Mrs. Stamper duplicated her food order on Monday, September 27, 1971, at another major supermarket.

"I saved $1.87 at Chatham... that's like getting 3-lbs. of hamburger or a nice juicy sirloin steak for nothing!" Mary Stamper

*After checking out with her weekly order at Chatham, Mrs. Stamper was asked by the Chatham Consumer Research Department to duplicate her purchases at any other food store of her choice. The Chatham order came to $35.73, while the duplicate order at another major chain was $37.60... a savings of $1.87.

GIANT MUSHROOMS—They're found in the woods alongside Novi Road and can measure up to 35 and 40 inches in diameter. Called "puff" mushrooms, they're completely edible. Here three Novi boys, Steve Hellwege, Peter Meyer, and Randy Satterfield (kneeling) display three specimens of the giant mushrooms they found behind their homes. The test as to whether they can be eaten is the color. If they're a snowy white on the inside, cut them into strips, soak overnight in salt water, roll in flour and salt, fry, and put them on your steak or pizza.

Boundary Hearing Slated Wednesday

Novi's citizens will have an opportunity to register their opinions on two important matters affecting the future of the city as both items are slated for public hearings next week.

Up for discussion at Monday night's council meeting will be the proposed articles of incorporation for a public building authority. If passed into being, the authority will be used for the construction of a new municipal complex.

Wednesday night the State Boundaries Commission will conduct a public hearing on the city's petition to annex all present township property with the exception of Brookland Farms subdivision.

The city council made that abundantly clear at their Monday night meeting, as they directed City Manager George Athas to report their opposition to the Intercounty Drain Commission.

At the same time City Engineer Charles Finsky of Johnson and Anderson reported on the feasibility of building a storm water detention system within the boundaries of Novi. This detention system is proposed by Novi as an alternative to the Randolph Drain improvements.

Discussion about the Randolph County Drain has been taking place between officials of the City of Northville and Novi for the past several months.

The Randolph Drain originates in the Novi area of Nine Mile, west of Taft, and passes through Northville into the Rouge River branch.

The Drain has previously been able to handle the storm runoff adequately, recently, however, due to what Athas termed "some unwise building policy," in the Novi area, the drainage system is no longer adequate to handle the runoff. The drainage system is being developed in the flood plain, the system has been overworked and serious flooding problems have developed.

Although Novi officials are aware of the problem, they are not certain that it is their responsibility.

Said councilman Raymond Evans, "Noviville is obligated to handle our present runoff, and they're apparently having problems with their development. What they're trying to do is get us to participate in curing their problems that they've created."

Primary among Novi's objections to the proposed improvements to the Randolph Drain are the cost and the fact that Novi will have nothing to show for their outlay of money as the drainage district is slated to be done in Northville.

Three proposals were made by the Intercounty Drain Commission for solving the Randolph Drain problem with costs ranging from $670,000 to well over $1 million for the drainage district encompassing some 472 acres in Northville and 382 in Novi.

Under the plan proposed for financing the Randolph Drain improvements, Novi residents in the drainage area would be assessed $80 per year, which would be used to pay for the drainage system.

Approved by Mayor Joseph Crupi in light of the benefits received.

Novi's citizens were much more agreeable to the alternate suggestion of the establishment of a storm water detention system, which would conceivably exist as a small lake on the boundaries of Northville and Novi.

Proposed are a four to five acre pond, approximately four feet deep, and two acres of wetlands. Cost of the project would include some type of controlled outlet, a small dam, by which runoff could be controlled.

Preliminary estimated cost of the project is $195,000, excluding the cost of land.

Known as "House Joint Resolution 820," or the "Griffin Amendment," the legislation states that "no public school student shall, because of his race, creed or color, be assigned to, or required to attend, a particular school."

Drain Plan Lacks Support from Novi

Novi wants nothing to do with the present plan for improving the Randolph Street Drain.

The bid of Doubleday Brothers for 11 council chairs was accepted.

The bid of John Mach Ford for two new police cars was accepted.

The bid of Timber Trust Buildings of Howell for construction of a steel pole fire station was accepted.

The council also authorized Mayor Crupi and Clerk Mabel Ash to sign a leasing agreement for a mobile home for the detective's bureau.

The bid of Regal Janitorial Service for cleaning the city hall, the city hall annex, and the library was accepted.

Legal Help City Hires Fried

Disbarment proceedings being launched against City of Novi Attorney Howard Bond led to a special announced meeting of the city council Saturday morning.

Immediate action of the council was to hire Attorney David Fried, who is to give Bond assistance in all legal matters concerning the city. Fried, a former Novi resident who lives in Willow Run, was previously a member of the Novi Board of Education.

The special meeting was called to air proceedings being conducted by the Bar Grievance Board concerning a disbarment action against Bond in a non-Noviville case. It accused him of making false accounting of the handling of a client's funds to the Oakland County Probate Court.

The council's Saturday meeting was called to discuss three things: the advisability of retaining an additional legal counselor; the possibility of a change in legal counsel; and to consider a means of solving the immediate backlog of legal work and legal problems facing the city.

See Speaking for The Record, Page 12-A.

Bond denies charges against him and is confident he will be vindicated. However, he has indicated a willingness to resign as city attorney rather than cause County Probate Court. Novi's undue embarrassment.

Although unable to attend the meeting, Mayor Joseph Crupi told The Novi News Monday that the council will not attempt to pre-judge Attorney Bond on the basis of a report of the hearing that appeared in a metropolitan newspaper.

Other councilmen stated their belief that Bond's personal legal problems may be causing a burden on the city. Specifically, the comment referred to a recent decision against Novi in a suit filed by Mobile Home Parks of America. Although the decision will be appealed, Novi lost by default as Bond had failed to file a brief.

Subdivision Service Asked

Local busing—not the court-ordered bus ruling now being in Detroit—remains a nagging problem for Novi school officials.

Having adopted a new busing policy last week, the board of education Monday was confronted with its first citizen protest.

Steven Adams, president of the Meadowbrook Manor Association, representing the subdivision of Eight Mile Road, voiced objection to the discontinuance of buses traveling in the subdivision, emphasizing that the objection is based on the safety of children.

Pointing out that children boarding buses on Eight Mile Road are put into a dangerous situation because of the heavy traffic on Eight Mile Road, Adams wondered aloud why, after several years the board (or administration) should suddenly change its position in permitting buses to enter the subdivision.

When the board advised Adams that the newly adopted policy also created a special committee consisting of two board members and Superintendent Thomas Dale to hear appeals, Adams assured the board such an appeal would be forthcoming from his association.

During the busing discussion, a citizen advised the board that it would be far safer to have buses enter one road in Echo Valley subdivision (located on the western end of 10 Mile Road in Novi) and leave by another subdivision than to require boarding of buses on 10 Mile.

Similarly, Meadowbrook Manor representatives indicated that a "turn-around" is available in that subdivision as well.

Trustee William Ziegler, upon learning that turn-arounds do exist, expressed a personal belief that in such cases bus pickups inside subdivisions would be preferable. However, he was quickly reminded by fellow members that decisions of this kind are to be made by the administration and, in the event citizens are not satisfied with rulings at this level, they should appeal as outlined in the busing policy.

Whereupon, a citizen reminded the board of rumors that recall petitions may be circulated. With all the flak aimed at the board recently, she expressed a hope that a "little more cooperation" could be generated.

Board President Gilbert Henderson, acknowledging that the board has been under fire, indicated that because the Novi school system is a growing one the situation is not likely to "get any easier."

Treasurer Mrs. Sharon Pelchat, in defense of the board, reminded citizens that school officials are going through a particularly trying time in getting two new schools completed and occupied. In the face of these kinds of problems, she said "we are trying to do the best we can."

Henderson took the position that the "flak" may be caused by one or more of three different reasons:

Either the board is incompetent, the administration is incompetent, or schools are being made the battleground for the country's ills.

Later in the meeting, Henderson reminded citizens that under the present situation (state and federal) of school monies, local school boards in reality have very little room in which to maneuver. Their deliberations and actions, he added, are restricted and controlled in great extent by state regulations.

Specifically, he referred to the fact that the board has not yet adopted its 1971-72 budget, even though the fiscal year is already well underway because much of that budget is dependent upon monies received from the state.

Students Dion Tafaalian spoke in defense of the board, pointing out that much of the recent criticism of the board has been generated by groups

Delay School Opening Again

The on-again, off-again opening of the new middle school is likely to be off for one more week, Superintendent Thomas Dale reported this week.

Parents were notified of the opening in opening by written communication Friday. Dale said, and similar notification is planned when the opening is rescheduled.

Greenfield Construction, reported Dale, has completed construction of the 11 Mile Road sewer arm but air testing, which has detected a number of leaks, delayed use of the arm as a holding tank.

Temporary plans call for sewage from the school to be emptied into the sewer arm where it is to be held and later pumped to pending completion of the interceptor into which the sewer arm empties.

Should the sewer arm be cleared early this week, he said, it would be possible to occupy the building Wednesday, Thursday or Friday of this week. However, he noted that the board has indicated it prefers that parents be notified of the opening a week in advance.

The superintendent also revealed that paving in front of the new middle school had not yet begun as of Monday, even though it was scheduled to get underway last week. While the school could be occupied without this work being completed, Dale indicated that its completion prior to opening is desirable.

Meanwhile, the school district has received permission of the state fire

It's 1,953 Students

Enrollment in Novi schools was officially pegged at 1,953 on the membership count day, Superintendent Thomas Dale announced this week.

The total enrollment represents an increase of 144 over last year's enrollment. Here's the breakdown by schools:

Orchard Hills Elementary, 498; Novi Elementary, 403; Village Oaks Elementary, 185. Total elementary enrollment is 1,088.

Seventh and Eighth grades (middle school students), 311; and school, 554.

Of the 1,088 elementary students, 22 are special education pupils and 15 title I students.

Helwig Heads NAG Chapter

Carl Helwig, of 22871 Penton Rise Court, Novi, will head up the newly formed Novi-Northville chapter of the National Action Group, popularly known as NAG.

Helwig has been active in NAG's activities in Pontiac for the past month and a half and was moderator of the NAG rally last week in Plymouth.

"Our major aim," said Helwig, "is to stop cross-busing of school children. It's time to stop using children as pawns of the federal government."

Primary thrust of the local chapter will be to solicit area support through booths located in various supermarkets.

Shoppers will be asked to sign anti-busing petitions and form letters that will be sent to state and national officials. In addition, N.A.G. bumper stickers will be sold to help finance the campaign.

On the national level, NAG's legal efforts will be centered on attaining the passage of an amendment to the constitution which would prohibit cross-busing.

Known as "House Joint Resolution 820," or the "Griffin Amendment," the legislation states that "no public school student shall, because of his race, creed or color, be assigned to, or required to attend, a particular school."

Attacking the issue from another side was Senator Pursell. He expressed a belief that the courts are becoming too powerful, that local governments are losing status, and that lawmaking as a whole is being usurped by the courts.

Pursell said Detroit is suffering from a variety of ills, with education at the bottom of a long list of priorities. "We have the situation of a stadium versus education," he said. "Detroit has the facilities and the personnel for a fine standard of education. The teachers are among the highest paid in the

Northville Public Schools Annual Report — 1970-71 School Year

SUPERINTENDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

This report is published for the residents of the Northville Public Schools district regarding the educational program and receipts and expenditures of the district for the 1970-71 school year.

In addition to the time and attention devoted to the completion of the Building Program, the Board dealt with many other projects, including: 1. Successfully renewed a 17-mill operating tax levy for a five-year period (1971-1976).

District's programs and activities were carried out under the direction of Raymond E. Spear, Superintendent of Schools, who completed his fourth year as the District's Superintendent in June, 1971.

The three Elementary Principals supervised a combined staff of 54 classroom teachers and 13 special services personnel, including Art, Music, Physical Education, Reading, Library, Guidance, Health and Special Consultant, who taught our 1970-71 elementary enrollment of 1778 students in grades K-5.

Improvements to the District's schools which resulted from the Bond Issue were also held in mind. At the Main Street School and Annex we modernized the Annex gym; added flexibility to four Main Street school classrooms; more appropriately located the Main Street School office; added a second kindergarten room; added additional student and staff toilets to the third floor; completed miscellaneous repairs to both the Main Street School and the Annex, including all new windows in the Annex.

In the normal operation of the School District, it is often necessary to involve the assistance of outside agencies. During 1970-71 the Board of Education employed the law firm of Miller, Canfield, Faddock & Stone and Keller, Thomas, McManus, Toppin & Schwarz to assist in legal matters. The audit of the District's financial records (data reported hereto) was conducted by Plante & Moran, Certified Public Accountants. All financial statements were completed with the assistance and cooperation of Manufacturers National Bank. In addition, the Board renewed its contract with Ralls-Hamill-Becker Associates, Inc. to assist the Administration with the new Building Program.

The Director of Personnel assisted the Superintendent in carrying out the 1971-72 teacher recruitment program and represented the school at the bargaining table in reaching a new agreement with the Northville Education Association, and the classified personnel represented by the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local No. 547.

The High School was administered by Principal Frederick Holdsworth and Assistant Principal David Longridge. The 1970-71 enrollment reached a high of 1070 students in grades 9-12, who were taught in our partially expanded classrooms (36 rooms to 52 rooms) at the High School by 52 teachers, including three counselors and a public health nurse.

Financial statement table for 1970-71 school year, including columns for Budget, Actual, and Variance. Sub-tables include Taxable Income, Operating Fund, and Building Fund.

Financial statement table for 1970-71 school year, continuing from the previous table. Sub-tables include State Allocation, Debt Retirement Funds, and Excess of Expenditures.

GI Bill Failing to Do Intended Job

The GI Bill, the vehicle through which countless veterans of World War II and Korea received a college education, isn't doing the job it's supposed to do any more. The benefits which a veteran of the Vietnam War can receive under the program haven't changed. Unfortunately for the veterans, prices have changed. A veteran returning from World War II could receive $500 per year for tuition and fees, plus a living allowance of from $75 to $125 per month. No one got rich off those benefits, but they were enough to finance an education. As a result, 50 per cent of the men returning from both World War II and Korea attended some type of educational, vocational or technical institution. BUT, ONLY some 20 per cent of Michigan veterans returning from Vietnam go on to receive further education or training. For nine months of education, a veteran receives $1,575, barely more than his father received. The total is about $900 short of what Michigan State University says is an "existence" level for students attending it. By existence level, the university means the minimum amount of money needed to pay for tuition, books, room and board. It does not include clothing insurance or expenses for things such as a car. The veteran's problem is further compounded by a high unemployment rate which chokes off the possibility of his getting a good job. THE MICHIGAN Legislature may do something about this situation. The Senate already passed a proposal now waiting for House action that would provide for a public vote on a $100 million fund to help finance education for veterans of Vietnam. Originally, the proposal was worded as a constitutional amendment so that there could be a vote on it this fall if any other proposals were put on a state-wide ballot. "A lot of them didn't ask to go over there, but they got sent anyway," he said. "I think this is the least we can do for them."

Babson Report

Textbook Stocks Climb

A FEW SHORT years ago when the textbook industry was represented on just about everyone's "growth" list, stocks of textbook producers sported some rather fancy price-earnings ratios. It was, in fact, not uncommon for a leading publishing issue to show a multiple of forty or fifty times earnings. Last year, however, some of the leaders in the educational publishing field were selling under fifteen times earnings. Quite a comedown for a so-called "growth" group! What happened was that, addition to the unfavorable impact of the severe 1969-1970 general market shake-out, the textbook industry suffered from a drastic re-evaluation of its "growth" label. In fact, in retrospect we can see that 1966 marked the end of an era. At that time a number of beneficial factors came together to produce peak earnings for textbook firms. Government aid to education provided a sizable boost to sales, school enrollments were expanding vigorously, and the national economy was booming. But 1966 was followed by less favorable years when a reshuffling of national priorities resulted in greatly increased spending for the Vietnam war and less for education. School enrollment growth began to slow down, and inflation bit more deeply into school budgets everywhere. DESPITE the problems which afflict the producers, textbook stocks have rebounded sharply from their lows. Reasons for optimism

Now it will probably go on the November, 1972, ballot. The measure would provide assistance of up to $1,000 a year for veterans who want more education, enough to put them at the "existence" level. ONE REASON assistance has been so slow in coming has been the unpopularity of the Vietnam War itself. This was a factor taken into account by Sen. Harry De Masso, R-Battle Creek, when the proposal was going through the Senate. "This proposal doesn't have anything to do with whether you like or hate the war over there," he said. "This is simply something to make sure the young men who have gone over there and risked their lives are given a decent chance for an education when they get back." "A lot of them didn't ask to go over there, but they got sent anyway," he said. "I think this is the least we can do for them."

THOMAS PLUNKETT Parents: Here's Tips On Drugs

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of articles by Oakland County Prosecutor Thomas G. Plunkett intended to inform parents about the drug threat and what it means to their children. A noted college professor recently stated that the present generation of young people in our schools and colleges are the best informed, the most intelligent, and the most idealistic of any we have ever had in this country. He added, "Today's young people, taken as a whole, are more moral than their elders." Only a small minority of young people ever become involved in drug use or the resulting drug abuse. A minority, however, still means a large number of young people, some quite young, and the number appears to be increasing rapidly. We are living in a drug-obsessed society. In 1965 about 7 million prescriptions were written by doctors for psychotropic drugs, the kind that change or affect mood or behavior. Adults were the main consumers, which leads us to believe that adults themselves are high on the list of drug abusers. If this is true, as national statistics seem to indicate, parents must look to themselves when trying to understand how their children got their start in the "first place." However, the purpose of this article is not to "place blame," but rather to become familiar with terminology, to learn more about the drug problem itself, and to discuss how best to handle this situation as parents. It is essential that parents realize that they cannot frighten a child into doing "the correct thing" with statements that are not factually true or are greatly exaggerated. In today's society most children know more about "drug" use from their associations on the street than their parents do. Therefore, what we discuss will be an effort to equal and surpass the knowledge of our children, so that we may better educate them on the potential dangers of drug use. Everyone knows that the use and abuse of drugs that affect the mind is spreading across the country. Hundreds of thousands of young Americans are taking, testing, and experimenting with marijuana, LSD, "uppers," pills, downers, sedatives, "speed," and heroin. So then, in the series ahead, we will examine such things as: drugs and amphetamines, injected methamphetamine, Barbiturates, Heroin, Marijuana, and LSD. We will examine what they look like, the names they are called by, where they are obtained, how they are used, the dangers of use, the effects of use, reactions, etc. For a majority of young people an encounter with a mind-affecting drug seems to be only a flirtation, with the user feeling sure he can take it or leave it. Some authorities state that such experimentation can amount to "drug roulette," resulting in some particularly susceptible young people becoming seriously injured by what they intended to be an innocent adventure. American society tolerates alcohol and nicotine, both of which are technically drugs, and millions of people abuse both of them. Many drugs are taken legitimately by prescription. There is, however, a black market among some potent drugs. Every year billions of sedatives and pep pills are diverted to illegal use. According to the Federal Food and Drug Administration this is enough stimulant to keep everyone in the United States awake for one week and enough sedative to keep them in a stupor for a week.

Depending on the condition and health of the mare, the foal may be weaned successfully between the ages of 4 to 8 months.

When the decision is made to wean the foal, separation should be complete.

Weaning should be started in the morning so that the foal may be watched throughout the day to see that he does not injure himself.

Within 1 to 2 days the weaning will calm down and become adjusted to his new situation.

The paddock used for the weaning should be free of holes, rocks, debris and any obstructions that could cause injury to the foal.

Drying Up The Mare By reducing the feed intake and allowing the udder to fill, the mare can be dried up quite easily.

The above is an excerpt from a paper by Dr. J. C. Dollahan, Wisconsin State University.
