

Village, citizens' group to discuss lake project

The Wolverine Lake Village Council will meet with the Commerce Lakes Study Committee in the near future to ensure the group that the proposed Wolverine Lake restoration program will not harm their lake or property.

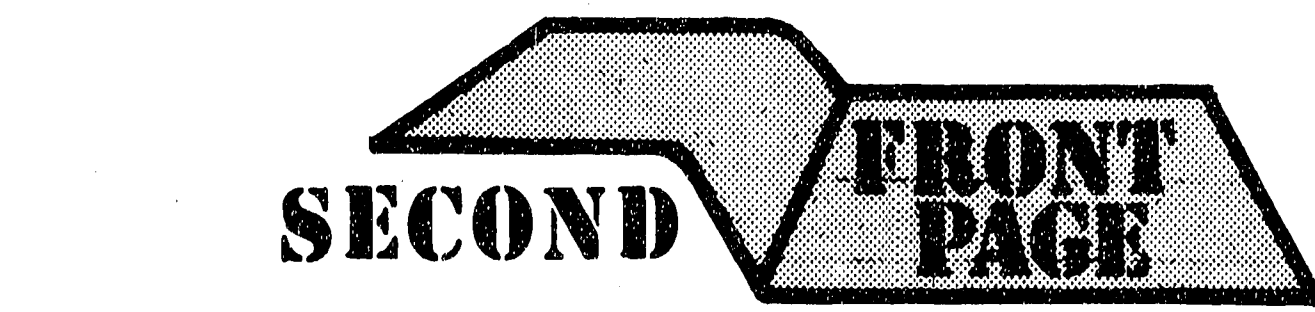

The village's resolution of cooperation was adopted last Wednesday after Council President John McLellan read a copy of a letter from James Jardine, chief of the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Grants Administration Division.

In his letter, Jardine suggested that the village should provide the study committee with a copy of the EPA grant application, a list of questions raised by various review agencies and the answers provided by the Snell Environmental Group, the village's consulting engineers on the proposed lake restoration.

The Commerce homeowners' group also asked for several weeks to review the information and for a meeting to "resolve the differing needs of the two lakes." Jardine suggested that the EPA, Snell, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Commerce Township Environmentalists Dan Shapiro and the study committee should be represented at the meeting with village officials.

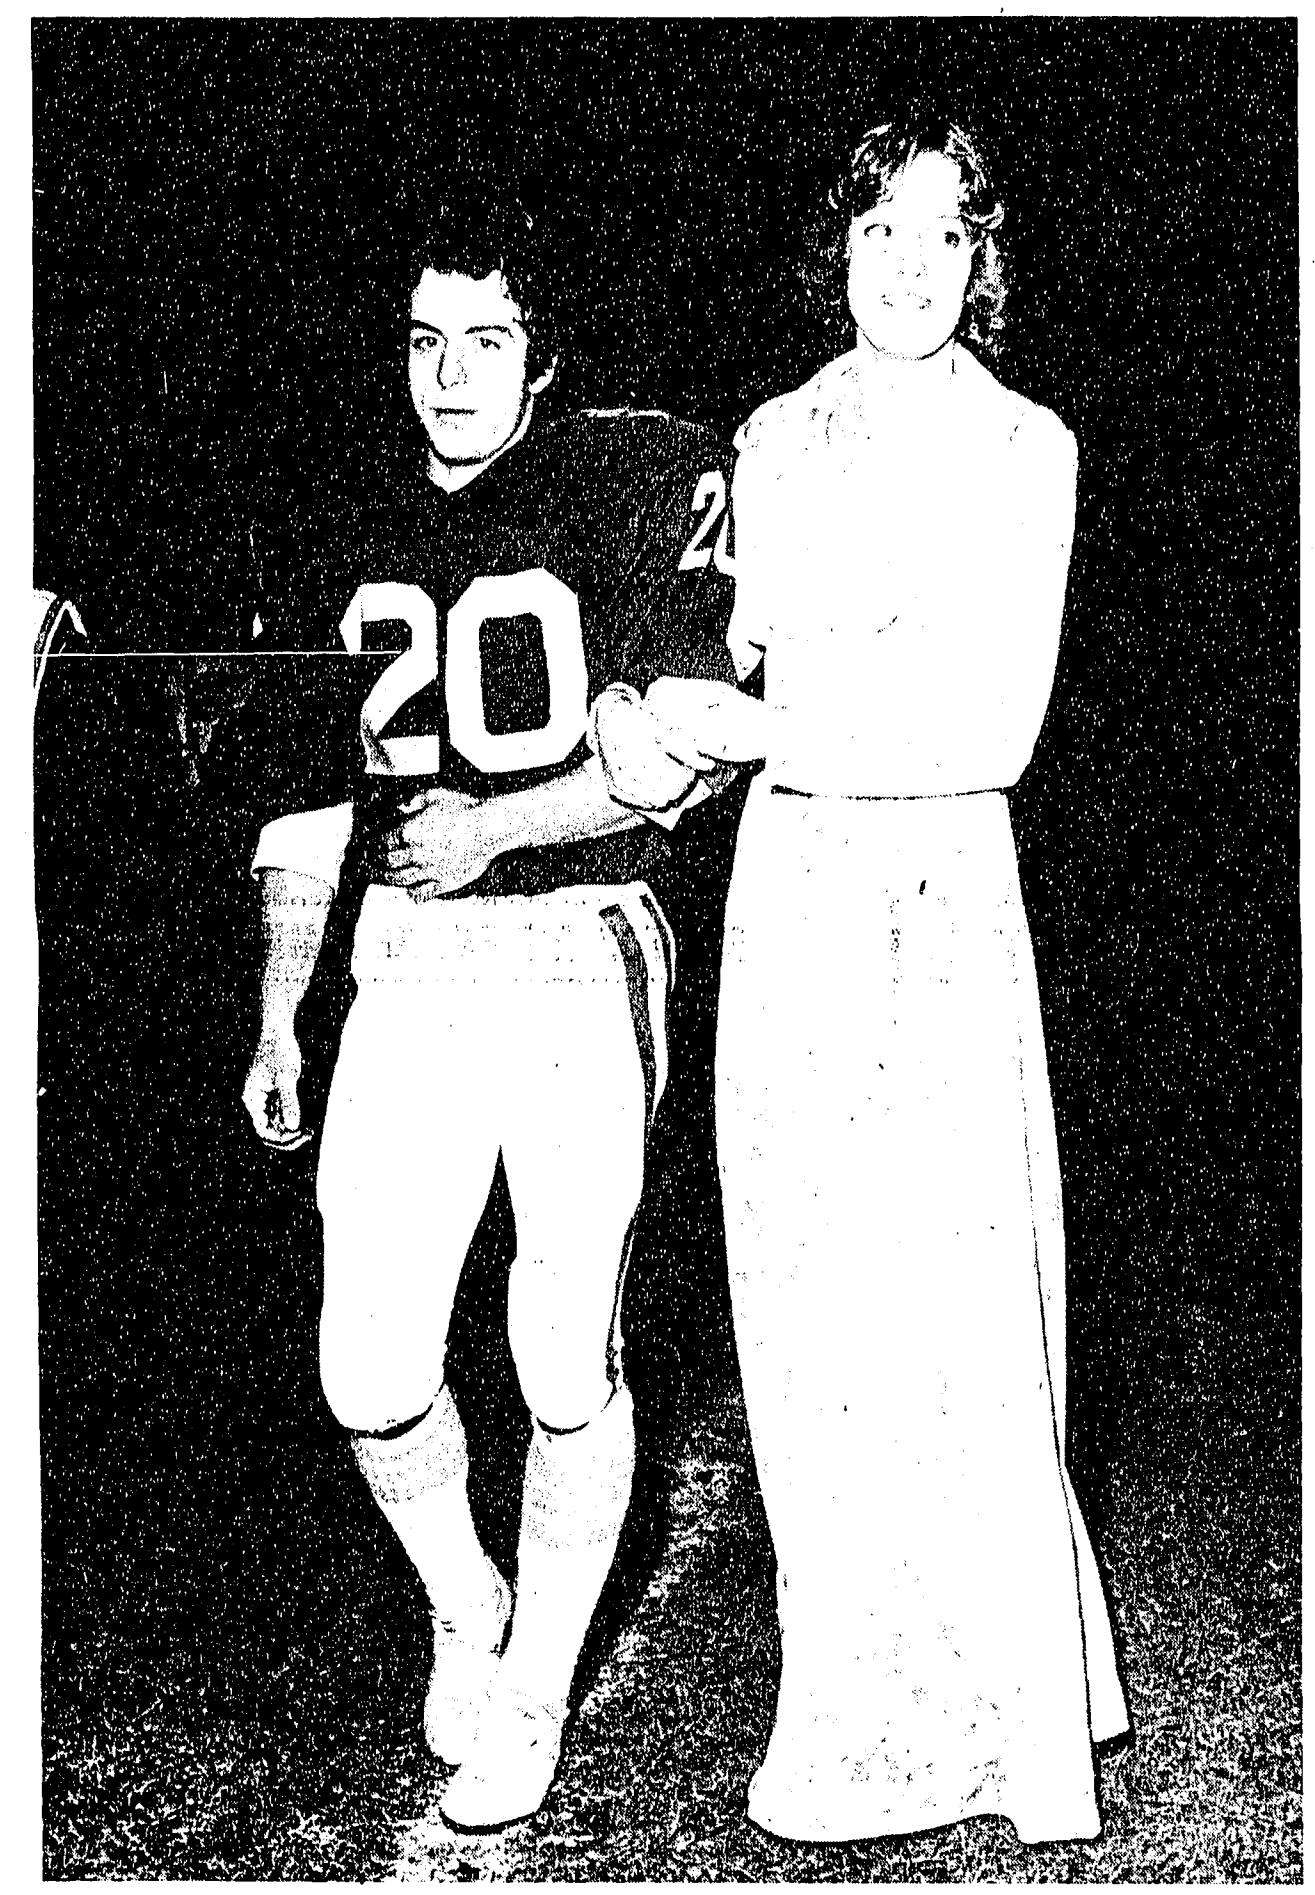

"The result may be simply to calm our fears and prove that 'all is under control,'" Jardine said. "Another possible result is some give and take on both sides to arrive at a conclusion satisfactory to all. This is a large objective which may require more than one meeting."

Specific problems the committee fears may be created by the Wolverine Lake restoration project include flooding, silting and relatively high nutrient input, Jardine said. North and South Commerce Lakes are connected to Wolverine Lake by a stream and wetlands between Giengary and Oakley Park roads.

Ministers raise legal issues in Camelot

The Walled Lake Area Ministerial Association has asked the Walled Lake City Council to address several issues raised by the continued operation of the Camelot Inn.

In a letter to the council, the association asked: "Why has there been permitted an apparent long series of flagrant violations of the established city building codes?"

Recently, bottomless — dancers. Instead, the association is expressing its concern that bar owner Ben Bundo has allegedly violated a number of sections of the city's building and zoning ordinances and do it for us. They (state officials) just don't give a hoot."

Meanwhile, a jury trial against Bundo on the building code and zoning violations is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the 52nd District Court before Judge Boyle.

Bundo was charged late last year with violating city ordinances by converting the former Maple Lane bowling establishment, which is in the same building as the Camelot, into a disco bar without obtaining site plan approval from the plan commission.

He also allegedly violated city ordinances by blacktopping the Camelot's parking lot without obtaining the required permits.

The controversial bar owner asked for a jury trial on the alleged ordinance violations. In an attachment to their letter, the ministers noted those alleged ordinance violations and added that Bundo on at least three occasions refused to allow city fire officials and policemen to inspect his building.

As a result of Mr. Bundo's failure to secure proper building permits, his failure to submit proper site plans for approval and his unwillingness to allow public safety officers entry to his premises," the ministers said, "this establishment has not been inspected for possible construction defects, electrical defects, plumbing defects, lighting defects and fire hazards. All of this despite the very real possibility that he could have been, and still may be, in violation as many as 30 sections of (the building code ordinance) and as many as six sections of the city zoning ordinance."

Schools face further pupil, revenue drop

The financial situation of the Walled Lake School District may be worse than originally anticipated.

School administrators learned Monday that student enrollment figures have fallen significantly below the unofficial fourth Friday count.

Officials reported a total enrollment figure of 11,153 after the fourth Friday count was conducted on September 29.

Now, however, it appears as if the 11,153 figure was too high and that the official figure may come in around the 11,083 mark — a further reduction of 70 pupils.

The official enrollment count is critical to the school district's financial position in that it relates directly to the amount of revenue the district will receive in state aid.

Since the Walled Lake Schools receive approximately $1,550 per student in state aid, a decline of 70 students equates to approximately $105,000.

projected in budget preparations. When the $338,000 loss of state aid revenue is added to the original $337,000 deficit, the school district could conceivably experience a total deficit of $715,000 in the 1978-79 fiscal year.

School administrators appear determined to keep the deficit at the $377,000 figure anticipated in the adoption of the official budget.

Attempts by school officials to trim approximately $200,000 from the 1978-79 budget were predicated on the assumption that the district was going to lose approximately $233,000 in state aid revenues.

Now that it appears as if the total loss of state aid revenues will approach the $340,000 range, school officials are going to have to be even more severe in their list of proposed cutbacks.

Such accounts as gas and fuel oil were only guestimates. "If we have a bad winter, we may need every penny that is already in the budget," he stated.

Associated Superintendent for Instruction James Leary stated that every effort has been made to impact students, program, and staff as little as possible in trimming the $100,000 from elementary and secondary instruction.

Administrators have already worked up a series of cuts which would total $200,000. Those proposed cuts would involve $100,000 from instruction ($56,000 from secondary instruction and $44,000 from elementary instruction) and another $100,000 from such accounts as gasoline for the buses, fuel oil for heating the schools, and capital outlay.

Superintendent Dr. Don Sheldon acknowledged that the proposed cuts in such accounts as gas and fuel oil were only guestimates.

Emergency pact ready

A tentative agreement has been reached by attorneys representing Commerce Township and the Fleet Ambulance Service on a contract to provide an advanced life support (ALS) system in the Lakes Area.

The agreement will be presented to the board at its next regular or special meeting. The board was scheduled to hold a special meeting last night (after our press time), but it was unclear late last week whether the contract would be ready in time for the session.

Walled Lake officials, however, also have been told by Novi Ambulance owner John Early that he hopes to provide a similar ALS service at no charge to the community by early next year.

Commerce Township officials have indicated that they will earmark a portion of the township's state share revenues to pay for the contract.

Commerce residents also will receive a $60 discount for the ALS service because of the township's subsidy. Commerce officials have indicated that they will earmark a portion of the township's state share revenues to pay for the contract.

The new unit will respond to emergency calls in other area communities, Miles said, but Commerce would be designated as the primary response area in case of simultaneous calls from the township and another community.

Controversy involves enforcement

Wixom council debates smoke detector ordinance

BY AL SCHULTZ
The case for mandatory smoke detectors in all Wixom households made a little headway during last week's Wixom City Council meeting...

Councilman Dennis Andrews agreed. "Building codes are enforced, and this could be lumped into the same category. It isn't unenforceable. If the newspapers publish the information, 25 or 50 percent will get them (smoke detectors) and we're still ahead of the game."

"Education is the means to this," said Mayor Lillian Spencer. "The people are going to have to know the advantages of the smoke detectors and install them themselves. I don't think we'll have much luck with an ordinance."

Rezoning requested for mobile home park

A public hearing on a request from Commerce Properties to rezone 120 acres from single-family residential to mobile home park use has been set for November 27 by the Commerce Township Planning Commission.

Commerce Properties now wants to revise the rezoning request, Lehoczyk said, and go through the administrative procedures. The rezoning petition was signed by Floyd A. Cairns, Farmington Hills city clerk and acting city manager...

Tree planting slated

Walled Lake's beautification program will be launched Saturday with the planting of 17 decorative trees and 51 shrubs along East West Maple Road, according to Mayor Gaspare LaMarca.

Village council to study need for new zoning law

Wolverine Lake Village definitely needs a new zoning ordinance, Council President John McLellan said last week.

Members of the planning commission and the zoning board of appeals have said the present ordinance, which has been in effect for about five years, contains many contradictions.

McLellan, who served on the zoning board before winning a council seat 3 1/2 years ago, also noted several sections of the ordinance that have caused problems of interpretation for the planning and zoning officials.

Village Attorney Gary Allen agreed that the present ordinance must be clarified. He said Wolverine Lake's zoning measure "just doesn't stand up to comparison with other communities' zoning ordinances."

Councilman James Hall asked if a model ordinance is available at a lower cost than the $7,000 figure estimated by Village Planning Consultant Robert K. Swarhout, a senior vice-president with Gerald Luedtke and Associates, but Allen said the zoning law must be personalized for Wolverine Lake.

Refering to the recent incorporation of Commerce as a charter township — a move that will protect the village from annexation — McLellan said the council now must discuss Wolverine Lake's future. He suggested that the council should decide what it wants for the village in the next five to 10 years and incorporate those ideas in the revised zoning ordinance.

Walled Lake planners reject multiples plan

Walled Lake's Plan Commission has recommended denial of a rezoning request that would have led to the construction of additional multiple family housing units on the southwest corner of the Pontiac Trail-Decker Road intersection.

The rezoning of the property, if approved, would accommodate a proposed extension of an existing multiple family dwelling.

development at the corner of Pontiac Trail and Decker Road. The rezoning request was opposed by City Planning Consultant Tod Kilroy who noted that the general character of the area is predominantly single family residential.

The rezoning request was also opposed by three residents of the area. Mrs. Lois Hanley of Pontiac Trail said she opposed the rezoning because of existing traffic problems in the area. The rezoning was also opposed by James McLaughlin and Mrs. Elizabeth Baker.

Under the current ordinance, the planning commission may impose site design and landscaping requirements on an ad hoc basis. Swarhout said, adding that "this approach will work as long as developers decide it is easier to comply with planning commission requirements than to test the ordinance in court."

He cited a court decision that says "site plan review requirements must contain specific published standards in order to be valid."

Legal issues raised

Continued from Walled Lake, 1. Although the city hasn't cited Bundo for violation of the cabaret ordinance, Hook said Monday that the LCC would be cited and the city would recommend non-renewal of his liquor license when it comes due next April. The LCC already has ordered the revocation of Bundo's liquor license and fined him a total of $900 for violation of the nude dancing rules. That order was delayed pending the appeal to the court of appeals. The bar owner, however, is challenging the decision that upheld the rules, charging that the LCC has no business imposing a dress code on his employees. The rules, Bundo says, are a violation of his First Amendment rights. Oakland Circuit Judge Richard D. Kuhn has ruled, however, that the LCC has the authority to make rules governing the operation of establishments with Class C licenses and said that there is no right to nude dancing and that the state regulations are not an infringement of First Amendment rights. No date has been set for the appeal of Kuhn's ruling.

Lasher appointed

Continued from Walled Lake, 1. Lasher to the vacancy by a 4-1 margin. Betty Campion, Leo Westiger, Robert Cooper, and Warren Williams cast their ballots in favor of Lasher, while Kenneth Tucker voted in favor of Mrs. Helms. Mrs. Barbara Scully was not present at the meeting. The WLEA had endorsed the candidacies of Tucker and Mrs. Helms prior to the June 1978 election. The board listened to brief statements from both Lasher and Mrs. Helms before making their selection. In addition, the board also heard a letter from former School Board Member Kenneth Erdody which recommended the appointment of Lasher. "The board subsequently appointed

State ballot proposals

Politicians back tax limitation in election year

Governor William G. Milliken has endorsed the so-called Headlee amendment. So have many other politicians. Proposal E is a referendum on the constitutionality of the tax limitation. The amendment would limit the state's personal income tax to 6.25 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's sales tax to 6 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's property tax to 1.5 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's excise tax to 1 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's license tax to 1 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's other taxes to 1 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's other taxes to 1 percent. The amendment would also limit the state's other taxes to 1 percent.

Tisch would cut taxes in half

Some have described it as a meat-axe approach to tax limitation. But whatever descriptive name it carries, the Tisch amendment, as proposed, has very strong provisions which promise to emphatically alter the current methods of raising government funds in the state of Michigan. The proposed constitutional change has six major provisions. It would: (1) Lower the ratio of assessed value to true cash value from a maximum of 150 percent to a maximum of 25 percent. (2) Limit the rate of increase of the property tax base to 2.5 percent in any one year. (3) Limit the income tax rate to 5.6 percent, one more than the state is currently levying. (4) Authorize the legislature to provide for a local income tax for schools not greater than one percent, and the one percent must be voted by the people living within a given district. (5) Require the state to provide full financing for required increases in local government services. (6) Prohibit the state from shifting the tax burden to local governments or school districts.

Headlee proponents argue that some limitation has to be placed on government spending, otherwise programs will continue to proliferate and expand and spending will continue to spiral upward. They point out that over the past 10 years government spending in Michigan has far outstripped personal income growth. The Headlee amendment would: (1) Limit state taxes and spending to a percentage of the state's personal income determined by the state budget for fiscal year 1979. The percentage is expected to be between 9 and 10 percent. (2) Require a vote of the people to change the personal income percentage, and in the event of emergency, require joint action of the governor and a two-thirds vote of the state houses to change the spending and revenue limits for one year only. (3) Prohibit the state from reducing the state-financed portion of the necessary costs of local government activities or services required by state law. New state requirements shall be accompanied by necessary funding. (4) Prohibit the state from reducing the proportion of state spending in effect in fiscal year 1979 going to all units of government taken as a group. (5) Limit the rate of increase of the property tax each year to the rate of increase of the Consumer Price Index. (6) Require an election to levy any tax or increase a tax rate not authorized by law or charter at rate of ratification of this amendment. (7) If the base of an existing tax is broadened, the rate shall be reduced to yield the same estimated revenues as before. (8) Require an election to levy any tax or increase a tax rate not authorized by law or charter at rate of ratification of this amendment. Most experts agree that predicting consequences of this long and complex amendment is difficult. Complicating evaluation further is the fact that implementation of the proposal is left to the legislature. But there seem to be several observations which may share. Al House, a professor in Department of Agricultural Economics and a specialist in the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University, says, "At the state level we would expect no budget limiting effect for several years if state revenues hold up during the first three quarters of 1979. This view assumes that we are at a peak in economic cycle." Continuing, he says, "Most local government units in the state will not experience rates of increase in market values of land and existing buildings and improvements greater than the rate of increase of the Consumer Price

County can't find drain problem

The Oakland County Drain Commissioner's office has been unable to pinpoint any specific source of pollution to the Greenway Drain, according to Robert H. Fredericks, chief deputy drain commissioner. Walled Lake and Wolverine Lake Village officials requested the county study last February after village residents and officials complained that Wolverine Lake was being polluted by the drain. In a letter to the communities, Fredericks said "it is extremely difficult to identify the sources of pollution in an open-ditch drain which passes through an urban area. Because access to the banks of the drain is available to almost any member of the general public, it is possible for individuals to dump a great variety of solid or liquid waste matter into the drain at almost any location." The chief deputy drain commissioner added that surface storm water runoff from streets and parking lots naturally flows into the drain and can enter the "Greenway" at "almost any location." "Furthermore, in many cases pollution is not a regular and consistent practice which can be identified," Fredericks said, "but rather a sporadic and infrequent occurrence which in some cases is intentionally concealed by the persons who wish to dispose of some kind of waste matter into the drain. For these reasons it is, practically speaking, almost impossible to completely eliminate the introduction of waste matter of various kinds into an open-ditch drain such as the Greenway Drain." Fredericks said the drain commissioner's office does not have sufficient staff to "monitor or continuously inspect the entire length of a drain such as the Greenway Drain (which is 6,500 feet long) for sporadic sources of pollution." The drain commissioner's office will continue to respond to specific complaints of pollution problems, he added. Attached to the letter was a report from David DeMeglio, a chemist employed by the county, that indicated that samples taken from the drain inlet at Wolverine Lake last May showed phosphorus counts at the "lowest detection limit possible," and were not statistically significant. Samples taken at two sites showed .03 parts per million (ppm) of phosphorus, DeMeglio said. Other chemical levels found in the tests were nitrate, 1.36 and 1.66 ppm; iron, 2.93 and 6.40 ppm; and phosphate, 7.7 and 7.5 ppm. Village officials had complained that oil spills emanating from factories in Walled Lake had seeped into the drain, which flows under Pontiac Trail to Wolverine Lake. Village Council President John McLellan also has said that runoff from the parking lot behind the Camelot Inn in Walled Lake, which was blacktopped last fall without the approval of city officials, has increased the flow into the Greenway. The village council last year threatened to sue Walled Lake, if the city did not take action to resolve the pollution problem. City officials said, however, that they are not responsible for the county-owned drain, but have offered to work with the village to resolve the problem. A committee composed of officials from both communities was established to work together on drain problems.

Arrested youth performs disappearing act in Novi.

In Novi
Novi police are more than a little embarrassed about a prisoner who made what probably couldn't be described as a great escape — only an unexpected one — early in September.

liquor October 14 after police reportedly spotted him driving eastbound on Grand River Road west of Haggerty without his lights on and at an excessive rate of speed.

lot, pitched four pumpkins into the rear of his truck and taken off.
A second driver, emerging from a Cadillac Eldorado, helped himself to a pumpkin from the pile near the entrance to the store. He, too, drove off without paying.

The individual slipped away and slithered through the front door," Dick Faulkner, head of the detective bureau explained. "By the time we lighted after him, he had totally disappeared."

After Novi police stopped him, he was asked to recite the alphabet, but was unable to get past the letter "m," according to police.

Another $100 ticket has been issued to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad for allegedly holding up traffic at Ten Mile following arraignment so no great damage was done.

A series of breaking and enterings were reported at the Westgate and Waterview Farms apartment complexes along 14 Mile Road last week.

In Wixom
An alleged pumpkin thief was foiled in his attempts to pull off a pumpkin heist Saturday night by a sharp-eyed Wixom police officer.

Two cars were stolen October 15 in Novi, one along Nardere Street and another in the parking lot of Cardano's Pizza.

Stolen from a house along Nardere was a 1974 Dodge valued at $600. The vehicle was found missing by the husband of the owner when he returned home from a fishing trip.

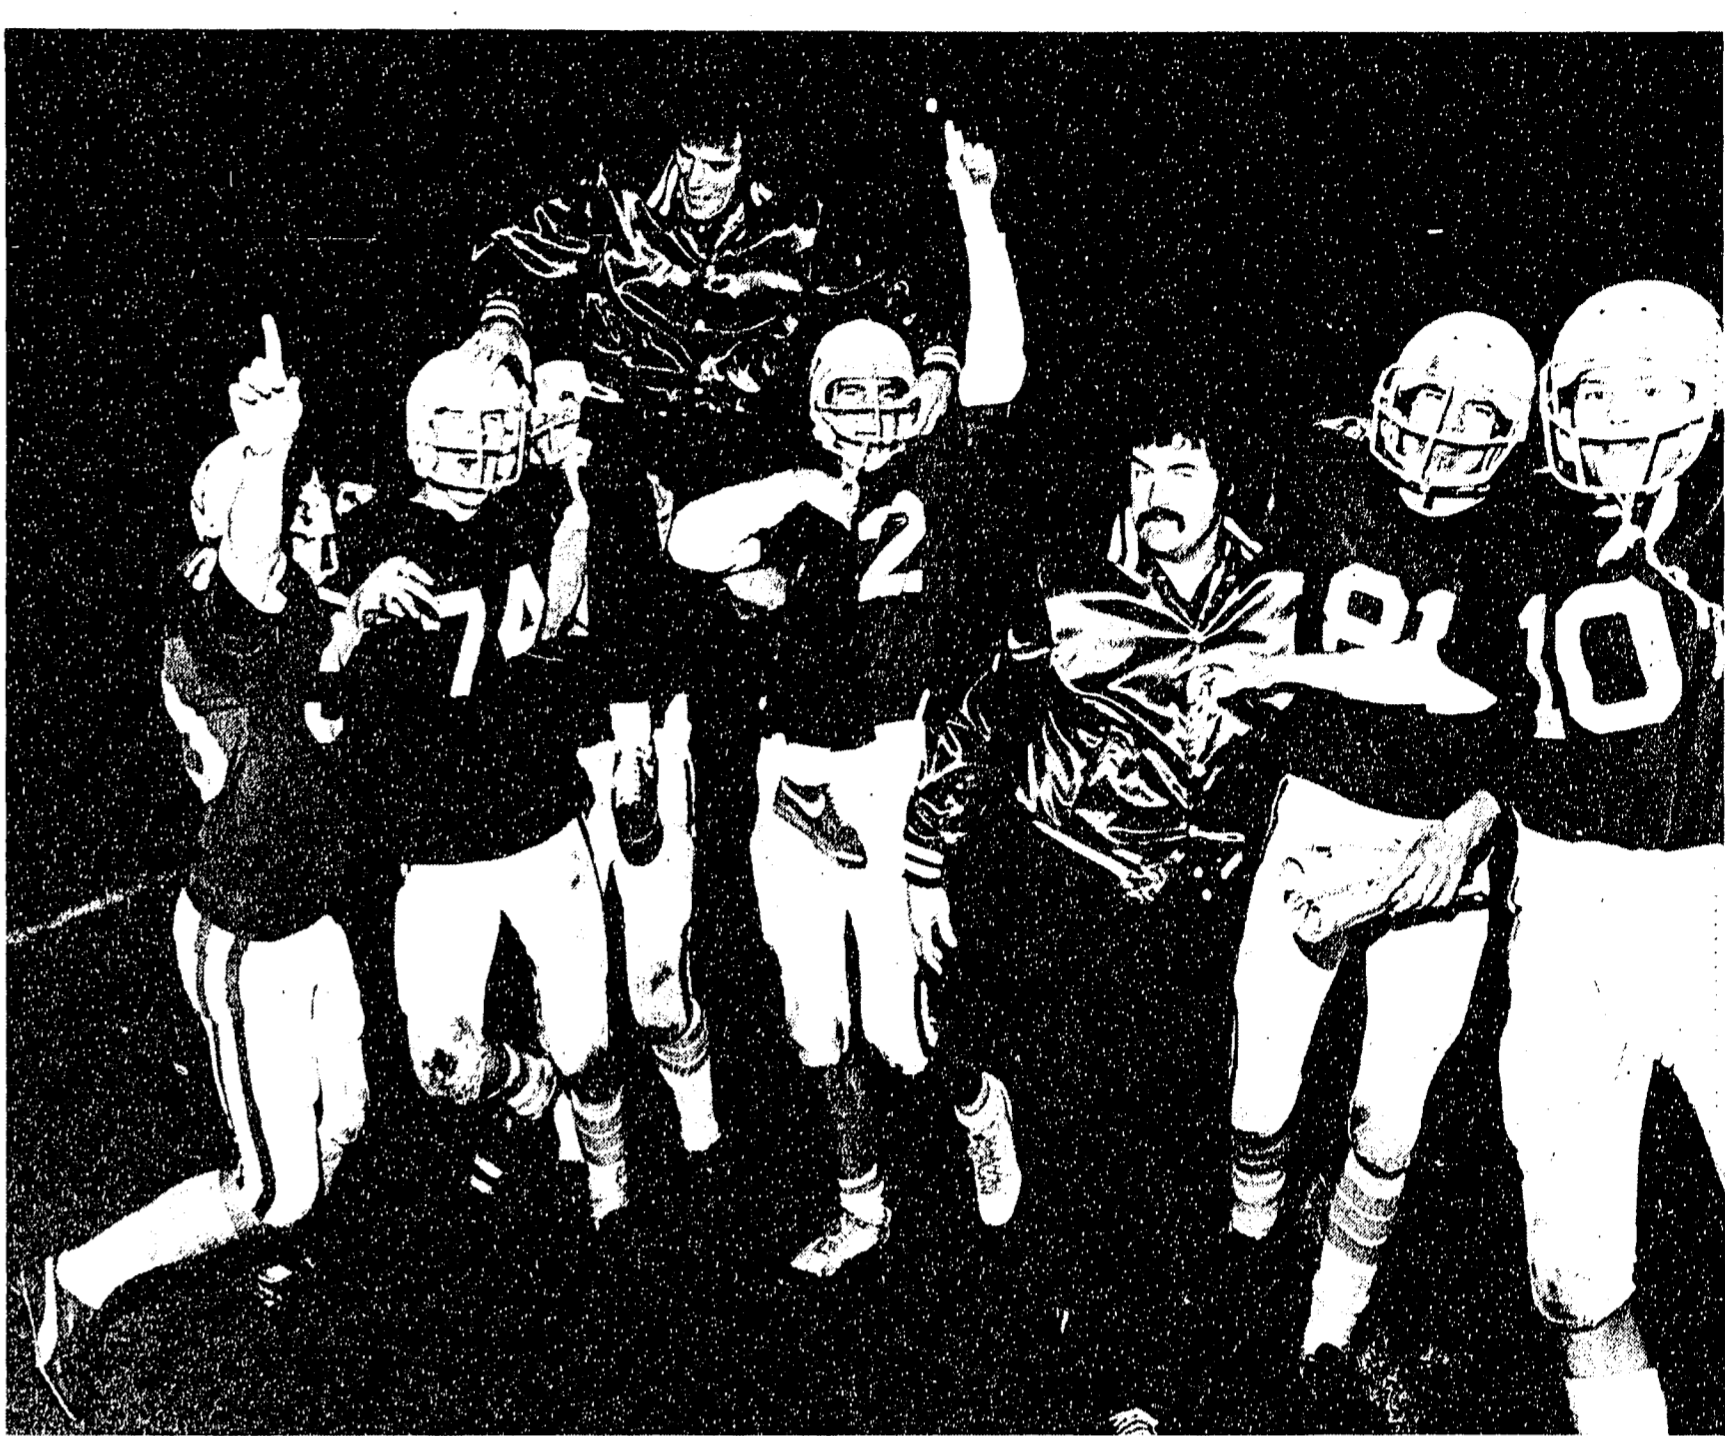

Similar reports of pumpkin snatchings were taken at the Wixom Food Mart on Wixom Road. An unknown man was said to have driven into the parking with a handgun, Springfield rifle and a Japanese World War II rifle, described as a collectors item, taken from a linen closet.

Vikings shut out Eagles in 20-0 homecoming win

Viking coaches Dick Woodworth (on shoulders) and John VanSicken get helped off the field following the Central homecoming win.

Walled Lake Central running stars Dave Ostyn and Charlie Ginstler broke loose for 176 yards and three touchdowns to lead the Vikings to a decisive 20-0 conquest of the Lakeland Eagles last Friday.

Manning the center spot on the Viking line were Mike Burke and Jim Scarnegie. B. J. Scott and Mark Hunter handled the guard positions, while Ed Smith and Steve Schneider took care of the tackle positions.

And after going through the entire 1977 season without a single victory to show for their efforts, the two wins thus far this season is a marked improvement.

The Vikings opened the scoring at the 10:42 mark of the second quarter when Ginstler broke loose on a 43-yard scoring dash. Mike Burke added the extra point to make it 7-0.

Dixon and Younggren star in golf regional

There was plenty of excitement for a couple of young Walled Lake golfers in the high school regional meet last Friday afternoon at Burroughs Farms in Brighton.

Our two juniors (Younggren and Sartles) were the lowest twosome in a seventh place finish overall at 340 strokes, while Dixon's Warrior unit was only four strokes back at 344.

Following Dixon for Walled Lake Western was Mark Zachary with an 84. Scott Kish and Wade Loring each shot an 88 to round out the Warrior foursome.

Each golfer hit a solid drive and chipped on to the green on his next shot, and then the tension really mounted.

In dual meet golf action last week, both the Warriors and the Vikings out-shot a league opponent. Western topped Livonia Churchill, 202-215, while Central clobbered Livonia Stevenson 200-240.

Michigan Mirror House committee delays tax scheme

By WARREN M. HOYT A tax shift plan to lower the state's property taxes and pick up the lost revenues by increasing the income tax has been postponed by the House Taxation Committee until at least after the November election. The proposed plan was delayed to eliminate any chance the shift to a higher income tax could give ammunition to proponents of the Headlee and Tishc ballot tax limitation and cut proposals. The original plan would have involved a total of $900 million, $400 million of that would have been cut from property taxes through an increased circuit breaker and another $500 million would have been cut through an increased personal exemption. The money would have been recovered through increasing the income tax rate from 4.6 to 5 percent. Montgomery told committee members to work on a tax shift plan during the campaign break, should either the tax limitation or tax cut measure be defeated, so the powers of the Legislature returns in mid-November. The original tax shift plan was the latest effort by House Democrats to devise some type of property tax reform this year. Before the September session began, House Speaker Bobby Crim said the plan, along with the transportation package (also including tax increases), lobbying reform and a conflict of interest bill, among the top priorities of the session. However as the session began and the State Board of Canvassers certified

History leaves mark on reservation

Continued from 1-C During cabin break-ins windows and mattresses have been destroyed and fire extinguishers set off. Recently, he caught some young smokers who almost set a stand of pines afire. "We have no choice now, we'll have to prosecute," Lacy says of vandals. But the Charles Howell Reservation welcomes visitors who want to tour the grounds if they check in at headquarters first. Scout troops of the Detroit Council have first crack at reservations but other area troops are welcome to use the facilities, too, Lacy said, as are school groups. For more information, contact Ken Paulson at the Detroit Area Boy Scout Service Center in Detroit; telephone 897-1965. The older cabins are slowly being replaced, Lacy said, and two new ones have recently gone up. But today, the pre-cut logs come in sections and cabins and can be built in a day. Scattered on the reservation are vestiges which still bear witness to the Indians, pioneers, trappers and farmers who used this land before the scouts. Part of an old stagecoach road which was probably a link to the main Grand River highway between Detroit and Lansing can still be walked in the south end of the property. Along the banks of the Ore Creek on this road are signs of a mill, thought to have been built by settlers about the time of the Black Hawk Indian War. It was probably used to make "wheat cradles," a tool designed to cut wheat. Also on the creek bank is a gnarled old tree that has come to be known as the "Dollar Sign" tree. The story has it that it was bent as a sapling as an Indian trail marker and instead of dying continued to grow at right angles. Has scouting changed over the years? Lacy feels kids are a little different, a little harder to handle now. But what concerns him more is the increased vandalism, mostly by non-scouts.

Carry 'survival kit' Brush up winter driving skills

Winter time demands special driving skills and a vehicle that is properly maintained and equipped for sub-zero driving and survival in an emergency, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. Controlling a car on icy pavement can be a problem. If a car skids, turn the front wheels in the direction the rear wheels are headed. Slowly straighten the front wheels as the car corrects. When roads are slippery, do not downshift or suddenly decelerate. To stop on ice, pump the brake pedal lightly and rapidly. Auto Club Emergency Road Service Manager Robert M. Smith adds that a home-made "survival kit" should be in every car trunk. It should cost $60 or less to assemble and contain a coffee can to radiate warmth from a lighted candle inside, newspapers for insulation when placed next to the skin under clothing and carpet strips for traction under drive wheels. Other suggested survival items are a blanket, shovel, flashlight, jumper cables, tire chains, boots, flares, reflectors, tools, first aid kit, sand, a scraper-brush and food. Smith notes, "Motorists who follow maintenance recommendations outlined in car owner's manuals can expect summer starts all winter without taking any other steps." According to Smith, 85 percent of all "can't start" calls received by Auto Club Emergency Road Service contract garages are the result of vehicle neglect, not vehicle failure. For motorists who have not followed maintenance procedures outlined in the owner's manual, Auto Club suggests this pre-winter program: Check the vehicle's fuel tank, fuel line, fuel pump, fuel filter, automatic choke and carburetor. Check the battery and replace it if necessary. Make sure it is fully charged, with fluid covering the plates. Terminals must be tight and corrosion-free. Check the fan and other belts and replace them if worn. A slipping belt can result in an undercharged battery. Replace spark plugs, points and condenser if needed. Inspect the radiator, heater hoses and clamps for leaks. Check antifreeze strength and levels. Effectiveness is reduced if water is added. Check and adjust or replace windshield wiper blades. Regularly add solvent to the windshield washer reservoir to prevent freezing. Auto Club also offers these suggestions to help guarantee winter starts: Keep the car in a garage, or at least park the car with the hood against or near a building to keep it free of the wind. On very cold nights, place a blanket or tarpaulin over the hood, or place a lighted electric bulb under the hood. Before starting, be sure the transmission is in park with all accessories off so there is no extra strain on the battery. Push the gas pedal to the floor and let up slowly to set the automatic choke. The accelerator should not be pumped since that floods the engine. Engage the starter for 10 seconds. If you flood the engine, depress the gas pedal to the floor, hold and engage the starter. The accelerator should be kept down until the engine starts. Keep the gas tank full to avoid fuel line freezing.

Campaign Trail Justice applauds court findings

Judge Alice Gilbert, non-partisan candidate for Michigan Supreme Court Justice, has applauded the findings of a special State Bar of Michigan Committee Report on Court Congestion. "The results of the study clearly identify for the people of Michigan who must accept the responsibility for the clogged, cluttered, and of times, chaotic court system in Michigan—the Michigan Supreme Court," she said. Judge Gilbert's comments came in remarks prepared for delivery today to the Lansing Rotary Club. According to Judge Gilbert, it is time for new justice on the Michigan Supreme Court. A new justice which will increase the accessibility of the courts to the people by streamlining the operation of the courts through the use of modern-day electronic and computer techniques. A new justice which will restore the people's confidence in the administering of justice by ending the case rather than technical points of the law. A new justice which will accept the responsibility of, and exercise, the leadership for all our courts.

OLHSA training program provides jobs for youth

A unique, two-pronged employment program administered by the Oakland Livingstone Human Service Agency (OLHSA) will put 58 youth to work in the two counties and result in their permanent employment.

The matching of employer with employee will be done by the OLHSA staff. Upon completing the necessary training, the trainee will be hired as a regular employee. This allows employers to provide prospective permanent employees with the exact training to fulfill the job requirements. It also allows the trainee to look forward to permanent jobs.

It was particularly unnerving to see several boxes of bright shiny snow shovels parked at the end of an aisle in the grocery store last week. The reminder of things coming, and far too soon, I might add, was disconcerting.

Pre-school helps handicapped kids

For the average youngster, preschool can be a tremendously fun learning and growing experience. For handicapped youngsters, preschool can make a crucial difference in the child's potential for development.

Some of the areas that are worked on include self-help skills, speech and language development, and motor coordination. A typical session might begin with free play in which the students are encouraged to communicate with each other as they play.

Walled Lake high schools slate 'parents nights'

The annual open house program at Walled Lake Central High School will be held Thursday, October 19, at 7:30 p.m.

Parents are offered the opportunity to view a portion of the new construction at the school. In addition, abbreviated classes will be held, giving parents a chance to meet the teaching staff while following their child's daily schedule.

Assistant Principal Harold Estep may be contacted at 624-1523 for more information. The evening is planned and coordinated by Central's PTSA group.

Walled Lake Western

The PTSA at Walled Lake Western High School has set Thursday, October 19, as "Back to School" night. The annual open house will be held at the school on Beck Road from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

A brief welcome and orientation in the auditorium by PTSA President Mrs. Randy Bryant will open the evening. An abbreviated class will be held for each class period with parents following their child's daily schedule.

Teachers will explain the subjects being studied and discuss the instructional program. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria at 9:30 p.m. PTSA members and school calendars will also be on sale.

Night at the Races

Golf Manor Subdivision will hold an entertaining "Night at the Races" on Saturday, October 28, at Northville Downs. Post time is 8 p.m.

Offering reserved seating in glass enclosed, heated box seats, tickets for the night with the trotters are priced at $3.50 each. The seats are located near all service areas. Not limited to residents of the subdivision, it is suggested anyone interested in the evening gather a group of friends and join the crowd. Reservations should be made with Verna Kios at 363-6751 before October 20.

Crafts and Kids

The Village Creek Garden Club will hold a craft lesson-demonstration on

Wixom man graduates

Airman Michael D. Gaffka has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Gaffka of Grand River Avenue in Wixom.

The airman, who is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field, studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs, and received special instruction in human relations. Completion of this training earned him credits toward and associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Friday, October 27 at the Novi Public Library.

With teacher Gretchen Pugsley at the lead, moms can learn the "how-to's" of making holiday bows and drying artichokes while their little ones attend a preschool story hour in the library. Both are planned to begin at 10:30 a.m. There is no charge for the story hour or the craft lesson. A watch or participate program, there will be a small fee for materials.

New Program

An organizational meeting of the Walled Lake School's committee on gifted and academically talented students is planned tonight (Wednesday, October 18), at the Walled Lake Junior High School. Beginning at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria, the meeting is open to anyone interested in the subject. The committee will study the needs of gifted students in the district and make recommendations for the development of a formal gifted program.

Goblins Coming

Ghosts and goblins will invade the casino building adjacent to the Plaza Market as the Walled Lake Area Jaycees offer their yearly Haunted House. Held on the grounds of the old Walled Lake Amusement Park, the location offers plenty of parking area. Little kids who love to get scared and their parents may visit the Haunted House from Thursday, October 26, through Monday, October 30. Hours each day will be from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Democratic Club

The Southwest Oakland Democratic Club will meet at the Novi Community Center on Novi Road on Tuesday, October 24, at 8 p.m. President Bill Brinker reported that a number of candidates have been invited to address the club at the meeting. Candidates for state representative, state senate, and the U.S. House of Representatives are expected to be on hand. All Democrats in Novi, Walled Lake, Wixom, Northville, New Hudson, and South Lyon are invited to attend. Additional information may be obtained from Duane LaMortaux in Northville or Bill Brinker in Novi.

Vocation Week

St. Williams Catholic Parish in Walled Lake will be celebrating "Vocation Awareness Week" with special guest speakers on Sunday, October 22, and Sunday, October 29. Sister Lois Paha will speak on vocations to the religious life at all Masses on Sunday, October 22, and Father Terry Kermer will speak on vocations to the priesthood at all Masses on Sunday, October 29.

Breastfeeding

The second in a series of four meetings on breastfeeding will be held in the home of Ruth Sill at 2434 Hampton Hill in Novi on Wednesday, October 18, at 8 p.m. The series is sponsored by the La Leche League. This session will deal with the art of breastfeeding and overcoming difficulties. The importance of breastfeeding is stressed not as an end in itself, but as an integral part of the Four State Proposals will be discussed at the next meeting of the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, October 25, at noon. The meeting will be held at K-Falls Lounge at 1900 Hiller Road. Philip Gajewski of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce will discuss the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment, the Tisch Amendment, the Educational Voucher Plan, and the Constitutional Convention questions in relation to their impact on business.

Are you going to vote for higher taxes on November 7?

The Levin Record: The Griffin Record:

1. RAISE YOUR COMMUTER INCOME TAXES "I urge vigorous and persistent efforts by our Council and Mayor to obtain from the legislature the right for Detroit to tax non-residents working in Detroit at the same rate as residents." — Carl Levin

1. CUT YOUR INCOME TAXES Senator Griffin, who favors a constitutional amendment to require the Federal government to balance its budget, is co-sponsor of legislation to cut individual income taxes an average of 30% over a period of three years. Taxes for a family of four earning $10,000 would be cut by 50%, earning $20,000 by 35%, and earning $40,000 by 34%.

2. RAISE YOUR SALES TAXES "He (Levin) urged... an increase in the state tax on cigarettes and alcoholic beverages which would raise an extra $40 million a year for Detroit..."

2. CUT YOUR INFLATION LOSSES Senator Griffin is pushing hard for legislation to end government "taxflation." As it is now, a pay raise that is supposed to keep a worker even with inflation just winds up shoving him into a higher tax bracket. The Griffin-Hart proposal would automatically adjust the tax tables each year to offset inflation.

3. RAISE YOUR INCOME AND PROPERTY TAXES WITHOUT YOUR CONSENT Detroit City Council Resolution: "Therefore be it resolved that the Detroit City Council go on record as opposed to an increase in the property or income taxes for the Detroit schools without the approval of a referendum vote of the Detroit voters." (LEVIN VOTED NO)

3. CUT YOUR EDUCATION COSTS Senator Griffin has been fighting hard for tuition tax credits to relieve education costs. He thinks it's time the middle income family finally got a break.

I'd like to see higher taxes and a lot more give-away programs. I think Levin can do the job.

I'm against higher taxes and inflation. I'm for Senator Griffin.

Paid for and authorized by the Committee for Senator Griffin.

Christmas Seal cards ready for sale

The 1978 Christmas cards from the "Christmas Seal People" are now available in the Novi-Walled Lake area. This year the Lung Association is offering 11 cards, including an attractive card which itself is a full color reproduction of 54 designs by children from each state of the 1978 Christmas Seals.

The Christmas cards are designed for broad appeal to the community as an additional source of income for the Association's work against lung diseases and programs against air pollution and smoking.

Each card includes this message: "This greeting helps support the nationwide health programs of the American Lung Association and its affiliates in the fight against lung disease." Contributions above the price of the cards are tax deductible.

The cards are available in boxes of 25 and are priced from $4.75 to $7.50 with about half the selections below $5. Impression is available at the time of order for a slight additional charge.

The Christmas card selection includes six exclusive cards which have been reproduced from original Christmas Seal designs. Among these is a reproduction of a 1889 Christmas Seal depicting children dancing around a Christmas tree ($5.25 for a box of 25).

There is also a striking Oriental nature scene from an original silk painting ($4.75) and an old fashioned sleigh ride scene ($4.75).

Brochures showing all cards and prices can be obtained from the Lung Association at 961-1697.

Career counseling is goal of clinic

A Career Counseling Clinic for parents and teens will be presented at the Mercy Center (Room 21) on Saturday, October 21, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

The clinic is offered by the Mercy Center in conjunction with Anderson Counseling Associates and the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College.

The clinic will address questions about career planning and occupations. There will be a discussion of the pro's and con's of colleges, universities and vocational training as well as some specific information about occupations that are available and their recompense.

Included on the panel will be Dr. Lois Brooks of Anderson Counseling Associates, Diana Yurk of Anderson Counseling Associates, and OCC Orchard Ridge Campus Dean Dean Nichols.

Dr. Brooks will address the topic of "Career Decisions." She notes that career decisions are important decisions, but the big question is how to make the correct decision relative to individual strengths and the realities of today's world.

Ms. Yurk will speak on "Awareness of Special Education Services and Parent Involvement." Numerous governmental programs and services are available to learning disabled youngsters with normal IQ's in helping them choose and follow a career. Parents can facilitate the decision making process.

Dean Nichols will speak on "Cooling out Function in Decision Making." He says that teenagers need to deal with the process of estimating realistic career goals and with the differing expectations of their parents and peers.

Cost of the program is $5 for the first family member and $3 for each additional member of the same family. The fee along with the name, address and telephone number may be sent to Jean Feterl at 28600 11 Mile in Farmington Hills 48018. Further information is available at 476-8010.
