Hasselhan is pretty happy about the way things have worked out. His mobile business has been a success so far.

"I repair old tools and anything that takes a handle." he says.

He seems to have found a home at the Twelve Oaks Auction Plaza on Novi Road and East Lake Drive, where he sets up camp facing the lake three times a week.

"I watch this place (the plaza) for the owner during the week rent-free, but on weekends I pay for my space," he says.

He works from the back of a 1968 Cadillac ambulance he bought from the Atco, New Jersey, fire department a year ago. It's his second mobile workshop, since he used to have an eight door Chrysler, formerly owned by a mavie studio in Hollywood.

Usually, his working day begins before 9 a.m. and he stays at the arcade until dark. He brings a cooler with enough food to last a week. Meals are cooked on his habatchi, using sticks and twigs for fuel.

"Oh, it takes me about half an hour to pack all this stuff up," he says as he surveys his array of tools. "But if it starts to rain - I can do it in 15

Most of Hasslehan's business comes around dinner time when customers slop by on their way home from work. "I've got quite a few regular guys who stop in, you know, electricians, plumbers and guys like that," he says. "They'll lose a wrench, or break a drill bit and come to me for replacements."

Before going into business for himself, Hasselhan fixed tools as a sideline for years. It even kept him off unemployment at one point.

"My house is paid for, I've got no bills and no dependents. I don't want to beg from them people — money ain't gonna run my life," he says.

Citizens push for park's millage slogan adopted by Novi Citizens for Parks and Recreation as they seek support for their upcoming millage proposal on the August ballot.

They are telling the community that Novi's parks and recreation program has made great progress in the past Tree years and the future holds even greater expectations.

It's part of a full-fledged campaign to promote support for a charter amendment which would allow permanent funding of up to one-half mill per year for the operations of parks and recreation programs in Novi. The charter amendment will appear on the August 5 primary election bailot.

Support stems from the tremendous progress the parks and recreation proyam has experienced in the past three years," said Parks and Recreation

"We've Only Just Begun." That's the Director Tom O'Branovic. "The expansion of programs, services and activities has brought about a great increase in participation by Novi residents. The committee feels this outstanding response has signaled the Importance of a comprehensive leisure program for the City of Novi."

He noted that the committee, which is made up of concerned citizens from throughout the community, will be meeting with groups and distributing flyers and posters to encourage support for the ballot question.

The committee's position is that financing for the parks and recreation department should not face the constant uncertainty of miliage renewal elections every three years - the current practice - in order to fund a "comprehensive leisure program."

Instead the committee supports a permanent miliage levy to fund operations of the department. "Residents already are paying one-half mill for Parks and Recreation so we're not talking about an increase in taxes," said O'Branovic.

Residents have paid one-half mill for parks and recreation programs for the last two years. The current three-year miliage is stated to expire June 30, 1981.

There is no difference between the amount of miliage that residents are currently paying for parks and recreation and the proposal on the August ballot. Rather the proposed millage would be levied annually without having to come before the voters every few years to be renewed. Voting down the miliage request proposed by the committee means they would continue to return to the voters every three years to request miliage for the parks and

However, it is necessary to amend the city charter before a permanent miliage for parks and recreation can be If approved by the voters, the addition of the one-half mill for parks and recreation would authorize the city to levy a total of up to nine mills per year. Under the current charter requirements the city is not allowed to levy more than 8.5 mills and that miliage is specifically earmarked. Any levy above and beyond the earmarked amount must be approved by the voters. Voters previously have approved additional millage levies for street and drainage improvements, parks and recreation and construction of the

Dixie Dealer leads boat parade

One year of inactivity hasn't cramped Howard Phillips' style in the least.

Phillips — the unofficial admiral of Wolverine Lake - came roaring back in fine style from an enforced one-year lay-off to cop top honors in Wolverine Lake Village's 1980 July 4 Boat Parade. In all honesty, it should be noted that the veteran Wolverine Lake sailor has plenty of help this year as he joined forces with Vic Sadler to claim the first place trophy in the pontoon division of this year's July 4 extravaganza.

Not content to enter just one boat, Phillips and Sadler linked their pontoon boats together into a single craft and then converted it to the "Village Dixle Dealer," a more or less authentic version of an old river boat gambling casino complete with card sharks and can-can girls on the upper deck.

Winning boat parades is nothing new for Phillips, however. He's been a winner almost every year since the annual event was instituted several years and is overrunning St. William's Center? Answer: Walled Lake's Summer Outreach Alternative Recreation (SOAR).

SOAR is flying high, in this its second year, providing Lakes Area youth with a summer recreational program. Located primarily in the St. William's Center, other activities take place in and on Walled Lake Junior High School grounds.

Between 25 and 30 youths, aged 10-18, participate daily with a total 150 youngsters registered for the program, according to St. William's Youth Minister Ed Hunter. He added that numbers surge as high as 50 on special Activities included in the summer program are games, dances, arts and crafts, wilderness survival training and swimming. Special activities are planned weekly and have already included a trip to Kensington

Waterford and a Detroit Tiger baseball game. Daily activities also include ping-pong, pool and the use of the junior high school gym-

According to Hunter, the average age of participating youngsters has changed within the past year. Whereas previous participants bordered on the 14-16 age bracket, this year's SOAR youth are younger, mostly between 10 and 14. Hunter claimed that acceptance of summer jobs, especially at the Twelve Oaks Mall has contributed to the declining age of Goals in the program appear simple enough in offering area youth an opportunity for a little "fun in the sun," but Hunter admitted that it sometimes goes beyond that.

"One of our main goals is to maintain oneto-one working relationships and offer the opportunity to build relationships," Hunter said. "There aren't a lot of things to do being of-

Julie Kemp, Maple Beach supervisor, agreed that supervision is important even in private sectors. She added that precautions can be taken to make water fun more safe on orivate beaches.

Roping off an area and restricting it for swimming prevents speed boats from coming hemselves, Kemp said. Also, she added, the placement of a raft within range of the beach themselves tired and alone in the water. Now... cash in on our July New Car Money Sale.

Right now, you can swing a great deal on a new car at most any Dealer's in town. And, from now until July 31, you can make that deal even sweeter with a Manufacturers Bank slashed-rate auto loan.

For example, the interest on our 36-month loan has been reduced from 15.75% annual percentage rate to 13.50% annual percentage rate. To get an idea of just how much you can save, look at the chart below.

Another great feature of our auto loan is that it is a "Plain and Simple Loan." It's different from the traditional type of installment loan, because you only pay interest for the actual number of days you have the loan. The faster you pay it off, the less interest you pay.

Take advantage of your Dealer's special sales on new cars and our special sale on new car money. But hurry. Our sale ends July 31.

Novi youngsters are learning that there's a lot more to games than winning or losing through the Novi Parks and Recreation Department's summer playground program. Parks and Rec personnel have introduced youngsters to the "New Games" movement which emphasizes good old fashioned fun in a non-competitive atmosphere. One of the "New Games" introduced this summer utilizes a parachute as a piece of playground equipment. These youngsters at the Or-chard Hills Elementary School playground had a great time with the parachute last week. In the picture above, B.J.

Weiburg is literally engulfed by the parachute, while Pam Butler, Bryan Greenfield, Cory Greenfield, Matt Mitchell, Ed Mitchell and Mike Schwartz (below, top) also enjoy the good times under a parachute. Approximately 200 Novi young people are participating in the playground programs which are offered at Orchard Hills, Village Oaks Elementary and Lakeshore Park. Participation in most activites is free of charge, although youngsters are asked to pay for special events. (Staff photos by John Galloway).

Passive recreation to be focus in Lakeshore Park

Novi eyes master plan for Walled Lake park

Plans that could make Lakeshore Park a more pleasant place for a picnic are currently being studied by the Novi Parks and Recreation Commission. Parks and recreation commissioners got their first view of a master plan for further improvements to the park at last week's session. The city has been facelifting Lakeshore Park with federal funds for the past three years. Primarily, the proposed park master plan calls for three image changes in the park. The most active events would be concentrated near the front of the park. Less active types of recreation would be concentrated toward the middle of the park, and "passive" recreation areas such as nature trails would be planned toward the rear of the park. "We're excited about the plan," said

Parks and Recreation Director Tom O'Branovic. "It uses the resources of the park without calling for real expensive improvements." O'Branovic said the plan is in its early stages and still is being reviewed by the parks department and the commis-The plan ultimately will be recom-mended to the Novi City Council for approval. If the council approves the plan, the department would proceed with efforts to secure funds to carry out the The city currently has $37,000 in

Should council approval be forthcompark, extending approximately oneing, the parks department would go out to bid on the improvement projects and construction could begin this fail. Development of the beach and security lighting for the front of the park would be among the first projects undertaken. O'Branovic projected.

Under the proposed plan the road pattern through the park would be moved. The entrance which currently is hidden by a hill would be moved west to improve visibility for drivers on South Lake Drive. Moving the entrance and the road into the park also will improve safety inside the park, O'Branovic said. Currently, children must cross a road to get from one side of the park to a tunnel taking them to the beach area.

The road would be moved to the opposite side of the parking lot, lessening he safety hazard, O'Branovic sald. As the road is shifted, it is likely some offroad parking places would be provided within the park. The more active events in the park would be concentrated toward the front, the parks director continued. Activities at the children's play lot and on a one-eighth mile fitness trail are proposed nearest the entrance.

A picnic shelter for group activities or reunions also is planned in that area.

A public hearing on the proposed master plan for Lakeshore Park has been scheduled for the city council's courts. The tennis courts and ball fields Next a nature trail and cross-country trail which would loop through the half mile has been suggested. The trail requires mainly a base of wood chips. O'Branovic said the project is not as expensive as a ball field, but can be used by a wide range and large number of people.

Another new activity proposed for the park is the disk golf course. A frisbeelike disc is thrown across a course similar to a golf course. "Disc golf requires minimal costs to install and is easily maintained. The majority of the cost is in purchasing a kit of equipment for the game. It's gain ing acceptance as a sport nationwide," O'Branovic said. Plans for the rest of the park call for retention of the natural setting, primarily for picnickers. O'Branovic describes the rear of the park as a "passive" recreation area.

orientation of the park will be in contrast to the city's second major park -Ella Mae Power Park - being planned on Ten Mile in the municipal complex. Power Park will have numerous soccer, softball and baseball fields, tennis courts and similar highly active recreational uses. But hiking and picnicking will largely be the theme of Lakeshore Park. "The general atmosphere of Lakeshore Park has come a long way in the past three years," O'Branovic said. "More and more people have been telling me they feel more comfortable out there. The beach is being used all the time. Finally, people are finding the park. Now the're saying 'I didn't even know this was here — this is nice.' With added improvements we hope even more people will be able to enjoy it." A public hearing on the proposed master plan for Lakeshore Park, prepared by landscape architects Anderson & Lesniak and Associates, has been scheduled for the city council's July 21 session.

Assistant Superintendent for Business Harry Carlson has presented the school board with three different budgets for the 1980-81 school year over the past four months. Revisions of preliminary budget figures are necessitated by changes in revenue projections as they relate to the extent of State Aid funding under consideration in

In his March budget, Carlson projected that the Walled Lake Schools would have a "red figure" of $717,000 in 1980-81. The board subsequently enacted cutbacks of $297,000 that trimmed the projected deficit to $420,000.

Carlson returned to the board with a revised budget on June 16 which projected a "red figure" of $877,000. The projection included the $297,000 that previously had been chopped by the board, meanneighborhood of $1,174 million if the cuts had not been enacted.

Now, Carlson has presented another revised budget which projects that the deficit has increased to $1.057 million (it would have been $1.354 million without the budget cuts).

Carlson has attributed the increasing size of the projected deficit to reductions in State Aid financing. Last year, the Walled Lake Schools received some $3.62 million under the State Aid membership formula. This year Carlson has projected that the district will receive $1.17 million in State Aid membership payments.

Carlson also noted that the

> Presently, the school board and administration appear reluctant to seek additional millage. The attitude in all probability is due to skepticism created by the loss of three millage elections in 1979 and the recognition of the economic

Instead, the district is proposing to "cover" the projected $1.057 million deficit by digging into its fund equity (savings) account which is projected to amount to approximately $1.2 million.

A fund equity account of $1.2 million is sufficient to cover a $1.057 million deficit. Unfortunately, it leaves a safety margin of only $143,000 that is dangerously thin.

The legislature has already chopped several hundred thousand dollars from its proposed State Aid formula, and insiders are predicting that State Aid funding could well be further reduced before it's finally approved.

Additionally, Governor Milliken has already enacted one executive budget cut which will trim some $203,000 from Walled Lake's State Aid payment in August. Again, insiders are concerned that another executive budget cut could be ordered in October or November.

When the potential for loss of additional state revenues is taken into consideration, a safety margin of $143,000 does not appear at all

If all this sounds overly pessimistic, perhaps it is. After all this commentary is based on "projections" and the fears of so-called "insiders." And yet we see the potential for major economic difficulties in the Walled Lake School District in the months ahead.

In fact, the planners' decision to recommend approval of the rezoning was cheered by the handful of interested citizens who remained for the hearing.

That's when Roethel interjected what appeared at first to be a note of negativism.

Specifically, Roethel noted that restaurants are permitted in the city's I-1 (light industrial) zoning district under a special use permit. But he questioned whether plans to convert the Rogers Mansion were in compliance with the city's zoning ordinance.

The planners then launched into a discussion of "strict versus liberal" interpretation of zoning standards.

Plans to convert the fine old mansion on Nine Mile generally have been well-received by all involved. An initial reaction to Roethel's remarks was that he was attempting to throw cold water on the proposal.

Upon closer scrutiny, however, Roethel's point is valid.

If a zoning ordinance is to retain its credibility, it must be applied equally and fairly to every proposal. To apply a liberal interpretation to some proposals and a strict interpretation to others erodes the value of the standards

I will vote not out of obligation but because as citizens we are entitled to vote — and right or wrong it will be my opinion.

It's an opportunity to express an opinion. One vote can make a difference. Especially if a lot of people take the attitude they are not going to exercise their right to vote. As far as I'm concerned if a lot of people don't vote that can make a difference.

It's interesting sometimes to look back to see how the past compares with the present.

Take 1950, for example. It was that year. 30 years ago, that I graduated from high school into a troubled future. A nation had invaded another; armed conflict, the draft, and an alarming inflation rate had everyone worried in the summer of '50.

Many of us felt then, as many of us feel today, that things couldn't be worse. All three of the '50 worries pushed most other subjects off the front page. The same three worries are in the limelight today.

Looking back one wonders if '50 was all that bad. The Korean war proved disastrous. of course, but it wasn't as bad as the Vietnam war that followed. And the '50 inflation pales in the face of the present.

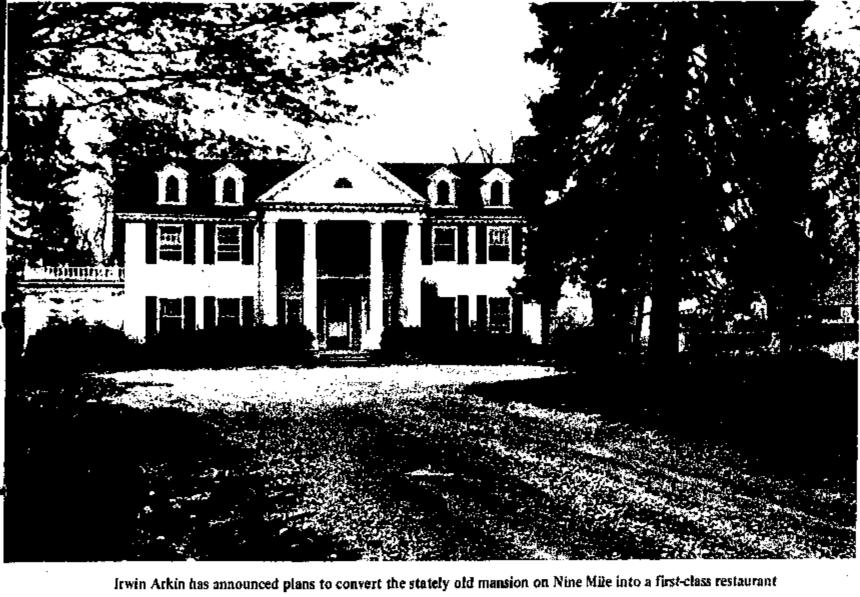

In the summer of '50 local area resident. were angry because inflation made the 1950 dollar worth 40 cents less than the 1940 dollar. Cost of labor, food, clothing and housing was "out of sight."

For example, locally, unskilled workers at Maybury Sanitarium were receiving an unheard of high wage of $2,654; cost of a new ranch style, four-bedroom house on a twoacre hilltop lot in this area had shot up to. $14,500, and an old three-bedroom home on 🌮 four-acre partly-wooded site cost nearly

Parks and Rec offers summer playground programs

By JEANNE CLARKE

The Novi Parks and Recreation Department's "summer playground" program is in full swing at the Orchard Hills and Village Oaks elementary schools and Lakeshore Park.

Parks and Rec Director Tom O'Branovic sald the playground programs are being operated on a drop-in basis this year, meaning that all youngsters are welcome to stop in at the playgrounds free of charge. There may be fees for specific activities,

The program is open at Orchard Hills and Village Oaks elementary schools Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1-3:30 p.m. The Lakeshore Park program is open every Monday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Regular activities include sports, scavenger hunts and crafts projects as well as visits from the Oakland County mobile recreation units. Also scheduled are field trips to such places as the Detroit Zoo, Oakland County wave pool and Kensington Metropark. Additional information on the sum-

"Weight Control and Nutritional Needs" describes the national nutrition goals set lown by the United States Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs. It includes the parallels between those goals and the objectives of programs offered by Weight Watchers.

Heredity, early feeding practices and eating habits that relate to overweight problems among infants are discussed in "The Fat Child ... Born or Made?" An analysis of the impact obesity can "Overweight and Your Health — The Vital Connection." Specifically, the brochure details the relationship between overweight and a host of systemic allments such as heart disease, diabetes and respiratory problems. A brochure offering valuable rules for controlling the urge to snack and suggestions on which foods are suitable for snacking is contained in "Snacking on a Weight Control Program." Weight Watchers say that snacking is taboo if you are trying to loose weight. The brochure extends enlightening information that tells weight conscious people how to snack without abotaging a weight control program.

State budget cut proposals draw stiff criticism

By WARREN M. HOYT

The Michigan League for Human Services has declared that Governor William G. Milliken's proposals for dealing with the budget strain due to the recession puts too much of the burden on poor people, who are the least able to cope with the recession

The league was critical both of the 1980-81 budget proposals and of some of the social services cuts already implemented in the current year execulive order budget cuts.

Meanwhile, the governor is working on further revisions to his 1980-81 proposals to deal with further declining revenues and rising welfare caseloads. Zolton Ferency, representing the league, said the governor's proposals mean those who are deprived will have to suffer more heavily than others. William Marshall of the Michigan are classified as employable. That would affect more than 40,000 persons or about half of the general issistance caseload. Marshall said the premise of the recommendation — that jobs are more plentiful in the summer - is without basis, since the addition of jobs is more than matched by the number of persons seeking jobs. He labeled the proposal as Also criticized was a proposed 50 percent cut in funding for the emergency needs program, when the league said inflation and rising unemployment
