Residents still object to convenience center

Condominium Association renewed their opposition to a proposed convenience shopping center on Eight Mile at a public hearing of the Novi Planning Board last week.

The Country Place residents are up in arms about a request from the Weatherford-Walker Company to rezone an 18-acre parcel on the north Meadowbrook and Novi roads from its existing single family residential classification to a commercial designation.

Specifically, the Weatherford-Walker

Residents of the Country Place Company has requested that the front of the parcel be rezoned "commercial" to permit development of a convenience shopping center and the back portion of the parcel be rezoned to a multiplefamily residential classification.

> Representatives of the company have proposed construction of a shopping center on the Eight Mile frontage which would include Kroger's, Perry Drugs and A.C.E. Hardware as its major > Country Place residents showed up in force to oppose the proposed zoning change at an August X public hearing. The planners took no action on the a proposed revision of the city's master plan has not yet been adopted.

The hearing was subsequently continued to September 18 under the belief that the revised master plan would have been adopted. The revised master plan has not yet been officially adopted, however, even though planners have given their approval to a proposed master plan that will be considered for official adoption at a public hearing in the Middle School South cafetorium on October 22.

The existing master plan does not propose a shopping center at the Eight Mile location, but a commercial request at that time, however, because designation is proposed at that location on the master plan that will be considered at the October 22 hearing.

The planners decided to proceed with the public hearing last Wednesday in spite of a request from Richard Walker that the hearing be continued until the first meeting date following the October 22 hearing for adoption of the master

Opposition to the rezoning request was led by Ernest Arruffo of the Country Place Condominium Association who submitted petitions bearing the names of 589 citizens opposed to the proposed convenience shopping center.

Noting that convenience centers are designed to accommodate the day-today shopping needs of residents within a two-mile radius, Arruffo said that substantial commercial development already exists within a two-mile radius of Country Place.

In addition to the existing center at Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road, Country Place residents also can shop at two existing centers on Seven Mile in Northville Township as well as downtown Northville, he said.

Arruffo further cited the potential for a traffic hazard that could be created by locating the shopping center on the curve near the intersection of Griswold Street with Eight Mile.

"We just don't need it (the shopping center)," Arruffo told the planners. "We want to retain the rural, quiet, pastoral character of this area."

Additional opposition to the proposed rezoning was expressed by Mr. and Mrs. William Chase, the owners of a large parcel of land located north of Eight Mile between Novi and Meadowbrook Roads.

Mrs. Chase said they have attempted to maintain a residential orientation on the property. "It's rather upsetting after we've tried to keep it residential to have this spot zoning come along and have a shopping center right across the street from our home," she said.

Mr. Chase said there will be "a definite and positive deterioration of residential property values if you're going to try to squeeze a shopping center in there.

"We don't need another shopping center," he continued. "We already have more shopping centers in the area than we can use."

Helen Seward, another Country Place resident, also cited the existence of available shopping areas. She said there does not appear to be much business at either the Ten Mile/-Meadowbrook shopping center or the shopping centers on Seven Mile in Northville Township.

"We conducted a survey which shows rezoning request.

there are presently 31 empty stores within a two mile radius." she said. "Another shopping center on Eight Mile will just put more stores out of business."

Members of the planning board made relatively few comments during the public hearing.

Planning Board Chairman Donald Gleason noted that "nobody wants to live near a convenience commercial center, but they have to be located somewhere;" and Planner Paul Mastrangel stated that planners must consider the overall community.

He noted that Meadowbrook Road residents are concerned about the amount of traffic and suggested that an equitable distribution of commercial centers would prevent one area of the city from bearing the commercial traffic from other areas of the city.

After listening to the input from citizens, the planners decided to close the public hearing. The planners said they will consider the rezoning request at their November 19 meeting, after the October 22 meeting to officially adopt the revised master plan.

Planners noted that no further testimony regarding the rezoning request will be heard at the November 19 session and discussion will be limited to the planners' consideration of the Additional opposition to the rezoning request was expressed last week by Northville Mayor Paul Vernon who told the Novi Planning Board that development of a commercial center on Eight Mile could hinder efforts Northville's downtown development program.

"As you may know, the City of Northville is in the process of a downtown renovation project, which is a bond supported public improvement project involving tax capturing under the Michigan Downtown Development Act," Vernon told the Novi planners at a public hearing to consider the

"The soundness of this project and the future growth of our downtown depends on commercial revitalization of our downtown business district, and in line with this we are encouraging our existing commercial areas, and discouraging commercial development on the outlying fringe areas," Vernon continued.

"In the past several years, in line with this policy, we have rejected two proposals for commercial rezoning on Eight Mile Road in the area of Taft Road in the City of Northville.

"If the area you are considering was within the City of Northville, we would also reject commercial zoning for that area of Eight Mile Road," the Northville mayor added.

Vernon also said that Northville's

In conclusion, Vernon urged the Novi planners to "consider whether this commercial development is in the overall interest of the larger community, and whether commercial development in the City of Novi might not be better centralized on the Grand River corridor where it already has developed."

"We want to make downtown Northville the type of area that brought people out here in the first place." Vernon added.

"We are encouraging and soliciting your support for our efforts.'

Schools consider joining lawsuit against Milliken

By KATHY JENNINGS

Depending upon the cost, Novi Schools may become a party to a law suit testing the constitutionality of an executive order issued in May by Governor William Milliken which slashed state funding to schools by $35

The Troy school board is considering intiating such a suit and has sent inquiries to 122 school districts statewide in an attempt to learn whether there is interest in pursuing a class action suit against the executive budget cut. A class action suit is law suit joined by a large number of parties who have the same complaint against the party being sued.

Milliken cut state funding for schools as part of a $97 million cutback in all state spending in May. In spreading the cutback in funds, each district was forced to cut from their budgets an equivalent of 1.1 percent of the amount received in local property tax revenues. Novi — and all other districts in the state which have a tax base and student enrollment which make them ineligible for state funding on a per-pupil basis were queried about their willingness to enter a class action suit by the Troy Board of Education.

Those school district receive state funds only for specific programs, such as transportation, vocational education and special education.

Maureen Kelly, administrative assistant to the superintendent of Troy Schools, explained their school board initiated the inquiry as a result of a concern over the loss of revenue to the schools. Their legal counsel - Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone - gave a preliminary opinion that the governor's action might have been unconstitutional. However, the attorneys have not been authorized to fully review the question and no formal opinion has been rendered, Kelly said. If it is pursued the lawsuit would be based on the argument that the state is required by the Headlee Amendment to fund mandated programs. By reducing state aid to schools, the governor may have violated that portion of the constitution, Kelly explained.

She added that the Troy school board has not yet committed itself to proceeding with the lawsuit, but merely to determine whether other districts are interested in participating.

Kelly predicted the earliest the Troy schools might decide to proceed with the constitutional test would be at their October 7 meeting.

She reported that to date 17 of the 122 districts contacted have responed positively, while a number have requested more information, especially regarding the potential cost of such litigation. Districts are proceeding cautiously since the cost of litigation eventually could exceed the amount of revenue lost as a result of the executive order. Kelly said. The latter position was the one taken by the Novi Board of Education who agreed last week to investigate the possibility of pursuing the class action

Novi schools lost $72,000 as a result of the executive order cutting aid to The cost of this pending litigation proposed by Troy would be determined by a formula which correlates to the number of students enrolled in the participating districts, Superintendent Robert Piwko told the school board.

School board members did not commit themselves to more than an investigation of possibility of joining the lawsuit, however.

Piwko told the board that the lawsuit would serve a dual purpose - to determine the constitutionality of this specific executive order and set a precedent for any future orders reducing funding to schools. Trustee Norman Miller questioned the purpose of a class action suit. "Does the number of school districts participating affect the judgement or the legality of the matter?" Miller

Piwko responded that if many districts joined the suit it would "bring pressure in terms of numbers."

Board members indicated that when more definite cost estimates are available and before "any papers are filed" they want to review the question again. However, they agreed to notify Troy that they are interested in looking into the matter further.

Of three tax proposals to appear on by 18 percent and possibly as much as the November ballot - the Smith-Bullard, the Executive Coalition and Tisch - the Tisch Amendment would have the greatest impact on the city's finances and operations by invalidating sections of the city charter, Novi council members were told Monday.

Effects to the city from the Smith-Bullard proposal are minimized by the fact that it deals primarily with a shift to the state for financial responsibility for public education in grades kindergarten through 12, Assistant City Manager Alex Allie explained.

Because it includes a plan to reimburse local municipalities for added administrative responsibilities at the local level, the Executive Coalition tax proposal also will have only a moderate impact upon Novi, Allie told the council.

Should Tisch pass, Allie projected Kthat in the first year of implementation the city could have to reduce its budget 25 percent.

Happy Birthday

He explained that under Tisch, assessments on all property would be rolled back to 1978 levels and then cut in half. As new property comes on the rolls it is to be assessed at 1978 values. That provision effectively would reduce the city's tax base by 66 percent, Allie estimated. In subsequent years residential assessments can increase by two percent annually, while assessments on other types of property rise at the rate of inflation under the Tisch plan. To make up the some of the shortfall created by reducing assessments, funding by the state is to be set at a level equal to the amount the city levies for operations.

Apparently, municipalities would be allowed to levy the maximum miliage allowed by charter and would not face the annual rollbacks imposed by the Headlee amendment previously

Since existing debts must be paid bùt assessments have been reduced to 1978 levels and cut in half, debt millages would be increased by more than double, Allie expects.

Beauty wins contest

Not every grandmother gets a chance to enter a beauty contest - and wins. But then, Lucille Collins isn't every grandmother. "I'm the kind of person that's game to do mything," she declares. Mrs. Collins might belong to the Novi-Lakes Area Senior Citizens, but she is a youngster at heart. And her willingness to try something different was evident recently when she got up on stage before approximately 3,000 people at the Michigan State Fair in order to participate in the senior citizens'

It was senior citizens' day at the fair, a day dedicated to helping seniors enjoy themselves at one of the state's oldest and most well-known events. Free gifts and tasty food made up part of the day — contests also added to the festivities. There were contests to see who had the most grandchildren, who had been married most recently, who was the oldest person and who was

But Mrs. Collins' qualities just didn't fit into those categories. So when the beauty contest began, she decided it was her time to shine and "I just wanted to get up there," she says. "I tried to get some of the others up there but they wouldn't go." So she went alone.

The contest was judged by an emcee who held his hand over the head of each contestant; winners were selected by the amount of applause they received from the audience. Lucille Collins captured the hearts of enough voting seniors to take home an honorable mention. Although Mrs. Collins says she never really gave much thought to competing in beauty contests, she admits, "when I was younger I thought of it, but I never had the time to do it." Truthfully, it doesn't sound as though she has the time now, either. The grandmother of seven keeps "very active" in the senior citizens group, the

Northville Lioness Club and the Novi United

Furthermore, she spends quite a bit of time at the clubhouse in the Village Apartments complex in Wixom, where she has lived for several years. There she hobnobs with the younger set, attending disco and TGIF parties, as well as playing pool with the guys and girls who can keep up with her.

Department, police heads given salary increases by Walled Lake

Salary increases were given to both city department heads and supervisory police officers in Walled Lake last Tuesday. Walled Lake's City Council unanimously approved both increases granting department heads a five percent jump based on the last salary figures in the present fiscal year budget and supervisory officers a nine percent plus $100 hike.

Department heads were previously budgeted at a five percent increase in this year's city budget. The latest action pushes their salaries to a 10 percent hike for the year. Supervisory officers were granted an increase because of their omission from the recently ratifled police and fire contract. It was originally proposed that the officers receive a nine and a half percent increase, but council members protested that idea - noting the figure would bring them close to department

Mayor Gaspare LaMarca did not agree with the view. LaMarca told council the salary differential between supervisory officers and department supervisors was key in the decision.

The mayor noted that the officers made only $19,000 versus the department heads' $29,000, and the percentage increase would still not put them in a close range to each other. Don Lee, a former council member present in the audience, offered council the solution of going to a lump sum in addition to the comparable increase to the ratifled contract.

Police and firefighters received a nine percent hike in that agreement. Council Member Linda Ackley favored the idea. "Give them the sum now and in future years keep the same percentage (as given other officers)," Ackley said. She added that the move would automatically leave the supervisors that much ahead of other officers in the future.

Roger Cote, Raymond Knapp and Don Sanderson were the three supervisory officers not covered by the recent agreement. And Cote said options would not be explored until final approval of the contract. Yesterday morning those three met with LaMarca to discuss possible solutions as well as acceptance of that increase.

According to a report from the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson (J&A), three Novi subdivisions - Pioneer Meadows, Echo Valley and Salow Walnut Hill — have "obvious pollution problems" due to poor soil conditions and the failure of several existing septic fields.

In fact, Keith Krinn of the Oakland County Public Health Department has recommended that sewers be extended to the Pioneer Meadows subdivision "at the earliest opportunity."

Further, the J&A report asserts a potential for pollution problems in a large part of the City of Novi, although there is no conclusive evidence that water is currently being polluted by the failure of septic systems.

The point is, however, that Novi does have a problem with sewers. Additional capacity is needed, not only for future growth but also to accommodate existing needs.

The Wayne County DPW currently is conducting a study to design the so-called super sewer wastewater treatment plant and interceptor lines through a $4.86 million federal grant approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in May.

Simply stated, the study is being conducted to determine whether super sewer should be extended to the northern portion of the proposed regional system's service area, including Novi, Commerce Township, Northville and Northville Township.

The service area for the proposed super sewer project was initially designed to include Novi and other northern communities, but those communities were excluded on the basis of a recommendation from the EPA in November 1978 that the proposed super sewer project be extended only as far north as Canton Township.

Specifically, the commissioners turned down a recommendation to exercise its option to purchase the Michigan Department of Social Services guilding on E. West Maple in Walled Lake and convert it into new court facilities.

The court is currently located in the Walled Lake City Hall, but the city needs the extra space and is anxious for the court to find a new facility. Further, the need for a: larger court facility is necessitated by the addition of a third judge to the first division bench in January.

The county has an option to purchase the building for $200,000, while preliminary estimates of renovation costs have been pegged at approximately $630,000.

While most of the attention has been focused on efforts to find a new home for the court facilities, the proposal to transfer the 52nd District Court to the Department of Social Services building involves another issue.

And, needless to say, it's a long drive from Walled Lake, Wixom, Commerce and Novi as well as Milford and South Lyon to Pontiac.

Worse yet, it's a drive that many of the people who need the services provided in the Walled Lake facility simply cannot afford to make - either because of the cost of transportation or the unavailability of transportation.

Members of the Lakes Agency Council expressed their views at the Oakland County Board of Commissioners meeting last week. The opinions they expressed are important and should be heeded.

Hopefully, county commissioners will consider the importance of providing facilities for social service agencies in western Oakland County in any decision to relocate the 52nd District Court in the existing Social viable candidate?

If one of Cronkite's pollsters called me today, I'd say I'm voting for Anderson. That doesn't mean I will, but I am all for his candidacy. After all, one is not obliged to keep one's word to a pollster.

Is John Anderson a reasonable alternative? Sure, he has the qualifications, and he's right on at least 70 percent of my issues. But so is President Carter. However, the issue around J.A. is not "the issues". It's what his relationship is to the major parties.

In short, how is Anderson altering the political process? Only time will tell, but there are two possibilities which come to mind: the emergence of a new "major" party and/or more responsiveness from the old major parties.

In other countries multiple parties have meant groups whose views are most alike compromise over the issues on which they disagree on. An out-party can influence the in-party and have a say in government even if it

There are many problems our country has not been able to deal with-international banking, economic discrimination against women and minority men, the world food supply. This change in our political structure could help us get moving again.

Can Anderson win? Lots can happen between now and November. How will I decide who to vote for? I'll weigh carefully what the candidates are saying on the issues. I will not consider a vote for Anderson a wasted vote or lost vote. Issues will be the deciding factor.

ELIZABETH H. GIESE

John Anderson is doing the voters of our country a disservice by running as an independent candidate for

I met John Anderson at the Republican Lincoln Day Dinner last year and heard him speak. He is an "accomplished orator"; however, this does not make him the best candidate. So far, I am not aware of any definitive position taken by Anderson on any national issue in this election. He is running a negative "against" Carter and Reagan's campaign.

To me, he is an opportunist who is aware, as we all are, that Carter has been a "do-nothing" President with a poor record and Reagan's past outspoken statements have alienated some of the more liberal voters of both service agencies which are presently located in the building?

If the court takes over the Services building in Walled Lake.

With our two-party system, a vote for Anderson will be a wasted vote. Do you think if Anderson is elected, he could get sufficient support from either the Democratic or Republican members of Congress to be an effective President? His election would result in another four years of "do nothing", and with our country experiencing record inflation and high unemployment, we need an effective leader.

> I believe that the country needs a change in Presidents, and I hope it is Ronald Reagan.

ELAINE SKARRITT Clerk, Milford Township

Addresses and telephone numbers have never been my favorite subjects, probably because I have difficulty committing numbers, including my own, to memory.

Having what some experts describe as "skip memory." I can remember my Flint address of 45 years ago and the Army serial number that was stamped on my underwear two wars ago but, so help me, I cannot remember even the street name of a residence of 15 years ago.

Thus, when the government announced that it will increase the number of digits in our zip codes I was not among those in the cheering section. It means a new number at a time when I'm just now beginning to remember the old one.

Concerning addresses, there's only one thing more exasperating than remembering one and that's finding one. Have you ever noticed when you're looking for an address in an unfamiliar area it's always the one that's missing from the rural mailbox or from the city house? And it's always nighttime, the house is unlighted or the mailbox is located on the opposite side of the road?

And if the mailbox does have an address. number on it, the number's on the opposite. side of the box, on the opposite side of the road — out of the way of your headlight

Or the mailboxes are sitting like pigeons on a single support and you can't decide which drive goes with which pigeon? And nine times out of ten you pick the muddy drive into a cornfield?

Have you noticed that when someone says "we'll be the house with the light on" everybody in the neighborhood has their porch lights burning? And your guess puts ? you in a yard of hungry dogs and you don't dare get out to check the number on the

And no matter how much jockeying you do with the car the beam of the lights won't reach the porch? And you just know the stranger inside is on the phone to the police to report a possible crime?

You've noticed? I think we both missed the same party.

community upheavals

In four communities in western Oakland County, a new attitude of citizens toward growth has resulted directly in court fights to prevent what some residents are saying are mistakes made by communities '50s and '60s immediately outside the City of Detroit.

In White Lake Township, hundreds of citizens have shown up a public meetings to fight the creation of a Kmart shopping center. That township's population has jumped from 14,311 in 1970 to an estimated 21.366 in 1980.

K-mart officials have argued that the township itself is nearly large enough to support such a center, but citizens vehemently oppose the center, arguing they moved into White Lake Township to get away from shopping centers and major retail centers.

In Highland Township, immediately to the west of White Lake, the townshi and a group of citizens were successfu in preventing the development of a 270acre project along M-59, a major road connecting Pontiac and I-75 in Oakland County with US-23 and I-96 in Livingston County.

A major reason for citizen opposition to the project was the possibility of a dense subdivision, apartments, office buildings and a commercial center. In Milford Township, hundreds of citizens formed an organization to battle the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority and a corporation which wanted to contruct an amusement park in the park.

Milford businessmen who have claimed that the township's land use policies are a violation of U.S. Constitution and is a violation of the U.S. Civil Rights Act. The group filed the lawsuit after the township's board denied a zoning request which would have allowed them to construct homes on lots roughly one acre in size, condominiums and a bank on the fringe of the Village of Milford. The businessmen allege that the Hundreds of residents of the township registered strong protest to the development, arguing it would adversely affect the rural lifestyle in the area and would cause property values to drop. Several hundred residents, along with township officials, were also successful in preventing the construction of a large natural gas pumping station near residential lands. The opposition ultimately forced Michigan Consolidated Gas to constuct the plant in the township's industria

Wildcats clawed; Lions roar, 14-3

Ray Sailus and Novi couldn't hang on

The Novi football team's hopes for a 1980 Kensington Valley Conference title were dashed Friday night in South Lyon, where the Lions dealt the Wildcats a 14-3 setback. A blocked Novi punt in the third quarter led to a South Lyon touchdown that gave the men of Dan Skatzka a lead they never relinquished. Mike Morgan, who led all rushers with 91 yards on 19 carries, scored two plays after the crucial block. a 14-yard field goal by Chris Caudell in the first quarter. That boot stood as he game's only points until the third stanza when a Novi punt from its own

47-yard line was blocked by Steve Zachar, who carried the ball down to the enemy 11-yard line. Then the Lions wisely gave the ball to Morgan. The 1979 all-league halfback carried on the first play for six yards, then bulled for five more a down later to give South Lyon the lead. Tim Garrett's extra point made it 7-3. offense that rang up 23 points in the first half of its season opener sputtered to a virtual halt. The Lions then put the proverbial frosting on the cake in the following quarter when, on a faked field goal, Pat Carducci hit Jim Rockel with a six-yard pass to give the host club some insurance. As it turned out, though, that insurance was unnecessary. The Wildcats couldn't come up with the big play on offense despite the efforts of quarterback Mike Rentner, who ran the ball 13 times for 80 yards but had a bad passing night. Rentner connected on just two of 11 passes, netting 18 Other than their inability to cross the Lion goal, the Wildcats played an excellent game. The visitors didn't suffer a single fumble or interception all night, and their defense played well enough to win most games. That's what really made the loss hard to stomach for Osborne. "We were able to move the ball," the veteran said, noting Novi's 199 yards rushing in 39 carries. "But we just couldn't get it over (the goal line). "The kids wanted this one badly," Osborne added. "We prepared very hard for this game, and gave it everything we had out there. It was a very "bitter defeat for us." The coach had particular praise for the efforts of a defense that was led by Pat Buzolits. The two-time letter-winner filled in well for the injured Lou Resconich at offensive center and contributed 11 first hits and two assists on the other side of the line of scrimmage.

Osborne also cited Pat Korte, Fred Almond and Jim Chickowski for defensive jobs well done. "We did everything we could to stop them," the Wildcat pilot said, "but you have to give South Lyon credit. That Carducci really threaded the needle when he had to on the touchdown pass to Rockel. Our defenders were right

And as luck would have it, that throw was the only pass completed by South Lyon all night. Morgan's fine rushing evening led a ground game that totalled 165 yards on 40 carries for South Lyon, which came out on ton in a "must" game. Although it's still early in the season, most experts felt that Novi was one of two teams that had a chance to beat the Lions within the conference. The other club is Brighton, which Novi hosts this Friday at 7:30. "I'm concerned with how we'll react to this game," Osborne admitted. "We were so intent on beating South Lyon because they're the favorites to win the conference. We have to have this week's game to stay in the race." To complicate matters, the Wildcats emerged from the Lion tussle in notso-hot shar 'ally. Along with the other assorted bumps and bruises, offensive lineman Lay Dinan is questionable for the Bulldog game with a bad shoulder, and tackle Steve Wright's status is also iffy. The Wildcats are also hoping that their offense gets healthy. Novi has scored just one touchdown in the last 21/2 games and can ill afford another one-field goal performance against John Seckinger's crew.

The Novi girls' basketball team invited Northville to "Meet the Press" last

No, you didn't miss seeing the local cagers on television. Instead, the Wildcats gave the Mustangs a clinic on how to successfully stage a full-court press during a third-quarter surge that rallied them to a 45-38 victory. Jane Jordan scored 10 of her game-high 18 points in that period, leading the locals back from a deficit that reached 12 points at one stage. Margie Soroka's scoring (11 points) and Marie Russell's 11 rebounds also contributed to Bill Ayotte's first varsity coaching win.

"The press was what did it for us," the victorious pilot offered afterward. "It really rattled them. We decided to come out with it right at the beginning of the third quarter, and I think it caught them off guard.

"We just took the momentum right there, and that was it." It basically was. Ironically, however, Novi's second-half dominance was nearly negated by Northville's impressive play in the first half. The Mustangs grabbed an 8-6 lead after the opening quarter and stretched it to 18-6 in the next

Then Novi went to work and cut the gap to 21-16 by intermission. The Wildcats played like a team possessed from that point on, outscoring the enemy 16-4 in the third quarter. They were never seriously threatened afterward. "I was glad to see us play well," Ayotte commented of his team's effort. "In the first quarter we looked pretty sharp, but the ball just wouldn't go in...hopefully, though, how we played in the third quarter is indicative of what

However, a rare scheduling oddity helped prevent Ayotte from seeing that happen again. Saddled with another game the following night, Novi's thirdquarter heroics were missing when it took on South Lyon.

The Lions, dominating throughout and taking full advantage of three Wildcat personal foul disqualifications, were 35-30 winners in the teams' Kensington Valley Conference opener. South Lyon built a 16-11 halftime lead and then nine points in the final two periods.

"They have a well-rounded ballclub," Ayotte observed after it was over. "They're good on the boards, and they have good guards and forwards. There's "We were a step behind them all game," the first-year coach added. "Maybe it was from playing two nights in a row, I don't know. But we were definitely

That no one could deny. Jordan and Margie and Kathy Soroka reached their way to five personals each and a permanent respite by the fourth quarter.

Wildcat of THE WEEK

Novi may have lost its Kensington Valley Conference opener to South Lyon Friday night, but that certainly wasn't the fault of Pat Buzolits. The 5-10, 190 pound tri-captain took over at offensive center for the injured Lou Resconich and performed admirably, gaining the praise of Wildcat Head Coach John Osborne. That wasn't the extent of the two-time letter-winner's contributions, though. Buzolits also led a fine defensive effort by his teammates, getting in on 11 first hits and making two tackles. The all-around excellence of the senior is something Novi fans have grown accustomed to over the last few years.

Sue Hoeft and company toppled Township

for first season victory

The Walled Lake Western girls' basketball team, winless in its first three games of the 1980 campaign, vented some frustrations on a shell-shocked Waterford Township club Thursday night. And the results were so convincing that even the winning coach was left wincing.

"It wasn't even a ballgame after the first half," Warrior Coach Tom Szocinski observed after his charges scalded the Skippers, 75-36. "It was just a matter of the clock winding down."

It would be more accurate to say that it wasn't even a bailgame after the first quarter, however. A fierce pressing defense by Western had the enemy so frustrated that it didn't even score until 10 minutes of the game had

The tally after the opening period: Warriors 24, Skippers 0.
Things didn't get much better for the beleaguered visitors in the following quarter. Western, already in the driver's seat by then, nonetheless outscored Township 15-11 to own a 39-11 advantage by halftime.

The Warriors put even more distance between themselves and the Skippers in the third stanza, outpointing them 18-10 for a 57-21 mismatch.

Western out-tallied Township 17-15 in the fourth quarter for the final margin, ending an agonizing evening for a club that obviously faces a long season.

"I realize that Township is having an off-year," Szocinski conceded afterward. "But we showed what we can do when we put everything together. This could be a big game for us."

The Western coach cited a strong "person-to-person" defense and improved shooting as keys to the lopsided victory. The Warriors hit 33 of their 66 tries from the floor — a 50 percent clip — and outrebounded the visitors, 37-20. Western also caused 24 Township turnovers, committing just Kris Mellema led three Warriors hitting doubles figures in the scoring column, netting 15 points. Kathy Artley tallied 14; Tracy Grubb had 12.

The locals' big win, unfortunately, came on the heels of a similar loss.

Just as Township was never in the game Thursday, the Warriors were in trouble all the way against the Captains. The host club sprang to a 22-13 first quarter lead and padded that margin a couple of points more to 37-26 at halftime, but Western still had a reasonable shot at coming back after

Then the third quarter began.

The mystery was over soon after that period opened, with the winners controlling the tempo and outscoring Western 18-8. It was then a matter of time before the Warriors went down to their third loss of the year.

Kettering utilized a break-neck running pace to wear down the Warriors. Gail Goesteinkors orchestrated the winning offense, scoring 14 points and

Central girls steal 47-46 triumph from Redford Union

After ending up on the short end of so many one and two-point ballgames, Walled Lake Central Girls' Basketball Coach Ken Butler decided enough was enough Thursday night.

The long-time cage aficionado inserted Teri Gies and Kathy Narducci into the lineup with two minutes remaining in the game and the locals down by nine points against Redford Union. And to make a long story short, the pair made Butler look like a genius by leading the Vikings to a 47-46 victory.

"I just looked on the court," Butler explained afterward, "and saw that we had the same five on the court that had lost so many close ones before. So I decided to take a chance and get some quickness in there." That's exactly what Butler got, too. Gies - who the coach calls the quickest player on the squad - and Narducci led a pressing Central defense that got the home club to within five points at 46-41 with 52 seconds left. Then came the exciting finish. Wendy Keelty scored following a Viking steal, and center Amy Rembisz then converted a crucial three-point play to tie the score. Kathy Simonson's free throw on the front end of a one-and-one situation provided the winning margin

As miraculous as the final comeback was, it probably never would have had to occur if the Vikings had been able to hold an earlier lead that they themselves had enjoyed. Central led by as many as 12 points in the opening quarter, but led just 16-12 after the period and fell behind 25-24 at halftime. The visitors were pretty much in control from then on — at least until the closing Central charge. "We just didn't shoot well." Butler observed after noting that his club shot just 33 percent from the floor. "We've had a lot of trouble in that area lately."

However, the veteran coach expressed hope that his team's comeback will

"We've gone to the well so many times in the past year or so and come up dry," Butler said. "This time we came up with water in us. Maybe it's a sign of what's to come.

Despite the contributions of Gies and Narducci to the winning cause, Central would have never been close enough to overtake Redford Union had it not been for the efforts of its starters. Caryn Lamb turned in perhaps her best game ever, scoring 12 points in addition to hauling down 15 rebounds. Lamb also had Teaming with Lamb on the boards was the ever-present Rembisz, who pulled down an even dozen caroms to go with a 13-point night. Keelty also reached double figures in the scoring column with 12.

As instrumental toward victory as Butler's substitution was in that game, the Central bench boss took a big part of the blame for a 56-44 loss his team had suffered two nights earlier against Farmington Our Lady of Mercy. Butler and the Vikings watched helplessly as the visitors turned a two-point deficit into a five-point lead in approximately a 30-second span that closed out the first half. "I should have called a time-out," Butler said after it was over. "Here we are, ahead 18-16, and their girl makes a free throw. Then they press, and - boom boom boom! - it's three straight baskets. That's pretty much the ballgame." The Vikes didn't roll over and play dead, though. Central later closed to within four points with six minutes left in the game, but the enemy hit a key three-point play and then went into a delay game to seal the home club's fate. Poor shooting again cost the Vikings in that one. Central canned just 18 of 59 floor tries for a 30 percnet accuracy rate, while the winners were 49 percent

Simonson was the only Central player to reach double figures in the scoring column, hitting 10 points. Rembisz paced the hometowners on the boards with

"We're still a little bit hesitant," Butler observed after last week's play. "We can't seem to get the offense going consistently. But I guess, all things considered, we can't be too upset to be 2-2 with the teams we've played. "Still, we have to show more than we have, or Tuesday's going to be a long

Butler was referring to the game his team was to play against rival Walled Lake Western last night. The Warriors, the Central coach realized, would probably be "sky high" after dismantling Waterford Township by a 75-36 count

After the Western war, the Vikings host Milford Lakeland this Thursday in Central's Inter-Lakes Conference opener. Then Butler's crew winds up a string of five straight home games when it plays Plymouth Canton next Tuesday.

Inconsistency costs Warriors in link losses

When it rains, it pours. The Walled Lake Western golf team had a rocky go of it last week. The Warriors didn't shoot particularly well, and even their coach was fresh Western got the week underway last Tuesday with a 209-224 defeat at the hands of fellow Western Six Conference team Farmington Harrison. Match medalist Steve Draheim (41) couldn't save the locals, who had a 44 by Craig Kimmel and 46s by George Moilenan and Fred Miller.

The real crusher, though, came against Northville Thursday. The Warriors could have handed the Mustangs their first loss of the season if Coach John Fundukian had known that Miller and Jeff Fadler were going to shoot as well as they did.

Northville won by a 229-237 count despite another match medalist performance by Draheim, who fired a 42. Kimmel's 45 was second for the locals. Unfortunately, however, those were the only two scores of merit recorded by Western. Miller blazed to a 38 and Fadler shot a 46, but neither could be counted toward the Warriors' total since "Funk" had decided to play them as extras.

"They'd both had a pretty rough time against Harrison, so I thought I'd put some other guys in their place," the veteran coach explained. "As it turned out, though, if their scores would have counted we would've won the match.

"I guess you can blame this one on me." Of course, no one could expect Fundukian to know that those two golfers would pick that day to excel on the links. And that's precisely the team's sore spot at this point.

"We're still pretty inconsistent," the Warrlor pilot observed, "but that's going to happen when you have a young team. You never know what to expect next — one day a guy's shooting well, the next day he's in a little bit of trouble. "I guess it'll just take some time," Fundukian concluded, "You have to be patient." On the brighter side was the performance of 10thgrader Draheim, who has emerged as a consistently low shooter. "As I've said before, Steve's one of the best young golfers I've ever had here at Western," Fundukian said. "He's going to be a good one; he's that already."

Western's sophomore-dominated crew was host Plymouth Canton Monday before travelling to the Plymouth Best Ball Tournament yesterday (Tuesday). The Warriors travel to Livonia for a match against conference foe Churchill Thursday, and host Waterford Mott next

Wildcat girl netters celebrate another victory; 5-2 decision takes bite out of Bulldogs

So you thought the Novi tennis team's 5-2 pounding of Pinckney September 11

Wrong you are. The Wildcats, who went oh-for-1979 before tasting that firstever victory, made Chelsea their second victim last Wednesday by an identical

The Bulldogs were bulled over by a balanced Novi attack that featured three singles wins and two doubles triumphs - and all in straight sets. Second singles player Teri Discher set the pace for the Wildcat breeze with 6-0 and 6-3 auccesses.

Following Discher's lead were Amy Anthony and Holly Heupel. Anthony won at third singles by 6-2 and 6-1 tallies, while Heupel swept to 6-3 and 6-1 verdicts. Then there were the matches at second and third doubles, although it'd be more accurate to call them mismatches. Geri Peterson and Marci MacEachern coasted to two 6-0 victories at the number two slot, and Pam James and Kathy Mallila accomplished the same feat at the number three position.

The win over Chelsea represented a kind of revenge for Novi, wich had suffered a tense 4-3 defeat at the hands of Kensington Valley Conference rival Howell the day before. The Wildcats could have escaped with the match if they'd had one more winner, but the closest they could come was a third-set defeat at third singles.

In fact, the team's noticeable lack of singles winners spelled the difference. Heupel was the only such winner for Novi, triumphing at the number four position by 7-5 and 6-1 scores.

Other winners against the Highlanders were Peterson and MacEachern, who took 7-6 and 6-0 decisions at second doubles, and Mallila and James. The third doubles pair were 6-1 and 6-2 winners.

Having dropped to 1-2 in KVC encounters with the Howell loss, the Wildcats slipped to 1-3 when Hartland handled them to the tune of 6-1 Thursday. Third singles player Anthony (7-5 and 6-3) was the only Novi winner.

"We just had a really hard time at Hartland," Coach Leslie MacDonald said afterward. "It was a windy day, and their courts are out in the open...but they have a good team."

The loss was an undistinguished one except for the ending of a fine streak put together by Mallila and James. The third doubles tandem dropped 6-4 and 6-2 decisions to the Eagles, snapping a string of eight straight wins they'd enjoyed since the beginning of the season.

Perhaps the most important new of the week for the netters, however, was the announcement that the team now has a junior varsity coach. MacDonald said that Donna Polinski is the new coach, and the varsity boss indicated that she couldn't be happier.

"This is a big help for the tennis program," the second-year coach said. "Donna will work closely with the jayvee girls, and that should make them all that much better when they play on the varsity level. Besides, I think that'll help us draw more to play tennis here."

Novi's kickers improve in loss

The Novi soccer team is still seeking its firstever victory, but a strong first-half performance by the Wildcats in Thursday's 4-0 loss to Oak Park lifted the spirits of Coach Doug Holder.

The Wildcats displayed some steady defense throughout the opening half and trailed by just 1-0 at intermission. But Novi's inability to mount an offensive attack proved costly after halftime as the winners spoiled the hometowners' home opener with three goals to put the game away.

"I feel better about the team than I had before." said Holder, who had been critical of his team's play the previous week. "I think they're learning, and I try to encourage them to stay optimistic. But It's hard to keep them up when we're losing all the

Unfortunately, that's precisely what's happened so far this year. The still wet-behind-the-ears Wildcats are now 0-5, and recent performances would seem to indicate that the team still has a ways to go before it's ready to be a consistent winner.

One area in which Novi was lacking Thursday was endurance, as Holder noted.

"In the first part we controlled the game," the rookie coach said despite the 1-0 score against him.
"But in the second half we just kind of wore down...we're going to have to work on building ourselves up.'

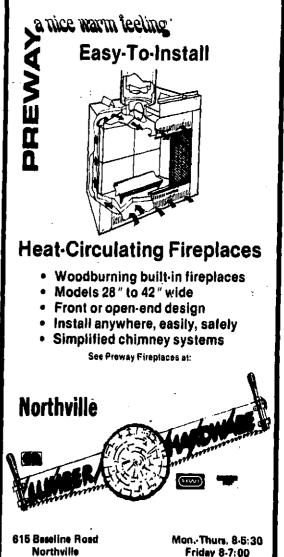

The Wildcats also were thwarted by the offense's inability to take some of the pressure off the defense. The Wildcats had just six shots on goal for the entire game.

'Offensively, we're getting the ball downfield a little more." Holder said. But we have to learn to control it better. That will come with time."

Meanwhile. Holder commented that his defense played "pretty well" in defeat. However, he noted that it had trouble clearing the ball, again indicating that the malady would take time to correct.

Novi's attempt for that elusive first win continues this week, but its opponents could prove to be formidable roadblocks on the path to victory. The Wildcats host an experienced Bloomfield Hills Andover squad today (Wednesday), and stay at home for a tussle with North Farmington on Thursday. Then it's on to Catholic Central for a two-party encounter next Monday.

Each contest starts at 4 p.m.
