

Meadowbrook Lake residents suffer from flood conditions

By KATHY JENNINGS

Murky water washed around the dam at the mouth of Meadowbrook Lake, overflowed the banks of the stream. flooded the park and eventually ran over Nine Mile Friday.

For the most part, the city came through the storm "in pretty good shape." Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall said after last week's deluge. But Nine Mile Road was under water again.

It's a problem that is nothing new to residents in the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision.

Friday's flood "certainly was bad, but it's not the worst we've seen," said Norman Young, president of the Meadowbrook Lake Homeowners Association. "The whole park and the area up to Nine Mile was under water." The flooding occurs frequently; Young says as many as six times in the spring and two-three times each fall. In the past the homes nearest Nine flooding. The continuous flooding renders the association's park useless a good part of the year.

Young cites other problems. "Our lake was once quite deep, but with the silt from everywhere it's filled up. The lake is totally polluted. We have red algae coming in and we don't know what's next. Aesthetically it's very bad. It's detracted from the value of our homes."

The president of the homeowner association is quick to note that the problem "transcends our subdivision."

"The problem is that so much of the city drains into our lake that it can't handle it." Young said. "We happen to be where the flooding is. The whole city drains into our lake, we're just the ones with it in our back yards.'

Young said the flooding in Meadowbrook Lake subdivision is part of a citywide problem - the city needs to improve its drainage.

"The problem is located in our sub-

Mile have had to be evacuated due to division and we feel the direct results. We've lived with it for years, but we're not responsible for it - it's a city problem. It's not up to us to correct it," Young said. "Really, this is not something we caused, it's caused by the rest of the city."

> Approximately two-thirds of the city drains into Meadowbrook Lake and a stream to the south. However, the drainage course between Eight and Nine Mile now exists in its natural state.

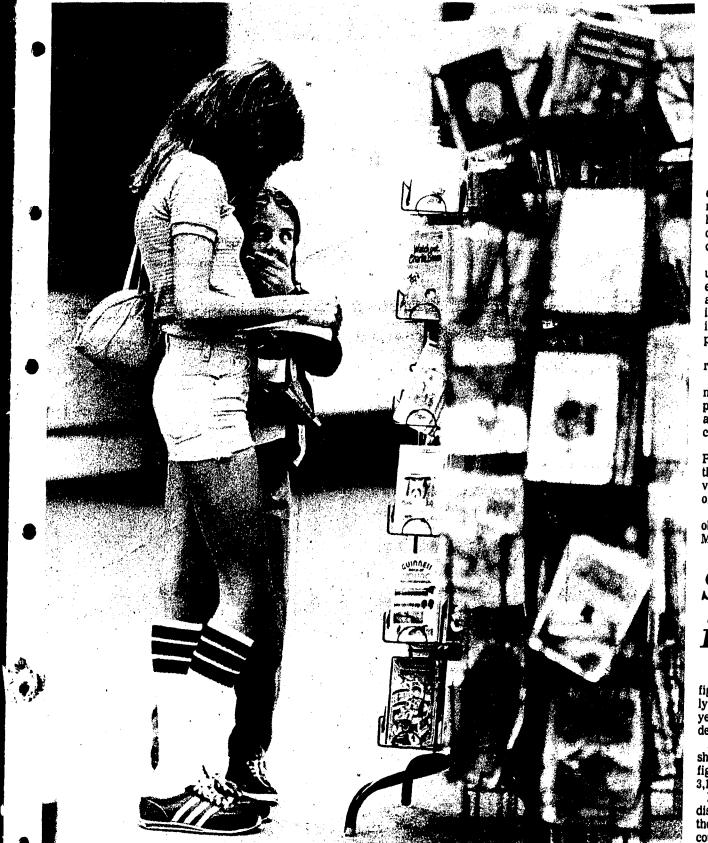

Since most of the water courses in the city are tributary to that drainage course the unimproved sections of the drain cannot handle the water flowing through them. The problem is compounded because the existing dam does not have adequate controls for the amount of water it handles.

Roethel has served as mayor of Novi since 1977. She decided earlier this year not to seek re-election in anticipation of being elected national president of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The new American Legion Auxiliary president derives her eligibility for the organization from the service of her father, Harley Bowerman, a World War I veteran, and from the service of her husband, John Roethel, six brothers, a son and through her own service in the United States Navy as a WAVE in World War II.

School officials predict small gain in enrollment during 1981-82 year

An analysis of "very preliminary dle School South and Novi High School. figures" show the Novi schools are likely to have the same enrollment this year as last, according to Superintendent Robert Piwko.

Last year at this time 3,159 students showed up at school, while first week figures for this school year were at In the 1980-81 school year the school district added enough students to bring the official Fourth Friday enrollment count to 3.187 students.

It is expected the same will happen this year and when the official count is taken September 25 the schools will have approximately the same enrollment as one year ago, Piwko said.

Novi Schools have had consistantly increasing enrollment during the past 11 years. The district has been one of the few in Oakland County with rising enrollment figures. Student enrollment is closely monitored locally in order to determine the necessary teaching staff size. Piwko cautioned that enrollment figures will change between the first week of school and the officials Fourth Friday count as families return from vacation and students who have been ill come to school.

"Our preliminary figures are 3,167 enrolled, but we anticipate there will be additional students returning," Piwko said.

School-by-school the preliminary enrollment break down is as follows: • Orchard Hills - 372:

- Novi Woods 365;
- Village Oaks 334; Middle School North - 568:

Middle School South — 548;

• Novi High School - 980. Based on first week numbers, it appears as if enrollment in two of the district's elementary schools is down slightly, but total enrollment districtwide probably will not show a decrease because of additional students at Mid-

This would appear to be the third straight year enrollment has gone down at Village Oaks and Orchard Hills elementaries.

The older elementaries, located inside established subdivisions, appear to suffer from the declining enrollment situation seen in older school districts, while enrollment continues to increase at the secondary level.

Piwko said the enrollment, now hovering around 3,167 students, is approximately what was expected.

The superintendent said that even if additional students do return to school it will not be necessary to add teachers at this time.

When staffing for the 1981-82 school year was approved last spring it was anticipated one less elementary teacher would be needed this school year. But enrollment figures justify maintaining the same number of elementary teachers.

Altogether there were a total of 189 teachers in the Novi Schools last year and the same number is employed this year.

Although the teaching staff size will not be increased, in order to keep class sizes within the maximums allowed under provisions of the teachers contract it was necessary to shift some students who would have ordinarily gone to Orchard Hills to Village Oaks, Piwko explained.

"We made adjustments on the first day of school," Piwko told the school board last week. "The number of students we projected did appear on the first day. The adjustments were made on the basis that the last students enrolled were those asked to attend Village Oaks," he explained. "We were pushing the maximums at Orchard Hills.

be opened Friday, Kriewall said.

Asphalt work has been completed at Station I. Remaining work includes sheet metal, finish, trim and installation of plumbing, lighting and electric fixtures. Painting on the ceilings and floors also remains to be done.

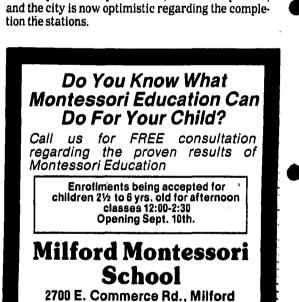

"The strike (by sheet metal workers) has definitely affected this project," Kriewall recently told the council. "Electrical and plumbing interior work is moving slowly because of the necessity to leave routes open for sheet metal duct work." He noted the garages are nearly done, with the doors already being hung in place. Kriewall expects all work at Station I to be completed by mid-October

Construction of the fire stations is a project that as been plagued with delays. Originally, Station I on Grand River was to be completed by May 5 and Station II on Thirteen Mile was to be built by March 26. Cold weather in December and January stopped progress on the stations and delayed the projects as much as 45 days. The projects were further slowed when the sheet metal workers walked off their jobs. Sheet metal workers went on strike June 1 and as they continued to remain off the job some council members expressed concern that it would be difcult to complete the fire stations of struction season. However, the city has been able to work around the delays caused by the strike, Kriewall explained, Commerce Township has requested that Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Farrell E. Roberts dismiss a lawsuit filed against it by a group of mobile home developers.

In a two-page response offered August 14 to a complaint filed by Champion Home Communities, Inc., Commerce claimed several areas of the original complaint were "untrue." Champion Home Communities mobile home community developers, are suing the township to have a 120-acre site rezoned to accommodate a 591-site mobile home park. The suit was filed in the county circuit court June 24, when Lawrence Ternan, attorney for Champion, entered the complaint outlining the developers' disagreement with the township's denial of the rezoning request. Among the areas of the complaint being disputed by the township are the quality of soil conditions and height of water tables, the need for another mobile home park in the township and its compatibility with neighboring Wixom homes, that development of the site into single-family residences would not be economically feasible, and that the site would be developed into a "high-class mobile home community which would blend with the total community.³³ No decision on what to do with the case had yet been delivered by Roberts as of Friday. Champion Homes and Chateau Estates fought a battle on the civic front for 16 months, before Commerce finally turned down the developers' request for a zoning designation that would permit development of mobile home park April 14.

John Seibel, president of Champion Homes, predicted that if the township's board of trustees denied his firm's request he would seek legal intervention." The complaint focuses on arguments the mobile home developers made during their appearances before the township board and planning commis-

Day festitivities, but we were unable to use the park," Young said. "The flooding also delays attempts to cut the lawn. It's so soggy in the spring that sometimes it's mid-May or the first of June before the park is useable. We've just about given up on the tennis courts.' There is no way to tell exactly what dollar amount residents of the subdivision have expended due to the flooding.

Young says the losses are "gradual" - residents have lost the use of their park and there is a general erosion of the entire area, he claims, Trees are falling in the park and residents are frustated with their work to maintain the park.

Residents also clean up the stream when the drainage tubes plug up at Nine Mile. "We do this as our own project, but we feel it benefits everybody. All that junk has come from upstream,'' Young said. Residents of Meadowbrook Lake have been 'waiting and hoping'' that something will be done. Personally, Young says he's lived with the flooding for 12 years. "It's been a problem ever since I moved in. We keep talking to the city and the county and no one seems to do anything about it. We've been as vocal and active as we can in trying to get improvements made. There's been some headway, but the problem is still there." The solution — the Patnales Drain — went on the planning board at least 10 years ago. It's still on the planning board. When the drain was first proposed there was no equirement for voters to approve bonding debts.

Oakland County, together with the City of Novi planned to build the drain in 1980. Then the Headlee amendment to the constitution was passed. Millage to pay off debts, such as those incurred for the construction of drains, could not be levied without voter approval.

The city proposed construction of the Patnales Drain and asked voters to approve a millage levy to pay off the sale of bonds sold to finance construction of the drain.

Voters narrowly defeated the $3.5 million bond issue, stalling the project indefinitely. Originally the city had planned to pave Nine Mile and construct the drain at the same time. But when the Patnales proposal was defeated the city revised its plan.

City Engineering Consultant Joseph Kapelczak noted that Nine Mile is designed so that it will flood when there is a heavy rain.

"When we paved Nine Mile we didn't disturb the flood plain," Kapelczak said. "We had to keep the road elevation the same as it was or it would have caused more flooding upstream," Kapelczak explained

New culverts were put in which took care of some of the problem. But it "doesn't take a heavy rain storm for it to flood," Kapelczak said. Residents now are pinning their hopes on the conclusion of a storm drainage committee formed by the city council in June. Council members are expected to name representatives to the 12 member committee this month. One of the residents of Meadowbrook Lake subdivision will serve on the Except for a few of the staff, Stouffer's Northland Inn in Southfield is vacant today. The 220-room hotel was closed without warning at 5 p.m. Monday.

Southfield Eccentric Thursday, August 20

I didn't think much about it when I heard the Northland Inn had closed. Another victim of the economy, I thought, and pushed the news out of my mind And then a week later I was reading Nick Sharkey's column in The Eccentric. His column, entitled "Eight Mile boundary edges north," was accompanied by an editorial cartoon which showed a huge mass of dirt and grime, labeled "blight," extending over the Northland Inn and spreading out toward an area identified as the "suburbs." "Not many years ago," said Sharkey in his column, "it was fashionable to draw a line along Eight Mile and Telegraph Road and pretend such metropolitan problems as hotel closings and crime existed only inside those lines. According to the theory, north and west of those roads were well-groomed suburban hideaways that were not afflicted by the harsh realities of city

Sharkey also related a story of a northern suburbanite who had told him he would never let his daughter travel south of Ten Mile. "So he's bringing the "Eight Mile Road line" a couple miles north," observed Sharkey

"When the I-696 freeway is completed, will the new line become Eleven Mile? What after that - Fourteen or Fifteen Mile, Beech Daly or Middlebelt?" he asked. Good questions, I thought, and then extended his thinking westward - Middlebelt, Farmington Road, Novi Road, Taft Road. Where does it stop? There's at least one line of thinking that says it doesn't stop at all. The Doxiades Report prepared more than a decade again for Detroit Edison predicted that the entire midwest would one day be covered by a huge megaloplis, extending from Chicago to "Southfield of the Eighties." That doesn't bother me so much; in fact, I rather like the idea. Efforts to typecast me as antidevelopment are incorrect. I'm pro-development, but have strong feelings about how it should be accomplished. But what does bother me is the closing of the Northland Inn, the growing problems with crime in and around Southfield and what has happened to Northland. Sorry Northland merchants, but I don't like to go to your shopping center anymore - I'd rather go to Twelve Oaks. And the statistics show that I'm in a large majority among suburban consumers. I'm not worried about development coming to Novi in the Eighties as it came to Southfield in the Seventies, but I'm decoly worried that the "Novi of the Nineties" could become 'he "Southfield of the Eighties." The challenge, it seems to me, is to put together a Novi

Of all our legal holidays, the one just past - Labor Day - is the most inappropriate.

The name suggests a day of labor but for most of us it means a day-long coffee break. We do nothing on Labor Day to let everyone know that when we are doing something we do it well.

It is a holiday for the "working class," another term of questionable meaning. Today nearly everyone gets on the bandwagon, claiming to be part of the working class. Labor unions used to figure that anyone who worked up a sweat while toiling was a member of the working class. But that definition went out the window when unions began representing white collar workers and when the nation began using air-conditioners and deoderants.

Similarly, distinctions such as skilled or unskilled, waged or salaried were rendered useless identifications when garbage collectors became sanitary engineers and when union offices became salaried management positions.

And if that's not enough to question the sanctity of this first Monday in September consider this: Labor Day's a sexist holiday, having been instituted to specifically honor the "workingman." It excluded women, apparently, because while men did nothing to dramatize how much they did, women were expected to carry on their household toil to ease the men's burden of doing nothing.

I mentioned the holiday's sexist aspect to my wife, suggesting that in protest she should girlcotte the day by working all the harder. "Look here," I said, "the dictionery says Labor Day honors the workingman - not a word about the workingwoman."

Rise up," I teased, "refuse to rest. How about baking us one of those German chocolate cake's from scratch?"

After rapping me across the cheek with the wet dish towel, she invited me to look up another word.

"It starts with 'm'," she said, "rhymes with 'daughter,' and that spells trouble right here under capital offense."

Despite Abigail's urgings, John and his fellow politicians passed a resolution declaring independence from the British and two days later -in one swoop of the pen, signed their names to the Declaration of Independence — which held that "all Men are created equal."

The constitution, regarded as the backbone of this country's democracy, resulted in a victorious end to the American Revolution. However, those five little words in the documents preface, brought about the rebellion which Abigail promised - one

For the forgotten "ladies," the fight to claim some of those unalienable rights has been a long, bitter struggle. Early suffragists were regarded as crazed lunatics and chastised for wanting the same rights as their "fellow men." However, today's feminists are finding the future of the women's movement in a state of uncertainty and at the crux of that uncertainty lies the equal rights amendment. Since 1972, when Congress approved the passage of the equal rights amendment. ERA advocates have managed to get the approval of 35 of the 38 needed states to ratify a Constitutional amendment.

However, the struggle to get ratification of three of the 15 remaining states remains deadlock-

Harlem garage to Covent Garden

Arthur Mitchell's Dance Theatre of Harlem opens the 1982 Music Hall Dance Season Tuesday, directly following the company's highly successful engagement in Londay, England where it was a highlight of the recent royal wedding celebration.

The internationally known classical troupe will present eight varied performances through Sunday, September 20.

"The Dance Theatre of Harlem is one of the most popular classical companies in the world, and it was feared that they would have no available dates for Detroit this year." explained J. Roland Wilson, Music Hall producing director. "When the September dates opened up, we jumped at the opportunity to add them to our dance season." Much admired in England, the Dance Theatre of Harlem (DTH) had scored four sold-out engagements at London's Sadler's Wells Theatre in the seven years prior to this year's debut at the huge Royal Opera House

Reviews included that of the Sunday Telegraph which described the company as 'Bursting with vitality, personality and natural exuberance!," and the Observer Review which reported, "All was crispness, impeccable discipline and expressive danc-

Association with the Royal Family is not new to DTH, which is the first black dance company to play the Royal Opera House. It has given two command performances; Princess Margaret has visited the company's school in New York; and director Arthur Mitchell has dined with Queen Elizabeth on the yacht "Britannia."

America's first family is equally enthusiastic. President Reagan's first official appearance at a public event was at a DTH opening night.

The story of DTH is one of the most remarkable in the history of ballet. In 1968, Arthur Mitchell was a star of the New York City Ballet and was the first black ballet dancer to have achieved world-class status. So moved was he by the death of the Reverend Luther King, Jr., that he abandoned his performing career in order to start work on a dance school in Harlem. He was determined to do something for his people by sharing his talents and developing dance potential among the youth of Harlem. Working first from a garage, then from a church basement, Mitchell literally lured youngsters from the streets to make ballet dancers out of them. A short 12 years later. this amazing company is acclaimed worldwide. At the Music Hall, the company will dance grams ever seen in Detroit. It will present Russian ballet ("Swan Lake" Act II), American ballet (Balanchine's "Agon"), modern dance ("Troy Game"), Afro-Caribbean ("Dougla") and more. Evening performances will begin at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday. Matinees are at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Other information: 963-7680.

A MONUMENTAL mural by Michigan artist Nora Mendoza will e unveiled September 19 in the foyer of the R. J. Sullivan Funeral ome, 18338 West 12 Mile. The visionary mural complements the innovative architectural oproach of the funeral home for which two Northville residents served key roles Entitled "Synergy," the 16' x 8' mural is a sweeping "mind-scape" suspended in time, melding the spectrum of earth colors with transparent overlays of white. "The viewer is hurled through labyrinths of juxtaposed energies only to be released onto a timeless plateau." a spokesman said. "The trip is a breathtaking one, combining the tensions of life and death, joy and sorrow, time and eternity.

Architect for the funeral home was Kenneth F. Czarnomski, while Arthur Carmichael was the mechancial engineer. Both are of Northville

Star Pak turns Star Trek into solar reality here

Solar energy, a Star Trek subject only a few years ago, is an idea that has captured the attention of a growing number of homeowners and businesses.

Locally, it's becoming less uncommon for motorists to spot solar panels and solar

Star Pak Solar Systems. Responsible for more than 1,000 solar water and space heating systems, the firm recently announced it has achieved its first million dollar year. Reynold Hendrickson, the firm's 28-yearold president and one of its founders, says the reason for the nearly double growth rate "is simple: Rising energy cost and the assurance

Guardian Angel by Night

Guardian angel of the night Take me on a winged flight To Heaven's beautiful shore Where in peace I will dwell forevermore. Take me by the hand. Lead me through this foreign land Till at last I stand On Heaven's beautiful shore, Where there is joy forevermore. Guardian angel of the night, Let me dwell in Heaven's light Help me do what's good, Help me do what's right, Help me set my sight on Heaven above, Let me walk in God's perfect love. Guardian angel of the night, Take me on a winged flight To Heaven's beautiful shore, Where in peace I will dwell forevermore, To Heaven's beautiful shore.

Walled Lake girls' and boys' cross-country teams fared rather well this past weekend in the seasonopening West Bloomfield Invitational.

Western's and Central's girls placed seventh and tenth, respectively, in a field of 29 teams, while Western's boys finished 16th out of 26 teams.

Flushing finished first in the girls' five-kilometer race and Sterling Heights Stevenson took top honors in the boys' event. The Viking's Kim Curry finished first among

Wily fish seek out shady spots when mid-day sun bears down

No one knows for sure how the sun affects fish except that when it's hot they behave exactly as humans do — they find a cool place with plenty of shade. But that poses an interesting question. Where can fish find shade on a lake in the middle of day during summer?

The answer comes from Mercury outboards' fishing department, which claims that man has provided the means, and thereby established a relationship that has mutual benefits.

On hot, sunny days, panfish — which normally stay out of deep water anyway - congregate beneath boat houses, docks, piers and other manmade structures, seeking relief from the heat. As

6-D-THE NOVI-WALLED LAKE NEWS-Wednesday, September 9, 1981

Tian has high hopes for Novi girls

Wildcat tank coach optimistic about '81 campaign

Opposing tankers beware. Novi girls' swimming coach Manse Tian is oozing with confidence.

""This may only be our third year in existence," says the second-year coach, "but we've come a long way.

"Anyone who thinks these girls are pushovers," continues Tian, "is all wet. We might not win a state championship or anything, but we're certainly going to make waves."

If the Wildcats pick up where they left off last season, Tian may have something. After dropping their first three contests, Tian's tankers buoyed to a respectable 7-5 mark, winning seven of their last nine meets and final four in a row. Measurable improvement over a 3-6 first-year record.

And with 11 of 14 girls returning from last year's squad, plus 14 additional first-year freshmen, Tian's optimism can be easily appreciated — though he is the first to admit, the three seniors he lost will be difficult to replace.

"Anytime you lose swimmers the calibre of Debbie Agarwal, Colleen Weiland and Beth Marchetti," says

sports

Tian, "it's going to hurt. They were three class competitors. "But our overall team improvement should more than make up for their losses.

Agarwal and Weiland ranked second and third in individual scoring last season and hold several school records. Agarwal amassed 172 points while breaking the 100-yard butterfly (1:07.40), 100-yard breaststroke (1:16.10) and 200-yard medley relay (2:04.20) records. Weiland tallied 149 points while establishing new 400-yard freestyle relay (4:09.76) and 200-yard medley relay marks.

But to Tian's delight, nearly everyone else returns, including six third-year and five second-year swimmers. And according to Tian, the team as a whole is way ahead of last year's pace.

"We're at least two weeks ahead of last year," Tian reports. "At this point last year, the girls were still learning the mechanics of each stroke. That's one reason we lost our first three meets. "This year," adds Tian, "with another year's experience, they're free breathing, which is every bit as important as the stroke itself."

Novi's strongest events will be the 200-yard medley relay (despite losing half the unit), the 200-yard individual medley, the 50-yard freestyle and the 100-yard breaststroke.

The 200-yard medley relay team, a four-member/four-stroke event, will be comprised of junior co-captain Wendy Savre (backstroke), freshman Linda Iseli (breaststroke), sophomore Lynn Wohlfeil (butterfly) and a freestyler yet to be selected by Tian.

Sayre, a third year swimmer, is considered by Tian to be the best swimmer in Novi history. She qualified for the state meet in each of the last two years. placing 17th in the 200-yard individual medley (2:27.18) and 14th in the 200yard medley relay (2:04.20) with Wohlfeil, Agarwal and Weiland.

Iseli replaces Agarwal in the medley to concentrate on their rhythmic relay and will undoubtedly re-write have just four, while others, like Novi, Novi's breaststroke record many times over during the next four years. The third leg of the medley, the butterfly, is anchored by Lynn Wohlfeil. Not to be confused with her younger sister Debbie, the "elder" Wohlfeil led the Wildcats in scoring last year as a freshman with 180 points. She is Tian's strongest and fastest swimmer, heading Novi's 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard butterfly events as well.

Four girls are still vying for the fourth and final freestyle leg of the 200yard medley relay: sophomores Kris Blom and Sue Johnson, senior cocaptain Sheila Albers and freshman Debbie Wohlfeil.

Blom, Johnson, Albers and senior Michelle Carter are also slated for the 400-yard freestyle relay. Whether Tian may use two or three swimmers per event hinges on the number of available lanes. Some pools have six. Tian prefers the six-lane pools since they favor teams with greater depth - a quality Novi apparently has.

"We'll win our share of events," predicts Tian. "And those which we don't, we'll at least place second.

"It's when you only finish third that really kills you," adds Tian. "Otherwise you'll always stay close."

race are Johnson, Blom and senior Marie Gannon. The 100-yard butterfly is led by Lynn Wohlfeil with Blom and Iseli at her sides. Other individual lineups include the 100-yard freestyle, Johnson and Carter; the 500-yard freestyle, Debbie Wohlfeil, Gannon and Albers; the 100-yard breaststroke, Iseli, Albers and junior Michelle Worosz; the 50-yard freestyle, Lvnn Wohlfeil; the 100-yard backstroke, Sayre; and the one-meter springboard diving event, senior Diane Bischof, juniors Terre Lewis and Barb Hofgartner, and freshman Kerri Carlson.

Bischof attended diving camp at Michigan State University last summer and improved her meet score by 21 points. She went back for a second session this summer, and according to Tian, "if she improves another 21 Scheduled for the 200-yard freestyle points, could conceivably qualify for state competition."

Freshmen not yet mentioned, but who should see considerable attention this year are Kim Burnett. Kim Burtkowski, Shari Holtzclaw, Karen Hsu. Karen Kriewall, Jeanette Lemieux, Sheryl Mercier, Tiffany Reisner, Jill Schmidt, Claudette Thal and Felicia Todd.

The Wildcats' first meet is at Dundee September 17. They return for their home opener against Franklin September 22 at 7 p.m.

Directions listed for finding Festival

For out-of-towners visiting the Plymouth Fall Festival most of the events are easily located. Most activities are centered at Kellogg Park which is bounded by Main Street (Plymouth Road), Ann Arbor Trail, Penniman Avenue and Union.

The various routes to the heart of downtown Plymouth include: • Plymouth Road west to the city of Plymouth. At Mill Street, Plymouth Road is called Main Street and takes a change in direction to the south. In Plymouth, Main Street is that section of Plymouth Road from

Mill south of Joy Road. • The Jeffries (96) to M-14 to Sheldon Road, south to Ann Arbor Trail, east on the Trail to about one-half block west of Main to Central Parking

• Joy Road to Main, and north on Main; west on Ann Arbor Trail to heart of city; N. Territorial Road east to Sheldon where road becomes Penniman Avenue, continue east of Penniman Avenue to downtown Plymouth.

The Masonic Temple is on Penniman Avenue on east side of Main Street next to Penn Theatre. The Grange Hall is on Union immediately north of Kellogg Park and the Oddfellows Hall is on Union about halfway between Penniman Avenue and Dodge (Church Street extended).

At Church and Main Street is Plymouth City Hall, the Plymouth Historical Museum and Central Middle School. Church is the first traffic signal south of the C&O Railroad tracks. Prime parking is available in municipal lot between City Hall and Penniman Avenue.

Just south of Penniman Avenue on the east side of Main Street is the Growthworks center where carnival games and the dunk tank may be found.

The Plymouth Cultural Center is located at Theodore and Farmer. Motorists coming from Northville through Old Village on Mill may turn right on Farmer and find the Cultural Center. The most direct route is to come in Main Street from the east and turn right unto Theodore right on the south side of the C&O Railroad Tracks across from Bode's Restaurant.

During the four-days of the Fall Festival, the American Red Cross will operate a first aid station and offer blood pressure checks on Penniman Avenue at Main Street. At the same intersection an information booth will be located.

Okay mothers, it is football guiz time. Try answering the following question: What kind of an alignment does the defense use in a 5-2 set-up?

If you answered a defense uses five linemen and two linebackers, then go to the head of the class.

If not, you are not alone. However, there are Walled Lake Western mothers who are trying to rectify the situation by attending weekly class sessions conducted by Warrior head coach Chuck Apap each Tuesday during the football season.

"Every Tuesday night starting with the week after our first scrimmage at our Boosters' Club meeting, we dedicate part of that to our fans. We started it especially for the mothers," Apap ex- any other time. plained.

"When I was playing my mom would go to a game and the only thing she would watch for were guys getting hurt. Then after the game I would ask her, 'How did you like that interception I made?' and she would ask why we let them (the other team) jump all over us." he laughed.

"What we wanted are the mothers to understand football and enjoy the game. I started this three years ago. And we go over the scouting report of the other team and during that time we teach them about football," he said.

Mothers are asked to line up in the other team's defensive alignment, Apap said, and are told what each player will do. Also, the fourth-year coach will explain offensive set-ups and what plays he might run in a game so the mothers will understand what is happening on the field.

"It's really been neat," Apap said.

Bertha King says she learned more about football two years ago when her son Rob, 19, played for Western than at

That seems surprising considering her oldest son Rick, 33, played back in 1966 for Walled Lake Central and another son Dave, 28, split time between Central and Western. The youngest son, Matt, is a sophomore at Western.

"I wish he had started this 20 years ago," King said. "All of these details have eluded me and I have never known the finer points of the game."

Pat Buttazoni began keeping statistics there are a lot of things we do not last year for her son Angelo, who was a understand and the coach takes the time standout running back, as a result of at- to explain them. That has made the game tending these meetings.

"That (keeping statistics) is a private thing....strictly for the family," she said. She credits the time Apap puts toward explaining the game to the mothers for her decision to start keeping game information on her son. "That guy thinks football 12 months a year. I've never seen a coach give that much time to a program," Buttazzoni commended. "It's helped a lot. We can discuss (the game) with our boys after-

"I didn't want them to play in the first place," said Sue Meyer, who has two sons, David and Bruce, playing at Western.

"I feel the game is safer. I have a lot of faith in our coach. He cares about the boys and that is half the battle," she add-

"Well, you can get hurt doing the dumbest things," Meyer said.

"Football injuries are no more so than running across the street and getting injured. They are as safe playing that (football) as they are driving a car," said Joanne Hunter, who has a son Rick playing for Western.

Also knowing the type of conditioning a player goes through for the season helps a mother understand what is being done to reduce the possibility of injury, Hunter said.

"They (players) have to have their bodies in shape which will make them less prone to injury," she added.

One of the advantages Apap has seen develop from the meetings is better communication between the players, parents and coaching staff.

"There has been super communication. We (coaches) are more than welcome to answer any questions," he said.

"The biggest thing though, is the coaches and parents working together for a better football program for our kids," Apap added.

However, a couple of the mothers said they would like to see more parents attend the Boosters' Club meetings in order to expand their knowledge of the any success this season. The Redskin offensive attack revolves around the multiple talents of Monroe.

The 5-10, 170-pound senior has one and one-half seasons as the MHS starting signal-caller under his belt. He gained All-Area mention as a junior after completing 64 of 133 passes for 800 yards and seven touchdowns, and gaining 165 yards on the ground.

He is the fastest player on the squad, having clocked a 10.1 time in the 100-yard dash last spring. His speed, power, passing ability and experience will make him a difficult player for opposing teams to contain.

Two returnees, Russo, a second-team All-Area selection, and Mike Burklund, both seniors, head up the corps of linemen charged with the duty of giving Monroe enough time and room to operate.

Russo (6-0, 200) has one tackle spot nailed down. Burklund (5-11, 175) can play any line position. Bittinger hopes to locate him at a guard slot in order to take advantage of his sprinter's speed.

Junior Carl Cenzer and senior Richmond Hull are battling for the starting center position. Cenzer didn't play football last season, while Hull missed much of the year due to injury, after starting some early games on defense.

Blaine DeGarmo, a 5-9, 140-pound senior, has moved from end to guard and has a good shot at the starting job.

The other tackle spot is up for grabs. Six MHS players are fighting for the starting role, Bittinger said.

On the receiving end of Monroe aerials this season will be Thome and Pat Brower. Thome was an All-GOAL and All-Area first-team selection as a junior. He caught 23 passes for 335 yards and six touchdowns.

Thome will line up at split end, with fellow senior Pat Brower, who also saw a lot of game action last year, claiming the slotback position.

Seniors Mike Pietryga and Brian Howe are battling for the tight end position. Pietryga started several games for Milford last year.

With the Monroe-Thome combination returning intact, it is likely that the pigskin will be airborne quite often when Milford is in possession.

There are also some ground troopers available. Senior Doug Beck, junior Paul Gmelin and sophomore Dan Mitchell, all track sprinters, give the Redskins some outside speed in the backfield. All three backs are faster than Milford's starters of a year ago, commented Bittinger. Lack of size is one of the major problems for the Redskin offensive unit. Many of line candidates weigh less than smaller. The 'Skins will run out of a variety of formations this season, Bittinger said.

The offensive line will tell the story of Milford's 1981 football season.

With second-team Sliger All-Area quarterback Dave Monroe returning for the Redskins, the key to a successful campaign rests among those who will man the positions up front-the often unnoticed interior linemen.

"Monroe is a threat on every play, provided the line gives him time to get something going," remarked Milford head football coach Larry Bittinger. "The key to our offense is filling the open line

Several outstanding players return from last season's 3-6 Redskin squad. Monroe, Pete Thome and Rick Russo all got some post-season recognition as juniors on the MHS offense. They will play key roles on this year's team. Through the first weeks of practice the offense was unable to move the football against the defense, according to Bittinger. Countless plays were spoiled because a defender got to Monroe before he could get rid of the football.

That has to change if Milford is to have Continued on page 7

The key, however, is to make sure that enough blocking is available to make a play work, he explained.

Russo and Burklund also anchor the Redskin defensive unit. Both can play a variety of positions, but are likely to end up on the line-Russo at tackle and Burklund at end.

"Russo's got a very good nose for the football. There aren't too many people who can stop him if he gets in their way,'' Bittinger said.

DeGarmo will probably take the other defensive end position. Hull and junior Chris Sobbe, who is recovering from an auto accident, are tackle candidates.

Kevin Mehalko, a 5-9, 170-pound senior, in only his second year of football will probably be the middle linebacker when the Redskins open at home September 11 against Walled Lake Central.

Any of five players could claim the outside linebacker spots, according to Bittinger.

Another returning starter is 5-10, 150pound junior Rick Gordon at safety. He made a key interception against Lakeland last year to help Milford's 14-7 victory.

Two seniors, Ted Dabbs, up from the junior varsity and Daniel Lombardo, who took one year off from football, are leading candidates for positions in the secondary.

Talent arrives at Lakeland

Junior Darrin Campbell shoulders the Eagle ballcarrying load

If ever a person picked the right time to inherit a head football coaching job, it was Lakeland's first-year mentor Kent Griffiths.

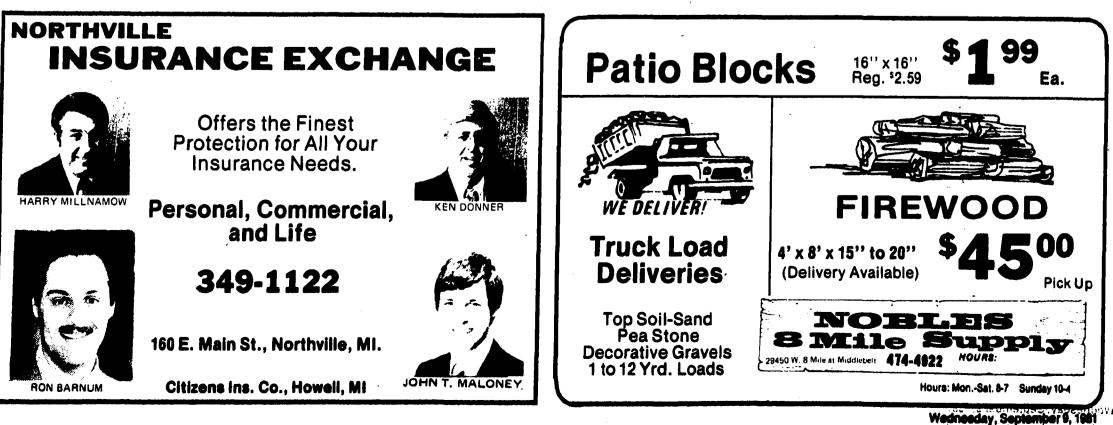

Winning football games has been a struggle for Eagle football squads since the school was built in 1975. Lakeland has never had a winning season, and until last year, the squad had never managed to win more than one game in the Inter-Lakes Conference.

The school's move to the Kensington Valley Conference means the Eagles won't beat any Inter-Lakes opponents this season (they don't play any), but that is about the only record that isn't in jeopardy this season.

There are indications that the corner has been turned at Lakeland. Some people are going so far as to say that the Eagles might contend for the KVC title in their first season in the league. One indication is the fact that last year's head coach Bill Barnes, whose new job doesn't allow him enough time in the afternoon to serve as head coach, has been actively involved in pre-season workouts as an assistant to Griffiths, and plans to scout and assist in whatever ways he can during the season. Better days are coming, and he doesn't plan to miss them, he said. What's causing the optimism? To

There are more than 22 good athletes available for action at Lakeland this year, commented Griffiths. Since they open in the Pontiac Silverdome Friday against

"There will be a real battle (for positions) since we do have the numbers. The competition is pretty spirited," Griffiths explained. "They know they're going to the 'Dome the first game. They want to be ready to play." Griffiths plans to change the offensive formation of the Eagles from an I formation to a split backfield. He hopes to spread the defense a little more to allow his quick offensive players the opportunity to operate.

Junior Chris Roberts (6-0, 230), sophomore Gary Stehr (6-2, 195) and senior Phil Layman (5-9, 200) are all challenging for the second tackle position. Senior Rick Zoulek (5-11, 170), who saw a lot of action last year will likely claim the other guard spot, Griffiths said. "The line doesn't look too bad. They're big and quick,'' Griffiths remarked. Behind the line is guite a bit of quickness. Last year's back-up quarterback, senior Chris Wolff, is battling talented junior Jim St. John, the signalcaller for the jayvees last year, for the starting position. St. John shows a trifle more speed and a slightly better arm, according to Griffiths, and has a slight edge at this time. Both seem capable of moving the offense, he said.

If they can manage to hand the ball to unior halfback Darrin Campbell without incident, half the battle may be won. Campbell (5-9, 150) is a scatback-type runner with remarkable strength for his position and will be a main target for passes this season. Other receiver candidates are juniors Don Izzo, Dave Bendall and Chip Hisle.

There is also returning strength on defense. Junior defensive end Steve Spewock (6-2, 190), junior nose guard Brett Theirbach (5-8, 140), tackle Niepoth, senior linebacker Dave Golembewski (5-10, 165) and senior cornerbacks Al Kraft-and Jim Hoffman, all started at least part of the time on defense.

If Wolff does not claim the quarterback slot, he will see time either in his strong safety role of last season, or as a defensive end.

Other possible starters are junior Paul Melton at end, junior Greg McBride at inside linebacker, junior Dean Carter in the secondary, senior Jim Olson at free safety, and Woods or junior Rodney Elliott at strong safety.

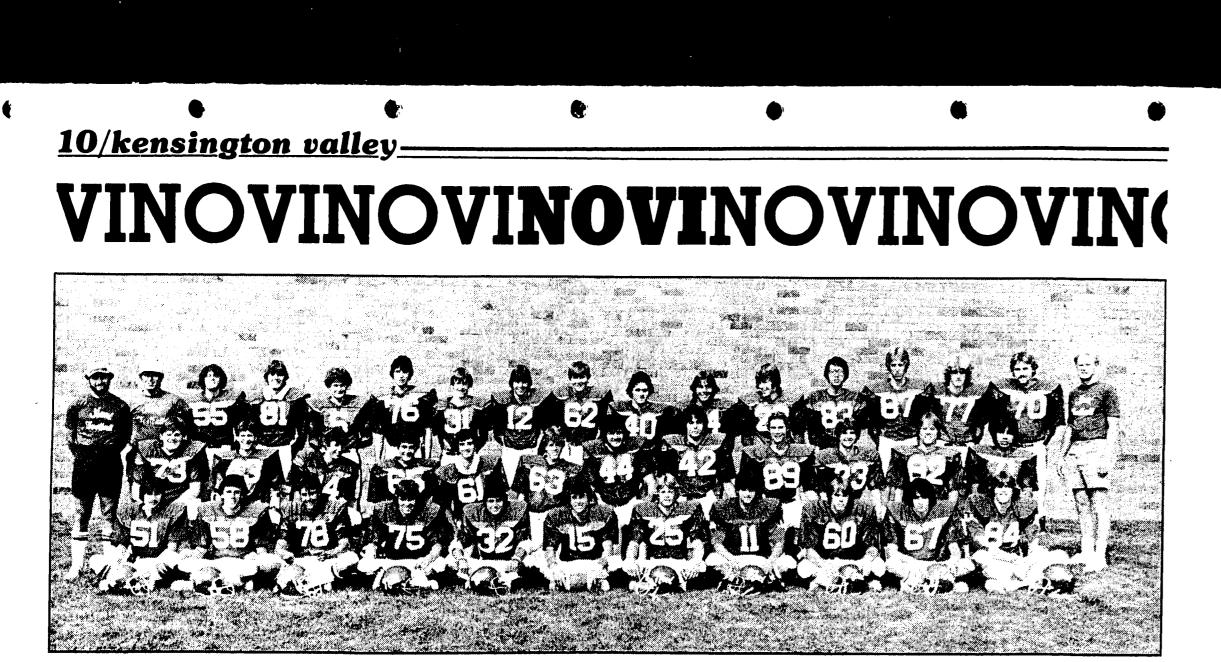

"We're going to try to platoon as much as possible," Griffiths said, stating that he hoped the fresher LHS players would be able to remain free of disabling iniuries.

And what about those who would concede the Eagles the title in their first season in the KVC?

"We hope to be more competitive in this league (than in the Inter-Lakes)." Griffiths remarked. "We have to take one game at a time. It's nice that people say that (Lakeland should win the title), but we do have untested kids. The JV won all its games, but that's not varsity football.

Bill Barnes is a busy man. If he thinks enough of the Eagle talent to stick around even after being laid off from his teaching position, then brighter days may be on the way.

John Osborne knows he's got his work cut out for him this year.

Graduation was harsh on the veteran coach of the Novi football team. Gone from the 1980 Wildcat squad which finished the season with a 6-3 record are 19 seniors-15 of them starters.

Included among the losses were such All-KVC performers as quarterback Mike Rentner, defensive tackle Terry Smith, linebacker Pat Buzolits and safety Ray Salius as well as Jim Chickowski (DHB), Fred Almond (DE) and Pat Korte (RB) who were second-team all-conference selections.

"We've got a few players returning with prime-time game experience," said Osborne, "but for the most part we're awfully thin in the experience depart-

"We've got a lot of rebuilding ahead of

One area where Osborne knows he is going to be strong this year is the kicking department where Chris Caudell returns after being an All-KVC choice in 1980.

Caudell will make the Wildcats a scoring threat whenever they cross the 30-

Caudell's real benefit to the team, however, is on kick-offs where his booming drives invariably give Wildcat opponents bad field position.

Osborne also feels good about his offensive backfield which features Al Smith, a rugged 6-0, 209-pound senior fullback and the lone returning veteran who started all nine games last year. The rugged fullback will be a key element in Osborne's vaunted wishbone attack. "With Smith back there, everybody is going to have to protect themselves up the middle," says Osborne. "If they cheat outside to stop our wide game, they're going to get hurt."

Flanking Smith at the running back posts right now are seniors Pete DeBrule (6-1, 170) and Dave Majors (5-8, 145), but the key to the success of the 1981 team may be the development of Vince Meo, a 5-8, 170-pound junior with Continued on page the upcoming season. "If Vince comes around, we could be tough," said the Novi coach. "He's the kind of player who can really open things up."

Three players-Caudell, Eric Deline and Dave Williams-are currently vying for the quarterback slot and Osborne does not know at this point who will get the starting nod.

In addition to his place-kicking responsibilities, Caudell was the back-up quarterback to Rentner last year. But Deline quarterbacked last year's undefeated junior varsity team and Williams, a transfer student from New Jersey, also has looked good in practice so far.

Osborne also feels comfortable in the wide receiver department. In addition to DeBrule coming out of the backfield, the Wildcats are looking to seniors Mark Moran (5-7, 145) and Keith Nichols (5-6, 135) at the split end position to handle receiving responsibilities. Both players have good speed, good hands and are capable of giving the Wildcats "a quick six."

But if all you've heard so far sounds good, it's because there hasn't been much discussion of the offensive line, which Osborne identifies as the team's biggest question mark.

are Brian Wright (5-11, 180) and Bruce Grossman (5-10, 145), but Vince Buzolits (5-9, 150) is also a candidate. And the same type of uncertainty exists at offensive tackle where Art Lionas (5-11, 180) is a top candidate, but Mike O'Connell (6-2, 170), John Antonczak (5-11, 170), Al Kozler (6-0, 170) and Mike Kamish (6-3, 195) are also being watched carefully.

Defensively, Osborne is in much the same condition-he's more than satisfied with his backs and linebackers, but it's the line which causes him concern.

Moran and Buzolits will get the call at cornerbacks, while the two unsuccessful quarterback candidates will likely see extensive duty at safety.

DeBrule and Nichols-a pair of hard hitters. Meo is another good linebacking candidate.

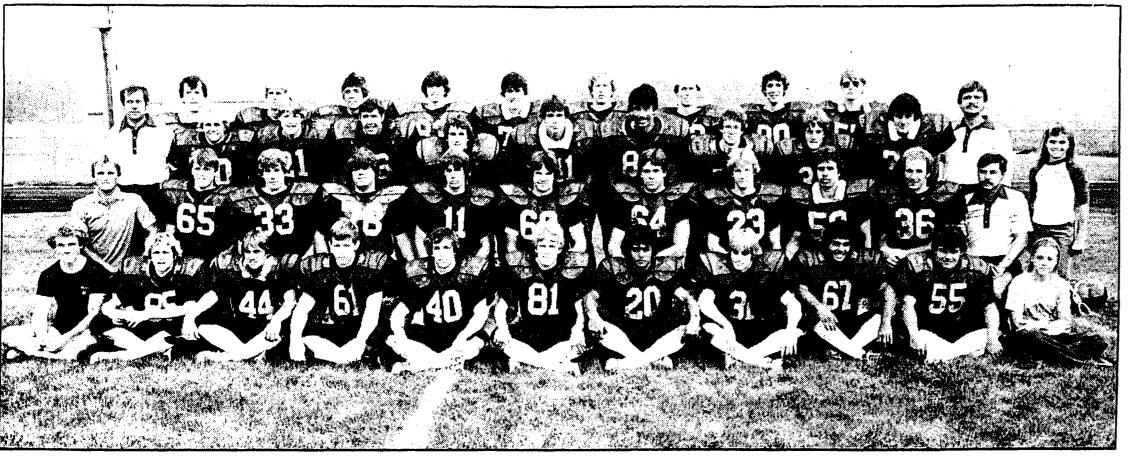

Osborne feels good about his defensive end candidates who include Pilch, Brian Wright and Paul Boyd. Pilch, he believes, is a potential All-KVC selection.

And that leaves defensive tackle where Rich Sinda (5-10, 165) and Lionas are the leading candidates at the present time.

"I like to be optimistic, but in all honesty I have major concerns about our line-both offensively and defensively." says the veteran Novi coach.

"That's going to be the key for usgetting our line in good working shape." If that happens, and previous history indicates that it could, the Wildcats could roll to a big season behind their wishbone attack.

Lions reload to chase fifth title

By PAUL MAGUIRE

Even though Dan Skatzka lost 22 seniors to graduation in June, the South Lyon High School football coach seems determined to win a fifth consecutive conference crown.

"Yeah, we sure are confident," Skatzka said about the team's chances of a fifth consecutive title. "I think it's as realistic as the past four." The Lions collected two Southeastern Conference crowns in 1977 and 1978. Then after moving into the Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) in 1979, they took the 1979 and 1980 titles. South Lyon was undefeated against KVC teams last season.

While South Lyon lost several regular starters to graduation, Skatzka pointed out he has a strong pool of players to choose from this season. Skatzka said that many of the 1981 starters did see some varsity action last season.

Skatzka downplayed the idea that his team is in a rebuilding stage. He said the Lions are strong in most positions with capable and often experienced players. "In South Lyon, we don't rebuild, we just reload," Skatzka explained. "I never dwell on how many guys I lost the previous season."

In talking about team strengths, Skatzka said there is a traditional winning attitude in South Lyon that should help the Lions. He explained that the Lions feel it is their "right" to win another league championship.

From a personnel standpoint, Skatzka said his team is comparable to last year's squad, which finished the season with a 9-0 tally. Skatzka added that many players may find themselves playing both offense and defense during the season.

Defense may be the name of the game for the Lions this season. Skatzka said overall, the defensive squad should be very tough.

"We just don't have any weak spots," he explained. Szatzka has some experienced varsity defensive linemen returning in seniors Pat Gaffka, Mark Kehrer, Randy Helm and junior Dan Allison. Allison was on the junior varsity squad last season. Behind them at the linebacking positions are seniors Aric Geda and Steve Zachar. Zachar saw plenty of varsity action last season as a junior. Skatzka said no decision has been made yet on who the third linebacker will be. The defensive backfield should give opposing quarterbacks fits, Skatzka figures. Anchoring the backfield are Wongstrom and junior Eric Miller. "We're probably as strong as we've

The numbers are right for the Brighton football team this season, but according to Coach John Seckinger, they are not that right.

The Bulldogs return 22 players from last year's second-place team. But, as Seckinger points out, only 12 of those gridders had any playing time worth bragging about.

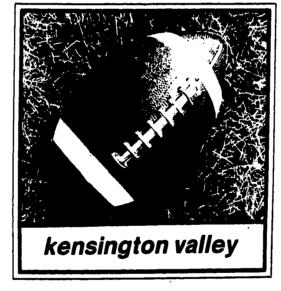

Seniors Scott Underwood and Chuck Guild, both third-year players, are the standouts of the 12 returning starters. Underwood (6-3, 232) is a hulking lineman who has drawn the notice of college recruiters, while Guild (5-10, 188) is being lauded as a potential standout at a linebacking post.

The quarterback fight has been a scramble between seniors Jim Clark and Dave Angelis and junior Mark Earl, plus sophomore Tom Garris.

The running back slots do have plenty of experience in the fold with the return of Dan Bush (6-1, 174), Tom Fisher (5-9, 179), John Mueller (5-7, 142) and Cliff Price (6-0, 175), all of whom started at least one game for Brighton.

HARTLAND

There is no doubt in coach Joe Irvin's mind that the Hartland football fortune is on the upswing.

After finishing the 1980 season with three victories, the Eagles are riding a winning attitude into the 1981 season, despite some setbacks caused by a late millage vote and the question of whether the Eagles would field a team.

With the loss of unanimous All-KVC players Art Sweeten and Darin Ries, Irvin has some holes to plug. But with the numbers up from 26 to 40, that problem won't be so difficult.

Taking over at running back is senior Tom Harris who figures to do plenty of

HOWELL

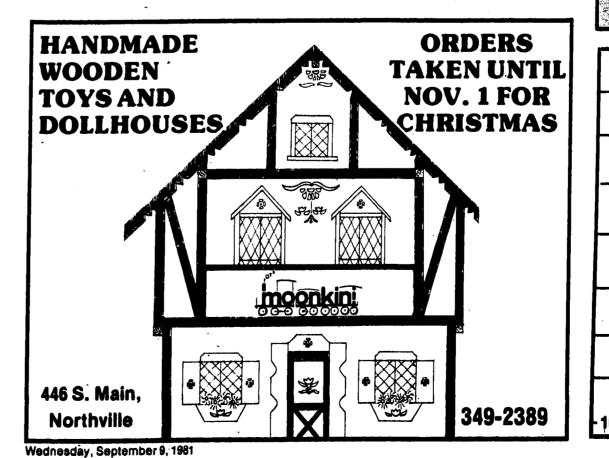

The way Howell Coach John Dukes figures it, you can probably run, but you can't hide from his Highlander gridders this fall.

His 1981 Howell squad was hit hard by graduation, but those losses will at least be partially offset by the fact that he will field a team that boasts some beef up front on the offensive and defensive lines

The only real concern left for the Howell coaching staff is whether its contigent of large linemen has the quickness to sustain the outside game in Kensington Valley Conference encounters.

The Highlander offensive front line candidates include center Don Jakrzewski (6-2, 190), guards Jim Kozma (6-1, 195) and Greg Johnson (6-0, 165) and tackles Brian Curtis (6-0, 180) and Dan

By JEFF FRANK It may be a newly-revamped Kensington Valley Conference, but the football race looks familiar—everybody chases South Lyon. The two-time defending champs are the team to beat until somebody else shows otherwise, according to Novi football coach John Osborne, who echoed the words of Lion coach Dan Skatzka when he said "they expect to win the title in " South Lyon: "Skatzka was a little more poetic." Brighton, and Howell, have the advantage in size, both physically and in numbers: The Buildogs must replace several departed All-County choices, while Howell has to find some speed to go with its mammoth linemen. Pinckney and Hartland are dark-horses at best. The Edgles lost several fine pro-spects, because of the school millage uncertainty, while Pinckney just doesn't have enough size to match up with the South Lyons and the Howells.

-kensington valley/15

Fred Meinecke is the Howell flanker, and the likely target for any Howell passing attempts.

PINCKNEY

Coach Tom Wilson has been impressed by the speed of the 1981 varsity edition of the Pinckney football team. However, there isn't much size to go with that speed. Wilson likens this team to his teams of the '70s. "We do not have the big or extremely talented players." Wilson said. "But we do have a team that is really into the team effort." The Pirates were hurt last year by injuries in a 3-6 season. There are 11 returnees from that squad, which includes running back John Roach who rushed for 675 yards in just six games. John Weston (6-0, 160) is back to man the center position on the offense and defensive tackle. Shawn Fleming returns to his defensive end and guard positions.

"Togetherness is a key word," Wilson said. Along with speed on the offense, the Pirates will have to count on team defense to get them the ball. "Our quickness is our strong point," Wilson said.

investment counselor. But Apap is drawing from his grid knowledge to pass out some investment advice this fall.

"If you've got money in the bank, buy stock in the Warriors," says the enthusiastic Western mentor. "We're going to be good."

Western's grid program has been on the rise since Apap's arrival four years ago. In his first year, the former Northville assistant led the Warriors to a 5-4 record-their first winning season in nine years.

And he led the Warriors to 6-3 records in both his second and third years on the job.

But Apap has reached the point where

Chuck Apap's Warriors will be strong

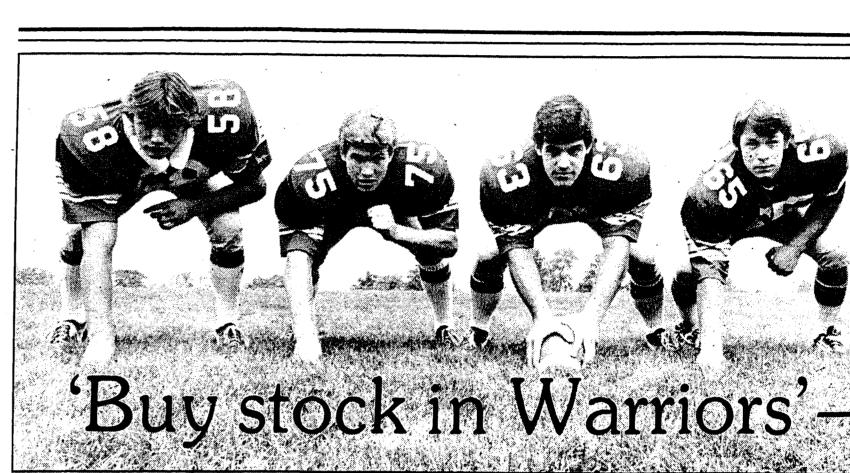

COMPARENTER CONTRACTOR DE LA COMPANYA DE

he says 6-3 just isn't good enough, and 1981 is the year the Warriors will go on to bigger and better things.

On the surface, Apap's optimism would seem somewhat unrealistic. After all, the Warriors suffered major graduation losses from the 1980 squad-the most important of which was Angelo Buttazzoni, the all-county, all-state tailback and defensive standout who will be playing at Hillsdale College this fall.

And Buttazzoni was not the only important loss from the 1980 squad. Also lost to graduation were quarterback John Generous and such all-conference performers as linebacker Randy Shell, kicker Mike Xenos and defensive backs

Paul Burke and Frank Tozzi. All told, the Warriors lost five starters on offense and eight starters from their defensive squad.

So why is Apap optimistic about the upcoming season? The big reason is O-offense.

The strength of the 1981 edition of the Warrior team will be its offensive line which boasts five returning starters.

Holding down the center spot will be Joe Bauer, a 5-8, 185-pound senior. Flanking him at the guard positions will be two more seniors, John Adams (5-11, 190) and Dave Mills (5-10, 170). Craig Mc-Callum (5-11, 190) will hold down one of the tackle slots, and Jimmy lafrate (5-11, 185) is set to go at tight end.

lafrate and Adams come equipped with all-conference credentials, and Apap believes there isn't a finer group of offensive linemen around.

As for the backfield, Apap is convinced the Warriors will be just as potent as they were last year despite the losses of Buttazzoni and Generous.

The successor to Buttazzoni at tailback will be Paul Imms, a 6-3, 215pound junior with 4.78 speed in the 40. Imms was a part-time starter as a sophomore, and Apap believes he is now ready to pick up where Buttazzoni left off.

In fact, the Western mentor believes Imms has big college potential as a running back if he continues to work hard. "When you're that big and that fast, you'd better be able to haul the ball," says the Warrior coach.

At the other running back post will be Billy Kumm (5-8, 150) who shared starting time with Imms last year. "Billy's my kind of kid," observed Apap. "He's hard-nosed out on that football field and he'll block as well as run."

Although Imms and Kumm are set at the running back slots, Apap is still up in the air as to who his guarterback will be. But that does not mean the Warriors will be hurting in the signal-calling department.

In fact, the Western coach believes the two candidates for the job are both ahead of last year's quarterback-"and we had a good quarterback last year."

Fighting it out at quarterback are Doug Day, a 5-11, 160-pound senior who led the Warriors to a 20-11 victory over Southfield Lathrup last year, and Rick Hunter, a 5-8, 160-pound junior who guarterbacked the jayvee team to a 6-2 record last year.

"Hunter has more speed, but Day has leadership and experience," said Apap in appraising his signal-caller candidates. Both of them can also throw the ball, and Apap expects the Warriors to Wednesday, September 9, 1981 be more aerial-minded this year.

Defensively, Apap is less certain about his starting team. lafrate will be a twoway starter at offensive and defensive end; Todd Stone (6-0, 170) will return to a starting defensive end position; and Day or Hunter-depending on who lands the quarterback slot-will get the nod at safety.

But after that, things are pretty much up in the air.

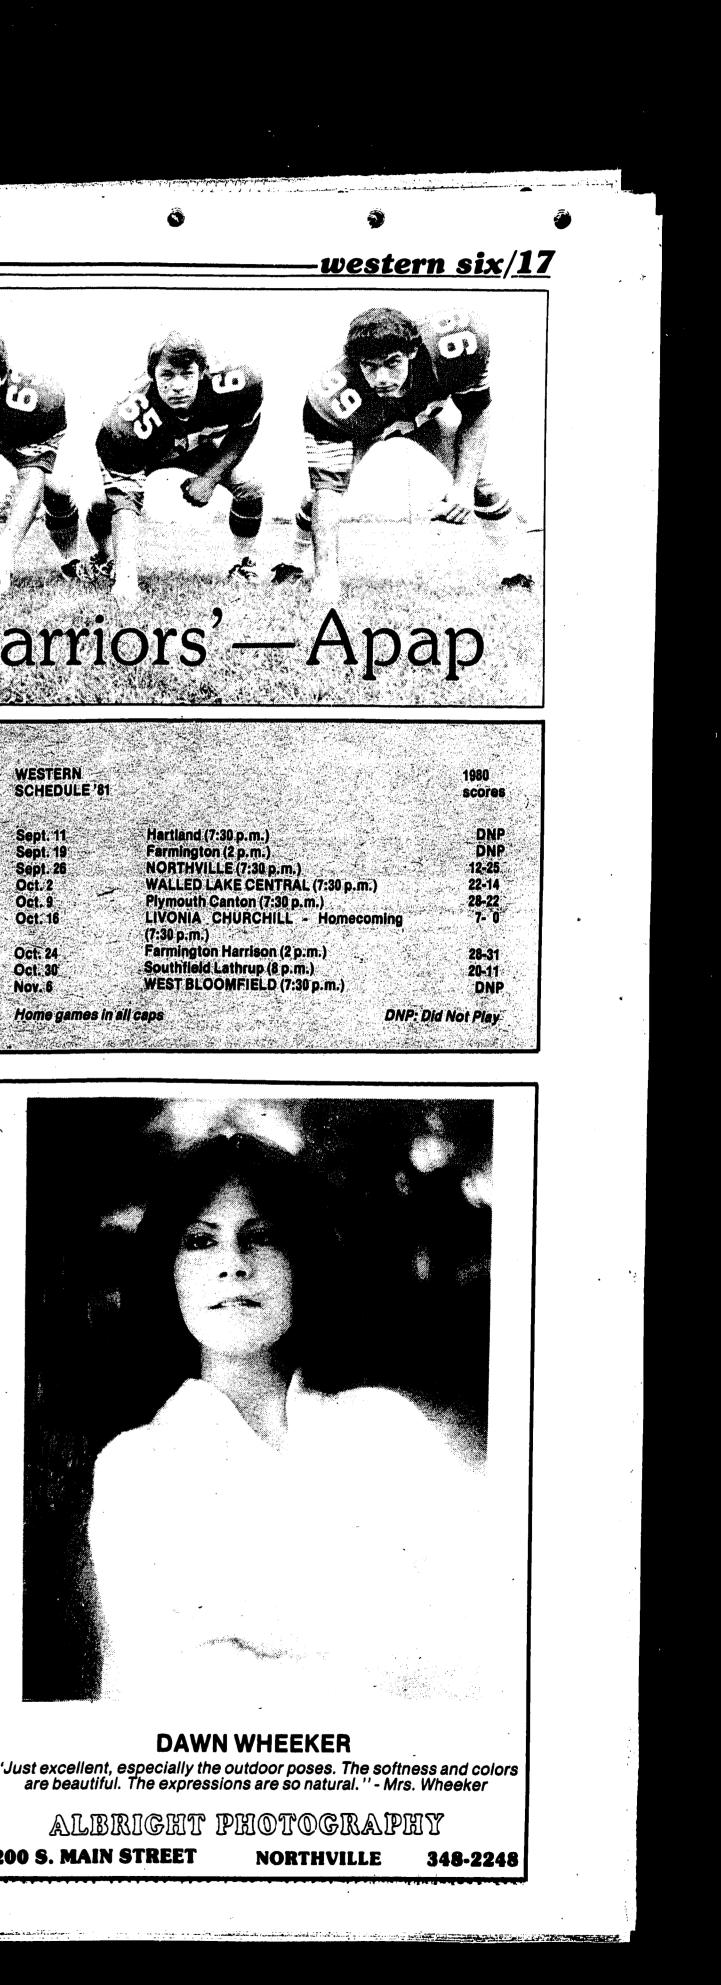

"I like to have a two-platoon football team, but we're not as blessed with the depth this year that we had last year," said Apap. "It's possible that we'll have a lot more two-way players than we've had in previous years.

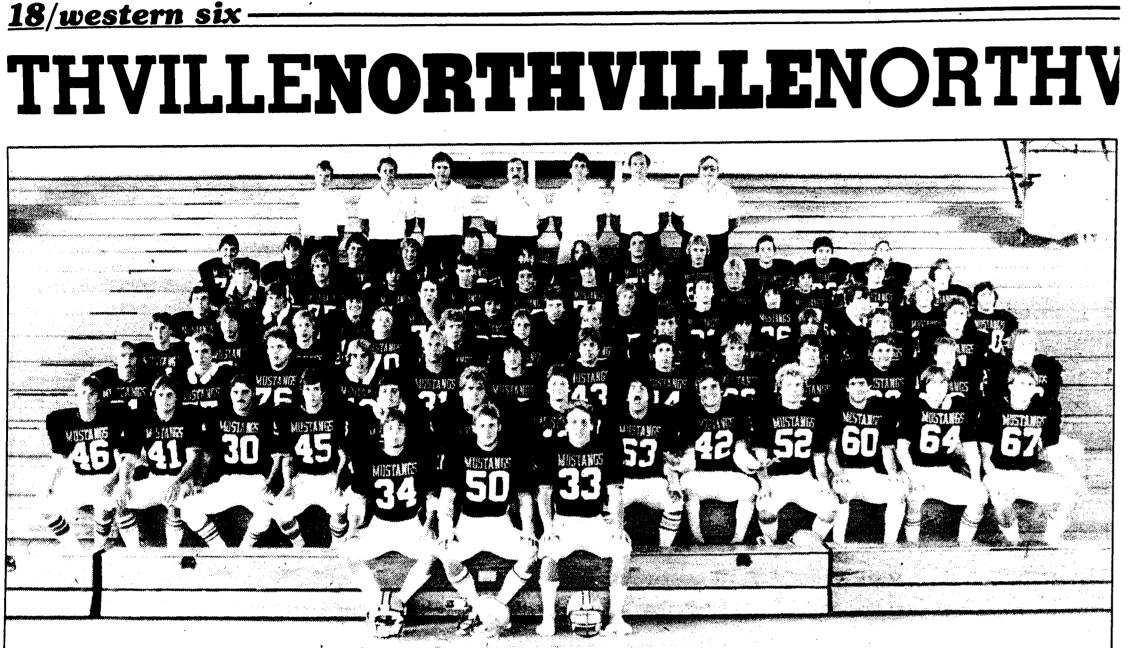

"The kids who win starting berths will make that determination on the practice field.'

Offense keys Mustangs

Northville head coach Dennis Colligan said the key to any football fortunes the Mustangs will experience this year will be the ability of the offensive line to mature as early as possible. Sound familiar?

It should, because the third-year coach basically said the same thing last year when he noted Northville only would be a contender in the Western Six Conference if the offensive line could open some holes for his running backs. 'The key this year will be the offensive line. We are not that big, but if the line can give any type of opening for our running backs, we'll go,'' Colligan explained.

"But that (offensive line) is the question mark," he added. "Our backs are tough, but it is in the line where the game is won or lost.

"We think we have the potential and it is going to take a lot of work. We are going to focus a lot of the attention with the line," Colligan offered.

Probably starting at the other tackle position will be 6-foot-1, 255-pound Vince Candela, who also is a defensive standout for the Mustangs.

"Last year he was runner-up in his weight class in wrestling in the conference, so that should tell you something about his strength and quickness," Colligan said.

Two other candidates for the tackle positions are 6-1, 180-pound Ron Housman and 6-1, 185-pound Randy Kratt.

Anchoring one of the offensive guard positions is 5-10, 175-pound Scott Faustyn, Colligan said Rick Pierce might start at the other guard spot. Also battling for a spot will be Jeff Weaver and John Collins.

Five players are fighting for the two wide receiver jobs. Bob Townsend, Jim Thomson. Tim Borthwick, Tom Hanson and New Jersey transfer John McGowan are doing battle among themselves.

While things may seem bleak along the line, Colligan is bubbling with enthusiasm about his offensive backfield. "We have excellent speed in the backfield. We just have a lot of speed...more than I can remember in five years as a group," Colligan said Backs pack speed McLaughlin coming in and doing the job.

"He is such a steady performer. His best assist is to read defenses and run our option. He has the patience and is not afraid to get hit," Colligan said.

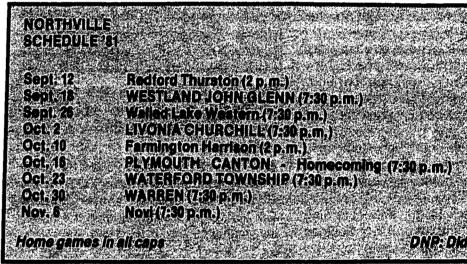

At fullback is Andy Dimitroff, 5-9, 175 pounds, who Colligan said, "comes with a ton of speed." His brother, Chris, and Scott Spaman are battling for the tailback position, while Ray McDonough and Todd Zroray are providing some competition.

On the defensive side of the coin, the Mustands are returning five starters. That puts a smile on Colligan's face.

"I think we will be tough as nails defensively. This is where I'll brag a little," Colligan boasted. At nose guard will be Faustyn. "He is exceptionally quick and strong." Colligan said. Handling one of the defensive tackle Kratt is the leading candidate to fill the other slot, while Housman and Ron Winter provide the competition.

At defensive end Colligan thinks his team is solid with Chris Dimitroff, while Fitzpatrick and Weaver will battle for the other bookend position.

Linebacking is another strength of the Mustangs, according to Colligan, with Andy Dimitroff and Spaman securing starting postions. "Their experience should help." he said.

This is it for the Western Six Conference.

With a new Western Lakes Conference being launched in 1982, the Western Six is headed for the last round-up in this its 11th season.

With that in mind, the imminent question becomes: Can any team keep the final W-Six football championship trophy from finding its way to the Farmington Harrison or Livonia Churchill trophy cases?

Since 1974, Harrison and Churchill have divvied up the gridiron championships between themselves with Harrison swiping the 1980 title.

Waterford Mott won two championships, back in 1971 and 1973, but it has dropped out of the league this season due to economic reasons. So, it is up to teams like Northville, Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western to break the dominance of Harrison and Churchill. And all three teams are up to the challenge.

"I think we have as good as chance as any team," Northville head coach Dennis Colligan said. "Farmington Harrison, even though it lost Reggie Upshaw and Ken Kopko, has to be picked as the front runner." To be in the thick of things, Colligan is hoping his offensive line comes around to open some holes for his speedy backfield.

Neil Fitzpatrick is the only returning starter to the offensive unit, but Colligan says if the line can open some holes for running backs Andy and Chris Dimitroff and Scott Spaman—the points will come. Defensively, the Mustangs are sound

Walled Lake Central guns for the top of the Inter-Lakes Conference

n and a second secon

The Inter-Lakes Conference may boast fewer competitors this year-but you better believe it will be every bit as competitive.

The 1981 season will be the last for the I-L, which merges next fall with the Western Six. And with only four of six teams returning this year (Waterford Mott transferred to GOAL and Pontiac Northern dropped its sports program), each and every game will have more at stake.

There will be no second chances this year. With only three league games slated, a 2-1 record just won't cut it. More than likely, a perfect 3-0 conference campaign will take the title.

And to no one's surprise, Livonia Stevenson is again tabbed as the team to beat

"They've got the numbers (of students)," says Walled Lake Central coach John VanSicklen. "No matter how many seniors graduate, they've always got the players to replace them."

1980 was a classic example. Despite losing 20 of 22 starters from the year before, coach Jack Reardon's Spartans grabbed their fifth consecutive I-L title and ninth in 13 years.

Most of Reardon's starters return, so 1981 should be another banner year for the Spartans. But it won't be easy Farmington, too, returns a cartload of starting seniors. Coming off three successive subpar seasons, Hal Beardsley's Falcons could be the darkhorse.

Ten starters return from last year's 2-7 team, a team which Beardsley quickly points out, "lost five of six conference games by a total of 17 points." Offensively, Farmington returns its entire backfield. In the same vane, Waterford Township (1-5 league, 3-6 overall) also returns an abundance of talent. Granted All-State tailback Marty Scott has left for Purdue, yet freshman Skipper coach Al Cuthrell returns nine starters from both sides of the line of scrimmage.

"We should be fairly successful," reports the rookie coach, Township's fourth in as many years. "All our starters are proven and ready to go.

Second-year Walled Lake Central coach VanSicklen hasn't the luxury of 20 returning starters, but he is confident his Vikings can hold their own.

Back from a 4-1 (5-4 overall), runnerup season, VanSicklen's prime concern is fortifying decimated defensive and offensive backfields.

Both offensive and defensive lines re main intact, so if junior quarterback Kevin Lemon, junior fullback Jim Ginster, junior swingback Tom Kaufmann and senior tailback Tom Lowell improve as quickly as VanSicklen hopes-Central, too, can be very competitive.

offensive unit," reports VanSicklen. "We'll score our share of points. "It's just a matter of putting together a strong secondary which concerns me," continues the lowa State grad. "Our success will depend on how fast our young defensive backs develop."

Supporting Lemon and Menard in the backfield will be the rushing tandem of junior fullback Tim Ginster and senior tailback Tom Lowell. Ginster (5-10, 180), like his brother before him, is deceptively fast and strong. Lowell (5-10, 160) is a slashing runner with long-range speed. Junior Tom Kaufman (5-10, 160) is tabb-

Senior Ray Hunert (6-0, 190) returns at center after attaining all-conference status last season. Junior guards Mike Arnold (5-10, 185) and returning starter Jim Cominskey (6-0, 195) anchor Hunert at both sides.

Junior Steve Thiebert (6-3, 200) will hold down one tackle position, while seniors John Andrews (6-0, 195) and Don Gibbs (6-2, 220) vie for the other.

Tight end, more a blocking than receiving position, will be senior Jim Butler's (6-2, 200) responsibility, while senior Don Stakoe (6-0, 195) leads a regiment of fleet-footed receivers. Both are returning starters.

Over the years, Viking ballplayers have

But once again, the great uncertainty defensively is at defensive back. All four positions are presently "there for the taking," though VanSicklen forsees Lemon, Menard, Lowell and Kaufman as the probable unit.

If Central has trouble moving the ball the Vikings can still count on the toes of placekicker Andy Auwert and punter Dave Lobert. VanSicklen reports Auwert. a senior from Venezuela, has been booting 40-yard field goals throughout the preseason. And Lobert, just a sophomore, looks mighty impressive under the gun.

By JEFF FRANK

There will be no football, or any other fall athletic programs in Whitmore Lake this year.

The defeat of a 4.9-mill increase request by voters in Whitmore Lake August 31 dooms all extra-curricular activities until November 2 at the earliest. No millage election could be held before then, according to members of the district's school board.

The Whitmore Lake experience is not a unique one in these days of state aid cutbacks and millage failures. Often the most-asked question of an athletic director prior to the opening of the school year is not "how do you think your football team will do this season," but, "do you think that your school will have sports this year."

The Pontiac, Waterford, Hartland, Pin ckney and Whitmore Lake school districts were asked that question all summer long. All of them at one time or other this summer dropped athletics, or made up contingency plans which included dropping athletics if certain measures were not taken.

Waterford, Hartland and Pinckney were able to save at least part of their sports programs for the 1981-82 school vear.

Booster club funding is the key to success for Waterford and Pinckney-both of which have also adopted a participation fee for all athletes at their schools.

Voters in Hartland passed an 11.5-mill renewal issue August 22, thus averting the implementation of its "Disaster Plan," a plan in which all extra-curricular activities would have been eliminated.

Pontiac and Whitmore Lake weren't so lucky. It took a series of millage failures—eight in a row, in fact—to bring about the elimination of sports in Pontiac. Community donations helped athletic programs to continue in past years, while the Pontiac school board attempted to come up with a millage question that could pass.

When voters in Pontiac turned down a renewal question this summer, the verdict was sealed. Even an effort by coaches at Pontiac Northern to save some sports by volunteering their time was turned down by the school board.

The 502-434 negative result for the Whitmore Lake millage question was not entirely unexpected by district personnel. Athletic Director Dave Stewart, one employee who will be laid off because of the millage defeat, admitted concern shortly before the election.

"The medical profession would do quite well out here dispersing anxiety pills," Stewart admitted. "I will be terminated as an employee. For me personally, that's an awesome possibility."

Inflation was the culprit in Whitmore Lake. The state aid formula for schools calls for a district to take its total property tax assessment and divide it by the number of youngsters enrolled in the district.

If the resultant number is less than $1,930, the state of Michigan will reimburse the difference to the district. If greater than $1,930 there is no reimbursement.

Last year, the Whitmore Lake district received $134,000 in state aid funds. However, increased property assessments caused by inflation, forced the number to rise above the $1,930 per student limit.

As a result, the district went out of for-

What do those grid terms mean?

By JEFF FRANK It's time for football season again. Each year, the interest in this fiercest of all contact sports continues to rise. Unfortunately, the game is so complex that a lot of these newly interested fans have a hard time figuring out exactly what is going on—or even worse—don't understand the terminology used by spectators, coaches and broadcasters. It's wrong to assume that a person tuning into a televised football game or atten-ding a high school game for the first time would be able to follow the action just from the commentary provided by announcers, or the fan's buddy in the next seat. For that reason, as a public service, I am providing a glossary of football terms.

athletes and $20 for junior high competitors $20-will cover approximately one-third of the total cost of the athletic program, according to athletic director Bruce Gilbert. The remainder of the program is being funded by the school district.

Voters assured that athletics would continue by approving a 24.4-mill renewal and a 2.5-mill transfer of debt retirement millage in June.

Gilbert is somewhat relieved that all programs will be operating, although he admits he does not like the fee system. "It's a plus season for me. At this point

I don't have to worry about cuts (from the program)." he commented. "It's good for kids to know that in the middle of the year they won't have to drop out (of a sport).'

Financial problems of two years ago can still be noted in the Walled Lake Schools. Both Walled Lake Central and Western high schools are still operating with cuts that were implemented prior to the 1979-80 school year.

Each school dropped a football squad. Central cut junior varsity football, while Western eliminated its ninth-grade squad. Ninth grade baseball was dropped at both schools, and swimming also remains out of the district's athletic offerings.

"At least we're in business, that's the good part," stated Walled Lake AD Tom Evans. "We have a program for the kids.

There have been cuts in equipment purchases, Evans said, but high school booster clubs have helped out quite a bit in that area, he added.

> Evans hopes that the Walled Lake district can ride out the difficult times without having to resort to a fee system. or being forced to further reduce programs in the district. Things are tight in South Lyon, reported its athletic director, whose name also happens to be Tom Evans. The athletic department is keeping close tabs on what it spends, he said.

A 13.5-mill renewal election is schedul-'ed for September 14 in South Lyon. Evans is hopeful that the millage will be passed and no drastic budget cuts will be needed.

"Generally the community has been very positive to the schools here," commented Evans in assessing the millage election. "We're fortunate in that respect."

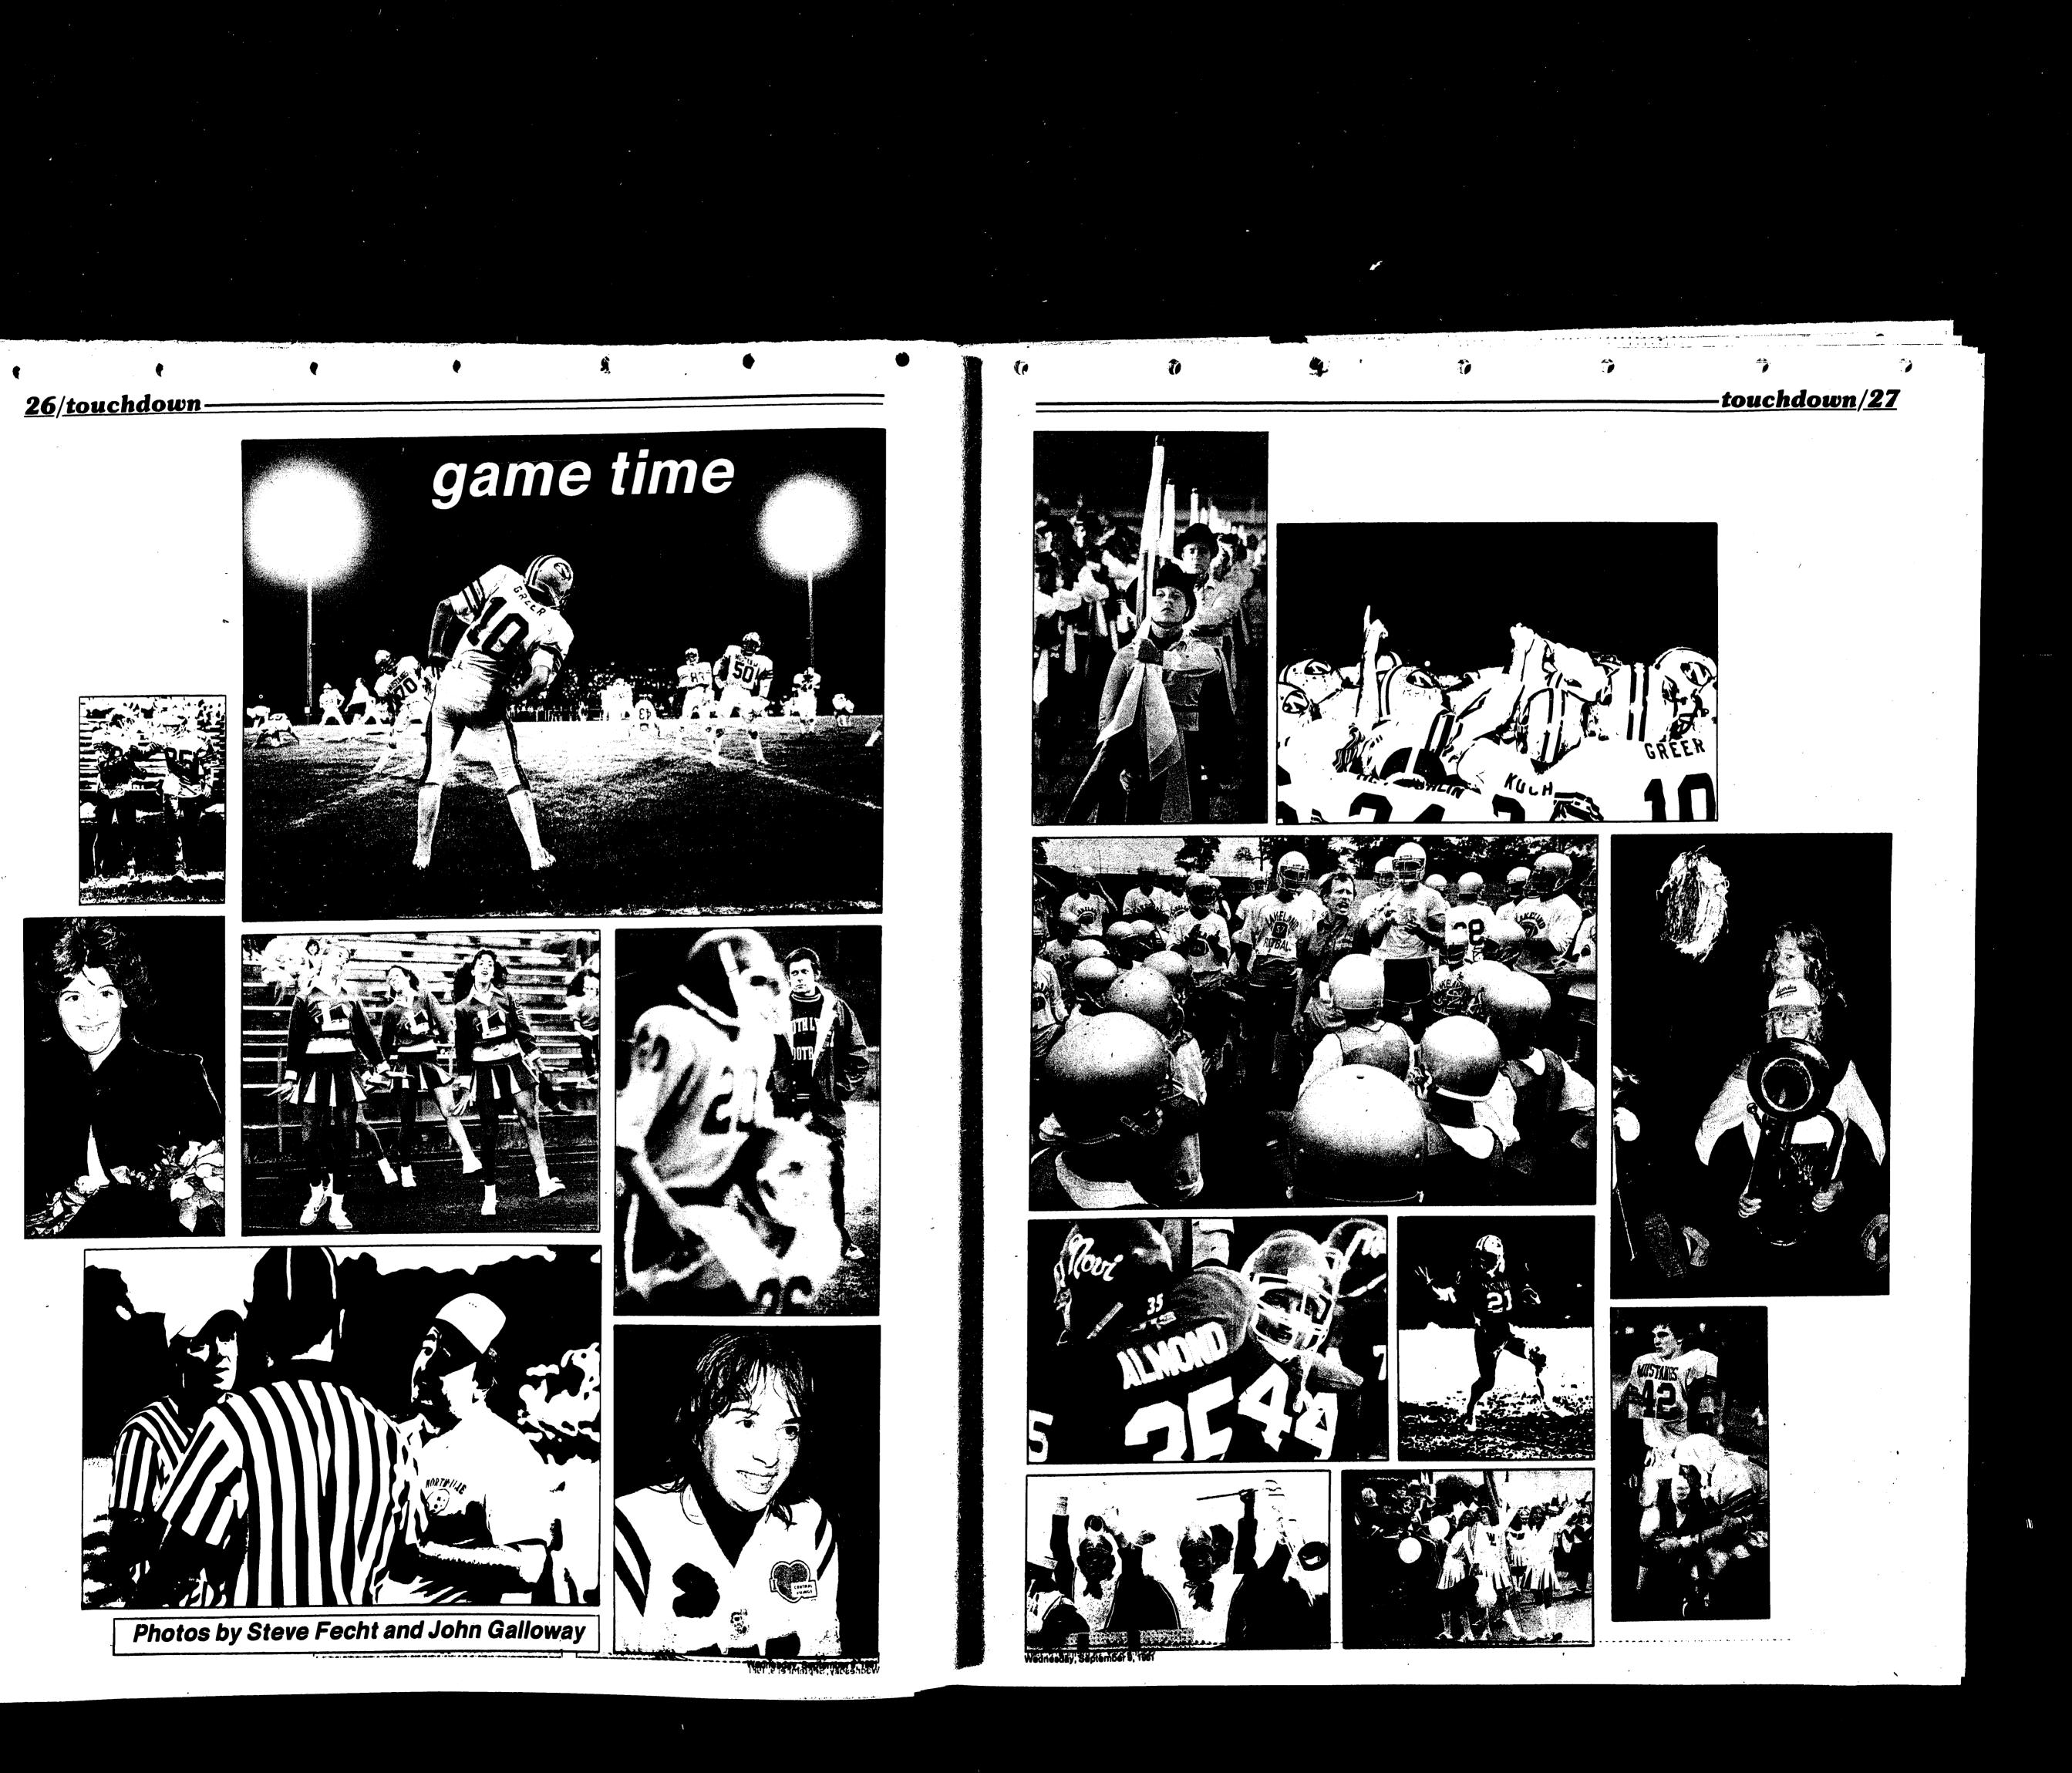

A slight enrollment increase in the Novi School District bucks the trend in surrounding areas.

Novi voters passed a 9.7-mill renewal last spring, allowing the district to maintain its complete athletic program.

When area football squads hit the field September 11 for their first contests, there will likely be a few sighs of relief that the economic slump and budget cuts weren't enough to prevent seven of the eight schools in the area from fielding athletic squads.

The Whitmore Lake trend is spreading and athletic directors feel fortunate to make it first through the school year, and then through the summer with their programs intact.

"Who knows what the year will bring as far as the economy is concerned,' summed up South Lyon's Evans. "We're just hoping for the best."

Underground army keeps festival tidy

clude:

Many visitors to Disneyland or Disney World are unaware that under the paved streets is an army of underground workers hauling away garbage, fixing plumbing and electricity, and arranging for the visit of the Disney characters on Main Street.

The same unawareness may exist for many visitors to the Plymouth Fall Festival.

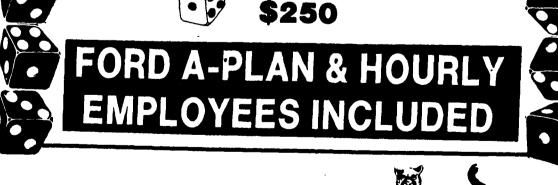

Although the workers aren't underground, there is a whole crew of persons whose hard work is almost "invisible" because of the quiet, efficient way their jobs are performed.

Many of these are persons employed by the Fall Festival Board but the large bulk of workers behind the scenes are employees of the city of Plymouth.

SOME OF THE key characters involved are Kenneth Vogras, director of the Plymouth Department of Public Works; Carl Berry, Plymouth police inspector; Roy Hall, Plymouth fire chief; Carl Glass, festival manager; Mike Vanderveen, festival assistant manager; and Fred Eisenlord. president of the Fall Festival Board.

Some of the early work for the festival is performed by DPW crews who hang the Fall Festival signs onto the street light poles up and down Main Street to announce the arrival of the festival and advertise the dates.

opens Sept. 10, with the annual Colonial Kiwanis dinner in Kellogg Park.

The Kiwanians are switching from the spaghetti dinners they have been serving for five years, and will present a full-course roast beef dinner instead.

To give it a real touch, they have decided to adopt a countrywestern motif and will appear in cowboy hats, shirts, ties and all the other garb the men who roamed the west years ago wore.

Under the plan, the beef will be brought to Kellogg Park in 10pound cuts. It will be partly roasted and the finishing touches will be given it on two stoves in the lot between the Masonic Temple and Penn Theater.

The switch from spaghetti was made in the hope of raising a larger fund for charity work. As one of the Kiwanians said, "Not everyone eats spaghetti, but most everybody enjóys a good cut of beef. And we'll have the best."

The roast beef dinner will include a sizeable cut of beef, "red" potatoes, salad, rolls, butter, beverage and ice cream. The dinners will be served 5-8 p.m.

The switch to a beef dinner is the third change since the Fall Festival became a four-day event.

First, the Business and Professional Women sponsored a German Night. To make it authentic, they served sauerkraut with all the trimmings. To boost the sales, they served the dinner from noon on. As a fitting touch, they offered all the old types of German pies and pastries.

After a while the women decided to withdraw as cooks of the sauerkraut dish and the Colonial Kiwanis (the noon club) took over with spaghetti.

But because the Italian dish does not tickle the palates of everyone, they decided to move on to what they hope will be greater things.

That's why they switched to roast beef and then the country western wearing apparel as an authentic touch.

Wide range of art will be exhibited

About 80 artists will be featured in the Plymouth Fall Festival Arts and Crafts Show on Sept. 12, 13 in Central Middle School.

The show is being sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC).

Central Middle School is located at the east end of the downtown business district at Church Street and Main (Plymouth Road). The show will be from noon to 9 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

ALL PARTICIPATING artisans were selected by a committee which spends many months choosing participants to make sure a well-rounded show is offered. Arts and crafts representing numerous varieties of media are featured, including leatherwork, pewter, copperware, stained glass, colonial punched tin, woodcraft, toy making, and quilting.

An innovation for the 1981 show will be a showcase room where children's activities and entertainment have been scheduled.

It will be open from 2-5 p.m. Saturday and 1-4 p.m. Sunday with a range of hourly programs, including slide shows, story hours, and art lessons.

At 5 p.m. Saturday the Clark Family Players will perform in a tent outside the school with puppets, songs, skits and mag-

Pancakes kept warm with inside kitchens

The Plymouth Kiwanis Club's pancake breakfast, a major part of the Fall Festival for years, will be doing business at the same old stand this year. For a time some people were suggesting that the breakfast could be more successful if held outdoors. In its present location in the Masonic Temple the sales are limited to about 2,500 persons, even though the pancakes are on the griddles from 7 a.m. to late afternoon.

So an unofficial experiment was made. The Kiwanians were told of a pancake affair that was being held outdoors. This was interesting, so they went and observed it in operation. If successful the Plymouth breakfast could be taken to the lot next to the temple, and the dining space would be about doubled. It sounded fine, that is until the experiment proved that pancakes outdoors are not the tastiest dish.

"In the first place," one of the Kiwani ans said, "the pancakes were not done in the middle. What's more the link sausage was burned on one side and almost raw on the other. But, worse yet, the flies were terrible. So, I guess we will remain in-
