

Citizens say taxes will force them off land

Kitty Mansfield, Clayton Mansfield, Edward Opperman and Frank Fink cannot afford their taxes.

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of stories looking at Novi's developing areas and how those changes affect those living in the path of progress.

By KATHY JENNINGS

A little red squirrel sits in the bird feeder, eating away.

"He'll sit there and eat all the sunflower seeds," says Frank Fink, looking out the window. "You can see his belly puff up."

A maple tree with wide branches and deep green leaves is beyond the bird feeder. Together they seem to remind Fink of just how much his wife thinks of her home of 34 years.

"There's that beautiful maple and a 50-year old apple tree; she goes out there and admires its crooked branches... Prudy designed this house. She went out and bought the windows even before she had the house. She knew where she was going to put them. It's a nice place, she just loves it here."

As they sit in the Fink's living room, residents of Section 15 remember when they first learned what it meant to live in the path of progress when Twelve Oaks Mall was under construction. The trucks loaded with gravel ran up and down Twelve Mile shaking the walls of their house so violently the plaster cracked, Fink recalls.

Now as development spreads west across Novi Road the Finks and their neighbors are wondering how long it will be before they are forced from their homes and property.

"They fully expect their land to be taken for taxes in the near future."

Prudence Konetschny Fink owns 4.9 acres at 43853 Twelve Mile. Her June tax bill was $58,431. More than $54,000 of that is a special assessment for paving, storm sewers and water mains in Section 15.

Clayton and Kitty Mansfield, 44009 Twelve Mile, own slightly less than 5.5 acres, and have lived there 17 years. Their summer tax bill was $91,300. Of that, $86,700 represents their share of the special assessment.

Edward Opperman, 44075 W. Twelve Mile, who owns approximately .8 of an acre, received a $12,000 tax bill, most of which also will go to the special assessment district.

All of them are at least one year behind in their taxes.

When taxes have not been paid for three consecutive years the land is sold at a county tax sale. (This year property with delinquent taxes dating back to 1979 was sold.) The tax bill for the first of the three years of unpaid taxes becomes the selling price for the property. After the sale the property owner

city in transition

Section 15 is 160 acres of property directly west of Twelve Oaks Mall. Section 15, along with the mall, makes up the heart of an area the city has dubbed the "Regional Center." The highest concentration of commercial and office development in the city is planned for the "Regional Center."

The city council voted in May 1981 to tax property owners in Section 15 for the installation of streets, water mains and storm sewers. The improvements are expected to cost approximately $5 million and will be paid back over 15 years.

has one year to redeem the property by paying the oldest of the three years of delinquent taxes.

The way these neighbors see it the city knows they cannot pay their taxes and is consciously driving them from their property.

"All through history, in a capitalistic society, the minority with capital controls the majority without it," Opperman contends.

"I make $26,000 a year. How can I pay one-half year's taxes at $91,000 when that's all I make?" Mansfield asks.

Finks says that before the special assessment district was formed taxes on his wife's property was in the neighborhood of $1,400 a year. Now her taxes are closer to $58,000 for six months, and Fink says his wife "doesn't know which way to turn."

"I've always been a law abiding citizen and tried to do the right thing," Fink continues. "But when the city looks like it is trying to steal our property from us what freedom do we have?"

"Is this Novi, Michigan or Novi, Russia?" Kitty Mansfield asks.

Ironically, the land where the neighbors live still is zoned for residential use, even though commercial development is going up around them. If their property were zoned for offices as the city anticipates it will be used in the future, their taxes would be even higher. Their tax bills have risen drastically because their assessments have risen as the price of property in Section 15 has gone up.

The city estimates property in Section 15 will be worth a minimum of $120,000 an acre once streets, water mains and storm sewers are in place.

But the neighbors on Twelve Mile think their property will be on the auction block for non-payment of taxes long before they are offered that kind of money for the land.

"It's like a cloud of buzzards waiting to take it for taxes," Fink says.

"We're already behind on our taxes;

Three compete for liquor permit

By PHILIP JEROME

Gerry Abel admits to feeling like a man about to run the 1500 meter high hurdles.

"There's a long way to go and a lot of hurdles to overcome," said Abel, who is attempting to put together the various elements necessary to develop a regional trade center in Novi.

"For a project of this size, you need a lot of help and assistance," he continued. "All the pieces have to fall together. If one piece falls apart, the whole project can fall apart."

Abel will attempt to add another "piece" to the project when he appears before the Novi City Council next Monday to request a liquor license for the proposed trade center.

Also scheduled to make presentations to the council for the liquor license are two restaurant chains, The Red Lobster and Chi-Chi's.

"The liquor license is totally critical," said Abel, who also is general manager of the new Sheraton Oaks.

"If we don't get the liquor license, our plans get a serious setback."

"But if we get the license, we'll schedule a meeting of all the parties involved to see how far we can go financially. We'll be taking a look at the total feasibility of the trade center proposal."

Abel is still juggling a lot of numbers to see if the trade center can be developed. Although plans are still tentative, he said the trade center, if it becomes a reality, will be constructed in close proximity to Sheraton Oaks.

Despite being cautious about plans to proceed with the project, Abel also admits that there are reasons for optimism.

First of all, he believes the concept of a regional trade center in Novi is totally valid.

Development of regional trade centers in conjunction with major hotels is something of a trend across the country. City officials earlier this year visited the Greater Pittsburgh Area Trade Center and Expo Mart in Monroeville, Pennsylvania, to get a feel of how a similar development would be applicable in Novi.

Further, the Michigan Women's and Children's Apparel Association has indicated its support for Abel's proposal, stating its interest in obtaining 40,000 square feet of office space and committing to utilize the exposition area 100 days per year.

Abel also is prepared to demonstrate that the project has financial support. At least one major financial institution has expressed its belief in the viability of the project and its willingness to back it.

Additionally, Abel said land availability does not represent a major problem. Options have been acquired for all the land necessary to construct the proposed regional trade center.

"So far, the pieces seem to be fitting together pretty well," Abel reported last week. "But there's a lot of work that has to be done, a lot of hurdles that have to be cleared, before we can make any final decisions on whether to proceed with the project."

"All we can do is go one step at a time and hope everything comes together."

Police suspect break-ins related

Police are investigating the theft of more than $1,600 worth of goods in two apparently related break-ins and an attempted break-in in northern Novi Friday.

A "skinny" white male, approximately 30 years old and 5-7 tall with straight dark hair cut in a bowl shape, is being sought in connection with the break-ins.

The man was seen at a home in the 43000 block of 12 1/2 Mile after apparently just committing a break-in there, according to police. When last seen the suspect was wearing a long sleeved sweatshirt and blue jeans.

The owner of the home told police she observed an unfamiliar vehicle in the driveway when she returned. The suspect emerged from the house as she got out of her car to look inside the suspicious vehicle.

Seeing the owner and a friend outside the home, the man jumped into his car and left the scene, driving a green station wagon with wood grain side panels believed to be a Chevrolet or Ford, police said.

He is believed to have taken four handguns valued at $1,450 from the residence, according to police.

Investigating officers said the man apparently entered the home by using a pipe wrench or channel locks to twist the door knob until it broke.

Police believe a second break-in Friday evening on DeGross may have been committed by the same individual. Stolen were a $200 television set, $20 in cash, miscellaneous papers and an undetermined amount of property.

The responsible party gained entry in the same manner used in the first break-in, according to police.

Police also are investigating the possibility that the attempted break-in of a residence in the 28000 block of Novi Road may be related to the first two incidents. The residence is north of Twelve 1/2 Mile.

The owner told police an attempt had been made to enter the home by forcing open the back door with large pliers or a pipe wrench. The lock on the door was damaged beyond repair, but the suspect was unable to gain entry, police said.

A man fitting the description given by the woman in the first incident was seen by youngsters at the home on DeGross, according to reports. The youngsters said the man came into their yard and told them he wanted to look at a house which was for sale. The man left after he was told the house was not for sale, reports indicated.

Anyone with information about a man fitting the description of the suspect should contact Novi police at 348-7100.

Pond maintenance may be impractical

By KATHY JENNINGS

Serious questions about the ability of private owners, such as subdivision associations, to maintain existing on-site drainage ponds have been raised by Novi's consulting engineers.

The city engineers reported recently that "the current condition of Novi's stormwater drainage facilities is considered to be only fair to poor and continues to deteriorate as times passes."

In a report detailing problems with the existing system, the engineers said most ponds would have to be re-designed and upgraded to current design standards before they could be properly maintained.

"The lack of a regular maintenance program instituted by subdivision associations or the developer...has rendered the basins to be mosquito-breeding, sediment-filled, stagnant bodies of water," reported City Engineering Consultant Cliff Seiber.

Even if associations initiated weed-cutting programs, they would be

'The lack of a regular maintenance program...has rendered the basins to be mosquito-breeding, sediment-filled, stagnant bodies of water.'

— Cliff Seiber, Engineering consultant

thwarted by the condition of the ponds, he continued. "Any weed cutting program...is in many cases impossible to implement because of the soft, marsh-like basin channels which have developed."

Seiber said the biggest problem in pond maintenance is that the bottoms of the ponds have eroded between the inlet and outlet pipes. Water collects in the channel in the bottom of the pond because it is lower than the outlet pipe, he added. Cattails and other aquatic life then grow in the stagnating water.

Although the city has no ordinances requiring maintenance of the basins in commercial and industrial property, maintenance can be enforced in residential subdivisions when a subdivision association fails to maintain the pond or refuses to do so, Seiber said.

However, Seiber noted it "appears questionable whether the city could require basins to be upgraded to current standards when initially the basin was constructed and approved under the old standards. Generally, annual maintenance programs would be difficult if the ponds were not upgraded."

The engineers further demonstrated, using numbers for comparison sakes, that it would cost less for the city to maintain detention ponds than private associations would pay.

They estimated that before the existing ponds could be maintained repairs totalling nearly $2,000 would be necessary for the average two-acre pond designed to support a 90-lot subdivision.

Annual maintenance for this pond is expected to run $2,600.

City enforcement of pond maintenance, through inspection, could cost $2,000, if not more, the consultants estimated.

The total cost for private maintenance of the pond would be in the neighborhood of $6,570 in the first year.

Meeting set to detail August ballot issues

Novi's Flood Control Committee has scheduled two public meetings to explain the Novi Flood Management and Storm Water Management Plan to interested voters.

The meetings will be held at the Novi Public Library on Ten Mile on Tuesday, July 27, and Thursday, July 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Purpose of the meetings is to explain the importance of Proposals A and B which will appear on the August 10 ballot.

The two millage proposals will raise the funds needed to implement the Flood Control and Storm Water Management Plan.

Members of the citizens flood control committee will make a slide presentation and provide a detailed review of the problems and proposed solutions to Novi's storm water management and flooding problems.

City engineers will be present to answer questions from the audience.

Everyone interested in the two millage proposals is encouraged to attend the meetings.

Novi Library buys microform reader

Have any microfilm you'd like to read? If you do, you can read it on the Novi Public Library's new microform reader and printer.

Purchased to go hand in hand with a Novi Historical Society project that involves microfilming and filing back issues of the Northville Record/Novi News, the microfilm reader can also be used for other library projects.

"When we get the microfilm done we've got the machine to read it," said Bill Gladden, historical society president. "It's a very valuable resource tool."

Library administrator Dianne Bish says the new machine replaces an older microfiche reader. "Before we had a small machine that only read fiche... this one reads film and fiche and will make a dry copy of both," she said.

Bish said the microform reader will pave the way for the library to get microfilm collections of more newspapers.

"We are thinking about adding the New York Times, Detroit News and other papers," said Bish. "We already have the indexes, but only some paper copies."

Mary Wilson and Jane Brown show off Novi Library's new microfilm reader.

Novi asks citizens to obey ordinance

The City of Novi is asking residents to comply voluntarily with an ordinance restricting storage of recreational vehicles in residential areas.

Recreational equipment such as boats, trailers and motor homes — the "whole gamut of recreational things" — are covered by the ordinance, according to Ordinance Enforcement Officer Alan Amolsch.

The ordinance permits recreational equipment to be parked anywhere on a residential premises for 24 hours for loading and unloading.

If the equipment is less than six feet tall, it may be stored in a driveway or a backyard. Equipment more than six feet tall must be stored in the backyard.

Residents on corner lots, which essentially have two front yards and no sideyards, must store recreational equipment in the backyard. Property owners on acreage parcels where there are no sideyard requirements can park their recreational equipment in a driveway.

Amolsch said the city has received a number of complaints from residents about improper storage of recreational equipment. "We would like people to comply voluntarily with the ordinance," he said. "If we enforce it, they could face a criminal misdemeanor charge, which carries a penalty of 90 days in jail, a $500 fine or both. We would not like to see people face that kind of thing."

The parking of recreational vehicles in residential areas was discussed by the Novi City Council recently at the request of City Attorney David Fried, who noted that it's a "policy question."

Fried reported that the ordinance enforcement officer has had difficulty determining how long a recreational vehicle has been parked on a given piece of property.

The question the ordinance enforcement officer sees, said Fried, is that it could be claimed the recreational equipment is being loaded or unloaded even when it is actually being stored.

"He feels he might spend around the clock surveillance of a vehicle to determine whether it is moved within 24 hours. He felt it would be an excessive cost."

Fried said in some instances "citizens have become very upset" about the storage of recreational equipment for periods exceeding that allowed in the zoning ordinance.

Council Member John Chambers did not address a specific problem, but alluded to an ongoing problem with storage of recreational equipment along "a major thoroughfare" and asked why the matter had not been dealt with earlier.

Fried said the matter had not come to his attention until recently.

Novi police clerks given promotions

Two clerks in the Novi Police Department have received promotions, Assistant City Manager Craig Klaver announced.

Jacquelyn Halterman and Deborah Ruby both have been promoted from typist clerk to senior typist clerk.

The promotions were made on the basis of competitive examination.

Ruby worked for the Novi Police Department for more than five years, starting as a dispatcher and then being transferred to the records department as a typist clerk two years ago.

Halterman has been a typist clerk during her five years as a police department employee.

The promotions are effective July 15.

Township fears airport may prompt annexation

Both Lyon Township and Wixom Township border, are part of a statewide strategy to improve local airports in an effort to attract industrial development.

Government officials contend that an expanded Spencer facility would attract development to the area, creating jobs and increasing the tax base.

But Lyon officials are worried that the tax base and development the township might receive as a result of a bigger and better Spencer might be annexed by the City of Wixom. After investing the township's time and the taxpayers' money into expanding Spencer, Lyon may lose its "investment" to Wixom because the city can furnish utilities, stated Lyon officials.

Representatives from Lyon Township, Wixom and the state have been working on a feasibility study for an expanded Spencer facility for the past few months. The plans to expand Spencer field, located in Wixom on Pontiac Trail just east of the Lyon Township border, are part of a represents the township on the Spencer Airport study committee.

Board Member Robert Secombe said the township is concerned about losing its tax base to Wixom. He added that the threat of annexation by cities makes it difficult for townships to develop areas on their borders.

Lyon Township just went through an annexation attempt with the City of South Lyon. The city petitioned the State Boundary Commission (SBC) for the annexation of 733 acres of township territory. In a decision announced July 7, however, the SBC only approved 105 acres of the request. All of the approved acreage is vacant property.

In an attempt to address the Spencer annexation issue, an agreement was drawn up that would attempt to stabilize the mutual borders between Wixom and the townships of Lyon, Commerce and Milford. Under the agreement, the four municipalities would agree not to change their mutual

Cooper takes on president's job

By PHILIP JEROME

The new president of the Walled Lake school board has strong opinions about the quality of education in the local district.

"Basically, I think the quality of education is terrific," said Robert Cooper, who was elected board president at the annual organizational meeting last week.

"All four of my children have graduated from Walled Lake and they've all done well or are doing well in their chosen fields. That tells me that they were well-prepared in high school."

"I can't think of any other schools I would rather have my children attend."

Cooper, who is president of an engineering firm, has served on the Walled Lake school board for the past 10 years, but never before as board president.

"And, he maintains that 1982-83 is going to be a good year for the Walled Lake Schools even though he acknowledges that there are problems which must be faced."

"I think we have a very good school district, but I'm aware that not everyone shares my opinions."

— Robert Cooper, Board president

"We've had a lot of internal disputes on the board, both openly and behind the scenes, over the past several years, but I believe that 90 percent of them have been related to finances," he said.

"Not knowing where we stand financially and concerns with how we are going to accomplish the necessary cuts have created a great deal of tension."

"I think that's behind us now. I think we have a good handle on where we stand financially and that will help us deal more effectively with the future."

Asked to identify the major issues facing the board in 1982-83, Cooper stated that finances are still primary.

"The 1982-83 budget process is not yet complete in that we are still negotiating with the various bargaining units for concessions," he said. "After those negotiations have been completed, we will be able to finalize the budget for the current fiscal year."

"The next step," he continued, "will be to move directly into preparation of the 1983-84 budget."

It is at the point the board begins review of 1983-84 finances that attention will be focused on the instructional program, Cooper notes, for example, that a new elementary science curriculum has been accepted by the board but cannot be implemented because funds are not available for the purchase of textbooks.

The board also has adopted a "Street Law" textbook for secondary social studies and a reproductive health education program that cannot be implemented due to lack of funds.

"What the board will have to do," said Cooper, "is take a long, hard look at programs in relation to available funds and then set about the process of prioritizing them."

A second area which Cooper identifies as important in 1982-83 is public relations. He said he is aware that some people are dissatisfied with the district and will work in conjunction with Superintendent Don Sheldon to try to change those attitudes.

"I think we have a very good school district, but I'm aware that not everyone shares my opinions," he said.

"I think we have to address our public image, and I've already made plans with Dr. Sheldon to meet with various civic groups and make them aware of the opportunities we offer."

"People need to realize that they are part of this school system and we need them as much as they need us to provide their children with a good education."

"Everyone who has concerns about the district should be encouraged to tell us what we can address them. We may not be able to resolve all their concerns, but we'll make every effort to find out what they are and do something about them."

Funds still offered for rental rehabs

There's money to be had in Walled Lake. Only $10,000 of the $96,000 allocated to the city for a program designed to upgrade rental property has been spent, according to John Hazelroth, coordinator of the program.

Hazelroth says he has made "informal commitments on about $80,000" of the remaining $86,000, "but they're not solid." He is urging landlords in the city to consider sprucing up their rental property and financing it through the 100 percent deferred loan program he is administering.

If the money isn't used by next spring, Hazelroth said, Walled Lake will lose it.

"It's embarrassing more than anything else," he said. "It'd be a shame because Walled Lake can't afford to throw away $50,000."

Hazelroth, who is now community development director in Novi, said he had received many inquiries from landlords who live around the lake — a section of the city that is in a special target area and not eligible for the program. The funds can only be allocated to rental homes and apartments in the city that are outside the target area, he said.

So far, Hazelroth has helped one landlord on Quinl bring a house up to code and is seeking bids on a plan to improve the Vicary Apartments, the brown apartment building on Pontiac Trail next to the Lakeshore Restaurant. Several other projects are under consideration, but Hazelroth said there remains about $30,000 of the program's money that he is administering.

"Time is running out," he said. "If we don't get some commitments..."

The program provides 100 percent deferred loans to landlords, allowing them to borrow a certain amount of money and pay the sum back at the time of sale of the house.

Loans of up to $7,000 for single family units and up to $3,500 per unit for multiple developments can be obtained under the project terms.

There is no economic ceiling that would refuse the loans to landlords with higher incomes, Hazelroth said. Money for the loans is part of a federal grant program designed to provide improved low cost housing to renters.

For more information on the loan program, call Hazelroth at Novi City Hall, 349-4300.

DENTAL IMPLANTS

Q. What are implants?
A. Actually dental implantology dates back as far as Egyptian times. Evidence of such dentistry has been found on unearthed mummies. With today's modern techniques the dental implants are made of metal or vitreous carbon directly into the patient's jawbone where teeth are missing. The implant becomes a permanent structure and the portion that extends acts as an anchor for a fixed bridge, a single crown, or even a support for dentures. These artificial teeth can then feel and function almost like natural ones. Implants promise to play a larger role in the future.

Rehab squeezes through permit process

By KAREN RICE
Wolverine Lake Village's plan to attempt a lake drawdown for the third consecutive year apparently is being squeezed by in-fighting among divisions of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

McLellan last week told council members that DNR officials had informed the Wolverine Lake Board the legal body coordinating rehabilitation of the lake there is some pressure within the department to eliminate or reduce the number of permits issued to draw down lake levels.

Engineer sues village

A three-year-old disagreement between Wolverine Lake Village and a former lake rehabilitation engineer has resulted in a lawsuit.

permitted the village to remove stumps from the lake bottom. During its 1980-81 drawdown, the village took advantage of that provision by taking out nearly 1,000 stumps.

Novi's plan to control stormwater drainage by establishing a system of regional detention ponds has been praised by Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn.

Pay disparity irks principals

By PHILIP JEROME
Why are principals in the Walled Lake School District asking to be reassigned to the classroom?

'The pay differential between a teacher at the maximum MIA (master's degree) level and a principal at the maximum level is only about $2,200 per year,' said David Crawford, principal of Glangery Elementary and chief negotiator for the WLSAA.

Commerce Fire Chief Clarence Kuttkuhn's request to step down from his position has been tabled for the third time by Commerce Township trustees.

Villager mows down enemy lake weeds

By KATHY LAVEY
Eight to 12 hours a day, almost every day, Mike Klavitter can be found chugging slowly around Wolverine Lake in a pale green contraption that looks like a cross between a pontoon boat and a piece of farm machinery.

Michael Klavitter (inset) puts Wolverine Lake's temperamental weed harvester through its paces either. Since the Wisconsin company that made the harvester has gone out of business, the village has had problems finding replacement parts. And if the harvester breaks down on the lake, Klavitter is literally stuck.

Moonlight romance

What setting could be more romantic than Walled Lake at night with moonlight glittering on the water? It apparently did the trick for these two young lovers, who spent a summer evening surrounded by a starlit evening.

Wixom tries to resolve lake suit

Residents in Wixom's Rolien subdivision have asked the city's assistance in preserving their access to Loon Lake.

City Attorney Thomas Connelly noted last week that the request was turned down because city councils are not empowered to vacate easements which terminate at a lake.

Hotel fires can be deadly, but guests of Novi's new Sheraton Oaks needn't spend too much time worrying about fire safety at the hotel.

Invitation sparks 'controversy'

It seemed like a simple invitation.

When the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce invited Commerce Township to become a "municipal member," the last thing anyone expected was controversy.

Office park developers offer to pay higher taxes

It's not every day a property owner offers to have his taxes raised. But then it's also not every day a multi-million dollar development is in the position of being delayed for the sake of $3,000.

The law offices of Sullivan and Leavitt, P.C., threatened to go to the Michigan Tax Tribunal if the city did not lower the attorneys' share of a water main construction project from $7,541 to $4,165.

Their trip to the tribunal would have prohibited Novi from selling bonds for the project which was expected to cost approximately $688,000.

Orchard Hill Place, the high technology office park development at Eight Mile and Haggerty, a major taxpayer in the same special assessment district, offered to pick up the difference between the original assessment and the one proposed by the attorneys. In return the lawsuit would be dismissed so the project could proceed.

City Attorney David Fried told the council recently "both sides agree to it" and asked council to consider authorizing the mayor and the city clerk to enter into an agreement to decrease Sullivan and Leavitt's assessment to an amount agreeable to the affected parties.

"Orchard Hill Place is anxious to see this (special assessment district) proceed and (Sullivan and Leavitt) are the only ones protesting the assessment to the Tax Tribunal," Fried said.

'It's not normal for a taxpayer to say increase my taxes, but since the taxpayer believes it's to his benefit I think we should go along with it.'

— David Fried, Novi City Attorney

Council Member John Charters suggested the "principles involved in special assessment should be followed consistently."

Fried said the city could defend its position that the law firm receives a benefit in proportion to its assessment, "but their filing an appeal with the tribunal prevents the project from being completed. We can't sell the bonds and that is a jeopardy for the other property owners in the district."

Fried added that the $3,000 at issue is "small compared to the assessment of Orchard Hill Place. It's not normal for a taxpayer to say increase my taxes, but since the taxpayer believes it's to his benefit I think we should go along with it."

Fried said the city would not be compromising its position on special assessments since the assessment has drawn only one appeal and the situation is "unique."

The city has approved special assessment districts for water mains, sewers and road in the area. The low bidder on the project came in at $1.06 million, approximately 25 percent below the city's estimate.

Rainbow Construction Company of Livonia, the low bidder, has said it will construct the street system in the special assessment district for $428,888, sanitary sewers for $309,097 and the water main for $330,946.

The city's bond counsel has recommended the city revise the assessment roll, reducing each taxpayer's share, since bids came in so far below the engineers' original estimate.

Commerce okays cable contract, work begins

The 12-community west Oakland cable television study group cleared a hurdle last week when the Commerce Township Board of Trustees agreed to enter into a contract with cable consultant Carl Pilnick.

Commerce's approval, given after a 6-1 vote with Trustee Richard Higginbotham objecting, gives the cable study a green light. Pilnick has already begun work on his study and is in the process of analyzing demographic data of the study group area. He also will be questioning school systems and education institutions on their cable needs.

Commerce was the last of the 12 communities to agree to hire a consultant to

'There appears to be nothing here that the consultant wouldn't agree to, or I think there wouldn't.'

— Phil Adkison, Commerce attorney

study and make recommendations on setting up cable television in the west Oakland area that runs from Lyon Township to Keego Harbor and from Walled Lake to Highland Township.

Before agreeing to participate in the consultant's contract, the township board retained an attorney specializing in cable laws to review the document. While the cable attorney found "nothing unusual" about the contract, according to the township's legal counsel Phil Adkison, he recommended some minor wording changes be considered when Commerce enters into a contract with a cable company.

"There appears to be nothing here that the consultant wouldn't agree to, or I think there wouldn't," Adkison said. "As I view it, frankly, they're rather minor suggestions."

He said from a legal standpoint, Commerce could do one of three things: approve it as is, request the suggestions be added and ask the other 11 communities to okay them, or approve it and add a letter referring to the suggestions, asking they be incorporated further down the line.

Higginbotham then called for trustees to adopt the contract subject to the changes the cable attorney had recommended, however, his motion died for lack of support.

A later motion to approve the contract and include a letter pertaining to the cable attorney's comments was approved by trustees, 6-1, with Higginbotham casting the opposing vote.

Commerce Township, like the other

11 communities in the study group, will be able to withdraw from the informal consortium while the study remains in its first phase.

That phase will cover a planning and feasibility study designed to show the communities how they will best be served by cable television. Until that report has been completed, Pilnick said at a study group meeting, there is no way to tell the best configuration of a west Oakland consortium. He will make that recommendation after phase one has been completed.

Walled Lake, Wixom, Wolverine Lake also are among the communities covered by the west Oakland group.

Lake hours hearing set

The Department of Natural Resources will conduct a public hearing on a proposal to extend hours for speed boat use on Wolverine Lake August 4 at 7:30 p.m. at the village offices, 425 Cleary Road.

Village council members are encouraging residents to attend the meeting and offer comments on whether speed boats should be allowed on the lake until 8:30 p.m., rather than the present deadline of 7:30 p.m.

If turnout for the meeting is too large to be contained in council chambers at the village offices, the meeting may be conducted in the parking lot.

High-speed boating on Wolverine Lake is prohibited between 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Daylight Savings Time and has been since 1974 when the village fell under the Marine Safety Act. The act, which includes regulations on operating hours among other things, is imposed by the DNR but enforced by the village through its own ordinance.

However, a number of villagers now oppose the cut-off rule, which effectively prohibits waterskiing and other water sports early in the evening on weeknights. Council Member John Coxeter has been pushing since April for a lake hour extension.

"It's got to be a lake for everybody," Coxeter said in April. "We've got to equal it out a little bit. This is the only lake I know of that says you can't go waterskiing when you want to."

A handful of villagers showed up at that meeting to protest an extension in hours, contending that the lake should be kept quiet during weeknights after 7:30 p.m. They were outnumbered by more than two dozen residents in favor of the extension.

The village sent a letter to the DNR seeking a change, but DNR representatives declined to initiate a change. So, the village requested a public hearing, the date for which has been set for August 4.

Three-week coma lifts from Novi boy

Ten-year old Scott Koller of Novi came out of a coma last Thursday, but remains at Mott's Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor where he is undergoing therapy.

Koller was injured when struck by a car while riding his bicycle near the Ten Mile/Meadowbrook Road intersection June 24.

He was taken to Botsford Hospital and subsequently transferred to Mott Children's Hospital where he remained in a coma for just over three weeks. He underwent surgery for an epidural hematoma July 6.

He began responding to questions and commands early last week and came out of the coma Thursday.

Koller is now receiving extensive physical, occupational and speech therapy, according to his mother, Gloria Koller. He is in a rehabilitation unit at the hospital, where his therapy is coordinated, Mrs. Koller explained.

"He's doing real well. He's already asking to come home," Mrs. Koller said.

It is not known at this time when Scott will be released, Mrs. Koller said it is "not practical" for him to come home as long as he must undergo extensive therapy.

She said that when he is released it probably will be for one day at a time and there is a possibility he will be allowed to come home for one day this weekend. If his condition continues to improve he may be allowed to spend weekends at home in the future, she added.

"We'll just have to see how it goes," Mrs. Koller said.

Pool open, operating and showing a profit

The community swimming pool at Walled Lake Western High School is not only open and operating — it's showing a profit.

According to figures released to the Walled Lake Board of Education, the swimming pool fund is $7,960.89 to the black through June 30, 1982.

Specifically, the report shows a reserve of $22,949.15 compared to expenditures of $14,088.26.

The largest source of revenues has been user fees which total $17,870.40. Rentals have brought in an additional $4,178.75 in revenues.

Pool personnel (instruction, lifeguards and lockerroom attendants) have been the largest source of expenditures at $8,108.33. Other expenses are custodial salaries ($4,283.27), supplies ($1,353.83) and telephone ($142.83).

In addition to the surplus operating expenses, the swimming pool fund has a reserve of approximately $8,033. The fund consists of money raised by a citizens group last year to pay for the re-opening of the pool which had been closed almost three years ago due to budgetary considerations.

Novi renews pact with cab company

The City of Novi has renewed its contract with the Community Cab Company to provide transportation at reduced rates for senior citizens.

Novi has agreed to subsidize nearly $11,000 worth of senior citizen cab rides. Seniors pay $1 in cab fare for transportation within the city. Normally, cab fares within city limits are $3.

The city budgeted $8,000 in general fund money for the cab subsidy earlier this year.

City officials recently were notified they would be eligible to receive nearly $3,000 more in municipal credits.

The municipal credit program is based on an attorney general's ruling that money collected for regional taxes on license plates and vehicle title transfers must be returned to cities in the form of credits.

The municipal credit was funded by the legislature in 1977 to support public transportation programs in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. Funds were allocated on the basis of population.

The attorney general subsequently ruled the tax was unconstitutional and the money was placed in escrow while the legislature developed a constitutional method for disbursing the money.

Funds collected between July 1, 1980 and November 15, 1980 which were not in dispute were released to local municipalities. Some $2,918 was returned to Novi under that program.

When asked to indicate how the funds would be used, the city responded that they would be used to support an existing program — the taxi subsidy for senior citizens.

The cab service was initiated after the city received an $8,000 grant through the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority's Municipal Credits program in October 1980.

The program originally was to end in June 1981 but was continued when approximately half the original grant remained unspent. However, the funds ran out this February. At the urging of local seniors the council decided to continue to subsidize cab fares.

Seniors told the council they are dependent on the subsidized cab service for transportation. Many said that they could afford the $1 fare, but the $3 fare was beyond their means.

Con artist works scam with ministers, banks

Novi police are warning churches and banks to beware of a con artist who asks ministers to stand behind his checks and then cashes the bad checks at local banks.

Corporal Jack Grubb said the suspect sought in connection with the bad-check scam is 38-year-old Kenneth R. Burchfield of Seattle, Washington. In the last four to five weeks, he is suspected of cashing $8,000-$9,000 in checks using the church and bank scam, Grubb said.

Novi police learned Burchfield was in the area when he went to a church recently and asked the secretary to see the minister. The man allegedly told the secretary he had just moved from Seattle where he had a successful insurance agency and wanted to start a similar business in Novi.

After securing the names of several local banks from the secretary, he went to the National Bank of Detroit office on Grand River and asked to open an account, offering to write a check for $5,000 so he could draw from it.

When the bank refused to allow him to draw from an account that size without waiting 15-30 days for the check to clear, the man returned to the church and told the secretary he had $30,000 in an account in Seattle and did not understand why the bank would not cash his check.

Grubb said the man followed the secretary's suggestion and tried Manufacturer's Bank, which also refused to cash his check. He then returned to the church and allegedly told the secretary she could authorize his checks since the minister was not in.

Shortly later, Manufacturer's management called Novi police and said they had received a bank bulletin alerting them to watch for the suspect. After subsequent investigation, Grubb said that police found the man has a long record of arrests for larceny including stolen cars, forgery and counterfeiting.

Currently, there are two warrants for his arrest for sexual assault from the State of Washington and no-account checks from Holland, Michigan, Grubb reported.

City beefs up coverage, lowers insurance costs

Wixom will have more insurance and lower premiums during the 1982-83 fiscal year as a result of action last week by the Wixom City Council.

Specifically, the council voted 5-0 to place the city's insurance program with the Maplewood Agency, a firm based in Plymouth.

Assistant to the Mayor Stephen Bonczek said the Maplewood Agency was selected after "an extensive analysis" of the city's insurance coverages and needs was conducted.

"The extensive effort in risk management," Bonczek told the council, "has resulted in a net premium reduction to the City of Wixom of 27 percent ($2,560) compared to 1980-81 and 11 percent ($6,711) from 1981-82.

"These cost savings were accomplished even though coverage was increased substantially," he added.

Bonczek also cited the qualifications and experience of the Maplewood Agency in submitting his recommendation.

"As you are aware, the provision of insurance service is comprised of more than transmitting policies and collecting premiums," he said. "With the new program... the city will have available professional assistance in all areas of risk management."

Bonczek said he conducted an analysis of all city insurance policies to determine the most cost-effective approach that still would provide comprehensive coverage.

"Upon completion of the analysis, I discovered several serious deficiencies in liability coverage that were contrary to what the agent stated the city was purchasing," he reported.

"The city initiated action in February 1982 to partially correct coverage deficiency in the area of police professional liability," he continued.

"The remaining deficient coverage in the umbrella excess policy has been corrected for the 1982-83 fiscal year.

The council subsequently voted 5-0 to adopt Bonczek's recommendation and approve payment of initial premium deposits to the Maplewood Agency for 1982-83 insurance programs.

Chamber concert slated

A concert of chamber music will be presented at the Faith Community United Presbyterian Church this Sunday at 3 p.m.

Performing will be violinists Ann Ourada and Glenn Basham, both of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO), flutist Leelo Basham and pianist Fontaine Laing.

She has recorded with members of the DSO and soloed with the Oakway and Pontiac-Oakland symphonies. She has Master of Music degrees in piano and chamber music from the University of Michigan.

Fontaine Laing, a Novi resident, has performed on many chamber music series such as Brunch with Bach, Cranbrook and the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House. She has recorded with members of the DSO and soloed with the Oakway and Pontiac-Oakland symphonies. She has Master of Music degrees in piano and chamber music from the University of Michigan.

Glenn Basham, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, was a winner in the Oakway Symphony contest last year and has soloed with the Oakway Symphony. He joined the DSO in 1980 and has performed in many Detroit area chamber music concerts.

Leelo Basham is a graduate of the North Carolina School of Music. She performs with the Rochester House. She has recorded with members of the DSO and soloed with the Oakway and Pontiac-Oakland symphonies. She has Master of Music degrees in piano and chamber music from the University of Michigan.

Person to Person... Sunday Evening

Dr. James H. Luther

There are a number of things more entertaining than a Sunday Evening Service; like:

- television, sports
- or a party with friends!

Maybe we could do something about that! Perhaps a committee could be appointed:

- a "Promote the Evening Service" committee;
- or, "Support Your Local Pastor" committee;
- even a, "Church Entertainment Is Best" committee...

But then again, maybe we aren't in that business... the entertainment business. Come to think of it, I can't remember that word, "entertainment," in the Great Commission of our Lord.

So, we'll not try to compete; just complete the task that Jesus gave: preaching, sharing, singing, and fellowship...

Feeding the sheep! I hope you'll be back for supper next Sunday. It's far better than entertainment.

Police report man assaulted in knifing incident

In Novi

A Novi man suffering from a knife wound in the abdomen and cuts on his left hand was found lying in the road at the corner of Lashbrook and Parsonville by Novi Police last week.

The man told police he was stabbed while on the beach near his home. He was transported to Providence Clinic and later transferred to Providence Hospital for surgery. Police said the surgery was successful.

area blotters

Approximately $500 in appliances were stolen from a home in the 43000 block of Thirteen Mile.

The owner told police she had returned from vacation and found the front door open.

Police said the thief broke a fruit cellar window, entered the basement and then entered the residence through the back door. The house was totally ransacked and television sets valued at $300 and $50 were stolen. Damage was estimated at approximately $100.

A 1987 clarinet, a $300 vacuum cleaner and a $25 watch were stolen from a home in the 100 block of Maudlin. The thief gained entry by pulling out a panel on the front door so he could reach in and unlock the door.

Also stolen was an undetermined amount of jewelry and an iron.

An estimated $350 worth of damage was done to a bulldozer parked on Novi Road between Nine and Ten Mile. The owner told police something was placed in the fuel tank and down the exhaust pipe. Two batteries also were stolen.

A man claiming to be a Home Box Office (HBO) employee took $200 worth of cable equipment from a home in the 22000 block of Heatherwood.

The homeowner told police she received a call at 10 p.m. July 12 from a man saying he would be out the next day to fix their cable equipment. The woman told police she was suspicious of anyone calling at that hour and told her babysitter to not let anyone enter the house who said he was from HBO.

At 11:25 p.m. the next day a man came to the house claiming to be from HBO. When the babysitter denied him entrance, the man said he did not need to get in the house and went directly to the roof, took two pieces of equipment and left without checking to see how it affected television reception.

The owner arrived home from work and contacted HBO. They said none of their employees had been to the house. They determined a transmitter box and a dish had been taken from the roof.

The man was described as a white male, between 30-35 years of age with brown hair, a brown mustache and buck teeth. He was wearing a light blue work shirt with blue jeans and drove a light blue van.

Clothing was stolen from the backseat of a car parked in the 23000 block of Stonehenge and burned on the ground next to the vehicle. The automobile was not damaged.

Police were asked to investigate a violation of the ordinance against firing firearms in certain parts of the city and found two young men shooting at turtles with a pump-style BB rifle. The men were 21 years and 18 years of age. The police officer advised the men of the weapons ordinance and advised them not to use weapons to harm animals again.

Thieves broke into the alternative education trailer at Orchard Hills Elementary School. Although district employees said they did not know if anything had been taken, books had been removed from their shelves and thrown throughout the trailer. Entry was gained by knocking in a Plexiglas window on the south side of the building.

In Wixom

A trial date has been set for August 2 in the case of a Wixom man accused of third degree criminal sexual conduct involving a 14-year-old girl.

The case against Steven Duman, a Wixom DPW worker until the charges were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court in March, is scheduled to appear before Judge Hilda Gage August 2. Duman allegedly assaulted the girl while she was babysitting for his girlfriend, according to police records. Although officers have based prosecution on a January incident, the girl told police she allegedly had been assaulted by Duman prior to that incident, records show.

Duman is not currently working for the city.

Wixom police are investigating a possible larceny by conversion involving the theft of a $90 Sony cassette stereo player.

The owner of the stereo told officers the machine had been lent to a friend in February, but never returned. He later found the radio at the home of a mutual acquaintance, police said.

The acquaintance said she had been given the radio by a friend, who had allegedly purchased it for $100 from the man who allegedly stole it, according to police.

The suspect claimed he had taken the radio to settle a debt with the owner, circumstances he said the owner was aware of, police said.

A 34-year-old Wixom woman was reportedly assaulted by her boyfriend July 12 about 10 minutes after Wixom police had left their apartment.

Ten minutes later, officers were flagged down officers near her home at about 10:10 p.m. and told them her boyfriend was drunk, had a knife and might injure her. Police gave the woman a ride home and determined there was apparently no imminent danger of domestic violence before leaving, according to reports.

Ten minutes later, officers were called back to the scene when the woman called for help. She was apparently bruised after allegedly being thrown against the door by her boyfriend, police said.

While eating at a Walled Lake restaurant, a Wixom resident reportedly spotted a man matching the description of the hold-up man who allegedly robbed the Novi Manufacturer's Bank at gunpoint recently.

The woman told Wixom police she saw a 35-40 year old man eating at the Lakeshore Restaurant July 13 who bore a resemblance to a composite drawing of the thief. The composite was printed in area newspapers, where the woman apparently saw the picture, police said.

Novi police are still investigating the theft, which netted approximately $1,600.

As We See It

Position promises beneficial results

Novi City Council's decision to adopt the recommendation of City Manager Edward Kriewall and create the position of Community Development Director should go a long way toward shoring up a critical area which has lacked coordination in the past.

JOHN HAZELROTH

The new position, which became effective at the start of the current fiscal year on July 1, is being filled by John Hazelroth, a 25-year old Albion College graduate who is working toward his masters degree in Urban Planning from Wayne State University.

In essence, Hazelroth will be responsible for pulling together the diverse elements which can be listed under the general heading of community development.

high-quality commercial and professional office development which provides both tax base and employment opportunities.

What is interesting, he observes, is that Novi has attracted these types of uses without the advantage of a well-coordinated "marketing program" to sell the city to prospective investors (developers).

In addition to administering the city's Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and housing rehabilitation programs, Hazelroth will be responsible for coordinating the activities of the Economic Development Corporation and Planning Board.

One of his goals is to develop a five-year plan that will target the types of uses the city would like to have and then go about the task of convincing them to locate here.

Although both boards have functioned well as separate entities, the new Community Development Director position will bring about a higher level of coordination than has existed in the past.

We have always maintained a strong commitment to land use planning and controlled development. To an extent, the city has been somewhat fortunate in the types of uses it has attracted thus far.

The aspect of the new position which we find most encouraging, however, is the responsibility for attracting new business and industry to the city.

The creation of the position of community development director should prove beneficial in that greater direction will be provided in land use planning and all that entails from preservation of residential areas to tax-base development.

Citing Sheraton Oaks, Twelve Oaks Mall and the high-tech office park at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road as examples, Hazelroth has noted that the city has been successful in attracting

Drop in the bucket

One of the more pervasive myths in Michigan has been the oft-told story that politicians double-crossed taxpayers because they didn't give revenues from the state lottery to help the state's education fund.

As it is, the lottery has contributed more than $650 million to public education since 1972. To ease the cry of those who thought they were double-crossed, the legislature voted last year to designate all lottery earnings to public education.

First, despite the rumor, we don't recall anyone saying the lottery was instituted 10 years ago to fund education. But many people swear the opposite is true.

This year, lottery officials estimate that contribution will be more than $215 million. Those who think the schools are reaping bucks because of this policy should talk to school business managers who are trying to cope with what have become regular state aid cuts.

It doesn't really matter. The fact is that ever since the lottery began in 1972, all earnings have been deposited in the state's general fund. About 40 percent of that fund is used to support education throughout the state at K-12, community college and university levels.

It also should be noted that lottery funds, however they are distributed, are a drop in the bucket when it comes to education costs. True, the Michigan lottery has been immensely successful and $215 million sounds like a lot of money at first blush.

It could be argued that 100 percent should have gone to education, but that would have been playing games with numbers. The amount of total dollars going to education is determined by the legislature. When the total is determined, it really doesn't matter what percentage is from the general fund and what portion is from earmarked lottery funds.

But the anticipated state expenditure for public education this year is about $4.8 billion. That makes the lottery's contribution less than five percent. It's nice to have, but it doesn't solve education's money woes.

There is no vitality left in the myths and symbols that once comforted people, soothed their guilt feelings, drained off anxiety and gave them the strength to face their problems. Beliefs in the virtue of the family, state, and the myth of an afterlife have been stripped away from many.

In the long run the only real cure for the psychological problems that all us is to develop new forms of our historic symbols and myths. What psychology can do in the interim to patch people up is unclear.

It seems clear though that only from art, literature, the humanities and religion can we expect a rebirth of cultural myths and symbols. It also seems clear that the great ages in history were not periods in which psychological concerns dominate, but rather ages of philosophy and religion.

Columns full of thought fragments relieve writers of the lunatic snatches of ideas that continuously roll through their brain, searching for a place to roost.

It's at moments like these when my new-found conugal warfare weapon proves invaluable. "Great stuff, my little turtledove," I interject enthusiastically. "I've still got my column to do and I need a good topic. Could you slow down a minute so I can take notes?"
At least that's how I think it will work. The truth of the matter is I haven't summoned up enough courage to try my new weapon yet out of a deep-rooted fear that the power of her list may be stronger than the power of my pen.

After the fact

Bulletin: A lethal new weapon in the war between the sexes has been introduced by Philip Jerome of Silber-Livingston Publications. The weapon, said Jerome, is called "The Column" and is so devastating it can reduce an irate wife to abject silence in a matter of seconds.

The power of the press. The pen is mightier than the sword.

I've heard those expressions countless times in the past and felt I had some understanding of just what they meant.

But ever since I've undertaken the responsibility of filling this corner of the editorial page every week, I've developed a new appreciation for just how powerful the press can really be.

Let's say, for example, that I've arrived home in the wee hours of the morning, the tell-tale odor of Demon Rum following me inextricably in through the door.

"It's two o'clock," comes the voice from the bedroom. "Where have you been?"

"It's that rotten city council again," I reply. "I'll never understand how they can hold such late meetings and still get to work on time in the morning."

The "rotten city council" ploy doesn't work anymore. She's heard it too many times before.

"Oh, I suppose they were drinking at the city council meeting," she responds, warming to the task of giving me the scolding I deserve.

"Besides, I called city hall and they told me the meeting tonight was canceled. And you have the audacity to come home at two in the morning, reeking of alcohol and blaming it on those hard-working city council members."

It's at moments like these when my new-found conugal warfare weapon proves invaluable. "Great stuff, my little turtledove," I interject enthusiastically. "I've still got my column to do and I need a good topic. Could you slow down a minute so I can take notes?"

At least that's how I think it will work. The truth of the matter is I haven't summoned up enough courage to try my new weapon yet out of a deep-rooted fear that the power of her list may be stronger than the power of my pen.

Proposed drain system offers needed benefits

To the Editor: I have a very personal interest in the Novi Drain proposal that will be on the ballot August 10. My concern is in regard to the mosquito problem and encephalitis.

letters

The drain proposal is a beginning to eliminate a very serious health hazard in this community. It won't do the job in itself, but it's a start.

We have high wetlands in our community that are necessary for the quality of our lakes, but the 64 water basins are a breeding ground for mosquitoes that we could live without.

My concern is personal as my son had encephalitis when he was 11 years old. We were very lucky as he lived through for mosquitos during the 13 years since my son's illness. After five years under medical care, he is living a normal life. Encephalitis affects the nervous system and does brain damage to the motor skills affecting coordination. I wouldn't wish this illness on any child during his teen years or any other time. My fear is real and the desire to do something is very strong.

My hope is that people will look beyond the $45 that is the half-mile increase and see the future as the preventive cost is always less than the corrective cost.

This drain will prevent the flood problem as it will prevent the mosquito problem. The 64 water basins we now have are impossible to maintain, let alone more basins. As the community grows, so will the flood problems and the water basin problems.

After the drain is completed, then the mosquito problem can be corrected by eliminating standing water and flood water, we can start a larvicide program that is a bacteria that feeds on mosquito larva and nothing else. This would be safe for everyone concerned — environment as well as people.

The drain program is the beginning of a safe community and the preventive cost will be much less than the cost of correcting flood damage or an outbreak of encephalitis, or both.

What happened to Kellie Brownlee?

said, is foul play."
The last time Kellie was seen was when she put in several job applications at Twelve Oaks Mall, Nelson said.

Though Carrie admits that Kellie had some family problems, "a characteristic of many runaways," Kellie had already moved away from her parents' West Bloomfield home and into a Walled Lake area apartment with the family of a friend. She had been there almost two months at the time of her disappearance.

"She liked Walled Lake," said Carrie. "She wanted to live there for a long time. She wouldn't want to leave."

"I'm with Carrie," she said. "She wouldn't have just run away... it's too important to her to have her family, her friends. In a sense she'd run away to here... she was already away from home. "She liked it around here... they went up to Proud Lake a lot, they would go to parties, go to the arcades and stuff."

Kellie's disappearance has recently received quite a bit of publicity — her parents appeared on television last week in a desperate appeal to anyone who may have seen their daughter, and articles on Brownlee's disappearance have appeared in several newspapers.

However, Nelson reports no solid leads have developed.

"The longer time goes by, the more inclined we are to believe she's a victim of foul play," said Nelson.

Carrie said that Kellie's mother and grandmother are searching for her in California, one of the places she may have run away to — if she ran away at all. They've also checked with friends in Florida, but to no avail.

"I really miss her," said Carrie. "I'm worried about her. Every time I drive by a field or a swamp or a patch of woods, I have to wonder. The first three weeks I swear I saw her a hundred times — in a car, across the street."

"I just wish she'd let us know... I just wish we'd find out she's okay."

Owners say they're being forced out

they're going to take the land for taxes before the road is started," Mansfield adds.

Opperman has already decided to get out as soon as possible. But like his neighbors he is not sure where he is going to find a buyer for the property.

"Before they ever take one shovel full of dirt for that road, I'll be gone," Opperman says. "I've already decided to leave if I can find someone to give money for the property. But the land is too small to build on. The assessor said it was worth nothing, so who do I sell it to? Nobody."

"No one has approached us in a year," Mansfield says. "I think the city has scared them away." Fink says, "It's hard to find an investor who wants to put this kind of money in a place, unless they want a huge tax write-off."

"This project is before its time," Mansfield contends. "It's not ready to be developed yet."

The residents say they let their objections to the project be known when it was first considered by the city.

"They asked us for our input to make us feel better. But we didn't have no say whatsoever," Opperman contends. Mansfield explains the city has drawn up a master plan for the area which was approved by the council.

"The council has taken it upon themselves to promote this without the property owners' consent," Mansfield says.

He objects that under ordinary circumstances a developer will "come in, get his plans approved and then put in the utilities. The big problem with this is that property owners are being assessed for the improvements. This is not the normal way to go and they know we can't handle it."

The city has taken the position that the property owners should be specially assessed because they will benefit from the road system, water mains and sewers going into Section 15 as the land is opened for development.

In search of any available relief, the residents have gone to the Tribunal seeking a reduction in the assessed value of their property. An attorney represented both the Mansfields and the Finks before the Tribunal and their assessment was reduced, Mansfield says.

"But it was a drop in the bucket compared to the total tax bill," Fink adds.

All the residents can hope for now is a "miracle," they say. They're hoping not everyone will be scared off by the taxes being charged against their property. They're hoping that someone will step in and buy their land.

Pond maintenance may be impractical

In a subdivision where the average home is $80,000, the homeowner would pay $72 the first year and $29.89 in subsequent years for private pond maintenance.

Seiber estimated with city maintenance the same two-acre pond could be maintained with a first-year cost to the homeowner of $42.84 and subsequent annual maintenance costs of $26.22. If the city took over maintenance of the ponds, savings would be realized because the work could be contracted out and the city would realize "economies of scale," Seiber said.

Reductions in inspection and enforcement costs also could be expected since the city would not have to take subdivision associations to court to obtain pond maintenance, Seiber said.

The consultants expect ponds could be brought up to current standards for approximately $1,600 and be maintained annually for $2,360. Administration costs would be expected to drop to nearly $200.

Seiber also said that many drains are experiencing flooding due to undersized ditching, sediment blockages and inefficient stormwater detention requirements.

He said existing lakes and storm sewer systems continue to fill with sediment. As this goes on there will be increased flooding and weed control problems unless a routine maintenance program is established.

Novi voters will be asked to approve 1.5 mills for drain maintenance, construction and acquisition on August 10.

If approved the city charter would be changed to allow the city to levy up to one mill for the maintenance of a citywide drainage system and the construction of regional detention ponds.

Your Photos

by Wayne Loder
Proper Lens Care

Your camera's lens can only perform up to your expectations if it's spotlessly clean and free of fingerprints, lint and scratches. All lens damage is needless and easily avoidable.

First, you should have a clear protective lens filter plus a case for all lenses.

Never allow your fingers to come in contact with your lens. Fingerprints will not only cause mottled pictures, they will scratch themselves into the lens coating and do permanent damage.

Never use handkerchiefs or rags to clean your lens. They can cause scratches or nicks. Cotton and paper tissues can leave lint, which will cause poor pictures. Don't use the silicone polishing tissues or "sight savers" commonly sold for cleaning eyeglasses, as they can remove the coating on your lens.

For proper cleaning, use a soft sable-hair brush, lens tissue and cleaner and a rubber syringe to blow out your lens.

Come in and see us about your lens care needs at I-stop, 43220 Grand River, Novi, 348-8355.

Clint Trombley, Travis Trombley and Bill Gladden show off Novi's 1928 REO firetruck

Novi historians obtain city's first fire truck

If you saw the Novi Memorial Day parade or the Northville Fourth of July parade, then you probably saw one of the Novi Historical Society's prized possessions — its 1928 REO fire truck.

According to Historical Society President Bill Gladden, the old tanker is the first fire truck ever purchased by the City of Novi. The truck was eventually replaced by more modern equipment, but was kept by the city and used to spread chloride on gravel roads.

"They used it for that until the chloride ate through the tank," said Gladden, "then they just put it away."

The truck was donated to the historical society by the city last year, and was tuned-up and touched-up by society members.

"John Richter tuned it up, and others put paint here and there," said Gladden. "We'd eventually like to have it professionally painted and restored, but we'll have to wait for that."

Engineer files suit

Village officials maintain Williams was not authorized more than $2,000 for his work and have refused to pay the full amount. They did, however, pay Williams $2,000 for his study.

No written contract was ever entered into by the parties.

However, Williams contends he should be compensated for more than $2,000 since his lake study took longer to produce than he had originally anticipated. Williams had promised the study would be done by April 1979 but did not turn it in until late August 1979.

The village council was not happy with the study, which differed with some council members' opinions of the direction the lake rehab should take. Also angry about the billing dispute, council members decided not to retain Williams as project engineer in February 1980 and later that year entered into a contract with Snell Environmental Group of Lansing. (Snell served as consulting engineers for the 1980-81 drawdown and has since been replaced by William Klockow, an Oakland County Drain Commission engineer.)

Repeated requests by Williams to settle the matter — including a proposal to negotiate a compromise — have been rejected by the village council since 1980.

Pay disparity angers principals

"The hourly rate doesn't look too swif," he said.

"The daily rate of pay for principals is $170.54, while the daily rate for teachers is $167.50, according to figures released by Crawford.

Funchiaro admits that each of the five Walled Lake principals who has been reassigned had reasons over and above the pay differential.

"There are five different stories," he said, "but there are some common threads of dissatisfaction as well. Five principals don't ask to be reassigned at the same time by coincidence."

"There are a lot of headaches and added responsibilities associated with being a principal," he continued. "It comes down to a question of whether the benefits outweigh the liabilities."

Another sore point with Walled Lake principals, according to Funchiaro, is the perception that an "anti-administration" sentiment exists in the district, both among school board members and the community-at-large.

"Whenever the financial situation gets tight, the hue and cry is always to chop administrators," he said. "And you have people running for school board with anti-administration platforms.

"I think the dissatisfaction is directed at central administration, but there's a ripple effect — by the time they get done talking, the dissatisfaction seems to have been generalized toward all administrators, including building principals."

"It's not a particularly rewarding atmosphere in which to work," he continued. "When you work hard and attempt to do a good job in your school and your community, you'd like some positive feedback every once in awhile instead of additional criticism about the shortfalls of administration."

As an example, Pontichiaro noted that principals agreed to a 2½ percent rollback in their salary increases last year as a means of saving administrative positions.

"We formed our association (the WLSAA) last year because we saw a definite need for it," he added.

"Several years ago there would have been no interest in the need to form a formal bargaining unit. Now there is."

naturalists, residents and merchants around the popular fishing spot. It apparently also prompted the DNR's department of fisheries and wildlife to urge the state's views on drawdowns be reconsidered.

Klockow said all that concern has not affected Wolverine Lake's project much because the fisheries and wildlife department is primarily concerned with lakes where there is a great deal of fishing. Wolverine Lake is not a major

Last year, Wolverine Lake was never able to get below the water levels required to begin the drawdown and consequently never actually began the project; the water level restrictions had been imposed by the DNR to insure that Commerce Lake was not flooded by receiving too much water from simultaneous drawdowns in Pontiac and Wolverine lakes, both of which also helped keep the lake water level high.

"We'd like to start this thing around August 15," O'Brien said, adding that recreational activities on the lake late in August should not be impaired by the drawdown.

A sediment barrier will be installed downstream in Commerce Township prior to onset of the drawdown, according to Klockow and O'Brien. The barrier will be installed by the village DPW crew.

New program lets 'little guys' get high interest rates

By KATHY LAVEY

It used to be that the luxury of a high interest rate in a money market savings or checking accounts was reserved for those who had more than a little money to invest.

Not any more. A new program at the Northville Community Federal Credit Union makes high-yield money market savings and checking accounts available to almost everyone, even people who don't have a lot of money to invest, according to manager Sherry Spaman and marketing director Christine Glaister.

"We're very excited about this program. It's the first of its kind, and it's for ordinary people, not the really wealthy," Glaister said last week.

Known as the Money Market Daily Dividend Account (MMDDA) and the Money Market Share Draft Account (MMSDA), the two new insured accounts can be offered only by credit unions, said Glaister.

Glaister explained that credit unions are able to offer the new types of account because they are the first segment of the finance industry to be deregulated by the government.

"Banks and savings and loan (associations) cannot offer this yet," she explained, because they have not yet been deregulated.

High interest rates and the protection of insurance through the National Credit Union Association are the main features of the new accounts, Glaister said.

Called a "multi-level" account, the MMDDA offers varying interest rates based on the amount of money in the account.

For example, an account with a balance that does not go below $7,500 a month earns interest at a rate two percent below the interest rate for treasury bills, or a recent average dividend just above 10 percent.

Accounts with a minimum balance of $3,000 have been earning just over seven percent interest, and those with a minimum of $1,000 earn a little over six percent, Glaister and Spaman explained.

According to Glaister, even the depositor who dips below the $1,000 minimum can earn six percent interest on the amount of money in the account, and they aren't "zapped" with a penalty charge for going below $1,000. In fact, a penalty isn't charged until the balance of the account is $400 or less.

"This account (the MMDDA) is perfect for businesses," Glaister said, "because they usually have enough money to keep the $7,500 balance and get the highest interest rate."

Unlike money market accounts at some brokerage houses, Glaister said, the MMDDAs are fully insured.

Union, including payroll deductions, Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs), direct deposit service, certificates of deposit, loans and savings accounts.

Affiliated with the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, the Northville Community Federal Credit Union will celebrate its fifth anniversary in Northville next month.

Members must be residents of Northville, Plymouth or Canton at the time they join, but membership is unaffected by a subsequent move, Spaman explained.

According to Spaman, people seem to like the more personal service offered by the credit union.

"It's a folksy, friendly office," she explained. "People feel comfortable here."

"We really owe a lot to the people of this community, and to the clubs and organizations who have accounts with us," said Spaman. "We get a lot of support from the Northville community."

Northville Credit Union Manager Sherry Spaman and Marketing Director Christine Glaister are boasting about the high-yield money market savings and checking accounts which now are available to almost everyone.

Owned by Richard and Joann Brunhuber, the store sells Strohs Ice Cream in 32 flavors, plus three flavors of soft serve ice cream, sandwiches and frozen Cokes.

There is seating for 24 inside the ice cream parlor, which has extended summer hours through October 31. It is open Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 10 p.m.

TWO LOCAL RESIDENTS have merged their talents to better serve their local communities. Frank Maisano of New Hudson and Jim Chain of South Lyon have combined Maisano's Italian Specialties, formerly of Livonia, and Towne Club Pop Center in Novi.

Frank and Jackie Maisano are now part owners and will manage the location at 26139 Novi Road, north of Grand River in Novi.

Maisano and Chain said the store will continue to offer quality soft drinks from Towne Club in numerous flavors which taste similar to major brands but at an economical price of $3.60 per case, along with potato chips and other snacks.

Maisano's Italian Specialties will offer Italian foods, such as their own homemade sausage, spaghetti sauce, fresh pizza dough and the makings for homemade pizzas, sandwiches, breakfast sausage, cheeses, pastas and numerous other food items.

The Maisanos also offer catering services and in the past have done the concession stand for the South Lyon Junior League All-star game.

The store will be offering a soup and sandwich specialty for lunch and looks forward to the continued support of surrounding communities.

FLIPPER MCGEE'S LANDING is currently open for business in Whitmore Lake in the old Harbor Marina building at 915 Main Street. The new business offers residents a variety of services, including a family entertainment center with electronic games.

The Landing also offers boat fuel, boat rentals, boat launchings, boat dockage, beverages, ice, live bait and tackle, party store items, sandwiches and boat storage. A liquor license and the sale of fishing licenses are anticipated in the near future.

The business is air conditioned and open from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and 5 a.m. to midnight on Fridays and Saturdays. Children under 15 years of age in the game room must be accompanied by a parent or guardian after 9 p.m.

STROH'S ICE CREAM PARLOUR AND RESTAURANT opened for business in South Lyon on July 3. The store now occupies the last vacancy in the original Brookdale Square shopping center at Nine Mile and Pontiac Trail.

Owned and operated by Green Oak Township residents Dennis and Darleene Swaney, the ice cream parlor offers a full line of creamy, cold delights. Swaney said ice cream specialties will be added to their offerings in the near future. The ice cream parlor also features deli-style sandwiches, homemade soups and salads. A typical lunch, consisting of sandwich, garnishes and beverages, costs about $3, according to the owners. Seating capacity is 32 persons. Carry-out orders are available.

A grand opening is being planned, but no date has yet been announced. Swaney said "kids of all ages" can have birthday parties at the parlor in the near future.

Stroh's Ice Cream Parlor is open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday.

HAROLD HYLAND of Novi has qualified for membership in the prestigious Million Dollar Round Table (MDRT). He is a district representative for Lutheran Brotherhood, a fraternal insurance society.

The Million Dollar Round Table is an independent association of more than 15,000 life insurance agents, each of whom must meet strict ethical and production requirements to qualify.

Less than five percent of the world's life insurance agents are certified each year through high-level client service and production. Recognized internationally as the standard of life insurance sales performance, the MDRT's members represent more than 40 nations and territories and some 400 life insurance companies.

Hyland joined Lutheran Brotherhood in 1975 and offers life and health insurance plus a variety of financial services and other fraternal benefits to Lutherans in his area. He is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Karl Mueller Agency, headquartered in Rochester.

State chamber president blasts energy regulation proposal

It's ironic that our nation's sun parched states are casting brazen glances at the Great Lakes to quench their voracious thirst, according to James Barrett, president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Ironic because Michigan (which is virtually surrounded by four of the five Great Lakes and knows how vital adequate water supplies are to its economy) is actually considering another proposal that would similarly contribute to the collapse of another essential resource — its excellent energy supply system.

Barrett said Michigan citizens need to be aware that they are being asked to vote on a proposal that would encourage the exportation of future economic growth and harm, rather than help, Michigan's recovery.

The proposal, said Barrett, is the referendum initiative which is being pushed by the Michigan Citizens Lobby and Attorney General Frank Kelley, who has based part of his political career on opposing utilities. It will be on next November's ballot and will prohibit energy utilities from passing on to customers certain fuel and purchased power costs. Barrett called the ballot proposal "another threat of over-regulation that will choke off the financial rating services to downgrade their credit ratings." He said the advent of the Citizens Lobby proposal has already caused Standard & Poor's, a credit rating agency, to place Michigan's three major utilities on a credit watch.

If approved by voters, the proposal would place heavy financial burdens on Michigan electric utilities and threaten the continued viability of our natural gas distribution companies, Barrett asserted. It would have a devastating effect on the customers they serve — residential, commercial, agricultural and industrial. That means all of us.

"Under current adjustment clauses," Barrett explained, "utilities may pass on to customers only the increased costs they must pay to purchase fuel. In the case of natural gas pipeline suppliers, the rates are set by federal law. The Kelley proposal would exempt Michigan from federal rulings. Where, then, would Michigan get its gas, since the Kelley proposal would not alter the natural gas pricing policies of the federal government? "Timely recovery of increased fuel costs is necessary for Michigan's utilities to effectively keep pace with rapidly-changing energy costs and to provide dependable energy supplies." "If utilities had to go through a full formal rate case hearing, now lasting an average of 13 months, it would be difficult for their rates to accurately reflect increasing costs of natural gas and other fuels."

To illustrate the point, Barrett noted that it's not unusual for a gas company to experience up to five major rate changes from its pipeline suppliers during the course of just one year. Rate case hearings are expensive and time consuming, adding to the overall costs of providing adequate and reliable energy supplies.

"And isn't that what it's all about, providing adequate and reliable energy supplies so that business can succeed and continue to provide jobs in Michigan?" he asked. "Business, both large and small, will look to locate or expand in Michigan only if they can rely on sufficient energy supplies at rates fairly and appropriately set. "While Michigan has long enjoyed and benefited from adequate water resources, we have come to take them for granted. Southern states, which are becoming more industrialized, are now beginning to realize how important water resources are to their economic future — just as they have long realized the importance of reliable energy supplies."

"On the other hand," he continued, "we have also come to take our energy utilities for granted. The state's possible interruption of service. Too many service interruptions would cause stores to close, companies to move out of state, farm prices to increase, jobs to dwindle and potential new business to locate elsewhere. Recognized internationally as the standard of life insurance sales performance, the MDRT's members represent more than 40 nations and territories and some 400 life insurance companies. Barrett claims a better alternative to the Kelley proposal is the measure recently approved by both houses of the State Legislature. It, too, will be on the November ballot if signed by Governor Milliken. While this legislative measure also requires hearing before adjustment clause will mean higher, not lower, energy bills for the state's consumers.

Court's 'Due-on-sale' decision angers Realtors

The Supreme Court ruling permitting enforcement of due-on-sale mortgage provisions by federally-chartered savings and loan institutions dealt a serious blow to an already struggling real estate industry, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOOCR).

"We are still trying to sort out the total impact this decision will have for the local housing market," said WWOOCR President Lloyd Mason, "but it is obvious that the move poses new problems for the hopes of many would-be buyers and sellers."

Mason said first-time buyers will be among the first to feel the added crush growing out of the ruling. "Statistics show that nine out of 10 first-time buyers rely on some form of creative financing, such as assumed mortgages and land contract purchases," he said. "Such financing lowered monthly payments to restore targeted homes to an affordable level."

"Inasmuch as this decision will reduce these options, the opportunities for home ownership are depleted."

Mason predicted that many home sellers also will be caught in the crossfire with a reduced number of buyers. Particularly hard hit, he said, may be those who are unemployed and no longer able to afford present home payments.

Home sales up in June

Closed deals in June were up 42 percent over May 1982, according to Michael J. Bartlett, general sales manager of Real Estate One, Michigan's largest real estate company.

"Perhaps we now see light at the end of the tunnel," said Bartlett, "because June closings were the highest for our company since August 1981."

"As usual, over 80 percent of the sales in 58 metropolitan Detroit communities used the assumption of mortgage or land contract for financing. The median interest rate continued to be 11 percent over May 1982, according to Michael J. Bartlett, general sales manager of Real Estate One, Michigan's largest real estate company.

The median sales price was $54,000, down from $56,500 the previous month, and the median down payment was $12,000, slightly above May's $10,011.

"For the first time we are seeing second mortgages being used to assist in financing," Bartlett concluded. Real Estate One was formed in 1970 by the merger of four well known companies. The company operates offices in Orlando, Kansas City, St. Louis and Charlotte in addition to Metro Detroit.

ASK THE LAWYER

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Korn, care of Sliger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. My son was seriously injured in an automobile accident. As a result, I have had to nurse him for almost a year. I feel that under our no-fault insurance policy, the insurance company should pay me for my services in nursing my son. The insurance company refuses to pay. What should I do to recover from my insurance company the monies I feel I am entitled to?

A. You should retain an attorney immediately to sue the insurance company for the benefits for the nursing services you are rendering to your son. In the case of Vandamier vs. American Fidelity Fire Insurance Company, the Michigan Court of Appeals held that the stepmother was entitled to recover for services that she rendered for her stepson's care, recovery or rehabilitation for a period of three years under the no-fault insurance act so long as she renders such services.

Q. I am 26 years old. My husband died last year and I have a two-year-old to raise. My assets consist of a house with an equity of $30,000 and approximately $40,000 in cash. Do I need a will?

A. Yes. In addition to a will, it might be advisable for you to have a testamentary trust giving a trustee the authority to sell your house and invest all your monies, with the income of the trust paying for the needs of your child until such time as she is 21 or 25 years old and able to handle her trust funds personally with responsibility. Also, in your will you should nominate a guardian and conservator for your minor child. Your will should

Q. You should immediately retain an attorney to file a motion to increase child support. This will be investigated by the Friend of the Court who undoubtedly will recommend that he pay 20 percent of his net income to you through the office of the Friend of the Court for the support of your child. You should be receiving anywhere from $50 to $60 per week.

A. If he is arrears on his child support, you should ask the Friend of the Court to cite him for Contempt of court for non-payment of child support. The odds are that the judge will place him on a wage assignment to pay the arrearage and current support ordered by the court.

Q. I had an accident while driving a friend's car. The friend and I live in the same house. My friend's car was uninsured. I have insurance on my car and I asked my insurance company to provide me with the insurance protection that I paid for since I was driving a non-owned vehicle.

A. In State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company vs. Ruskka, 412 Mich 321 (1982) Four Justices held that a non-owned automobile provision similar to the one in plaintiff's policy was unenforceable when the driver and the owner resided in the same household.

Q. I am the personal representative of my niece's estate. My niece died five years ago and the only asset in the estate is a house in a poor section of the city.

A. I am retired and cannot collect the rents. I cannot collect enough money to pay the taxes or maintain the house. What should I do?

A. I would suggest you make every effort to find a cash buyer for the house. If a cash buyer cannot be found, then I would make every effort to try to sell the house on land contract with a small down payment. If, however, the house is unsaleable and you no longer have the strength to act as personal representative, you should file a final motion on behalf of yourself as personal representative and include a motion for you to be discharged as personal representative of your niece's estate. The judge will then appoint a public administrator to close the estate. If he cannot sell the house, the house will undoubtedly be abandoned and the city

Doctor's HOUSE CALL

Q. I am an unemployed veteran of World War II. I am losing my house because I did not have the money to catch up on my mortgage payments. Is there any relief that I could get as a veteran to stop the mortgage foreclosure?

A. If you do not pay the mortgage payments, the mortgage company will foreclose and ultimately the property will be sold and you may be subject to a deficiency judgement in the event that the sale price received is less than the amount you owe on the mortgage.

Q. We have a house in Detroit worth $15,000. A buyer wants to buy it for $13,900 with the understanding that he will make all repairs. What should I do to protect myself?

A. A coronary arteriogram has been around for some time now and each day many people undergo the procedure you are to have. It provides a graphic picture of what is going on in your heart and the vessels that supply the blood to the heart.

A. When you sell a house in the City of Detroit you have to obtain city certification as to the violations that exist on the property. Your offer to purchase should state that the buyer will take the house in an "as is" condition. There are no warranties or representations as to the condition of the property.

Elegant pastries are works of art to Sheraton Oak chef Peter Loren

By KATHY LAVEY
Peter Loren is not your stereotypical pastry chef. In fact, as he comes out of a walk-in freezer, tall and spare, his white chef's coat covered by a blue down jacket, he looks more like a college student than a "chef du patisserie."

For Loren, an art collector and calligrapher, the only difference between art and culinary arts seems to be that culinary arts are an edible medium. "Food to me is like paint on a canvas," he says, calling himself a "frustrated art major."

Loren, who has worked for Douglass Duggan and helped open the Detroit Plaza hotel, studied at the Culinary Institute of America in New York. He now directs the culinary arts program at Monroe Community College.

Dinner At "The Gourmet"
At the desk, as she left the cafe
After eating a tasty soufflé
With its sauce, Donatelli,
Just a trace, Salmonella.
The cashier echoed, "Have a nice day!"

Prayer for America
God bless America
one nation under God
life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness
one nation under God
with liberty and justice for all.
America, land of my fathers
land of peace and brotherhood
home of the brave and free.
America, may God guide you in the paths of truth and righteousness
may he protect and strengthen you and make you victorious over your enemies may peace and prosperity flourish throughout your land
may your children walk hand in hand
may you all understand love and peace
the brotherhood of man.
God bless America
one nation under God
I love you America.

Amended
Freedom of speech
is a wonderful thing
That most of us take for granted;
We rant and we rave,
Orate and sing
Or rhyme as though we're enchanted.

The things that we say
May not be true
Convey the meaning intended,
But if we're sincere
We have little to fear—
Our words can care be up-ended.

Summer Rain
The rain splashes gently on my cabin in the North Woods.
Its tale of mystery brings a message of serenity to the heart;
a message of nature's season cleansing
the face of the earth
and a refreshment to the souls who understand the poetry of the forest
within the depths of summer.

The Patriot's Dream
Around the hallowed Plymouth Rock
I saw a band of pilgrims stand;
From England, far across the sea
they came in search of liberty and a new home in a strange land.

I strolled upon the Concord green
When a rude bridge once arched the flood;
The ancient bridge long since has gone,
The spirit born here lingers on
To wake the loyal patriot's blood.

With Washington at Valley Forge
I saw men die in freedom's cause;
Their sacrifice was not in vain
While modern minute-men remain
United to defend its laws.

At Gettysburg's historic site
Mid saber stroke and thundering gun;
The North and South in desperate strife—
A nation fighting for its life.
Passed in review — freedom had won.

The guns are gone from Flanders Field,
Larks still sing bravely overhead,
The sentinel crosses vigils keep
Where resting in eternal sleep
Are bivouaced our honored dead.

Once more the despot's blood-stained hand
Cried freedom's flag to be unfurled;
Again our heroes crossed the sea
And on the shores of Normandy
Gave freedom's answer to the world.

No coward hand inscribed the scroll
That gave this Nation legal birth;
Eternal vigilance must be kept
The price we pay for liberty
Or it will perish from the earth.

Sleep, honored dead, a peaceful sleep
In the Valhalla of the brave!
We will not fail the rendezvous
With death and destiny, which you
Kept with your all — the life you gave.

Child of Our Time
He goes alone
cloud mantle
clashed around
fog helmet
visor down
Footsteps in the dust
fade to the flailing wind.
Voices do not echo
from the iron walls.
A knight torn
by battles of his world
damned to wander
fields of woe
where only ravens saw.

Song for Mother Earth
When will the earth be green again?
When will the mountains, the forests, and the oceans sing again?
The sun and moon hide their face
Man has become earth's enemy
We poison our water
We poison our air
Then have the nerve to ask God why
This is a song about Mother Earth
This is a song about our birth
We the children of Mother Earth and brothers indeed we all are
But as the eagle flies, so does time
What have we become, a world in hopeless despair?
Does God no longer care?
When will the sky be blue again
When will the sun, stars, and moon shine again?
Yes, this is a song for Mother Earth.

Bhakti Bhajan***
(Song of the Poet)
The souls of they who rise at dawn
behold the fragrant dewy lawn;
the souls of they who rise at nine
sit placidly in warm sunshine;
the souls of they who rise at noon
remember last the misted moon;
the souls of they who rise at three
see shadows lengthen westerly;
the souls of they who rise at dusk
detect a wafted scent of musk;
the souls of they who rise at night
awaken first to soft starlite.

It matters not what time they rise,
so long as bliss is in their eyes;
the souls of they who rise in LOVE,
inspire the poets to sing thereof.

Portrait of a Dreamer
The dreamer — one who dreams of love and peace
and freedom for all mankind
One who searches frantically through his confusion
for peace of mind.
In a world of war, hate and injustice,
the dreamer stands alone and cries for love

He knows that life is worth living.
He finds joy in giving a helping hand
to his fellow man.
The dreamer doesn't judge his brother
but the dreamer understands man was in the likeness of God.
God bless all dreamers.

Lenaghan's single sparks Novi RPM in Senior League

Andy Lenaghan's seventh-inning single drove home Rusty Benoit and gave Novi RPM a 7-6 victory over the Northville Mets in the Senior Division of the Novi Youth Baseball League last week.

Lenaghan's game-winning single enabled Novi RPM to come out on top of a see-saw battle which saw the lead change hands five times. The Senior RPM squad regained a 5-3 lead by scoring three times in the second, but Northville came back to narrow the gap to 5-4 in the bottom of the inning.

Mike Kramer singled home Kevin Flynn in the fourth as RPM took a 4-4 lead which it carried into the sixth before Northville rallied for a pair of runs to knot the score at 6-6 and set the stage for Lenaghan's seventh-inning heroics.

Benoit led off the seventh with a single and moved to third as Kramer stroked his third hit of the game. Lenaghan then delivered a solid single to left to score Benoit with what proved to be the winning run.

Northville put runners on second and third with two down in the bottom of the seventh before Mark Gowens struck out the final batter to preserve the win. In other Senior League action, Tully

Kurtis runs to victory High, hard one

It wasn't easy, but chalk up another victory for Novi marathon runner Doug Kurtis as he won the Wixom five mile road race on Sunday. Kurtis was involved in a close battle with Ken Dubois, who won the Plymouth 4th of July race. Kurtis took command late in the race to beat Dubois by nine seconds. The event was sponsored by Republican candidate Gary Wolfram, who is running for Michigan's 38th District House of Representatives seat. The overall women's winner was 16-year-old Julie Reia. Other winners include Susie Balconi in the women's 14 and under group; Marge Kaziak in the 15-19 group; Kathy Step in the 20-29 group; Margie Gerber in the 30-39 group; Pat Graytok in the 40-49 group; and Miela Hatch in the 50 and up group.

Remember the old pre-TITLE IX myth that girls can't throw? Forget it. Nine-year-old Kristin Ferency (right) provides ample testimony to the contrary as she hurls a perfect strike with a water balloon during some hijinks at the Summer Drop-in Centers offered through the Novi Parks and Recreation Department. A lot more than water balloon fights takes place at the drop-in centers as youngsters are treated to a wealth of summertime activities. Drop-in centers are located at Novi Woods, Orchard Hills, Village Oaks, North Hills Park, Chateau Estates, Country Place Condominiums and Lakeshore Park. Call Parks and Rec at 349-1976 for more information.

Bobcats tankers romp for ninth straight victory

Huntington Woods was hit by a tidal wave when it ran up against the Novi Bobcat swim team Tuesday.

The Bobcats literally swamped Huntington Woods in cruising to an easy victory 27-16. Novi splashed out 36 first place finishes to improve its overall mark to 2-0 and now has won nine consecutive dual meets over the last three years.

"The kids enjoy swimming and enjoy practicing. They're going to the meets and swimming well," said Manse Pan, coach of the Bobcat swimmers. "Everything goes to the kids...the dedication and the hard work."

He concedes he has top swimmers in each age group but says everyone is working so hard he would have to mention all 45 members of the team to be fair.

Here are last week's results:

UNDER-8 GIRLS & BOYS

CARRIE MAY took top honors in the 25 backstroke (2:53.3). BRIAN WOHLFEIL won the boys' 25 freestyle (1:16.7) and CHRIS FORBACH won the boys' 25 backstroke (2:24.0).

Novi youth league coach takes his job seriously

By profession, he's a financial planner. "But that's only to put bread on the table," says Rick Gilbert, coach of the Novi Youth Baseball League team. "My real love is coaching little league baseball."

"The financial compensation is zero, but there's a lot more to life than money, and coaching little league baseball is where it's at for me."

A Novi resident for the past eight years, Gilbert is now in his fifth year as coach of a Novi Youth Baseball League team — all of them with the Novi Youth Baseball League. He worked as an assistant under Bruce Forester for the first two years and then took over the top spot three years ago.

And the RPM squad has been all but unbeatable ever since. The team has won the Minor League championship every year since Gilbert took over — going 16-2 in 1980 and 12-1 in 1981 before coupling off a perfect 6-0 season this year.

And if you get the idea that Gilbert takes his job as little league manager seriously, you're right on target.

He passes out much of the credit to his assistants: Doug Clary and Mike Sitts worked with the team this year. But the real key to his success may well rest in his scientific approach to the drafting of players at the start of each season.

"We make a real production of it," he admitted. "We've always drafted last and ended up first, so there must be something right about the way we're drafting and the way we're coaching."

The "Gilbert System" calls for him and each of his coaches to attend Youth League tryouts and rate each player on a scale of 1-5 in such categories as batting, catching and throwing. Additionally, because he is self-employed, he can arrange his schedule to take time to scout the T-Ball leagues during the summer.

"I'm something of a familiar figure around T-Ball games," he said. "The coaches know me and tell me who their good players are."

"I'm also a nut for statistics so I am able to put together the ratings of all three coaches and develop a master list which we draft from."

"Basically, we look at a boy's potential. If the athletic ability is there, we can help develop the skills."

Gilbert admits to being particularly proud of this year's team which went undefeated. He calls Mark VanMeule the best Minor League pitcher he's ever seen and has plenty of compliments for the rest of the players on the team: Danny Sitts, Mark Clary, Mike Gowans, Clint Trombly, Sean Johnson, John Connelly, Jason Emery, Andy Anderson, Mike Kramer, Tim Robb, Chris Gilbert (his son), Zack Prentiss and Jim Johnson.

The real joy of being a little league baseball coach, says Gilbert, is working with the youngsters, helping them develop their skills and live up to their potential.

"We had a young man several years ago who was afraid to go up to the plate," he said. "He worked so hard that we gave him the Most Improved Player award, even though he barely touched the ball at the plate."

"This year," he continued, "that same youngster is in a higher league and hitting over .400. To me, that's what the game is all about."

Mantle team rolls to three wins

Novi's Mickey Mantle is as hot as the weather.

The Mantle squad put together three straight victories last week and now is riding the crest of a four-game winning streak.

Brent Dinan fired a five-hitter to lift the Mantle squad to a 2-0 victory over Inster on July 13. Dinan walked just one batter and fanned seven en route to the victory.

Johnny Meo shared game honors with Dinan by delivering a two-out, two-run single in the top of the sixth to provide the only scoring in the game. Fred Crutchfield led Novi's nine-hit attack with three singles, while David Whitehead added a double and a single.

The Mantle squad added another victory July 15 when they topped Redford 5-4 behind the combined pitching of Eric Laverty and Rob McCanan. Dinan had a double, single and two RBIs to spark Novi's eight-hit attack. Eric Brooks added a pair of singles.

The Novi team then made four wins in a row by topping Dearborn Crestwood 6-1 on July 18. Tim Bunker kept the distance on the mound, allowing just five hits and striking out four, to pick up his third victory against no defeats.

Dinan again kept the offense with a perfect 4-for-4 day at the plate which included three singles and a double. Eric Brooks contributed two singles to the attack.

All-star clash ends in draw

Who's better — the senior league all-stars from Novi or Northville?

The answer to that question will have to go unanswered as the Novi and Northville Senior League All-stars played to a 3-3 tie in an Inter-city All-star game last week.

Novi had runners on second and third with one out in the seventh when the game was called on account of rain.

Mike Hackett started for Novi and registered nine strikeouts before giving way to Lee O'Brien who came in and shut down the hitting Northville squad, allowing no runs and striking out two.

Hackett led the Novi offense with three hits, while John Plumley stroked out a pair of hits. Mike Shaper and Rod Bragg each added singles to the attack.

In their Novi Youth Baseball League All-Star action, the National League topped the American League 10-3 for the Pony Division championship.

After the two teams had scored 13 runs in the first four innings, the pitchers took over and hurled shutout ball over the final five frames.

Pacing the National League offense with two hits apiece were Matt Chirgwin, Kurt Dinan, Craig Berry, Greg Huotari and Brad Lewis. Also getting hits for the National League stars were Adam Correll, Robert Cooney, Mike Donovan, Brian Daniels and Aaron Ball.

The American League stars were led by Rick Timreck with a single and a double, Dave Partch and Bill Mueller with doubles and Paul Willard, Rob Vedro and Scott Beck with singles.
