Novi water rates may increase 82% in July

Water rates in Novi are slated to rise 82 percent effective July 1, 1982 — but city officials say there is no reason to panic yet. They are doing what they can to reverse the increase just passed down by the Detroit Water Board.

The city will be fighting to avert water rate increases which would effect residential, commercial and industrial water customers.

For the average residential water customer, who now pays $70 every three months, the proposed rate increase could be expected to come to approximately $10 per month, city officials estimate.

City Manager Edward Kriewall told the city council Monday that the city recently has been notified by Detroit that the cost of water is slated to increase in six months.

Following the meeting, Kriewall said

'People will be able to cook and bathe and that's about it. Water is becoming a very expensive commodity.'

— Edward Kriewall
Novi City Manager

Kriewall explained, "If you use their procedure of charging more for water the farther out you go, the law meant that outlying communities like Novi weren't paying much more than cities closer to Detroit."

Novi is not about to simply accept the increased rates, however, Kriewall said.

Another attempt to curb the rate increase is being made by the city consulting engineers and the Department of Public Works (DPW) superintendent. Kriewall said they are researching ways to convince the Detroit Water Board to lower the rates.

Officials in West Bloomfield Township have convinced Detroit to reduce proposed water rate increases, and Novi officials will be trying to find out the methods they used, according to Kriewall.

DPW Superintendent Edward Smladak said the city also is reviewing its finances to determine whether it will be able to absorb any of the proposed increase, rather than passing on the entire rate hike to water customers.

"We're in the investigative stage of the procedure," Smladak said.

Kriewall went on to say that if the city fails in its attempt to hold back the rate increase "there's nothing else we can do."

"The alternatives are not good," Kriewall said. "The decision to use Detroit water was made a long time ago, in the mid-60s, because the water underground in this area is not good. It has to be treated or else we have to settle for a lesser quality."

Kriewall went on to say: "This really means the days of watering lawns is gone. People will be able to cook and bathe and that's about it. Water is becoming a very expensive commodity."

Bob Evans seeks site near shopping center

By KATHY JENNINGS

Novi's City Council has neither encouraged nor discouraged Bob Evans Farms, Inc., from pursuing plans to locate one of its barn-shaped restaurants on the west side of Novi Road near the West Oaks shopping center entrance.

Instead, the council told Bob Evans representative they wanted to talk about it some more.

After extensive discussion about possible design changes in the building proposed for construction just south of West Oaks Drive, the council told Stephen Warehime, real estate representative for the restaurant chain, that they want to study the matter further.

On January 11 the council will talk to its planning consultant about "existing land configurations, what lots in the area are used, how they are used, which are left and whether a restaurant or another business should be located in the shopping center."

"I have a problem knowing what to do," said Council Member James Shaw. "I'm having a problem visualizing how this parcel relates...the shopping center, an auto dealership and the driveway for the hotel. We don't have a use plan in front of us, either. Without that I'm perturbed about this kind of decision. We'll be setting a tone of use with this decision. Frankly, I feel like I'd be a lunatic to act on this right now."

Council Member Guy Smith supported Shaw. "I think the peaked effect is in variance with the square effect in that area," he said. "The architectural style (of the building) would have to go from peaks to squares or else we'll have a hodge-podge style of architecture," Smith said.

Warehime also was asked to return to his board of directors and determine whether he would be allowed to change either the architecture or the building materials.

Council members asked if the color of the building could be changed to earth tones and suggested the building should be constructed of brick.

Mayor Robert Schmid objected to locating the restaurant near the shopping center entrance. "I'm not sure how this will blend in the West Oaks total development because it is red in color and barn-ish in nature," he said. "When this (site) plan was originally presented, it indicated a banking institution or an office would be located there. I have concerns about the validity of this type of establishment on this site. The architectural design is starkly different from the type of development in that area."

Warehime responded: "You have a standard all-white Kroger, a standard K mart, a standard Denny's, Standard Federal in a trailer and a Standard Lincoln-Mercury Dealership. We're proposing a standard Bob Evans. I may

Now you too can own Novi

Christmas is just two days away and you still haven't come up with the perfect gift that will make young eyes gleam when it's unwrapped Friday morning. Is that what's troubling you, bunkies?

Well, despair not. The Novi Jaycees have come up with a unique gift idea that will provide hours of fun for the whole family. What is it? Read on, oh last-minute shopper.

How would you like to install yourself as president of Michigan Tractor & Machinery Company? Or, how about taking over Security Bank of Novi or Standard Federal Savings?

Ever thought about buying out Art Van Furniture or Mary Faldman Chevrolet?

Now it's all possible simply by purchasing "The Game of Novi" through the Novi Jaycees.

Loosely based on the game of Monopoly, "The Game of Novi" offers a crash course in the world of high finance as players wheel and deal their way around the board, buying property, risking mortgages, facing off against the IRS and gambling on the commodities market.

The goal is to buy up all the businesses in Novi and end up with as much money as possible. But trying to do that exposes players to the risk of bankruptcy.

"It's very similar in many respects to Monopoly," reported Thomas Sumiec, a real estate salesman for Rymal Symes and a member of the Jaycees.

"The big attraction, of course, is that you're not buying Boardwalk of Park Place, you're buying local businesses — The Cone Zone, A&P, Novi Auto Parks or S/Stop."

"You can even buy the Fath Community United Presbyterian Church and deliver your own sermons."

Property is priced from $2,000 for the Standard Federal Savings branch office at the West Oaks shopping center to $50,000 for the Art Van Furniture Store.

In between those prices you can purchase Suburban Rent-it ($7,000), Meadowbrook Art Center ($18,000), Cervi's White House Manor ($30,000) or Marcus Glass ($36,000).

Silverman's Restaurant goes for $19,000 and Twelve Oaks Tire can be had for a cool $33,000.

As with the typical Monopoly game, there are bonuses and hazards on the corner squares. Land in Ella Mae Power Park in one corner, for example, and you can take a rewarding shortcut.

In other corners, however, you may be assessed back taxes or be required to skip two turns for staying too long at a Novi High School travelogue.

Su headed up the "Game of Novi" project for the Jaycees as a fundraising project for the group's community service projects.

Squares on the board were sold to 29 local businesses as well as the Fath Community Church, and the Jaycees have ordered 1,000 games which are now available and being sold at $10 apiece.

"It's a good game and a lot of fun," reports Sumiec, who admits that he suffered a humiliating loss to his wife the first time they played.

"But it's also for a good cause," he added, noting that the Jaycees recently spent $1,500 for their Needy Family Christmas project alone.

"We think it's an all-around good deal... it's good advertising for the merchants who are listed on the board, fun for people who want to play it and helpful for the Jaycees' community service projects."

And, yes, the games are still available in time for Christmas.

Anyone interested in getting one of the games should contact Sumiec at 478-8190 or 488-8359. The games also are available at Rymal Symes, Meadowbrook Art Center, Crain Chiropractic Clinic, Brown's Drugs, Marcus Glass, Darling Mobile Homes, Ah Wok, David's Coiffures, I/Stop and all branches of the Security Bank of Novi.

Jaycees give helping hand

By PHILIP JEROME

He was out visiting the home of a Novi family that was about to have its gas shut off.

"I just got the call and I'm heading out to see what can be done to make sure they have enough heat," reported Cameron, who was co-chairman, along with Bill Chisholm, of the Novi Jaycees'

Needy Family Christmas project this year.

"Hopefully, I'll be able to convince somebody not to shut off the gas."

It's been that kind of year, or more correctly, that kind of holiday season, for the Jaycees as they attempt to ensure that everybody has something to be thankful for at Christmas.

"I guess you could say it's been a record-breaking year," said Cameron, shortly before leaving on his mission of mercy.

"Last year we provided services to 19 needy families. This year we've provided help to 56 families."

"That's the number we've ever had. It's nice to be able to provide assistance where it's needed; it's just unfortunate that so many people need assistance this year."

Cameron reported that requests for help have come in from all parts of Novi.

"It's not limited to certain sections," he said. "We're getting requests from the entire city. There have been a lot of requests from the North End, but we've also provided assistance to people in Meadowbrook, Glens, Willowbrook, Stonehenge and Village Oaks."

"It's really hard to pinpoint a specific area," he added. "We have requests from single family subdivisions, mobile home parks and condominiums."

The Jaycees get their "needy family" leads primarily from churches and social service agencies, but they also receive a friendly number of calls from neighbors or friends of people who are embarrassed about asking for a little help to make sure that Christmas is a happy occasion.

Once leads are received, the Jaycees contact the family to determine just exactly what their needs are, i.e. how many children do they have, what are their ages, how is their clothing holding up.

The biggest part of the project, however, involves the collection of money, clothing, toys, canned goods and whatever else is needed to help the family have a merry Christmas.

Cameron said the Jaycees received a lot of help in that area this year from a variety of local residents and businesses. Several businessmen donated money to the Jaycees effort and other merchants helped by allowing the Jaycees to stretch their limited dollars by buying goods at wholesale prices.

A major source of help this year was

Ballot issues eyed

Millage issues ranging from the acquisition of park land to implementation of a drainage program — issues which could face voters in the next five years — may soon be studied by the Novi City Council.

City Manager Edward Kriewall recently presented an updated five-year forecast of potential ballot issues to the council. Council members told him Monday they wish to discuss alternative methods of funding a number of the projects, instead of seeking additional millage for each of them.

Prospective ballot questions foreseen by the city administration includes bond issues or millage elections to finance:

- a citywide drainage program on the August 1982 primary election ballot;

- a Department of Public Works facility on the November 1982 general election ballot;

- parks and recreation land acquisition on either the November 1982 general election ballot or the August 1983 primary election ballot;

- a civic center facility including a community center and city hall on the November 1983 general election ballot;

- the city's fourth fire station on the August 1984 ballot;

- a railroad crossing bridge over the Novi Road crossing on the primary ballot in August 1986;

- a railroad crossing bridge over Ten Mile in November 1976;

Kriewall reported that the issues "are just projections and subject to a lot of variables. One of the biggest variables is the possibility the city primary may be eliminated. If it is, things will jam up considerably," said the city manager.

"The alternative is special elections. The general economy is also a large

Holiday deadlines

The Novi News will be observing different deadlines and office hours during the next two weeks because of the holiday season.

Switchboards for classified advertising will be open from 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturday, December 26, and Saturday, January 2, with the Saturday 10 percent discount in effect.

Advertising and editorial offices will close noon, December 24 and 31. Deadline for display and business directory ads for the December 30 edition will be 11 a.m., December 24.

Novi rejects changes in shopping center area

Novi's City Council has rejected a request that could have led to smaller businesses and a new direction to development in the regional center area. Council members recently were told an existing shopping mall and a major shopping center would make it difficult to justify additional shopping centers in that trade area.

"It is our opinion that the presence of the Twelve Oaks Mall and the completion of West Oaks satisfies the regional and community shopping needs within the area designated Regional Center," one developer recently told the council. As a result the council was asked to reconsider the regional center area surrounding Twelve Oaks Mall and West Oaks. The city's current plans in the area call for intensive commercial uses, which draw patrons from surrounding regions and are surrounded by office and apartment developments. Developers have three options in developing centers in the regional center multiple-family residential, office or commercial.

Michael A. Ward, executive vice president of Ramco-Gershenson, Inc., recently asked the council to consider relaxing its building-size restrictions or rezoning the property to permit "general business" developments in the area. "It will be difficult to continually find those who can put these parcels together when you have a major mall and a major community center in place," Ward told the council. He also noted specific concerns with requirements for a 150,000-square-foot shopping center or a 50,000-square-foot building placed upon developers using retail option of the regional center plan. "The land lends itself to development, we think we can do it," Ward said. "We hope the end product is something you'll be pleased with. But we need counseling, suggestions or advice for this to move forward. Ward was seeking the council's direction for development of an 11-acre parcel immediately north of the West Oaks Shopping Center. Ward told the council that Ramco-Gershenson currently is not interested in the project. "The property won't be developed as a shopping center," he said, "but it can be developed with four or five freestanding parcels. These are people who want their own identity, but who also want the regional center location," he explained. He proposed uses such as "a carpet store, appliance store, nurseries or theaters."

— Michael Ward, Ramco-Gershenson, Inc.

major shopping center will diminish the demand for another shopping center or large freestanding buildings. "It's hard to say. I would think we'll be able to tell soon enough. I think it is entirely possible that there are other major department stores that will want shopping centers in that area. The more diversified that area is the better it will be. "If we find they can't live with our requirements, we may be able to come up with something else," Cairns said. Cairns added that he is now developing an alternative to be included in the new zoning ordinance which soon will be presented to the Novi Planning Board for its consideration. He went on to explain the 150,000-square-foot shopping center requirement and the 50,000-square-foot requirement for free-standing buildings were placed in the ordinance to encourage developers to assemble parcels. Cairns said there are many parcels in the area that are 100-foot wide and 900-foot deep. The city was concerned that as a result of the depth, the fronts of the parcels would be developed and the rear would not.

"The 50,000-square-foot requirement for a free-standing building was chosen to encourage assembly of lots and promote quality development, Cairns said. Cairns admitted reservations regarding the 50,000-square-foot building requirement after working with it for two years, since it has cost the city some quality developments. But Cairns went on to say the requirements have achieved the type of development the city has tried to promote in that area. "It's something better comes along. I'm not willing to recommend deviating from what we now require."

"If the city wants to retain its requirements for land with Novi Road frontage there may be some validity to that. But it's not practical to have shopping centers or 50,000 square foot buildings," Ward said. "The controls are proper, they give the city all the information they're looking for to analyze a project," Ward continued. "However, the size restrictions are going to become very difficult for developers of the interior to live with."

City Consulting Planner Charles Cairns said it may be true from a marketing standpoint that a mall and computer analyzes information from accident reports submitted by every police department in state. Information on accidents is broken down according to where and when they occur, as well as the type of accident. "These statistics are provided to the police officers to enable them to be at the right place at the right time, watching for potential accident-causing violations," Garvale explained. "Since many police departments, including the forty-six police, are faced with staff cutbacks and reduced revenues, the directed patrols provide the benefit of using existing officers where they are most needed, Garvale said. "Directed patrols utilize existing manpower to prevent traffic accidents by increasing the efficiency of patrols," Garvale said. "Traffic enforcement alone cannot reduce traffic accidents. The Michigan State Police is seeking to enlist the support of the public by identifying specific hazardous driving habits on high-accident roads," Garvale said. "If you've had any close calls in traffic lately, maybe you were partly at fault; take a self-critical look. As a licensed driver, your first concern is the safe handling of your car. Beyond this, being aware of certain hazardous areas should make everyone a better driver."

Police to increase Eight Mile patrols

Eight Mile Road has been identified as a "high volume, high accident" roadway and local police agencies are working together to do something about it. Novi Police, the Northville State Police Post and the Northville Township Police will devote 32 hours each week patrolling Eight Mile between Haggerty and Novi roads.

Statistics for 1980 show there were 67 accidents on Eight Mile in the stretch being patrolled. Forty-six persons were injured and there was $176,000 in property damage losses. The total number of accidents were vehicles that were rear-ended, accounting for 31 percent of the reported incidents. Some 23 percent of the vehicles were involved in accidents involving left-hand turns. Head-on collisions, side swipes and improper backing made up 14 percent of the accidents. Police said nine percent of all the drivers involved in the accidents had been drinking. Lieutenant Thomas Garvale said the Michigan State Police in cooperation with local law enforcement agencies have "committed themselves to reducing traffic accidents and related injuries on a number of heavily-travelled roads throughout the state."

"They are participating in a 'directed patrol' program. Under the program, areas identified for increased patrols are located by feeding accident information into a computer. The computer analyzes information from accident reports submitted by every police department in state. Information on accidents is broken down according to where and when they occur, as well as the type of accident. "These statistics are provided to the police officers to enable them to be at the right place at the right time, watching for potential accident-causing violations," Garvale explained. Beyond this, being aware of certain hazardous areas should make everyone a better driver."

"Remember, buckle-up, drive defensively, and don't drink and drive; traffic safety is everyone's responsibility," Garvale added. OBITUARIES

JUDSON R. FORRESTER

Funeral services for Judson R. Forrester of West Bloomfield were held December 10 at Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home, Riverchase Square. A Libby of Covenant Baptist Church of West Bloomfield officiated at the service.

HARVEY GUNTZVILLER

Memorial service for Harvey Guntzville of Northville will be held at 1 p.m. January 3 at Casterline Funeral Home in Northville. Reverend Guenther Bransler of First United Methodist Church will officiate. Burial will be at Oakland Hills Cemetery in Novi.

Mr. Guntzville died December 16 at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was 69. A Staff Sergeant in the 32nd Division during World War II, Mr. Guntzville served in Australia and New Guinea. He was with the first contingent of American forces that were diverted to Australia at the time of the Battle of the Coral Sea. He was a member of the "Lost Company" and the two companies that crossed the Owen Stanley Mountains in 41 days, covering a distance of 300 miles. The company sustained some of the worst climate conditions and fighting of any unit during World War II. Born in Detroit June 28, 1912, to George and Edith (Wolf) Guntzville, he was a resident of Novi, Mich. He is survived by his brothers Herbert of Bellair and Marvin of Elk Rapids. The family suggests memorial contributions be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Christmas wishes

Walled Lake cuts administrator

Demonstrating increased concern with the upcoming 1982-83 budget, the Walled Lake Board of Education has approved an administrative proposal to do away with the position of building maintenance supervisor.

The board approved the proposal by a 6-1 margin at its December 14 session. The lone dissenting ballot was cast by Trustee Mario Tozzi.

The position of building maintenance supervisor formerly was held by Elmer Conrad, who retired at the end of October after more than 30 years of service to the Walled Lake District.

Instead of naming a replacement for Conrad, Superintendent Don Sheldon recommended the board upgrade the position of department foreman to take over supervisory responsibilities in conjunction with Auxiliary Services Director Nelson O'Shaughnessy until the end of the 1981-82 school year.

Sheldon cited "budget reasons" in making the recommendation. He said the proposal would result in a savings of approximately $16,000 for the remainder of the present school year.

Opposition to the proposal was led by Tozzi who said he did not believe the district should attempt to get by without a building maintenance supervisor. "Sometimes the cheapest way is not the least expensive way," said Tozzi. "We've already had all kinds of problems with building maintenance in this district and I don't believe it's a position we should attempt to get along without."

Trustee Betty Campion said she shared Tozzi's concerns, but was willing to accept the administrative recommendation on a temporary basis.

"We'll find ourselves in a position one of these days where we can't survive because we've tried to skimp along with the bare minimum all these years," she said. "I do think we're reaching a point

Wixom honors Sid Resner, swears in new councilman

It was off with the old and on with the new as Wixom's City Council last week bid farewell to one council member and welcomed his replacement.

Wixom council members paid their parting respects to Council Member Sidney Resner, who is stepping down after 4 1/2 years of service on the council. Resner's term does not expire until next month, but he will be unable to attend the next meeting and therefore was attending his last meeting as a council member.

In addition to bidding farewell to Resner, swearing-in ceremonies for the four winners of the November general election were conducted by City Clerk June Buck. Resner, who did not seek re-election this year, will be replaced on the council by John Lee, who finished third in a five-person race for three council seats in the November balloting.

Incumbents who were sworn in to new terms as a result of successful re-election campaigns were Mayor Lillian Spencer and Council Members Dennis Andrews and Gunnar Mettala. Tributes to Resner's 4 1/2 years of service were expressed by several council members, including Mettala, who said Resner has been a pillar at budget time because of his background in accounting and finance.

"He's kept us going in the right direction and stopped us from spending too much money," said Mettala. In his parting remarks, Resner cited the words of another former council member, Robert Dingley. "It's been 4 1/2 years and for the most part has been very educational," said Resner. "Dingley told me once that some of the ideas you express will remain in the minds of others and eventually find their way into action. "I hope that some of the contributions I've made in the past will bear fruit in the future."

Council members also presented Resner with a pen-and-pencil set as a "going-away" present.

Person to Person...
The Source Of All Joy
Dr. James Luther
The heart of Christianity is the incarnation of Jesus Christ—He who is God became man. If Jesus was not God, His death would have no value for He would have been just a man, born in sin and thus a sinner like everyone else. But Scripture is clear that Jesus was God and is God. Therefore, something like the virgin birth should be expected in relation to His coming.
Amazing! The infant, dependent on His mother's care, is the God who empowered the sun to draw water from the sea. The tiny hand on Mary's cheek was the hand of One who holds the universe. The baby who belonged to one whose everlasting arms uphold all things. The mind of the twelve year old who confounded the doctors of the law in the temple contained the knowledge of all truth. And the One sitting on the well to rest was the One who created the universe.
But the real wonder of it all is this: It was for you and for me that this loving Christ became flesh. How wonderful that God should take upon Himself the form of man, suffer the pain that is our lot, and endure the shame of the cross and die! But how much more wonderful that he did this for us!
May you have a joy filled Christmas, with the Source of all joy flowing into your life.

Schools conduct audit of food services funds

By PHILIP JEROME

Allegations of missing funds in the Food Services Department are currently being investigated by the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools, Superintendent Don Sheldon confirmed Tuesday.

Contacted by The News regarding rumors of financial irregularities in the food services department, Sheldon responded that he had heard the same kind of rumors and an internal review currently is being conducted.

"An audit is going on at the present time," said the superintendent. "We're reviewing the matter, but it's still an internal matter at this point in time."

The investigation of the alleged missing funds will include a review of former Food Services Director Wayne Daniels' involvement. Daniels had served in that position since 1977.

Daniels resigned the post shortly before Thanksgiving and his resignation "for personal reasons" was accepted by the school board at its December 14 meeting.

A U.S. Army veteran who served in Vietnam, Daniels was highly decorated

WAYNE DANIELS

Sheldon's only response was that "Wayne had an opportunity to go to work for his father-in-law and took advantage of it."

Efforts to reach Daniels at his father-in-law's business for comment Tuesday were unsuccessful.

Although information regarding the alleged missing funds remain unconfirmed at the present time, The News has learned that the reports about the Food Services Department account were presented to the school board in executive session Monday. The board attorney also was present at that session.

Further, The News has learned that the alleged irregularities were discussed by Sheldon and the district's legal counsel Tuesday morning.

There was some indication that the district may pursue legal action in the case, although the nature of the charges and the individual or individuals involved were not revealed. Following his conversation with the attorney Tuesday, Sheldon told The News that the case is still an "internal matter" and declined further comment.

Is Villa water too salty?

By STEPHEN CVENGROS

Concerns over whether water being run through a softener is too salty for senior citizens living in the Walled Lake Villa have been raised by residents and Walled Lake Council Member Edward Horsman.

Test samplings conducted at Horsman's request by the Walled Lake-Novi Wastewater Treatment Plant have been forwarded to Dr. Daria Kiani of Henry Ford Hospital, which operates a weekly clinic in the Villa. But Fourmidable, the management firm for the Villa, said it had already responded to such complaints back in August.

Horsman, who pointed out the problem during Walled Lake's City Council meeting last Tuesday, said yesterday that he had not yet received a response from Kiani.

According to Horsman, the tests conducted by State of Michigan Department of Health officials showed that before being treated in the softener, water reflected a hardness level of 342. After the treatment that figure tailed off to 34.6, he said.

But while there is no question that the water softener is working, there are concerns that exposure to the softener is creating a sodium level in the water too high for many seniors on salt-free diets.

Horsman said that prior to going through the softener, water salt levels were at 18.5 milligrams per liter. Afterward, that figure jumped to 28.4 milligrams per liter.

Samples for the testing were taken when the water entered the softener and immediately after leaving it, the council member confirmed. They were reportedly conducted on a spectrophotometer.

Horsman said no cost was involved in the testing.

'I had the water tested and it was far below even the normal level.'

— Susan Freidman, Fourmidable program coordinator

Horsman, who is the council's representative on senior citizen-related matters, said he believed the testing showed "a considerable increase."

Seniors first made the city council member aware of what they believed could be a problem during a late November gathering at the Villa. However, the softener, according to Horsman, has been in the complex since it opened.

"It's been there since the beginning, but apparently, nobody until now has had much of a complaint," Horsman said.

He continued, "I just want them (Henry Ford Hospital) to tell it's (the water) okay or not. And if it's okay, the seniors can rest well. Or if it's not I'm going to have to try and put pressure on someone."

A Henry Ford Hospital official said Kiani was vacationing, but had taken up the matter with the hospital's chemists.

Susan Freidman, a program coordinator with Fourmidable, said a similar test conducted in August had

Council rules against one-year option

City ZBA residency rule questioned

Walled Lake city council members, acting against the advice of the city's attorney, unanimously approved an amendment to the Zoning Board of Appeals ordinances during its December 15 session.

A question regarding the discrepancy in residency requirements between the ZBA ordinance and the city charter was raised by Council Member William Roberts. Roberts pointed out that the ordinance, which had already received a first reading, called for applicants to the ZBA to be residents of Walled Lake for at least one year.

The city charter states applicants should have at least two years of residency.

City Attorney Richard Poehlman recognized the variation between the two documents, but contended that the ZBA ordinance with the one-year requirement would be easier to defend in court.

Poehlman urged the council not to tamper with the ordinance, but to merely take into consideration how long applicants had lived in the city on an individual basis, if that were important to the council members.

"It seems to me the qualifications of any individual to be on the Zoning Board of Appeals is in the mind of any city council member," he continued.

"I guess a litigant with some imagination can dream up some cause of action by... council, and it could get us in a semantics war in court."

The city attorney said that the question of whether or not an individual appointed to a board or commission could be a resident for only one year was researched during the summer. He added that "the conclusion is you have to amend it to make the language consistent with the statute."

Poehlman further explained, "To be in compliance, we could adopt a one-year statute (to the charter) and defend that... it's up to council. You certainly could adopt a two-year residency requirement... We'll do everything we can to try and defend that."

Defining his reasoning, Poehlman told council, "The only thing is I thought I could hang my hat and defend the one year (requirement) more readily... I think if council wants to amend that (ZBA ordinance), you could reflect you did it to bring it in conformance."

Council approved the second reading as amended and adopted the ordinance. Further handling of residency requirements is being looked into.

Holiday closings set

Various offices around the Lakes Area have announced office closings during the holidays.

- Walled Lake City Hall will be closed this Thursday and Friday and again on December 31 and January 1. The city's library will close its doors this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. No information on the following week was available.
- Walled Lake City Hall also will be closed December 24, 25 and 31, and January 1. The Wixom Library will also close its doors Thursday through Sunday of both holiday weeks.
- Commerce Township Hall will close Christmas Eve, Christmas, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day, with one exception. The treasurer's office will be open December 31 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for tax and dog license services only.
- Wolverine Lake Village announced that it, too, would be closed Thursday and Friday of both weeks.

Thieves take $5,000 from home

In Novi

More than $5,000 worth of items were stolen in the break-in of a home in the 4000 block of Hollydale. Police said it appeared that the knob had been pried off the door between the garage and the living area.

The owner reported he arrived home at approximately 3:45 a.m. and saw lights on inside the kitchen and master bedroom. He called police to tell them he believed someone was in the house before he entered it.

The thief was gone by the time police arrived, however.

Stolen were a $2,600 ring, $1,000 worth of stereo equipment, a $500 camera, a $470 television, $100 tape deck, a $100 strong box, $100 in cash and several cans of beer. The owner told police two rifles of undetermined value also were stolen.

Drawers in both the kitchen and bedroom had been ransacked.

Nearly $7,000 worth of trees were reported stolen from the backyard of a home in the 2000 block of Summit.

The complainant told police he noticed several holes where shrubs had been removed while walking on the property.

Police questioned a suspect, who admitted taking the trees, but claimed he had helped purchase some of the trees in the area. He also offered to pay for the trees and bushes that were taken, according to reports.

Removed from the property were 14 white pines worth $160 each and 13 black lotus stumps worth $90 apiece. The owner told police he had not determined whether he would press charges.

Two credit cards and $5 in cash were stolen from the wallet of a Novi woman while she was shopping at K Mart.

The woman told police she notified K Mart employees when she noticed her wallet missing. They returned the wallet, which had been found in the men's restroom. The credit cards and cash were missing.

The woman's family received a call from a man who identified himself as an employee of J. Riggins at Twelve Oaks Mall. The man said he had recovered the stolen credit cards and asked for confirmation of the address.

When the woman went to pick up the card, the manager of the men's clothing store said none of his employees had made such a call. All J. Riggins stores in the metropolitan areas were contacted, but none reported calling the Novi couple regarding stolen credit cards.

area blotters

Police cautioned the woman to be more careful in giving out information of that nature.

In a case that reads like something out of a minute-mystery book, Novi police reported that a sandwich was stolen in a break-in, or perhaps it should be called a break-out, at the Speedway Gas Station at 31275 Haggerty.

Police found "a large quantity" of glass on the inside floor of the gas station, apparently indicating the window was broken from the inside. Glass also was found under bottles of anti-freeze stacked in front of the window. Police said it appeared the anti-freeze had been knocked over and re-stacked following the incident.

The station manager told police the only thing missing was a sandwich. The wrapper was found on the floor near the micro-wave oven. A cup of coffee also was found.

Asked if anyone could have been locked in the station overnight, the manager said the station is checked every night before it is locked.

Police said it appeared as if someone were trying to make it appear as if there had been a break-in at the station.

A green, four-door 1979 Granada owned by a Detroit man was stolen from the West Oaks parking lot December 12. The woman driving the vehicle told police she parked the car in the lot and when she returned an hour later it was missing. The vehicle had been locked. Several packages also were in the car. Value of the automobile was not determined.

Three Christmas trees were reported stolen from the Tree Farm at 46000 12 1/2 Mile. The trees are valued at $45.

An employee of the farm told police three men in a blue pickup were seen driving by the tree farm. Later the same truck again drove by, but with just one person inside.

Believing that the other two men were taking trees from the farm, the employee turned off his headlights and followed the pickup. He told police he saw the men throw three trees into the truck and then followed the vehicle until he obtained the license number.

Police contacted the owner of the truck who denied being at the tree farm or lending the vehicle to anyone who might have driven it there.

An estimated $200-worth of damage was done to a car, apparently while it was parked in the 4&T plaza. Police said 22 holes from a pellet or BB gun were found in the vehicle.

Beer bottles thrown at a 1981 Chevrolet caused an estimated $400 worth of damage. The damage occurred while the car was parked in front of a home in the 2000 block of Heatherbrae.

In Wixom

The "cut your own Christmas tree" spirit apparently is popular in Wixom this year — the only problem is that the trees people are cutting belong to somebody else.

Two separate incidents of evergreen thefts were logged by Wixom police last week as the holiday season approaches.

A Potter Road resident reported that unknown individuals chopped down a six-foot spruce tree from his property sometime between December 18 and 20. The tree was valued at $50.

In another incident, a Beck Road resident reported the theft of three Colorado blue spruce trees from his rear yard. Value of the three trees was pegged at approximately $150.

A 52-year old Wixom-man suffered contusions and lacerations on his face following an assault and battery at the Red Oaks Bar December 20.

The assault victim told police he went to the bar at approximately 10:30 p.m. to have a drink and shoot some pool.

In Walled Lake

Walled Lake Police reported an alleged armed robbery of the Cloverdale Dairy, 1055 East Walled Lake Drive, Sunday at 12:30 a.m.

The assailant was in a ski mask, dark coat and pants. He was reportedly a white male, about five foot nine, 150 pounds.

He allegedly told the employee to lay down on the floor and give him all the money. The assailant escaped with $1,000.

Villa water studied

already proven the sodium content was not too high.

"Obviously, there has been a communications breakdown somewhere," Freidman said of the continued concerns over water quality. "I had the water tested and it was far below even the normal level."

Fourmidable's study was also done by the State of Michigan Department of Health and, according to Freidman, reflected a 149 milligram per liter level after running through the softener.

The program coordinator continued that Henry Ford Hospital had told her "as much as 11 grams per glass" could be contained in the water and still not be dangerous to consumers.

As for the difference between Freidman's findings (149) and Horsman's (28.4), the Fourmidable representative said, "I don't know why there's such a discrepancy. The crystals (in the softener) have to be changed regularly and it may be that they were low."

Ballot issues eyed

mitigating factor," he added.

Kriewall also said the staff is concerned about the number of issues which could come before the voters and suggested some should be worked into the budget. Necessary facilities such as the DPW yard or Fire Station IV should be considered as budgeted items if possible, the staff recommended.

Kriewall told the council Monday the ballot issue had been projected "so we don't have a bunch of surprises." He noted that council members previously complained "there seemed to be three things on the ballot every time we go to the polls."

"It's nice to know what's out there and what is evolving," Kriewall added.

Council Member Ronald Watson agreed with the staff's that the city may not be able to ask the voters to fund each of the projects.

City Council Member Martha Hoyer suggested that "city needs and ballot proposals could be a study session until itself."

Kriewall also told council they will be able to further study the issues as the city enters the budget process which is slated to get underway in January.

Two die in Wixom accidents

Two people lost their lives and a third is listed in critical condition as a result of two separate traffic accidents during the past week on the I-96 expressway near Wixom.

In the first accident, Gary Raymond Lozon, a 25-year old Pontiac man, was killed when his car swerved across two lanes and rolled over several times before landing on its roof in the median.

The accident occurred Friday at 9:45 p.m. on westbound I-96, approximately three-quarters of a mile west of Wixom Road.

Lozon was crushed under the windshield and roof of the overturned vehicle, a 1980 Chevrolet Chevette. He was pronounced dead at the scene and transported by Novi Ambulance to the Oakland County Morgue.

Police said witnesses reported that Lozon's vehicle had been swerving from lane to lane just before the accident occurred. He was the lone occupant of the vehicle.

George Winfield Rich, 71, of Ramsay, Michigan was killed in the second accident which occurred Monday at 11:15 a.m.

His wife, Dorothy, a passenger in the vehicle is listed in critical condition at Botsford Hospital, according to

Public safety helped to clean up after the second accident

Michigan State Police at the Northville post.

According to reports, Rich was driving eastbound on I-96 when his vehicle was struck by a semi-truck driven by Robert Maple of Grandville, Michigan. Maple, 59, is listed in serious condition at Botsford.

Police said the Rich car was hit struck after the semi-truck skidded out of control on icy roads while westbound on the expressway. The accident occurred on eastbound I-96, approximately three-quarters of a mile west of Wixom Road.

All three victims were transported to Botsford Hospital by Novi Ambulance. State police said no citations have yet been issued and all relatives have been notified.

Look here...and smile

Sometimes even people who make their living shooting photographs have the darndest time trying to get everybody's attention. Take News Photographer John Galloway's recent experience at Walled Lake Elementary School.

Following a Christmas program at the school last week, Galloway lined the children up and attempted to get them all to look at the birdie at once. The above is proof that sometimes the results can be better than the intentions.

NOVI-WALLED LAKE NEWS

Here's our listing of Christmas gifts

We were as surprised as anyone when Santa Claus stopped by for a chat last weekend.

He told us he had some "very confidential" information to share with us, and then pulled out a Christmas list that was nearly a mile long.

Santa said he had heard from just about everybody in the area. He would not want just anyone to know this but due to an elfin error he did not know whether all these people on the list actually deserved the presents they were asking for. In fact, he told us he was sure some of them deserved chunks of coal instead of presents.

He had dropped by The Novi-Walled Lake News offices to ask us to help him in his decisions. We were glad to oblige.

City Manager Edward Kriewall asked for a three-week vacation in California, but because Kriewall continues to talk into his hand instead of the microphone Santa decided to give him a piece of coal.

Former Mayor Romaine Roethel, who has been zipping cross-continent fulfilling her duties as National American Legion President, asked for an antidote for jet-lag. Santa promised it would be under the tree.

Current Mayor Robert Schmid, for making the words "quality development" the most overused phrase in Novi planning circles, gets a piece of coal.

Novi Police Lieutenant Robert Starnes for his work with the patrol division receives a "CHIPS" do-it-yourself motorcycle kit.

Novi Superintendent Robert Piwko for taking care of the little things the board had been requesting for years — signs, the bike racks and the landscaped weeds in front of the high school — gets a year's subscription to "The Weekly Reader."

Novi's ordinance review committee for the hours they've put in, especially on the sign ordinance, receives a neon whirligig which winks, blinks, flashes and generally offends everyone living within a one square mile radius.

Novi's new Assistant City Manager Craig Klaver, for getting the 1982 annual report/city calendar out before March, gets a Cheryl Tiegs calendar of his own.

Walled Lake School Board President Kenneth Tucker gets a lump of coal for voting to censure Trustee Janet Callahan in February and then turning around and voting to elect her vice president of the board in July.

Tucker also gets a gift, however, for being a Walled Lake High School graduate (Class of '82) who came back to be elected first to the school board and then to the position of board president.

Walled Lake School Board Member Robert Cooper gets a big "Do Not Pass Go, Do Not Collect $200" card from an old Monopoly game for proposing that board members give up their meeting pay as a cost-saving measure. Board members are paid $25 per meeting. Cooper's motion was approved on a 4-3 vote.

Patricia Ann Jackman, another Walled Lake school board member, gets a lump of coal for discovering that it takes a two-thirds majority to change board policy. As a result of her research, Cooper's motion that board members give up their meeting pay was ruled invalid because the 4-3 vote fell short of the required two-thirds needed to overcome the policy.

Members of the Walled Lake Pool Study Committee receive flippers, snorkels and water wings for their efforts to bring about the re-opening of the community swimming pool at Walled Lake Western High School. Special gifts of "Go, Go, H-2-O" buttons go to Merlin Reed, who helped establish the committee; Chairman Gordon Peterson and Fund-raising Chairperson Ann Shelly.

Novi's Cindy Hoops gets a two-week vacation with absolute nothing to do but relax for having been cited by the governor as one of the state's outstanding citizens during Michigan Week.

Walled Lake Western basketball coach Ted Felegy already has received what he wanted — his old job back. A pink-slip victim in the spring, the Warrior cage mentor had to sweat out several months of uncertainty during the summer before being called back just prior to the start of school. Now he's sweating out his team's performance on the hardwood — and couldn't be happier.

For allegedly "flooding" northern Novi by opening Decker Road, Raymond Cousineau and Joseph Kapelczak of Novi's consulting engineering firm get a piece of coal.

One duck dinner goes to Tom and Cicely Brookover of Walled Lake, who lost their ducks to a passing motorist on Pontiac Trail. Brookover then lost the Walled Lake mayoral election.

A chunk of coal to Gary Lentz for not handling his loss in Wixom's mayoral race as well as Brookover did his loss to Gaspare LaMarca in the Walled Lake mayoral race.

A special copy of "The Powers That Be" to LaMarca, who was re-elected despite receiving the endorsement of neither local newspaper.

A little bit of coal for Wixom Mayor Lillian Spencer and other city officials who ventured to Houston for a heavy equipment exhibit at city expense. Special bonus gift: a Snopy washcloth to Spencer for paying back the money.

A semester's worth of law classes to Commerce Clerk Robert McGee, who suggested during a moment of anger that he hoped a suit would be brought against the township and won.

In the same classroom, Walled Lake's Council Member William Roberts can bone up on his law for bringing in disbarred former City Attorney Howard Bond to argue for his interpretation of the charter's mayor pro tem definition.

A crate of Tums to settle the stomachs of Commerce Township officials, who probably all developed ulcers over their continued fight against annexation.

One rubber duck to Wixom's City Council, so that as soon as it resolves which direction to go with the proposed city water system, it can jump right in.

A Tin Woodsman's golden heart replica to Heather Hill for leaving city council behind to take on a greater responsibility — raising her son J.J.

An inflatable tarantula mobile for Wixom Assistant to the Mayor Stephen Bonczek, just because his office doesn't have enough of the creepy, little critters already.

Merry Christmas

Photographic Sketches...
After the fact

By JIM GALBRAITH
By PHILIP JEROME

Shadow of the shortest day

It is important — to me, at any rate — that the contents of this column remain absolutely confidential for two more days. I've decided to reveal what I bought my wife for Christmas.

It's not that I'm foolish enough to believe anyone really cares, but I thought it was a rather unique idea and I was foolish enough to listen to people who said they thought it would make a funny column.

First of all, you must understand that I take a great deal of pride in coming up with unusual gift ideas. And, second of all, you should be apprised that my wife and I are members of the mid-thirties (late-thirties, to be honest) generation which decided to pursue our individual careers instead of having children.

All of which brings us to The Bowser: our prize farm cat, "child-substitute" and favorite feline.

Having just about exhausted my supply of good gift ideas over the past 15 years, I was having trouble coming up with an idea for Xmas '81 until it hit me out of the clear blue. What would the good wife like more than anything else? A genuine, four-color photo portrait of The Bowser. Framed, of course.

The cover story about cats on Time magazine convinced me I was on the right track. It was a battle, but I eventually succeeded in getting The Bowser to the photographer's studio. And the photographer eventually succeeded in getting a few pictures of the world's most uncooperative cat when she wasn't snarling or tearing his toy mouse to shreds.

If you think getting a photo portrait of the family pet is a humiliating experience, you're right. It's almost as embarrassing as buying that flimsy, black negligee from the lingerie department.

But I survived. And the photo portrait of The Bowser is now wrapped and lying under the Christmas tree. I think she'll like it. In fact, I'm sure she'll like it. Just don't say anything if you see my wife around town; and I'll conveniently forget to take home this week's paper until Christmas has passed.

"What happened," said Cameron, "is that (teacher) Eric Center's class decided to challenge the rest of the school to see who could bring in the most cans.

"They really got into it," continued the project co-chairman, adding that two girls in particular — Rebecca Killick and Kristine Huotari — helped Center's homeroom class "out-collect" the rest of the school.

"Those two girls came in with a total of 336 cans between them," he reported. "They hitched up a wagon to a dirt bike and scoured the neighborhood to collect cans.

"The drive only lasted five days, but the students at middle school south collected a total of 1,394 cans for our needy families. The kids deserve a lot of provided. And the job isn't over yet. "The bulk of the work is done, but we still have a little money left and there's still a couple of days before Christmas," Cameron noted.

Novi considers Bob Evans restaurant

Continued from Novi, 1 have the highest volume of any restaurant in the nation that doesn't serve liquor. The owners of the development and Kroger's believe this will fit in. We have 76 Bob Evans restaurants; 76 look alike and 76 are very successful. You don't want a closed building sitting there."

Council Member Martha Hoyer suggested the company compromise on the color of the building.

Warehime responded that he disagreed with the council's opinion about the aesthetics of the Bob Evans restaurant design. "I believe the building is beautiful. But I know if

"We'll just keep going as long as the money holds out. It's the kind of project you end up feeling really good about."

Novi considers Bob Evans restaurant

Continued from Novi, 1 don't get something done I won't build in Novi," Warehime said. Any design changes would have to be approved by the Bob Evans board of directors.

Strongest support for the restaurant came from Council Member Patricia Karevich.

"I think this is an appropriate place for a restaurant. I don't want to see another bank — we have enough of those already," Karevich said. "There is no eating place in that service area and I would favor putting in a restaurant in that area. If we get into architecture I have no problem with the architecture as it exists. As far as building material, I would like to see fluted block in that area. I think it would look good on your building," she told Warehime.

New National Smoker Study:

Toughest Smoker Tests Ever!

Landmark smoker study provides new evidence supporting MERIT as proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

Just released—results of rigorous new smoker research conducted by MERIT.

The conclusion: In extensive tests comparing taste and tar combined, MERIT is the clear choice over leading higher tar brands.

MERIT Remains Unbeaten.

In impartial new tests where brand identity was concealed, the overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Moreover, when tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

In the second part of this extensive new study, former higher tar smokers report MERIT is an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Top honors in our Christmas story contest go to Stephanie Amelio of Novi for this poignant story of love and giving on Christmas eve. In submitting her story, Mrs. Amelio said she hoped it is published so she can present a copy to her father on Christmas morning as a "small measure of return for what he has done for us in the past. Although married with a family of my own," she added, "after reading the following, you can understand why we always make a habit of being together as this special time of the year."

It was the same everywhere, long lines and, "Sorry, we can't get you there before Christmas."

Opening my eyes, I looked down and realized we were again crossing the Potomac River. Disappointment welled up and distorted my voice, "Dad, are we going home?" Taking his eyes off the traffic for a moment, he shot us a rueful, half-optimistic smile. "No, Sport, we'll give the airport one more try."

My sister, Carolyn, wriggled in the middle, trying to make herself comfortable, and as usual, taking up more than her fair share of the front seat. Still, she was okay, after all, she'd always been there during uncertain times.

By STEPHANIE AMELIO

December 23, 1962. With my head rhythmically bumping against the car door, it was getting to be a real effort trying to convince myself that I was comfortable. However, it was either that or sitting up straight, and being hypnotized by the steady thumping of the window wipers sweeping back and forth on this particularly nasty winter's eve.

Things just weren't working out the way they were supposed to. So far we had been to the airport, the D.C. bus station and finally that old relic of a train station.

Rooting around in my closet, I pulled out the family picture album;

Christmas memories and childhood fantasies. Smiling faces from bygone days stared back at me.

The old empress began to envelop me and, looking in the mirror, I could see a 14-year old girl who was silently crying, "I want my Mommy!" I wanted to bury my face in her neck, smell her sweet, clean fragrance, and never let go.

What always came as a surprise to me was the intensity of these feelings that came on suddenly and without warning. I mean, you'd think after seven years of separation, with regular visitations, you'd get used to the idea that your parents were divorced.

Our unique little family of three was a happy one, as we followed Dad around the world in the typical U.S. Air Force style. Each day brought fresh experiences and, when Dad wasn't working, we spent our time together; sometimes fishing, white water canoeing, frequently going to plays, but never, never the ballet. He balked at that.

Tossing the album back in the closet, the germ of an idea began to grow. Visions of mother in the old house, grandpa and our little half brothers and sisters wouldn't go away.

Blinded by need, and Carolyn's mutual agreement, I couldn't wait for Dad to unload his packages before bombarding him with our heart's desire.

"You'll be okay, Dad? You don't mind, do you, Dad?"

Looking up into somber brown eyes, kind eyes, I heard the reassuring words, "Sure Sport, I don't mind. I only wish you'd have come to me sooner," that with a wry glance at all the Christmas decorations.

"Don't get your hopes up, 'cause I can't make any promises."

National Airport was jammed. Babies crying and small children sliding around under harsh lights that exposed floors littered with grit and cigarette butts. The wall clock reminded us that we were 30 minutes into Christmas Eve. Sitting on hastily packed carry-on luggage, we waited for the regular passengers to collect their boarding passes.

"You're sure you won't be too lonesome, Dad? We love you, Dad, it's just that..."

"Relax, girls. I've got lots of work to catch up on. Christmas I'll go to Mass and then probably the officer's club..."

"Hey, this is it. They've got seven no shows. It looks like you're on. I love you girls. Happy Christmas and God bless you!"

Once again, old Dad was showing us a lesson in God's love.

"He so love the world that He gave us His only begotten Son..."

Christmas is Love. Love is Giving. Hurting Joy!"

Novi Kiwanis has fruitcakes for last-minute gifts

Novi Kiwanis Club still has fruitcakes available for last-minute gifts for the hard-to-please. Priced at $4 for 1 1/2 pounds and $6.50 for three pounds, fruitcakes are available at Round House Interiors, Hook's Jewelry, Novi Food Stop and Security Bank of Novi branches.

Kiwanians are now sponsoring Cub Scout Pack 54 and have purchased weather alert radios for the Whitehall and Beverly Manor convalescent homes so residents can be aware of special weather conditions. Paul Wilson, representing Kiwanis in conjunction with the Jaycees and community education department, has completed this season's adaptive swim program. They recently toured Moti's Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor with the South Lyon club. The two clubs purchase equipment for the hospital.

Bill Scott of the Novi Parks & Rec Department told Kiwanis of plans for an ice fishing derby for children and adults in February. Kiwanis is looking for new members to assist with its many service projects. Call President Paul Wilson at 478-4000 for information on membership.

YOUTH ASSISTANCE: Anyone interested in working as a "part-time parent" a couple of hours per week through the PLUS program should call 349-8998 for details. Newest PLUS volunteers are Diane Parcela and Joyce Glush.

Former Caseworker Pat Hinz, Youth Assistance Supervisor John Greenhill, former Chairman Reverend Richard Henderson and his wife Sheila were special guests at the NYA Christmas party. Mike Meyers played his guitar and led Christmas carols. The group has completed its Christmas project of assisting Novi Jaycees with their needy family project by purchasing a tree and sponsoring an ornament-making contest for fifth and sixth graders who made over 150 ornaments. Contest judges were Genny Warren, Debbie Fox, George Miller and Joann Morris.

ROTARY: Some 180 senior citizens attended Rotary's annual Christmas dinner at the middle school. Entertainment was provided by the middle school band and chorus, and Santa Claus was present to hand out presents donated by local merchants.

Chuck Wood, Ian Bennett, John Eckstrom and Larry Leonard served on the committee which planned the annual event. Past District Governor Daryl Simons was the speaker at the last Rotary meeting and reported on Camp Rotary, a Macomb County facility for handicapped children. Rotary President Robert Maynes has more information on Camp Rotary at 349-3743.

Novi Rotary is heading the Scoliosis Screening program in Oakland County under the leadership of Garry Borin. Rotarians and their wives are receiving special training in detecting scoliosis—a curvature of the spine which typically affects seventh and eighth graders. Debbie Gross of the Easter Seal Society is assisting them with the project.

Election of officers will take place at the next Rotary meeting at noon on January 7 in the Methodist Church. Maynes and other past presidents will form the nominating committee. The next board meeting is in DeWenny's Restaurant on January 7 at 7 a.m.

Novi Highlights By Jeanne Clarke 624-0173

No more monthly meetings are planned until March.

PIN POINTERS: Sandy Radtke won the mystery game. High bowlers were Jan Keiser (204 and 186 in a 505 series), Rosemary Barnish (195 in a 505 series), Bonnie DeMotte (193 in a 505 series), Virginia Mowbray (188), Colleen Smith (183) and Shirley Thorpe (181).

Barb Kozlowski, Colleen Smith, Cora Greaves and Martha Champline won bottles of Christmas cheer.

Standings follow:

NOVI LIBRARY: Christmas displays at the library are dolls with an old-fashioned feel. Kathy Johnson is displaying handmade porcelain dolls and Myrtle Calvin is displaying hand-sewn soft dolls, including Santa Claus and Pinocchio.

A book display with a Christmas theme features holiday recipes and decorating ideas. The children's section also has special Christmas books on week — two per family for one week.

IMMUNIZATIONS: The Oakland County Health Division will offer its regular monthly immunization clinic at the room Municipal Building on Tuesday, January 5, from 9 a.m. to noon.

BLUE STAR MOTHERS: Hospital Chairman Lucy Neesham, Helen Burstrum and Gerry Kent headed a tree-trimming party for 23 patients at the Ann Arbor Veterans Hospital. Assisting them was State President Dorothy Sebastian of Sable Side. Marie and members of other chapters.

In addition to trimming the tree, the ladies served homemade cookies, cranberry punch and apples donated by Erwin's Fruit Market in Novi.

"The Twelve Days of Christmas" is illustrated in two sections of the library banners made by the Friends of the Novi Library and pictures made by Village Oaks third graders.

"Where the Red Fern Grows" is the title of a special mid-holiday week movie to be shown December 29. The movie is about a boy's struggle to train a pair of hunting dogs.

The library will be closed over part of the holidays, remaining open December 21-23 and 28-30, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. The library will return to its regular schedule Saturday, January 2.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY: Society members decorated a Christmas tree with old-fashioned ornaments and enjoyed refreshments made by Ruby Fuerst, Irene Kaluzny and Charmaine Gladden at their Christmas party.

President Bill Gladden reported on the project of microfilming old copies of The Northville Record as a means of recording the early history of Novi. He thanked the Rotary, Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, Novi Library, Northville Record and many individuals for their assistance with the project.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the project should contact Gladden at 349-3492.

If you're looking for a different kind of present for an antique buff, stop by the library and buy a copy for $1 of the first issue of The Northville Record, published December 24, 1870. All proceeds go to the Historical Society.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS RUNNER

Diane Glatfelter weds with double ring rites

Diane C. Glatfelter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glatfelter of Novi, became the bride of Dennis C. Runner in a double ring ceremony December 19.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Runner of Jackson. The ceremony was held at Northville's First Presbyterian Church with the Reverend John Mishler officiating.

Maid of honor was Juli Plumridge and best man was Dave Best.

Approximately 20 guests attended a reception at the Farmington Holiday Inn following the ceremony.

The bride is a 1978 Northville High School graduate and is employed by the Detroit Free Press.

The bridegroom, a four-year navy veteran, is a welder for Bechtel Corp.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the newlyweds will make their home in Marine City.

JIM FAZZINI and CYNTHIA DALPIAN

Wedding plans told

Dave Dalpian of West Bloomfield and Lynn Hunt of Novi announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Ann Dalpian of Farmington, to Jim Fazzini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fazzini of Redford.

The bride-to-be is a 1976 graduate of Ananda High School in Nevada City, California, and is a district manager for Frontier Food Company. Her fiance graduated from the University of Michigan in 1979 and is owner of J.T.F. Associates, carpet cleaning company.

They plan a January 9 wedding in the chapel at Mercy Center, Farmington Hills.

Helping hands

Novi's Jaycees got plenty of help with their annual drive to make sure every family has a merry Christmas from the students at Novi Middle School South. Led by Kristine Huotari and Rebecca Killick (the two girls in the center), who collected a total of 335 cans by themselves, the middle school students donated some 1,394 canned goods which were distributed by the Jaycees to needy area families Saturday.

WIXOM LIBRARY: A special holiday treat for the entire family has been planned by the Wixom Library during the week between Christmas and New Year's.

The Clark Family Players will present an entertaining program at the Wixom Library next Tuesday (December 29) at 2 p.m.

There is no charge for the program, which will be followed by refreshments. The Clark family will present singing, tap dancing, puppetry, pantomime and balloon sculpture, according to librarian Doris Goldstein.

The library staff invites patrons to visit the library during December to see the newly completed addition and Christmas decorations. For more information, call 624-2512.

FREEDOM LUTHERAN: The congregation of Novi's Freedom Lutheran Church will hold a candlelight Eucharist Service with Holy Communion and the singing of traditional Christmas carols on Christmas Eve (Thursday).

Pastor Thomas Scherger said the service will be held at the church's regular meeting place in the Novi Woods Elementary School at 7:30 p.m.

On Christmas Day, the Freedom Lutheran congregation will join the congregation of the Hope Lutheran Church for special Christmas morning services at 10 a.m.

Hope Lutheran Church is located on Twelve Mile, east of Haggerty Road, in Farmington Hills.

VOLUNTEERS: Individuals are needed to help answer phones for Novi-Northville Fish, an emergency intervention group. The work does not require much time but is of vital importance for the entire family. For more information, call 349-4242.

Grandpa and Grandma band to be cited on radio station

The enlightened attitude toward the arts as demonstrated by the far-reaching programs of Walled Lake's Grandpas and Grandmas Band will be saluted over the air during the week of December 21 by Times Square 10.

The salutes will take the form of 30-second announcements throughout the day during WQRS' classical music programming.

The announcements will state the Walled Lake Grandpas and Grandmas has earned "A Special Place in Time" because of their activities.

"Special Place in Time" salutes are the result of a survey taken of the cultural assets of southeastern Michigan by Timeless FM-105. Almost 50 separate musical, dramatic, dance, painting and other "artistic endeavors" have been identified.

These groups and individuals within the groups will be given "Special Place in Time" recognition over WQRS-FM in Detroit.

Providence seeks help

Men and women with time and talent to contribute are needed by Providence Hospital at its Novi ambulatory care facility.

"Evening and weekend volunteers are especially needed and appreciated," said Jeanne Federspill, director of volunteer services at the hospital.

"Our volunteers are valued members of the hospital's health care team," she stated, "and serve in many areas including the Outpatient Surgery Center, delivery room, emergency department, information desks, gift shop, flower and gift care and others.

"They do not replace paid staff, but supplement the hospital's care in ways that cannot be purchased. They bring the concern of a friend, a neighbor, a person who has time to listen.

Individuals interested in volunteering at the Novi facility may call Mrs. Federspill at 424-3300.

People and Programs

By Rita Traynor

The holiday season is traditionally a time of special events, special foods and special giving. In a variety of special projects, students discover that sharing can be fun. By doing, they can comprehend the meaning of "It is better to give than to receive."

One project that went on at Middle School North teamed community groups, students and teachers. Planning was facilitated by Clara Porter, director of Community Education. She discovered that the Novi Jaycee Auxiliary planned to donate trees and tree ornaments to needy families. In discussing this with George Miller at Novi Youth Assistance, a plan evolved for an ornament-making contest. Mr. Miller thought this would spark interest and make the ornaments special. It did.

Mrs. Terry Garcia, art teacher at Middle School North, worked the project into the art curriculum for fifth and sixth graders. Students made homemade clay using salt, flour and water. The salt and flour were donated by Mr. Miller's organization. Over 150 ornaments were entered. The contest winners were Heather Rosalik, Julie Donaldson and Jennifer Marshall.

All of the schools had canned good collections for a variety of organizations. The high school Honor Society members gathered donations for the Goodwillies. At Middle School South, Mr. Center's classes held a special contest and collection.

Students also shared their talents. The band and choir performed at Twelve Oaks Mall. A variety of Christmas programs were presented at each of the schools. The Interact Student group at the high school served food at the annual Rotarian Christmas party held for senior citizens.

The Novi School system also takes the holiday time to have a district-wide gathering for board members and all employee groups. Traditionally, 20-year employees are honored. This year accolades went to John Osborne, athletic director, and Daphne Hansor, food service manager at Middle School South. Our thanks to them for all their many contributions.

We look forward to 1982 and a continuation of an effective school setting for everyone. Thanks to all for continued support and teaming efforts. Happy New Year.

(Rita Traynor is special programs director for the Novi School District.)

Students tell favorite Christmas

EDITOR'S NOTE: Laura Sobodash's third grade class at Village Oaks Elementary School in Novi sent us these stories about their favorite Christmas. Starting with Kristen Lockwood's unselfish story, excerpts are printed here.

My favorite Christmas was last year because I bought my mom a candle. It was an angel. And on Christmas my mom opened it. She kissed me and hugged me.

I know why Christmas is celebrated. Because that was the day Jesus was born.

Last Christmas I put out cookies and milk and Santa Claus ate them.

— Laura Lockwood

The year was 1980. I got my brother Mark a baseball and my other brother a new pair of pants. I got my mom pajamas.

And then we went home to a nice cozy fire and a beautiful tree and thought about what Christmas really means. In my thoughts I could see a little baby laying in a manger, very cold, with his mother holding him.

— Betsy Fisher

My favorite Christmas was last year, when I got a present from my uncle. When I opened it I saw a stuffed animal that looked just like a real kitten. At first I thought it was real, then I showed my mom and she thought it was real too.

That night I slept with my stuffed animal and that was two years ago and now I am eight and I have a picture of me and my stuffed animal. But now I have a real cat to take care of.

— Michelle Timreck

My favorite Christmas was last year. I got a BMX Team Murry. I walked right past it doing something for my mom and I didn't even see it. I had a great Christmas.

— Marc Moote

My favorite Christmas was when I was 7 years old. My mother got me a doll house and it was big! I got one present from Santa and I know Santa is not real but he was a long time ago. He is the spirit of giving.

— Jennifer Fornweld

My favorite Christmas was when I was 8 years old. That was when I was just learning to do handwriting. That's when Jesus was born in Bethlehem. I am proud of Jesus because he is the son of Santa Claus coming to town. He gives me presents. I like the presents he gives me.

DENTAL DRILL BLUES
Q. Help, I'm afraid of the drill!
A. Discuss your problem with your dentist and attempt to discover exactly what it is about the dental handpiece that frightens you. Perhaps it's the noise, or maybe the appearance of the equipment itself. Then for example, he might put stereo earphones over your ears during the drilling and tune into your favorite radio station. Or try closing your eyes, relaxing, and concentrating on a pleasant subject. With today's modern high speed drills, less vibration, and shorter drilling time, you might just find your fears are now groundless.

Fourth generation business relies on family secrets to grow beautiful flowers

By PHILIP JEROME

Out at Dinsers' Greenhouses, nobody's sure just how old the business really is.

"We've been around a long time," says Charlotte Dinsler, the 82-year old mother of the five boys who presently own the operation.

"My late husband was selling flowers when I first met him at Eastern Market in Detroit in 1919, and his father had the business before him, so Dinsers' Greenhouses has been around at least 62 years and it probably goes back a lot farther than that. We're just not sure how far."

Located just north of Ten Mile on Wixom Road in Novi, Dinsers' Greenhouses is something of an anachronism in that it just doesn't get built anymore.

"Most of the newer greenhouses are made of a plastic film which has to be replaced every two years and just doesn't yield the quality that you get under glass," says Pat Dinsler, one of the five brothers who now own the business through a partnership. "The other brothers are William, Joseph, James and Norman. 'I don't make calls,' he adds. 'I take orders.'"

"There's a lot that goes into growing good flowers. You have to know when to plant, when to pinch, what types of soil to use and what types of fertilizers to use. You can't buy that kind of information—they're family secrets that have been developed through the years."

"If you don't plant or pinch on the right day, it will affect the quality of the flower," he adds during a short pause between phone calls from florist shops across the state.

"Growing beautiful flowers is a science, but it's also an art form."

Although Dinsers' still has a retail outlet in Oak Park, it's primarily a wholesale operation.

"We sell to all the better flower shops in the Detroit metropolitan area," says Pat after fielding another phone call and jotting down an order from a florist shop in Ann Arbor.

"Our flowers are in high demand from florist shops because they pride themselves on selling a high-quality flower. Everything we sell is high-quality — we refuse to cater to the supermarket kind of flower."

Another key to the Dinsers success is the fact the flowers are grown in a genuine, glass greenhouse. Two acres of their 45-acre site on Wixom Road are covered with glass greenhouses which were built when the family operation was moved to Novi some 11 years ago.

"Growing flowers under glass is definitely one of our advantages," says Pat. "Glass greenhouses are so expensive that they just don't get built anymore."

"More and more we're finding people who like to come out to the greenhouse, walk among all the plants and talk to the people who grow them."

"There's something different about a greenhouse; when you walk in and see 18,000 poinsettias it makes you feel good. They look pretty and smell good."

"The trend we've been seeing is that more and more people are coming directly to our greenhouse when they want a poinsettia, Easter lily or any of the other plants we grow."

"These wholesalers, not retailers, but when people come out here, we're more

Fessler says Michigan can diversify business

The new workers' compensation reform measures passed by the Michigan House of Representatives recently will have a positive impact on Michigan's business and job climate, but the battle is only half over, according to 24th District State Representative Richard Fessler.

"It will be much easier now for Michigan to compete with other states in attracting new business and job development to the state, but we still have an image problem," said Fessler after the historic Friday session when several Democrats broke rank with Speaker Bobby Crim and joined all 46 Republican representatives in passing the compensation reform package.

The package of bills approved by those legislators is the keystone to Governor William G. Milliken's economic recovery program.

"It is fortunate, though, that we have these new laws that will make it more profitable to work and do business in Michigan because, when the economy picks up as expected in mid-summer 1982, Michigan will be in a prime position to benefit from the enhanced national business climate the improved economy will create," Fessler said.

"But first we must convince American businesses that Michigan has cleaned up its act and we are ready and waiting for their investments in and commitments to Michigan, and we only have six months to do that," Fessler continued. "The word is definitely out now, and we must keep the ball rolling."

Fessler also stated that Michigan is the first state among the 50 to feel the effects of any negative or positive change in the economy.

"Because we are the automobile capital of the world, and because people stop buying cars the instant there is a downturn in the economy, our own state economy suffers."

"But on the other hand, the instant the national economy improves, car sales begin to climb, workers are called back to the factories to keep the supply up, and Michigan benefits from that," he said.

"More importantly, if Michigan can diversify its economy so that we are not as dependent on automobiles, minor fluctuations in the national economy won't affect us as much," he continued. "We are now in an excellent position to diversify since we have reformed our workers' compensation system, and those new industries will find the Great Lakes State more hospitable."

MBA students better prepared to pursue careers

Today's MBA students are better prepared for job interviews and more interested in pursuing business careers in large corporations than their counterparts five-to-10 years ago—and female MBA candidates may be the best prepared of all—according to an industry recruiter.

"More women are getting into the business world, and they are better prepared than even a few years ago," says George Cook, director of personnel for R. J. Reynolds Industries, Inc. "They are poised, handle themselves well and are goal-oriented. To a recruiter, this means they have drive and ambition. In fact, we're seeing more of that in women than in men."

Cook says how candidates perceive the world of work makes a difference in a job interview. "Women today very much want to enter a part of the world previously nearly closed to them. They are highly motivated, competitive and they want to succeed."

"Today's MBA graduates as a whole have more savvy," the personnel executive contends. "They know more about how to approach an interview and how to position themselves. Many also are becoming more specific about what kind of jobs they want."

"Ten years ago, many students would tell a recruiter, 'I want to go into business' as a way of indicating their willingness to join a company. Many of today's students have three-to-five years of business experience before attending graduate school, and often can tell you the specific kind of job they want."

Cook speculates that an increasing number of students majoring in business instead of liberal arts may be one reason that performance in job interviews has improved. He also says colleges today are preparing MBA candidates for interviews.

Cook says that, "More students accept the idea of working in business than they did 10 years ago. Students still have values that say, 'I want to make a difference,' but they know that a person often needs to be in a position of power to do so."

General appearance in job interviews seems to confirm that idea, he says. "More students dress in a businesslike manner today than in the past, perhaps because more students are interested in business careers."

"Mostly, today's students' dress is less casual than that of 10 years ago. Their appearance seems to say, 'I know what I want, and I want to be taken seriously by business.'"

Such changes may be as timely as they are significant. According to Cook, "Companies are getting more particular about what they look for when hiring personnel. As companies grow, there is more segmentation, more specialization. Today's candidates must be able to position themselves properly in an interview to be successful."

"It pays for a candidate to research companies in which they are interested. That way they can discuss how they can best make a contribution to the success of the company during the interview."

It's a good time to smile
