Novi foresees 6 percent assessment hikes

By KATHY JENNINGS

If disagreements between Oakland County and the Michigan Tax Commission cannot be resolved, it now appears that all residential property owners in Novi will face a six percent assessment increase this year.

And with the final day of the Board of Review at hand, Novi council members were wishing Monday that they had previously done more to explain the situation to residents.

Some Novi property owners received reduced assessments this year, while others saw their assessments increase.

However, it is now believed an assessment increase will be passed down from the state that would affect all residential property owners in Novi.

At this point state officials are trying to determine whether assessments in Oakland County have been set at 50 percent of true cash value. If they find the assessments are low they can impose a "factor," raising assessments across the county. The assessed value of a piece of property is multiplied by the factor to bring the assessment to 50 percent of true cash value.

Oakland County equalization officials have been working to show that property values in the area decreased in 1981, but state officials have found fault with the manner in which assessments were set in Oakland County.

While city officials fear the matter may not be resolved until the issue is settled in court, both county and state assessment experts believe the matter will be settled before it goes that far.

City Assessor John Merrifield informed the council Monday that talks between Oakland County and the State Tax Commission, Merrifield told the council.

Council members recalled Monday that many residents who received notices of an assessment decrease will be angry to learn their taxes actually will increase if a state factor is imposed.

"People see the mills and the state equalized value, they never see the factor on the notice they receive in the mail," said Council Member James Shaw. "For a large number of people assessments went down, so they sat back quietly and said 'this is exactly what should be happening, my property value is going down.' They weren't here appealing their assessment. By the time they are aware of what has happened, the date (for appealing to the board of review) will have passed."

"I think we should have gotten out in front of this a couple of weeks ago to let people know what is going on," Shaw continued. "I think we may be open for some legitimate complaints."

Shaw's comments were supported by Council Member Patricia Karevich. "We received memos on this and we needed to discuss it and its effect on the community," Karevich said.

City Attorney David Fried suggested the council consider asking the Board of Review to remain in session so more residents can appeal their assessments. But council members took no action on the suggestion to extend the dates of the Board of Review.

The Board of Review is meeting in regular session this week. It is scheduled to hear all property assessment appeals by 5 p.m. today (Wednesday).

Thirteen/Novi plans approved

Formal action on a design for the Thirteen Mile/Novi Road Intersection, which literally will pave the way for installation of a traffic signal there, is expected to be granted by the Novi City Council in a meeting March 15.

The council will be asked to approve a design agreed upon by the Oakland County Road Commission and the city consulting engineers after nearly a year of review.

"We have agreed upon a compromise design which includes a horizontal curve and a T-intersection north of the curve," Engineering Consultant Raymond Cousineau told the council Monday.

Cousineau said he expects construction to get underway in late spring or early summer.

Plans to install a signal at the intersection have been delayed while the city and county deliberated ways to re-design the intersection. The road commission originally would not approve a traffic signal until the intersection was improved.

The new intersection will be designed to accomplish the goals of both the city and the road commission. The city wishes to route traffic off East Lake Drive onto Decker Road, while the county wants to maintain a roadway for those who continue to travel north on East Lake.

Construction of a T-intersection will accommodate traffic northbound to East Lake and South Lake Drives and will not substantially reduce traffic patterns or flows on those roads, Cousineau said.

"There is a substantial demand to use the northbound roadway and they want to allow that to continue," Cousineau said. "They didn't want to shift those traffic patterns."

County traffic studies show approximately 55 percent of the traffic continues to use South Lake or East Lake drives, according to Dennis Pajot of the Oakland County Road Commission. For that reason, under current circumstances, the county wishes to maintain easy access for northbound traffic on Novi Road, he said.

"If the city paves Thirteen Mile it would change the circumstances and the percentages of those using Thirteen Mile," Pajot noted.

A horizontal curve will be constructed for those who wish to use Thirteen Mile and Decker Road. Traffic travelling to Decker would proceed around the curve and a passing lane would be constructed for those who wish to continue northbound on Novi Road.

Construction of the intersection will be funded 100 percent by the city, Pajot indicated. However, he said the road commission will pay two-thirds of the cost for signalization.

"We're trying to work with the city and their traffic consultant and at the same time maintain the integrity of the county road system," Pajot said.

"This design satisfies both purposes and will be safe," Pajot said. "We've tried to work with the city, but they wanted an intersection within a curve, and that causes all kinds of problems."

When reviewing the plan Monday council members asked whether the road commission would contribute to the cost of reconstructing the intersection. Cousineau informed them the county "is in no position to commit any funds to the project."

Orchard Hills third graders and teacher Corneve Wedge experiment with their 23 volcanoes

Twenty-three volcanos erupt at Orchard Hills

When Mother Nature erupts a volcano she melts rocks and sends them skyward, but third graders at Novi's Orchard Hills Elementary have learned that much the same effect can be achieved with a drinking straw and powder.

Students in Corneve Wedge's class have just completed a study on volcanoes. And they recently topped off their study with a mass eruption—23 volcanoes going off simultaneously.

There was no molten lava when the volcanoes erupted in the third grade classroom, just a lot of powder.

Reading, energy studies and science were included in the unit on volcanoes. Wedge says students learned all the terms dealing with volcanoes and energy as they studied the special unit.

Wedge reports that students became "very excited" as they read about volcanoes and wanted to build their own.

So using a flour and salt mixture for modeling dough, each student made a cone-shaped volcano. Paint was mixed with the dough to give the volcanoes the proper color.

Powder was placed inside the volcanoes to simulate lava. Students then placed a straw in their volcanoes and caused them to erupt by blowing into the straw. The effects of an outside force were demonstrated as students blew into the straw.

Township acts to drop case

A resolution indicating the Novi Township Board wishes to withdraw its request to be annexed to the City of Novi to prevent the issue from being brought to a vote has been unanimously approved by board members.

Township Supervisor Leo Kalota said board members voted 5-0 March 2 to withdraw from the lawsuit which has dragged out the annexation dispute between the township and the city since 1971.

"Hopefully this can come to an end," Kalota said. "The residents felt we should withdraw from this, so we have."

Township officials announced their intentions to withdraw from annexation proceedings in a surprise move before the state boundary commission in a hearing on February 25. At that time boundary commissioners were told that a majority of the residents of Brookland Farms—the sole remaining piece of Novi Township—want the matter resolved and have asked the township to withdraw from the case.

Boundary commissioners were meeting to decide whether Brookland Farms should be included when they consider the annexation request for the third time. The commission has twice approved the annexation of the seven parcels, but legal action has kept the question alive. Township residents have now indicated they want the legal action to cease.

Kalota noted that the township originally considered withdrawing from the law suit in 1979, but at that time five of the township officers lived in Chateau Estates and they favored continuing the matter.

"I was surprised to hear the position of those representing Chateau when they appeared before the boundary commission, because it was Chateau Estates that wanted to continue the suit in the past," Kalota said.

City Attorney David Fried told the council Monday he was pleased with the outcome of the hearing before the State Boundary Commission and he foresees a resolution to the annexation dispute within four months.

"After the hearing I would say the commission will be forced to resolve this in favor of the City of Novi," Fried said.

However, Fried cautioned that in the past the case has been prolonged by township resident William B. Chase. Fried noted Chase may again try to continue the suit.

An attorney representing Chase argued before the commission that he should be allowed to remain in the township. Fried said a supplementary position paper explaining the city's position regarding the proposal that Chase be allowed to remain in the township along with Brookland Farms has been submitted to the commission.

"We don't think there is any reason for that parcel not to be annexed to the city," Fried said.

The city of Novi, asking residents to think ahead, has proclaimed May 17-19 Novi Neighborhood Pride Week—a week to fix-up and clean-up the community. The celebration is sponsored by the council Monday. The city has announced intentions to provide materials for the entire city and to provide a community picnic.

Both public and private resources will be tapped to support the activities planned during the week, the resolution states.

"This is an expanded effort to show our pride in the city," said City Manager David Gervail. "It's the most ambitious program we've ever had along with the cleanup activities planned for the entire city."

Activities to take place during Neighborhood Pride Week still are being planned and have not been finalized.

City officials noted that civic organizations may be asked to cooperate in cleanup projects, street and right-of-way work, and other projects. Residents may also participate by placing paint, yard equipment and other materials on file, he said.

Other items being reviewed include asking the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to sponsor cleanup awards.

Neighborhood Pride Week also could kick off the city's paint and fence program which is available for residents in northern Novi. Another possibility being reviewed is providing a truck for residents of northern Novi to encourage them to donate their public relations campaign promoting Pride Week will be worked out by the council.

Awaiting the cue

Jennifer Brown's attention is focused squarely on the conductor as she awaits the cue for the violin section. Jennifer, 7, is a member of the Novi Suzuki Institute which provides violin instruction for three to 15-year olds. Students in the institute receive two lessons per week—one private and one group—under the direction of Alex Ross and Joyce Butler. (News photo by Steve Fecht)

Novi council, Bob Evans set further discussions

Lines that will have to be crossed by both sides if the Bob Evans Restaurant case is to be settled outside of court were drawn Monday by the Novi City Council and Bob Evans Attorney Norman Hyman.

The restaurant chain has threatened legal action against the city over the denial of site plan approval on the grounds that the building would hinder "harmonious land uses" in the area west of Novi Road across from Twelve Oaks Mall.

Council members and Hyman exchanged viewpoints on the matter before deciding the question should be dealt with in a separate study session.

"Obviously we've got a problem," Hyman told the council. "I've read your ordinance and the ordinance suggests that one goal is to ensure the harmonious relationship between land use types, but there is nothing in the ordinance to suggest aesthetics is a consideration. There is no standard which allows the city to reject this site plan."

Hyman told the council it must approve the site plan if explicit standards included in the ordinance are met.

"I see no standards that have been violated," Hyman said.

Hyman added, however, that Bob Evans would be "delighted if this could be resolved by friendly give and take."

He asked if the council had "input that could potentially resolve this."

Mayor Robert Schmid countered that when the plan for the West Oaks shopping center was first presented, it proposed an office building on the site where Bob Evans is now being planned.

"The council passed on the concept of the whole center and the drawings indicated this would not be of the nature of what you're proposing," Schmid said.

"It would be very easy to sit back and let this community develop as it would. I prefer not to."

— Robert Schmid, Novi Mayor

Council Member Ronald Watson said the council had anticipated Bob Evans' representatives would do more than come to the council seeking input and asked if there were any new information to be discussed.

"It's difficult to guess what would satisfy you," Hyman responded. "We don't know if you have landscaping or aesthetic concerns. To have us try and guess and then have you tell us we guessed wrong, come back and guess building would have to have the appearance of a Bob Evans Restaurant, again — that's fruitless. We are seeking guidance for what we ought to address. Then we can decide whether we can meet your concerns."

He also told the council that the

"It is essential that this be a Bob Evans Restaurant. The building is the logo of the chain and it must be that kind of building. We can discuss landscaping and materials, but when we end this process it must be recognizable as a Bob Evans Restaurant."

Schmid told Hyman that the council has taken the position it has because "it would be very easy to sit back and let this community develop as it would. I would prefer not to."

Schmid also noted that a letter signed by 13 residents in support of the Bob Evans Restaurant site plan has been received.

Council members ultimately decided to set a special meeting to discuss the restaurant. Position papers explaining the city's requirements for the area and the company's requirements for their establishments will be exchanged at that time.

Novi Boy Scout Troop 407 is going to find its winter camping expeditions a whole lot more comfortable from now on. Thanks to a $400 donation from the Novi Jaycees, the Scouts were able to purchase all-weather camping equipment that will make those winter cam-

Novi planners recommend rezoning

A rezoning request which would increase the size of the Country Cousin Mobile Home Park on Haggerty Road by 33 percent has been recommended for approval by the Novi Planning Board.

Specifically, the planners voted unanimously to recommend approval of a request from Country Cousin Owner Russell Button to rezone a 14.4 acre parcel from its existing R-1-F (small farm agricultural residential) classification to a MH (mobile home) designation.

The 14.4 acre parcel is located immediately north of the existing Country Cousin Mobile Home Park on the west side of Haggerty Road between I-96 and Twelve Mile.

The existing Country Cousin Mobile Home Park contains 216 units on approximately 33 acres. Button said he would be able to add 33 more units if the rezoning is approved.

The rezoning request was recommended for approval by City Planning Consultant Charles Cairns who noted that property to the north and west of the site is vacant, while property on the east side of Haggerty Road in Farmington Hills is master planned for restricted industrial research or office uses.

Cairns also noted that the 14.4 acre parcel is designated on Novi's master plan for multiple-family residential development which carries a proposed density level of 9.3 dwelling units per acre.

"The six to eight dwelling units per acre generated in mobile home parks falls within the dwelling unit levels proposed for the site, and the request represents a logically acceptable extension of an existing mobile home district," said Cairns.

Cairns also said extension of the existing mobile home park will serve as a desirable transition to future uses to the north and existing and proposed uses to the east in Farmington Hills.

Button told the board that the wisest thing for him to do might be to just raise the rents of tenants in the existing park $10 per month and move to Florida.

"It's taken me 15 years of red tape to get to this point," he said. "Mobile homes are low-cost housing which is not subsidized by the government. They are better built than stick-built housing for the money."

Button also said one of the problems with mobile home parks is that local governments won't allow new parks to be built. "If you would allow nice, new parks to be built," he said, "the older ones would be out of business."

Several Country Cousin residents also endorsed the rezoning request. The only objection was raised by attorneys for the Meyers' Estate which owns the farm on the northwest corner of Twelve Mile and Meadowbrook Road.

Meyers' Attorney Susan Morrison said the rezoning of the property to the MH classification would have a detrimental effect on the farm.

The planners subsequently voted unanimously to recommend approval of the rezoning request. The recommendation now will be forwarded to the city council which makes the final decision on all rezoning requests.

Snug as a bug?

This old Volkswagen may not be what comes to mind with the proverbial "snug as a bug in a rug" quotation, but the blanket of snow covering it seems likely to keep the car in place at least until spring. News Photographer Steve Fecht spotted the VW in Walled Lake after a recent winter storm.

Project ranks high for federal funding

The availability of federal funds for the Walled Lake Drive resurfacing project has been confirmed, according to Walled Lake City Manager J. Michael Dornan.

Dornan told city council members last week that the project has received a ranking of first class priority, meaning Walled Lake is assured that it will receive the promised $12,000 grant that will make the project possible.

"This really brings it to the point of reality," Dornan told council members. The project will include resurfacing Walled Lake Drive with several inches of asphalt, straightening the road slightly in a few spots and adding reinforced shoulders. At the same time, the city may pave a pedestrian walkway along the north side of the road and is considering adopting a fence ordinance that would standardize fences along the road.

Additionally, a resurfacing project has been proposed for Liberty Street. The work could entail almost total reconstruction of the road if city officials decide to have all layers of pavement removed, as proposed.

In addition, a seven-foot greenbelt would be left between the road and sidewalks, which would remain intact. Total cost of the project is estimated at $67,000, which could be trimmed somewhat, according to Consulting Engineer Charles Penske of Johnson and Anderson.

Daniels trial bound over to circuit level

Wayne Daniels, former Food Services Director for the Walled Lake Schools, waived his right to preliminary exam on embezzlement charges Monday and has been bound over to stand trial in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Daniels appeared before 52nd District Court Judge Michael Batchik Monday to face pre-trial examination on two charges of embezzlement.

The first charge alleges that on or about April 7, 1980, Daniels converted some $3,390 to his own use through his capacity as an agent for the Walled Lake Schools.

The second charge alleges that he fraudulently converted to his own use some $1,495 in public funds on or about July 25, 1980.

Daniels, who was employed as Food Services Director by the Walled Lake Schools from 1977 to November 1981, was a candidate for the U.S. Congressional seat presently held by William Broomfield at the time the public funds were allegedly embezzled.

News that an investigation of the food services department was taking place surfaced in December. Daniels resigned his position shortly before Thanksgiving and it was accepted "for personal reasons" by the Walled Lake school board at its December 14 session.

Charges against Daniels were filed after the district received an audit of the Food Services Department from the firm of Plante and Moran in February. Superintendent Don Sheldon said the audit substantiated the district's findings about misuse of funds in the department.

Daniels is a veteran of the U.S. Army and was highly decorated for valor and bravery during his military career.

Man faces charges on two fires

A 23-year-old Wixom man has been charged with two counts of arson in connection with two separate fires at the Village Apartments in 1981, according to Wixom police.

Brian Keith Travis, 23, was arraigned February 22 in 52nd District Court on two counts of arson of a dwelling house, reporting a false fire alarm and filing a false police report.

The arson charges are felonies carrying a maximum 20 year prison sentence. The other charges are misdemeanors.

Travis' attorney has requested the suspect undergo a forensic examination before the case reaches circuit court. Travis has no adult criminal record, police said.

The arrest culminates more than three months of investigatory work by the Wixom Fire Investigation Team of Captain Stu Colyer of the Wixom Fire Department and Wixom Police Officer Bruce Kirby.

Kirby and Colyer tied together the November 20 fire and the December 8 fire in separate buildings at the Village after hours of investigation, according to Wixom Police Chief Phil Leonard.

No one was hurt in either of the fires, but Kirby said they were potentially very serious blazes. The Wixom Fire Department has been credited with helping prevent major fires due to the quick response times.

"It was a unique case," Kirby said. "It took several weeks of hard work on the part of Bruce and Captain Stu Colyer," Leonard said. "It's very difficult to make an arrest in arson."

Colyer's and Kirby's work was brought to the attention of Captain William Rusinski, Chief of the Fire Marshal Division of the Department of State Police.

Rusinski commended Kirby and Colyer for their "professional excellence and dedication in bringing the investigation to a successful conclusion" in a February 25 letter to Mayor Lillian Spencer.

School system seeks wage freeze

By PHILIP JEROME
All employees in the Walled Lake School District have been asked to accept a wage freeze for 1982-83. The News has learned.
The wage freeze proposal has been presented by Superintendent Don Sheldon to all presidents of the district's 11 bargaining units, who have until March 22 to present the proposition to their memberships and report the response to Sheldon's office.
A report on their responses is expected at the March 22 board meeting. Sheldon said Tuesday that the district is requesting a pay freeze and admitted that no guarantees of any sort are being offered.
"We just can't do it (make guarantees)," he said. "The problem is too extensive. If the unions agree to concessions, it will impact the extent to which additional cuts will be made, but if no concessions are offered, the cutbacks will be quite severe."

The request for a wage freeze comes at a time when the district is attempting to come to grips with a projected $2.9 million deficit in its 1982-83 budget.
A tentative list of budget cuts totaling $1.482 million has been identified by the administration, but those cuts still fall roughly $1.48 million short of covering the projected deficit in next year's budget.
Assistant Superintendent for Business Harry Carlson said Tuesday that an across-the-board wage freeze would equate to a savings of approximately $1.93 million for the district.

In an apparent attempt to get the ball rolling in the area of a wage freeze, Sheldon recommended a wage freeze for non-union administrators for the 1982-83 school year at Monday's school board meeting.
Non-union administrators are the assistant superintendents for business and personnel; the auxiliary services director and the directors of secondary and elementary education; the supervisors of transportation and food services; and the district's purchasing agent and accountant.
Sheldon's proposal for a wage freeze for non-union administrators for 1982-83 received a poor response from board members at Monday's meeting because it also included an eight percent salary increase for the current 1981-82 school year (retroactive to July 1, 1981).
Trustee Betty Campley criticized the proposal on the basis that it was presented at a time when the district is considering the possibility of wage freezes and/or millage hikes to offset the projected deficit.

Sheldon responded that non-union administrators have received no pay hikes this year, even though all other employees have received increases in the area of 8-10 percent.
"Our non-union administrators have been most patient in this area," Sheldon told the board. "The money (for the increases) has already been budgeted."
The board took no action on the proposed two-year contract for non-union administrators, voting unanimously to table it until the March 22 meeting.
Meanwhile, Trustee Janet Callahan renewed her call for wage concessions from district employees.
Callahan made her comments as the board studied the proposed $1.482 million list of budget cuts. "Eighty-five percent of our $26 million budget is in salaries," she said. "These salaries have got to be rolled back to enable us to run the district."

Spikers win district title

By DAVE JOHNSON
Hiding the talents and experience of an almost all-senior lineup, the Walled Lake Western High girls' volleyball team bumped off perennial powers Brighton and Howell to win their first-ever district title at Howell High School last Saturday.
To the bewilderment of many, this year's District 12 volleyball champion is not Howell, not Brighton — but Walled Lake Western.
To an outsider it was an upset. After all, Brighton (16-2) boasted state honorable mention status behind ninth-ranked Howell (29-5), while the Warriors boasted "nothing." But to Warrior coach Ron Fuson and his still unbeaten Warriors (18-0), the tournament went according to script.
"All year long I've told the girls not to worry about state rankings," said the second year coach, now 31-5 in two seasons. "They (rankings) don't really mean anything anyway. All they do is tip off other schools as to how good you might be."
"The only thing I'm concerned about is where we're at come March 20," asserted Fuson both figuratively and literally.
March 20, of course, will pit the top four teams in the state at the A state tournament at Howell. Sixteen teams are left. In order to be there, however, the Warriors must win their regional (one of four) at Dearborn High School this Saturday (March 13).
As the District 12 representative, Western will face state honorable mention Monroe at 12:30 p.m. If the Warriors win, they will see on the Westland John Glenn/Bishop Borgess winner for the regional championship at 2 p.m.
John Glenn and Borgess are both state ranked (10th and honorable mention, respectively), but Fuson is confident his Warriors have the strength to come home with another trophy. But he says it probably take a little better effort than what his Warriors put forth this district.
"Overall we played very well as a team (in the district)," Fuson said, "probably our best of the year. But we still have a few rough games to iron out."
Western's play netted the squad a 15-6, 4-15, 15-7 victory against Brighton and a 15-4, 12-15, 15-13 win over Howell.
Offensively, Fuson says Western is at its best when his senior-laden lineup boasts Andrea Cordeiro, Lauren Wilson and Sue Hoeltz in front with Jill Orcutt (serving), Bridget Arends (setting) and Cathy Fern in the back. Cordeiro, Western's lone starting non-senior, is a junior.
"We picked up a lot of points (16 of 42) in that alignment against Howell," noted Fuson. "And Andrea was at her best all day long, spiking, serving."
In defeat, Brighton coach Laurie Mason noted that it was Western's defense more than its offense that led to its success.
"They (the Warriors) are the kind of team you see at state tournaments," said Mason. "They never let anything hit the floor."

Residents appeal tax assessments

Lakes area residents still have time to appeal their property tax assessments.
One last session is scheduled for tomorrow (Thursday) for Commerce Township and Wolverine Lake Village property owners who want to request assessment changes from the township board of review. The review board will hear appeals from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1:30-3:30 p.m. Thursday.
In Walled Lake, the review board will conduct appeals sessions from 6-8 p.m. next Tuesday (March 16) and Thursday, March 18; and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, March 22.
Residents seeking assessment changes from the Commerce Township review board number far fewer this year than last year's peak of nearly 1,000, according to Township Assessor Wyn Berry.
Halfway through Tuesday's review board session, only 64 township residents had come in to see the three-member panel, Berry said.
According to Berry, the reason for the drop in appeals may relate to the fact that the township did not conduct a general reappraisal of property values this year, which it did last year. Because many assessments stayed at last year's levels, those property owners were not sent notifications of changes.
"The changes are generally what generate attitude at (the review sessions)," Berry said.

Game of Novi back in stock for social set

Feeling left out? Depressed because it's pretty obvious you're no longer part of the "in" crowd?
On those rare occasions when you are invited to parties, do you feel awkward with nothing to do but stand in a corner, hoping someone wants to talk about The Economy, El Salvador or The Tigers — just because you've never played "The Game of Novi."
Well, fret no more, bunks — help has arrived and your social standing should be climbing soon.
The Novi Jaycees have received the second shipment of "The Game of Novi, and this time there should be enough for everyone to get in on the fun.
The first shipment of 250 games was snatched up in three days just prior to Christmas, but the Jaycees report that the second shipment of 810 games has arrived and is ready for distribution in time for the spring social season.
"The Game of Novi" is based loosely on the game of "Monopoly," except that Boardwalk, Park Place, Marvin Gardens and all the rest have been replaced with such places as Marcus Glass, Marty Feldman Chevrolet and Rymal-Symes.
"The Game of Novi" is now available for $10 at Brown's Drugs, Rymal-Symes, Marcus Glass, Security Bank of Novi, Meadowbrook Art Center, David's Coffee, Darling Mobile Homes, /Stop and Novi City Place.
Of course, if any of those places are sold out before you get there, give Jaycee Project Chairman Thomas Sumtee a call at 478-9130 and he'll make sure your game is delivered.
Remember, there's no reason to be a social outcast any longer.

City earmarks federal funds

Approximately $25,000 in federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds has been earmarked for use in Walled Lake during fiscal 1982-83, according to City Manager J. Michael Dorman.
The available money is almost $3,000 more than expected, Dorman said.
While Walled Lake plans to use the money to help fund construction of an auxiliary power source for the city's water facilities, Dorman asked council to permit him to name the Walled Lake Drive improvement project as an alternate use for the money.
Dorman suggested that if the city's request for the money to alternate water source does not meet all eligibility requirements, specifying the beautification project as an alternate use would guarantee Walled Lake use of the funds elsewhere in the city.
Cost of the road improvement project is estimated at approximately $150,000, of that, $122,000 has been allocated to the city for road work by the U.S. Government. The CDBG funds could be used to help pay for paving a pedestrian walkway and standardized fences, which are currently under consideration, should the application for the water generator fail.

Bud Tegler has his blood pressure checked before donating a pint of blood

The results of Monday's blood drive at St. William's Church in Walled Lake far surpassed Jim Parker's expectations.
Blood drive coordinator Parker, who was hoping to sign up 60 donors for the Red Cross-run blood effort, was thrilled to tally 109 volunteers by Monday evening.
"I'm very happy," Parker said. "They (the Red Cross) were real happy with it, and so was I. I'm proud of the people here."
In all, the blood bank netted 78 pints of blood donated and 19 people who tried to give a pint were deferred for medical reasons. Parker said. Only 12 people who made appointments failed to show up.
The dozen who didn't arrive may have been frightened off by Monday's snowstorm. Parker said workers at St. William's rushed to clean up Zepf Hall at the end of the drive, explaining, "We were kind of trying to beat the pints."

Preliminary airport plan picked

Faced with an April 1 deadline for presenting plans to the State Aeronautics Division, the Wixom-Lyon Airport Board has selected a preliminary layout plan for expansion of the Vernon M. Spencer Memorial Airport.
The five-member board selected the recommended alternative following an informational meeting at Wixom City Hall last week to update representatives from surrounding communities on the progress of the airport project.
The alternative selected by the board proposes a primary east-west runway of 5,000 feet and a secondary north-south runway of 3,200 feet. The airport will encompass a total of 225 acres.
The existing Wixom Airport consists of 51 acres owned by the Alexander Hamilton Corporation. It will be necessary to acquire an additional 174 acres of property in Wixom and Lyon Township to meet the requirements of the proposal selected by the board.
No estimates on the overall cost of expanding the airport have been presented, but the alternative selected last week is anticipated to be the least expensive of the four plans presented for consideration by Williams & Works, the firm retained to develop the airport layout plan and feasibility study.
Robert Addy, manager of the Michigan Aeronautics Division's technical support staff, announced last week that the state is strongly supportive of plans to expand Spencer Airport.

Free cheese available now

Seniors who are registered in OLHSA programs have already been signed up to receive cheese. Zywicki said, but other area residents will be able to line up at St. William's Thursday for their own boxes.
Residents are only required to sign forms stating they consider themselves low-income in order to receive the cheese, according to Sherry Meadows of the Walled Lake OLHSA Center.
Should the cheese supply in Walled Lake be completely distributed before all residents have been served, Zywicki said, individuals who want a box of cheese are encouraged to pick up a carton at the Pontiac Silverdome, where a greater supply will be on hand. Cheese will be distributed there from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Zywicki said.
More cheese will be coming to the area until all 1,228,500 pounds of cheese allocated to Michigan is delivered. Additionally, other government surplus foods — including dry milk, peanut butter and perhaps butter — could become available through the system.
For more information on the cheese, call the OLHSA Center's WATS line in Pontiac, 1-800-428-9250.

Free five-pound boxes of government surplus processed cheese are available for pick-up tomorrow (Thursday) from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at St. William's School in Walled Lake.
According to Ted Zywicki, community development division manager for Oakland County Human Services Agency, approximately 50,000 pounds of cheese have been allocated to Oakland County by the Michigan Department of Education, which is handling the cheese distribution for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
That cheese was taken to its distribution sites Tuesday and is being given to area residents today and tomorrow.
The cheese give-away is part of the U.S. Government program to empty federal warehouses where tons of processed Cheddar has been accumulating as part of a national agricultural price-support plan.
The Walled Lake OLHSA Center, which recently moved its headquarters to an office on E. Williams in Walled Lake, is handling the distribution in Walled Lake.

English requirements retained

By KATHY JENNINGS
A four-year English requirement for Novi High School students has been upheld by the school board, but administrators have given the right to waive the requirement for seniors when appropriate.
Board members decided last week that students will be required to take eight semesters of English in order to graduate — two semesters during the freshman, sophomore and junior years and one semester during the senior year. The eighth semester of English may be taken at any time during the four years.
The eight-semester English requirement applies to students who will graduate in 1983.
The latest clarification of English requirements means students must take English during each of the four years they attend high school, but also makes it possible for students to graduate in January.
Board members discussed the graduation requirements because of an apparent misunderstanding over the English requirements and whether those requirements made January graduation impossible.
Board President Joel Colliau said the question was "are we requiring students graduating in January to take two English semesters in the fall term, one year of English in the 12th grade, or eight semesters of English?"
Jacqueline Lawrence, English department chairperson, opposed a reduction in graduation requirements, telling the board she would not let a child to tell me what is good for him at that point. "That's what we're talking about. You have an obligation to those kids, you've got to teach them."
High School Principal Robert Youngberg reported that some staff members philosophically favor a full year of English for seniors so students "continue to have contact with skill development through graduation."
"It causes some difficulty in scheduling, but we knew we could be creating those problems. Skill-building is so important in the English area that we hate to see a situation exist where they finish their requirements by the fall semester of the 11th grade," — Robert Youngberg, High School Principal
The board also agreed it did not want to hear appeals from each student who believes he or she has completed the English requirements.
Youngberg suggested a policy that would permit the administration "in its wisdom to make an exception based on information from the teacher, counselor, parent and student, in the event a situation arises that a student has many credits of English and the student is of the caliber that they do not require another full year of English."
However, Colliau expressed concern that the board should not relinquish its authority to set graduation requirements.
"I'm unalterably opposed to eight consecutive semesters of English, but I fear having anyone but the board making exceptions to graduation requirements. If we want a student to take English in their senior year, except in specific cases, I defy you to write that policy. Why should Johnny be an exception and not Mary? That troubles me. I don't like exceptions,"
But other board member said the policy should not be too rigid. They said school administrators were in the best position to determine if an exception should be made.
Clifford Bunker, the parent of a Novi High School student, said his son is "in the midst of this problem."
"I'm concerned about the rigidity here," Bunker said. "This year my son is taking four semesters of English because the math and science classes he wanted were filled with seniors. My concern is he will have to take English and still not be able to take math, science and computer classes next year. I urge the board to consider language that allows some exceptions."

Novi student honored in mathematics contest

Right now, Robert Mitchell is earning pocket change by broiling up hamburgers at the Burger Chef in Northville.
But the Burger Chef people might be farther ahead if they utilized his talents at the cash register.
Mitchell, a 17-year old Novi High School senior, recently was named an award winner in the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America.
He is the son of Robert and Janet Mitchell who live on Brookforest in the Village Oaks subdivision.
He won the honor by placing in the top 100 out of 2,400 high school seniors across the state who participated in the 25th annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition.
The mathematics award is just one of the academic honors received by Mitchell so far this year. He also is the only Novi student to be named a finalist in the 1982 National Merit Scholarship competition sponsored by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.
Mitchell is a college-bound high school student taking the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQST) during their junior year. The test results are considered an important factor for admission to college.
Students with the top 15,000 scores in the nation are named National Merit Scholarship semifinalists, and students with the top 13,500 scores on the test are named National Merit Scholarship finalists.
Some 5,000 scholarships will be awarded by various corporations to National Merit Scholarship finalists this year.
The Mitchell family moved to Novi from Mt. Pleasant, Pennsylvania, two years ago.
Mitchell is also a member of the Novi chapter of the National Honor Society and Novi's award-winning debate team.
In addition to his academic achievements, the 17-year old senior is an Eagle Scout, the highest rank in Boy Scouting.
He plans to attend college, but his choice of schools remains unclear. "I'd like to pursue a career in either computer engineering or computer science at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but my college plans definitely hinge on the availability of scholarships," he explained.

Sixth graders learn laws

Authority. What is it? How does it differ from power? How can we use it? How do we select people to fill its positions?
These are questions considered by sixth graders at Walled Lake Elementary School as part of a series on Law Involvement.
The project, sponsored by the Office of Social Studies at Oakland Schools, is part of a curricular grant through the State Office of Criminal Justice.
Teacher Carol Golden has led her class in the program, which began last October, in discussions of the origin of the law, its definition, as well as the need for law and the various forms it takes.
Each session has a cartoon film strip and student worksheets which set forth situations for discussion by the students, posing several possible solutions. Golden has used role playing and mock trials to

Q. How can I reduce my dental bills?
A. The best way to keep dental costs down is by becoming an active participant in protecting the health of your mouth. You can begin by practicing preventive dentistry. This means having an effective home oral hygiene program combined with good eating habits. Maintaining regular check-ups is a sound economic move because small problems can be diagnosed and treated before they become expensive ones. Also avoid just "patching" and repairing, they are only stop gap measures and you'll be spending more money in the long run.

Man arraigned on drug charges

In Novi

A Westland man was arraigned Saturday on drug charges after he emptied his pockets for Novi police during a routine search.

David Orow, 35, was stopped for a routine traffic violation and taken into custody when police discovered an outstanding traffic warrant from Michigan State Police.

When asked to empty his pockets as part of the routine booking process, Orow turned over 10 baggies of marijuana and a package containing less than 50 grams of cocaine, according to reports.

Police also said he was carrying more than $3,000 in cash. Orow is charged with one count of possession of cocaine, a felony with a maximum penalty of four years in prison; one count of possession of marijuana, a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of one year in prison; and one count of possession of gambling paraphernalia, a misdemeanor carrying a maximum penalty of one year in prison.

A $10,000 cash bond was set on the first count, a $2,000 bond was set on the second count and a $1,000 bond was set on the third count.

Novi police are investigating a rash of reported thefts of purses and wallets from back rooms of stores at Twelve Oaks Mall.

Thefts were reported in Gala Hallmark, Herman's, Walden Books and Fingers.

In the first incident, three wallets were reported stolen from employees' purses in a backroom at Gala Hallmark on February 13. One wallet was later found in Detroit and two credit cards from another wallet were recovered by security personnel at Southland Mall.

Three purses were stolen from the backroom at Herman's Sporting Goods February 19. The purses were later found behind backpacks hanging in the store, but the wallets were missing. The thief made off with a $68 from one wallet; $70 in cash, a check book and a credit card from a second wallet; and $130 in cash, three credit cards and a drivers license were taken from a third wallet.

area blotters

In a February 19 theft of a wallet from the back room of Walden Books, the thief took $100 cash, a birth certificate, a credit card, car insurance, social security card and four charge cards.

Some $210 in cash and a charge card were taken from a wallet stolen February 20 from the back room at Fingers.

Two more thefts from construction trailers at the construction site of the Glen Oaks Luxury Apartments were reported March 1 and 4. Thieves have hit the construction site twice previously, taking more than $500 in copper fittings in early February.

In the most recent incidents, copper plumbing fittings worth more than $3,300 were stolen.

Some $2,300 worth of merchandise was stolen in the first incident. Police said the equipment was piled on a piece of aluminum which was used as a sled to haul fittings to a vehicle parked near the westbound exit ramp to Novi Road.

Fourteen bundles of copper tubing worth $1,015 were stolen in the March 4 incident. Police said the thief's tracks and any further evidence was obliterated by freshly fallen snow.

Homes in Cedar Springs again have been hit by the vandal who has plagued some residents more than two years.

Police said orange paint was sprayed on the garage door of a home on Buckminster and a 1979 Mustang at a neighboring residence.

Police said they followed small footprints in the snow, but eventually lost the track.

A $200 color television set and a $300 chain saw were stolen in the break-in of a home in the 20000 block of Meadowbrook. Police said entry was gained through a basement door.

An undetermined amount of items were stolen from a home in the 100 block of Wainwright. A relative who checked the home for the vacationing owner, said it appears that a stereo, typewriter, movie projector and snow blower were stolen.

The thief apparently gained entry through a broken basement window, police said.

A Pioneer power booster was allegedly stolen from a 1973 Plymouth parked at a Wixom Road home recently, according to Wixom police. In addition, officers said, thieves apparently attempted to remove a Pioneer AM/FM radio from the car, destroying the radio and damaging the car's dashboard in the process.

A 23-year-old Union Lake man told Wixom police he was assaulted March 6 by two Wixom men between 2:15 and 3 a.m., according to police records.

The man told officers he and a friend were walking to an apartment at the Village Apartments from the complex clubhouse when a car driven by a Wixom man allegedly tried to run over them. The victim said when he and his friend jumped out of the car's way, the driver of the car swerved and drove his vehicle up onto a pile of snow, where the car became wedged.

According to the victim, he waited to talk to the men in the car while his friend went back to the clubhouse to call police. While his friend was gone, the man told police, the driver of the car and his companions allegedly assaulted him.

The men in the car told police they had not tried to run the victim and his friend down, maintaining they honked to warn the men of the approaching car, police said. The driver of the car said he hit a patch of ice and drove off the road after passing the two men, according to reports.

Assault charges have not yet been filed, police said.

In addition, officers said, thieves apparently attempted to remove a Pioneer AM/FM radio from the car, destroying the radio and damaging the car's dashboard in the process.

A $150 AM/FM stereo cassette-radio was stolen from a kitchen table in a Wixom home February 29, according to Wixom police.

Thieves apparently entered the home through an unlocked door and removed the radio from the kitchen between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. February 29.

Police to try new radio system

By KAREN RICE

Police departments in Walled Lake and Wixom will soon join Novi police on an ultra-high frequency (UHF) station for radio transmissions from dispatchers to patrolmen.

Walled Lake Lake Police Chief Wilford Hook, the state Public Safety Frequency Advisory Commission has approved a request from Walled Lake, Wixom, Wolverine Lake and three other police agencies to use the UHF station currently being used by Novi, Lyon Township and South Lyon police.

The request has yet to be approved by the Federal Communications Commission, but Hook said he anticipates the FCC will okay the state commission's decision.

While Walled Lake, Wixom and Wolverine Lake originally applied for a separate frequency to be used by the three communities and police from Milford, White Lake Township and Kensington Metropark, the state commission denied the request and told the group to reapply for Novi's frequency.

"That made us go in for a frequency we didn't really want," Hook said, explaining that area police felt the Novi frequency already had a high volume of transmissions. Hook said he and other chiefs felt there are enough transmissions to call for two frequencies, although the state commission disagreed.

Wixom Police Chief Phil Leonard concurred with Hook, saying, "We know that Novi's frequency is going to be crowded. The number of transmissions now is crowded."

Wolverine Lake Police Sergeant Jim Davis said that while Wolverine Lake has been an applicant for use on the UHF system, the village department has not yet made a final decision on whether or not to switch over.

According to Leonard, the switch from low-frequency units to the UHF system is a necessity for Wixom. Leonard said officers have experienced problems reaching each other with their portable radios because of the low-frequency system's limitations; however, the more powerful mobile units installed in city squad cars have not had the same problems, he noted.

A low-band system works well over long distances, Leonard said, explaining that it is probably the reason the department adopted the system rather than the UHF system seven or eight years ago.

'We tried everything and (the low-band system) still wouldn't work right.'
— Phil Leonard, Wixom police chief

Low-band systems are not effective in large cities, Leonard said, because the buildings interfere with the airwaves' signals. On the other hand, Leonard explained, UHF systems are extremely effective within a short range but the signals don't carry much further than 25 miles.

"Each has its advantages and disadvantages," Leonard said.

Nevertheless, the disadvantages of the low-band radios are serious enough to prompt the three area departments to switch gradually over to the UHF system.

Novi police turned to UHF four years ago after several police officers filed grievances that the low-band system was unsafe. At that time, the city applied for a UHF frequency and has been using the system ever since. Lyon Township and South Lyon also are using the system.

The other departments opted to stick with the low-band system and try to work out problems with the equipment at that time.

In June 1980, two Wixom police officers filed a grievance when they were unable to contact each other with their portable radios during a potentially dangerous situation.

After that incident, Leonard said, Wixom police ran tests on the system to see how it could be improved and if it would be possible to keep working with the low-frequency system.

"We tried everything and it still wouldn't work right," Leonard said. "We conducted numerous tests."

The problem, Leonard said, is simply a function of the low-band system, which does not work well inside or near buildings.

"It's strange, it's really strange. You can see the guy but you can't talk to him (on the portable radio). I've experienced it myself."

With the new system, which should be in place within several months, that problem should be resolved, Leonard said.

"I think we're on the right track," Hook said. Wixom police expect to turn over to the UHF system gradually, he said. While the department will begin using portable radios as soon as possible on the UHF system, Leonard explained, mobile units in police cars will remain on the low-band system for perhaps as long as five years as the department purchases enough equipment to get started.

Portable UHF radios can be purchased through the state for approximately $1,300, while mobile units cost more than $2,000, Leonard said.

Both Wixom and Walled Lake police planned for purchase of the radios last year and have money allocated in their budgets this year for the equipment.

Should Wolverine Lake decide to join Walled Lake and Wixom in transferring to the high-band system, the police department will request money to purchase radios over the 1982-83 fiscal year at upcoming village council budget sessions, Davis said.

Police departments in Walled Lake and Wixom will soon join Novi police on an ultra-high frequency (UHF) station for radio transmissions from dispatchers to patrolmen.

Walled Lake Lake Police Chief Wilford Hook, the state Public Safety Frequency Advisory Commission has approved a request from Walled Lake, Wixom, Wolverine Lake and three other police agencies to use the UHF station currently being used by Novi, Lyon Township and South Lyon police.

The request has yet to be approved by the Federal Communications Commission, but Hook said he anticipates the FCC will okay the state commission's decision.

While Walled Lake, Wixom and Wolverine Lake originally applied for a separate frequency to be used by the three communities and police from Milford, White Lake Township and Kensington Metropark, the state commission denied the request and told the group to reapply for Novi's frequency.

"That made us go in for a frequency we didn't really want," Hook said, explaining that area police felt the Novi frequency already had a high volume of transmissions. Hook said he and other chiefs felt there are enough transmissions to call for two frequencies, although the state commission disagreed.

Wixom Police Chief Phil Leonard concurred with Hook, saying, "We know that Novi's frequency is going to be crowded. The number of transmissions now is crowded."

Wolverine Lake Police Sergeant Jim Davis said that while Wolverine Lake has been an applicant for use on the UHF system, the village department has not yet made a final decision on whether or not to switch over.

According to Leonard, the switch from low-frequency units to the UHF system is a necessity for Wixom. Leonard said officers have experienced problems reaching each other with their portable radios because of the low-frequency system's limitations; however, the more powerful mobile units installed in city squad cars have not had the same problems, he noted.

A low-band system works well over long distances, Leonard said, explaining that it is probably the reason the department adopted the system rather than the UHF system seven or eight years ago.

St. William's slates third enrollment

"There's no question as to whether it's going to open. It's definitely going to open."

With those positive statements, Sister Alice Kotwick signed up to ensure that St. William's will open September 8, 11 years after it was closed due to falling enrollment.

Parish officials say the lower-than-expected enrollment figures could be related to harsh weather during the weekend registration sessions in January or economic difficulties related to paying tuition, in addition to concern that the school won't reopen as planned for some reason.

However, enrollment has climbed slowly to its current level of just over 100 and Kotwick maintains a few scheduled registration weekends could boost the figures. This weekend, a registration drive will be conducted after Saturday and Sunday Masses at St. William's, she said.

Kotwick notes that there are already enough children signed up to ensure that St. William's will open September 8, 11 years after it was closed due to falling enrollment.

Walled Lake rink holds skateathon

The West Oakland Rinkery in Walled Lake will host its first Skate-A-Thon against Muscular Dystrophy (MD), beginning Saturday, March 13, and continuing for 12 hours until Sunday, March 14, at 10 a.m.

All proceeds from the event will go to support the Muscular Dystrophy Association's comprehensive program of free patient and community services as well as MDA's international research efforts toward the cure for neuromuscular disease.

The top 20 money collectors will receive prizes and all participants will receive a Jerry Lewis Skate-A-Thon button.

Bob and Kathleen Whipple, owners of the rink, said the support they have received from Walled Lake merchants has been outstanding. "Everyone seems to be willing to do as much as they can to defeat this dreaded disease; however, we still need more food and prizes for the skaters," they said.

Businesses that have donated to the event so far include Melvin-Fitzgerald Homecenter, The Mini Mall, Magglio's Stained Glass, The Skillet Family Restaurant, Little Caesar's and Penny Lane Grocery.

Complete instruction kits are available at the West Oakland Rinkery, located at 1172 Pontiac Trail. Anyone who would like to participate or make a donation should call the Rinkery at 624-0700 or the MDA office at 399-8800.

Broomfield reports academynominees

Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Birmingham) has selected three area young men to compete for appointments to the United States Naval Academy and the United States Air Force Academy.

Candidates are selected strictly on competitive basis, according to merit. Religion, race, political affiliation or economic status are not considered, Broomfield said.

Each academy has a selection board which makes the final selection of appointees. All appointments are announced before May 1 each year.

Ten nominees were selected to compete this year for one vacancy at the Air Force Academy and 15 nominees were selected to compete for two vacancies at the Naval Academy.

One of the nominees for the Air Force Academy is Steven Pendergrass, a senior at Novi High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Pendergrass of Glenhaven Circle.

Competing for the appointment to the Naval Academy are Matthew Janosik of Union Lake and Daniel Vogt of Northville. Janosik, a senior at Walled Lake Central, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Janosik of Edgewood Park Drive. Vogt, a senior at Northville High School, is the son of Mrs. Delores Richardson of Galway Drive.

Novi students reap art contest awards

Three Novi High School students have been cited for honors in the 55th annual National Scholastic Art Awards Program sponsored by Scholastic, Inc.

Novi's award winners in the nationwide competition were Sheila Mahan, Kim Lusky and Ginger Estep.

June Fox, Novi High School art instructor, reported that more than 4,300 works of art were submitted by students from 150 different schools in this year's competition. Some 1,000 works were singled out for awards and commendations.

Mahan, a senior, received a gold key in the competition for her ink drawing of a young boy.

A three-year art student at Novi, Mahan intends to continue her study of art after graduation and ultimately hopes to make it her career. Fox said Mahan is a dedicated art student who always has been willing to devote the time needed to produce the excellent work she does.

Lusky, another senior, received a certificate for her acrylic painting of a girl on formed canvas.

A four-year art student, Lusky specializes in painting, particularly water colors. "Her style is somewhat impressionistic, with her own special touch," said Fox, adding that she often includes a three-dimensional aspect to her work.

Lusky, who is also a weaver, plans to major in art at Central Michigan University next year.

Estep, only a freshman, earned a certificate for an ink drawing of fruit. Fox said the talented freshman enjoys drawing more than any other art form, was pleased at receiving a certificate and is looking forward to next year's competition. She also plans to pursue art as a career, Fox added.

The award-winning works of the three Novi students will be on display at Twelve Oaks Mall from March 11-18.

'Novi library is good investment'

Attention, Mr. and Mrs. (and Ms.) Novi and all the ships at sea.

You received over 400 percent interest on your investment of $265,000 in the Novi Public Library during 1981. That, at any rate, is the calculation of Library Administrator Dianne Bish in her 1981 annual report on the Novi Public Library.

"We are in the business of serving people, and our job is to gather books and materials and make them available to our users," said Bish in the annual report.

"If our borrowers would have had to purchase the books and services they received from the Novi Public Library in 1981, they would have spent over $1 million."

How did Bish arrive at those figures?

• Users borrowed 82,679 books. Buying them at an average price of $12.50, they would have spent $1,033,497.50.

• The library circulated 3,340 magazines. You could have paid $1.50 for each of them, but the library saved you $5,010.

• Patrons listened to 1,266 children's phonograph records and saved $6,963.

• The library secured 362 inter-library loans for its users; some books were not available at any price. Estimated cost—$4,525.

• The library answered approximately 10,600 reference and research questions, saving its patrons $26,500.

• The library meeting room was used by over 40 groups on 203 occasions. Estimated cost—$5,075.

'If our borrowers would have had to purchase the books and services they received from the Novi Public Library in 1981, they would have spent over $1 million.'

Dianne Bish, Administrator

• Twenty groups and classes toured the library—$200.

• Film programs were presented to 965 people at the library. In theater admissions, they would have paid $1,206.

• At least 200 children attended story hours (and parents could have spent more at other agencies' programs of a similar nature)—$1,000.

• The library sponsored special events during the year that were attended by more than 900 people—$4,500.

Add them all together, said Bish, and it comes to $1,088,466.70 in services provided by the library last year.

Bish also noted that her figures do not include the lease of a portion of the library facility to the City of Novi for city offices, thus saving the cost of building and maintaining a new city hall this year.

Despite a 17.9 percent drop in January 1982, Bish noted that circulation of the library continued to climb. Overall, the library experienced an average monthly increase in circulation of 5.2 percent.

Circulation reached an all-time high in July when the library circulated a total of 9,918 books, magazines, pamphlets, maps, phonograph records and cassettes.

Registrations also climbed during 1981 as 2,125 new library users were registered, bringing the total number of registered users to more than 7,000.

New acquisitions included 4,657 books; 7,479 periodicals (issues) and 1,099 vertical files (pamphlets, maps, etc.).

At the end of the year, the library had a total collection of 29,266 books, 389 periodicals (subscriptions), 10 newspapers (subscriptions), 33,000 vertical files and 180 records.

Bish said 1982 will bring more changes to the Novi Library.

"With the choice of a cable company to serve Novi having been made, attention can now be turned to providing programming for that method of communication," she said. "This will enlarge the horizons of the library."

"Further developments in the area of technology will make their impact on the library's services as well," she added. "It will be an exciting time in which to part of the library team."

Board tables sex ed panel

Walled Lake's Board of Education decided Monday to table a request for the appointment of a Sex Education Advisory Board until they've had an opportunity to determine their legal responsibilities.

Trustees Patricia Jackman, Betty Campion and Robert Cooper were appointed by Board President Kenneth Tucker to meet with Elementary Education Director Hugh Davies to discuss formation of the board. The committee will present its recommendation at the March 22 board meeting.

Formation of the committee was requested by Davies in order to bring about a revision of the district's sex education curriculum.

School districts are required by state law to provide "reproductive health" education, but the law also states that any changes in curriculum must be reviewed by a citizens advisory board before the changes can be implemented.

"Our reproductive health education curriculum was cut extensively several years ago, and we've had to rely on public health nurses from the county to provide instruction over the past two years," Davies explained.

Public health nurses will no longer be available to conduct the program this year, however, and the district must formulate a new program to meet state requirements, Davies said.

Support for development of a sex education in the Walled Lake Schools was expressed by Eleanor Brown, a former Walled Lake Education Association president and a teacher at Twin Beach Elementary School.

"One of the problems is that we need a coordinated K-12 plan for sex education," Brown said. "As things stand now, students receive several hours of instruction while they're in the fifth and sixth grades and then it's dropped."

"If we're to have a program of any value, it will have to run throughout the K-12 sequence."

Board members objected to formation of the committee because they did not receive information regarding the board's rights and responsibilities for setting up the citizens group prior to Monday's meeting.

Walled Lake to plan events for state week

Walled Lake city officials are planning to participate in Michigan Week activities, including an all-day exchange with high school students, in May.

While Walled Lake has participated in the student exchange programs in the past, the city has not been actively involved in planning or sponsoring activities related strictly to Michigan Week, to be celebrated May 16-22.

City Manager J. Michael Dorman suggested council look into initiating events or programs in Walled Lake during Michigan Week, which is designed to boost residents' pride and awareness of the state's history.

"It's really something you can be as creative on as you like," Dorman said.

Mayor Gaspare LaMarca, who offered to sit on a Michigan Week committee, and three council members will decide on some events the city could sponsor and help start a Michigan Week program in Walled Lake this year.

Council Members Dorothy Dingman, James Clifton and William Roberts also volunteered to set up an exchange day May 18 for Walled Lake students and will work with LaMarca to arrange events for Michigan Week.

NOVI-WALLED LAKE NEWS

Athletic teams' successes give optimistic note

In this winter of discontent...of record cold and record snow...of 16 percent unemployment and pervasive economic problems, it is often difficult to find sources of excitement and optimism.

The Walled Lake School District is no exception. Although six of the seven school board members have been working hard to foster a spirit of cooperation and unity, there have been setbacks to public perceptions nonetheless.

A teacher is charged with assault and battery against students; the former food services director is charged with embezzlement; and the board again finds itself having to discuss such matters as millage increases, closing schools, selling off property or soliciting wage concessions to come to grips with a projected 1982-83 budget deficit of some $2.9 million.

But in the midst of all this discontent, the athletic teams at Walled Lake Western and Central high schools have come through with flying colors to remind everyone that there are triumphs and successes for every defeat and failure.

Steve Emert's Viking cagers and Ted Feinley's Warrior basketball team got the ball rolling by winning conference championships in their respective leagues. The Vikings cop-

But neither the Viking nor the Warrior cagers can lay claim to the honor of being Walled Lake's most successful athletic team this year. That honor goes without question to the girls' volleyball team at Walled Lake Western.

Coach Ron Fuson's Warrior spikers have rolled to a perfect 18-0 record so far this year, gobbling up a Western Six title along the way. The Warriors' most impressive victories came last weekend, however, as they claimed a MHSAA district championship in a field that included both Howell and Brighton — two of the top 10 rated volleyball teams in the state.

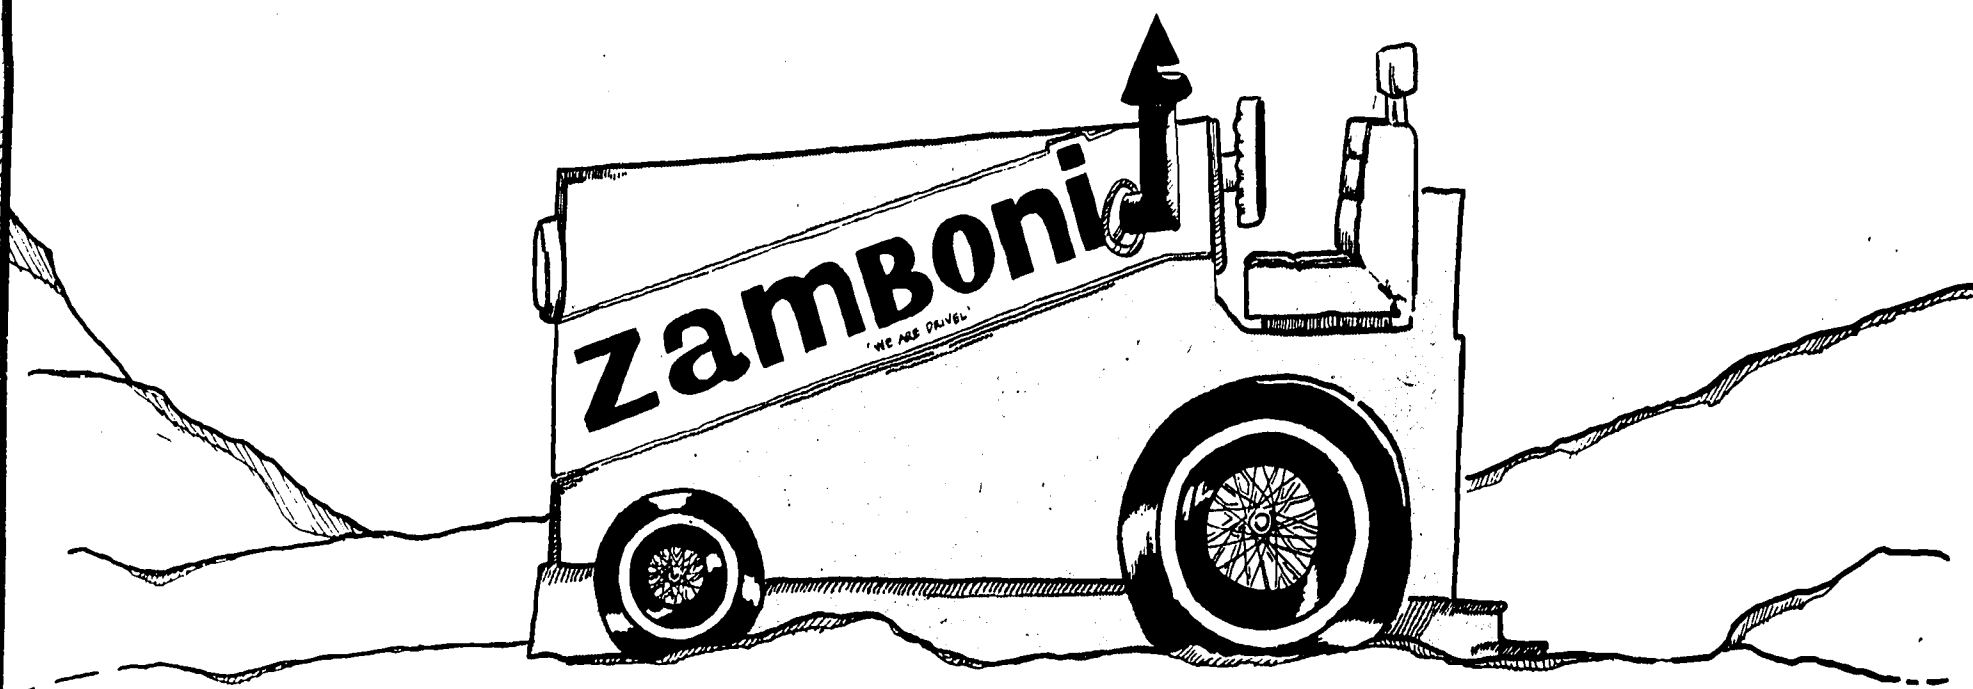

Are we making too much of the successes of local athletic teams by devoting this week's editorial page to their accomplishments? Perhaps so, but we're ready to withstand whatever criticism comes our way.

Walled Lake Superintendent Don Sheldon has instituted a policy of delivering "good news" reports, citing the accomplishments of students and teachers, at school board meetings. It's a good idea. In a world where too many people focus on the negative, it's worthwhile to step back occasionally and rejoice in the positive.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

"Look at this weather," she said, peering disgustedly at the snowflakes through the window of our palatial country estate as we partook of our evening repast.

"It's depressing, that's what it is," she continued. "The average temperature this time of year is 42 degrees, and we get a high of 21 during the day and another blizzard at night."

"Look at the bright side," I interjected, pausing both for dramatic effect and to refill my glass with Chianti.

"Why all the signs are pointing to wonderful things ahead. I can think of hundreds of reasons for optimism," I continued, warming to the self-imposed challenge.

"Spring is on the way. It's only a matter of time before the birds will be on-wing and the tulips are poking their little heads through Mother Nature's good fresh earth."

"The Tigers are in spring training and it looks like this is the year they'll go all the way."

"And the prime rate fell again today," I continued. "It's down to 16 and who knows how low it's going to go? I think we should start giving some serious thought to refinancing our mortgage."

"And 'The Recovery,'" I said, rolling right along. "The first quarter, that dreaded first quarter, is almost over. The second quarter is right around the corner. And by the time July rolls around...why the very thought of it makes me want to buy some Chrysler stock."

"She looked at me, warily. 'Do you really think so?'" she asked, glancing discreetly at the amount of wine left in my glass. (It was half full, of course).

"Do I think so?" I shot back. "I know so. Every sign is positive. Being optimistic is kind of like growing older." I explained, relying on contemporary philosophy to wax eloquent. "It beats the heck out of the alternative."

Opening up

By Stephen Cvengros

THE UPS, DOWNS AND ALL AROUND OF AMERICANA:

"We have a note here, John Belushi has died in Los Angeles. No details are available yet. We'll try, and get some more information for you. John Belushi is no longer with us."

Three nights later, Peter Townshend's stuttering through the lyrics, "Hope I die before I get old," on the same radio that had spilled its guts with the fatal news about the fallen Samaras warrior.

It all made more sense than the earlier announcement — "John Belushi is no longer with us." Just as if everyone in America should cross that name off their mental checklist of the living, Belushi — uhh-uh. He's not around anymore.

There are some frightening correlations out of this whole scenario. I plan to go to Los Angeles soon. I hope to hustle my tail off. I want to deal with some television and cinema comedy. I would like to be a success. But I don't want to die in some little Hollywood bungalow at 33.

Child prodigies don't exist anymore. Now America sucks down youthful, renaissance-type people. The heroes of the U.S. are the kind of guys that start cheeseburgers in their mouths, fall on the floor and gator or make the nation laugh with the lifting of an eyebrow. Belushi's no longer with us. Word has it that he was burning himself out.

America has charred another genius.

Remember that dastardly fiend — the energy crisis? Remember how we were going to have to resort to rationing? Remember the importance of even- and odd-numbered license plates? Well, deep in the backyard of the nation's oil barons gas prices have dropped off to under a buck a gallon. That news will likely turn-off people to the notion that an energy shortage in the future could surely exist.

The petro companies decided to holler "Wolli!" when the financial game wasn't looking too good. With the latest outcome, when the crisis gets really real — ain't no one gonna believe that them that oil wells are drier than the bottom of a bottle of Tequila at a rodeo.

Is the opposite of concessions, processions (as in funeral)? Frankly, I think this whole give back plan triggered by the nation's automakers is turning into a bigger sham than Sam and his famous Pharaohs. Much like the energy crisis, the need is probably real on some fronts — but being taken advantage of by numerous others. When all the dust settles, there's going to be some union wars again. My favorite of all concession requests is coming from The Detroit News, which is asking workers to take it in the pocketbook, but up to now has been unwilling to open its books to legitimize just how rough things are.

"...And another one's gone, And another one's gone, And another one bites the dust..."

Ah yes, a blast from the past. Remember when the Pontiac Lions had the area dancing in the streets to that tune? Well, the way things are shaping up, it might not be long before it gets some solid consideration for our national anthem.

I've been "newspapering" for about seven years now and all of the shootings that have been barraging the news scene are nauseating me. Several weekends ago, a daily ran a state trooper's alleged assailant's confession to the shooting on page three because I had filled the front page with a mass murder up north. Meanwhile, the afternoon rapping of a FIVE-year-old got shoved back to page five. (And didn't even make the other paper.)

I'm pretty ambivalent about taking guns away from people...or reviving the death penalty...but heaven help us, we've got to get this nation straightened out. This is one movie that doesn't guarantee that the good guys are going to win in the end.

Citizens should vote board members from office

To the Editor: The Walled Lake School District is continually mismanaged by the superintendent and school board members. The citizens basically have three choices: 1) Do nothing and let the district go down the drain; 2) recall all seven board members and start over again; or 3) continue to vote board members out of office each year in order to clean house, the best option now.

Last year, I and many other citizens worked very hard campaigning for school board candidates Jackman and Roddy because of their bold campaign promises and their slogan, "Management Won't Change, Change the Management."

Unfortunately, after they were elected, they changed their tune and became part of the problem instead of the solution. In fact, Jackman openly makes excuses for the superintendent and the very problems she boldly spoke against a few months ago to get elected.

It is indeed regrettable and inexcusable that the public was deceived. There is still a lot of hope. This June, two school board terms will again be up for election. I plan to support Merlin Reeds' school board for one seat. He shows great promise for having excellent ideas for intelligent leadership for our school district.

Mr. Reeds has much business experience and will be tooled by the suggestion of administrators who are used to pulling the wool over people's eyes and getting whatever they want. I am thoroughly convinced that Mr. Reeds will back up his words with action. As an example, he formed a citizens committee which did a superb job of research and study, resulting in the re-opening of the swimming pool.

Since two seats are up for election, it is imperative that another upright citizen runs for the school board. The problem is that the people who should be on the board don't want to be bothered, and those who do want to be on the board are usually people who wish to use the position for their own egotistical benefit.

There are 30,000 adults in this school district. Some of them were born to be effective leaders and it's about time they step forward. Are you one of them?

Route proposed

To the Editor: In response to the article in your paper regarding the repairs of Walled Lake Drive, I have a question and/or suggestion about the growing traffic problem. Has anyone considered a new route on the west side of the lake?

I live in the Loon Lake Road and Benstein Road area and must travel around the lake as the shortest route to most of my destinations. How about connecting Taft Road at Twelve Mile to West Road?

If that's not possible, could someone explain why. Even if it were a gravel road temporarily it would sure help. I dislike having to continually use Walled Lake Drive as much as the residents dislike the traffic.

If that is possible, I think it would be a beneficial alternate to both Walled Lake's and Novi's traffic problem and especially to a lot of living in the surrounding area but not living in those cities and having a chance to voice our opinions.

To compound the problem, four members of this year's board signed

Contract review?

To the Editor: Last year's Walled Lake Board of Education entered into a contract with the superintendent. They placed a provision in it to not allow this year's board of education to review the contract.

How can this year's board of education review the performance of the superintendent, required by law, when they can't review his contract which specifies his duties?

To compound the problem, four members of this year's board signed the contract last year prohibiting the performance of their own duties they swore to uphold.

Should this year's board of education challenge last year's board's actions? Could they be in breach of public trust?

Mrs. Janet Callahan should be congratulated for not signing this contract. One other board member did not sign the contract.

Petitions pass

To the Editor: Retiring Admiral Hyman Rickover recently expressed grave concern for the future, saying that the nuclear race is already so far out of control that "we'll probably destroy ourselves."

There are enough nuclear weapons now stockpiled to obliterate all life on earth many times over, yet we continue to build more. With the growing awareness of the devastating effects of a nuclear holocaust, whether by design or by accident, there is an urgent need to call a halt to the madness.

A petition drive is underway in Michigan to gather enough signatures to place a nuclear weapons freeze proposal on the November ballot — its passage would direct the Michigan legislature to call on the U.S. government to propose to the government of the U.S.S.R. a mutual and verifiable halt to the production and deployment of nuclear weapons.

Novi council postpones action on several topics

The Novi City Council meeting Monday may be remembered more for what didn't happen than for what did happen.

Faced with an agenda with a large number of issues requiring lengthy debate and consideration, the council decided to postpone or take no action on a number of items they believed could not be sufficiently covered Monday.

Items which the council decided to consider at a later date include: controversial amendments to the zoning ordinance which would allow outdoor storage in light industrial zoning districts under some cases; reconsideration of site plan approval request by Bob Evan's Restaurant; revisions to the city's acceptance policy for public utilities such as roads, storm drains and sewers; and authorizing the city attorney to proceed with legal action seeking an injunction or restraining order against the licensing of an adult foster care home proposed for six developmentally disabled and emotionally disturbed adults.

Council members agreed that each of the topics required thorough consideration and none of the issues could have been dealt with properly Monday.

City Manager Edward Kriewal was asked to reschedule those items for consideration at a later date.

Competition slated for Middle School

Not all the stiff competition takes place in the athletic arena. Novi Middle School South has two groups of academicians scheduled to test their knowledge before other middle school students this week in league competition.

A team of seventh graders and a team of eighth graders were on the road this week, traveling to their respective scholastic competitions.

Schools in the Liv-Oak league have held scholastic competitions in recent years to give students a chance to test their knowledge of social studies, science and English. Novi Coach Kathy Scullen said the competitions give recognition to students who excel in academics in the same manner that students are recognized for athletic achievements.

During the week's science competition students play Jeopardy, answering questions in physics, life science, biology and earth science. Seventh graders travelled to Scranon Junior High Monday. The seventh grade team members are Elaine Glotz, Amber, Kim Parker, Alison Tyler, Jeff Cohen, Amy Davies and David Heupel.

Eighth graders participating in the competition are Ken Polsinelli, Scott Bushman, John Snider, Stephanie LeBlanc, Robbie Dadds and Krys Welke.

Parson to Person... Space Travel in the Bible?

Do you remember when the world watched in wonder as our astronauts planted the American flag on the moon? That first step makes us consider how far man is capable of going. Did you know that there is a verse in the Bible that refers to a great potential in man to explore space? The scene is the Tower of Babel. This was an ungodly religious endeavor to unify man by connecting earth and heaven. On that occasion, the Lord said, "...this they begin to do; and now nothing will be withheld from them, which they have imagined to do."

Now, God was not suggesting that they could actually reach the spiritual heaven from earth (it does not feel the ancient's believe). Either they were very intelligent; but the Hebrew does suggest that man has the ability to reach out to the heavens by mechanical means, its space travel forbidden in Scripture? Not in so many words. But the desire for the conquest of space by rebellious men at the expense of trust and obedience to God caused God to intervene in judgment.

Will God intervene in human history again? Yes, He will. Jesus Christ will one day travel through space and time to keep His promise to return. The day may soon be here when believers will be "caught up to meet the Lord in the air" (I Thes. 4:13-18). What glorious space travel that will be.

The time seems near. Are you ready?

Taste Verdict: Merit.

Former higher tar smokers applaud MERIT as "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

Can a low tar cigarette provide the taste incentive to switch smokers from higher tar brands? Research proves MERIT can. Taste Debate Ends. Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers who switched from higher tar are glad they did. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands. Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Landslide. In addition, extensive unmarked-pack tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders. Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands. Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste. Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Milford couple says demand still strong in used-car market

Bill and Donna Saunders display 1958 Plymouth in their Colonial Motors showroom in Milford

By SUSAN KAUPPIA
Two years ago Bill Saunders, owner of Milford's Colonial Motors, was selling primarily special interest cars to collectors. Realizing that people today don't have money for "toys," Saunders revamped his business and decided to wholesale cars along with his regular used car sales.

Admitting to selling between 300-400 cars annually, the amiable 46-year-old auto buff points to long hours and hard work as keys to his success, along with his willingness to change to meet challenges. Initially, Saunders started out in Milford in 1966 with a Chrysler-Plymouth dealership. Although it was a success and he enjoyed his work, he decided to go out of the new car sales in 1977.

"It (used car sales) is a simpler business. You don't have the service hassle and you don't need as many employees," he explained. During the peak of his dealership days, Saunders and his partner-wife Donna had 12 men working for them. Now it's the two of them plus his nephew, Dan Saunders. "That's just the way I like, too," he smiles. Saunders' views over the years have changed too, especially with the depressed economy and how persons want to spend their money. "People can get a whole lot more car with a used one. The depreciation is off and it's a better value. While persons today can afford new cars, many won't spend the money. That's where I can help them out," Saunders continued. For the husband-wife team that celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last December, the pace is hectic to keep their lot and showroom full near the intersection of South Main and Huron. "Monday night we were in Roseville. I bought two cars in Ulica Tuesday night and two in Madison Heights Wednesday night. We're always on the go. "I couldn't function without Donna Lou. She's really an integral part of the business," Saunders said proudly of his wife. "She sells cars, drives cars home that I buy, takes care of most of the books and has a real good way with people. We work well together as a team." While they rely on "wanted to buy" ads in several different newspapers, the Saunders point to much business from word-of-mouth references. They also sell cars through the Flint auction on Wednesdays. "We're selling to a lot of dealers in the south. Eventually that's what we want to do—strictly wholesaling. You buy, you sell and it's done. Right now we work from 9 a.m. to 10 or 11 p.m. every night," Saunders said matter-of-factly. Sweethearts at their church and at Waterford High School who were married soon after graduation, the Saunders have spent an interesting life together. While he obtained his engineering degree at Le Tourneau Institute in Longview, Texas, Donna worked as a secretary to put him through school. "I bought a gas station down there, too," Saunders recalled his early business days. "Within six months, it was the second highest pumping station in the county and won awards for being the most consistently clean and well-kept." Following graduation, he went to work for Walker Manufacturing (exhaust systems) in Jackson as a project engineer. His next job was as a test and developmental engineer at the Chrysler Proving Ground in Chelsea. "Then I got crazy and with $5,000 got my Chrysler dealership. The rest is history," he laughed. When asked why his businesses always succeed, Saunders points to several reasons. "I buy strong cars. They may need minor paint work or a set of tires. But we make them look the best we can. "Then too, we have a lot of repeat customers. We try to make sure they get a good car and we do put a warranty on them. If they have a problem, we take care of it. I think we carry the big end. "I've also got people who are bringing their kids in to buy cars because people like to go back to a place if they've had good service. I guess those are some of the reasons we've been successful," Saunders commented. "We also enjoy the people we meet in this business and have made a lot of friends."

"While persons today can afford new cars, many won't spend the money. That's where I can help them out."
