

Authority May Build Municipal Complex

First steps toward construction of a new municipal complex for the City of Novi were taken Monday night by the city council with the adoption of a resolution for formation of a public building authority.

Basically, the building authority will allow the city the right to raise money for public building projects without having to go to a vote of the people.

It is the same kind of organization that in Novi recently constructed that community's parking deck.

Due primarily to objections raised by councilmen Raymond Evans and Edwin Presnell, approval of the articles of incorporation necessary before the building authority can come into being were postponed until the October 4 meeting of the council.

The objections of both Evans and Presnell concerned proper notification and education of the people. Said Evans: "I can foresee a lot of possible state from the people once the building commission actually starts building."

He urged the council hold a public hearing so that possible future negative reaction to the work of the commission can be met with the announcement that a public hearing had indeed been held on the question of incorporating the commission.

Mayor Joseph Crupi stated, however, that although he had no objections to a public hearing, legislation of this type did not require one.

Presnell's objections concerned proper notification of the public of just what formation of the commission would entail.

"Does the public know," he asked, "that under the proposed set of circumstances an ad valorem tax can be spread to cover the costs of a default in a lease?"

"We're giving broad powers to a building authority," he continued, "that might affect the faith and credit of the community. I am not questioning the need for such an authority, but I think it's important that the public should know what we're about to do."

Although incorporated by the city, a separate authority exists as a separate entity and is governed by a three-man commission, usually headed by the city manager, appointed by the council, it was explained.

The building authority raises money for construction through the sale of bonds, going first through the Municipal Finance Commission, which must approve all bond issues.

Once the buildings are completed, the authority then leases them out while maintaining ownership, acting as virtual landlords.

Although there have been instances where building authorities have leased buildings to private concerns, in most instances buildings are leased to municipalities.

The probability of an ad valorem tax being levied on the people resists on the lease. In that case, the people of the city must bear responsibility for repaying the building authority.

In another item of business, the council approved a request for an approximate $30,000 increase in the budget of the building department for the 1972 fiscal year.

The request came in response to a request from Director of the Department of Building and Safety Earl Bailey for more personnel.

Citing the increased work load on his department created by the great influx of inspection work resulting from the Walled Lake-Nov sewage treatment plant and such developments as Kaufman and Bred, Heller and Silverman, Smokler, and Practical Builders, Bailey requested two more inspectors.

Plumbing inspectors and a full time permit clerk.

"Funds for the salaries of the new personnel are expected to come from an increase in the department's revenue."

The annual budget anticipated by the department is $135,000 for the fiscal year but, according to Bailey, the department has already taken in more than $30,000 in just two and a half months, an excess of roughly $10,000 per month over the anticipated income.

With the increase of requests for building permits expected to rise even more sharply, Bailey predicted that the

Wixom Boasts Centennial Sites

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the third in a series of articles about historic homes in Wixom.

By NANCY DINGELDEY

Last week marked the 100th birthday of the City of Wixom and so it would seem fitting to feature the two centennial farms that lie within the boundaries of the city.

Specifically, a centennial farm is property that has been granted by the government. Chipman Hopkins, the great-grandfather of the Wixom clan, began the building of the homestead containing 122 acres while his brother, Calvin Hopkins, settled on the other end of town. His place was on Pontiac Trail and it was he who built the Ware home featured in the first of this series.

Both men were seafarers who sailed the oceans and the Great Lakes. They also owned schooners but gave up that life to turn to the soil.

What is now the site of Palmer Lakes Estates located on Wixom and Loon Lake Roads was the property owned by the Ben Hopkins who are "fourth or fifth cousins" descended from Calvin Hopkins. The subdivision is aptly named Hopkins Drive.

Renna Hopkins was born and raised in the lovely old home and through the New England Historical and Geneological Register she can trace the family back to the Mayflower and England of the 1620's. The two-story part of the home is the original with additions on the west and north side of the home having been added several years later.

The main cattle and horse barn was located across the street from the house. Hand-hewn 8x8 wood pinnacled beams supported the large hipped roof but when Loon Lake Road was paved, the barn had to go. It was either that or the two maple trees that Grandmother Hopkins had planted in front of the house so many years ago.

Electricity didn't get to the farm until 1929 so the 30 head of cattle had to be milked by hand by the light of lanterns. The house was lighted with kerosene lamps and each day's chores included the cleaning of chimneys and equipment so necessary to lighting the way.

The telephone was the first "modern" implement to come to the farm. It appeared in 1908. Since then, plumbing, running water and sewers, bedrooms because George used to "put up" the buyers in his thriving livestock trade.

Road Threatens Unique Bog

By NANCY DINGELDEY

A fascinating adventure in nature awaits those who are willing to don boots and do a little walking.

You need not travel far to reach this picturesque area—for many, it's right out the "back door." It is the Proud Lake Recreation Area on Glangery Road between Benstein and Wixom Roads just north of Wixom.

Majestic trees line the winding gravel road. Only the occasional call of a crow breaks the peaceful serenity. There is a rustic, backwoods beauty to be seen along this road—lush and green in spring and summer, blazing with a multitude of colors in fall, transformed in winter to a crystal white wonderland.

In a sandy area beneath towering oak trees, Proud Lake Naturalist Hartley Thornton began a nature hike for a group of people concerned with preserving the area for posterity.

The rolling countryside, much of it included in Proud Lake territory, was formed during the last glacial period almost 2,000 years ago. The glacier, estimated by scientists to be one and one quarter miles thick, covered the area creating a ridge or parallel moraine which dominates the surrounding terrain.

A lobe, or finger, of the glacier broke off, part of it melted and the remainder slowly sunk into the ground. A piece of that glacier still remains far below the surface of the ground and causes a constant 41 degree temperature at the lower depths of the bog, he said. All matter surrounding it is completely and permanently preserved in a natural refrigerator.

The valley, created by the glacier's movement filled with melting ice and formed a lake which is now a natural watershed area. The main branch of the Huron River starts from Proud Lake. As the glacial ice melted, it deposited material and debris collected through its movement southward.

As a direct result of this movement in Michigan, there are to be found more varieties of soil, land formations, the largest gravel quarries in the world, just about every mineral and even industrial diamonds, explained the naturalist.

Thornton went on to explain the difference between bogs and swamps adding that there are always definite stages followed. A swail is a very shallow lake, rich in top soil and grasses called swail grass. A marsh is covered with grasses, but the water, which is shallow, is clean and moving. A true swamp has hardwood trees, the soil is super-saturated with water and has no inlet or outlet, streams or springs making the water brackish. A dead lake or pot hole lies between hills with no inlet or outlet, but the lake dies.

Thirty-six acres within Proud Lake have been set aside as natural preserves by state legislation. The park encompasses 3,500 acres. In the natural preserve areas, nothing can be altered or removed and only the existing trails may be updated.

Extensive botanical and scientific studies are carried on in this area, one of the richest botanical spots in lower Michigan, by university groups. The Universities of Illinois and Ohio as well as Michigan, Wayne, Detroit, Assumption and Marygrove, among others, study the flora and fauna to be found in the bog.

Carl Lehtola Weds Roberta Willacker

Roberta Rae Willacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin P. Willacker, Jr., 27650 Taft Road, Walled Lake, became the bride of Henry Carl Lehtola, son of Mrs. Aaila Lehtola of West Bloomfield, in a Nuptial Mass August 27.

Father James Mayworm officiated at the 6:30 p.m. ceremony at St. William's Catholic Church in Walled Lake.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a sequin-trimmed wedding ring neckline, Victorian sleeves, fitted waistline and full skirt extending into a chapel train.

A seed pearl petal headpiece held her full-length Chantilly lace mantilla veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, baby's breath, carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Martin Willacker III was matron of honor for her sister-in-law in a long-sleeved gown with a white and gold chid chignon over taffeta skirt with a deep purple sash at the empire waist. She wore a white picture hat with orchid streamers.

Bridesmaids, in matching costumes in white and deep purple, were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Richard Lamphier, Denise Buskin, Mrs. Anthony Rogier, and the bride's sister, Annette.

Leigh Ann Lamphier and Carla Willacker were flower girls in identical gowns made by the bride's mother. They were fashioned with long-sleeved bodices of white dotted Swiss with lace and purple tulle trim and deep purple skirts. They wore purple-ribboned white hats.

All attendants carried baskets of multi-colored carnations, mums, daisies and greens.

John Lehtola was his brother's best man. Ushers were Richard Lamphier, John Kinnunen, John Debrun and the bride's brother, John Willacker. Ring bearers, carrying the rings on orchid heart-shaped pillows, were Alan Lamphier and Jeff Willacker.

Guitar music by "The Carpenters" chosen by the bride's cousins, Mike and Teresa Gardner of Battle Creek, Robert Desmar, of Walled Lake was organist and soloist during the offertory.

Both mothers chose pink carnations for the wedding, and wore corsages of multi-colored sweetheart roses and carnations.

The wedding reception for 300 was followed at Roma Hall in Livonia.

In Our Town

BY JEAN DAY

NEW TOWN HALL Chairman Mrs. Jack Doherty "coped" with her first big emergency this week as, within hours of the fire which ravaged Lofy's Restaurant in Plymouth, she had found a new location for the first celebrity luncheon to follow Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen's opening lecture October 14.

The group will be welcomed at the new Holiday Inn in Farmington at Ten Mile Road near Grand River and the expressway. By 9:30 a.m. Monday morning—the day following the Lofy fire—Mrs. Doherty had telephone arrangements completed and ready to take to her board Tuesday.

Town Hall will have the use of newly-opened banquet facilities with luncheon price remaining at $3.50, the same as the board had negotiated at Lofy's. Transportation, it was pointed out, will be convenient as members can drive from the lecture at Northville High School north to Ten Mile and then directly east to the new inn.

(Perhaps Director Romney remembered the poster collage Lynne and other Young Republicans had made to welcome him when he was governor.)

In Washington Lynne lived with the family of a Kalamazoo College classmate.

ANNUAL FALL membership tea of the Western Suburban Junior Women's Club, which now has many Northville members, is planned for 2 to 4 p.m. this Sunday at Kings Mill Clubhouse.

Mrs. Bruce VanDeusan, assistant junior director of Michigan, from Birmingham, is to be guest speaker.

Mrs. James Clarke, club membership chairman, invites interested young women (under 40) who would like to attend the tea and learn about the group's activities to call her at 349-4558.

One of the club's most successful fund-raising projects has been classes in wreath-making. Proceeds are earmarked for scholarships at Schoolcraft College, Girlstown at Belleville and a baby clinic in Livonia.

Outdoor Rites Unite Couple

NEW PRESIDENT of Schoolcraft College, Dr. C. Nelson Grote, and Mrs. Grote have been invited to meet Northville civic and educational leaders at an open house Sunday being given by former Schoolcraft Trustee and Mrs. B. William Secord at their new home at 2001 Springwood Drive.

Many will be meeting the new president for the first time as he arrived during the summer. He follows Dr. Eric J. Brader, founding president, who retired. Dr. Grote comes from Morehead State University in Kentucky where he was dean of the school of applied science and technology.

The bridegroom wore a white lace wedding shirt to carry out the peasant theme. Cynthia Buttenmiller of Walled Lake wore a cream-colored gown, similar in style to the bride's and trimmed with embroidery. Mr. and Mrs. Secord carried a nosegay of fall flowers.

James Bennett, a friend from University of Michigan, was best man.

Both mothers made their long, peasant-style gowns. The bride's mother chose pale green with deeper green trim while the bridegroom's was in a floral print.

Sixty guests, close friends of the couple and relatives, attended. A reception was held at "The Riverhouse," a new home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barley of Milford, friends of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Toronto, the bride and groom changed to a one-piece pantsuit in rust, covered with a brown suede-look cardigan. Both wore corsages of Michigan where she is majoring in education and he is in pre-law. They will make their home in Ann Arbor.

LYNNE RATHER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rathert of 450 Maplewood, returns to Kalamazoo College to begin her sophomore year. Sunday after holding a summer job with the HUD program in Washington, D. C.

Politically oriented Lynne, whose mother reports is working toward a career in government, national or foreign, wrote HUD Director and former Michigan Governor George Romney, seeking a job on the HUD staff. To her surprise, she received a telephone call, took the civil service examination and was on her way to Washington, D. C.

For her wedding trip to Mackinac Island and the Upper Peninsula, the bride chose a three-piece hot pants suit of white and purple satin. The new-wed will make their home in Farmington.

Novi Jaycees Set Songfest

Novi Jaycees and their auxiliary are planning a "Sing Along" party for 8 p.m. October 9 at the Village Oaks Sales Office at Ten Mile and Haggerty roads as part of a membership drive.

The "M" night party is planned to acquaint civic-minded young couples with the programs of the Novi Jaycees and auxiliary. To become a Novi Jaycee, a young man must be between 21 and 36 years old.

The fun-and-refreshments evening is planned so that young couples who would like to become a part of the Jaycee community activities can get acquainted with members of the organization.

Invitations are going out to couples in the area with reservation deadline set for October 2. Anyone interested and not contacted is invited to call Mrs. Jerry Mercier, 476-9390, or Mrs. Ron Mitchell, 474-4377.

along with co-chairman Phyllis Green (Mrs. Robert) of Livonia.

Mrs. Price, who writes articles for The Detroit Free Press, Detroit News Sunday Magazine, The Lutheran Witness, The National Observer, Women's World, Young Explorers and Concordia Children's Newspapers, will head up one of the conference topics—"Cutting Your Manuscript."

Keynote speaker will be Hayes B. Jacobs, author of Writing and Selling Non-Fiction and articles and stories in The New Yorker, Harpers, Esquire, Saturday Review. He also is director of Writing Workshops at The New School in New York City, and editor of The New York Market Letter published monthly in Writers Digest.

Novelist Alison Lurie, author of Real People, Love and Friendship, The Time-Box, and Imaginary Friends, will highlight the first of three sessions in which conferees can choose round tables on fiction, non-fiction, poetry and drama.

Other out-of-town speakers include nationally syndicated columnist Ellen Peck, editors Peter K. Rose, Albert Drake, Naomi Long Madgett, Eugene Han and Dudley Randall.

Sessions on writing and marketing the short story, article and book have been expanded to include science fiction techniques.

Persons wishing additional information may call Mrs. Price at 349-0138 or Marilyn Lyman at MI 6-0866.

Engagement

An October 2 wedding date has been set by Patricia Susan Leppien, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Leppien of 42065 Baintree Circle, Plymouth, in Northville Commons are announcing her engagement to Donald James Finney of St. Louis, Missouri.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Finney of St. Louis. The Leppiens, who are newcomers to Northville, formerly lived in St. Louis. The bride-elect is a 1971 graduate of Parkway Central High in St. Louis.

Her fiancé is a 1971 graduate of Riverview Gardens High School and is attending Florida Valley College in St. Louis. He also is employed with A & P there.

Ward Cooks Mark 60 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Ward A. Cook, 242 South Center Street, were surprised on their 60th wedding anniversary last Wednesday, September 15, with many congratulatory cards and plants.

They first lived as newlyweds in Northville with his parents at their present address. They were married at the Detroit home of Jennie Cook's parents by a Presbyterian minister.

Her husband, who is 91, was born in the Cherry Hill area of Detroit and was brought here as a baby when his parents moved to Center street.

After they had been married five years, he was transferred to Duluth, Minnesota, to become foreman and then superintendent of a U. S. Fish Hatchery. When it closed in 1948, they retired to Northville.

The couple has no children. Both have been active in local Masonic work, belonging to the local lodge, chapter and commandery until a recent fall made it impossible to get out.

Both have been active members of the Northville First Presbyterian Church. The Reverend Lloyd Brasure cited their "genuine loyalty" to the church in a special prayer September 12 as he mentioned their attendance in church has not been possible recently.

Many friends, therefore, had an opportunity to remember their marriage milestone.

LWV Target: Young Voters

League of Women Voters Week in Michigan, September 19-25, ushers in a far-reaching local program to help educate and register new voters in the 19-20 age group.

Through civics class programs in Northville and Plymouth high schools, the Northville-Plymouth League announced, it will help provide voter registration information.

It also will aid in sponsorship of a public political awareness course at Schoolcraft College and will continue to hold nonpartisan meetings to introduce candidates for public office to the public.

As Governor Milliken of Michigan proclaimed LWV

Week and urged recognition of the "innumerable and meaningful contributions to the more effective and responsible citizenship that have been made by the League of Women Voters," the local league initiated its fall finance drive here.

League members point out that the league is non-profit corporation which derives funds from members and the community planning.

Funds enable the league to "pursue concerns for the deepest problems of society," which it lists as welfare, taxation, education, environmental quality, U.S. Congress and locally, schools and community planning.

At the luncheon there are to be displays of knitted and crocheted work, which ranges from baby wear to afghans and vests, candles, wooden wares and Christmas decorations.

Mrs. Roy Herald and Mrs. Warner Krause, bazaar co-chairmen, have been working to make the bazaar November 12 an especially large one in celebration of the 75th anniversary of the church.

The women of the church have been saving proceeds from their projects for a kitchen remodeling, but to mark the milestone anniversary have voted to donate the first $750 of the bazaar proceeds directly to the church.

Every alternate year the Lutheran women plan a large bazaar with baked goods, candy, candle, Christmas, nearly new, card and boutique booths.

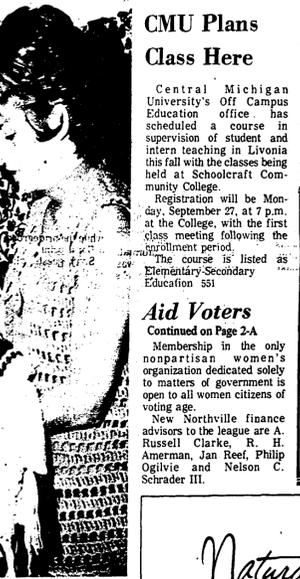

A sewing workshop was held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Charles Kehrer, and a craft one using pine cones is slated today at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Rabbert.

The committee emphasizes that there are to be no advance sales this year of bazaar items so that the early shoppers will receive the choice bargains. These include solid walnut candleholders and bowls (made by hand by a member's father), colorful afghans in washable wool and fresh breads and cakes.

The bazaar will run from 9:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. with a snack bar open for coffee and donuts. Luncheon snacks will be available through the noon hours.

'GETTING TO KNOW YOU'—Marge Gibbs, director of consumer affairs for Chatham Food Centers, talks with Mrs. Sam Stephens, 326 Debra, about her grocery shopping habits, while three-year-old Kara, listens. Mrs. Gibbs, Detroit's only consumer representative for the new Northville store last week.

BAZAAR PREVIEW—Mrs. Roy Herald, co-chairman of the St. Paul Lutheran bazaar November 12, models a crocheted vest as she admires a handmade afghan displayed by Mrs. Charles Kehrer, sewing workshop hostess. Mrs. Kehrer wears a knit hat made for the bazaar—planned as an especially "big" event to mark the 75th anniversary of the church.

Methodist Picnic Set

The First United Methodist Church will hold its annual all-church picnic Sunday, September 26, at 1 p.m. The picnic will be at the "Willows" at Waters Bend, Six Mile Road just off Northville Road.

The potluck picnic is for the entire family, the Reverend G. C. Branstner, pastor of the church, said.

Coffee, soft drinks, hot dogs and rolls will be furnished. Games, both planned and impromptu, are set for the afternoon. Included will be the mysterious case, mile-a-frown, treasure dig and balloon toss.

"Last year's unscheduled football game will probably 'happen' again, too," Mr. Branstner said. "Everybody wins in some of these games and there are boxes of prizes and no real losers."

Newcomers to the community are invited to attend and Mr. Branstner said they "will find this a pleasant setting in which to get acquainted."

She's First in Detroit Chatham Hires 'Consumer Voice'

Marge Gibbs, director of consumer affairs for Chatham Food Centers and Detroit's only consumer representative for a grocery chain, came to Northville last Wednesday to inspect the firm's new store at 424 Center Street.

She hadn't made it here for the opening as she was busy judging canned and baked goods at the State Fair at the time. Mrs. Gibbs has been a fair judge for 20 years through her previous work as consumer marketing information agent for Michigan State University and the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"It's a people program," is the way she describes her new post with Chatham. Roaming the aisles of the new Northville store, Mrs. Gibbs concentrated on the meat and produce areas as she stopped customers to ask for comments.

She cited these departments as most important in the highly competitive food industry in the Detroit area. (There was only praise for the new store Wednesday, but shoppers are invited to write her with questions and suggestions.)

Pointing out the "unit pricing" labels on the store shelves, Mrs. Gibbs asserted that shoppers can save 10 per cent on family food bills "when shopping by price alone" and checking the shelf prices.

She regrets that many shoppers still are not aware of the "unit pricing" concept which Chatham was one of the first to introduce in Detroit. One of her job aims is to make the public more aware.

By checking "unit price" label, the shopper can see exactly how much she is paying by measure for an item.

For her consumer work, which began long before the term became a popular one, Marge Gibbs has been cited as one of Detroit's Top Working Women and was recipient of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Award for superior service in 1967. She has served as an appointee to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors and as president of the Women's Advertising Club of Detroit as well as on Detroit Budget Council and Red Cross and UWCA advisory boards.

A graduate of Wayne State University in home economics, Mrs. Gibbs stresses that she hopes to "serve the consumer" as well as "sell" Chatham.

While she is the only consumer affairs representative for a food chain in the Detroit area, she points out that she has counterparts in other major cities throughout the United States.

When asked about Ralph Nader's criticisms of the food industry, Mrs. Gibbs conceded that "there's a place for Ralph Nader's" but pointed out quickly that he has generalized in his statements and "every state has different food laws...Michigan has one of the most strict food laws with standards above federal ones."

Michigan, she stressed, long has watched home content in hamburger and hot dogs. She added that the widely publicized film on contaminated meat "never should have been shown in Michigan" as those conditions do not occur here.

DeHoCo Warden Raps Attica Critics

If Warden William Bannan has any criticism of the Attica, New York prison tragedy, it's aimed at the critics of the actions taken there.

"Monday morning quarterbacking is not my game," declares the former warden of the world's largest walled prison at Jackson and now warden at the Detroit House of Correction in Northville, Plymouth townships, "and those who play it are foolish."

"They don't know what happened and I don't know, so how can we make an intelligent judgment?" Bannan, 71, will neither support nor criticize the action of prison officials in quelling the Attica disturbance with force that led to the deaths of 40 guards and inmates.

Without knowing everything about the prison and its particular problems, he cannot, he says, project what he might have done in the same situation.

Nevertheless, some of the philosophies and practices of Bannan suggest that he might be less prone to use force than some, but given the situation of inmate violence, he would move with much more rapidly.

And violence in Bannan's book includes the holding of hostages—no matter how kindly such hostages are treated.

Generally speaking, Bannan takes the position that, unless violence occurs, prison disturbances can be more satisfactorily resolved by letting them whither on the vine.

That's why, he explains, he refused to use force recently to break up a sit-down strike by the female inmates of DeHoCo. "They weren't hurting anyone but themselves so why should we go in there and bust heads? If they had been hurting or burning that would be a different matter."

Bannan concedes that his inaction was not popular among some guards and prison officials, who favored "storming" the prison yards to stop the strike.

Key to the success of this kind of inaction and to coping with rioting in general, he says, is to ban all contact between inmates and the press—a procedure he followed during the recent sit-down strike. "You start letting in everybody and their uncle it encourages inmates to hold out and intensify their demands. They thrive on the publicity."

"If it happens to me nobody gets in to help stir them up. And if they get violent we move right now. No waiting, no talk."

Contrary to recent reports, the New York prison system, insists Bannan, is one of the better ones in the United States. And Attica, he adds, has a pretty good reputation among correctional officials.

He knows both the Attica warden and the New York prisons director.

Shortcomings at Attica and elsewhere, he contends, fall right in the lap of the public which fails to provide funds to improve their prisons. Here in Michigan, he adds, the situation "is better in that the facilities themselves are being improved. Nevertheless, insufficient funds are provided for personnel and in this area, he argues, Michigan must plead guilty.

But compared with other states, Michigan prisons, like those in New York, are at or near the top, he says.

At Jackson, where he served as warden for more than 10 consecutive years—longer than any man in his

Over Police Protection Verbal Barrage Rocks Township

A meeting at which long-range police protection proposals for Northville Township were to be discussed ended in a stormy public hearing Tuesday night when more than 40 persons crowded into Township Hall to express their views on police protection.

Motions were made and supported by the audience to cease further discussion of the City of Northville to provide police protection and one resident even questioned the township's policy of allowing rezoning for multiple dwelling units.

A few of those who attended the meeting came to have questions answered, only to learn township trustees themselves have questions that must be answered before any decisions can be made.

The majority of the audience, however, voiced the feeling the township should establish its own police force instead of contracting with any other agency.

Proposals before the township include:

- Contracting with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department for one car (eight men) 24 hours per day, seven days a week at a cost of $189,000 per year.
- Contracting with the City of Northville Police Department which has proposed a 22-man force to patrol both communities at a yearly cost of $350,000 (total budget for the entire department, approximately half of which would be paid by the township).
- Building up the current two-man township force to where it can provide adequate protection for the township.

Though no firm cost estimates have been placed on building up the township force, a five-year plan prepared last year by Chief Ronald Nisun estimated that an 11-man force by 1975 would cost an estimated $208,000.

However, Nisun noted his figures are based on the township force working with another police agency as a back-up unit.

He also said no provisions are in the figure for a building to house the department, $30 for rent, equipment and setting of vault.

Frequent township complaints are received, especially in summer months, he said.

Cost of the first phase of the proposed improvement, which would involve keeping a man from Thompson Brown's Lexington Commons development, south on Clement to West Main to the general fund, $20 to trust fund, and $10 for setting vault, etc.

Mrs. James Tellam told township she wants "enough information on the three separate proposals so I can determine in my own mind what is best for the township."

Trustee Charles Schaeffer noted that it has not yet been discussed what protection we need, he said, "then what we can afford to pay and what has been offered to us."

Following the ratification of this week of the master contract between the school district and the Northville Education Association, salaries for central office administrators have been announced.

The salaries, which have been in effect since July 1, are not affected by the wage and price freeze.

Superintendent Raymond Spear said he is earning $28,750; director, $19,500; Miss Florence Panattoni, director of instruction, $20,000; and Robert Benson, director of personnel, $17,000.

Principals' salaries have not been resolved yet, Spear said, and will be "partially affected by the freeze."

Trustee Andrew Orphan agreed, "This indicates there is a certain responsibility for retired employees." "There is nothing monetary now, but the fact that we recognized it years to come."

However, noting the agreement "criteria established by the board," Orphan moved the contract be ratified. The motion, supported by Trustee Martin Rinehart, won unanimous approval.

In a related matter, Superintendent Raymond Spear said a grievance filed against the school district by the NEA citing unfair labor practices will be withdrawn.

Water Bottleneck Solution Sought For Rusty Line

Three alternative suggestions concerning city water lines serving township residents west of the city limits will be presented to the Northville Township Board soon.

The city council Monday directed City Manager Frank Ollandorff and City Attorney Philip Ogilvie to present the alternatives to the boards in hopes of resolving a knotty problem.

Basically, the alternatives are these:

1. Do nothing, which means water service will continue to be inadequate and faulty.
2. Turn the lines over to the township, meaning the township would then be responsible for improving the lines if it so desires.
3. Permit the city to make a major improvement and permitting the city to accept new township customers to help pay for the cost of the improvement.

Presently, the lines west of Clement are in poor repair, under-sized, and lack adequate pressure to satisfactorily service existing township residents, according to the manager. (The lines were installed before the township got into the water business.)

Frequent township complaints are received, especially in summer months, he said.

Cost of the first phase of the proposed improvement, which would involve keeping a man from Thompson Brown's Lexington Commons development, south on Clement to West Main to the general fund, $20 to trust fund, and $10 for setting vault, etc.

NEWS BRIEFS

CITY TAX COLLECTIONS, although past the deadline for payment without penalty, are still trickling in, officials report with most taxes already paid. Of the $209,790 levy in the Wayne County section of the city and the $98,849 levy in the Oakland County section, collections were reported at $192,203 and $91,722, respectively.

MINOR AMENDMENTS to the proposed city charter revisions which will be placed on the ballot were approved by the council Monday. The changes were recommended by the state which reviewed the proposals and approved them for presentation to the voters. The proposed revisions, together with names of candidates for three city offices, will be decided in the November election.

DEADLINE for filing of nominating petitions for the offices of mayor and two city council posts, presently held by Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilmen Wallace Nichols and Charles Lapham, is Monday at 5 p.m. City Clerk Martha Milne reminded potential candidates this week. Allen and Nichols are seeking reelection, Lapham is not. The only two other persons who have filed thus far are David Biery and Paul Vernon, both of whom seek council seats. Saturday, October 2 at 5 p.m. is the final date for registration for the November election.

PREPARATIONS are underway for a weekend of activities, beginning Friday, October 1, for the inauguration of Schoolcraft College's new president, Dr. C. Nelson Grote. Highlighting the activities will be the inaugural ceremony at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 2, in the college gymnasium. Following this ceremony a 4 p.m. reception is to be held in the Waterman Center.

Assessment Roll Accepted

A $36,557 assessment roll was accepted (but not approved) by the city council Monday for presentation at a public hearing October 18 on the proposed improvement of Horton Street.

Acceptance of the roll and setting of the hearing drew a dissenting vote from Councilman Paul Folino without explanation. At an earlier meeting he had voiced objection to assessment for improvement.

The roll excluded any assessment of property owners for a special drainage improvement, thus reducing the cost to $29,267. Based on 1,502 front feet, the total per foot cost would be $19.52 or $14.63 based on 75-percent assessment against property owners.

Fifteen property owners of the one-block area to be surfaced—between Base Line and Eight Mile Road—are included on the roll, with estimated assessments ranging from a high of $2,340.80 to a low of $1,098. All but one is pegged at less than $1,200.

In other business Monday, the council formally established a cemetery fee schedule. Here are those fees:

Two Homes In Wixom 100 Years

Although the exact date is not known, it was about 1850 when George Spencer appeared and settled in Wixom. In his teenage years, George walked from Ohio and chose the 100-acre site located on what is now Pontiac Trail. He was granted the land again by the United States Government. It was also during these years that he fought in the Civil War. Several medals awarded to him remain with the family.

The home, also distinguishable by its centennial plaque, originally contained eight rooms. Many of those rooms were

He owned and operated the stock yards in "downtown" Wixom and dealt not only in cattle but wool as well. His business took him away from home for long "spells" and it was during his buying trips in Montana that his wife would call him and tell him again a room to the house. When he returned, what could he say? Grandmaw would have her way.

George's son, Vern, who died recently, carried on the cattle business, branching into dairy herds. He became a prime breeder of Brown Swiss cattle and was not only designated the "Premier Breeder" in the state, but was known throughout the nation for his animals.

Second only to the cattle was a hobby that he turned into a busy airport. Vern learned to fly in World War I during a stint with the Royal Canadian Air Force. He earned a landing strip in one portion of his land and erected a hanger. Others soon asked to land their planes and by one, more hangars appeared.

All is placid and serene around that big white farm home with its huge cattle barns directly behind and (tenant house) the nearby gentle Brown Swiss cattle, the tall, stately trees and colorful, well-kept flower gardens all add up to a picture-perfect setting a life begun so long ago but capable of keeping pace with the times.

Animal Clinic Opens

A veterinary clinic providing complete medical and surgical care, including laboratory and x-ray services opened in Novi last Monday. Several medals awarded to him remain with the family.

The new clinic will be limited to small animals and 24 hour emergency service will be provided.

Owners of the new clinic are Dr. Dennis Kovan and Dr. Donald Karr.

Dr. Kovan and Dr. Karr are also the owners of Beech Road Veterinary Hospital in Redford, where they have practiced for the past 15 years.

Heading the new Novi clinic will be Dr. David Boyd, 28 and a graduate of Michigan State University's College of Veterinary Medicine. Dr. Boyd has worked at the Redford clinic for the past year and a half.

Receptionist will be Miss Sharon Richards, who has had extensive experience in the handling of animals at a 19 year member of the staff at the Redford hospital.

Secondary school students may be putting less time on textbooks and more into the problems of their community environments in the future.

That's the emphasis in lesson plans of 26 earth science teachers including one from Novi returning to classrooms this fall after a six-week environmental summer institute in southern Ohio.

The Novi teacher is Joseph B. Mayer, 4089 West 10 Mile Road.

The institute was sponsored by the National Science Foundation and conducted in Ohio State University's College of Education.

Dr. Victor J. Mayer, who holds a joint associate professorship in the college and the department of geology, headed the institute with a staff of five consulting faculty members in natural resources, geology, biology and science education.

"Effective learning," says Mayer, "isn't something portioned out of a textbook from teacher to student."

"Given the information and the procedures, the student must be motivated to apply his imagination to the problem in his environment."

According to Mayer, imaginative teaching requires that a teacher rethink the traditional patterns in which he has been trained and conditioned.

Progress of the teachers will be followed with a meeting on November 12 and 13. Another evaluation of their work will be made next April.

If you missed registration and still want to join or did not receive a brochure in the mail, a call to the Community Education Office at 624-0202 will bring quick results.

Predicts
Tax Relief

House Republican Leader Clifford H. Smart (R-Walled Lake) said this week he was pleased with reports that House Speaker Ryan was now apparently ready to consider his (Representative Smart's) proposal for property tax relief through the Legislative process.

Representative Smart has introduced a bill (co-sponsored by 43 House Republicans) providing a $5,000 property tax exemption to Michigan property owners.

"I realize that the price for such an agreement would be for Republicans to support placing the graduated income tax on the ballot at some future date. The Speaker apparently wants to write into the constitution a personal exemption provision plus the scale of graduation. This demand will present disagreement in the Republican caucus. A clean cut proposal removing the constitutional prohibition on graduation would attract considerable Republican support in order to secure Democratic votes for property tax relief."

"But Republicans have recognized the need for property tax relief and have been the prime movers for relief, and we feel that the legislative process method is less difficult to attain."

"Republican opposition to the property tax resolution recently stalled in the Senate was the direct result of Democratic demands to tie the issue together with a graduated income tax and to place in the constitution language which should be handwritten."

"We may be willing to provide the votes to place the graduated income tax on a ballot, in return for some property tax relief."

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A little (friendly?) rivalry is developing between Northville and Plymouth involving the possible location of a State Police Post in this Western Wayne County area.

It's ironic that a few short months ago the State Police, jammed into crowded quarters in both their Detroit-Redford post and their crime laboratory in Plymouth, were desperately seeking larger quarters in the suburbs.

They made their needs known to this writer. They could afford to lease, but they had no money for building.

So the wheels were set into motion in Northville. Township officials, city officials and members of the Northville Area Economic Development Committee agreed this was a project worthy of combined effort.

The first attempt was a failure, thanks to the refusal of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to permit use of two vacant buildings at the Child Development Center for a State Police Post and Crime Laboratory.

By this time the quest for State Police quarters in this area had received considerable publicity. Plymouth township officials decided maybe they'd better get into the act. They've enlisted the aid of their (ours, too) Republican State Senator. And reportedly they are being spurred on by promises of help from a representative of a major hotel chain, which may need some official help itself getting its plans approved for a new facility in Plymouth township.

Naturally, the State Police are elated by the sudden interest in a problem that had fallen on deaf ears at the official state level. Now two local communities are working to relieve their crowded conditions and to bring their home station closer to the area they must patrol.

What is poor little ol' Northville doing in the face of this competition from Big Brother Plymouth, a State Senator and a Hotel Magnate?

It's hanging in there.

You might say we started first, slipped into second place, and hope to recover by trying harder.

For credentials right now Northville has:

- 1-The best site;
2-The necessary financing;
3-A Democratic State Representative.

It ought to be an interesting race.

Speaking of Plymouth, I'm reminded of two favorite people of mine, longtime friends, who are making news in their community. Miss Margaret Dunning captured the front page of The Plymouth Mail & Observer this week with the announcement that she will donate funds for construction of a museum to exhibit possessions of the Plymouth Historical Society.

The Northville Record NOVEMBER NEWS
NORTHVILLE RECORD
A NATIONAL PAPER
Established 1893

Margaret called me to reveal her plans. She's most appreciative to the community for the many good years it gave to her and her parents and she wants to express this appreciation through a gift that will preserve many of the things that were part of Plymouth during their lifetimes.

The structure, expected to cost in excess of $100,000, will be named the Dunning Memorial Museum in honor of Margaret's parents, Charles and Bessie Dunning.

It will be located across from the Plymouth City Hall at Main and Church streets.

Coincidentally, if you stood on the site of the new Dunning Memorial Museum on almost any Sunday morning in Plymouth, you could almost hear the voice of the second "favorite person" to which I've referred.

He's the Reverend Henry Walch, who will soon retire after 28 years and some 1,500 sermons from the pulpit of the Presbyterian church.

Religion is a living thing when Henry talks to you on Sundays. He brings it right into your life, whether you want to recognize it or not.

I will never forget his silent pauses, followed by the words "people, I'm talking to you" and the uneasiness I've felt when I've secretly wondered whether or not he wasn't, indeed, talking directly to me.

Anyone who has passed through the doors of the First Presbyterian church of Plymouth and heard a sermon by Henry Walch will be saddened to return and find him gone.

This is a special week for members of the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters.

This most active and productive group is celebrating national observance of League of Women Voters Week by placing emphasis on registration and education of the newly-franchised 18-20 year old voters.

It is also soliciting financial aid to continue its activities in the encouragement of responsible citizenship.

It is the only non-partisan women's organization dedicated solely to matters of government.

It's efforts to enlighten citizens deserve everyone's support.

Some people worry about other people and their drug problems but we worry about the drug problem of the dog.

There are clinics for people problems but where do you take a dog with a drug hangup? The problem as near as we can figure out started this past summer when, affectionately, the boys and I fed her tranquilizers so that she could enjoy the 600 mile car trip to the Porcupine Mountains. It's the same kind of stuff, I'm told, people take to avoid car sickness.

Anyway, because she has the memory of an elephant (as well as a close physical resemblance), she remembers how great she felt on the trip. Since we sneaked the pills into her food, she has this mistaken notion that it was the car that gave her the high.

Now she is constantly trying to get into the car. A week after our return from the UP, she escaped the house and

YES...

With proper safeguards to insure against indiscriminate or arbitrary opening, closing and/or re-routing, I am in favor of placing control and jurisdiction over local main roads and streets within the respective municipalities.

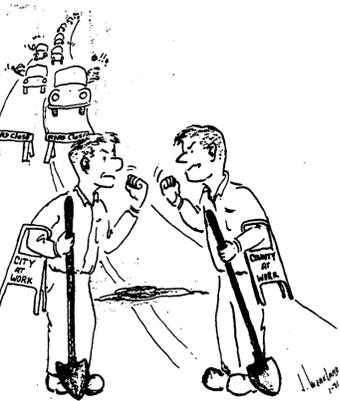

I would urge this concept even more strongly in the case of cities and villages such as South Lyon as, by reason of geography (located some 30 miles from the source of present jurisdiction over main roads), the streets and roads in question tend to be neglected and a controlling body (in this case, the Oakland County Road Commission) can hardly be expected to be adequately responsive to the needs of such a small municipality when more "powerful" demands and pressures can be brought to bear by more populous cities, villages and townships who may be, in addition, considerably closer physically and otherwise to the seat of control.

On the other hand, it is arguable that the local governing body would be more immediately aware of arising problems with these same roads including the need for repairs, improvements, extensions, etc. and would be considerably more responsive and certainly would be more accountable to the local residents, who comprise the greater bulk of the traffic upon the streets and roads in question.

headed straight for the car, leaping through an open window. For her it's not exactly a leap since she is of St. Bernard lineage and her head is about window level lying down.

Not especially intelligent, her next effort was less successful. She tried jumping through a closed window, cracking the glass. Now she gallops around the car first, hoping to find an opening. If there is none, however, she is not adverse to making her own.

None of this would be so embarrassing except for the fact that any car will do.

Unsuspecting guests who pull into the drive are shaken to their roots when suddenly they find themselves sharing the seat with a panting, tail-waving dog, whose 130-pound frame leaves little room for maneuvering.

"Close your window," we screamed at one of our guests (who, incidentally, are becoming fewer in number). The dear lady leaned out the window, looked at the sky for

NO...

Obviously, there are certain types of roads such as freeways that should not be under city control, and most cities would be extremely disturbed if the State Highway Commission abandoned responsibility for almost any state trunkline through their cities.

The theory and reasons for having freeways and state trunklines go through cities and yet remain under state control also apply to many county routes and account for the fact that the Oakland County Road Commission has control of county roads through most cities in the county.

Each route in question should be judged on its particular merit and circumstance, but generally speaking the following considerations would speak strongly for state or county control:

- 1. The route carries a fair amount of through traffic or traffic that has an origination or destination outside of the community.
2. Design and capacity is more likely to be consistent.
3. Load limits, speed limits, parking restrictions, and even road names are more likely to be consistent and in harmony with the type of road facility that exists.
4. Sign and pavement marking will more likely follow state and county wide criteria.
5. The standard and level of maintenance will be more consistent and in some cases better.

There are many examples in the southeast part of Oakland County where frequent change of road control has created problems of traffic control, capacity, names, parking, and type of roadway.

To the Editor:

I would like to use the facilities of the public letter box to speak with the registered voters of the Northwest Wayne County Community College District. To all of you who voted for me in the recent September 13th election, may I say, "thank you for your faith and confidence."

I want to thank the newspapers for their kind words and cooperation in trying to make the public aware of the qualifications and views of the candidates. To the outgoing board may I say, "thank you for a job well done. We have a great college!"

And now to all of you out there, a little scolding and an appeal: Only about ten percent of you turned out to speak at the ballot box on the very important issues of the millage and those whom you will entrust the stewardship of the West Coast of Florida and Let's do better the next time. Maybe some of us just weren't aware of the gravity of the situation. And it is to these people that I would most specifically direct my last and concluding remarks: When we founded the district ten years ago and built our first, and so far only college (Schoolcraft), we planned in terms of a maximum of 5000 students. We have now reached the 6000 mark. With the major colleges and universities having appreciably upped tuition (and other spiraling costs of living away from home), along with the normal growth within the district, it is hard to see that something must be done. Somewhere, somehow, and in some manner we must find the money to either expand Schoolcraft (which is what the

The Bedsread Place Opens for Business

Historic Building Gets Unique Tennant

Steeped in Northville history, the old VanAtta building near Park Place and Cady, was reopened recently with one of the most unique businesses in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Occupying the building, which housed the Quik-Lock Company until it moved this past summer, is a factory outlet retail establishment that carries the unusual name, The Bedsread Place.

Operated by Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Willesek, the business may be the only one of its kind in the Midwest.

As the name implies, the business features bedspreads—quilted bedspreads—along with other quilted merchandise such as quilted yardage, drapery and mattress pads. It also sells pillows and towels.

Selling only quality merchandise, The Bedsread Place buys close-out materials direct from factories in the East. The company and details it at 40 to 60 percent off of the regular

Year-Round School

It Isn't Dead Yet—Spear

Northville Public Schools may eventually be out of step with the rest of the country if the district does not adopt a year-round school plan.

According to an article in The Wall Street Journal September 14, year-round school is seen as "the wave of the future."

The Journal's survey of educators across the United States included an interview with local superintendent Raymond Spear on the outcome of the preference poll completed in June.

Spear is quoted as saying the district "felt it wasn't in the best interest to implement the program with such a large minority opposed."

However, as the article notes, the plan may come up in Northville in the future.

"We're on the verge of a $20 million building program in the next five years," Spear explained. "If we can't find the money, we have an outstanding safety valve in the year-round plan." Spear is quoted as saying.

Commenting on the article this week, Spear said, "Year-round school is not a dead issue in Northville, it's just quiet."

He noted that it is "not necessarily the failure to get public support to build buildings that will bring about year-round school."

"Most likely, it will be an outgrowth of trying to meet the needs of the community and offer the best educational program possible that will bring about year-round school in the future," he explained. Spear said he feels strongly that if the people don't want year-round school now, "that's fine. But, if we get into trouble, the concept could serve as a safety valve." Currently the district is completing a report on Phase III of the year-round study. The report, which will answer the question "Will year-round school acceptable?" will be submitted to the State Department of Education.

Township Building Booms

Here's the breakdown by community: Northville Township — 59 family units, 159 multiple-family units, one demolition.

Novi — 185 single family units, 50 multi-family units, nine demolitions.

Wixom — 42 single family units, six multi-family units, six demolitions.

Now dressed up in new paint and signs, the building probably dates back well before the turn of the century, he said. Most familiar to him, Willesek, the store owners hope to interest a complementary factory outlet to locate on the second level.

Merchandise is not "seconds" or "spoils," the store owners emphasized, but rather the close-out patterns and stocks of factories which are starting their new lines.

While the remaining factory stocks are limited, the Willeseks are able to purchase sufficient colors and patterns from the factories so that customers who purchase a bedsread locally may also obtain complementary drapery.

Coming on the heels of the previous opening, a factory that produced concrete forms, hardware and accessories, the new business is all the more unusual.

But in view of the wide variety of previous occupants, it should please the old building, said VanAtta, who speaks of it with the fondness of a family member.

Just prior to his business, the building was occupied by Al Zimmer's Hudson Essex dealership.

Other small factory businesses have occupied all or part of the building in more recent years, but history buffs will remember said VanAtta, that it has been used as a furniture factory, by the Stinson Aircraft Company, by the Stinson Scale Company, and by the volunteer Northville Fire Department.

Cadillac '72

One great car after another.

Out of a 70-year tradition of excellence come nine great Cadillacs for 1972. In addition to the models above, there are the magnificent Fleetwood Sixty Special Brougham... the youthful new Coupe de Ville... the new Cadillac Sedan and Coupe... and the most aristocratic of automobiles, the new Fleetwood Seventy-Five nine-passenger Sedan. Finally, there's the Seventy-Five limousine, the only limousine built in America specifically designed as a limousine. Cadillac '72 is one great car after another. Because Cadillac does not reject the past, but builds on it. Carefully. With Fleetwood coachcraft by Fisher. With styling consistency and contemporary flair that tells you at a glance that this is Cadillac. See for yourself at your authorized Cadillac dealer. The Standard of the World still stands alone.

Harriers Keep Winning

Northville's rapidly developing cross-country team topped its season record in dual meets to 3-0 by taking victories over Brighton and Plymouth last week, but it was a 17th place finish that made coach Ralph Redmond happiest.

That seventeenth place finish came last Saturday in the Scholcraft Invitational, and when you take into consideration that there were 24 schools competing and Northville was the only non-Class A school in the bunch, seventeenth place doesn't sound too bad.

"Everybody turned in their best time of the year," said Redmond, obviously pleased with his team's performance. "Everyone of the guys on the team set a personal best on the course."

First Mustang across the finish line was Guy Dixon. Dixon recorded a time of 13:24 over the two and a half mile course, good for thirteenth place in the 171-man field.

"If Dixon would have run that time in the Invitational last year," Redmond pointed out, "he'd have finished in second place, that's how much together the competition is this year. The first six guys across the line Saturday all broke the course record set last year."

Guy Cole was the second Northville finisher. The sophomore runner, who has come on to establish himself as the number two man behind Dixon, had a time of 14:03. Other Northville runners in the meet were Tim Taggart (14:21), Dave Newitt (14:37), and Jeff Menhart (14:38).

Northville's first dual meet victory of the week was gained at the expense of Brighton last Thursday. The Mustangs led as usual in the meet when Tim Taggart and Dixon, swept the first seven places against the hapless Bulldogs to take a 15-0 victory.

He was followed across the line by Cole, Taggart, Menhart, Newitt, Gagnier, Kohn, and Mike Anusigian. Facing Plymouth last Tuesday, the Northville runners had a bit more competition, but they still moved to a decisive 23-22 victory.

Dixon, who's almost as used to finishing in first place as the Baltimore Orioles, once again topped the field. His time was 13:39.

Plymouth copped second and third place to break up the Mustang sweep, but they were followed by Cole, Taggart, Menhart, Newitt, and Kohn before the third Plymouth harrier crossed the line.

In addition to Dixon who is not only the best runner on the team, but also the hardest worker, Redmond singled out Tim Taggart for special mention.

"Tim's really been coming on," said Redmond. "When he started the season he was only our number five or six man, now he's worked his way up to number three and I think he's going to start shooting at Cole's number two spot."

Northville's undefeated record is likely to come to an end shortly Thursday, as they face Livonia Churchill, a team that Redmond calls one of the top three in the state.

Jaycees Sponsor Novi PPK

Plans to sponsor a Punt, Pass, and Kick competition for Novi boys between the ages of eight and 13 were announced today by the Jaycees.

The Punt, Pass, and Kick program is sponsored on a nationwide basis by the Ford Motor Company. Boys qualify on a local level and winners progress through a series of successively larger contests, leading ultimately to the national finals, which take place during half time at the Super Bowl.

Novi's PPK competition will be held at the High School Field on Saturday, October 2, at 10 a.m.

Boys may register for the contest at their schools by seeing their athletic instructor. No football gear is necessary and there is no charge for entering.

There will be three categories of competition—eight and nine year olds, ten and eleven year olds, and twelve and thirteen year olds. Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place finishers in each category, and first place winners will be invited to move to higher levels of competition.

High School Golfers Set Course Record

It was quite a week for Northville's golfers. Not only did they get their season off to a fine start by sweeping easily through their first two matches, but they also stroked their way to a new season record in the process.

Golf is being offered as a fall sport for the first time this year. Previously, Michigan high schools have always taken to the links in the spring.

Most coaches are pleased with the change of season. "What it does," said Mustang coach Al Jones, "is put the season at the time of the year when the boys are playing their best golf. With a whole summer to get their game in shape, the boys should be shooting a lot lower scores this year."

In the season's opener against Milford last Monday, the Mustang golfers registered a 172-184 on the push. Fairways of Meadowbrook Country Club. Leading the Mustangs was sophomore Brian Mills, who shot a 41 over the front nine. John Hlohonic, a junior, carded a 43, while John Marshall and Bob Simmons each recorded 44's to bring Northville's total to 172.

On Thursday the Mustang golfers did even better. Playing against North Farmington at Brae Burn, coach Jones' squad shot a five man total of 180 on the front nine — a new school record. North Farmington had 217.

"This time it was Simmons who led the pack, but he had to share honors with Gary Penrod, who didn't even play against Milford. Bob Simmons and Penrod had 36's. Chris Thomas and John Marshall recorded a pair of 38's, and Brian Mills topped the course in 40 strokes."

And others who missed just three games but who were not as close in predicting the score were:

Bruce Greenhills, K. E. Goyt, Mrs. Joseph Szabo, Marjorie L. Lembeiser, David Leckner, Kurt Steinmich, Michael Regentik, and Jared Cole.

The most missed game of the week involved San Diego's 21-14 victory over Kansas City. But Novi's 2-7 upset over Northville, Michigan State's 10-0 loss to Georgia Tech, and Duke's 29-12 win over South Carolina also were difficult for contestants.

Ohio State was incorrectly listed as playing Colorado (the game is to be played this week) and Arkansas was discounted. Although Ohio is a favorite, contestants backing the Buckeyes in this week's contest might be fooled by the strong Colorado eleven.

See this week's contest line-up on Page 16-A. Entries must be postmarked or delivered to The Record's editorial office, corner of Main and Center streets, no later than 5 p.m. Friday.

Loyalty Betrays Contest Entries

Team loyalties proved the undoing of a raft of contestants in last week's opening football contest sponsored by The Northville Record—Novi News.

As might be expected most Northville fans backed their local high school eleven as did Novi residents, and a majority picked the Lions to upset the Vikings in the professional opener.

Grabbing first place and $10 prize money was Bill Pettit, 21234 Stanstead, who picked only two losers (discounting the 20-20 tie between Wisconsin and Syracuse). None guessed the tie.

He edged out Dagmar Regentik, 4614 Neeson, who also missed two games, but came up with a closer score prediction in the Lions game to win first. Dagmar took second and 45.

Third place winner of $3 was Doosie Cole, 9262 West Six Mile Road, who like a host of others, missed three games but came up with an almost perfect Lions-Vikings score, and predicted the Vikings to win, 17-14, while fans (and those lucky enough to pull in the game by television) watching the Monday sell-out game saw the Vikings really win, 16-13.

And others who missed just three games but who were not as close in predicting the score were:

Bruce Greenhills, K. E. Goyt, Mrs. Joseph Szabo, Marjorie L. Lembeiser, David Leckner, Kurt Steinmich, Michael Regentik, and Jared Cole.

It was the Colts versus the Jets all over again. Not Baltimore and New York, mind you, but Northville and Westland, and the two little league football teams met last Saturday night at the Northville High School field.

Northville's varsity Colts handed the Westland Jets an 8-6 defeat, but the Jayves led 14-0 and the freshmen suffered an 8-6 setback.

Colt officials hope to meet expenses by raffling off a snowmobile at their November banquet. Tickets are available for a $1 donation at the Colts' home game.

Saturday night the Colts will meet the Westland Comets in Northville. Games start at 8:30 p.m. and admission is free.

Top Cat

Pat Boyer was an obvious choice for Wildcat of the Week. The junior halfback scored 11 points, gained 81 yards rushing, and 3 yards on pass receptions.

Boyer, Van Wagner Lead 'Cats' To Upset Victory Over Mustangs

RECEPTION—Mustang Jeff Moon gathers in a second quarter pass from Bill McDonald that puts the ball deep in Novi territory.

Led by halfbacks Pat Boyer and Jim Van Wagner, the Novi Wildcats overcame a first half deficit to score 16 second-half points and defeat the Northville Mustangs 22-7 last Friday night in the opening game of the season.

The game was an historic one for it marked the first gridiron meeting between Northville and Novi, and because of the close ties between both the two communities and the two schools, rivalry was high.

What's more, both teams were coming off poor years and each coach wanted to get his team turned around and started toward a winning season.

The two teams battled on even terms throughout the first half.

Novi tallied in the opening quarter, but its extra point attempt sailed wide, and when Northville finally tied the score with a touchdown of its own late in the second quarter, Jeff Moon booted the extra point straight through the uprights to give the Mustangs a 7-6 lead they carried into the dressing room at half time.

Novi made an important switch in their offensive tactics. Instead of trying to break through the middle of the Northville defensive wall, Quarterback Steve Lukkari started sending Boyer and Van Wagner around the Northville ends and Novi was practically unstoppable.

COACH CHUCK SHONTA

It was a bitter loss for Northville's Coach Chuck Shonta. "I guess that's the way it goes when you don't play football," said Shonta. "We stopped them in the first half, but then we just stopped playing ball. The movies showed that when our kids wanted to do it they could."

"The game had been a close affair throughout the first half with the Mustangs holding a slight edge both in score and in actual play. But when the Wildcats took the field in the second half, they changed their tactics, and the tone of the game changed with them. Instead of trying to dent the middle of the Mustang line, they switched to the belly series, putting the ball in the fullback's belly, but then pulling it out and pitching out to the halfbacks, who swept around the flanks for big yardage.

Shonta did not feel, however, that the belly series did his team in as much as their own play did. "It wasn't the belly series," he said, "it was a matter of missed tackles and players not staying at home, not guarding their positions."

"Our ends were getting sucked in, they let themselves get beat to the outside and weren't maintaining their outside positions."

There were good points, however, and Shonta enumerated them.

"For one thing," he said, "we were down 6-0 and were able to come back and take the lead, and for another thing, I was very pleased with the play of our quarterback (Bill McDonald). He showed a lot of poise for a sophomore."

Friday's Games

Novi at Milan

Clarenceville at Northville

In the third quarter alone, the Wildcats rambled for 94 yards on the ground, more than the Mustangs gained in the whole game as first quarter MVP Van Wagner swept around the Northville line for important chunks of yardage. The two halfbacks alone accounted for 87 of those yards, carrying the ball 11 times.

By the end of the third quarter, Novi had already scored eight points on a touchdown and a two point conversion and were poised on the Mustang 10 yard line. Lukkari carried for three yards, and on the next play Van Wagner blasted off tackle for the final seven yards. Boyer carried the ball for another two point conversion and Novi had its 22-7 victory.

The awesome Novi domination of the second half was in contrast to the first two quarters of the game when Northville held a slight edge in the play.

Novi opened the scoring at the 4:53 mark of the first quarter, marching 43 yards in seven plays after a bad pass from center enabled Eric Hansor to tackle Mustang punter Jeff Moon before he could get his kick away. Boyer scampered the last 12 yards for the touchdown, as the Wildcats took a 6-0 lead. Bossa's extra point attempt was wide.

With 56 seconds left in the half, the Mustangs had the ball on the Novi 44 yard line. McDonald hit Steve Griggs for a 24 yard gain to the 18 and then hit Moon for the final 16 yards, carrying the ball in front and they came surprisingly close.

On the last play of the first half, Lukkari hit Boyer with a short pass on the sideline. Starting on his own 30 yard line, the 170-pound junior halfback took off for the distant Mustang end zone. Eluding first the linebacker, then the halfback, and finally the safety, Boyer carted the ball all the way to the seven yard line before linebacker Doug Boer finally moved in to make the tackle as time ran out.

If the first half belonged to the Mustangs, the second half was no doubt whatsoever as to who owned the second half. It was Novi, particularly Boyer and Van Wagner.

In the first half the pair had been called on to carry the ball just three times, while fullback Gary Collins had been given the ball eight times.

In the second half Boyer and Van Wagner carried 17 times, while Collins ran just three plays from scrimmage. The change in plans from attacking Northville's ends to attacking their flanks

Marian Szczepanski supported Mitchell's proposal and called for a vote of the township.

While Strömberg called him out of order and told him to return to his seat, Szczepanski charged he had a "voice in what happens since I am a resident."

Earlier in the meeting Szczepanski said he felt cost of police protection "is one thing and quality is another. I am against any cooperation with the city force," he said, citing personal reasons why he was opposed to contracting with the city for police protection.

Trustees explained plans are being made to mail questionnaires to township residents asking their opinions on which way they wish to go for police protection.

Baldwin said the 40 residents at Tuesday's meeting "represent strong feelings different ways. Forty people do not represent the 7,000 in the township," he said, responding to Szczepanski's request for a vote of the audience.

Trustee Richard Mitchell warned the audience that contracting with the city for police protection could lead to "backdoor tactics for unification and annexation."

"It's my own feeling as a representative of the township that once we start entering agreements with incorporated home rule cities, unification or annexation can be brought through the backdoor," he charged.

Eugene Guido told Mitchell he took "exception to your statement that a contractual agreement causes annexation. The Wayne County Sheriff is in Romulus by contract. Will they be annexing Romulus?"

As the meeting adjourned, one woman asked, "What did we find out tonight?"

because the "press plays it up" and gives them the coverage "it feeds their ego and they are able to exert more and more pressure, he asserts."

"Political prisoners? Ridiculous. They are in prison because of crimes against society."

Prison riots, says Bannan, are a good deal like riots outside of prisons. Agitators manage by slick words to encourage unthinking mob action even though the majority of participants may in fact be neutral. Unlike riots on the outside, however, inmates cannot "just walk away" or ignore leaders.

"They have been shut off from society and they have been forced to develop their own culture. So when a riot occurs 'going along with the crowd' is a natural action. Of course, fear plays a role, too."

It is this total isolation from society that Bannan finds most abhorrent about prisons. It flies in the face of "correction" or "rehabilitation," he says, making readiness to society all the more difficult.

If there is no interaction between society and the inmate how can he successfully take his place in society once he has paid his debt? he asks.

"People just don't care until it is one of their relatives. Then they wonder why nothing was done to help prepare him for the outside. People seem to forget that the inmate will be a neighbor someday."

This kind of talk, he admits, may be considered "soft" or contrary to his "ban the press"

Solution Sought

It would involve the installation of a 10-inch line. Second phase, for which no cost estimates have been made, would involve extension of lines from the main to the customers.

Although the township, like the city, now sells Detroit water it services only a limited area in the eastern section of the township. The city furnishes water to a limited number of township customers west of the city at "double rates."

Over the years, the lines to these customers have deteriorated and are frequently being repaired piecemeal at a mounting cost to the city, Ollendorff said. By completely replacing the main these problems could be eliminated, but the cost is seen as economically prohibitive unless additional customers are added to the lines, he added.

Potential new customers are available but since the township is itself in the water business, township permission is required if new customers are to be tapped into the city main, he said.

He emphasized, pointing out that he has already received requests from township residents for water.

It may be several years before township mains are extended to this township area, Ollendorff told councilmen.

Dear friends,

It is only natural that the process of adjusting to the loss of a loved one is called grief therapy. All relatives and friends are necessary at time of bereavement to aid the distraught survivors to accept and adjust to their loss.

Patience and perseverance is required as the process of adjustment often requires many months duration.

Respectfully,

PLAY BALL!

Another Season Begins

It was a brisk night that soon warmed up with the action on and off the playing field—a sure sign that prep football is underway. Making it all the more interesting was the fact that local Friday openers featured two big rivalries—Northville at Novi and South Lyon at Brighton. From the opening coin toss (above at Brighton) to the spirited cheering (top to bottom, Novi, Northville, Novi) and the band performances (Novi, top) it was an exciting night even though two teams, Brighton and Northville, both former products of the Wayne-Oakland League, lost out to two Southeastern Conference contenders.

HOWELL BRIGHTON SOUTH LYON

from the Pastor's Study What is This Thing Called Love?

Rev. Gerald A. Nitoski St. Joseph Catholic Church South Lyon

About 20 years ago Pirim Sorokin, a social scientist at Harvard University, wrote a book about love. In it he compared Christian saints and good neighbors. He was tired of reading about murders and sex crimes and scandals. He wanted to get away from "the muck of the social sewers" and climb to "the fresh air of high social peaks". Sorokin found that love is a unselfish, peaceful and fruitful way to have a worthwhile life. Love has the power to inspire the forgotten, to elevate our hopes and dreams and to make full, an empty life. Love can make the world a warm and friendly and beautiful place. In addition, "it pays to be unselfish, loving and saintly" because love's dividends are greater and more lasting than selfish activity. Sorokin's finding showed that when a beggar returns and asks another man seated at his doorstep all covered with sores. He didn't hit Lazarus, nor talk about him, nor torture him. He just pretended Lazarus was not there, he looked the other way. The point of the story, you might say, is that the rich and the selfish rich will end up in the same way and that it serves them right. If we jump to this conclusion, we miss the whole story. It was designed to teach us all that we cannot afford to ignore the needs of others. Just recently, in Attica, N.Y., the worst bloodletting and slaughter ever in the history of the United States penal system shocked and sickened our nation. Whatever political activities, inside or outside Attica's walls, motivated that tragedy we may never fully know. One thing seems quite obvious: the needs of others were not apparently being listened to. As one inmate-speakerman angrily shouted: "We're not animals! We're men! And we'd like to be like men if we have to!" And they did. Authorities listened then but too late. Early in life we are taught that we must love others as we love ourselves for love of God. E. Boyd Barrett takes us one step further: "Love is a young soldier at the front, scared and miserable, who writes a cheerful letter home to his parents. Love is a man who promises to bring an unwanted guest and serves him with style on her best table linen. Love is a college boy who learns the deaf alphabet in order to converse with a lonely old lady who cannot hear. Love is the one who gives abundantly and gives gladly when a beggar returns and asks another man seated at his doorstep all covered with sores. Love is the person who, instead of reprimanding, sees his own shortcomings in another's faults. Love is the grateful soul who remembers his own indebtedness and repays the best he can." Yes, and love is treating a man behind bars and walls with the dignity he has as a child of God despite his failure to respect the rights and dignity of others—crimes for which he is paying with his freedom. Let us all learn. And, oh, so painfully and slowly do we learn it...

Visiting Hours MORNINGS - 11:00 Until 12:00 AFTNS - 2:00 Until 3:00 It is a beautiful afternoon, and Ken and Monica might have gone for a ride in the country. But they've come to the hospital to visit a classmate. It isn't always a "fun" thing to visit someone in the hospital, to call on an elderly aunt, or to take a gift to a shut-in. But usually you feel better when you do. This is a "hurry up" world we're living in. We tell ourselves that there isn't time for the little kindnesses. There isn't time for a lot of things — like, maybe, going to church. Who are we kidding? Ourselves, perhaps?

HOUSING BARGAIN
It is new furniture, new carpets, new outside and new inside. It's a fresh start in a freshly landscaped, clean country-residential atmosphere. The new furniture is all in position and included in the price. Also, the gleaming new kitchen and appliances. Ready right now. The drapes, curtains, curtain rods, mirrors, lights - everything you have to choose and bother with in a new house - have all been hung, placed and connected.
These two houses with newly sodded lawns, new curbs, sidewalks, and concrete off street parking are waiting for your pleasure, like a breath of fresh air.
Modern manufactured housing makes these two bargains possible at only $1990 and $3300 down payment, respectively. The Howell school bus stops nearby. The playground space is enough to handle any kid you can grow.
These houses are re-locatable, too. If you later decide to buy property and move, you can take it with you.
Come and count the extras. Now ready for instant living at NEARING COMPLETION—Workmen are busy completing the final hook-up that will make the 11 Mile sewer-arm operable and enable the Middle School to hold classes. Shown here tunneling beneath the railroad tracks on 11 Mile Road, workmen must finish this tie-in with the major line before the 11 Mile extension can be used.

Novi's already complicated annexation picture grew even more complex Monday night as the city council took steps to petition the Michigan Boundaries Commission for annexation of Brookland Farms No. 1 subdivision to the City of Novi.

The petition is the latest in a series of moves by the city to acquire all township property, bringing, in effect, an end to township government in Novi.

The public hearing is being held to comply with a section of the annexation act which requires the commission to conduct a public hearing on all annexation petitions not less than 90 days nor more than 180 days from the date of filing.

If, after the hearing, the commission approves the City's annexation petition, Brookland Farms will be the only piece of property in the township.

Presently Brookland Farms is one of eight scattered parcels of land that comprise Novi Township, and although its 69.6 acres represent only a small percentage of the 200,000 acres in the entire township, its 110 registered voters represents better than 90 percent of the township's total number of registered voters.

There are only 10 registered voters on the other seven parcels of township land. In April of this year the city council petitioned the State Boundaries Commission for the annexation of all township property with the exception of Brookland Farms under a state statute enacted earlier in the year that empowered the commission to "straighten out" municipal boundaries.

That same statute, however, also provided that only those areas having fewer than 100 residents may be annexed without an election. The stipulation accounts for the exclusion at that time of Brookland Farms, for had it been included in the annexation petition, a vote of both city and township voters would have been required.

That initial annexation petition added fuel to a feud between the City of Novi and Novi Township that has existed since 1969 when the eight township parcels decided to retain their identity as part of the township in spite of incorporation of all the other village and township land into the present City of Novi.

Under the 97-3 percent split that already existed between the city and township were renewed.

When the city petitioned the Boundaries Commission for the annexation of all township parcels with the exception of Brookland Farms in April of this year, the bitter feelings that already existed between city and township were renewed.

Township officials have attacked the proposed annexation on two issues. First, they claim that the exclusion of Brookland Farms completed by that date for use by the school.

It was the delay in completion of sewer work on the 11-Mile lateral that forced school officials to vacate the middle school after temporarily using it with the opening of classes.

Presently, both high school and middle school students are sharing classrooms and facilities at the high school. Hendrickson said there is a good possibility that the school could be used before October 11 but he is reluctant to plan earlier use without absolute assurance by the contractor and the supervising county DPW.

While news that the sewer is nearing completion pleased the board, it was angered by administrative reports that construction work inside the middle school has done, lagging ever since students from the original petition represents an obvious attempt by the city to circumvent an election by the township people that would, in their opinion, defeat annexation. This, they contend, is paramount to gerrymandering the township's boundaries to deny residents their right to vote.

The second area in which township officials feel they might have recourse to legal action is their contention that once annexation does take

For Middle School October 11 Opening

It's a sure bet that the new Novi Middle School will be ready for occupancy by Monday, October 11.

That's the word from Assistant Superintendent T. Richard Hendrickson, who told board members Monday that he has written assurance from the office of R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County DPW, that sewer construction will definitely be sufficiently completed by that date for use by the school.

It was the delay in completion of sewer work on the 11-Mile lateral that forced school officials to vacate the middle school after temporarily using it with the opening of classes.

While news that the sewer is nearing completion pleased the board, it was angered by administrative reports that construction work inside the middle school has done, lagging ever since students were moved out earlier this month.

Following a flurry of construction activity that included Labor Day work to ready the building for occupancy earlier this month, little progress has been made since that date, it was reported.

Although the building is sufficiently completed to occupy many of the classroom units, the reported construction delays sparked board promises to put pressure on the contractor, who already is well past the contract deadline for completion.

Administrators, together with Attorney Frederick Knauer, were instructed to investigate possible remedies.

"Don't get a little bit rough but really rough!" advised Trustees Wilkins, after suggesting a promise to the contractor that the school may demand a "most intensive punch list."

Punch lists, he explained, require attention to minute details—a repugnant measure in the eyes of most contractors—and could prod the contractor to speed up work.

Because paving of the roadway to the school has not been installed, the board directed the administration to begin planning of temporary walkways between the high school and the middle school so that they are installed by the October 11 opening.

Paving is not expected before October 20.

Service on Sunday

Dorothy Farah Dies of Cancer

As Mrs. Herbert (Dorothy) Farah devoted her life to the service of others as too she had the welfare of mankind in mind when she died last week, Wednesday, of cancer.

The 49-year-old mother of some 80 foster children over the years arranged prior to her death at Providence Hospital to have her body given to Wayne State University for medical research.

A memorial service is to be held Sunday at Salem Lutheran Church, at Marlowe and Schoolcraft, in Detroit beginning at 4 p.m. In lieu of flowers, friends are asked to mail contributions to the home for distribution to the family's favorite charities. Incurably ill for more than a year, Mrs. Farah's condition prompted an unprecedented proclamation last year by the Novi City Council in naming September 3, 1970 "Dorothy Farah Day" in tribute to her "many unselfish years of meritorious service to the young people of Novi."

Besides providing a home for 80 youngsters, Mrs. Farah found time for numerous civic activities most of which centered around children.

For more than two years she had been instrumental in helping establish a counseling service for young drug users. Called LINK (Listeners in Novi Care) this special project is about to be realized—but too late for her to see its results.

She had been secretary of the Novi Youth Protective Services association, past president of the Novi Mothers Club, and member of the Goodfellows, the Band Boosters, and the Novi Industrial Development Commission, among others.

She also had been active in the incorporation of Novi and was a candidate for the board of education, was a past PTA president in Detroit, and was an adviser to the state PTA council.

In 1967 Mr. and Mrs. Farah were named "Foster Parents of the Year," and last year she was awarded an honorary degree by Oakland Community College "for consideration of civic duties and service to the community."

Mrs. Farah never finished high school before her marriage in 1942 but she attended night school, received her diploma and entered Oakland Community College at Orchard Ridge campus in

Arrests Spark Drug Rumors

Two Walled Lake Western High School youths were arrested last week by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, setting off a barrage of rumors about the extent of drugs in the high school and the means used in apprehending those arrested.

According to Detective Gerald Reeves, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department was summoned to Walled Lake Western on Wednesday, September 22, where they arrested David Yankus, a high school student and a star performer on the ski team, on charges of selling narcotics, specifically L.S.D.

The arrest came after an investigation by school authorities in which four juveniles and two adults were found to be in possession of drugs. No police action was taken against the other students, but they were suspended from classes by the school.

Some time between Wednesday night and Thursday morning five Walled Lake Western teachers had the tires on their cars slashed, and the high school building was defaced with painted obscenities.

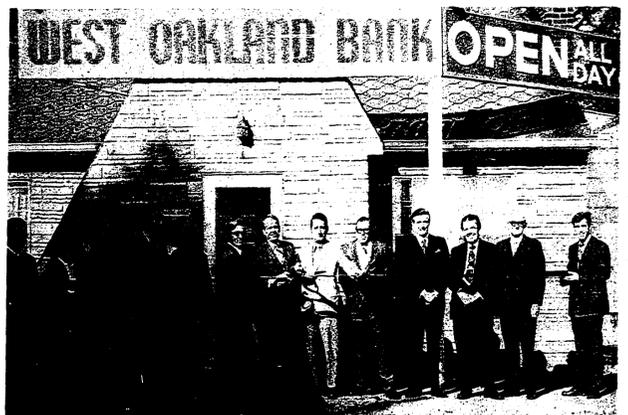

Arrested by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department in regard to the defacing of the building was David Buchanan, 17, also of Walled Lake Western High School. Buchanan is charged with Malicious Destruction of Property over $100, a felony.
