

In Our Town

Dollie Cole to Show Fashions

By JEAN DAY
DOLLIE COLE, the delightful designing wife of General Motors' Edward Cole, is coming to Our Town—with a fashion showing of her originals.

She is to appear at the opening program of Northville Woman's Club October 8 at Meadowbrook Country Club. For this first fall meeting only, Mrs. George Merwin, program chairman, points out, the program is on the second Friday of the month instead of the first.

Mrs. William G. Quigley, Jr., program chairman for the luncheon which opens the club year, made arrangements through her husband to bring Mrs. Cole and the fashion show here. The program, which promises to be a highlight of the club's 79th year, will be preceded by a salad luncheon at the club.

Mrs. Leonard Klein, who is beginning her second year as club president, announced the opening arrangements to her board at a meeting last Thursday. She added that the program also will be a guest day.

of the American Revolution will end their year at a potluck program this Monday—the first day of summer officially—at the home of Mrs. George Merwin, retiring regent, in Brookland Farms.

Mrs. Merwin is hoping that the day will be warm and sunny so that the noon picnic may be held "under the walnut tree." Members also are invited to bring swimsuits if they wish to dive into the pool. Resolutions made at the Continental Congress will be read at the brief business session.

TWO LONG-TIME residents of the community, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Putnam of 40860 Seven Mile Road, moved this month to the north country. They had been Northville residents since 1937 and were well known for both their beautiful gardens and for their travel writings.

Several years ago the Putnams fell in love with Michigan's Upper Peninsula and wrote about its tourist attractions in a readable guide, "North to Adventure." The annual supplement had just gone to the printers a few weeks ago when Beatrice and Harold Putnam began packing to move to Eagle River in the Copper Country.

During Michigan Week last Monday Mrs. Putnam welcomed Northville's visitors from Sparks for a tour of her spacious gardens which have been planned to provide color throughout the year. She mentioned before leaving last week that she is particularly pleased that the new owners of the home appreciate the garden and vintage house.

Before leaving, Mrs. Putnam gave the Northville Historical Society early pictures of the house, showing its appearance before the Putnams added the kitchen wing and new entrance.

VISITORS have been arriving with the beginning of the vacation season. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Atwood, 118 Linden, for two weeks are their son and daughter-in-law, Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Harold Atwood. They will be returning this weekend to Cannon Air Force Base in Clovis, New Mexico.

A career serviceman, Sergeant Atwood has 19 years' service. He works as a precision measurement technician in the lab at the base.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Price, 45787 Feranagh, had as their houseguests last week-end Mrs. Price's sister and her husband, the Jack Londens of Phoenix, Arizona, who were enroute to an exciting meeting in Washington, D. C.

Their son, Jack London III, was to receive an award as a Presidential Scholar of the Year Tuesday from President Nixon personally.

A card of presidential congratulations has been received by a Northville High graduate this year, Debbie McIsaac, 224 Orchard Drive, who sent a graduation announcement to President Nixon, has received the official recognition, as did her sister, Diane, from President Kennedy in 1963. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McIsaac. Debbie is now employed at Manufacturers National Bank.

School's out and this is my final June column. Those with club, wedding or family news will find Prudence Hartt, who was graduated from Bradley University June 6, again at the woman's desk. She will be pleased to hear your news.

Montessori Pre-School Opens Next Week

A four-week Montessori pre-school orientation program begins next week for area children between the ages of 2½ and 5.

"Montessori Learning Center" program will be conducted by Dr. and Mrs. Willis B. Hunting in Moraine Elementary School in Northville.

It is open to children throughout the western Detroit metropolitan area. Residents of Northville, the Huntings are Montessori-trained at Mercy College and Grosse Pointe Academy Montessori schools. They have been employed for the past three years as special education teachers at the Wayne County Child Development Center in Northville Township.

Montessori pre-school education, explained Dr. Hunting, was introduced to the United States from Europe about 25 years ago and Montessori schools in this country now number nearly 1,000. More than 12 are located in Michigan.

In preparing for the Montessori school here, they are offering a full-orientation program for 40 to 60 children. Some openings are still available.

"Montessori pre-school will operate Monday through Friday, from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.," they said. "We are prepared to extend the program to include an afternoon session if there is sufficient demand."

The daily schedule will include practical life activities, both individual and group, sensorial development exercises, recreational activities for the development of muscles, including poise and coordination, daily games, arts and crafts, music, language arts, and social training in inner-discipline and decision making, they explained.

"We are offering children the kinds of interesting, exciting choices they need to make for their inner sense of satisfaction and accomplishment which will carry over into the home and community later on."

Unknown to the general public, pre-school children are programmed from birth with "clear-cut" periods of sensitivity during which they are especially responsive in certain areas of their psychological, social, and educational development.

"Dr. Maria Montessori, physician, anthropologist, trained scientific observer and researcher, founded the Montessori approach to education on the real needs of the young child at the times the child is most ready. In many important areas of their development they are most ready between the ages of 2½ to 5. When these periods pass, they can never be fully recovered," the Huntings said.

Staff members will include only teachers who have taken Montessori training, in addition to their college studies.

Mrs. Hunting, formerly teacher-trainer supervisor of the early elementary program at Eastern Michigan College interns in the first grade, will be program director here. She is a Michigan licensed teacher with more than 12 years' experience in public and private schools as well as having operated her own nursery school in Lansing.

A graduate of Western Michigan University, she has taken additional work at the University of Colorado, the University of Arizona, and Eastern Michigan University.

Dr. Hunting, director of the Northville Montessori Learning Center, also is a graduate of Western Michigan. He holds an A.B. degree and a Michigan life teaching certificate. He also has a master's degree in guidance and counseling from the University of Michigan, and he has taught all grades from kindergarten through high school including junior high school in Plymouth.

A past graduate fellow at Merrill Palmer Institute in Detroit in family life education and marriage counseling, he won the honor in competition with holders of master degrees in sociology, psychology and education throughout the United States.

He has completed all required course work and has his preliminary examinations for his doctorate in philosophy degree in education at the University of Michigan. His honorary doctorate in integral philosophy was awarded by the World University in 1965.

Area parents who wish to enroll their children in the one-month orientation program may call Miss Whitmyer at 349-1144, or on Monday or Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at 487 West Cady.

Church to Help Kids Find Jobs

Due to the scarcity of summer jobs for youth this year, the First United Methodist Church of Northville announces its willingness to act as a clearing house for youth seeking employment and potential employers.

Youth, 16 and over, may phone the church office, indicating what job experience they may have, or what types of work they might be willing to do. Those who offer employment opportunities, whether on a day-to-day basis or over a longer term of time, may contact the church office and state their needs. The church office will maintain a card file and will attempt to bring potential worker and employer together.

"Of course, this offer to act as a clearing house is not limited to United Methodist youth. Citizens of the area are encouraged to use this service when looking for yard labor, help around the house, or whatever the employment opportunity may be," a spokesman explained.

The church cannot assume responsibility for the quality or integrity of either employer or employee, but is willing to act as a focal point for employers and persons seeking employment. Please call only during regular office hours, Monday thru Friday, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Calls will be received only at 349-1144, or at the church office, Eight Mile at Tait Road.

Administrators to receive service pins will be Richard Norton, for 10 years of service, and Frederick Holdsworth and Milton Jacobi for five years.

Teachers who have been with the system for five years include David Adair, Mary Bray, Gayle Fountain, Omar Harrison, Mary Jane Honecker, Michael Jancheck, Virginia Krietz, Paul Osborn, and Charles Shonta. Also Sylvia Torma and Robert Trombley.

Big Voter Turnout Elects Incumbents

A near record number of voters went to the polls Monday to return all three incumbent school board trustees to office. Spear expressed the desire for the community to "join together once again to work toward the betterment of our schools."
The year-round school issue came to a head shortly before the election with the Committee Opposed to the year-round school implementation of the concept and the study if elected, while the board and administrators restated its position that year-round school would not be implemented unless desired by the residents of the district.

Mail Zips Past Boundary Maze

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the second in a series of articles about the boundaries in this area and how they affect people, municipalities, and schools.

"It's hard to figure out: Why must our mail be addressed to Northville when we have nothing in common with Northville?"

In asking the question, Mrs. Seth Whitmarsh voices a puzzle that has a good many people scratching their heads in amazement and concern over the irregular postal boundaries covering area communities.

"We live in Lyon Township, our children attend schools in South Lyon — and we're eight miles from Northville and only three miles from South Lyon," she says.

The Whitmarsh family lives in the "Country Estates Mobile Homes subdivision located on the north side of Eight Mile Road, one mile east of Pontiac Turnpike. She and others in her subdivision are several miles closer to South Lyon than some other Lyon Township families who are receiving their mail through South Lyon.

Letters sent to the Whitmarshes and the 240 other families in Country Estates are addressed to Northville.

Similarly, many people living in Salem Township, all the people living in Novi south of 10 Mile and west of Novi Road, and all the people in Meadowbrook subdivision in Farmington receive their mail through the Northville post office.

Most of the people living in Novi north of 12 Mile Road receive their mail addressed to Walled Lake, and some people in Lyon Township receive their mail through the Wixom post office.

Not all people are unhappy with these mailing arrangements. Northville School Superintendent Raymond Spear, for example, lives in Novi's Comemara subdivision and he likes mail coming to his home addressed to Northville. Although he says Novi city property taxes, he considers himself part of the Northville community.

Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi, also a Comemara resident, naturally disagrees. For him the Northville address is embarrassing to say the least.

Put yourself in his shoes: You're the mayor of the City of Novi and yet you must remind people you have a Northville address. It's like asking people to send letters to Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs in Hazel Park.

Says Mrs. Whitmarsh: "Suppose people who have never visited us before want to come out...and this has happened to us and others in our neighborhood. They've been sending us mail addressed to Northville so they drive to Northville. When they get there no one in Northville knows where our street is located so they look in the phone book. But they can't find us there either because we have a South Lyon telephone and we aren't listed in the Northville book."

Peter Alcalá, member of the Novi planning board, also presents his Walled Lake address. "I've had to get driver's license changed from Novi to Walled Lake," he points out.

"I don't live in Walled Lake and I don't want to live there. I'm a citizen of Novi and I'm proud of it," he asserts.

According to Northville Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, the fact that citizens living in Northville Township Six Mile Road receive their mail addressed to Plymouth has created any significant problems for the township except that "psychologically, it encourages people to think Plymouth not Northville."

The superintendent again stated this week he "seriously doubts year-round school will be more than a study in Northville."

"The indications we have received from the community survey and mock schedule responses we have received so far show pretty clearly the community wishes to retain the traditional school calendar," the superintendent noted.

Four challengers were at the polls during the day, a rare sight at school elections, though no challenges were reported.

Upon receiving the sticker, non-residents also receive tokens for each child in the family so that children can use these to gain entrance to the park or lake store without the parents first parking.

Daily non-resident parking fees have been set at $2, and daily resident fees at $1. Daily fees for resident walkers is 25-cents (but free when tokens or identification are presented); for non-resident walkers, $1.

"I hope the residents of Novi take advantage of this facility. It's a great place to bring their kids, and let me assure them the lake is not polluted. The water was tested again this year and found to be satisfactory by the county," Alcala said.

The commission chairman also revealed that plans are underway for development of fund-raising projects to help finance a good summer recreation program for Novi children next year. This year "there just wasn't enough funds to get one underway. We want to make sure now that we're able to do something next year."

Meanwhile, however, because of the inquiries about a girls' softball program the commission is hoping to sponsor one yet this summer—"provided we can get some volunteer help. We can get the financing but it takes some adult help to make something like this run properly. If anyone is interested they can reach me at 624-1088."

Serving with Alcala on the parks commission are: chairman, Edward Butler, secretary, his wife, Betsy, recording secretary, Richard Bingham, treasurer; commissioner-council representative Denis Berry, Donald Gorman and Thomas Marcus.

Da Nang, Vietnam—Specialist Four Richard L. Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen A. Pierce, 6881 12 1/2 Mile Road, recently received his second award of the Army Commendation Medal in Vietnam.

The medal was awarded for meritorious service. Such service can be over an extended period of time or for outstanding achievement in a single situation. In either case, the recipient must have demonstrated skills and dedication far above the average.

Specialist Pierce received the award while assigned as a stenographer in Headquarters Company, XXIV Corps near Da Nang.

Stromberg says most new citizens are aware that they are living in Northville Township when they sign their housing contracts. "But pretty soon they forget that piece of paper."

He likened the address situation to the state's large mental retardation institution, located totally within Northville Township, but called Plymouth State Home and Training School. People hearing the name but unaware of boundaries automatically assume it is located in Plymouth, he points out.

Mrs. Frank Prenatt, who lives on 10 Mile Road in Novi, dislikes receiving her mail through the Northville post office and would prefer it if they were delivered by South Lyon.

"I shop in South Lyon, my children go to school in South Lyon, and we're just more oriented there than Northville. But I have a Northville mailman and a Northville phone number that's not listed in the South Lyon directory. It's a mixed up mess."

The Norman Fishops, who live in Novi on 12 Mile Road, have a Wixom mailing address which they find no inconvenience. Yet, they dislike the fact that their children must attend school in South Lyon rather than in Novi.

Local area postal officials explain that boundaries grew and changed over the years because of housing development trends.

Northville Postmaster John Steimel points out that his carriers once serviced areas of Novi north of Grand River because at the time no rural carriers were provided in Novi. It simply wouldn't have been economical to provide rural route carriers out of each post office years ago, he explains.

"My wife and I are both officers in the North Oakland County Girl Scout Council," he notes. "But do you know our girls couldn't participate in the Novi Memorial Day parade because that was in THE South Oakland County council? They had to take part in Walled Lake's parade and here I was chairman of the Novi parade and a member of the Novi Chamber of Commerce trying to build up our community."

"Boundaries like these are just foolish!"

Alcala says the boundaries that divide his community are senseless and harmful. He cited another kind of artificial boundary.

Saturday's Day For Kids Dogs

Saturday's the big day for kids and their pet dogs.

Showman's parking lot from 10 a.m. to around noon will be the scene of the judging and the sponsors emphasize that dogs of all sizes and breeds—and kids—are wanted to compete for numerous fun prizes.

Claude Lawson, South Lyon police officer, and his police dog Hilda will do the judging in such categories as best costumed, best trick, smallest, largest and best groomed. In addition, prizes will be given all entrants by the sponsoring Ken-L. Ration dog food company and a "Best of Show" winner will be chosen from among the five individual winners.

Showman's hope to see all dogs who have kids for masters, or kids who have dogs for masters, in their lot beginning at 10 a.m. for the judging. They promise plenty of fun for all.

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

When the brick and mortar appears, the $3 million Northville Square complex will truly become a reality.

But it's hardly premature to recognize that possibility in the light of action taken Monday night by the city council and the developer of the proposed project.

How sweet the prospects of such a development in the Northville business district must be to a great number of civic-minded citizens who talked and dreamed a decade ago about the future of an old, vacated auto agency, a rundown apartment building, an ancient library and a handful of houses located on a sloping piece of property on the edge of town.

And when they removed some of these buildings and converted the area into unimproved parking spaces, it was not uncommon to hear critics predict that Northville would soon become "one big parking lot".

But the members of the Northville Area Economic Development Committee took their assignment to heart. Formed by action of the city council and appointed from the city, school district and township, the non-paid members were instructed to seek new, and promote existing commercial and industrial enterprises. The purpose, of course, was to boost the economic climate of the community and take some of the school tax burden off the homeowner.

About the biggest achievement of the group was to assist Foundry Flak in an expansion program, doubling the size of the plant and increasing its work force.

But its members quickly realized that Northville's potential in the industrial arena was limited. First, there's little suitable land available; secondly, the community itself was very particular about the type of development it wanted to attract.

So commercial expansion and improvement became the number one target. Here was an opportunity to bolster the tax base without building smokestacks or filling up more classrooms.

So slowly the land in the block bounded by Main, Wing, Cady and Center streets was acquired by the Economic Development Corporation. It couldn't afford to do much with the property once it had purchased it; in fact, the rentals were needed to make payments.

Eventually, the city began acquiring the land from the development group and both the council and the development committee members began searching for potential developers of the site.

Apparently, Richard H. McManus is their man. Monday night he committed himself to $90,000 to acquire the site, another $200,000 for parking, and a pledge to develop a $3 million shopping-office complex that must exceed the dreams of the most enthusiastic member of the Economic Development Committee.

Let us hope it is not too good to be true.

Along with the newly-completed Cady street parking deck Northville Square has become the best medicine Northville's businessmen could possibly receive.

They're enthused about the future, planning improvements and predicting that in addition to "a big parking lot", the city can expect steadily-increasing retail trade.

Northville is helping itself to becoming a healthier community and the activity is attracting the attention of other communities, as well as potential developers.

The expansion limits of Northville's business district are already pretty well defined, and most residents and businessmen are satisfied to keep it that way.

But the development of that district has not been by accident. And it promises to offer a balanced variety along with shopping convenience that will assure its future stability.

Major credit for the progress of Northville's business district must go to the city councils of the past decade, its city managers and planners.

And in this particular arena of activity, those closest to the action know that Mayor A.M. Allen, Councilman Charles Lapham and City Manager Frank Ollendorff have been the most productive.

But at the beginning it was a citizens' committee encouraged by the council.

Even at the risk of overlooking a name or two, these men should be recognized for the hours spent working to improve the community's economic status:

John Canterbury, A. R. Clarke, Philip Ogilvie, Don Hannebarger, Bill Davis, Donald Lawrence, Gunnar Stromberg, Bob Shafer, C. A. Smith, Don Robinson, John Carlo, John Miller, Harold Putnam, Eugene Cook, Crispin Hammond, Fred Kester, Alex Lawrence, Bruce Pothoff, and of course, Mayor Allen, also a charter member of the Economic Development Committee.

VINCENT WEINBERGER

Speaking for Myself Elect Mayors?

Often debated, especially in those communities with either 'weak mayor' or council-manager forms of government, is the question of whether or not mayors should be elected by the people or appointed by the council. Currently, mayors of the cities of Northville, Novi, South Lyon and Wixom are elected directly by the people. Brighton's mayor is appointed by the council from the council. All but South Lyon and Wixom have council-manager forms of government. Northville voters will decide in November whether or not the city charter should be changed to permit appointment of the mayor by the council as in Brighton.

JOHN CANTERBURY

YES...

I am opposed to the election of a mayor by the majority of the council body because this is another step in eliminating and depriving the individual taxpayer of this important privilege. I further believe this question and degrades the intelligence of the electorate in casting their vote directly for the highest office in our city government.

Do you truly believe that three out of five city officials are more capable of selecting an individual as our mayor?

Should the office of mayor be absent from the ballots. I fear the turnout at the polls would be lessened drastically. In the past elections, we have had approximately one-half of the registered voters cast their ballots for the office of mayor, with a lesser number voting for the entire council vacancies. In other words, some merely cast their votes for mayor only.

As a closing thought, would you appreciate losing the privilege of voting for our governor? or president? Could our legislature do a better job electing them?

VINCENT WEINBERGER
Mayor Pro-tem, South Lyon

NO...

Under the "weak mayor" and (or) council-manager form of government, I believe it is preferable to provide for the council to select one of its members to carry the title of mayor.

Dispute Year-Round School

To the Editor:

We as parents have an obligation to listen and evaluate our children's views on year-around school. After all, it is their lives which will be affected by the School Board's decision. This is how my daughter feels about it.

A Concerned Parent

As a freshman student from the class of '71" of Northville High, I would like to express my view concerning year round school.

My biggest gripe is that my closest friends are not going to have the same vacation time as me. Even though we entered Northville High as freshmen together, we will be split up during the rest of our school years and will not be graduating at the same time.

It's not only friends and graduation, but what about other things like sports and recreation? We won't be able to join the summer activities like the "swim club" if we have to go to school in the summer. Also, not all schools have summer sport competition. And what about our senior class trip? We won't be able to go together with everyone on a different vacation schedule. What about class president? When he takes a vacation, then who will run the class? We'll have to have at least two class presidents.

What about other school activities? Will we have four different sets of cheerleaders? Four different class plays? What about proms and banquets?

Will this system really give us more quality education or just create more disinterested students and drop-outs? Yes, adults for once please listen to our side of the story. We, too, would like to graduate as a complete class like you did in the "old days".

School's Out

To the Editor:

I, for one, quite agree with Mr. Kieckhefer of Allen Drive. Year around school? Absolutely not! How can it mean better education for the children? They will be attending the same number of days, only the vacation plan will differ. It may mean more youngsters skipping school and more drop-outs.

And how about the teachers? They have enough trouble without expecting them to teach an extra semester. Or do we hire extra teachers? Some of the teachers attend college during the summer to earn higher degrees.

Then there is the family side. How many mothers wait for summer vacation so they can have a little leisure? Well earned, I am sure. And how many youngsters are going to want to attend school in the summer? There are older youngsters who like to take full-time summer jobs during the vacation period.

I can not see where such a great savings is going to be effected, money-wise, for besides hiring other (extra) teachers, there is all the other help it takes to run a school—health nurse, cafeteria, janitors, engineers, have these been thought of? I think

Where Did Hollyhocks Go?

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

When was the last time you saw a butterfly or a stand of hollyhocks? Chances are it's been awhile.

Our kids, for example, don't recall ever seeing a monarch butterfly, and when asked about hollyhocks they replied, "What's that?"

When I was a youngster, butterflies it seemed were almost as plentiful as bees and hollyhocks, well, they grew more profusely around our house than did dandelions. Most of our neighbors had them, too, usually along a fence, behind the garage, or next to the barn.

Our best hollyhocks—the tallest and the prettiest—grew alongside our outhouse. They were a kids flower, as I recall, that was just great for making dolls and for catching bees. Because memories are sometimes deceiving, I rang up Dr. Warren Wagner at the University of Michigan to see if indeed butterflies and hollyhocks are disappearing and if there is a connection between their disappearance.

"I'm like you," said Dr. Wagner. "I miss hollyhocks. It's a shame we don't see many of them anymore. Butterflies? That's another story—a real tragedy."

Reminding me that he is a butterfly collector, Dr. Wagner pointed out that man's use of "all that DDT stuff" has all but wiped out the butterfly, especially in states like Texas. "You know," he said, "you can go out looking for an entire day in Texas without seeing a single butterfly. I think it's because of the stuff they use on the cotton."

Hopefully, when man begins to control insects biologically rather than by chemicals the butterfly will make a come back, he said. "I understand they're already coming back in England—why I don't really know although I suspect it may be because they're cutting down on insecticides."

The disappearance of hollyhocks also is the result of man—but not because of his use of chemicals, Dr. Wagner explained. "Hollyhocks are old-fashion flowers and people just tired of them. People have become sophisticated gardeners and hollyhocks don't fit their idea of garden beauty."

"It's sort of a fad thing, and someday they (hollyhocks) may become fashionable again. I certainly hope so."

With fewer people purposely growing hollyhocks there's less chance of them springing up unattended or wild-like as in the past, he said. "Besides, they're not a native flower."

Other flowers fit this "fad" category, according to Dr. Wagner. "When was the last time you saw cocks comb or digitalis (foxglove)?" he asked.

Graduation...and After

Northville High School's Class of '71 received its diplomas Tuesday evening in the cool breezes of the football field. A scene repeated 220 times is shown above as Principal Fred Holdsworth and Superintendent Raymond Spear congratulate Jamie Carter. After graduation the seniors shed their gowns and enjoyed an all-night dancing-swimming-breakfast party at the high school, sponsored by senior parents. Below Rick Sechler and Sandy Richmond dance to the music of Casey Jones. That's barefoot Jack Murtha in shorts below.

somebody is talking through his hat. Northville is just getting to be a place that is trying to keep up with everyone else; if someone else can do it, it can be done here. No, sir, I would not move to Northville if I knew ahead of time that it was a city with year-around-school. Definitely not!

Someone is being looked out for and it is not the children and their welfare or the parents or the taxpayers. That was put in because it makes it sound good.

Let me out. I vote it down. Thank you, Mr. Kieckhefer, for a very thoughtful and instructive letter.

Kids Get Job Help

A student summer employment office is being set up this week on the stage of the Northville Board of Education office, 303 West Main Street, with area residents and merchants requested to call for all types of work.

The office is being established by the Northville Community Drug Action Committee. Jack Wickens, Northville High School counselor and a member of the DARE team, explained that the program is being instituted to help keep young people productively employed throughout the summer.

He and the newly organized community committee hope that temporary jobs, such as baby sitting, digging or cleaning, as well as regular ones will be available to students registering with the service. Anyone with a job to be filled may call the board of education office, 349-3400, extension 39. Hours the office will be open are 9 a.m. to noon, Monday, Wednesday and Friday; and noon to 3 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday.

Volkswagen announces a new kind of Volkswagen. Big.

Who'd ever believe it? A Volkswagen that's big. And looks like a regular car. And has four big doors. And more room and comfort than you've ever seen in a Volkswagen. And more power and acceleration than you've ever had in a Volkswagen.

[From the biggest engine we've built.] And more features as standard equipment than you'd ever expect in a big car. Like an automatic transmission. Radial tires. Front disc brakes. Electronic fuel injection. Rear-window defroster. And more.

Yes, after all these years, you can buy a big car as good as our little car. The new 411 Volkswagen 4-Door sedan. For only $2,999* You know what? You just ran out of excuses for not buying a Volkswagen.

Russell Amerman, Robert Freydl and Jack Hoffman Architects, Fred Brauning and John Northup, builder representing the W. E. Schulz Company, will also be on hand for the introduction.

In recognition of the facility providing convenient off street parking for their customers many Northville retailers are participating in a special day-long promotion Friday.

First-day parkers will be handed gift certificates as they park and one of them will be the lucky winner of a portable television set to be awarded at 8 p.m. Friday. (See complete details in advertisement, pages 8-A and 9-A.)

Parking in the new Cady street deck will be free, but two-hour limits will be enforced.

total of 153 acres to all multiple, to permit construction of 398 townhouses and 492 quadrangles (four unit dwellings).

The proposed construction would include 20 acres of open space and a 17-acre buffer zone of office buildings between residential and commercial areas.

"The move toward multiple units has been brought on primarily by the inflationary cost of single family homes," Robert Fox, a spokesman for Thompson-Brown, told the planning commission. He added that there have been 218 multiple living units compared to 80 single units built in Northville this year.

His remarks were countered by Bernard Baldwin, trustee-planning commission member who stated, "In my own feeling this is a serious mistake because I don't believe the single family mode of living will go down the drain in Northville Township in four years."

Actually, the land is being sold to McMans at less than its original cost to the Northville Area Economic Development Corporation and the city. But the McMans development satisfies the objectives as outlined by the city and Economic Development committee when they set out to acquire the land and promote its development. Tax income from the development to both the city and school district will quickly make up the loss. And proponents of the plan, undertaken several years ago, further point out that the complex will solidify and improve the well-being of the total central business district.

Only buildings left on the block after it is cleared for the Northville Square development will be the bowling alley and adjoining beauty parlor, the hotel-restaurant and Paul Polino's State Farm Insurance Building.

Planned parking is not planned for the Northville Square project. Instead the city manager noted that cost of providing the offstreet parking could be reduced by acquiring up to 12 residential properties south of Cady between Wing and Center streets and additional property north of Main Street. The city already owns a large portion of the land north of Main Street, including the Dr. Dale Kiser offices on Dunlap, developed parking lots existing in the area, and the Rehabilitation building just east of Wing street.

The manager said that the city would seek to acquire the property at Main and Wing, the Heritage House antiques next door and the Methodist manse. He admitted that might not be financially feasible to acquire all these properties, however.

Keim Opens Realty Branch

The Earl Keim Realty, Northville branch, set up shop last week at 330 North Center. Actively involved in the Plymouth, Northville, Novi area market for "several years" out of their Plymouth office, the Keim company has employed five local sales personnel to handle its new Northville office.

"We want to grow with the area," explained Len Ryder, manager of the local branch. "Northville may be a small town, but it has a big future and we want to be part of it."

The Northville office is staffed with experienced sales personnel to handle its new Dearborn start in 1952.

Two Exciting Trips

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Two Wixom couples returned this week from exciting trips abroad.

The Wilhelm and Ray Labri of a fast-paced 21 day bus tour of eight countries while Marcie and Hank Kvotnik landed back on Hopkins Drive after an eight day tour of Spain and Monaco.

Hank is one of those fortunate people who was involved in a nationwide sales contest as a manufacturers rep for Remington-Rand. He won the "I don't believe it" trip to Madrid and Monte Carlo.

Marcie "digested" everything she saw and heard - the people, the sights and the sounds. She said the people of Spain were very different and extremely gracious. She commented that it struck them that they saw no fat people and perhaps in the manner in which they lived. Breakfast and lunch were held at normal hours and then during "siesta" everything completely shut down from 2 to 4 p.m. "You couldn't even buy a toothpick," dinner wasn't until 10 at night. In between there was no snacking and wine was about the only fluid that was taken.

Fashions in both countries were right out of the 1930's and Marcie is convinced that idea will really "hit" here by next year. Marcie's wardrobe was mainly brown and grey. Hair was worn long and neat or pulled back in the neck, mainly in buns. Shorts and bermudas were not to be seen anywhere.

Madrid was like a city draped in clothes with happy, outgoing people on the streets. Each building, be it a house or office, had its own balcony with the palm fronds from Easter draped above them and the clothes above that. umbrellas. The showers last from one minute to no longer than a half hour, she reports.

The bull fights and the University of Madrid were also toured besides a trip to the "Valley of the Fallen". After the Spanish Civil War, prisoners carved a church inside a granite mountain as a monument to the hundreds of people who perished in the battle. The dead are buried in the church. The church itself is a thing of beauty with statues 60 feet tall, painted ceilings and gold and brass. Outside, an elevator can take you to the top of a huge Cross.

From Italy, they journeyed on to Lacerne and its quaint shops and then on to Paris. The Louvre, Eiffel Tower and all things that mean Paris to travelers were visited plus a trip on the "Metro" - the subway. And too, the Folies Bergere and the Lido - the shop owners scrub the marble steps - their businesses each morning and even the dead leaves are plucked from the trees. While here, they stayed in the Hotel de Paris located right across the street from Princess Grace and her palace. Even a cab ride is an experience - all the cabs are Mercedes Benz cars. The gambling casino was gorgeous and the setting fantastic. Gambling there is quite different from Las Vegas - at times the silence of voices was eerie even though there was the constant rattle from the roulette tables or slot machines.

A stop was made at Almer, Holland and a very interesting and colorful event. Each day, the local hot house flower growers bring their best blooms to one mammoth building. The growers, put them on carts and then quotes the highest price he would like for the flowers. From there, the carts are brought into one of five "arenas" where the buyers are all seated for the auction. On the wall is a huge clock and the growers price is set. From that point, the clock goes backwards or down until a buyer pushes his button to stop the "clock." There is but one bid made. Over 500 bids are processed in this manner each hour - the flowers are immediately shipped from that building to wholesalers and retailers all over Europe.

Their last stop was in London where they were detained for one extra day before boarding their flight back to the States.

Southpaw Import Fans 13

A 9-1 victory over North Farmington Sunday kicked off the Aday season for the Northville's Reef Manufacturing as the local squad traveled to Livonia's Henry Ford Field.

A southpaw import from Milford, John Morrison, worked the mound for Reef, fanning 13 men and allowing three hits in six innings.

Two brothers, Dan and Dick Boehm, also foreign additions to the local team, proved useful Sunday as Dan blasted a sixth-inning homer, pushing in two runs ahead of him, and Dick collected two hits in three trips to the plate.

Morrison capped local scoring in the seventh as he singled, went to second on a single, and galloped home on a sacrifice fly.

Reef was slated to meet Hubert Realty at the Northville High School field on Saturday at 8 p.m. and Garden City Sunday at 1:30 and Livonia's Henry Ford Field.

Summer Racing Downs Opener Nears

Northville Downs will open its summer harness racing meet Thursday, June 24, with every prospect of a highly successful 88-night campaign through August 3.

With an assist by Northville's new glassed-in facilities and new modern clubhouse, the summer meeting a year ago was the best in the 28 year history of the track.

The winter meeting, February 3 through March 25 of this year, was beset with extremely bad weather yet ended up much better than expected.

John J. Carlo, executive manager, believes the momentum will hold through the summer and that Northville's best meeting ever is just ahead. Also, Northville will be without night racing competition.

Post time has been set back to 8:30 p.m. Continued will be Big Q. perfecta, and daily double wagering.

Lion Grid Star Kicks off Parade

Northville Jaycees report this week that arrangements are nearing completion for their annual parade-barbecue fireworks display for the Fourth of July holiday period.

This year festivities are scheduled to take place on Saturday, July 3, with a massive parade starting at 10 a.m. Errol Mann, the famed kicker for the Detroit Lions, will "kick off" the parade as the honorary grand marshal. Bill Broadus, who is serving as the Jaycee parade marshal, reports the parade will be the biggest in the history of Northville and one of the largest in the Detroit metropolitan area.

A complete lineup of the participants will be furnished in The Record prior to the parade date.

Meanwhile, Broadus is requesting that any organization or commercial establishment interested in entering a float to contact him at 349-6042. Owners of any restored automobiles may contact him for participation as well.

"Trophy awards have been double from past years," he notes, to serve as an incentive for the many fine bands, musical groups, marching units, equestrian teams, floats, and restored automobiles already booked for the event.

Boys and girls are welcome to participate in the parade with their decorated bicycles, and ribbons will be awarded for the best entries in this category, he says.

Themes of the parade is "Youth in Action."

Post-parade activities will shift to the park behind the Northville city hall where the Jaycees will host a chicken barbecue. Chairman of this project is Mike Janchick, who states the spread will consist of chicken, baked beans, cole slaw, potato chips, rolls, soft drinks and coffee.

Cost for the barbecue meal is $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for children under 12. The Northville Jaycee Auxiliary

McLaughlin to Take Deacon's Vows Friday

A. FREDERICK McLAUGHLIN

A Northville man is one of 13 men in the Archdiocese of Detroit who will be ordained to the permanent diaconate tomorrow, Friday, at the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament in Detroit.

A. Frederick McLaughlin of 42580 Eight Mile Road will be ordained by John Cardinal Dearden. The deacons will be the first class to be ordained since the Fourth Century.

McLaughlin will serve as deacon in Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville. The permanent diaconate began in the early church with the seven deacons chosen by the Apostles. They flourished in the first three centuries but later the diaconate lost its separate identity and became simply a step to the priesthood.

restore the diaconates as a permanent ministry and as with priests, men ordained as deacons will remain deacons. In conjunction with the bishop and priests and in the name of the church, a deacon performs a symbolic action—a sacrament, a sacramental or a blessing.

He distributes communion, he baptizes, he preaches, he witnesses marriages and he carries the last sacrament to the dying. The deacon does not and cannot do this on his own but only as a man delegated by the church.

Those eligible to become deacons must be 35 or older and may be married or single.

To prepare for the diaconate, men must go through a three-year training program, two years before ordination and one year after. Candidates make a group retreat every six months, have an evening of recollection and a gospel fraternity meeting monthly. Academic preparation includes classes in the Old and New Testament, moral theology, doctrinal courses on God, church, sacraments, parish sociology, homiletics and liturgy.

In the Diocese of Detroit the 13 men will serve as part time deacons who will maintain their regular occupation for support and work for the church in an unsalaried capacity.

A reception honoring McLaughlin will be held in the OLV Social Hall Sunday, June 20, following the 12:15 p.m. Mass.

McLaughlin is employed as group manager with The Great-West Life Assurance Company in Detroit.

He and his wife have 13 children: Frederick, 19; Allison, 18; Katherine, 17; Christopher, 16; Joan, 15; Ellen, 14; Matthew, 13; Ruth, 12; Peter and Andrew, 11; Fredica, 10; Mary, 8; and Sarah, 3.

Rotary Taps Ken Rathert

Kenneth Rathert will be installed as president of the Northville Rotary Club at the ladies night dinner program at 7 p.m. this Friday at Meadowbrook Country Club. He succeeds Arlis Laux.

Other officers to be installed are Robert Webber, first vice-president; Donald Van Ingen, second vice-president; Dr. Robert Geake, secretary; Nelson C. Schrader III, treasurer; and T. John Tishack, sergeant-at-arms.

Aaron Gellerman is in charge of program arrangements for the evening.

Three Scouts Get 'Eagle' Honors Here

Eagle Scout honors went to three Northville youths Monday as Scout Troop 755 of the First Presbyterian Church Men's Club held a court of honor in the church.

James Harding, Kurt Andersen and Timothy Taggart were the first Eagle Scouts to be honored by Troop 755 "in at least four years," according to Warren Stoddard, institutional representative for the group.

Besides completing 21 merit badges and serving the troop as a leader, each boy must complete a project, without pay, that has some general benefit to the community to earn the Eagle honor.

According to Stoddard, Harding recognized the magazine room of the Northville Public Library, Andersen catalogued the film library at Cook Junior High School, and Taggart formulated, circulated and catalogued the results of an ecology questionnaire in his local area.

Also at the ceremony, which included honors given to 17 other local youths, a 20-year charter was presented to Troop 755 from the Detroit Area Council of Boy Scouts of America by Dave Beauvais, assistant district executive of that body.

SEVERE LIGHTNING, HEAVY RAINS, DESTRUCTIVE WINDS, AND LARGE HAIL ARE OFTEN "ADVANCE MEN" FOR THE MOST VIOLENT STORM ON EARTH—THE TORNADO.

Here's Some Safety Tips

When a tornado WARNING alert is given, the weather bureau advises people to seek inside shelter, preferably in a basement, underground excavation, or a steel-framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction.

By all means stay away from windows.

Here are some general rules of safety to follow:

IN HOMES — The basement usually offers the greatest safety. Seek shelter under a sturdy workbench or heavy table if possible.

In a home with no basement, occupants should take cover under heavy furniture in the center part of the house. Keep some windows open to prevent exploding glass and to reduce wind pressure — but keep away from windows.

IN MOBILE HOMES — These are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Mobile home parks should have a community shelter. Appoint a community leader responsible for constant radio or TV monitoring during threatening weather or during WATCH periods.

IN SCHOOLS — Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide, free-span roofs. If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

IN OFFICE BUILDINGS — Stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.

IN FACTORIES — On receiving a tornado WARNING, Post a lookout. Workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.

IN OPEN COUNTRY — Move away from the tornado's path at a right angle. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

Tornado Alert—What Does It Mean?

When your television or radio station sends out its warnings, using the two terms "Tornado Watch" and "Tornado Warning", what does it mean?

TORNADO WATCHES are the first message between the National Severe Storms Forecast Center and areas potentially threatened by tornadoes. They specify the area covered by the watch, and establish periods of time during which tornado probabilities are expected to be dangerously high.

The object of the WATCH is to alert everyone in the area and to advise them to be ready to seek shelter if a tornado is sighted.

TORNADO WARNING means that a Tornado has actually been sighted or its presence is suspected from radar echoes. The WARNING message will dictate where the tornado was sighted, the area through which it may move, and the approximate time period involved.

The TORNADO WARNING is the time to seek shelter.

Earth's Most Violent Storm's on the Loose

Of all the winds that sweep this planet's surface, tornadoes are the most violent.

Their time on earth is short, and their destructive paths are rather small — but there are few communities within the circulation area of this newspaper that have not felt the fury of these hideous creatures of nature.

No community in this area is safe and, warn officials of the United States Weather Bureau, the tornado "season" for this area is here.

Tornado frequency usually starts picking up in the Great Lakes region late in May, drifting in from the southern plains states as warm, moist air penetrates the area while cool, dry air is still surging in from the north and northwest.

Although the bureau emphasizes the potential danger during this period, it notes that the mathematical chance that a specific location will be struck by a tornado in any one year is quite small. For example, the probability of a tornado striking a given point in the area most frequently subject to tornadoes is about once in 250 years.

But statistics can be deceiving too. Ask Flint area residents.

Tornadoes are local storms, explain the experts, formed of winds rotating at very high speeds, usually in a counter-clockwise direction. These storms are visible as a vortex, a whirlpool structure of winds rotating about a hollow cavity in which centrifugal forces produce a partial vacuum.

Because thunderstorms may extend from near the earth's surface into the stratosphere, they may literally blot out the sun. "Remember," cautions the weather bureau, "the darker the sky, the greater the vertical extent of the cloud, and the more likely the storm will be severe. Remember also that, given the proper season and geographic location, severe thunderstorms may develop from shallower cloud systems."

It is out of thunderstorms that tornadoes are produced. "Because they are often accompanied by heavy rain, hail, lightning, and the obscuring cloud system of the thunderstorm or squall lines, these violent storms are sometimes difficult to identify. This difficulty is, of course, much greater when tornadoes occur at night."

A tornado at night, or one hidden by low-hanging clouds, heavy rain, or buildings can still be detected, however, because its winds have a distinctive roar which can be heard from several miles away. Some people have described the sound as that of a big jet aircraft, others as the sound of trains.

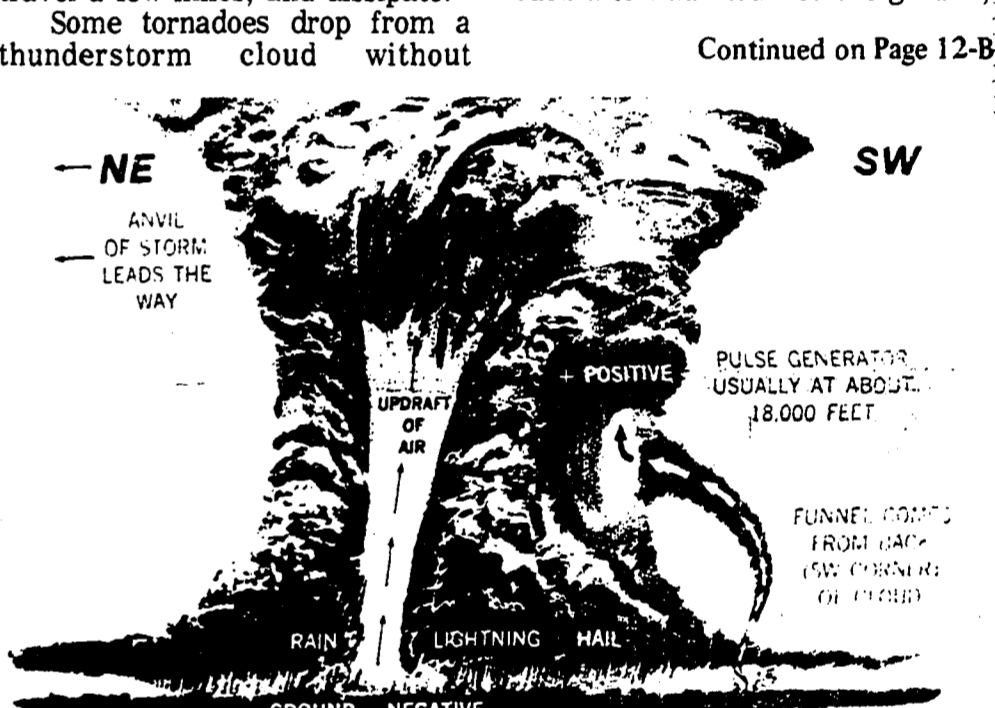

The roar of a tornado increases as the funnel nears the ground, and it is loudest when the tornado moves across the surface. Sometimes a series of two or more tornadoes is associated with a parent thunderstorm. As the thunderstorm moves, tornadoes may form at intervals along its path, travel a few miles, and dissipate.

Some tornadoes drop from a thunderstorm cloud without developing a visible funnel-shaped cloud of their own. These invisible whirlwinds first become visible when the violently spinning column of air begins picking up debris or dust from the ground. The longer such a tornado touches the ground,

Physically and Mentally Plants Benefit Man

Beautiful gardens and ornamental plantings provide both physical and mental benefits for man, points out a Michigan State University horticulturist.

From tulip bloom until the roses are frosted, the Michigan State University Horticulture Garden is the most popular place on the MSU campus for strolling, reading and relaxing, says Dr. John Carew. "But there are not enough gardens, parks and ornamental plantings for all the people in this country," he says. "Too many people never get the opportunity to enjoy plants. Scientists know our minimum daily requirement (MDR) for vitamins and minerals but no one knows our MDR for plants and natural beauty."

ALYSSUM is an excellent border plant that bears vast amounts of flowers. The standard flower colors are white or blue, but some hybrids with other colors and color combinations are now available.

Timing Essential In Pest Control

Control of garden insects is often a question of timing. It may not be how much insecticide you use, but when you apply it, according to William Wallner, entomologist at Michigan State University. In some cases, you can actually control some pests without pesticides, if you get busy early enough, Wallner believes.

"Get up close to your plants, shrubs and trees. Examine them. Don't just enjoy them from a feet away. When you can detect a pest from that far, you really have a problem," he says. Wallner does not recommend preventive insect sprays, except perhaps for roses. Instead he suggests that homeowners inspect plants often to detect a problem, identify the pest and take quick action when necessary.

Among the more common pests Wallner lists borers and aphids. Borers are difficult to control because they spend most of their lives inside the plant. The best control is to cut out of the infected part of the plant and burn it. Rose borers live in the old canes. They bore through old canes to prevent this, Wallner suggests using shears, tree paint or other substance to seal the cane after cutting them out and destroy them.

Aphids are common on new growth of many plants. They suck the plant liquids, causing distorted leaves and blooms. Cool, damp weather encourages aphids. The feeding of the spruce gall aphid causes galls on new growth. This pest can also be controlled to some degree by picking off the galls and destroying them before mid-summer.

Many insects and pests require control by chemical sprays. Wallner says that information regarding the best uses of sprays is available in bulletins from the county Cooperative Extension Service office. Before using any pesticide, make sure you have properly diagnosed the problem, he advises. Then apply a chemical recommended for the specific purpose, at the correct time of the year, and at the rate suggested on the pesticide label.

"Most pests have a 'weak link' in their life cycle of development. At that specific time they are easiest to control. Failing to control the pest then may lead to disappointing results," the entomologist concludes.

Has Your Lawn Got Rings?

Little purple spots, rings of dead grass and lawn areas speckled with white powder are indications of lawn diseases, says Dr. J. M. Vargas, Michigan State University turfgrass pathologist.

Little purple spots on grass leaves are the first symptom of Helminthosporium leaf spot—a fungus disease that attacks Kentucky bluegrass and red fescue during cool, moist weather. According to Vargas, grass infected with leaf spot will begin to thin out in July or August when the disease reaches the crown and root system.

"Circles of dead grass with healthy green grass in the center are a good indication of fusarium blight infection," says Vargas. "This fungus disease can take a heavy toll of shaded bluegrass lawns." The symptoms usually appear during dry periods, because infected plants have stunted root systems that can't stand drought.

Lawn areas that look like they have been sprinkled with Merion and other Kentucky bluegrasses and bentgrasses.

Transplanting Bulbs Could Aid Growth

TRANSPLANTING tulip and hyacinth bulbs will mean better blooms next spring. After they are dug, bulbs are dry enough to store when the outer scales have dried (as shown here.) Store the bulbs in a cool, dry, dark area and replant about September 1, advise MSU horticulturists.

Were your tulip and hyacinth flowers disappointingly few and small this year? If they were, the bulbs probably need transplanting, says R. A. Mecklenburg, Michigan State University horticulturist. Small flowers, few flowers, or both, indicate overcrowding. When transplanting bulbs, dig them during the summer so they will cure before they're replanted in the fall, recommends Mecklenburg. But make sure the bulbs are ready for digging by uncovering a few bulbs. If ready, the bulb coat will be light brown. The plant usually reaches this stage after the leaves turn yellow. Keep dug bulbs out of bright sunlight, suggests Mecklenburg. Spread them to dry in shallow trays in an airy spot under shade. When the outer scales have dried, move the bulbs to a cool, dry, dimly-lit area such as a cellar or garage for storage. Be sure to remove all soil. Then check bulbs at least once a week and remove those that are rotted or diseased.

Pinching mums isn't difficult, he says. Just remove the top half inch of each shoot. This is usually done by pinching a shoot between the thumb and forefinger, and then removing it. A few days later, new side branches will start to form, explains Carpenter. When side branches become about six inches long, pinch them. Continue this procedure until about June 15 for early flowering varieties, July 1 for midseason varieties and July 10 for late flowering varieties. After these dates, flower buds will be starting to form. So remember, for better mums this year, pinch now.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

Ralph Nader may have been tolerated at the beginning, even widely admired, but time, his persistent clamoring and possibly good corporate PR work have apparently taken their toll. He is now looked upon by many, or so it seems, as some kind of kook with a thing bordering on paranoia about big corporations.

When he says things such as, "It's you scratch my fraud and I'll scratch yours" and "the auto industry abhors capitalism. They want collusion; they prefer conspiracy" people begin wondering whether this man is merely piping a tune to keep his name before the public or whatever personal ambitions he has. His crusade and his popularity definitely seemed on the wane when Campaign GM, a movement stimulated by Nader to make GM more responsive, fizzled this year. The heat against Nader's prime target, GM, was cooling. Then a man comes forward. His name, George Caramanna, a former hard-knocks engineer with GM who was instrumental in development of the Corvair, the automobile that Nader claimed years ago was unsafe.

Caramanna was close to the Corvair. He not only helped develop it, he test drove it. The first prototype of the Corvair rolled over the first time it was driven, Caramanna reports. A suspension bar which he, Caramanna, installed to stabilize the rear end helped the Corvair negotiate curves, but Caramanna reports the bar was dropped from the production line.

This account from the former gut-ripped GM employee who is scheduled to testify before a Senate subcommittee refutes previous evidence given by GM before a subcommittee when Nader made his first allegations. With this latest disclosure, Nader's stock is sure to rise in the mind of the public, just as it did tremendously when it was uncovered that GM was trying to discredit the crusader by employing a private eye to tail Nader and probe his personal life.

One thing has remained constant through the years, although Nader's popularity, or credibility if you will, ebbs and flows with each new accusation and counter-accusation. It's Nader's undying commitment to his cause—consumer protection.

Perhaps not all his charges are 100 percent correct. Time may or may not tell. But he and his staff continue to plug away, leaving the public to wonder why and doubt that any man would commit himself to such a lofty ideal, only to suffer recriminations.

Babson Report Electronics Aid Reporting

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—On February 8, 1971 a revolutionary electronic, computerized system of trading securities was placed in operation in the over-the-counter market. This method of price reporting is called NASDAQ (for its developer, the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotation).

Within about four months it has already brought more orderly trading, savings in time and money for the dealers, and better and firmer prices for the customers. It is challenging the leadership of the listed exchanges (the New York and American Stock Exchanges) by means of its third-market operations (listed securities sometimes traded in the O-T-C market, often at lower commissions).

THE OVER-the-counter market is maintained by thousands of professional investment firms that "make markets" by continually quoting bid-and-ask prices over telephones, teletypes, and private wires. Historically, there has been no central meeting ground. In the past, before the new NASDAQ computer quotation system was instituted, the most efficient firms usually obtained quotes from at least three dealers in order to provide their customers with the best prices.

The procedure was time-consuming and expensive in this securities market. Some 25,000 to 30,000 stocks are quoted in the course of a year. On a weekly basis, about 8,500 stocks are traded over the counter. Currently, NASDAQ carries bid-and-ask prices on about 2,500 securities. The quotes are constantly updated by the dealers. Flashed across a television-like screen are the names of the dealers marketing the stock and the prices at which they are willing to trade. Quotes are obtained in a matter of seconds once the proper buttons are pushed. The system is scheduled to expand to 20,000 issues by the end of 1971. NASDAQ promises to take the mystery out of O-T trading, and may very well bring nationwide acceptance and prestige for O-T-C securities. This market is the largest and oldest in the country, but because of its former lack of visibility the small investor preferred to confine his purchases to the listed exchanges.

The new computerized system will eventually follow up with volume figures on trading—never before compiled—and stock indexes along the lines of the Dow-Jones averages. If the present addition of exchange-listed stocks to the NASDAQ system is successful, more listed companies will be included. Thus, unlimited opportunities will open up for the visual display of the securities of unfamiliar companies which have compiled sterling growth records, as well as those fledgling but promising firms with good potential. Both groups should afford the possibility of outstanding capital gains.

THE RESEARCH Staff of Babson's Reports has recently culled the broad spectrum of securities being traded in the vast O-T-C market and is currently recommending Russell Stover Candies, Western Publishing, and Republic National Life Insurance at present levels. These companies are leaders in their respective fields and should show appreciation over the intermediate term for the aggressive investor.

Other O-T-C companies which will be interesting for purchase when prices have moved somewhat lower are Charles River Breeding Laboratories, world's largest breeder of lab animals; Southland Corp., nation's largest convenience food store chain; and General Automotive Parts.
