in our food department budget considerably by raising our prices to correspond without neighboring school districts," stated Dr. Kratz. He noted further, however, that would be necessary to raise the cost of real property which proved to be underassessed according to sales

This year, however, the city will accept the 14 percent factor which will be applied evenly to all property owners. The primary reason for accepting the factor, according to both Merrifield and Allie, is to permit the Novi Assessment Department to continue work on a complete reappraisal of all real property in Merrifield reported that the reappraisal will not be finalized before the 1980 tax roll "if then." "Our last reappraisal was conducted in 1973, and with property values rising. the factor being somewhat low, I feel we have no other alternative than to try to complete and apply the reappraisa in 1980," he told the council. "We cannot in this department raise every assessment by an adjusted amount, eliminate the 1.14 factor, and complete the reappraisal on time with the people available. It is our intent to take the factor," he said. "This means the county will apply the factor after the Board of Review and we will continue to work on the reap-

Merrifield further justified acceptance of the factor by stating that it appears as if the level of assessments between properties in the city are more comparable this year than in past years due to the adjustments which were made last year.

"The burden of taxes would be more evenly spread by taking the factor this year than in past years," he stated. There appears to be a general concensus among city officials that the city will not accept another factor next year, however. Allie told the council that accepting another factor next year on top of this year's 14 percent adjustment "will be highly unlikely due to market trends and the unprecedented growth of the community."

That position was generally supported by members of the city council. Councilman James Shaw said he was not pleased to see the city accept this year's factor, but that he felt it was a reasonable position in light of the current process of reappraising city pro-

Merrifield told the council that his department will now turn its attention to the suggested public hearings "where we will attempt to inform the public of the taking of the factor, what it means to them, and what they can expect from our department in the course of the reappraisal

"I would imagine at this point that most will be more interested in the reappraisal, how it will be applied, and what it will accomplish." he added. No dates have yet been established for those public hearings.

Longtime Walled Lake resident Ken Lewis proudly displays the 170 pound, eight-point buck he bagged while hunting with bow and arrow in the Highland area recently. Lewis said there was a 16-inch spread between the antlers and estimated that the prize will probably rate among the top 30 bucks claimed in the state this year. It was the second buck bagged by Lewis in the last four years when he started hunting with bow and arrow. He is a member of the Detroit Archery Club. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lewis, Sr., are longtime area residents who presently live on Alton Circle in Walled Lake.

Scoliosis tests

Deborah O'Connor of the Easter Seal Society and Patrick Murphy of the Novi Rotary Club carefully observe for signs of scoliosis during a scoliosis screening clinic at Novi Middle School South last week. The Novi Rotarians volunteered their services to assist with the clinic which is designed to detect signs of scoliosis during the formative middle school years. Scoliosis is a lateral curvature of the spine which affects seven to 10 percent of all adolescents and can lead to health problems during adulthood. The Rotarians assisted with the screening of middle school boys on Wednesday and the wives of the Rotarians assisted with the screening of the girls on Thursday. The Rotarians had to undergo a four-hour training session in order to conduct the tests. They have also volunteered their services with the screening in other school districts.

Board reduction means higher pay

An idea whose time has not come. in our opinion, is the proposal to reduce the Oakland County Board of Commissioners from 27 part-time members to nine full-

The current county board, by a narrow 14-13 margin, recently adopted a resolution that asks the state legislature to amend the county executive act of 1974 to allow counties with an elected executive to reduce the number of commissioners.

Proponents of the resolution sav that the 27-member board is "too large and unwieldy to efficiently deal with increasingly intricate and complex county government matters.'

That may be. In fact, we are not opposed to reducing the size of the commission to a more manageable number. We are, however, opposed to making the jobs full-time positions.

Full-time officials undoubtedly will want full-time salaries, possibly as much as three times more than the current $10,000 parttime pay, as well as office space, secretaries and other aides to assist them in their duties.

One need only look to our state legislature in Lansing, which became a full-time job for 148 senators and representatives after the 1963 Constitution took effect, as an example of the largesse that could occur.

That goal could be accomplished by hiring a small staff of experts to assist the board in its review of the county's budget and financial

One also must remember that the executive form of government is a new concept. In fact, some commissioners are questioning in court some of the powers that Executive Daniel T. Murphy has assumed in the last four years.

Before the county board moves toward further drastic changes in Oakland's form of government, they should address their efforts to clear up some of the ambiguities in the county executive act and give the system a chance to work.

We would hope that our fulltime legislators in Lansing will ignore the ill-advised proposal to change the part-time county board into a full-time commission and address more pressing problems such as tax reform, transportation needs and school financing.

Novi's rigid inspection policies have come in for a great deal of criticism over the past several years. But it is the type of criticism which reflects well on city employees and administrators.

The city has received a certain notoriety among developers in recent years for the strictness of its inspection practices. In fact, criticism of the city's inspectors has even appeared in certain trade magazines.

Speaking for Myself

Who'll win the big one?

Is their any doubt? We all know that the Buckeyes will be winners when OSU and Michigan have their annual battle for the Rose Bowl this Saturday.

Rod Gerald is one of the most agile pass receivers in the NCAA. And with the overpowering strength of the OSU offensive line, Quarterback Art Schlichter will have more than ample time to throw to him.

Then there's Tailback Ron Springs. With his quickness in the backfield. OSU should have no trouble running past Michigan's sluggist defensive line. In fact, I doubt the Buckeyes will even need their field goal

So far, OSU is giving up an average of only 2 points a game while their offense is averaging 37 points a game

And what do the Wolverines have to offer? The big name of Rick Leach? Leach may have been better off quitting football and sticking with baseball his freshman

OSU won't have to worry about the pass because Michigan doesn't have a passing game. Leach showed us how well he can throw in the Michigan State game. How many interceptions were there? I quit counting after three. OSU Safety Mike Guess should have a turkey shoot picking off his passes.

The Big Ten sent Michigan to Pasadena last season, and they couldn't do the job. This year it's Ohio State's

> Dale Armbruster Columbus, Ohio

Is there any doubt? Michigan will win, hands down — there's no question about it.

The Wolverines have been playing much better football all season long. Ohio State hasn't been as effective this year as they've been in the past because Woody Hayes, who'd probably be better off retiring than coaching with his temper, is going through something completely new to him — a passing game.

Ohio State's quarterback — what's his name, Art what? — needs a lot of development, just as Leach did in his freshman year. Today, though, Leach is an outstanding quarterback — the best in college football, I'd say, and a top contender for the Heisman Trophy.

Ohio State's quarterback, on the other hand, just won't be able to hold up against Michigan's mighty defensive attack. Michigan's offense has Harlan Huckleby, Russell Davis, Roosevelt Smith and Rick Leach — great players, great runners — but their defense is what makes the Wolverines click, and their defense will tear the Buckeyes apart this Saturday.

I've been to every home game this season, and Michigan's looked very impressive. Even in their loss to Michigan State they weren't that bad. They didn't really choke, they were just outplayed by a better team. And I think Ohio State will find it has the same problem this weekend. My prediction? Michigan 24, OSU 14.

While she isn't a particularly high scorer or rebounder for the Ladycats, Novi's 5-6 senior guard has contributed plenty to her team this season by way of morale and defensive aggressiveness. Last week that aggressiveness paid off as Szeles, despite giving away three inches in height, limited South Lyon's normally high-scoring Nanette Nelson to just six points and helped keep her team within striking distance of victory until the final seconds of overtime, when the Lions pulled out a 46-42

"I knew I would finish so I said half the race would be 'easy does it' and the other half would be get to the finish line."

Most of the local marathoners completed the course in under five hours, but a couple of area distance men topped the five-hour mark. Tristan Fletcher of Wolverine Lake and David Keir of Novi, both experienced pain and leg trouble but still made it across the finish line. According to their respective wives, both men were 'bound and determined' to make it through. Lee Holland welcomes Charles Mann and Burton Smith

LEE E. HOLLAND has announced the addition of two C.P.A. members to his accounting firm in Northville.

They are Charles L. Mann and Burton E. Smith. With the addition, the firm's name changes to Lee E. Holland & Associates, P.C. The firm is headquartered at the northeast corner of Center and Dunlap streets in Northville. Holland is the newly elected treasurer of Northville Township.

CARS & CONCEPTS, INC. of Brighton has introduced the Skylite T-Bar roof for the 1978-79 Pontiac Grand Prix, Buick Regal, Chevrolet Monte Carlo and Oldsmobile Cutlass Supreme.

The patented T-Roof design features a water drainage system glass to glass design and single stamped steel frame construction. Cars & Concepts, Inc. is a leader in the specialty vehicle industry and is the number one T-Roof supplier to the auto manufacturers, as well as the aftermarket industry. The Skylite roof for the midsize GM series joins an extensive T-Roof line. Cars & Concepts offers Skylites designed specifically for the Ford Thunderbird, Pontiac Firebird, Chevrolet Camaro, Plymouth Volare, Chrysler LeBaron, and Dodge Diplomat and Aspen. Each roof design meets Original Equipment Standards and features a 12 month, 12,000 mile warranty. The T-Roof has proven to be popular with the driver who wants his automobile to be truly unique. All interiors are custom matched to the car they are installed in and a single lever latch is used to release and secure each panel.

Cars & Concepts currently has more than 60 exclusive dealer/installers throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. For more information on the Cars & Concepts' Skylite program, write Cars & Concepts, Inc., Department PPD, 12500 East Grand River, Brighton, Michigan 48116.

Trip Tones

The thing about a long trip Is not just getting through it; It's when, agog, you come back to rave— Finding no ear to listen to it.

It's Time

It's time to go beyond that sheltered life That so many of us have lived. To new beginnings, creations, surprises, and To live and let live and to take and always give.

It's time to go out on our own To fend and do for ourselves. We won't always be able to run to the phone To send for our parent's help.

It's time we learned to stand on our feet To work and make a life worth living. To go out, travel, and new people meet Never to groan or moan but always be willing.

It's time to become a full-fledged adult One that never goes back on his word. Don't let "I" take over or it's your fault You may be !istened to, but never heard.

It's time to become a person, One who knows what to do. One who always starts and gets done, What he had set out to do.

The true spirit of Thanksgiving was exhibited at the Children's Hour Nursery and Kindergarten in Walled Lake last week as "Indian" Darin Gillespie receives careful supervision and a helping hand from "Pilgrim" Judy Pariseau. More than 100 nursery school youngsters enjoyed the Thanksgiving Day feast which they prepared themselves. They also made their own Pilgrim and Indian outfits for the special celebration.

BENEFITS OF MOURNING CUSTOMS

Attending a wake, making a condolence call, offering help to the bereaved—all are two-way acts of care-giving.

These mourning practices directly benefit the bereaved family and one's self. In her book, "Death, the Final Stage of Growth, Dr. Elizabeth Kubler-Ross advises that the purpose of mourning should be to allow for a full outpouring of grief. Mourning becomes the opportunity for the family to re-group after the loss of a member, especially to be able, then, to continue living, loving, working and enjoying one and other.

By getting this outpouring of grief early, we help to prevent pent-up feelings of guilt and regret from blossoming later with psychologically unhealthy repercussions. "Getting it out of your system as soon as possible is appropriate therapy in most instances, experts agree.

You may ask us questions for yourself and of public interest.

Weight Watchers

The Novi Weight Watchers are continuing to meet under the direction of Rosie Tague every Tuesday in the Living Lord Lutheran Church on 10 Mile. Holiday recipes are given out each meeting and the paper "Thinline" is available free of charge at the meeting place. Those who attend meetings receive special folders to hold the 'behavior modules" which also are distributed weekly.

Titles of the modules include "How to Manage Eating Out," "How to Shop Prudently," and "How to Handle Your Friendly Enemy." Mrs. Tague maintains that no one is

Choral Music

The 40 voice mixed choir of adults and youths of the Lakes Community Chorus are gearing up for their annual Christmas Concert on Sunday, December 3, at 7:30 p.m. The classic frame Commerce Methodist Church, built in 1841, will be the warm, inviting site for the first of many Christmas concerts planned during the holiday season in

Under the direction of George Scott with accompaniment provided by Charles Wilson, the chorus will present a traditional concert marked at closing by the singing of Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" from the "Messiah." Members of the Walled Lake Central Neo-Renaissance group and Western High School's Westernnaires will join the chorus in the evening musicale.

The audience will also participate with carol singing led by Reverend Gary Imms, minister of the church and a member of the chorus. The public is cordially invited to the program which is free of charge.

The chorus will also appear in concert during holiday programming at the Twelve Oaks Mall.

For Kids

The Touring Chamber Theatre from the campus of Oakland Community College Oaks School in Novi recently.

Bringing live theatre as well as active audience participation to the children, the group offers stories based on familiar tales in a modern, up-to-date setting.

Directed by Wallace Smith, the touring little theatre is a creative learning experience enjoyed by nursery school tots as well as elementary school children.

At Village Oaks, kids and teachers alike participated as field mice and trees as the actors played out their stories.

Applause from Novi

It was a crowd in the upper hundreds that attended a mid-November concert performed by the Livonia Youth Symphony at Novi's Fuerst Auditorium.

Presented by the Novi Foundation for thd Performing Arts, the young musicians performed works by Strauss, Moussorgosky, Wagner, Copland and Mozart during the concert. All were well received by the enthusiastic audience of concert-goers.

Dr. Gerald Kratz, Novi School superintendent welcomed the audience and introduced the orchestra conductors, including his old college roommate, Lester Ferkas. On hand for the concert and tour of the high school facilities were Francesco DiBlasi, conductor of the Oakway Symphony Orchestra and Andrew Henderson, coordinator of the newly formed Northville Performing Artists Unlimited.

A return engagement of the young musicians has been scheduled for May 19.

Digging out

While most motorists were bemoaning the slippery driving conditions, the vast majority of Novi youngsters couldn't have been happier with the first significant snowfall of the year over the weekend. In fact, the glee involved with the onset of winter was sufficient to make shoveling the family driveway something less than an odious assignment. Joining forces to clear the snow from the driveway of the Skaja residence on Knollwood Drive in Novi were (left to right) Katie Skaja, age 8: Amy Skaja, age 4; Kimberly Senda, age 5; and Joey Jablonski, age 8. But, as most parents are abundantly aware, it's a lot easier to find volunteer workers at the start of winter than it is at the end of winter. (Staff photo by Jane Hale)
