

Lakes Area Special service ends Friday

By DAVID RAY

Lakes Area Special Dial-A-Ride service will be terminated this Friday, according to Dan Morrill, assistant general manager of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), because the Wolverine Lake Village Council last week rejected a contract for its share of local funding of the 12-passenger van.

However, Oakland County Commissioner Robert McConnell reported last Tuesday afternoon that SEMTA Board Member Henry Hogan had said the deadline for halting the service is Friday, July 28. The news has been unable to confirm the report.

Morrill said yesterday that Lakes Area Special riders have been advised since last Friday that the service will end July 21, and added that SEMTA has offered to work with other local communities to pick-up Wolverine Lake's monthly share of the cost, if they are interested in continuing the service.

If arrangements can be worked out with the other communities — Commerce, Novi, Walled Lake and Wixom — the Lakes Area Special service will be reinstated at a later date, the assistant general manager said.

He added, however, that it doesn't appear that the local units of government can act fast enough to avert the shutdown on Friday.

Walled Lake and Novi approved the contract, which calls for the five Lakes Area communities to equally divide the one-third net operating expense that is required for Dial-A-Ride programs under SEMTA policy, but made that approval contingent on ratification of the pact by all five communities.

The Walled Lake City Council was expected last night to decide whether to remain in the Lakes Area Special program. Novi officials did not act on the issue Monday night.

Commerce Township and the City of Wixom also have approved the agreement with SEMTA, but did not list any conditions to their okay.

Morrill said that, in light of Walled Lake's and Novi's position, SEMTA is basing its decision to terminate the service on firm commitments from only two of the five communities.

Meanwhile, Oakland County Commissioner Dennis Murphy said yesterday that he has discussed the problem with County Executive Daniel T. Murphy, and added, "As far as we're concerned, there will be no termination of service. There is no way it will stop."

Commissioner Murphy said he is still

Fleet revises plan

Fleet Ambulance Service last week revised its proposal to provide an advanced life support (ALS) system in the Lakes Area, after Wixom officials indicated that they are not interested "participating" in the program.

Under the new proposal, Commerce Township must approve a contract with the Bloomfield Hills-based firm at a cost of $28,000 a year, including a $4,000 in-kind contribution of the use of Fire Station Number Two as headquarters for the unit.

Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake Village have been asked to contribute $5,000 each a year, according to Fleet president Skip Miles, although the service can be implemented without participation by those two communities.

Village officials already have said that they are not interested in joining the system this year, and the Walled Lake City Council last night (after our deadline) was expected to receive Fleet's new proposal.

Miles said that Commerce must agree to enter into a contract with his firm in order to start the service.

He added, however, that residents of the other communities could use the ALS facilities, even if their municipalities don't participate, by paying a $80 surcharge for the emergency service.

The emergency fee and the base rate for ambulance service would make the cost about $160-$170 for residents of communities that don't approve the contract, Miles added.

Commerce Supervisor Robert Long last week referred Fleet's new proposal to the township attorney for a review of whether village residents, who pay a 1.41-mills township property tax in addition to the general Walled Lake levy, would be entitled to the service.

The attorney's office is expected to have a legal opinion ready for the August 15 township board meeting.

Sources say that the township may allocate state shared revenue funds for the ALS service and, since the village receives its own share of state monies, Wolverine Lake would not be covered by the contract.

Village President John McEllan said Monday that his community won't act on the contract this year because there are "too many things to work out and I think this is too far down the road."

The Walled Lake council has budgeted $12,000 for the use of Fire Station Number Two as headquarters for the unit.

Miles has said that it will cost $135,000 a year to operate the ALS unit in the Lakes Area. Patient fees would cover $85,000 of the expense, he said, leaving $50,000 for the units of government to pay in order to make the program economically feasible.

Commerce Township's full time and volunteer firefighters, however, have told the board that they feel the emergency service should be a function of the Fire Department.

If the board decides to enter into a contract with Fleet, the firemen said, the trustees should establish a committee to study whether an ALS unit should be added to the Fire Department.

Under the ALS program, Miles said, a specialized unit manned by two paramedics would respond to emergency calls and transmit the patient's vital signs to a physician at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital (POH) who, in turn, would prescribe treatment to stabilize the victim for the trip to an area hospital.

The Fleet president has said that the service often means the difference between life and death.

The firm already offers similar service in the Waterford-Pontiac area and will add a unit in the near future in the Milford.

2 area men arrested in numbers racket bust

Two Lakes Area men were among the 37 persons arrested late last week by the Oakland County Organized Crime Strike Force in a crackdown on an alleged numbers operation.

Arrested were Edward Marshall, 31, of Walled Lake, and John Vanover, 42, of 2170 Helmsford, Wolverine Lake Village.

Vanover was charged with receiving and concealing stolen property over $100, according to the Oakland County Prosecutors' Office. He was arraigned Thursday in 52nd District Court and was released on $1,000 bond, pending his July 24 trial date.

Marshall, who reportedly is affiliated with the Communications Workers of America, was indicted for inciting to assault with intent to commit great bodily harm and violation of state gambling law.

A District Court employee said yesterday that the local court office doesn't have any record of Marshall's arrest.

Richard Thompson, chief assistant to Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, was unavailable for further comment yesterday.

However, police officials say that Marshall approached strike force undercover agent Vince Mazzara to have his Michigan Bell Telephone supervisor's ribs broken for $50. The Walled Lake man also allegedly offered to provide Mazzara with a free long-distance phone line and to sweep telephone lines into the numbers operation's headquarters to see if the lines were being bugged by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Among those arrested by strike force officers during last week's raids were a Pontiac police officer; a Pontiac City Commissioner, Joseph Bane Sr., president of Teamsters Local 614 in Pontiac; Joseph Bane Jr., budget director of the local; Louis Lintea, owner of Airport Service Line, Incorporated, a close friend of missing former Teamsters President Jimmy Hoffa and one of the last persons to see Hoffa before the labor leader's disappearance three years ago; and Samuel Firu, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Oakland County sheriff two years ago.

Most of those arrested were charged with conspiracy to violate state gambling law, although other counts included bribery, obstruction of justice, carrying a concealed weapon, and inciting others to kill, maim or commit assault with the intent to do great bodily harm.

The strike force investigation covered a 14-month period, leading up to the arrests that began Wednesday afternoon and continued through the weekend.

Gone fishing

When Izaak Walton wrote "The Compleat Angler" back in 1653, he failed to mention that much sage fishing advice can be garnered from an experienced grandmother. Kevin DePriest used every possible advantage in attempting to land a whopper "when he went fishing on Walled Lake last week, even to the point of having his grandmother, Mrs. Velma DePriest, close at hand to offer suggestions when he cast his line. Our photographer did not report whether or not Kevin's fishing forays ended in success. (Staff photo by Dave Turney).

For Pontiac Trail-Wixom intersection

Wixom okays pact with county

Despite a cost increase of $13,500, the Wixom City Council approved a contract with the Oakland County Road Commission last week for improvement of the Pontiac Trail — South Wixom Road intersection.

In a 4-1 vote, the council passed the contract after a 40 minute discussion with Oakland County Road Commission Director of Engineering Dennis Grylicki. Councilman Dennis Andrews was the group's only dissenter, and not coincidentally, Andrews carried on most of the discussion with Grylicki.

"I don't think the people of Wixom know what they're getting," said Andrews, "because I myself still don't know exactly what we're getting."

Andrews was primarily concerned if, after all the work was done and the money spent, traffic along Pontiac Trail in the downtown area would move more freely in the event of a railroad train crossing the northbound intersection.

He was also concerned with the possibility of Wixom receiving a green arrow for the traffic light at the corner of Pontiac Trail and North Wixom Roads. Police Chief Phil Leonard supported Andrews, stating that a green arrow would definitely improve the traffic flow in downtown Wixom.

"I feel that we need both the interconnected signal and the green arrow on North Wixom Road," said Leonard. "It could greatly improve the safety of the citizens of the city."

Leonard and Grylicki both stated that studies have been done on the North Wixom Road intersection and that an arrow is likely.

"From the studies we've taken," said Grylicki, "you're very close to getting the green arrow. Really, it's only a matter of time before one is placed there."

Grylicki then stated that the cost of the arrow is relatively insignificant.

However, councilman Andrews was still questioning the proposed $53,500 funding.

"Would you spend $53,000 of your own money for something like this?" he asked Chief Leonard. "Would you spend that kind of money for something you don't even know is going to work? I'm not against the traffic light at that intersection."

tersection, I think we need that. But I'm against taking $53,000 of our money for the project without knowing how it's going to turn out."

"And what about the traffic problem while the work is being done?" he asked. "That intersection is bad enough as it is right now. Where is all the traffic from the Ford plant going to go?"

Grylicki conceded that traffic would be a problem during the road widening period, but that the traffic problem would be alleviated in the future.

"In the long run it has to be good for the city," said Chief Leonard.

Although not pleased with the additional expense, the city council backed Leonard's statement and appropriated the funding. The total cost of the project had escalated from $80,000 to $107,000. The agreement calls for the city and the road commission to split that total.

In a letter sent to the city from the Oakland County Board of Road Commissioners, County Highway Engineer Paul Vankekel stated that the additional cost was attributed to the fact that only one qualified bidder actually bid on the project, and that the bid was high.

"Projects of this type generally have six to eight bidders," wrote Vankekel. "The bid received was over four times the cost higher than anticipated. While the bid (received) is high, we recommend proceeding with the project, as bid. Delay is not expected to result in a lower price."

As the project now stands, Wixom Road will be widened and a traffic light will be installed over the intersection. No date has been set for beginning the project.

'Avedon imposter' faces court

A 34-year-old man who allegedly conned hundreds of women out of thousands of dollars by posing as world-famous photographer Richard Avedon was expected to be arraigned on a larceny charge yesterday afternoon before Oakland County Circuit Judge John N. O'Brien.

The suspect, Oscar Kendall, was arraigned last Thursday before 52nd District Court Judge Gene Schnetz of Walled Lake. He waived a preliminary examination on the larceny by conversion count.

Kendall allegedly began the five-month con game in early 1977 and reportedly has admitted to taking some 200 women, including an unidentified Walled Lake woman who apparently was his only Michigan victim for more than $100,000 and sexual favors for his promise to make them fashion models.

Authorities say, however, that only 33 women from 25 states have reported the crimes to police.

Police report that Kendall's involvement with the local woman took place over four days in June, 1977. He allegedly drove the woman's car to an airport and left the area, prompting the larceny charge for taking the car and $150.

Walled Lake Police Chief Wilford Hook said he was unaware of the case and added that his department was not involved.

Mike Izzo, chief of the Oakland County Prosecutor's warrants division, was unavailable for comment yesterday.

Kendall was arrested in another state last September and charged with assault with intent to commit rape. He was held on $1-million bond until warrants from other states could be prepared.

Family seeks truth

The children of slain civil rights worker Viola Luzzo have been bombarded with phone calls from reporters since new revelations surrounding their mother's death have been released lately. The family has filed a $2 million claim against the

FBI involved in woman's death?

By STEVE BELL

It was more than 13 years ago that their mother was murdered by a Ku Klux Klansman at the climax of the civil rights demonstrations in Alabama, but members of the Luzzo family, now staying in Novi, have not forgotten.

The children of slain civil rights worker Viola Luzzo have, in fact, prompted a Justice Department investigation into the slaying and have filed a $2 million claim against the FBI for the wrongful death of their mother.

For the Luzzo family, the struggle has perhaps become as political as it is personal. Most of the tears for their mother have stopped flowing years ago.

A few days later, police revealed that one of the men arrested, Gary Thomas Rowe, a former nightclub bouncer, was an informant for the FBI.

I forced mine to stop," says Tom Luzzo, 30, speaking at his father's home in the Orchard Hills Subdivision. His father, Tony, is recuperating from an illness in a nearby hospital.

Tom hopes the case will shed light on the FBI involvement in the fledgling civil rights movement in the 1960's and whether the government was involved in violent acts against the movement, including the murder of his mother.

The Luzzo slaying was the third of a series of killings that took place in 1965 during the late Reverend Martin Luther King's campaign to register black voters in segregationist Alabama. The murder rocked the nation, coming just hours after the conclusion of the famous Selma to Montgomery Freedom March and at the hands of a Ku Klux Klansman.

On March 25, Mrs. Luzzo, a mother of five from Detroit, was driving along Highway 90 outside Selma with a young black man also active in the movement. Mrs. Luzzo and the man were members of the transportation committee which were giving rides home to weary marchers who had completed the 54-mile hike.

As she drove along the freeway, a car bumped her from behind and, seeing she was being followed, she speeded up to try and elude the car. After a 20-minute chase, the car sided up to hers. Shots rang out and Mrs. Luzzo slumped to the floor dead.

The Luzzo car was steered to the ditch by the black man and one of the men from the other car returned to insure he had killed both occupants. The black man, covered with blood, remained motionless and was left for dead.

The next day, police reported the arrest of four members of the white supremacist Ku Klux Klan organization in connection with the slaying. A few days later, police revealed that one of the men arrested, Gary Thomas Rowe, a former nightclub bouncer, was an informant for the FBI.

Subsequent testimony from Rowe against the alleged killer, Collie LeRoy Wilkins, was insufficient to win a conviction in two state trials. A federal trial in Montgomery, however, earned Wilkins and the two other Klansmen ten-year terms for "violating civil rights" of American citizens.

But recent revelations indicate Rowe may have been more than just an observer in the Luzzo killing and other incidents of Klan violence.

An investigation by the Alabama State Attorney General's Office has uncovered testimony from two Birmingham policemen who state Rowe admitted participating in the killing.

In addition, the Alabama investigation indicates Rowe has failed a pair of lie-detector tests in which he denied involvement in the 1963 bombing of a Birmingham church which claimed the lives of four black children.

A 1975 Senate Select Committee to Study Government Operations with Respect to Intelligence Activities revealed the FBI frequently did little to avert planned violence by the Klan.

Wearing a white mask to protect a new identity given him by the FBI, Rowe appeared as a witness before the committee and reported he often informed the FBI of planned violence, but rarely was any action taken to deter the violence.

Crime in city rises again

A 69 percent increase in reported felonies for the first six months of 1978 highlights a report released by Novi Police Department.

The total number of complaints reported in the city has risen at a 16 percent clip, the figures reveal, going from 4,079 complaints in 1977 to 4,730 in 1978.

The number of felonies reported rose from 280 for the first six months of 1977 to 497 for the same period in 1978. More than a third of the rise in felonies, however, can be attributed to larcenies in buildings which consist mainly of shoplifting charges at the Twelve Oaks Mall.

"The number one reason for the increase is that there have been a lot more felony arrests made by our surveillance bureau," Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole commented. "They're not interested in misdemeanor arrests. They've made some nice felony arrests."

BeGole reported he had guessed the felony reports would rise rather dramatically because the mall would be going full blast.

In addition to Part I (felony) offenses, Part II (fraud, larceny, etc.) and Part III (miscellaneous complaints) also rose.

Part II crimes rose at only a two percent clip with 715 complaints registered for the first six months of 1977 and 730 complaints registered for the same period in 1978.

Part III crimes jumped 16 percent, with 3,074 complaints registered for the first six months of 1977 and 3,553 for the same period in 1978.

The total amount of crimes reported in the first six months of 1977 was 4,770 as compared with 4,079 for the same period in 1978.

In Part III crimes, there was a rather substantial increase in the number of automobile accidents reported, with a total of 604 incidents reported in the first six months of 1977 as compared to 768 in the same period in 1978.

Whereas only one fatality was recorded in the first six months of 1977, five have already been tallied for the first six months of 1978.

"The traffic has dramatically increased due to the mall," Chief BeGole said. BeGole also cited the opening of 1-275 as one of the reasons for the increase in traffic accidents. Motorists must hit onto Novi Road in order to continue going north when the freeway ends, he noted.

The figures released are somewhat surprising in view of statistics gathered at the end of 1977, which showed an 11 percent decrease in felonies from 1976 and a 20 percent increase in Part III crimes and a 15 percent increase in Part II crimes.

The Novi Police Department added three officers in the summer of 1977 and plan to add another officer to the Court Services Bureau in October.

Novi assessing passes scrutiny

Concluded by a slammed door exit of assessment critic Gary Kidd, the Novi City Council July 17 heard a report from an investigator of the method of property taxes in the city who said he could find nothing wrong.

Wynn Berry, assessor for the City of Wixom and Commerce Township, was hired by the council to investigate assessing done in the city after Meadowbrook Lake resident Kidd had demanded a probe of the way assessments were handled in Novi.

Kidd, however, did not approve of the choice of Berry, since he was hand-picked by City Manager Ed Kriewall to do the job. He has appealed to the Michigan Tax Commission to begin an investigation of assessing practices in the city.

According to Berry, however, there appear to be no major faults with the way assessments are handled in the city.

Berry answered a charge often made by Kidd that the Village Oaks Subdivision is assessed at a lower rate than the Meadowbrook Lake Subdivision.

"I find invalid the charges that the two subdivisions areas known as Meadowbrook Lake and Village Oaks Subdivision are inequitably assessed in relation to the percent of value assessed. In one as compared to the other," Berry stated in his report.

Berry reported that Meadowbrook Lake was assessed at 36.25 percent of sales value and Village Oaks at 38.12 percent of sales value.

"I further find the level of assessed value to sales value to be remarkably close," Berry stated.

Berry also stated that the assessments between commercial, industrial and residential classes of real property have no basis to be termed invalid. The sales to assessment ratios between those classes are in a reasonable range.

Also examined by Berry was the charge that the methodology of assessment procedures in Novi appeared to be in compliance with the Michigan Statutes and decisions.

In addition, Berry stated the Novi assessing department is understaffed and probably should add some employees.

Kidd also suggested the city should create a current land value map, which

CETA worker rehired, city may hire two more

The Novi City Council July 17 approved renewing the employment of one police department employee, but deferred action on taking back two Parks and Recreation Department workers laid off as a result of CETA cuts.

Twelve city employees were dropped from the payroll June 23 when funding for the CETA VI Special Projects was discontinued. Three recreation employees, two police department employees and seven public works employees were dropped from the payroll as a result of the cuts.

The requests to keep some of the personnel on was with funds from other sources.

Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole said his department would not use the overtime allotted him in the 1977-78 budget, due to improvements in the Court Services Program.

BeGole also cited anticipated reduction in funds needed for education and training of new officers, since all proposed new officers will not be hired.

The employee that will be kept with the police department as a result of the budget amendment serves as a mechanic. BeGole said the position was essential to keep the police cars operating in top condition.

Another employee funded through the CETA program handled the microfilming of police records for the move to the new building in a couple of years. BeGole stated that, while the work would have to be done sometime, it was not imperative that it be completed immediately.

The Novi City Council approved the amendment to add the police department employee with little discussion on 7-4 vote.

The proposal to fund an additional two employees for the Parks and Recreation Department came under closer scrutiny by the council.

Jerry Shulman, of the Parks and Recreation Commission, represented the department in seeking the funding. Director Barry Smink, Shulman said, was busy helping to run a program.

The CETA cuts slashed the Parks and Recreation Department staff in half and caused the elimination of several

From super sewer

Oakland still faces elimination

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) apparently is still leaning toward a super sewer alternative that would eliminate three Oakland County communities, Northville, and Plymouth from the regional wastewater treatment facilities, local officials said last week following a meeting on the controversial project.

"I came away with the feeling that they didn't want a larger plant upstream," said township environmentalist Dan Shapiro.

"I got that impression somewhat," added Novi City Manager Ed Kriewall, "but, then again Northville Township said they didn't want a larger plant upstream."

Discussion during the two-hour session also centered around projected population figures and capacity for each of the 18 communities in the super sewer study area as well as up-dated cost estimates, Shapiro said.

EPA officials also announced that a draft environmental impact statement (EIS) on the several alternatives to super sewer will be released in mid-August, about two weeks later than expected. A public hearing on the alternatives will be held sometime in September, but must be at least 30 days after the draft EIS is published in "The Federal Register."

Kriewall described last Wednesday's meeting with the EPA as "somewhat worthwhile" since the officials discussed allocation of capacity in the proposed system.

The Novi manager said he also had an opportunity to object to some of the alternatives that have been proposed.

One of those plans calls for dropping Commerce, Novi and Walled Lake from the regional facility, with possible expansion of the existing Walled Lake-Novi treatment plant to serve the area.

Plymouth and Northville would have "some capacity redistributed in the Rouge system," Shapiro explained, with a scaled-down super sewer serving the area from Canton Township south to Lake Erie.

Another proposal calls for extending the super sewer interceptor lines to mid-Nov, with the area from northern Novi to Commerce served by an expanded Walled Lake-Novi plant.

Several years ago, Novi sought approval for the construction of a treatment plant in the Nine Mile Road area, Kriewall said, but the request was denied.

"That was fine with us," the manager said, "as long as they give us capacity (in super sewer)."

Novi's main concern at this point, he added, is whether enough sewer capacity will be available to serve the city in the future.

"We're paying for the studies and we want to make sure that the capacity is large enough," Kriewall said.

Since the EPA and Wayne County officials are discussing several plans that call for scaled-down versions, or phasing, of super sewer, Kriewall said, he felt that solution could pose problems in terms of a system that will not be able to handle Novi's future needs.

"I know the feds look at these things for a 20-year projection," the manager said, "but it's like the (I-96 and Novi Road) intersection. They do something and then 10 or 15 years later they have to improve or expand it and that just costs more money."

Another alternative to super sewer, the so-called decentralization plan, calls for expansion of existing plants to handle increased capacity with new development. Several environmental groups have supported that proposal, saying that the effluent would add to low water flow in rivers and cause less pollution of Lake Erie, in addition to costing less than the capital expenditures for the regional system.

However, Kriewall said the decentralized plan would affect water courses with minuscule flow and would cost more for operation and maintenance.

The Novi manager also speculated that Northville, Plymouth and other downstream municipalities may oppose any alternative to expand the Novi-Walled Lake plant because of possible environmental impacts on their communities.

Commerce Supervisor Robert Long also has noted that expansion of the Novi-Walled Lake plant apparently would exceed effluent flow guidelines established by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) and added that a state Water Resources Commission report of several years ago listed impacts of the local treatment plant on other communities.

Other problems could be posed by taking drainage from the Huron River watershed and distributing it into Rouge River facilities, the Commerce officials said.

The new cost estimates range from $27,000,000 to upgrade and expand six existing wastewater treatment plants to $207,001,000 for a modified super sewer facilities extending from Commerce to Brownstown Township.

Average annual operation and maintenance costs range from $2,043,000 for expansion of existing facilities to $5,044,000 for super sewer, according to the Wayne County Department of Public Works.

The regional system or an approved alternative are expected to be funded by the federal government (75 percent), state (five percent) and local communities (20 percent).

The Commerce Township Board last week approved a contract to pay its share of the cost for the phase two engineering of the facilities. Novi already has okayed the pact, and Walled Lake is expected to receive the contract in the near future.

Commerce Attorney Phil Addison said the contract obligated the township to super sewer only through the EIS and phase two steps, and added that any community that is "programmed out" of super sewer by the EPA will be reimbursed for its expenses.

Township officials have said they agreed to purchase capacity in super sewer as a form of insurance against possible pollution enforcement actions by state or county agencies.

Long has said that Commerce's lakes and streams are its major asset and must be protected.

He added that Oakland County health officials already have indicated that there are potential pollution problems in the township.

Novi planners set rezoning hearing

Novi's Planning Board has set Wednesday, August 16, as the date for a public hearing to consider a request for an industrial zoning on Lanny's Road between Grand River and 11 Mile Road.

The petitioners, Clayton Yoder and Richard Brahm, have requested that the half-acre parcel be rezoned from its existing R1-F (one-family agricultural residential) district to an I-1 (light industrial) classification.

The site is located on the west side of 11 Mile Road.

Yoder told the planning board last week that he would like the rezoning request to go to public hearing even though City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Wilcox-Lennan proposed that a PD (parking district) designation would provide better land use planning.

Yoder owns the property to the north of the parcel which already has an I-1 zoning.

In reviewing the application for the rezoning, Cairns told the planning board that the city's Master Plan appears to locate a proposed industrial area north of the residential properties which front on 11 Mile. As a result, the Yoder-Brahm parcel is proposed for future industrial use.

The site is located on the west side of 11 Mile Road.

Yoder told the planning board last week that he would like the rezoning request to go to public hearing even though City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Wilcox-Lennan proposed that a PD (parking district) designation would provide better land use planning.

Lakeland Hills subdivision earns planners' ok

Final preliminary plan approval for the proposed Lakeland Hills Estates Subdivision was granted by the Walled Lake Planning Commission last week.

The proposed subdivision of single family homes will be located on the west side of Decker Road near the Maple-Decker Road intersection. The subdivision is immediately east of the Tri-A Subdivision.

The plan contains a total of 89 lots.

Edward Carey of The Carey Company told the plan commission last week that the plan has been revised to provide for a 120-foot right-of-way on Decker Road and a link through to Omega Street in order to provide for traffic movement between the two subdivisions.

Walled Lake's City Council is presently considering the status of the Decker Road right-of-way. The council considered changing the right-of-way from 120 to 86 feet last year, but is reconsidering that proposal in order to retain the possibility of obtaining federal funding for road improvement projects.

Developer B.H. Carey apparently decided to provide for a 120 foot right-of-way on Decker in order to facilitate the start of construction this year.

The action to provide for the 120 foot right-of-way on Decker Road from 145 feet to 118 feet for the homes on the Decker Road frontage.

The planners also made final preliminary plan approval of a maintenance agreement for a proposed retention pond and the re-naming of streets in the subdivision.

Council debates alternatives

Novi may tie high-rise development to PD Option.

Novi's City Council renewed its ongoing debate over building height limitations as it hammered out details of the proposed Planned Development (PD) Option at a special meeting July 6.

The PD Option is viewed as a key element in the development of the city because it would conceivably provide city officials with a greater degree of control than is available under conventional development procedures.

But even though the council generally appears on the verge of adopting the PD Option concept, the form that the option will take remains up in the air.

At the heart of the debate is the question of whether or not high-rise development should be permitted in Novi.

Some members of the council are strongly opposed to high-rise developments while others feel it would be beneficial as long as city officials provide sufficient controls. The proposed PD Option, argue the proponents of high-rise, would provide those controls.

Under the current ordinance, high-rise development is permitted in the RM-2 (high density multiple family residential), RC (regional center, and FS (freeway service) zoning districts.

There is no limitation on building height in those districts at the present time.

However, the council is currently in the process of amending the zoning ordinance so that high-rise development would be eliminated completely.

Included among the proposed changes is the elimination of the RM-2 district and a five-story limit on buildings in the RD, FS, and OSC (office service commercial) districts. Those changes in the zoning ordinance are slated to be officially adopted later this year.

The elimination of high-rise development from the existing ordinance does not mean, however, that city officials are completely opposed to high-rise development altogether.

Although no final decisions have been reached, the council appears headed toward adoption of a policy which will permit high-rise development (5 to 10 story buildings), but only in the proposed PD Option.

Viewed as a pioneering effort in land use planning, the PD Option was originally proposed as a separate zoning district. In essence, the PD concept would permit city officials to review and approve the site plan of a proposed development before rezoning the property to a PD classification.

That original approach was abandoned, however, when city officials became concerned that the approach was too close to conditional zoning which is illegal in Michigan.

As a result, the PD concept is presently being discussed as an option within the zoning ordinance instead of a separate zoning district. Site plan approval would still be required before development could begin, but the city would be on safe legal grounds because the process would be an option which must be selected by the developer.

The incentive to apply for the PD Option, according to proponents, would be the availability of high-rise.

As presently proposed, there will be three classifications under the PD Option: a PD-1, a PD-2, and a PD-3. High-rise buildings of five to 10 stories will be permitted in all three PD classifications if the proposal is officially adopted by the council in its present form.

Adoption of the PD Option will be accompanied by a revision of the city's zoning map. The council apparently intends to designate specific areas for PD Option eligibility. These areas, according to present plans, will be limited to the so-called regional center area around the Twelve Oaks Mall.

The PD-1 Option will be permitted in RM-1 (multiple family residential) districts and is, in essence, designed for high-rise multiple family residential developments, or apartment buildings.

The PD-2 Option will be permitted in OS-1 (office service) districts and is designed for high-rise office buildings.

The PD-3 Option will be permitted in RC (regional center) districts and is designed to provide for commercial uses such as convention centers, hotels, auditoriums, and assembly halls.

Definition delays wetlands law

Commerce Township officials met again last week to discuss a proposed wetlands protection ordinance, but ran into problems coming up with a definition of what constitutes a wetland.

According to Clerk Robert McGee, the discussion centered around whether the definition should be based on the size of the wetland or should be limited to its characteristics.

In a draft copy of the ordinance, wetlands are defined as "poorly drained lands of two contiguous acres or more that are generally or intermittently covered with water which, by nature of their surface and/or sub-surface soil characteristics, either contribute to the replenishment of sub-surface water supply or are self-contained water resources, including marshes, swamps and bogs as shown in the official wetland map."

Following a recent meeting of the officials, a suggestion was made to "establish a larger size, and reword the definition."

McGee said he wasn't sure when the officials would meet again or how long it would take to complete the review of the draft ordinance for submittal to the Planning Commission and Township Board.

Planning Consultant Steve Lechozky has said he would like to see a wetlands ordinance enacted in conjunction with the zoning ordinance and master land use plan updates that are currently under way.

West Bloomfield Township, which already has a wetlands law, used the same basic definition that is included in Commerce's proposal.

A proposed state law, however, defines wetlands as land that is contiguous to a lake, river or stream that "continuously supports aquatic or semi-aquatic plant species requiring inundated soil conditions for growth and reproduction."

The state proposal also lists the aquatic or semi-aquatic plants and further defines wetland as an area "commonly referred to as a swamp, marsh or bog."

The state House of Representatives is expected to consider the wetlands bill when the legislature returns to Lansing this fall.

Novi Council rejects Brittany rezoning

The Novi City Council July 17 rejected the rezoning request of a 40-acre parcel on the west side of Meadowbrook Road, south of Nine Mile, from R-1 (one-acre lots) to R-3 (90-foot lots) by a 4-3 margin.

Voting to reject the request were council members Bob Schmidt, Jim Shaw, Ron Watson and Guy Smith and in favor were Pat Karevich, Martha Hoyer and Romaine Roethel.

The matter had been brought before the council twice before. On June 12, the matter was delayed because Brittany Corporation officials, the developers of the project, would not be able to attend.

On June 19, the council deadlocked 3-3, with Mayor Romaine Roethel absent.

The deciding vote July 17 was that of Councilmember James Shaw who switched from a yes vote June 19 to a no vote.

The land in question had earlier been sought for R-4 zoning, but the council also rejected that rezoning request.

Norman Gallant, representing Brittany Building, said the character of the surrounding areas had already been established and that an R-3 zoning should be acceptable.

Gallant said R-1 is not the proper zoning for the land.

"You can't develop with one-acre lots and have a decent plan," Gallant told the council. "We've got the only decent plan you could get."

Jerome Howie, 41251 Lewellyn, said he agreed with Gallant that the character of the area had been established, but that the character called for R-1, instead of R-3, zoning.

Howie said he would like to see the council reject the rezoning request to maintain the rural atmosphere of that area.

Also speaking against the rezoning was William Chase, owner of the property to the west and southwest of the land proposed for rezoning.

Chase noted there were plenty of developers willing to build on the land with R-1 zoning.

Councilmember Ron Watson stated the proper rezoning for the parcel might be for the new R-2A zoning which has not yet been finally adopted by the council. The R-2A falls in between R-2 and R-3 zoning.

Councilmember Bob Schmidt said he thought the people who had bought property surrounding the parcel had purchased with the idea that the land would remain zoned R-1.

Roethel named chairman

John Roethel has been elected chairman of the Novi Planning Board for the 1978-79 year.

Other officers elected by the board for 1978-79 were Vice chairman Donald Gleason and Secretary Gary Roberts. Both Gleason and Roberts were re-elected to the positions they held last year.

Roethel, an attorney with the Ford Motor Company, was recently appointed by the city council to fill one of three vacancies on the planning board.

The vacancies were created by the expiration of the terms of Chairman Robert Bretz, Leonard Marszalek, and Roberts.

Bretz did not seek re-appointment to the planning board, and the council named Roethel, Roberts, and Joseph Toth to fill the three vacancies. Roethel is not a newcomer to the position of planning board chairman, however. He previously served on the planning board from July, 1971, to September, 1976. He served as planning board chairman for four-and-a-half years during his previous term on the board. He resigned from the board in September of 1976, citing increased professional demands associated with his job.

Roethel has served on the city's Zoning Board of Appeals since his resignation from the planning board.

Roethel is the husband of Mayor Romaine Roethel.

All planning board officers were elected unanimously.

Commerce Township officials met again last week to discuss a proposed wetlands protection ordinance, but ran into problems coming up with a definition of what constitutes a wetland.

According to Clerk Robert McGee, the discussion centered around whether the definition should be based on the size of the wetland or should be limited to its characteristics.

In a draft copy of the ordinance, wetlands are defined as "poorly drained lands of two contiguous acres or more that are generally or intermittently covered with water which, by nature of their surface and/or sub-surface soil characteristics, either contribute to the replenishment of sub-surface water supply or are self-contained water resources, including marshes, swamps and bogs as shown in the official wetland map."

Following a recent meeting of the officials, a suggestion was made to "establish a larger size, and reword the definition."

McGee said he wasn't sure when the officials would meet again or how long it would take to complete the review of the draft ordinance for submittal to the Planning Commission and Township Board.

Planning Consultant Steve Lechozky has said he would like to see a wetlands ordinance enacted in conjunction with the zoning ordinance and master land use plan updates that are currently under way.

West Bloomfield Township, which already has a wetlands law, used the same basic definition that is included in Commerce's proposal.

A proposed state law, however, defines wetlands as land that is contiguous to a lake, river or stream that "continuously supports aquatic or semi-aquatic plant species requiring inundated soil conditions for growth and reproduction."

The state proposal also lists the aquatic or semi-aquatic plants and further defines wetland as an area "commonly referred to as a swamp, marsh or bog."

The state House of Representatives is expected to consider the wetlands bill when the legislature returns to Lansing this fall.

Lakes Area Special in jeopardy

service was started in April, 1977 to replace a full-size bus that was dropped due to poor ridership, McConnell said the regional transit authority never asked the local units of government for an agreement.

Arrangements for the van service were made with the Lakes Area Transportation Commission.

The first mention of a contract came this spring, McConnell said, after the communities agreed to pay $54 each for the Dial-A-Ride service for the first 15 months. When the communities balked at making that payment, at the request of McConnell and Dennis Murphy, SEMTA officials came up with a pact to obligate the municipalities to pay for the service, at a rate of some $120 a month, until the Oakland County Advanced Reservation Transit (OCART) system is ready for operation.

Four of the communities refused to approve what they described as an open-ended contract, prompting SEMTA to come back with an agreement that runs until the start of OCART or no later than December 31.

Local officials were not told about SEMTA's one-third local share policy until April, McConnell said, when they received the first draft of the contract. McConnell charged that, in order to "cover up their mistake" of never having a contract with the units of the government, SEMTA came back with the proposal for continued local funding of the program for the period after July 1.

The $130 a month is not the major issue, McConnell said, adding that, since Oakland residents are paying additional license fees and transfer taxes on vehicles to contribute to a state mass transit fund, county residents are being double-taxed by SEMTA.

"This is a rip-off," McConnell said, "and a matter of principle."

County officials had asked SEMTA to approve a contract for OCART, effective July 1, with the Lakes Area Special as the first vehicle in the county-wide Dial-A-Ride system.

Salei has said, however, that that couldn't be done because the state legislature has not approved the governor's transportation package, which includes $2.7-million for the OCART system, and since state transportation officials wouldn't release the funds anyway because the OCART buses are not available for service.

The buses are on order, McConnell said, and should be ready by mid-October or early November. County officials also studied the possibility of covering the one-third net local share for the Lakes Area Special, McConnell said, but discovered that there are 17 other Dial-A-Ride programs in Oakland that are funded on the two-thirds SEMTA, one-third local shares.

McConnell said he has contacted two of Oakland's three representatives on the SEMTA board of directors to express his concern over the one-third local funding policy.

"We just want to make sure that our county gets its proportional share of the monies we're paying into the state transportation funds," he added.

Vowing that he would take the matter to the SEMTA board along with a request for the agency's 100-percent funding of OCART, McConnell said Salei admitted that the request for a contract with the local units of government was an "administrative mistake."

Village President John McLellan asked the commissioners if they would like a resolution from the council, urging the county's withdrawal from SEMTA.

McConnell explained that County Executive Murphy vetoed a similar withdrawal move this spring, but added that the county board has indicated that, if they are dissatisfied with the SEMTA plan for mass transit in southeastern Michigan, the matter will be brought up again.

Reverend King charged the FBI was cooperating with violence-prone local police to fight the civil rights movement.

After hearing King's testimony, the late Senator Philip Hart of Michigan remarked, "My notion was that they (the FBI) would have somebody in a crowd in order to be able to report planned violence and as a result, prevent the violence which was occurring. I was dumb to realize that your presence in there did not prevent the violence and indeed, maybe contributed to it."

Walled Lake, Commerce eye recreation grants

Walled Lake and Commerce have been asked to file formal applications for 1978 federal Land and Water Conservation Fund grants administered by the U. S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Outdoor Recreation and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Under the program, local units of government may receive a 50-percent federal grant for the construction or improvement of tennis courts, campgrounds, playgrounds, nature trails and picnic areas.

The deadline for applications has been set for September 1, according to Commerce environmentalist Dan Shapiro, and the grant awards are expected to be announced in October when $5- to $6-million in federal funds is released to the state.

Walled Lake received pre-application approval for a $15,000 magic square that would be built in Sims Park, according to Cicely Brookover, chairperson of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

The multi-purpose asphalt surface may be used for basketball, tennis and other activities during the summer. Mrs. Brookover said, and can be flooded in the winter for use as an ice skating rink.

Walled Lake's parks commission has included its $7,500 lake share of the cost in its 1978-79 budget, she added.

Commerce has applied for a $7,100 grant, which would be matched by the township's federal community development act funds, to repair fences, install bleachers and buy playground equipment for Bicentennial Park, located behind Township Hall on Fisher Avenue.

The seven-and-one-half-acre park was developed two years ago with some $25,000 in community development act monies. Last year, the township was awarded a $6,200 federal grant for the construction of an outdoor shelter.

Shapiro said the DNR reviewed the pre-applications, which were due March 15, to determine eligibility for the federal funds. He said approval of the pre-application indicated that the project has a good chance for funding. Some 400 local units of government submitted pre-applications for this year's grant program, according to Dennis Adams, of the DNR's Office of Budget and Federal Aid.

Board approves family lunches

The innovative Novi Woods Elementary School has one more innovation for the kids next year — family-style lunches.

Family-style lunches differ from the usual school lunch in that the kids are seated at a regular table and help themselves to however much food they want, rather than being given identical portions of food.

The new system reportedly cuts down on the waste involved with school lunches dramatically. At one elementary school using the program, waste was reduced from 3.7 ounces per child to 0.7 ounces per child.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz said implementation of the new lunch program at the Novi Woods school would be on a pilot basis and, if successful, would be implemented in the other two elementary schools in the district.

Novi Woods already is the only school in the district to use the open classroom concept.

Kratz said children at the Village Oaks Elementary School throw away more food than children at other elementary schools, according to a study conducted by school officials.

Kratz reported a great deal of milk was thrown away.

"They never throw away Twinkies, though," Kratz noted.

School Psychologist Peter Karr said the family-style lunches are being used in the Title I Program at the Novi Woods school this summer and it has worked fine.

Assistant Superintendent William Barr reported a school he worked at 24 years ago started a similar program, but state officials came by after three or four months and said it was against state regulations. Those rules have apparently changed, Barr said.

To implement the program, the school will have to purchase two serving carts for $150 apiece and three dozen serving spoons for $165. But the school anticipates saving $320 by not having to purchase the 16 dozen compartment trays which would otherwise be required.

Novi Woods Principal Roy Williams has suggested the program begin in the fall with one or two tables and then gradually be enlarged as the children learn to use it.

The program will be evaluated in the spring of 1979 for plate waste using data from the 1977-78 plate waste study at Novi Woods. It will also be evaluated for student behavior and general satisfaction of the program.

Denny's Restaurant wins approval

Novi's Planning Board has paved the way for construction of a new Denny's Restaurant in Novi by granting preliminary site plan approval at its July 12 session.

The new Denny's Restaurant will be located on approximately 1.4 acres of land at the southeast corner of Novi Road and the south entrance drive to the Twelve Oaks Mall.

The restaurant will be located immediately next to the new Sherwin's Shoe Store already under construction at that location.

The only objection to the proposed site plan raised by the planning board involved the proposed driveway into the restaurant from the entrance road.

Planner Edward Dobek stated that cars coming in from Novi Road would have to make a 180 degree turn in order to get into the restaurant.

"I don't think there's enough room for cars to get in there safely," commented Dobek. "I think we're going to have all kinds of traffic problems if we approve the driveway on this site plan."

Planner Roger Everett noted that the driveway was also intended to serve the Sherwin's Shoe Store and that the planning board had previously approved the driveway on the Sherwin's Shoe Store site plan.

"The problem with the driveway already exists," stated Everett. "We would only be compounding the problem by adding more traffic by approving the site plan for Denny's Restaurant."

Planning Board Chairman John Roethel noted that there was a 90 degree turn into the shoe store, but the turn into the proposed restaurant was 180 degrees.

City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Villac-Leman stated that the driveway was 40 feet wide and should be of sufficient width to permit a car to make the 180 degree turn.

The planning board subsequently voted unanimously to give preliminary site plan approval for the proposed Denny's Restaurant. Final site plan approval will be granted by the board's site plan committee.

Construction of the Denny's Restaurant is slated to begin this year.

Walled Lake schools eye student smoking problem

Walled Lake's Board of Education has directed the administration to form a committee which will be charged with finding a solution to student smoking problems at Walled Lake Central High School.

The action came as a result of a grievance processed by the Walled Lake Education Association (WLEA) about the smoking problem at Central.

WLEA Uniserv Director Bill Parker told the board at a special grievance hearing on June 26 that the administration had violated the section of the Master Contract which requires the board to keep the schools properly maintained and cleaned "according to established standards of the school district."

Parker stated further that there were obvious problems associated with the designated smoking areas in that student smoking, because of its widespread use, pollutes the air in the building and interferes with classroom instruction.

The grievance filed by 27 Central high school teachers also maintained that the smoking areas are a nuisance and possibly a threat to health.

The grievance was denied by the school board at its July 10 session, but Trustee Leo Wessinger said that he felt steps must be taken to resolve the smoking problems in the high school even though he did not believe there had been a violation of the Master Contract.

Specifically, Wessinger stated that he would like the administration to designate a new smoking area on the high school grounds. In addition, he proposed that the administration appoint a committee of two students, two parents, two administrators, two board members, and two teachers to come up with a solution to the problem by October. The committee is to be evenly divided between smokers and non-smokers.

Wessinger's directives were unanimously approved (6-0) by the school board.

John Shadford, a teacher at Central, told the board at the grievance hearing that student smoking is disrupting the educational process. He reported that there have been three examples during the past year when students were smoking during what he considered a class.

Robert Erwin, another Central teacher, told the board that students congregate in large groups and that there is some disregard for the area. He stated that there has been considerable vandalism, such as broken windows, as a result of the smoking area. He reported further that students in the smoking area bang on the walls and occasionally throw cigarette packages through classroom windows when the teacher isn't looking.

President Betty Campton noted that the problem is a difficult one to resolve.

"The law says that no one under 18 may smoke, but regardless of the law it does not come to grips with the problem. Do we want to suspend students for two or three days for smoking a cigarette," she asked.

Trustee Warren Williams stated that he was totally opposed to students smoking in school, but that he had no solutions to the problem.

Williams also said that he felt changing the location of the designated smoking area would lead to some improvement. "I believe we have been lax in part in enforcing the smoking regulations," he added.

Trustee Robert Cooper stated that whatever policy the board adopts must be lawful. "Sixteen and 17 year olds will not be permitted to smoke on school property," he said.

Novi Board approves student insurance plan

The Novi School Board July 13 approved the purchase of insurance for students in the system.

The cost of the insurance is $1 per student, based upon the fourth Friday count. Students new to the district after the fourth Friday count would automatically be afforded the benefits of the program without any additional cost.

Members of the board discussed it in light of the costs of caring for injuries.

Superintendent Gerald Kratz reported that the school had one serious injury last year — a boy who broke his arm. Kratz reported insurance had paid $1,400 for the care of the injury.

The insurance policy provides benefits to all students while attending school during the hours and on the days when school is in session; traveling directly and uninterrupted to or from the student's residence as defined in the policy, but not more than one hour before school begins or an hour after school ends.

The policy also includes participating or attending school-sponsored and school-supervised activities, including all sports and school activities during the school term.

The insurance only pays benefits where other insurance leaves off. If no other insurance is available, the plan will pay from the first dollar of expense.

Novi subdivision receives planning board approval

Tentative preliminary plan approval for the Pebble Ridge Estates Subdivision has been granted by the Novi Planning Board.

The proposed subdivision will contain 46 lots on approximately 32 acres of land on the east side of Wixom Road between Ten and 11 Mile Roads.

The subdivision is to be developed under its existing R-3 zoning designation which requires minimum lot size of 12,000 square feet and minimum lot width of 90 feet.

City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns of Villac-Leman told the planning board, however, that the smallest lot in the subdivision is one-half acre. The larger lots are necessary because city sewer and water are not available at that location.

The homes will be serviced by wells and septic tanks.

The planners subsequently voted 8-0 to grant tentative preliminary plan approval.

As We See It

SEMTA officials must bear blame

Three weeks ago in this space, we blamed County Commissioners Robert McConnell and Dennis Murphy for causing the confusion over local funding of the Lakes Area Special Dial-A-Ride service that threatened to jeopardize the program.

We would like to retract that editorial and fix the blame where it properly belongs — at the feet of the bureaucrats who run the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

SEMTA officials recently gave the Wolverine Lake Village Council an ultimatum to approve a contract for its one-third local share of net operating expenses for the 12-passenger van by July 12 or the service would be discontinued.

At the urging of McConnell and Murphy, village officials last week rejected the contract, which called for payment of some $130 a month, because local government officials were never asked to approve the Lakes Area Special program when it began in April, 1977. The village officials also noted that, since Oakland County residents are paying higher license plate and transfer tax fees to add to state transportation costs, local funding of the Dial-A-Ride program which is supported with state monies funneled through SEMTA, they are faced with double taxation for the service.

Plan merits caution

The word "multiples" seems to trigger a set response among members of the Wixom City Council. And that response is invariably negative.

The response is not unwarranted. Although a number of fine single family residential developments have been constructed in Wixom, the bulk of residential housing in the city in recent years involves the Indian Lodge and The Village Apartments. But as it continues to grow, we can foresee a time when the feeling of "openness" produced by a golf course could be beneficial to the aesthetics and character of the city.

The developments do serve the purpose of providing affordable housing for new residents in the city, but neither development has ever been cited for its aesthetic qualities. In addition, city officials are abundantly aware of the demand for services — whether garbage collection or police and fire protection — produced by Indian Lodge and The Village.

A Southfield-based firm has recently announced plans to construct a major development that would include a mixture of residential and commercial uses on a 400-acre parcel on Pontiac Trail at the west end of the city.

According to the proposal, the development would include single family and multiple housing, several commercial uses, a golf course, and other recreational uses such as a community center, swimming pool, and tennis courts.

Although we understand the reticence of city officials to accept additional multiple family hous-

Following the Village Council's action, SEMTA officials announced that the bus service will be terminated this Friday (July 21), but may be resumed, if the four other communities — Commerce, Novi, Walled Lake and Wixom — agree to pick up the village's share.

Meanwhile, SEMTA General Manager Larry Salci told Commerce Supervisor Robert Long that the service would not be terminated until at least July 31, when Long is due back from vacation and apparently would have time to try to resolve the problem.

Repeated efforts by this newspaper earlier this week to clarify the obviously different versions of the Dial-A-Ride scenario that have been offered since last Wednesday were unsuccessful.

There is a definite need for public transportation in transportation-poor western Oakland County. The Lakes Area Special had an average monthly ridership of almost 1,000 passengers, half of whom were senior citizens. The ridership, we are told, was virtually at capacity for the van.

We hope that the termination of this much-needed service, if, in fact, it comes to that, is only temporary.

ing, we would suggest that a somewhat more flexible attitude toward multiple family housing could be beneficial.

Multiples, if properly planned and controlled, can be advantageous.

The element of the proposed 400-acre development that we find interesting is the proposed golf course. Wixom does not lack "open space" at the present time. But as it continues to grow, we can foresee a time when the feeling of "openness" produced by a golf course could be beneficial to the aesthetics and character of the city.

In order to achieve the "open space," we do not consider it an unreasonable trade-off to grant a developer some additional density in the form of multiple family housing.

Additionally, the city should be abundantly aware of the cautions sounded by Councilman Dennis Andrews as it reviews the proposal. Andrews has expressed concern that the single family residential and recreational use proposals may disappear from sight after the multiple and commercial portions of the project have been completed.

We share Andrew's skepticism whenever a developer starts talking about phased development over a 10 to 20 year period.

We believe the city council should adopt a somewhat less headline attitude toward multiple family residential development. At the same time, however, it should proceed with all due caution.

In this day and age of equal rights, women should assume this includes the "right" to pay alimony. We cannot pick and choose (and discard) the painful rights that have thus far been the inherent property of men.

Now, I'm not advocating a complete about face in regard to alimony. Simply because ex-husbands have had to shoulder this monetary burden for years (I'm sure the precedent was set by some benevolent judge who was trying to do women a favor) does not mean that women should have a turn for a few hundred years.

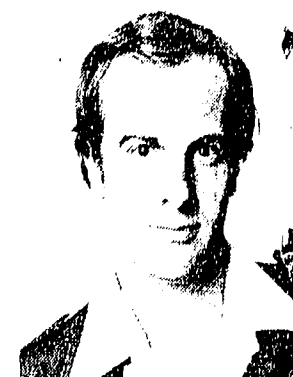

Alimony should be granted to the party in reasonable need. This need should not be biased in favor of either sex. If the woman is in the financially superior position and the man has the need for financial assistance, then she should be subject to paying alimony. If both parties are financially secure, the need for alimony is nullified.

Divorces, like marriages, are all different. There should be no hard and fast, female versus male, rules or traditions to cover this area.

Trusting in the enlightenment of the judiciary in regard to equality and fairness in the area of alimony, I believe women had best be willing to pay up.

Speaking for Myself

Alimony for men?

RICH PERLBERG

NO . . .

Alimony for men? It's got a nice ring to it and, at first glance, it seems to be a logical conclusion of women's quest for long overdue equal rights.

Unquestionably, if women are to have equal rights, they must bear the concomitant responsibility. Few advocates of women's rights, I believe, will argue that point.

But is alimony necessarily part of that responsibility? I think not.

For the woman who sacrificed her own career in deference to her husband's, there is little doubt that she is entitled to alimony in the event of a divorce. The marriage was a partnership where the husband was able to pursue his career because his wife was willing to shoulder not some, but all, of the domestic chores.

Besides, tradition and male chauvinism made it difficult for a woman of equal ability to be as financially successful as her husband.

But, males, by and large, have not faced the same roadblocks. Just because a woman earns a higher salary is not justification for alimony payments to her husband if they divorce.

If the two both have careers, all things being equal, there is no reason why each cannot continue to live on his or her individual wages after the separation.

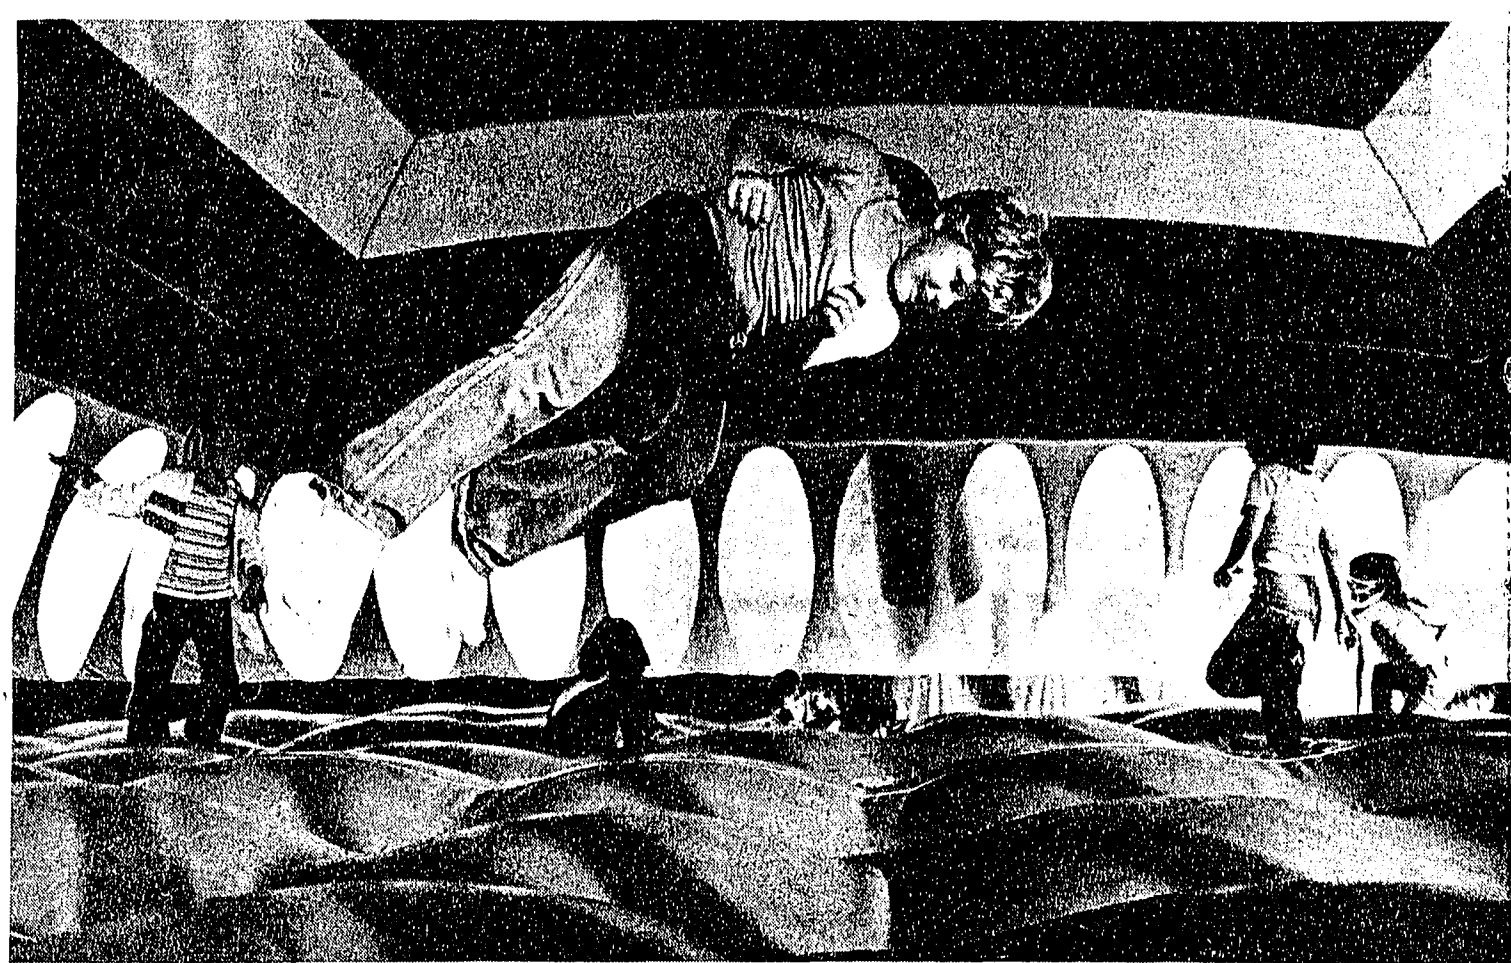

As for alimony for men, the prospect for an attractive divorce settlement should not be the basis for a marriage.

A liquor license is a valuable thing. Not just because it gives you access to an unlimited number of screwdrivers and Harvey Wallbangers, either. It's worth money.

In Novi, the licenses are worth more probably than they are in most any other place you could think of. At the moment of this writing, there are no liquor licenses available in the City of Novi. Not a one.

Which is why I bring to you the following tale about how the A-Train Bar got its liquor license. To tell you the truth, it's not the only thing that brought the A-Train to my attention, seeing as the fire at the A-Train vaulted it into the limelight for a few moments last week. After the fire, I heard a little scuttlebutt about the bar and discovered that it was a peculiar conception indeed that the A-Train enjoyed.

The A-Train liquor license is in Novi Township right now and will be until the city officially takes over the land sometime in October. The odd thing about it is, some say the A-Train may never have become the A-Train had not Bob Ronk, the present proprietor of the Wagon Wheel Lounge in Northville, applied to the Novi township Board for a liquor license in July of 1971.

Ronk told board members he had an agreement to purchase some land from an Arnold Aronoff on Grand River Avenue just east of Wixom Road. He said he wanted to construct a motel-restaurant there Ronk said the township board members "half-agreed" with him, but then Township Attorney Emery Jacques said, no, you've got to come back at the next meeting with proof of purchase of the land.

Ronk said okay and tried to get ahold of Aronoff. No luck. Aronoff would not return his calls. At the next township board meeting, Emery Jacques resigned his position as Township Attorney and 15 minutes later won approval for a liquor license — on the same piece of property that Ronk had been negotiating for earlier.

A newspaper report of the incident notes "Attorney Jacques admits the circumstances appear suspicious, but he insists it's simply a matter of coincidence."

Jacques claimed he had made an offer to Aronoff four days before Ronk had ever appeared before the board.

"I can understand what Ronk is thinking, that I ran out after the meeting at which he first appeared and manipulated to get this property, but that is just not the case. I had made the contact weeks before he appeared before the board."

I talked with Ronk a few days ago and his opinion of the whole situation has changed very little.

"I figure it was all a bunch of bull....," Ronk comments. "But that is all part of the past now. An arson's law has laid claim to the building and the liquor license goes in escrow, with nary a screwdriver or Harvey Wallbanger to its name."

Ray's Say

By David Ray

June 19 was Independence Day for Wolverine Lake Village, Council President John McLellan announced at last week's Village Council meeting.

On that date, Governor Milliken signed HB-4030, the charter township annexation bill, into law. Under the new statute, which was given immediate effect, certain unincorporated charter townships were guaranteed protection of their boundaries from annexation requests by home-rule cities and villages.

Commerce Township, which apparently meets the criteria to protect its boundaries, already (on June 1) had taken the first step toward obtaining charter status, and that meant an alternative to the State Boundary Commission's order for Commerce, the village and West Bloomfield Township subdivision to incorporate as a new city.

Village residents and officials have opposed cityhood with Commerce because the community has more municipal services, paid for out of an eight-mills property tax on top of the township's 1.41-mills levy, and has its own identity with Wolverine Lake.

Township officials, before HB-4030 became law, felt they had little alternative to cityhood. If Commerce did not incorporate, it stood a chance to lose most of its industrial and commercial base, in the area generally south of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks, to two annexation requests from Walled Lake that are pending before the boundary commission.

Commerce Supervisor Robert Long has said that, although he would prefer to have the township remain a general law township, there was little choice other than to seek cityhood, especially since approval of Walled Lake's annexation petitions could have paved the way for other communities, such as Wixom, to request portions of Commerce.

He also noted that the Commerce residents who applied for cityhood did not include the village in their request. Wolverine Lake Village and the Peninsular Park Subdivision in West Bloomfield were added to the proposed new city by the boundary commission's order.

Since no one has challenged the township board's resolution of intent to change its status, it appears that Commerce will become a charter township on September 12.

McLellan said that resolution of the long-standing challenges to the village's autonomy will enable the council to turn its attention to other matters that have been on the back burner while the cityhood issue was fought through the courts.

A first, but highly symbolic, indication of the village's independence, McLellan said, will be a request of federal Postal Service officials to allow village residents to use a mailing address of "Wolverine Lake Village, Michigan 48068."

The ZIP code is assigned to Walled Lake, but permission to use the village's name will be important to Wolverine Lake residents, he said.

However, McLellan noted that village independence also means that Wolverine Lake, as a separate governmental entity, may not be able to use the "double taxation" argument when an organization requests funds for a special service.

Ironically, the village president was the first person to raise the double taxation issue back in May when the Community Employment Service asked for a donation to continue its work.

McLellan noted that village residents also received a petition from residents of Oakview, between Glengary and Bridge street, for the paving of their street.

Village President John McLellan was authorized to come up with plans for the improvement and to create a special assessment district to pay for the work.

Public hearings on creating the district and spreading the assessment roll must be held.

Vandalism: A perpetual problem for local police

By Kevin Allen

The destruction of 40 new fence posts at Sims Park plus the loss of two more of Walled Lake's few remaining American flags last week prompted City Council members to complain that vandalism seems to be on the upswing in the area.

A survey of the local police departments shows there has been a slight increase in malicious destruction in Walled Lake, yet, at the same time, vandalism reports in Wixom and Novi show little change.

In May, Walled Lake police officers wrote up 17 cases of malicious destruction, compared to 10 for the same month in 1977. The big increase came in April, when police handled 24 reports of vandalism, compared to five in April of the previous year.

"Mostly it's just a case of increased population," said Walled Lake Police Chief Wilford Hook. "If you have an increase in population, you are going to have an increase in this type of activity."

Hook said the end of the school year and the July 4th holiday usually account for the increase in vandalism during this time of year.

Blowing up mailboxes with M-80 fire crackers and abusing the fireworks laws are the most common instances of malicious destruction for the early summer months, according to Hook.

The police chief said the incident at Sims Park, which forced the city to reinstall 40 new fence posts probably could have been prevented with better planning.

"It was a case of kids being upset because the fence was going to stop their minibike riding," said Hook. "So they took their wrath out on the fence posts. They (installers) left those posts in wet cement at night. All they would have had to do was set them in the morning when there would have been someone around all day to watch them."

In Novi, reports of vandalism are actually down from 111 at this time last year to 102 for the same five month period in 1978.

Juveniles running over homeowners' lawns, broken windows, garden destruction, along with fireworks mischief, comprise the bulk of vandalism complaints in Novi, said Police Chief Lee BeGole.

BeGole said complaints this year have varied some over previous years. On June 16, Novi police responded to complaints that someone was throwing eggs and paint on passing cars, which is not one of the more traditional forms of vandalism in Novi, the chief said.

BeGole also noted that "garaging" was slower than normal. Garaging is an organized effort by teenagers, who prey on unsuspecting residents who leave beer in a refrigerator in the garage rather than keeping it in the house.

"That's the only advantage to lowering the drinking age," said BeGole, with a laugh. "Eighteen and 19 year olds used to do most of the garaging. Now they can buy it."

In Wixom, police have actually recorded two less cases of vandalism than for the same period in 1977. For the first five months of this year, there were 31 cases of malicious destruction compared to 33 last year.

Wixom Corporal David Schwanky said often times the statistics don't tell the entire story since vandalism frequently goes unreported.

In all three of the cities, there are city ordinances which make parents responsible to make financial restitution for damage done by their children.

In cases where the perpetrator is an adult, of course, charges can be brought against the suspect.

Those who are caught are usually younger than 18 so they are referred either to the juvenile court for legal action or possibly to youth assistance, if it is his or her first offense and is a lesser offense.

Hook said the only really effective way to prevent malicious destruction, particularly in the city parks, is making your presence known, which often times leads to other problems.

"A lot of it (vandalism) has to do with just having someone around to watch," said Hook, "but, if you have a cop in the park, no one goes."

Novi girl eludes assailant in cemetery attack

In Novi

A 16-year-old Novi girl was attacked in the Oakland Hills Cemetery July 17, but she was not seriously injured.

The girl, an employee of a shop at the Twelve Oaks Mall, was walking to work when she saw a man near Twelve Mile and Novi Roads standing beside a car with its hood up, as if it had broken down.

The girl told police she then decided to take a shortcut through the cemetery to get to the mall. The man called to her and asked her where a gas station was, she reported.

She told him there was a gas station at 13 Mile and Novi Road. He then reportedly asked if there was a phone nearby and she said there probably was one at a nearby bank.

The girl told police the man then placed his arm around her and told her she was "looking good." He then reportedly wrestled with the girl and when she told him she could not breathe, he let go and she ran toward Novi Road to flag down a car.

A van stopped with a couple of men inside and the alleged attacker got into his car and drove away.

Another man stopped and called police.

Police have released a description of the man accused of the assault as a white male, 5-8, 145-150 pounds, slender, dark brown or black hair, 30-35 years old. Police report the man did not have an accent, wore dark pants and was in need of a shave.

The car he drove was believed to be a red Chevy Nova, clean, with possibly some minor damage to the left side.

An adding machine was taken July 16 from the Enamulum Industries on Novi Road.

The machine was valued at $50. Police reported the east side window was broken out.

Officials at the Environmental Products Company along Eight Mile Road reported the loss of $2,157 worth of merchandise July 14.

The officials believe the material was stolen some time the night before.

Armando Rossi, one of the builders of the Turtle Creek Subdivision, was approached by police when they discovered him with a 12 gauge shotgun in a car outside of the subdivision.

Rossi told police there had been several burglaries at the work site and he was just watching the area. Officers confiscated the weapon.

Colonels finish third, Town Pump fourth

Pasquales captures WL tourney title

Pasquales of Lansing took home the first place trophy from the eighth annual Walled Lake Community Education men's invitational softball tournament last weekend with a 15-4 final game victory over runner-up Miller Auto Parts of Redford.

Defending champion Union Lake Colonels finished third in the 16-team field, while Walled Lake's own Town Pump finished fourth.

Pasquales swept to the championship in five straight games, starting with a 15-4 win over Pizza Square. From there the invaders from Lansing bumped off

Walled Lake's York Oxbow 15-6, Ben Powell Truckers 17-4, and Miller Auto

14-13. Miller Auto returned for a rematch and fell to Pasquales again, 15-8.

The third place Union Lake Colonels knocked off a pair of Walled Lake teams in their first two games. In the opener, the Colonels bounced Kennedy Optics, 11-2, and then followed it with a 16-4 win over the Copper Mug II.

Despite Matt Partridge's four homers in their third game, the Colonels watched Miller Auto score twice in the seventh inning for an 18-17 loss.

Round four saw the Colonels pound out 25 hits en route to a 25-16 trouncing of Rogans. In their fifth game, a seven-run second inning was enough to do the damage to defeat Walled Lake's Town Pump, 25-6.

In their sixth tournament game and a battle to advance to the finals, the Colonels never got on track and fell to a barrage of Miller Auto runs for a 31-10 loss. Millers scored four runs in each of the first five innings to put the Colonels away. The loss gave the Colonels the third place finish.

Walled Lake's Town Pump was a pleasant surprise fourth place finisher, and the only Walled Lake team to make it into the final six.

The Pump had to travel the long route through the losers bracket after losing its opening game to Rogans, 22-12. In game two, the Pump knocked off fellow league S & H Fabricating, 13-9. The local squad followed with a 20-5 win over Westland's D & R Auto, and a mild 21-17 upset of Walled Lake's Copper Mug II.

The Pump continued its fine brand of softball with a squeaky 8-7 win over the Ben Powell Truckers to set up its showdown with the Colonels.

Copper Mug II, another local team, slaughtered Northville's Zayti Long 16-1, lost to the Colonels 16-6, beat Holiday Inn 10-6, and finally lost to the Town Pump.

York's Oxbow, also playing in the Walled Lake leagues, picked up wins over Holiday Inn and Zayti Long, but lost to champion Pasquales and Rogans.

Pete Drakos managed a win over Wixom's Model T & T Heritage in between losses to runner-up Miller Auto and Rogans.

Kennedy Optics and S & H Fabricating both lost their first two tournament games and were eliminated.

Colonel outfielder Matt Partridge received the tournament's Home Run King award with nine round trippers, while teammate Mike Turk collected eight.

But probably the nicest thing about the tournament was the weather. Old man sunshine stayed out all weekend, keeping the 36-game tournament on schedule.

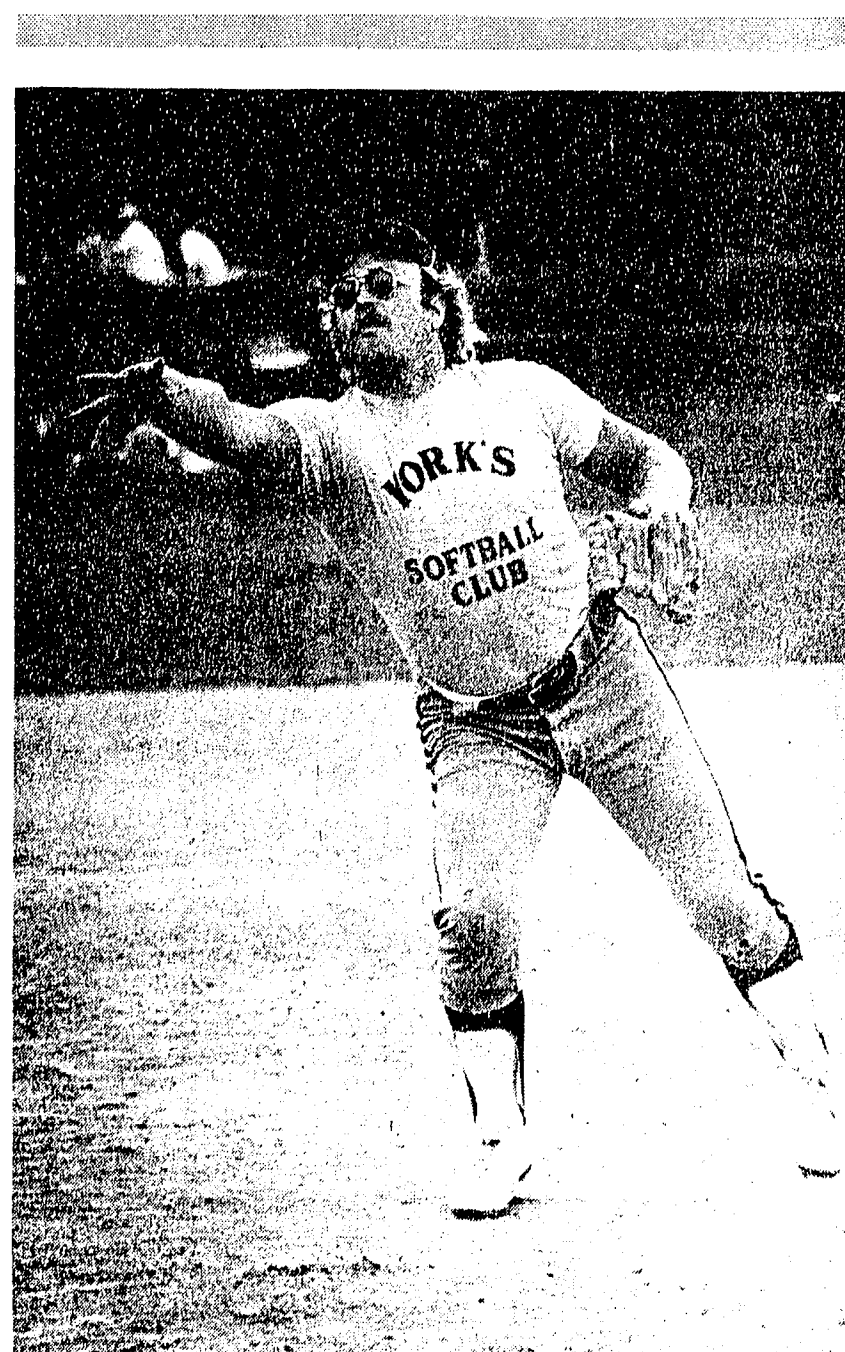

"It didn't dare rain," said tournament director John Slattengren. "I told everybody not to worry about the rain because we wouldn't have any. I was just hoping I would be right."

Colonels win four, widen first place lead

The Union Lake Colonels are running away with the Inde-Water open softball league.

The Colonels, though they haven't won a major tournament yet this season, have compiled a remarkable 29-2 season record in their Monday-Wednesday doubleheader league for a nine game lead over their closest contender.

The latest four victories came in doubleheader sweeps of the Mount Clemens Racquetball club and Little Caesars. The Colonels stopped the Racquetball Club last Wednesday 17-7 and 16-11, and then dropped Waterford's Little Caesars Monday by 25-16 and 21-7 scores.

John Varvari carried the hot bat in Monday night's twin wins by going nine for nine on the evening. Varvari, who usually plays for the Colonels, played for Miller Auto in the Walled Lake tourney and was named the tournament's most valuable player.

In the opener, the Colonels collected 30 hits, led by Marv Gross and Rod Lyons with four apiece, while Jeff Moon and Dan Burt each had two home runs.

In the nightcap, a 12-run second inning was all the Colonels needed for the win. Eight Colonels smacked home runs in the contest, with Mike Turk and Paul Delming hitting two apiece.

In last Wednesday night's action, Colonel Mike Turk collected his 100th season RBI. Turk also leads the Colonels sluggers in home runs and batting average so far this season.

Unreserved seating

Darrin Proulx of Orchard Lake doesn't need bleachers when he attends a softball game. The enterprising — not to mention agile — young man will create his own unreserved seating section. Darrin attended the Walled Lake Community Education Department's softball tourney over the weekend and quickly discovered that the best seat in the house was in a tree.

Kids, teachers enjoy Novi program

By AL SCHULTZ

Amy Gutman keeps an eye on the instructor during the exercises

State gymnastics champions, look out for Novi.

Maybe not next year or the year after, but sometime in the future there'll be some topnotch gymnastics contenders from the Novi area, if gymnastics instructor Ali Hammond is to be believed.

Hammond, an Olympic gold medalist from Lebanon, is currently heading the instruction of several gymnastics classes offered by the Novi Community Education Department. And from the enthusiasm generated by Hammond and everybody involved in the program, some future Nadia Comaneci are inevitable.

"We've got a good group of children and everybody's having fun," said Hammond. "Even the littlest children are excited. I'm very pleased with the turnout."

Hammond and assistants Pamela Jean and Carmen Stalman currently instruct classes for pre-schoolers, beginners, advanced beginners and intermediates at the Village Oaks Elementary School in Novi.

According to Novi Community Education records, almost 100 students are enrolled in Hammond's four classes, a better than expected total according to the instructor.

"For the first year of the program, and the fact that this is a summer program, I'm very pleased," said Hammond. "There are a lot of things going on in the summer, and when there are that many children interested in gymnastics, it is very encouraging."

Hammond isn't the only one encouraged by the enthusiastic turnout of the classes. Community Education officials plan to continue Hammond's gymnastics program in the fall and winter.

The Novi classes are offered to children as young as three-years-old, mentioned Hammond, because that is the age when the child will develop much of his or her coordination.

Hammond and his assistants start the beginner class with a series of exercises including stretches, jumps, and twists. The groups then begin work on somersaults, cartwheels, and handstands. Finally, the class is split into groups for individual instruction on the parallel bars, balance beam, horse, and trampoline.

"The children get enjoyment from this because it's something they don't often get to do," said Hammond. "And they enjoy it to the extent that they practice at home."

This is Hammond's first summer teaching gymnastics in Novi, and from the reaction he's received from students and their parents, he should become a familiar figure.

Hammond won his gold medal in gymnastics at the Middle East Olympics in Cairo, Egypt, in 1964. He taught gymnastics in Lebanon for a few years before moving to America in 1974.

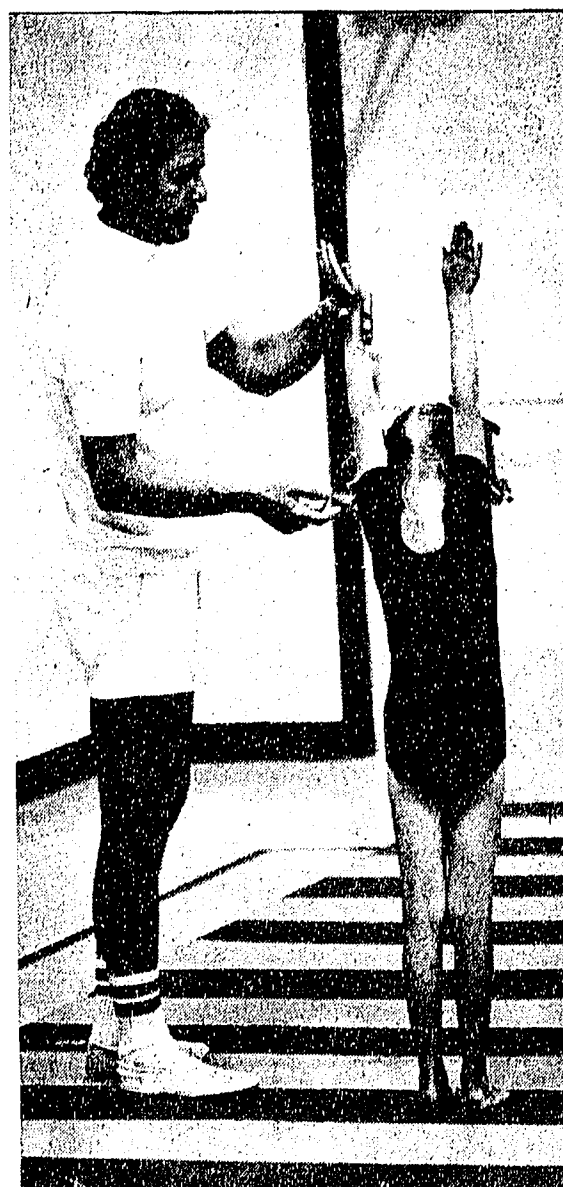

He began working with school systems in Dearborn Heights and Madison Heights two years ago and has now added Novi to his classes.

But although his classes are held at the Village Oaks school in Novi, a few children from the surrounding areas of Northville and Farmington attend.

"The whole thing makes me very happy," said Hammond. "I can't say enough about my assistants, the kids, or the program. And all the smiling faces, look at all the smiling faces."

Hopefully, those smiling faces will turn out to be the precocious gymnasts of Novi's future.

Lake champs crowned

The Lakes Athletic Association wound up its 1978 baseball season with three championship games last Saturday at the Glangery fields. Below are short reports on each of those games.

PINTO

Four pitchers from Jays Dairy Queen combined for a championship shutout win over Cherry Commercial Cleaning. Jeff Kot, Mike Norgrove, Bill Kropp and Greg Hays all teamed for the victory, and Norgrove helped the four-some's cause with a home run.

MUSTANG

Kevin Lee's three run homer was all Weaver's Saw Shop needed for a 3-0 championship win over Mill's Products. The fifth inning blow gave the win to pitcher David Bartone.

BRONCO

Baskin Robbins erupted for 11 runs in the fourth inning to wipe out a 5-1 deficit and coast to a 12-6 championship win over Jay's Dairy Queen. Scott Norris was the winning pitcher.

Szocinski named Warrior girls basketball mentor

Tom Szocinski, former Walled Lake Western boys basketball coach, has recently accepted the position of head varsity girls basketball coach for the Warriors this season.

Szocinski, who also served as junior varsity softball coach, will take the reins left by former coach Sharon Young. Young is not coaching this season in order to complete work on her master's degree.

Szocinski will have quite a coaching job ahead of him as he attempts to rebuild a Warrior girls unit that produced only three wins all last season.

"I don't want to commit myself and say we'll have a super season," he said. "But there is some talent there and we'll win more than we did last year. Our goal will be a .500 season, and that'll be an improvement."

Szocinski enters the job with no girls basketball experience, but states that he'll maintain the tough coaching philosophies that he used in other sports.

"Most of the girls played softball under me," he said. "So they know what to expect. I'll treat the girls just like I've treated the boys in the past and the girls softball team."

This year's Warriors will run a fast break offense and a pressing defense, according to Szocinski. Tryouts for this fall's cage squad will begin August 14th.

"I'm looking forward to it," he says. "I'm confident that we'll do better than last year, but I don't want to promise any miracles. We've got some talent coming back and we've got some good looking sophomores who might help."

Szocinski added that any girls with questions on his program should contact him at 698-4582.

Party Store outplays Firemen

Novi Party Store won two of the three games in the championship playoff against the Novi Firemen to claim the Novi Little League Major League title Monday night.

The Party Store, champions of the Blue Division, stopped unbeaten pitcher Eric Lavery of the Red Division Firemen in the third and final game for the title.

"I've been in this league five years," said winning coach Jim Clancy, "and I've been associated with winners every year, but never have I been more proud of a team than this one. Nobody picked us to win our own division, let alone the whole thing."

"Lavery is undoubtedly the best pitcher in the league and he came into the final game with about eight wins and no defeats. I told the kids that if we were going to be the best, we'd have to beat the best."

And beat the best they did, in a 7-1 fashion with key hitting, smart base running, and good defensive plays in the final game. Although Lavery struck out 12 Party Store batters, the champions sent runners across home plate in three different innings for the win.

The Party Store opened their scoring in the third on a rbi double by Mike Hackett. Scott Frere then stole home for a 2-0 Party Store lead.

After the Firemen came back with one of their own in the third, the Party Store pounced on Lavery for four runs in the fourth inning. The big blows were a two-run single by Jamie Clancy and an rbi triple for Eric Brooks.

"I think that the four run inning really got to them," said Clancy. "I don't think they were mentally capable of catching up."

The Party Store added its final run in the sixth inning on a triple by Scott Frere and a ground out.

Although socked for seven runs, Lavery went the distance for the Firemen. But his 12 strikeouts were overshadowed by the excellent hurling of a pair of Party Store pitchers. Eric Brooks started the game for the Party Store, going three innings and striking out six while allowing three hits. Mike Hackett pitched the final three innings, striking out seven while giving up just one hit.

The stage had been set for the final playoff game when the two teams divided a pair of earlier games.

Lavery threw a three hitter for the Firemen in the opener, as the eventual runner-ups coasted to an 11-1 win. Lavery struck out 13 while teammate Jeff Olson smacked a three-run double in the first inning.

In game two, Brooks and Hackett again combined for a Party Store win, 8-3. This time the mound tandem received help from four two-run singles. Scott Frere, Joe Cripe, Todd Glomb, and Brooks each delivered an rbi blow.

The final game win marked the fifth year in a row that the Novi Party Store has won the major league championship. The Party Store posted an overall 11-5 record, while the Firemen went 13-4. Three of the Firemen's losses have come from the Party Store late in the season.

Members of the champion Novi Party Store team include: Mike Hackett, Eric Brooks, Scott Frere, Steve McBride,

McCabe MVP at cage camp

Mark McCabe of Novi Middle School was named the most valuable player on the Red (East) All-Star team at the Grand Valley basketball camp held June 25-30.

The camp, conducted by Grand Valley coach Tom Villeneuve, attracted some 79 young athletes from across the state.

The players were placed on one of six all-star teams according to ability. McCabe was selected by a vote of the attending coaching staff.

Novi Legion loses four more

The early-season magic is apparently gone from Novi's American Legion baseball fortunes.

The Legion squad, in fact, seemed snakebitten at times last week as they lost four straight games, plunging them into an eight-game losing streak that has them groping in the depths with a 5-11 record this season.

After getting off to a 3-1 lead in the first four innings against Royal Oak last Tuesday Novi fell apart in the fifth and lost 4-3 decision.

Royal Oak scored three times in the top of the fifth on three singles, a walk and an error, and Novi failed to bounce back. Randy Lewis and Keith Crosslin were the only local players with two hits in the game.

One day later Novi stormed back from a late 6-2 deficit against Auburn Heights, but wound up on the losing end of a 10-6, 11-inning marathon anyway.

Sue Weber rapped a three-run homer following singles by Rick Faulkner and Bill Bishop in the sixth, narrowing Auburn Heights' lead from 6-2 to 6-5. Jeff Laverty's two-out single followed by a run-scoring triple by Lewis in the bottom of the seventh sent the game into overtime, but Auburn Heights scored four times in the top of the 11th on three walks and two singles for the win.

Novi then suffered back-to-back losses at the hands of Waterford on Sunday, losing 6-1 and 2-0 in a doubleheader.

Among the team's few bright spots in the two games were Crosslin, who had a double and single in five at-bats and scored Novi's lone run, and Woody Stidham, who singled twice in five at-bats.

Tennis tournament champions named

Mary Jo Goode returns a backhand shot in doubles competition

Tournament director Randy Kibloski has announced the winners of the sixth annual Walled Lake Community Education tennis tournament completed at the Walled Lake Central tennis courts.

Jeff Segnitz took former Walled Lake Central netter Paul Benson in three sets for the men's singles title, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Segnitz won the tourney's most competitive category, as 22 entrants vied for the men's singles crown.

Segnitz teamed up with Paul Felix to better ten other teams to win the men's doubles title. The Segnitz-Felix tandem stopped Tom Gruber and Ray Rody in the finals, 6-1, 6-3.

In the senior men's division (40 and over), George Grisdale bested Walled Lake Western tennis coach Noah Gregory, 6-1, 6-0.

Gregory was runner up again in the mixed doubles competition, as he and partner Cindy Dobb fell to Andrew Budal and Sandra Wormser, 6-2, 6-3.

Walled Lake Central netter Rob Kamenoff came up a winner in the junior division with a whitewash 6-0, 6-0, 6-0 in the finals over Bernie Jodoin.

Women's doubles winners were Barbara Donnelly and Mary Jo Goode with a 3-6, 6-3, 6-2 final win.

"It was a super tournament," said Kibloski, "but I couldn't have run it without all the help I received. I'd like to thank everybody involved, with a special thanks to Noah Gregory who helped out quite a bit."

Caesar's Ron Ford moves to Novi

By MIKE LASH

"Easygoing" might be a suitable description of Ronnie Ford.

"I just liked it out here. It's quiet, it's away from everything, but it's still close," he says in a noticeably southern accent in explaining why he and his wife Libby moved to Novi earlier this month.

Ronnie Ford was born and raised near Baltimore, Maryland, learned championship softball in Jacksonville, Florida, and lived in Mt. Clemens during his first season with Detroit's new professional slow pitch club last summer.

His style hardly seems that of a big-city man, though. He's relaxed, he's amiable, he's close to his family and he thinks he'd like to try out snowmobiling this winter.

He lives in an apartment near Walled Lake and he likes the outdoor life. Easygoing.

But Ronnie Ford isn't so easygoing when he steps into the batter's box on weekend nights these days.

For opposing pitchers, in fact, he's downright hellish.

Ford is the newest of a trio of Detroit Caesars now living in the Novi-Walled Lake area (Rick Trudeau and Norm Cash are the others).

And he's a very good ballplayer. Good enough to be leading the American Professional Slo-Pitch League in home runs this season, and good enough to be hitting .597 for the Caesars, fourth best on a team that boasts the top record in all of professional softball.

Ford first began playing the sport in 1973, when a friend talked him into joining a church league in Maryland.

An All-County baseball player in high school who lettered in practically every sport the school offered ("I liked wrestling best; I wasn't any good, but there wasn't anybody to blame except myself when I did bad"), he went on to play industrial show pitch softball after moving down to Florida a couple of years later.

In 1976 he played leftfield for Jacksonville's Warren Motors and led them to a national championship, batting well over .700 and hitting a remarkable 160 home runs in 96 regular season games. The team itself compiled an astounding 94-2 record during the regular season.

The following spring he got a call "out of the blue" from the Detroit Caesars.

"We were getting ready for a very important series," he recalls, "but I wasn't around long enough to play in it. We flew up to Detroit. Wednesday and signed a contract. It was kind of a shock to everybody."

And the rest is history.

Ford batted .607 in his first year with the Caesars and blasted 47 home runs, finishing second in the league in the latter category. His efforts helped Detroit to the professional slow-pitch world championship in the league's maiden season.

As of last weekend the 23 year old power hitter was leading his year's home run and RBI race, belting 45 homers and 109 RBI's in the team's first 37 games. And that's part of the reason the Caesars currently sport a 31-6 record, tops among the 12 teams in the league.

Still, Ford feels his batting average (.587) could use some improvement.

"I don't think I'm hitting for my average," he says. "I'm having a lot of trouble right now."

But that doesn't mean the husky outfielder isn't putting on some fairly awesome displays at East Detroit's Memorial Park this summer.

Last weekend, for instance, he blasted seven home runs and had 10 RBI's to help the Caesars win three of four games over Pittsburgh.

His parents had driven all the way up from Florida to see him play, and they apparently weren't disappointed. His father, in fact, had to be pretty proud.

Don Ford was a professional player himself in the late '40's. He played first base for three years in the New York Giants' farm system, although he never made it to the majors.

And his feelings about professional softball?

"It's really interesting," he says. "I hope it stays around."

Ron Ford, for his part, figures this is the "break year" for the sport.

"I think if it makes it past this year, it'll be solid for at least another five or six years," he says.

Ford continues power hitting in latest wins

Ronnie Ford of Novi lifted his league-leading home run and RBI totals to 45 and 109 last weekend, helping the Detroit Caesars win three of four games from Pittsburgh.

Ford went 12-for-18 at the plate, had seven home runs and knocked in 12 RBI's. He had three home runs in Friday's series opener, helping Detroit to a 3-25 triumph.

Rick Trudeau of Walled Lake kept his 500 batting average intact with an 8-for-16 performance, including a 3-for-4 showing in the opener.

Norm Cash of Commerce Township, normally a first baseman, made an appearance on the mound in Friday night's second game and helped Detroit to a 2-23 win, in four trips to the plate he had two hits, hiking his average above .300.

The Caesars split Saturday's doubleheader, losing the opener 24-22 but bouncing back for a 25-14 victory in the nightcap. Detroit's record is now 31-6 on the season.

For the second year in a row Oakland County Parks and Recreation, in cooperation with Novi Parks and Recreation, will be sending a series of mobile entertainment units to the area this summer.

schools as part of the local recreation department's summer playground program.

Novi Swim club needs competitors

The Novi summer youth swimming team is looking for some fresh talent to fill out its first year squad in the Northwest Parks and Recreation League.

"We particularly need older swimmers," said Novi Community Education Director Milan Obrenovich. "We have to forfeit all the 15 to 17 year-old races because we don't have anybody in that age group." Obrenovich also stated that the team needs 13-14 year-old swimmers.

The Novi team, under the coaching of Lori Bederka and Kathy Krupic, competes in the eight team Northwest League. The local unit is currently in the "B" division along with Hazel Park, Royal Oak, and Oak Park. Huntington Woods, Clawson, Southfield, and Walled Lake compete in the "A" division.

According to Coach Bederka, the divisions are structured according to skills and experience. Since this is Novi's first summer, it will compete in the lesser skilled "B" division.

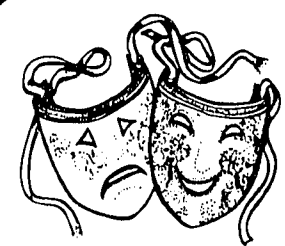

The swimming team is open to any swimmer from age eight to 17, with the lengths of each race varying according to age groups. The eight-year-olds swim 25 yard races, 9-and-up swim 50 yard races, and the 15 to 17 year-olds swim 100 yard races. Each swimmer competes against his own sex and age group.

The Novi team got its summer program under way with a 256-156 loss to Hazel Park. Although the local youngsters battled the Hazel Park crew to a standstill in the younger age groupings, the lack of competitors in the older brackets brought the team to its defeat.

Potpourri of fun

You name it, they've got it

'Hey, mom, can we buy this for our house'

Joe and Irene Pilecki: 'Your cash for our coins'

By STEVE BELL

"I'll sell you this clock for $25," the old man offers.

"$25? Hell, no," comes the retort. "That clock isn't worth $25. I'll give you $21."

"This clock works fine. Can't you hear it ticking?"

"Sure, I can hear it ticking. I'm not deaf."

The argument goes on as it does in a hundred different places in the flea market, where seemingly worthless knickknacks command premium prices, where determined shoppers look for that one item they couldn't find anywhere else.

The flea market is along Walled Lake in what used to be a roller skating rink at the corner of Novi Road and East Lake Drive and is open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Whether it be a pair of glass doorknobs, a peach-colored vase or a mounted 12-point deer's head, it's all available for the asking at the market.

The manager of the market, Marge Moore, says the Walled Lake location is different from other markets in that it is open every weekend. She started it eight years ago to give the many dealers who hawk their wares a place where they can go on a regular basis.

"I thought it would be interesting to get something established where they don't have to run around so much," Mrs. Moore says.

She apparently has met with some success, jumping from 25 dealers when the market first opened to a contingent of 78 dealers today.

The dream of every flea market browser is to find that rare antique, buy it for a few dollars and then resell it for thousands. Mrs. Moore can recall one time when a man purchased a rare sword for just a few dollars at her market to later discover it was worth hundreds of dollars, but she notes this is the exception rather than the rule.

For the most part, items for sale are a potpourri of bric-a-brac and baubles that would look good on a dresser or nightstand in the old homestead. And some that might not be so attractive.

"We have kids who will pay $40 for an empty beer can," says Mrs. Moore.

The atmosphere is relaxed, even though voices do tend to rise when buyers and sellers bicker over the price of an item. But money is not the main motivation behind most of the dealers at the market.

"Sometimes we spend more for gas than we make here," says Joe Pilecki of Highland Park, who, with his wife, Irene, manages to make it out to the market every weekend. The most expensive item the Pileckis have to offer is a dresser that sells for $25.

"We get our stuff from friends and neighbors," Pilecki says. "It can be most anything. You name it. Buttons, baseball cards, sports stuff. It's just junk."

"Antiques they call 'em," Mrs. Pilecki says.

Lawn boosts value

An attractive lawn not only adds beauty to a home, but dollar value to the investment at resale time. Real estate specialists report that homes with attractive well-kept lawns, shrubbery and gardens tend to sell more quickly and at higher prices.

To the prospective buyer, a well-tended lawn establishes a favorable impression of the home even before the house interior is seen.

Healthy shrubs and lawns also mean that the new owner will have to spend less time and money for improving the landscape, an indication of important future savings.

Achieving an attractive home landscape is more than a weekend project, but it need not take a great deal of time. Regular applications of fertilizers recommended for the local area, timely watering, insect and weed control can be done in a limited amount of time with today's lawn care products.

The benefits come with more enjoyable surroundings — and a substantial addition to the value of the home.

Heat saps pesticides

Warm weather garden crops thrive when the mercury rises. The bugs thrive too, however. And high temperatures may make control more difficult.

Entomologists at Michigan State University point out that many chemical pesticides break down rapidly as the temperature increases. This means they are effective for shorter periods and must be applied more often to keep mites and insect pests under control.

Spraying more often is not an easy solution, however. Hot weather increases the chance that pesticides will burn tender plant foliage.

To avoid chemical burn of plant tissues and achieve safe, effective pest control, the MSU experts give these tips on pesticide use:

— Spray when weather reports call for no rain for at least 12 hours.

Spray in the early morning when there is no wind and temperatures are cool. Avoid spraying when temperatures are above 85 degrees or are likely to exceed that in the next few hours.

Use only those pesticides labeled for both the crop and the pest you want to spray. Follow label directions on rates and frequency of application and the number of days between the last spray and harvest.

One look at the fishtail palm (Caryota palm) will tell you how it came by its common name. The arching fronds bear dark green, ribbed segments that do look much like fish tails.

According to Michigan State University horticulturists, the most critical aspect of caring for this plant is watering. It must never be allowed to dry out.

Dear Plant Doctor:

I have heard there is a non-poisonous spray that can be used to eliminate tent caterpillars and inch worms. Can you tell me more about this product?

L.H.—Rochester

Dear L.H.:

In scientific terms, I believe you are referring to Bacillus thuringiensis, which is a bacterial disease and not a chemical insecticide. When a caterpillar eats some of the foliage that has been sprayed with the bacteria, the caterpillars cease feeding and die in a short time. The bacteria is indeed deadly on the caterpillars, but do not expect a quick kill as is common with chemical insecticides. Bacillus is a very safe product because it is only toxic to caterpillars and will not affect other animals in the food chain such as birds, or non-target creatures such as bees. To purchase this product, check gardening supply dealers for Dipel or Thuricide. If you are looking for an ecologically safe insecticide, try Bacillus; however, respect its limitation. Do not expect Bacillus to control other insects such as aphids and beetles.

Dear Plant Doctor:

We have been told that hydroseeding is a superior method to establish a lawn. Can you explain what hydroseeding is?

F.B.—Commerce

Dear F.B.:

The word hydro means water, and hydroseeding is a seeding procedure that sprays a soupy mixture of water, grass seed and wood pulp mulch onto the prepared site. Usually hydroseeding is intermediate in cost between doing your own seeding and sodding. Obviously you don't obtain an instant lawn as with sodding, but you can have a wide range of choices in grass varieties. Since the cellulose mulch holds water like a sponge, hydroseeding is usually more successful for many people than a do-it-yourself seeding.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Last year our birch tree had something attacking the leaves. Sections of the leaves turned brown and papery and we noticed a small worm inside the leaves.

M.T.

Dear M.T.:

The insect that caused your problem was the birch leaf miner. You can eliminate this insect by spraying with Lindane about May 15. However, the most destructive insect to attack birches is the bronze birch borer. The larvae of this insect tunnels in the wood and eventually kills the tree. You can control this insect by again spraying with Lindane on June 7 and again 10 days later. Be sure to spray the trunk and major limbs.

Dear Plant Doctor:

We have a Santa Rosa plum tree that flowers but does not set fruit. What is wrong with the tree? How can we make it set fruit?

G.E.

Dear G.E.:

There is nothing really wrong with your tree. Santa Rosa is a Japanese plum, and it requires another Japanese plum of a different variety for cross pollination. Shiro and Superior could be used as a pollinator. A trick that might be helpful is to remove a flowering branch of another Japanese plum variety and then suspend this branch in your tree so that the bees can spread the pollen.

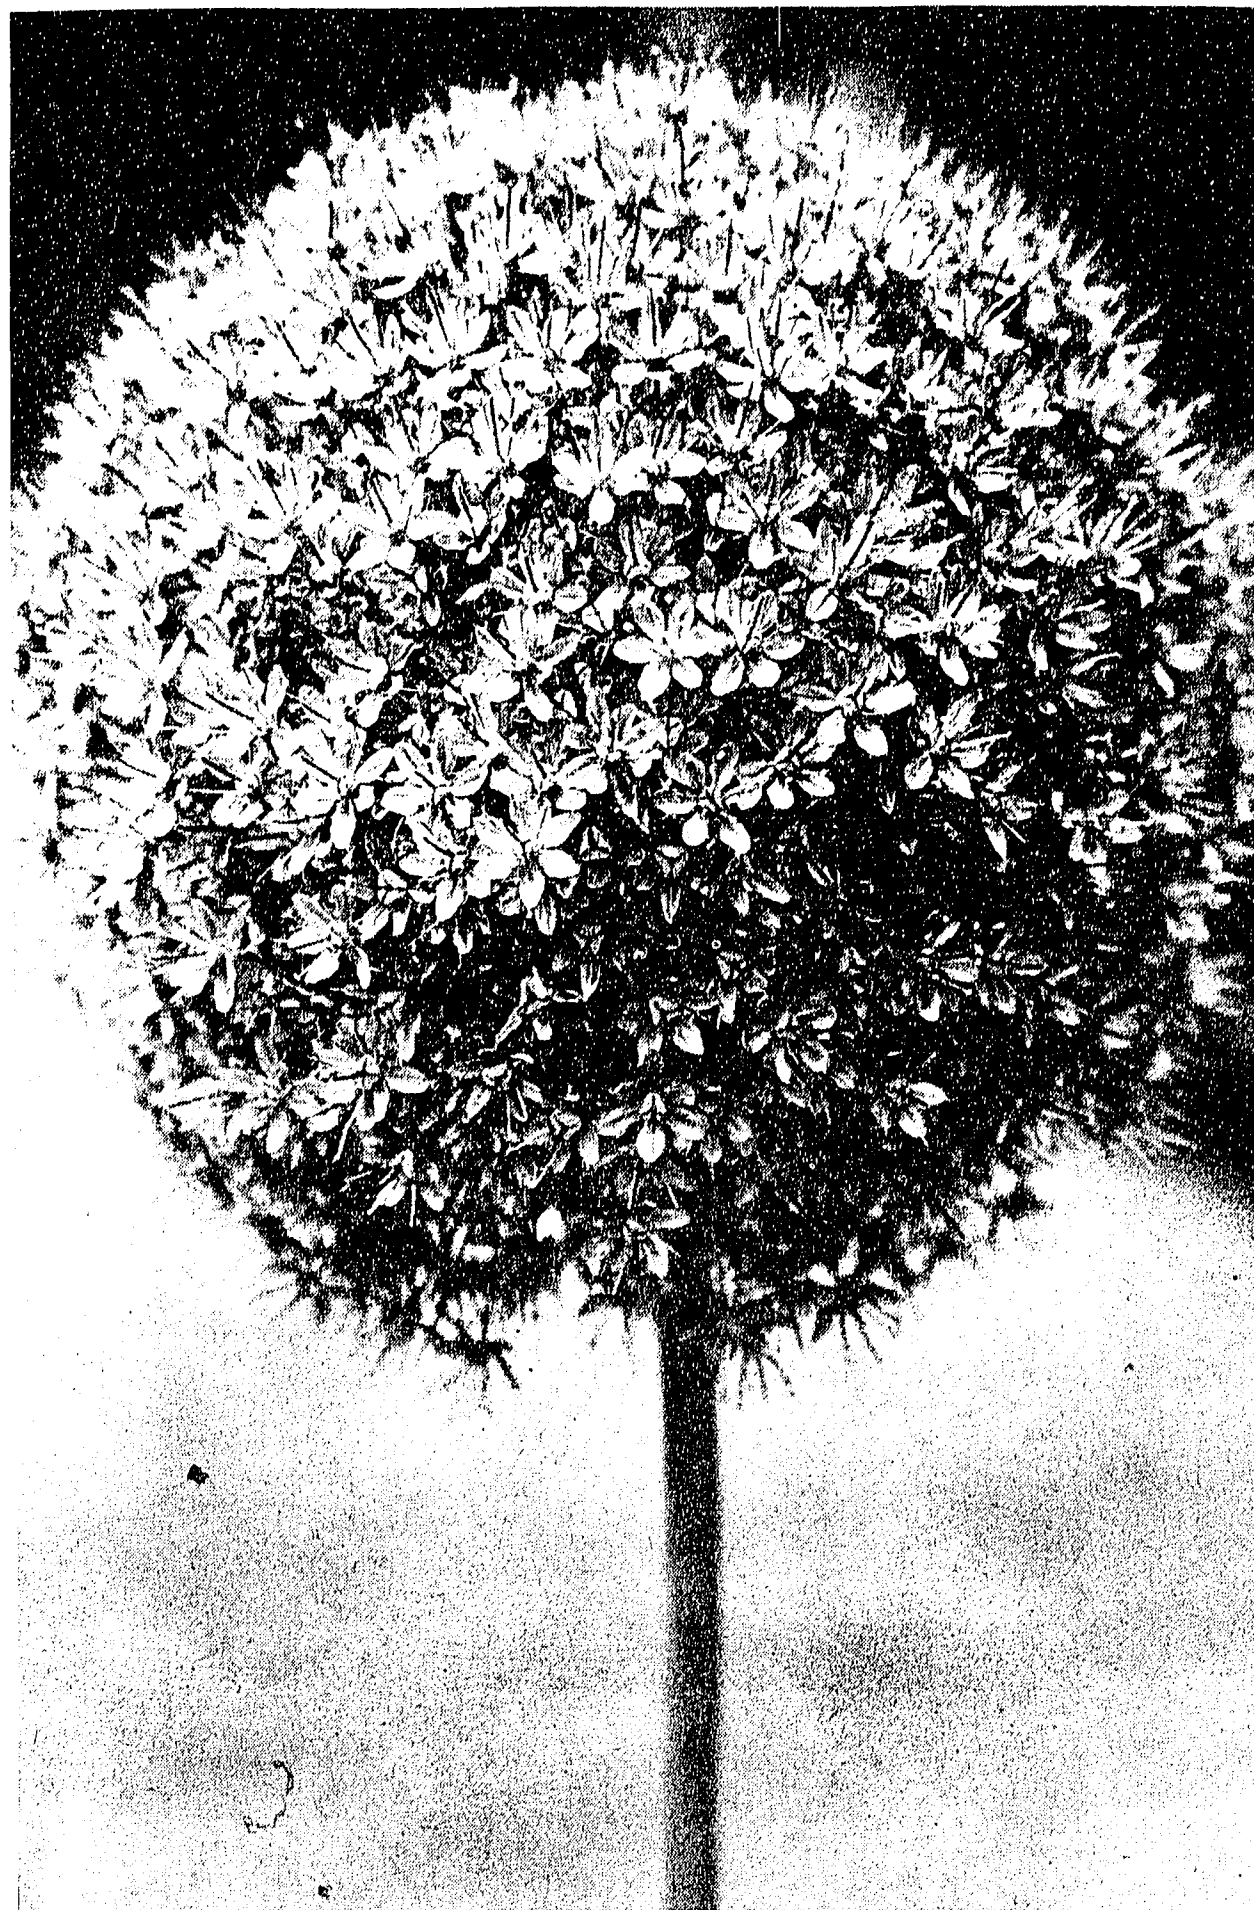

Dear Plant Doctor:

I sprayed our fruit trees four times last year with Malathion and most of the fruit was rotten or wormy. What can we do?

M.Z.

Dear M.Z.:

Unfortunately, four sprays of any spray material are not enough. Also, Malathion will not control all insects nor will it control any of the diseases common to fruit trees. To obtain good fruit you need to spray with a combination of insecticides and fungicides. If you have only a few trees, a prepared home orchard spray available in most garden shops would be the most convenient method. Follow the package directions for application information. If you have more than a few trees, you probably would want to mix your own spray according to the following schedule. Spray weekly from bud swell until bloom with Captan.

Gigantic beauty

Called Giganteum from the Allium family, this perennial highlights any backyard garden. Its large, spherical umbels, six to nine inches in diameter, are composed of hundreds of small star-shaped radiant violet flowers. Its rigid woody stems vary from five to eight feet in height. (Because of its height gardeners should protect it from winds in this area by staking.) It has unsurpassed lasting qualities, making it superb as a cut flower. Bulbs need only to be planted five inches deep and treated like daffodils. It multiplies rapidly, providing an ever-enlarging garden showpiece.

Backyard grape growing

Hilly sites are best

Successful backyard grape growing requires more than a green thumb. Climate, site, variety, growing season, soil depth and pruning all help determine whether grape vines will reach first crop stage (fourth year).

Whether you can grow grapes at all depends on the number of frost-free days in your area, says Stan Howell, viticulturist at Michigan State University. Most grape varieties require a growing season of 180-185 days.

Another essential is a hilly site. "A good site is one that is higher than adjacent areas with sufficient slope to allow drainage of heavy cold air away from vines."

Some varieties — such as Concord and the Minnesota hybrids Alpha and Beta — resist cold better than others. "But cold resistance is not the only characteristic to keep in mind when selecting grape varieties," Howell says. "How you will use your grapes is important, too."

For wine, he recommends one of the French-American hybrids. Concord is good for jam and jelly, juice and fresh eating — if your growing season is long enough.

The soil for grapes should be at least 30 inches deep, well drained and fumigated if it has a history of nematodes from stone fruits.

Shallow soils, which are often made up of heavy clay or hardpan, may drain poorly and make root penetration extremely difficult.

If you suspect nematodes are present in the soil, have a soil analysis done. Howell advises. Nematodes carry many viruses that can severely weaken or kill grape vines.

Pruning is the most important cultural factor for good grape growing, because it directly influences yield, fruit quality, vine vigor, and vine and bud hardiness. A labor-intensive process, pruning must be done each year during the dormant period.

Wait until all chance of frost has passed, then prune all but a few select buds, Howell advises. The first year after planting, train the canes along the bottom tier; the second year, bring them up from the bottom to the second wire. All fruit should be removed so that the growth goes into filling the trellis. The fourth year should be the first crop harvest year.

If you plant dormant plants, mid-April is the time to do it. The soil is warm, workable and not too wet.

Grapes require a complex insect and disease control program. Consult your county Extension office for a spray program.

Your Extension agent has additional information on backyard grape growing. Ask for: "Grape Site Selection in Michigan," Viticulture Extension Mimeograph No. 1, 1977.

Begonia Rex
no easy plant to grow—MSU

The colorful foliage of the rex begonia (Begonia rex) is particularly striking when it's displayed against a backdrop of green plants. The casual plant hobbyist may find it a difficult plant to grow, however.

Michigan State University horticulturists suggest that the rex begonia be treated as a holiday pot plant. Enjoy it for the one to three months you can expect it to survive, then discard it when it begins to decline, they advise.

The appeal of the rex begonia is its brightly colored, lopsided heart-shaped leaves marked with bands and spots of maroon, lavender, red, pink, green, silver and gray.

Pot in a rich, humusy soil made of equal parts peat and houseplant potting soil. Because the rex begonia has a shallow root system, a shallow container is recommended.

Water whenever the soil surface begins to dry; keep the soil around the roots moist but not dripping wet at all times. Avoid overwatering, which leads to crown rot. Fertilize every month with any standard houseplant fertilizer at half-strength.

The rex begonia requires high humidity to thrive. This is usually the limiting factor in the home. Misting is not the answer — the leaves will not tolerate water standing on them.

Place the plant where it will get bright, indirect light from a sunny window. Do not expose it to direct sun. The rex begonia is also good under partial or total artificial light.

Warm temperatures — 80-85 degrees F during the day and a night minimum of 62-65 degrees — are best.

Possible pests of the rex begonia include mealybugs and white flies.

Garden Episode

I limped to the garden to assist my wife who was picking the peas that were now growing.

"This is the life!" she said.

"Yeah!" I enthused as I stumbled about.

And fell in a heap as she gasped with a shout.

"Don't step on the parsnip bed!"

"Where?" I moaned as I sat where I lit.

"You're on it and the spinach," she waived in a fit.

"They look like a horse had rolled on the spread."

"Get me up!" I howled with words now unsaid.

With a heave in one hand and a cane in the other she pled, "Go and sit down before you land on another!"

We had radishes, peas and lettuce to eat.

But there'll be no spinach, with thanks.

To my feet — and my seat.

Business

THE FAMILY APPLIANCE CENTER, located on 9990 East Grand River, across from the State Police Post in Brighton, opened early this summer and exclusively specializes in Hot Point Appliances. Tom McCassey of Brighton Township and Dave Sweet of Parshallville are partners in the business open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, closed Sunday.

The Family Appliance Center sells large new home appliances but does not presently offer repair service.

"Our main objective is very personal service for appliance in the house," says McCassey.

SALE OF EXISTING homes in the metropolitan area continued well ahead of last year's record setting pace during the first half of 1978.

Figures are quoted from the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors' (WWOCBR) multi-list covering a 1,600 square mile area including northwest sections of Detroit and Wayne and Oakland County. For reporting purposes, the WWOCBR territory is divided into 44 sales areas.

Most significant in a comparison of the two half years was a 15.9 percent increase in average prices with a jump from $36,275 to $42,029. Average price in June this year, based on some 1,800 sales, was $43,376, which was down from the $44,076 reported for May.

The higher average prices increased the total dollar sales volume by WWOCBR's 3,800 members by 19.3 percent to top $424 million for the first six months. Unit sales in the same period increased three percent to pass the 10,000 mark. Both are records for the Board, one of the nation's largest.

One negative factor in the report was a 14.5 percent drop in listings, with many WWOCBR members reporting ready buyers waiting for new listings to appear on the daily multi-list sheets. The present sales to listing ratio of 62.5 percent is believed to be the highest in the organization's 58-year history.

DR. JAMES S. TSOUCARIS, a Northville resident of 18945 Edenderry and Garden City dentist, celebrated his 11th anniversary in practice as a dentist in June by presenting 100 red and white carnations to his patients for a week. One of those receiving a surprise flower was Carol Gould of Westland. Tsoucaris says he's "always wanted to acknowledge my appreciation" and this year decided to do so. He is one of 12 council members of the Detroit District Dental Society, a past president of the Western Dental Society, a smaller body within that group, and vice-president of Garden City Rotary. He holds an honorary fellowship from the Academy of General Dentistry. He and his wife, Ann, have three children.

When everybody used fans, nobody cared about EER.

Years ago, when summers got hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk, you could switch on the fan and hope for a change in the weather. The last thing you cared about was energy efficiency rating, or EER.

Today, air conditioners keep people comfortable during the summer heat. And it's important to know that some units use less electricity than others to do the same job.

So, if you're buying a new portable air conditioner to cool one room, or central air conditioning to cool the whole house —

Detroit Edison has helpful booklets on the wise use of electricity. Stop in at any Customer Office and pick up what you need.

New National Smoker Study:

Tar/Taste Gap Bridged.

Smokers rate taste of low tar MERIT equal to—or better than—leading high tar brands.

Low tar MERIT, with 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco, has shattered the myth of "low tar, low taste."

In a new national smoker study conducted with high tar smokers, MERIT was proven to deliver the flavor of leading high tar brands.

Results Endorse MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

Detailed interviews were also conducted with current MERIT smokers.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

Levin explains taxing stand

Carl Levin, who is seeking the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate, has emphasized that he favors the concept of tax limitation as embodied in the Headlee Amendment but not necessarily the amendment itself.

"I favor a Headlee-like amendment to limit taxes as a way of restraining the growth of government and restoring people's faith in the democratic process," he said.

Levin said he is "concerned about the specific form of the Headlee amendment because it does not reduce reliance on the property tax; because it would not have prevented most of the property tax increases we have experienced in past years; and because — if it did produce property tax relief that relief would not be distributed in an equitable way."

"Because of these concerns, I prefer an alternative form of tax limitation which includes reform. Such a proposal is now being considered by the legislature. I have urged the legislature to place that proposal on the ballot."

If the legislative alternative ballot is not placed on the ballot, however, Levin said he would support and vote for the Headlee amendment "provided certain legal questions concerning the impact of the amendment on the 'Rainy Day Fund' and the 'Plant Rehabilitation Act' — used to attract industry and jobs to Michigan — were resolved."

Power pushes tax cutbacks

The nation has no effective way to stop inflation, and could face a serious recession unless federal and state spending limits are put into place now, Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Phil Power warned.

And, said Power, the tax relief people are demanding and need won't be possible without restraining what government spends.

"People are justifiably fed up with a government that gets bigger and bigger and costs more and more while doing less and less that brings taxpayers real value for their money," Power said.

Power is proposing:

- Steadfast cutbacks in the federal deficit, with the aim of balancing the budget within two to three years.
- If Congress doesn't get its act together and stop deficit spending, Power said he would then introduce legislation to limit federal spending to a fixed percentage of the Gross National Product.

- Prohibiting the federal government from running a deficit except when unemployment tops four percent.

- Targeting federal spending so that it meets real needs, particularly in local communities. Cutbacks should be made through tough priority setting.

- Limiting state spending to a fixed percentage of personal income in the state, as is proposed by Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation.

Power said that he supports the effort to limit taxes on the state level. But, he added, "I'm running for the U.S. Senate. My job as a candidate is to be responsive to problems at the federal level."

Power said the concept of limiting what government can spend is a good one, because most politicians have shown they don't have the discipline to say no to special interests.

"The federal government today fits the old saw: it's a large body of money surrounded by people who want some of it," Power said. "It's been politics as usual for the last 25 years — and the result of this lack of discipline has been that inflation has been built into our economy."

The Ann Arbor Democrat predicted that the soaring inflation rate — caused heavily by Congress' inability to limit

continued deficit spending — may well lead to the Federal Reserve Board slapping the brakes on the economy.

"We're in a terrible cycle of inflation and bust," Power said. "The Congress can't discipline itself to stop deficit spending even when times are good. Government deficits contribute to rising inflation."

"The Federal Reserve Board then has no choice other than to take actions which in the short run contribute to the inflation they're trying to stop. It bumps up the interest rate — making people's mortgage or car payments more — and adds to inflation."

Savings & Loan bank proposal

The Michigan Savings & Loan League is supporting passage of an amendment on the November 7 ballot which will change the State Constitution to permit state money to be deposited in Savings and Loan Associations and Credit Unions as well as in banks.

Current law designates state or federally chartered banks as the primary depository for state funds. A resolution (House Joint Resolution G.C.) enabling S&Ls and Credit Unions to be included with banks passed both the Michigan House and Senate last spring by better than a two-thirds favorable vote. The resolution was then sent to the Secretary of State via the "legislative route" and will be on the November 7 ballot.

Donald F. Wall of the Michigan Savings & Loan League in Lansing reports the amendment would benefit the people of Michigan because "savings and loan institutions pay a higher rate of interest on deposits than banks and any new deposits of state funds in savings and loan associations would increase the supply of mortgage funds available for home loans in Michigan."

George Bowles backs Ogilvie

George E. Bowles, a Wayne County Circuit Court judge for 10 years and former chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, has announced his endorsement of Philip R. Ogilvie, candidate for 35th District Court judge.

"In my opinion Ogilvie possesses the qualities that are most important to properly handle the authority given a judge. He is, first of all, experienced. He knows people's problems and he knows the people themselves. Perhaps most important, he is fair."

"A judge must be impartial, patient and possess high integrity. In addition he must be able to handle the authority he is given," said Bowles.

"Ogilvie's experience as both a practicing attorney in civil matters, as a city attorney and as a municipal judge makes him, I believe, the most qualified candidate for this important community position," commented Bowles.

He noted that the Northville attorney has a sense of the needs and problems of young people and that his role in establishing a probation department for the 35th district court area was evidence of this concern.

Bowles has returned to the practice of general law with offices in Plymouth. He specializes in fact finding, arbitration and mediation in the municipal, school and private sectors as well as serving as an impartial mediator in family dispute matters.

Ogilvie is one of seven candidates for a four-year term for the newly-established second judiciary in the district court serving the communities of Northville, Plymouth and Canton. He has served as Northville's city attorney for nearly 20 years and was the city's municipal judge prior to the formation of a district court.

Moon pledges no favoritism

As a candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator (18th District), Harold Moon says he is offering his talents, knowledge and energy to the voters and taxpayers of this district as an "alternative candidate" to "the political hacks and self-serving politicians who have held power in this State for too long a time."

Harold Moon says he definitely "marches to a different drum." He says he stands alone against the "cronyism", "sweetheart deals", and favoritism which have, over the years, become part and parcel of the careers of most of our State legislators and local office holders.

"The majority of politicians go into an office owing specific favors to various groups and individuals," Moon said. "These favors are political debts incurred because of large financial contributions or other campaign support given the candidate when he is running for re-election or election."

Moon maintains that if he is nominated and elected state senator, he will not be tied to such political debts. He will not be attached, he says, because as an opening campaign statement he will not accept any political financial contributions from any individual or group.

If there are individuals or groups who wish to support him financially, he urges they give their funds to Bob Neal's "Youth Opportunities Unlimited", a private program to give trade training to young men and women throughout the Ypsilanti area.

Ross criticizes Daniel Cooper

Criticizing his Democratic opponent, the challenging Democrat, hopeful in the 15 District for State Senate, Douglas Ross has ticked off 10 areas where he thinks the incumbent has failed his voters.

According to Ross, a Democrat who seeks the seat that includes western Oakland County, Ross listed these points against Incumbent Democrat Senator Daniel Cooper:

- He was one of only two Democrats to vote to weaken the PBB Protection Act.
- He voted against establishment of a Toxic Substance Commission.
- He voted for every weakening amendment to the Open Meetings Act.

- He voted against change in Senate rules to prohibit lame duck senators from junketing.
- He co-sponsored the resolution to permit Senator Basil Brown to travel to China at taxpayers' expense.

- He voted against establishment of a mandatory two-year minimum sentence for persons committing a felony with a handgun.
- He voted against final passage of the Rape Reform Bill.

- He voted against final passage of a bill to make the Generic Prescription Drug Act a practical way to cut consumer prescription drug cost.

- He voted against discharging the Land Use Bill from the Senate Conservation Committee.
- He is the primary sponsor of an amendment to the Open Meetings Act to make it more difficult for the public to learn what legislative conference committees are doing.

Marcus Simon, the lone Republican seeking the senatorial seat, is unopposed in the August 6 primary.

Republicans pick Kirksey

State Representative Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia) has been named to a special committee of House Republican members to pursue a possible compromise on legislation providing funding for county sheriff's departments.

The committee was formed by House Republican Leader Dennis Cavahorne following a Republican caucus recently. The Republican caucus decided to seek a compromise after Governor Milliken vetoed the legislation that would have provided $10 million to assist sheriff patrols.

"I agreed to withhold my vote on any attempt to override the Governor's veto because I believe we should make an effort to reach a compromise on this problem," said Kirksey, candidate for reelection. "To do that, we need time, and I am satisfied that this committee can come up with a compromise that will be acceptable to the legislature, the Governor and the sheriffs."

The Governor called the bill unacceptable because it dilutes local control over sheriff's departments and could possibly dilute support for the state police in the future.

The legislation would have given county sheriffs the primary responsibility of patrolling secondary roads, a responsibility they now share with the state police. It would have also

RECREATION BACKERS—Echoing the theme of the Jaycees' recent parade, "Support Community Recreation," a trio of candidates for the Northville Township Board joined athletes in painting the bleachers at Ford Field in Northville. They are William Greer, who is running for established a funding formula to distribute the $10 million in state assistance to the sheriffs.

Holland, candidate for treasurer; and Donald Thomson, candidate for supervisor. All three, plus the other member of the four-member slate, Donna Boshovan, for clerk, are campaigning on a platform calling for continuation of existing city-township joint services, such as recreation.

Representative Kirksey has been in the forefront of efforts to amend the sheriffs funding bill which would have provided changes close to what Governor Milliken has indicated he will accept.

"I believe that we can come up with a compromise that will include a clear definition of how the funds will be distributed and how the money is to be used. With that compromise, I am hopeful that we can resolve this issue when the legislature returns in September," he said.

Scores Dems on tax issue

State Representative Richard D. Fessler, (R-West Bloomfield), charged House Democrats Thursday with maneuvering to deny the citizens of Michigan the opportunity to approve more than one taxation amendment on the November ballot.

The charges surfaced when House Joint Resolution "C" (HJR C), a property tax reform proposal that would shift the property tax burden for public school financing to income tax, was selected for consideration by a special ad hoc committee on property tax reform.

"The problem with HJR C being selected by the committee in its present wording is that it stands in direct conflict with the so-called Taxation Limitation Amendment," Fessler said. "The Democratic leadership knows that two or more conflicting amendments cannot both pass."

In the case of conflicting amendments on the same ballot, the amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote prevails.

The Tax Limitation Amendment proposed a limit on the percentage of tax money that would go to state government. Future tax revenues would be elastic, in accordance with the total personal income of the state.

"The Democratic leadership wants to confront the public with a choice of obtaining either property tax reform or tax limitation," Fessler said. "Their ulterior motives could be to defeat tax limitation by having it come in second in the voting and thus be nullified."

Fessler said House Republicans have prepared amendments to HJR C to assure that the resolution does not conflict with tax limitation.

"We will fight the efforts of the Democratic majority to deny the voters of this state the opportunity to enact both property tax reform and tax limitation," Fessler said. "We think the great majority of citizens in this state will join us in supporting both property tax reform and tax limitation."

MEA backs Edward Pierce

The Michigan Education Association (MEA), which represents 85,000 teachers in Michigan schools and colleges, has endorsed the candidacy of Edward C. Pierce for Michigan State Senate in the 18th State Senatorial District.

In its endorsement announcement, the MEA describes Pierce as "a highly qualified, dedicated person who has time and again demonstrated his commitment and concern for the quality of life in Michigan."

Pierce, 48, has lived and worked in the 18th Senate District since 1938. He graduated from Ann Arbor High School in 1947, and served in the U.S. Air Force from 1947 to 1951. He then worked his way through The University of Michigan, both as an undergraduate and a medical student, receiving his medical degree in 1959.

Since 1959, Pierce has practiced family medicine in Ann Arbor. He was chairman of the Family Practice Department at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. In 1968, he founded the Summit Medical Center to provide high-quality, low-cost health care for the needy in this area.

'No enthusiasm for tax shift'

Results of a survey conducted by State Senator Bob Geake indicate a majority of his Northwestern Wayne County constituents are less than enthusiastic about shifting from the property tax to the state income tax to finance public schools.

"This indicates to me that those I represent want more than a mere shift in their tax burden. It clearly demonstrates their desire to see a cap on taxes altogether, and I wholeheartedly concur," Senator Geake stated.

"I was encouraged by the California vote earlier this week to limit overtaxation and overregulation by government, and hope we will be able to obtain passage of a milder, but related, constitutional amendment here in Michigan this year," he continued.

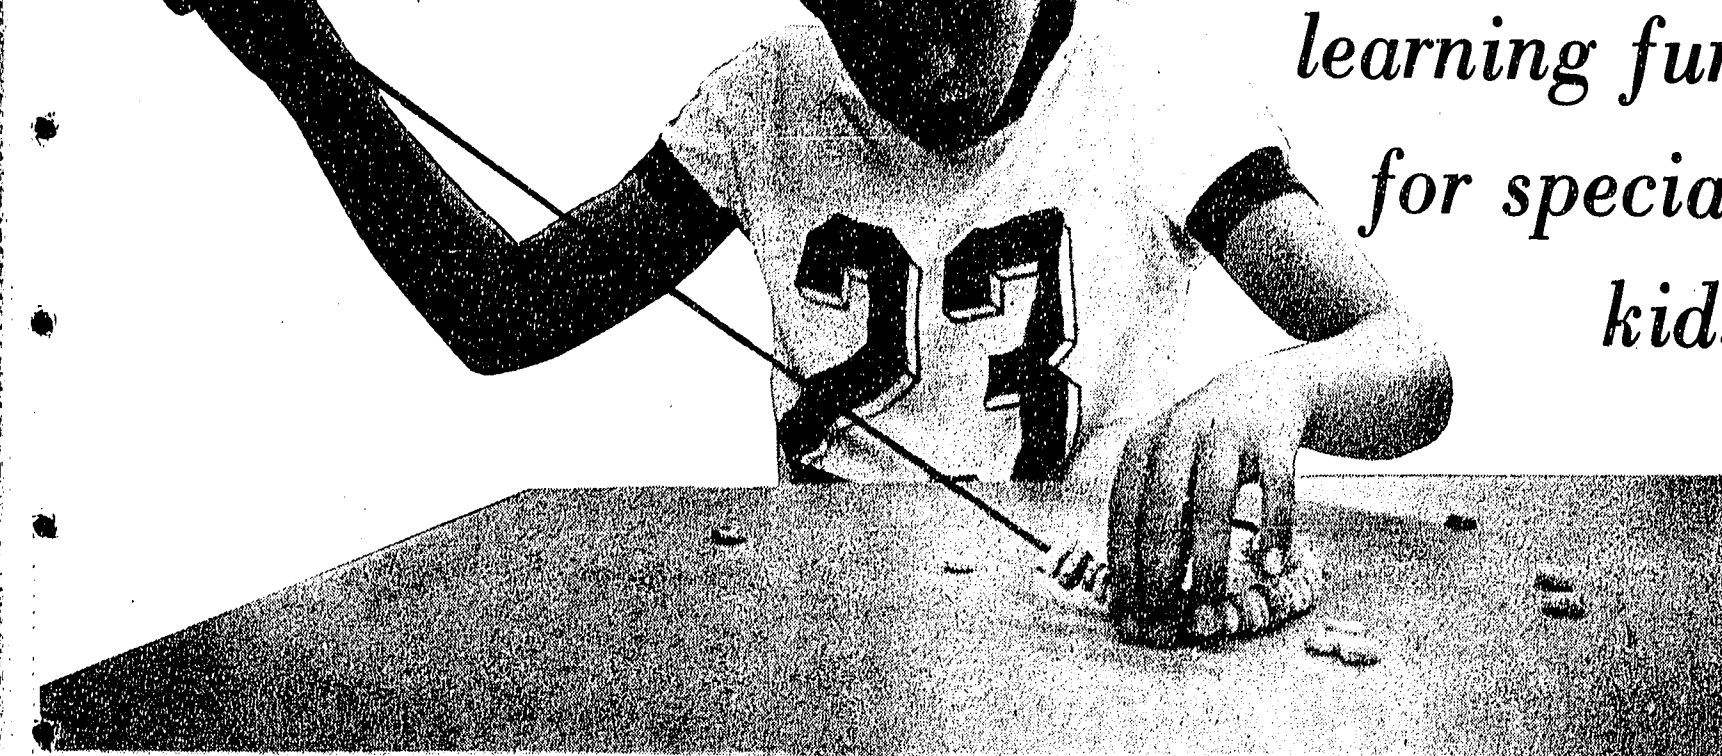

Senator Geake has been a leading proponent of tax limitation since 1974 when he helped found Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation, the organization which is currently circulating petitions to place a tax limitation amendment on this year's

GRASSROOTS SUPPORT—Elated because it appears his tax limitation amendment "will definitely be on the November 7 ballot," Richard Headlee (above) says polls show "wide grassroots support" for the amendment.

Summer School:

Donut-shaped cereal proves a perfect threading material for Brian Flagg

Clowns and helicopters make learning fun for special kids

By NANCY DINGELDEY

A festival atmosphere with band, puppet show, clowns and a real helicopter will culminate a special five-week program at Twin Suns School for 20 mentally handicapped youngsters Friday.

Under a special education program funded through a federal grant, the fun, learning experience has offered the children physical education, language experience, arts and crafts, plus field trips.

Organized and coordinated by Helen Andrezewski, a Walled Lake School District learning disabilities teacher, Friday marks the end of the year-long pilot program in the school. "We were a little apprehensive on how the whole thing would work out," she admitted, "but it turned out just super."

"One of the goals of this extra session in school is to maintain and re-enforce the skills learned during the regular school year. It has offered the children stimulation, something they might not have had during the long summer recess."

Stimulation comes in the form of finger painting, seed pictures, or simply threading cereal on laces for necklaces. "No matter what the exercise, the program stresses hand-eye coordination and verbal communication," the softly enthusiastic teacher pointed out.

Aided by teachers Nedra Noor-dhorn, Esther Morrell, and Janice Cole, the happy, energetic youngsters are guided through the five-hour, five-day program. They receive support from aides Bev Dawson, Marie Drewn, and Vivian Savage. In addition, resource people, including Carol Nix, junior high school art teacher, lend their expertise.

Based on their familiar surroundings each day, all the children participate in the full round of activities designed especially to meet their needs.

"So many nice things have happened during the program," commented Andrezewski. "The children have become more considerate, more verbal and are extremely happy."

Lunch is a highlight of each day. Instead of catering meals, it was decided to allow the children to help in food preparation. "They really are eager to learn and pitch in in a variety of ways."

Field trips ranging from the Detroit Youth Theatre to the Ann Arbor farmer's market have opened the children's minds to new sights and sounds. They have visited a local dairy farm, pulled and eaten fresh vegetables from a garden, had tours of fire and police stations. They've had lunch at MacDonald's and the Kensington Children's Farm.

They spent an overnight at the Outdoor Education Center, rode a train and had a close-up view of the Oakland County Sheriff's helicopter.

Wixom couple announces arrival of new daughter

A baby daughter, Jennifer Jean, was born June 14 at Providence Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kirby of Wixom. The nine pound, fourteen ounce little girl joins a sister, Cherie, 4, at home. Grandparents are Joseph Spencer of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Fraser of Bardonia, Kentucky.

MR. AND MRS. ERIC JOHN STEWART

MRS. KEVIN R. CRAIN

Couple exchange vows in Walled Lake rites

Rose Button weds in sunrise ceremony

A mutual interest in history led newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Eric John Stewart, to choose Williamsburg and the east coast as a honeymoon destination following their marriage May 20.

The bride, Karen Sue Rech and the groom, Eric John Stewart, were given in marriage by their parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. Richard Rech of Walled Lake and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart of Kalamazoo.

The bride approached the altar wearing a Cahill designed gown of ivory colored, silkized organza. Silk Venice lace accented the high neckline, bodice and cap sleeves and was repeated in the mantilla headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white bridal roses, stephanotis, statice and baby's breath.

Sisters of the bride, Mrs. Kristen Hoffman of Pontiac and Kathryn Reardon of Walled Lake, were bridesmaids with Elizabeth Sullivan, a friend of the bride, attending as maid of honor. All were identically gowned in full-skirted white dresses of bronze shaded border printed French voile. They carried nosegays of purple, peach and bronze iris, Sonia roses and silk forget-me-nots.

Jill Valvet, in a similarly styled dress and carrying a basket of flowers, preceded the bride as flower girl.

Providing special music were three friends of the couple. Debra Spencer sang "I Take You," Ann Reeves sang "Ich Liebe Dich," and Mrs. Margaret Ridley sang "The Greatest of These is Love."

The groom's brother, Christopher Stewart, served as best man, with a second brother, Richard, and Thomas Laird acting as ushers.

The couple greeted 130 guests at a reception held at the Forest Lake Country Club in Bloomfield Hills. Out-of-town guests included Dr. P.B. Jones, the bride's grandfather from Florida.

The couple met while both were students at the University of Michigan. With a degree in nursing, the new Mrs. Stewart is with Zeeland General Hospital. A graduate of the School of Business, he is the manager of Wendy's in Holland, Michigan, where they are making their home.

Sunrise wedding vows were exchanged June 25 by Rose Estelle Button and Kevin R. Crain at the Novi United Methodist Church. The vows, said in 5 a.m. ceremonies before Reverend Karl L. Zeigler and Reverend Robert Cornforth were, in part, written by the bride.

The Reverend David Heinzelman, the groom's brother-in-law and minister of the First Baptist Church of Ida, Michigan, was the scripture reader. The sermon was based on I John 4:7-21. The couple lighted the candles of life during the double ring ceremonies.

Soft rays of sunlight and flickering candles touched the spring rye, baby's breath, greens, and palm trees decorating the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Russell Button of Novi. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Crain of Cadillac, Michigan.

The bride chose a snow white old-fashioned southern-style gown with tiers of lace-edged ruffles accenting the full, long skirt. The softly scooped bodice featured a lace trimmed cape. She carried a bouquet of white dogwood and roses on her grandmother's white Bible. Patricia Ann Perkins of Winter Park, Florida, was the only bride attendant. She wore a soft coral A-line gown with draped chiffon overlay forming a blouson effect.

Bestman was the bride's brother, A. Russell Button, Jr. Ushers were David, Capaul of Ida, and Charles Kula of Novi.

A cake reception in the church fellowship hall immediately followed the ceremony. The couple later received guests at a brunch reception at the Farmington Country Club.

Mr. Button, Sr. led a tour through the old farmhouse on the club grounds. The house and acreage was the site of his family's homestead.

The couple chose the Renaissance Center and Lost Lake Woods Club in Lincoln, Michigan, for their honeymoon trip.

Both 1976 graduates of Spring Arbor College, the new Mrs. Crain holds a B.A. degree in Business. With degrees in chemistry and biology, the groom is currently attending Sherman College of Chiropractic Medicine in Spartanburg, South Carolina, where the couple is making their home.

Local businessman contributes to hospital plans

Families of children being treated at Children's Hospital of Michigan could find a ray of hope in a banana shake and McDonald's Restaurants throughout lower Michigan.

The well-known restaurants have joined Children's Oncology Services of Michigan (COSOM) in a building venture to provide temporary quarters for families whose children are receiving treatment at the hospital.

Local Walled Lake McDonald's owner/operator Tom Borin has pledged the total proceeds from a special banana shake promotion to COSOM.

A non-profit corporation made up primarily of parents of children who have been treated for serious illnesses at the hospital, COSOM is responsible for building and operating those quarters.

The Ronald McDonald House, to be built on land provided by the hospital, will offer living quarters of various sizes, kitchen facilities, a laundry, and "common" room, to families of children either hospitalized or receiving treatment at Children's.

Similar houses are currently in operation in Philadelphia, Denver and Atlanta. Plans are under way for houses in Los Angeles, Boston, Pittsburgh, and San Francisco.

Plans for the building project were unveiled at a hospital press conference last week. Construction cost and operation of the house is pegged at approximately $500,000. McDonald operators in Michigan have committed themselves to raising $300,000 over a three-year period for the project.

Further assistance in promoting support for the house has been promised by the Detroit Lions. Service clubs, civic organizations and volunteer groups are invited to lend their aid.

The house will provide a home environment at a cost of $8 per family per room—or nothing, if a family is unable to pay. It will serve those parents who need to be near the hospital during critical periods. Quarters will also be available to save parents the sometimes long daily trips required during outpatient treatments required by cancer patients.

Most of all, supporters point out, the house will afford parents an opportunity to share their concerns with others who are also learning to cope with a child's illness.

The community oriented Borin said the special shake promotion would be conducted in Walled Lake for one week beginning July 24. Through his representative, Linda Park, Borin said to follow the McDonald concept of "if you take something out of the community, you must be willing to put something back in as well."

"Kids are special people to us," said Park. "The Ronald McDonald House concept is a great example of how private citizens and private business interests can work together to help others."

With Nancy Dingeldey

More summer visitors to the United States have been treated to the sights and sounds that are so much a part of Michigan.

For Irmeli Leinas, Teija Tyllila, and her sister Karina, a month-long stay based in Wixom has provided plenty of space for exploration.

House guests of Aini and Jack Karell, the girls, all in their early 20's, have thrilled to the explosions of fireworks on the Fourth of July and seen the wonders of a drive-in movie. Virtually unknown in Finland simply because the nights do not get dark enough, fireworks are only seen on New Year's. And Finnish winters are far too cold for drive-in movies.

There has been disco dancing, Pine Knob concerts, bicycling around Mackinac Island, canoeing and walks through Greenfield Village.

A week at the sand dunes, the cherry festival in Traverse City, Seaworld and Kings Island, Niagara Falls and Toronto and even a day in Frankenmuth have been crammed into 30 short days.

The three—some from Espo, Finland, a suburb of Helsinki, are travellers at heart. They have travelled throughout Europe and Scandinavia and now, hopefully, can add some fond memories of our stomping grounds.

What is even more amazing is that the girls are well versed in both

American and international affairs. They also speak three languages fluently. I cannot help but think I would have to stretch my brain to answer a question should they pose one to me.

Joan Cornell of Walled Lake made a similar observation. As president of a local portion of the world-wide Children's International Summer Villages, Joan and husband Art have made several trips during the past week to visit a world seminar being held near Brighton.

Students from all over the world have joined together in a three-week convocation of 17 and 18 year olds. Their discussions of world problems and prejudices is amazing, Joan commented. "I thought I was well informed but those kids are amazing."

"It's really food for thought," she added. "We're blessed with so many things we take for granted and yet we know so little about the rest of the world."

That group is also seeing a bit of "our backyard" and were guests at a Northville Township picnic last week after a trip to Greenfield Village.

"Kids are kids, no matter where they're from," added Joan. "They're ready, willing and eager to do anything, but their knowledge sometimes can put us to shame."

Teen Center activities include macrame, disco

Programs designed for Novi youth between the ages of 12 and 18 continue this week at the Novi Teen Center. The center, offering almost daily programming, is located in the old Novi Elementary School on Novi Road. The center is under the auspices of Novi Youth Assistance.

Tiger baseball, a field trip offered by the Teen Center, is planned for Saturday, July 22. Tickets are still available at 50 cents, with transportation provided. The group will leave the center at 12:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by Thursday, July 20.

Monday, July 24 activities include tie-dye and macrame lessons beginning at 1 p.m.

Weightlifting and wrestling are scheduled for 6 p.m., Tuesday, July 25, with disco lessons featured at 8:30 p.m.

Looking ahead, the Teen Center will offer a field trip to the Oakland County wave pool on Wednesday, July 26. Cost will be 50 cents with transportation provided. Reservations must be made by Monday, July 24.

Home Decorating with Howard & Lois Green

Our ancestors once regarded windows as a means of letting light and air into their dwellings. If the view was good, so much the better. Beauty came far after use in their thinking. Today, with artificial light, and furnaces and air conditioning to give us whatever temperature we choose, the windows of our homes have become more important for their decorative potential than at any time in history. In many older homes, we may find that the best way to capitalize upon windows often is to dress them in styles and fabrics that make them a focal "point" of our total decorating scheme. It is an opportunity to use color and pattern with a lavish hand. The type of window you have affects its treatment.

At GREEN'S CREATIVE HOME CENTER, 107 N. Center St., 349-7110, we feature all kinds of window treatment. We can custom make your draperies and we can custom make window shades. Let us help you avoid the costly and disappointing mistakes so common in decorating your home. For all your painting needs, we feature a complete line of FULLER O'BRIEN PAINTS and we will be happy to help you color-coordinate your room or entire house. We will custom-tint paint to just the color you want—more than 1,000 possible colors. We are open from 9 til 5 daily; Thurs. & Fri. til 9.

Pausing in her busy schedule to wave to a passerby is Wixom's Lillian Byrd, recently named the outstanding senior citizen of the northwest metro-Detroit area Michigan Recreation and Parks Association. Long active in both community and church affairs, Mrs. Byrd entered the MRPA competition after being named the Walled Lake School District Senior Citizen of the Year. She will now compete for the state-wide MRPA title. A member of the Wixom and South Lakes Senior Citizens Clubs, Mrs. Byrd was the first secretary for the Wixom group. The by-laws she wrote for the Wixom club eventually became the pattern for the entire Walled Lake District organization. ### WHAT ABOUT TRIM?

The proper trim on our beef is important at A&P's Butcher Shop because we don't want you to pay for unnecessary bone and fat. It's a process business. We have to trim the beef so the extra bone and fat is taken off before the retail cut is weighed, packaged and priced by weight. Yet we have to leave on just enough fat cover for full flavor. At A&P we trim off all fat in excess of 1/2 inch.

PRECISE TRIM - LOOK FOR IT NEXT TIME YOU VISIT THE BUTCHER SHOP.

Commissioned as a second Lieutenant following the completion of a four-year military science program, Sparks is the son of Mr. and Mrs. McClellan Sparks of 1514 Robell, a 1970 graduate of Walled Lake Western High School, he received a degree in landscape architecture from MSU.

Walled Lake weavers

Gathered around instructor Trudy Hartman and learning how to make crocheted rug curls are four Walled Lake area members of the Mill Race Weavers Guild: Jane Brown, Carolyn Duffy, Julie Stowe and Wanda Huber. The Southfield instructor who teaches at the Birmingham Community Center also demonstrated ikat dyeing in the creation of the crocheted wall hangings at the workshop held Thursday and yesterday in Northville's Mill Race Village. The workshop marked the official "moving in" of the guild to the tan and red gothic cottage they helped restore which will act as its meeting place and headquarters.

FUNERALS FOR THE MILITARY AND FRATERNAL

When a veteran's military funeral and burial is required, there are specific ceremonies, equipment and procedures that must be adhered to — and exactly! We have the proper ceremonial equipment and are well-versed in military protocol so that we can provide services "by the book" in honoring the veteran in his final hour.

Fraternal orders, such as the Masons, also have specific funeral requirements. We have conducted many, many funerals for members of fraternal and religious orders, so we are used to handling those rituals so important to the brotherhoods.

If you would like to have advance information regarding military requirements and veteran's funeral and burial expense allowances, or about the many fraternal order funerals we have conducted, just call or drop by. We invite you to counsel with our funeral specialists, be he Masonic, military, K of C, Elks or any of the other fine groups in the area.

PLUS program helps kids develop good self-image

By JEANNE CLARKE

624-0173

The Novi Youth Assistance "PLUS" program is continuing through the summer months. PLUS (People Listening, Understanding, Sharing) has been formed to help children develop a positive self-image through a relationship with an adult.

Adult volunteers are matched with a youngster for a year. The volunteer meets with his or her youngster at least once a week.

Training for the program is provided by professionals in the field of counseling and caring. Eleanor Kratz, a school psychologist in the West Bloomfield District, headed a recent training program, and Dr. Pat Best, head of Novi's Special Education Department, will lead the next training session.

Interested individuals should contact Caseworker Pat Hinz at 349-8398 for more information about the program.

Persons

A surprise picnic party was recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Valent of Summit for Angelina Valent who celebrated her 80th birthday. She lives in Saule St. Marie and journeyed to Novi for the annual family reunion with approximately 70 relatives and some of her grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobek of 12 Mile will be very happy this weekend when all of their children and their families will be together for the first time in 18 years. The occasion is the marriage of Jerry Dobek and Patti Gadow on the lawn of the Dobek home. A reception at the Plymouth Hilton will follow the ceremonies. Mrs. Mary Rose, one of the Dobek children, will be flying in from California and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dobek, Jr., will be flying in from Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Smith hosted the Hanna Ringnald, a Dutch University student, while she was performing with the Hague Youth Symphony in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bauer hosted Anna Wester, who is a violinist with the symphony.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilenius of Clarke Street were guests of honor at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party at the Kensington Place Mobile Home Park Clubhouse recently. The party was hosted by their children: Judy Wilenius, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilenius, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilenius, Ron Wilenius, and Mrs. Valerie Micalael.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith of Taft Road have returned from a visit with his sister and her family, Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher of Manitowish Beach.

Jaycee Auxiliary

The next general membership meeting will be at the home of Sandy Wigley on July 25. Linda Beck and her committee will report on their visit to Beverly Manor for a July 4 celebration. Final plans will be made for the family picnic on July 30.

The Jaycees will assist the Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency with senior citizen ID pictures at the Twelve Oaks Mall on July 18-19. Michelle Biebler will chair a baby sitting clinic at the Novi Teen Center in August.

Parents without Partners

There will be a mystery trip on Saturday, July 22. Participants should pick up their maps at the Northville Square at noon. The mystery destination is within 50 miles and will appeal to children and adults. A picnic lunch is optional. Call 349-6547 for more information.

A picnic breakfast at 10 a.m. on Sunday, July 23, will precede the softball game. There will be a prize for the most unusual breakfast.

The week's activities include golf at 6 p.m. on Monday at Dun Rovin followed by snacks at 9 p.m. The general meeting will be on Tuesday, July 25. Call 349-5534 for final details regarding meeting place and time. The speaker will be Charlie Brown who will talk on insurance matters.

There will be a regional dance at the Ramada Inn in Monroe on July 29.

Novi BPW

President Ruth George appointed the following committee chairmen at the Installation Banquet recently: Barbara Meadow (Foundation Committee), Agnes Johnson (Program Committee), Shirley Pearl (Membership Committee), Sally Salutes (Public Relations), Judy Moore (Young Careerists), Janice Preslar (Safe Living), Helen Stabler (Bulletin Editor), and Debbie Ettington (Legislation).

A picnic supper and pool party have been planned for August when reports will be heard from members who attended the National Business and Professional Women's Convention in Puerto Rico.

Novi Community Band

Band members are working hard for two upcoming concert dates. The band will play at the Old Orchard Condominium family picnic on July 23 and will then play at an "Under the Stars" concert in Livonia on August 16. College students home for the summer are encouraged to join the band's activities. For additional information call 349-7055.

Chamber of Commerce

Michael Love, a management representative on the Detroit staff of the National Council of Alcoholism's Labor-Management Task Force, was the special speaker at the last meeting. A slide presentation on the occupational alcoholism recovery program accompanied his talk.

The chamber is currently sponsoring a cardio-pulmonary resuscitation program at the high school. Eleven firms have participated in the special course. The directory is being prepared and will be ready for distribution late in September. It will include a roster of members. Anyone with a change of address should contact John Brogan.

OLHSA

Approximately 30 seniors from the center had an enjoyable time on the recent Bob-Lo trip. If you live in the area and haven't taken advantage of the opportunity for friendship and good times, plan now to stop at the center at 26350 Novi Road from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The Food Co-op is still available on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month. Call 349-3700 for more information on cost and supplies.

Lunches are served every day at noon. Newcomers are encouraged to come for lunch and meet new site hostess Maria Spence. She will be in charge of decorations and table setting.

The OLHSA staff would like to thank all the volunteers who have assisted Mabel Hughes who is leaving the center after working in this capacity.

All seniors are reminded to have their ID pictures taken for senior citizen discount cards at the Twelve Oaks Mall from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on July 19-19.

Midlife changes may require strong attempt at 'recycling'

Forced changes in lifestyles during midlife can be unexpected and brutal, and these individuals who must "recycle" themselves need to be given realistic guidance, according to a panel of counselors at a recent Michigan State University seminar.

The counselors, who have made personal shifts or changes in their own careers, stressed the use of midlife career changes at a meeting of the Michigan Conference of the Adult Education Association.

Just as young people expect to "live forever," so many middle-aged people think the careers and lifestyles they have established are "for life," said Paige Birdwell, counselor and minister at Newwood United Church in East Lansing.

When they are hit by the "brutalities of life," the crises can be ideological and all-consuming. Some unforeseen changes, he said, can be the loss of a loved one, of health, of employment or the dissolution of a marriage.

Those who are forced to find a new way of life succeed best by being flexible and staying light on their feet. Once they re-establish themselves, they are "never again truly frightened."

There is a need for realistic expectations," said Joan Crandall, a former college instructor and director of the Women's Resources Center in Grand Rapids.

"A woman cannot start in a new job or occupation at 40 if she has inadequate skills and competition from those who are 20 and hostile. Nor can she hide behind an extended degree program as a means of not facing facts."

Novi resident ends training

Second Lieutenant Paul Pirog of Novi has completed the United States Air Force navigator-bombardier training at Mather Air Force Base in California.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pirog of Bashian Drive in Novi.

Lieutenant Pirog, now trained in radar navigation and weapons delivery, is being assigned to Carswell Air Force Base in Texas for duty with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The lieutenant, a 1977 graduate of St. Mary's of Redford High School, received his commission and a BS Degree in 1977 at the United States Air Force Academy.

We don't know everything

What we already know... from our training and our years of experience... is important.

But we don't know everything. That's why it's also important that we listen to and respect the wishes of each family we serve.
