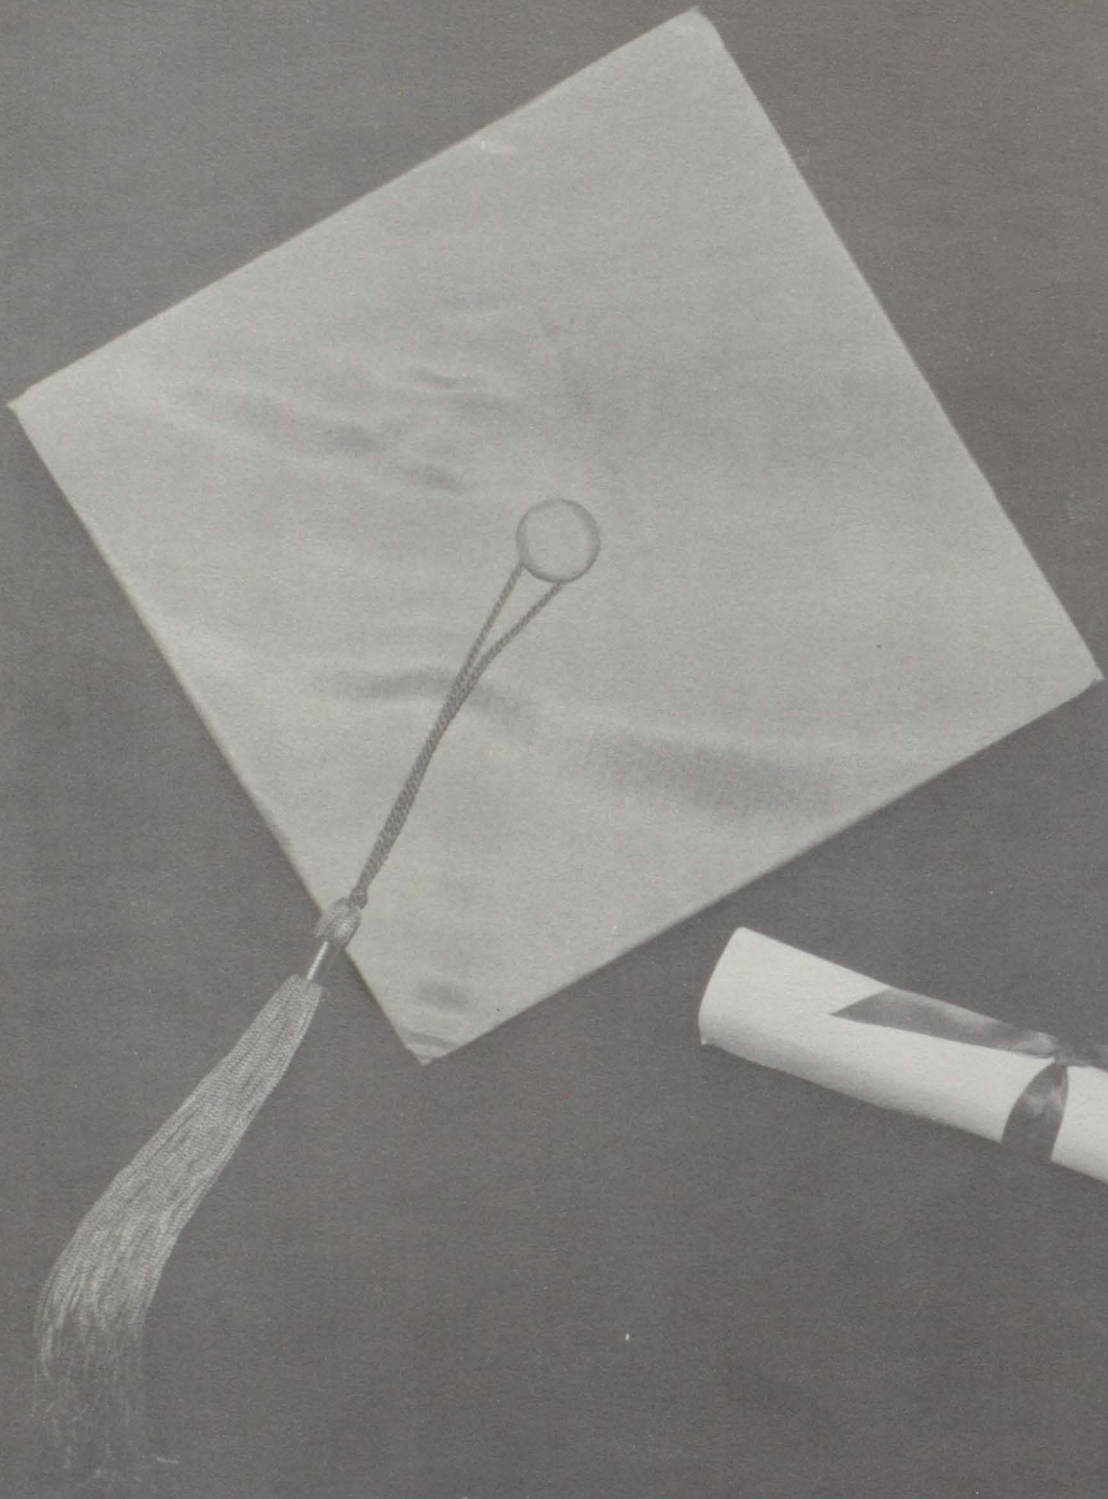

Teaching in the vocal department for her third year is Miss Warren. She is in control of all chorus classes which consist of Mixed Chorus, Varsity Chorus, Girls Ensemble and Madrigals. All these classes are very active in school and performing for other functions.

Mr. Sipos is head of the band section. The band performs in many activities, many of which are involved with sports. They supply the music for football games, basketball games, and have concerts with the Chorus Department.

CLASS OF '74-READY FOR OPEN ROAD

The class of '74 has been very active throughout their years at C.H.S. In 1972-1973, the class sold almost $10,000 worth of magazines. In the same year, the class sponsored the Prom at Addison Oaks. This year, the senior girls Powder Puff team defeated the Juniors. The guy cheerleaders really helped a lot for a victory. The class trip was planned to go to the Bahamas. The class officers were: Gerry Adams-President, Steve Mauti-Vice-President, Debbie Green-Treasurer, Pam Hool and Kathy Watson-Point Secretaries. Much credit goes to our class sponsors, who were Mr. Solley and Mr. Bartlett.

Junior's Ability Shows Through

The Juniors of 73-74 started off the year by winning the magazine sales.

During Homecoming festivities, the Junior Powder Puff was defeated, after one of the closest games yet. However, the Juniors came back to win the Homecoming float award. Their float was an authentic looking covered wagon.

The Junior class officers were: Sally Auten, president; Peggy Dougherty, vice president; Joe Szymanski, treasurer; and Barb Neff as the class secretary. Mr. Horsh, Mr. Santivicca, and Mr. Wagoner helped them through a busy year as their sponsors.

Sophomores Begin With New Experiences

The class of '76 began the new school year by electing their first class officers: Wayne Thompson, president; Pam Gardener, vice president; Ann Vanloon, secretary; Rachelle Rosser, treasurer. Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Pasineau, as their sponsors, helped with activities through the year.

The float, which was an aerial balloon, was in keeping with the theme, "Living in the Past."

The sophomores show great promise for their remaining years at Clarkston High.
