

Novi voters to decide 1.5 mill drain issue

By KATHY JENNINGS

Novi voters will go to the polls August 10 to decide the fate of a two-pronged millage proposal to finance a citywide drainage system.

Proposal A is a charter amendment to allow the city to levy one mill for drain maintenance and acquisition of regional detention lakes and wetlands.

Proposal B is for the levy of up to one-half mill to cover the issue of $4 million in bonds for six major drain construction projects.

For the local taxpayer, 1.5 mills is equal to $1.50 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

Under the proposal the owner of a $60,000 home with a $30,000 assessment would pay $45 annually — $30 to maintain the drainage system and construct regional drainage ponds and $15 for the bond proposal.

During the campaign proponents of the drainage package have said they believe the millage levied and the cost to the taxpayer will gradually decrease as regional ponds are built, existing on-site ponds are eliminated and no longer require maintenance.

They also have proposed the establishment of a fund to maintain the drainage system which will eventually allow the city council to stop levying the one-mill portion of the proposal. The fund would be established with fees collected through tap-ins to the regional system as basins are built.

The proposal represents a major redirection in the development and maintenance of drainage facilities in Novi.

Currently, most individual developments are required to build ponds on their property to hold storm water runoff and control the speed with which it flows from the land.

Under the proposed citywide system, developments will be able to connect to storm water sewer lines, or drains flowing into regional basins.

If the city continues with the existing plan it is expected more than 600 ponds will be constructed. If the proposed system of regional basins is implemented, there will be 33 storm water holding facilities.

Under the proposal, the city also would assume maintenance responsibilities for the 64 existing on-site ponds.

Novi's consulting engineers report that the existing drainage system is difficult to coordinate and in many cases is not effective in controlling storm water.

Engineering Consultant Cliff Seiber has said downstream property along a drainage system actually may face flooding as a result of the design of smaller ponds, because they are designed to hold water. During a storm, water flowing from upstream combines with water being held in the ponds and creates flooding.

Additionally, there have been problems maintaining the small ponds. Because many of the ponds have not been maintained over the years, they will have to be upgraded before any regular maintenance program can be initiated, Seiber maintains.

When the ponds were designed and the city adopted standards requiring developers to construct on-site basins, few communities had experience with the ponds. At that time Novi's standards were considered among the best in Oakland County.

But since then it has been found that the steep slopes make the ponds difficult to maintain. Additionally, the bottoms of the ponds have eroded between the inlet and outlet pipes. Water now collects in a channel in the bottom of the pond. Cattails and aquatic life then grow in the stagnating water.

An alternative was developed after a citizens drainage committee met weekly for nearly a year. The city consulting engineers, working closely with the committee, drafted a plan for regional basins to be constructed on unbuildable wetlands.

Regional basins control floodwaters by holding large volumes of runoff and gradually releasing it into a main stream.

Subsequently, the city council agreed in June to ask voters whether they would support the regional basin concept and authorize the collection of taxes which will enable the city to implement a citywide drainage master plan.

Since that time the citizen committee has been meeting with voters to explain the proposals. Approximately 20 meetings have been conducted, detailing the various aspects of the drainage proposals.

Nominations sought in Tuesday's primary race

The single biggest issue for Novi voters on next Tuesday's primary ballot will be the two drain proposals (see related story).

But there's also a slew of candidates on the ballot, running for everything from Governor, U.S. Senate and U.S. Congress down through State Senate, State House of Representatives and Oakland County Commission.

And if you're like most people, you're probably suffering a mild case of voter shock after having been subjected to the media blitz of candidates doing their all to win nomination in their respective races.

Here's a short guide which may be of help for Novi residents.

First of all, everyone in Michigan votes for the same gubernatorial and U.S. Senate candidates.

After that it begins to get a bit more tricky.

In the race for the U.S. Congress, Novi is in the 18th District which means you have a choice between William Broomfield and Roger Hall if you decide to vote Republican in the primary. If you decide to vote on the Democratic side of the ballot, there's no choice to make as Allen Sipher is unopposed for the nomination.

In the race for the Michigan State Senate, Novi is in the 15th District where there is plenty of action on both the Republican and Democratic sides. If you're voting Republican, your choices for State Senate are John Anderson, S. James Clarkson, Richard N. Corey, David S. Pickering and Markus S. Simon. If you're voting Democratic, the State Senate candidates are Jack Faxon, Alan Feuer, Philip Marcuse, Dan Reedy, Dana Wilson and Jack Kaye Work.

In the race for the Michigan House of Representatives, Novi is in the newly-created 60th District which features five Republican candidates. The Democratic candidate, Robert McCall, is unopposed. The Republican candidates in the 60th District are Willis Bullard, Jr., Martha Hoyer, Allen Ingie, John Roethel and John Van Dyke.

In the race for the Oakland County Commission, Novi is in the 24th District and voters have no choices to make in the primary. John Calandro is unopposed for the Republican nomination; Celeste Miller is unopposed for the Democratic bid.

Also on the ballot in Novi will be a non-partisan election for the following offices: judge of the court of appeals, circuit court judge, probate court judge and district court judge.

In addition, Novi voters will elect delegates to the county convention of the Democratic, Republican and Anderson Coalition Parties.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

'Fine-tuning' operation could save Novi money

Novi's police department represents 41 percent of the city's $4.9 million budget and the city wants to make sure its multi-million dollar operation is running efficiently.

With that in mind, the Novi City Council voted Monday to authorize Public Administration Services to conduct a study of the police department at a cost of nearly $18,000.

City Manager Edward Kriewall explained the study is an operation and staff analysis which "will look at needs as they presently exist."

It also will aid the city in projecting police department staffing in the next five to 10 years, Kriewall said.

Additionally, the study will look into specific operations "to ascertain whether we are really utilizing various elements of the organization in a cost-effective manner."

"The police department is the largest cost department by far in the City of Novi," Kriewall said. "Any improvement in operation could reflect a five percent improvement just through fine tuning."

"We feel we have a very fine police department and they do an excellent job. But there is always room for analysis and improvement. We will have a better yard stick for staff needs in the future," Kriewall said.

The study also will examine the amounts of overtime pay in the police department.

"Our overtime problem is an element of the study. It relates to staffing concerns," Kriewall said. "It could mean we are understaffed. But there are the factors of vacation, sick time, compensatory time off and court time that have to be considered. The question is at what time is it more beneficial to hire rather than pay overtime. These are some of the things we would like to know."

"We have considered this for some time, but we waited until the department was acclimated to its new facility. The station is an efficiency in itself. Before it would have been fruitless to make this kind of analysis."

Three consulting firms bid for the study.

Finance Director Les Gibson and Police Chief Lee BeGole reviewed the proposals before recommending Public Administration Services.

Assistant City Manager Craig Klaver said the dollar figures from the three companies were "roughly comparable."

But, he said, the study by Public Administration Services "goes into considerable more detail. Other key areas are their professional aspects. They have specialized in studying police departments."

Mayor Robert Schmid told the administration he is concerned the study could show the city should have (for example) "15 more officers, which we may need, but financially would be impossible."

"How will this impact union pressures on the city?" Schmid asked. "Most studies are done by the administration. They are privy to the executive level, and steps are taken to address the problems they identify. In a public forum such as this how is this handled?"

Kriewall said the mayor's concerns could be dealt with administratively.

But Council Member John Chambers objected that he wanted a study that was "forthright."

"Many times a consultant will regurgitate what a body of people would like them to say," Chambers said.

Klaver agreed, saying one advantage of the organization recommended was that it has done a large number of studies and uses "scientific judgments in measuring the needs of a department."

Florence Harris wrote a book inviting businesses to Novi

Harris encouraged industry

Life between the factories

By KATHY JENNINGS

Florence Harris is no stranger to progress. In a way she may be partially responsible for the growth of industrial and commercial developments surrounding her property, turning it into a green oasis in a grey desert — Grand River.

She was one of the first female members of what in 1950 was known as the Board of Commerce. Then she fought for more business and industry in Novi. She even wrote a book encouraging business to settle here.

"I always wanted to see something built out this way. I thought it would be for the good of the city," Harris says.

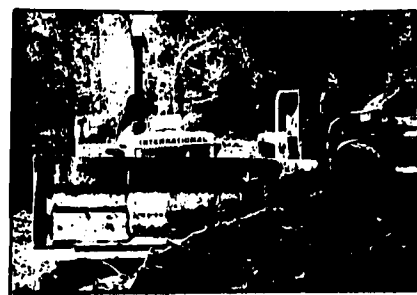

In those days there was a farm across the street.

"The customers would come out from Detroit and there would be millions of rice birds over there. The people from the city had never seen anything like that."

And there was a lake on the farm. "It looked so pretty in the spring. She would watch each day as the black animals — Black Angus Steer — came across the field to get a drink from the lake."

"I always thought they would leave the lake and put the factory along the back of the property, but they never did."

The lake was drained and now it's gone to cattails, she says.

city in transition

The Grand River corridor stretches from Haggerty Road to Beck Road. Today residential, commercial, heavy and light industrial developments coexist side by side along the corridor.

According to the city's Master Plan for land use, development along Grand River will gradually be re-oriented toward light industrial uses. The re-orientation will occur as the property is rezoned.

In the past, "I used to think that I operated city hall from the restaurant," she says, gesturing toward the Rosewood Restaurant next door, which she and her late husband used to own.

"If they were interested in locating in Novi they would come to talk it over with me," Harris recalls.

But times have changed since the days business decisions were made over coffee at the Rosewood.

"They've thrown out the old master plan and now they've got a new one," Harris says. It's a plan that leaves her wondering whether the city council wants all the industry to move out of Novi.

The master plan calls for new development on Grand River to be light industrial in nature. Harris' property would be among those rezoned. A portion of her 3.86 acres can now be used for commercial developments, but would be restricted to light industrial use if rezoned.

Though she has been paying taxes on property zoned for commercial use for 39 years. Commercial property is considered the most valuable and is assessed accordingly.

Harris remembers that when her husband purchased the property nearly 40 years ago the taxes were $240 a year for seven acres of land.

"There was no water and sewer out here in the country. Now there's still no water, no sewer and I'm still living out here in the country. But now my tax bill is over $4,000 a year for what I have left here (3.88 acres)."

Taxes probably won't drive Harris off

Skunks cause smelly problem for schools

Why are the Novi Schools paying $300 for skunks?

Trustee Sharon Felchat was moved to ask that question when the item appeared on the list of "bills payable" at last Thursday's Novi school board meeting.

Actually the schools aren't paying to get the aromatic animals, but to get rid of their encampment under the administration building, explained Assistant Superintendent William Barr.

Without enough room on the keypunched list of bills payable to fit "skunk extermination," Barr said, only the word "skunk" appeared on the school board's list.

Barr said skunk exterminators visited the administration building last fall after the polecats "made themselves known" with occasional appearances and their characteristic fragrance, which scented the entire building. The skunks returned this spring — and so did the exterminators.

"I don't know if there is anything about this building that brings them back," Barr told the board.

Barr noted that the skunks have not made another appearance since the second extermination. "I don't know what they (the exterminators) used, but we haven't been bothered by them since," he said.

Skunks, which are expert diggers, were apparently able to burrow their way easily under the portable structure because it has no solid foundation.

Barr may have been particularly anxious to get rid of the odiferous pests — "they seemed to favor my end of the building," he reported.

Man accused of girlfriend's murder

By KAREN RICE and SUSAN KAUPPLA

A distraught man last week flagged down Wixom Fire Chief George Spencer and reportedly confessed he had just killed his girlfriend, according to Wixom police.

Carl, formerly of Union Lake, graduated from Walled Lake Central High School. He is a former employee of the Oakland County Health Division, where he began working in 1975, according to Michael Nieman, public information officer for the health division.

Victim tried to end relationship

By KAREN RICE and SUSAN KAUPPLA

Carl apparently initially thought Spencer was a police officer, stopped him and cried that he thought he had killed his girlfriend but that "she might still be alive," police said.

Carl allegedly told one of the officers, "I killed my girlfriend. Handcuff me, she's dead."

But last week, Nancy McDougall apparently said the wrong thing to her 33-year-old boyfriend, who is now in Oakland County Jail facing first degree murder charges stemming from her death.

Lake, confessed last Tuesday that he had killed McDougall and left her fully clothed body in a partially developed subdivision in Milford. After flagging down Wixom Fire Chief George Spencer, Carl allegedly told Wixom of his crime.

Although Carl told police he and McDougall planned to marry next year, Mrs. McDougall said her daughter had tried to break up with Carl.

Decides against job Sheldon to stay in district

By PHILIP JEROME

Walled Lake Superintendent Don Sheldon will not be superintendent of the Lincoln City School District in Lincoln, Nebraska, next year.

Clough is to receive an annual salary of $92,000 per year plus an annual tax-free annuity of $5,000 as superintendent of the Lincoln City School District, which has four high schools and a student enrollment of approximately 25,000.

Sheldon declined comment on whether the position in Lincoln had been offered to him, however. "Let's just say I'm not going and leave it at that," he said. "I probably made it impossible for myself to accept the job."

Although it is unknown whether the position had been offered to Sheldon, the Walled Lake superintendent said he had been in contact with representatives of the Lincoln City school board, both during the day and "on the dinner hour" on Tuesday.

Three Republicans fight for Ross's Senate seat

With State Senator Doug Ross vying for U.S. Congress, State Representative Richard Fessler (R-24th District) has decided its time to move up.

Fessler's old lawyer for Standard Federal Savings & Loan who has served four years as legal counsel to the Michigan Legislature, and David Nederlander.

Nederlander appears to be making little effort for the Republican nomination, however, leaving Fessler and Fowle as the leading candidates.

The Republican winner will face the Democrat primary victor in November. The three Democratic candidates are George Feuererman, E. Leonard Howarth and Gerald Tattersall.

Fessler and Fowle have differing views on abortion, capital punishment, the recent state income tax hike and funding of K-12 public education.

Here's how they stand on those and other issues: Governor's Race: Fessler declined picking a favorite candidate for governor, but said he would support the Republican nominee in November.

Five new principals tapped for schools

The names of five new elementary school principals have been announced by the Walled Lake School District.

Named to the positions were Andrew Dale, Janet Gabrion, Sylvia Whitmer, Miriam Weberman and Judith Backes. Weberman is the only one of the five with previous experience in the Walled Lake Schools.

The need to appoint five new principals earlier this year when five principals asked to be relieved of their responsibilities and reassigned to the classroom.

The five principals who requested reassignment were William Brien (Walled Lake), William Ligon (Keith), Lloyd Anteau (Decker), Bruce Moody (Wixom) and William Doggett (Oakley Park).

No reason was given for the requests, but Robert Pontichiaro, president of the Walled Lake School Administrators Association (WLSAA) and principal of Dublin Elementary School, has said that part of the principals' dissatisfaction relates to wage differentials.

Members of the Walled Lake Education Association, which represents certified teachers, are scheduled to receive pay hikes of roughly 10 percent during the 1981-82 and 1982-83 school years.

Building principals, on the other hand, have just recently agreed to a pact which calls for a pay increase of 8 percent during 1981-82 and a pay freeze for 1982-83. That tentative agreement has not yet been ratified by the Walled Lake Board of Education, which is expected to act on it August 9.

"When classroom teachers make almost as much money and have to work fewer hours with less responsibility, it makes some people ask whether the added workload is really worth it," Pontichiaro said.

The five new elementary principals and their educational qualifications are: Andrew C. Dale, 35. Dale has a BS from Taylor (Indiana) University and an MA from Eastern Michigan. He was a physical education teacher at an elementary school in Winnetka, Illinois, from 1969-72; taught grades 2-4 at Gallimore Elementary in Canton, Michigan, from 1973-80 and has been the assistant principal at Ixister Elementary in Plymouth for the past two years.

Janet Gabrion, 42. Gabrion earned her BA from the University of Michigan in 1962, an MA from Eastern Michigan in 1970 and a Ph.D. from the University of Michigan in 1982. Her experience includes six years (1970-76) as an elementary teacher and five years (1976-81) as a language arts consultant with the Ann Arbor Schools. She was a teacher consultant at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School during 1981-82.

Man loses $20,000 in fraudulent business deal

In Wixom

A Wixom man was allegedly cheated out of nearly $20,000 as the result of an apparently fraudulent business deal. Wixom police said the man believed he was a joint owner of a Detroit theater and had been providing funds to his "business partner," an Oak Park resident, since January 1981.

However, police said, the man recently discovered he was not named on any of the business documents and had received no profit from the business. He then reported the fraud to Wixom police, who are investigating the incident.

Vandals allegedly forced open the basement window of a Cherrystone Court home and inserted a sump pump hose into the opening, flooding the home's basement with nearly a foot of water, according to Wixom police.

The homeowner told officers he discovered the vandalism at about 10 p.m. July 8 after returning home from work.

Nearly $1,000 worth of damage was done to the home by the standing water, police said. A rear window at the home also was broken, possibly in a related incident.

A 19-year-old Wixom man seen running from the Village Apartments across the street to the Golden Gate complex was evidently in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Police, scouting the area carefully because of a rash of recent larcenies, saw the man running across the street at about 3:30 a.m. August 1 and questioned him. Although there was apparently no connection between the man and past thefts, police noticed a plastic bag in his pocket that contained marijuana. The man was arrested on charges of possession of a controlled substance, although he has not been arraigned.

A third new Ford automobile apparently was damaged by gunfire, according to Wixom police. Two other Fords recently sustained broken windows and body damage from gunshots, police said.

The third Ford, which received about $500 worth of damage, was parked in the E&L Trucking yard adjacent to the Wixom Ford Motor Company plant, according to police.

Police believe the incidents may have been related, although damage to the third car was reported July 30, more than a week after the original incident.

A 1977 Honda motorcycle was allegedly stolen while the bike's owner was at Richard's Four Corners, according to Wixom police.

The bike, worth $1,500, was apparently stolen between 9:30-11:30 p.m. July 27, police said.

In Novi

Two trucks valued at $12,000 apiece were stolen from Marty Feldman Chevrolet at 42355 Grand River Avenue. Police are checking the possibility that an individual who visited the dealership roughly two weeks ago to discuss the purchase of two trucks. He allegedly offered to pay cash and had specific requirements for the vehicles.

The suspect returned to the dealership when trucks with the proper specifications became available and asked the salesman to borrow the keys so he could inspect the vehicles. He returned the keys to the salesman after examining the trucks, but it was later discovered that he had not returned the keys that had been given him.

Stolen were two 1982 Chevrolet pickups, valued at $12,000 apiece.

bill at the Big Boy Restaurant on Novi Road.

The manager told police he was approached by a man who wanted change for a $50 bill so he could purchase cigarettes at approximately 8 p.m. on July 27.

After receiving change, the suspect left the restaurant and drove away. The manager told police he wrote down the license number of the vehicle because the $50 bill looked "funny."

The manager was subsequently notified by Manufacturer's Bank that the bill was bogus.

The manager described the suspect as a white male, 5-8 tall and 35-40 years of age.

Novi police referred the matter to U.S. Treasury Department agents.

Nearly $3,000 worth of goods were stolen from an apartment in the Beachwalk complex on Fourteen Mile. Stolen property included a gold chain with cross worth $1,500 and a $1,000 airline ticket. Also stolen were two gold cigarette lighters valued at $500 and a $50 briefcase.

The complainant told police that his alien residency permit and passport were among the stolen property.

A commercial radio and four tires were stolen from a vehicle parked at 41580 Grand River. The owner told police the $1,500 radio was stolen from a 1978 Ford pickup. Some $400 worth of tires were taken from a storage trailer at the rear of the property. The owner reported the lock on the trailer was cut.

He persuaded McDougall to quit her job at the health division, where she was employed as a typist in the breast cancer unit, and join him there.

"She finally said she had to make a decision so she quit her job and went down there at the end of February," Mrs. McDougall said. "But she couldn't handle being away from her family."

McDougall returned to Highland last spring when her father became ill and was hospitalized for emphysema, Mrs. McDougall said. She sought another job with the county and had been told she would be rehired in the sheriff's department, according to Mrs. McDougall.

Carl apparently hoped to continue their relationship, Mrs. McDougall said, and called her daughter repeatedly.

"He thought she was lying about her father's illness," Mrs. McDougall said. "Nancy wrote to him and told him that it was over. He called her and said he was coming here, even though she told him not to return."

"When he showed up with nowhere to stay, however, she said 'take my car and go stay with your parents (in Union Lake),' but that didn't last long. He soon found excuses to stay here and pretty soon he was here day and night."

Mrs. McDougall said her daughter was bothered by Carl's constant presence. During a recent trip to the hospital to visit her father, Nancy said she wished Carl would leave her alone, Mrs. McDougall said.

"She mentioned being a little bit afraid of how he would react if she broke off the relationship," Mrs. McDougall said.

"Nancy was the kind of person who couldn't say anything to hurt anyone," her mother said. "She was easy-going and she adored children — especially her two nephews. Several years ago when a friend of hers was killed, she took care of the woman's children for six months."

Election battle rages among new 15th District Democrats

With two incumbent state senators — Jack Faxon (D-Detroit) and Dana Wilson (D-Hazel Park) — seeking the nomination, the race for the Democratic nomination in the newly-created 15th District is one of the hottest around.

The 15th District includes Novi, Wixom, Northville, Farmington and Farmington Hills as well as Southfield, Lathrup Village, Ferndale, Royal Oak Township and Huntington Woods.

Faxon and Wilson are not the only Democratic candidates for the 15th District nomination. Also seeking the bid are Alan Feuer, Phillip Marcuse, Jacki Kaye Work and Dan Beady.

The charges between the candidates have been flying hot and heavy. Faxon has charged that Wilson should have run in the Republican primary where his voting record would be much more consistent with the voters. Wilson defends his absence at candidates nights in the western portion of his district on the basis that he's been walking door-to-door with the "personal touch."

Both incumbents, Faxon and Wilson, have been attacked by two of their opponents, Feuer and Marcuse. Feuer, the former executive director of Common Cause in Michigan, charged that neither Faxon nor Wilson has supplied evidence that they reside in the district.

Marcuse, chairman of the Huntington Woods Traffic Control Committee and an Oakland County Circuit Court clerk, added that Faxon and Wilson are running to save their jobs and "have never represented the district."

Here's a look at each of the six candidates for the Democratic nomination from the 15th District:

- Jack Faxon, 46, has been a state senator since 1970 and presently is president pro tem of the senate. Asked to describe two of the major problems facing the state, he said: "The depressed economy, including unemployment and insufficient aid for all levels of education."
- Alan Feuer, 29, is a former executive director of Common Cause of Michigan and led the drive to pass Michigan's Open Meetings Act. Feuer says the state's top need is to "make sense of the budget and make plans for the future. We fund the Silverdome while cutting aid to schools. We spend a third of road funds on new highways but can't repair old ones. Without enough money, we must have more sense."
- Phillip R. Marcuse, 42, is a law student at Detroit College of Law and employed as a clerk by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John N. O'Brien. He listed fiscal policy and crime as the state's two primary problems. "Until interest rates return to single digits, the state has to be extremely careful to keep its borrowing to a minimum. This means keeping spending no greater than income."

- Dana Wilson, 33, is a business agent and vice president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union. The state's primary problems, he said, are the financial situation and jobs. "Sacrifices have to be made by everyone. It's not surprising that state employees reaped concessions when you consider that the administration was raising unemployment benefits at the same time."
- Jacki Kaye Work, 40, is an accounting supervisor with the Charge Card Association. She identified the state's top problems as loss of jobs and industry and the criminal justice system.

Five fight for Republican nomination in District 15

An attorney, a former mayor of Southfield and a former aide to then-Congressman Gerald Ford are among the five candidates for the Republican nomination for the newly-created 15th State Senate District.

The attorney is John Anderson, a 31-year old Farmington resident. The former Southfield mayor is S. James Clarkson, 57, who also served as a district court judge. And the former aide to Ford in the U.S. Congress, is David Pickering, 29, who resides in Novi and believes it is time Novi had its own state senator.

Other candidates for the Democratic nomination are Richard Corey, 48, who is owner of a three-store retail chain in Oakland and Wayne counties, and Markus Simon, 73, an unsuccessful state senate candidate in 1978.

The 15th state senate district includes Novi and Wixom as well as Farmington, Farmington Hills, Northville, Southfield, Lathrup Village, Ferndale, Royal Oak Township and Huntington Woods.

Here's a look at the five candidates for the Republican nomination for the 15th District state senate:

- John Anderson, 31, is an attorney in an Oakland County law firm and an executive board member of Industrial Michigan, an association devoted to encouraging business development in the state.
- Anderson said he would reform or repeal the single business tax to eliminate the provision which requires payment of the tax even if the employer makes no profit. He also would reform the unemployment compensation system to make qualifying standards more strict by extending eligibility requirements from 18 to 20 weeks and reinstating the "waiting week" to qualify for benefits. He would provide jobs by encouraging business development through tax incentives and reforms in costly government regulations.
- S. James Clarkson, 57, an attorney, is a former Southfield mayor and district court judge. He said the single business tax should be repealed and also called for repeal of personal property tax and income taxes not approved by the citizens. "The government cannot produce jobs or wealth, only encourage business to locate in Michigan and thus produce jobs," he said.
- Richard Corey, 48, is director of a large dental center and president/owner of a three-store retail chain in Oakland and Wayne counties.
- Jobs, he said are the most important issue in this election. "Independent businesses provide more employment and more new jobs than any other type of business. Therefore, help must be given to the small, independent businesses so they will, once again, be in a position to give employment. This can be done by cutting workers' compensation and unemployment benefit costs, the single business tax and lowering the minimum wage, especially for those under age 20."
- David Pickering, 29, served as an aide to Gerald Ford when he was in the U.S. Congress and presently is assistant director of the Michigan Association of Recreational Vehicles and Campgrounds. He says there's a need to create a favorable environment for business to remain in Michigan and new industries to relocate in Michigan. "The cost of doing business in Michigan is among the highest in the nation," he said.

He said changes in unemployment compensation, workers compensation insurance and the single business tax are essential along with a reduction in unnecessary, unreasonable and unworkable regulations.

- Markus Simon, 73, ran unsuccessfully for the state senate in 1978. He has called for a constitutional amendment providing for non-partisan election of state legislatures and county commissions. He also would help agriculture, thereby encouraging creation of industries to process the state's farm products. Additionally, he sees the need for legislation to set aside supreme court decisions which widen claims under the workmen's compensation laws "beyond reason." The single business tax should be repealed, he said.

Repeal of the single business tax should be repealed, he said.

ON PROPOSAL A AND PROPOSAL B ON TUESDAY, AUGUST 10TH

We, the Village Oaks Common Areas Association, Board of Directors, feel that the city is too vague in the cost of this program. It appears that the project still hasn't been finalized, and that putting it on the ballot at this time is premature.

Presently, there is no agreement with the city of Walled Lake, whose cooperation is necessary for the implementation of this program. If these proposals are passed the millage becomes effective immediately. However, the tax owner has no assurance if or when the project will be started.

We strongly urge you to vote NO on Proposals A & B on the August 10th Ballot.

Five House candidates vie for 60th District seat

One thing's for sure. Whoever wins election to the state House of Representatives from the 60th District will be a newcomer in Lansing.

The 60th District includes Novi, Oakland County and portions of Northville, Lyon Township and the City of South Lyon along the southern boundary and then swings directly north through the townships of Milford, Highland, Rose, Holly and Groveland.

There's no competition for the Democratic nomination from the 60th District. The Democratic nominee will be Robert McCall, who is unopposed in the primary.

But the race for the Republican nomination is a different story, indeed, with five individuals vying for the right to face McCall in November.

The Republican race features three Novi-Northville area residents: Martha Hoyer, a member of the Novi City Council; John Roebel, a former member of the Novi planning board and an unsuccessful candidate (against Robert Schmid) in the 1981 Novi mayoral election; and Allen C. Ingles, an attorney who resides in the Oakland County portion of Northville.

The other two Republican candidates are Willis Bullard, an attorney and Highland Township supervisor, and John Van Dyke, a Realtor who owns his own company in Milford.

Here's a look at the five Republican candidates for state representative from the 60th district.

• Willis Bullard, Jr., 38, has been supervisor of Highland Township since 1980. An attorney, he is a member of the Huron Valley Arts Council and Oakland County Chamber of Commerce.

Bullard says jobs are the number one issue in Michigan today and the cost of doing business in Michigan must be improved to encourage job creation.

Reforms in worker's compensation, unemployment compensation and the single business tax are urgently needed, he says.

Bullard also says the legislature should enact real property tax relief, not merely a tax shift. A baker of both Tisch I and Tisch II, he says the legislature should reduce "our absurdly high taxes" by reducing the property tax assessment ratio from 50 percent to a lesser figure.

To balance the state budget, Bullard would like to cut state programs. Spending priorities must be re-ordered, he says, away from welfare and back to quality education. He notes that the percentage of the state budget earmarked for elementary and secondary education has shrunk from 29 to 15 percent since 1971.

Race to split vote in townships?

George Montgomery is the only one resting comfortably in the race for State Representative from the 24th District. Bloomfield townships, Wolverine Lake Village and the cities of Wixom, Walled Lake and Orchard Lake.

Montgomery, a Democrat, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. But the competition among the six candidates for the Republican nomination is fierce, and includes a marketing consultant (Donald Eby), pharmacist (Howard Dell), township clerk (Robert McGee), county commissioner (Joseph Montane) and a cable television magazine owner (Ronney Hammer).

The sixth candidate, Joan Jones of Walled Lake, has not responded to requests for information.

One of the interesting aspects of the race concerns geography. McGee, who is township clerk, and Hammer are well-known in Commerce Township and there is at least some feeling that they will split the Commerce vote.

The other three prominent candidates — Dell, Eby and Montane — hail from West Bloomfield and are expected to split the West Bloomfield vote.

Some pundits give a slight edge to Montane on the basis of the name recognition he has achieved during 10 years as an Oakland County Commissioner, but others maintain that the race is a toss-up.

Here is a look at five of the six candidates for the Republican nomination for the state house from the 24th district:

• Howard Dell, 55, is owner-operator of Dell's Prescription Center in Pontiac. He is vice-chairman of the West Bloomfield planning commission, chairman of the Michigan Youth Commission and vice-chairman of the Oakland County Social Services Board.

Stating that the issues of taxes, education and condition of business are directly related, Dell says he has uncovered much waste and "bureaucratic inefficiency" in state government during his eight years on the Social Service Board and three years as chairman of the Michigan Youth Commission. He claims to have instituted many reforms via resolutions and new legislation, two of which are now saving the state $48 million a year.

"As a small businessman for 32 years I resent legislators with no business experience telling us what is best for us," he said, citing a need for complete revision or repeal of the small business tax and more revision of unemployment and workman's compensation laws.

A self-proclaimed tax crusader, Eby said his campaign is based on concern for people who are being forced off their homesteads by property taxes. To encourage economic growth, he would remove restraints on business and eliminate the single business tax entirely, allowing the free enterprise system to work. He favors cutting state government and eliminating the property tax.

• Ronney Hammer, 49, is self-employed as president of Cable Market Guide, a resource publication. He is past chairman of the Commerce Parks and Recreation Committee and a Republican precinct delegate.

Based on the fact that Michigan citizens are looking for a "Fair Share" tax system, he believes the following can be done: Eliminate the property tax, discontinue the small business tax, stop all use and nuisance taxes, re-evaluate costs of all Michigan services so that they will not cost more than other Great Lakes states, stop borrowing money to pay for anticipated revenue and then paying interest on the borrowed money, institute a non-deductible flat rate income tax for all citizens of less than 5 percent and develop a business tax that would equal or improve on those which other states are now using.

• Robert McGee, 41, is Commerce Township Clerk and has been active in the Michigan Townships Association and the Oakland County Republican party.

Martha Hoyer, a bookkeeper with Seneca Electric Company for 17 years, she has served on the Novi City Council since 1975 and is a former mayor pro tem. She also is Novi's delegate to SEMCOG and legislative liaison to the Michigan Municipal League.

Saying that Michigan suffers an "anti-business" image, Hoyer maintains that revision of existing business and employment taxes to assure Michigan is competitive with other states is essential. She calls for a high technology promotion which provides credits against the single business tax for a percentage of amounts spent on wages and personal property since these firms are labor-intensive. "Increased deductions against the single business tax for capital expenditures and property acquisition are further incentives," she says.

On the subject of tax reform, she calls for a workable combination of reforms that include limiting assessments to less than 50 percent of true cash value, having the state pay a percentage of every bill, shifting school operating cost from property tax to local income tax and replacing parts of the property tax with increases in sales tax or state income tax. "The workable combination," she says, "must afford relief yet not interrupt the functioning of school districts and vital local services to taxpayers."

She would fund public education through a combination of state and local efforts, maintaining local controls. She said current trends must be reversed. "We need new land use policies and expenditures allocated to K-12 must be increased immediately."

Allen C. Ingles, 61 and a practicing attorney for 32 years, resides in Northville. He is a former member of the Farmington Planning Board, the Governor's Safety Committee and the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws. He is a past president of the Farmington Savings and Loan and has been active in the Michigan Justices Association and the Oakland County Judicial Association.

Ingles was attending a Trial Lawyers' Convention in Toronto when we submitted our request for information.

John J. Roebel is a retired patent attorney with the Ford Motor Company. Long active in Republican party politics, he is a former member and chairman of the Novi Planning Board. Roebel describes himself as "a passive candidate" and did not respond to our request for information.

John Van Dyke is the owner of J. David Van Dyke, Incorporated Realtor in Milford. He is affiliated with the Milford Area Chamber of Commerce, Milford Rotary and the Western Wayne County Board of Realtors.

Van Dyke said Michigan's business climate can be improved by emphasizing the importance of the private sector. "We need new land use policies and we need to run government like a business," he said, adding that regulations must be evaluated to balance environmental protection and economic growth.

Van Dyke believes the governor's economic recovery program is a first step in addressing the excessive costs of doing business in our state. Citing action on workmen's compensation, the single business tax and House Bill 5165 which establishes "Economic Growth Areas," he says each of these areas needs additional attention. He also says there's a need to address the unemployment compensation debt to the federal government.

On the subject of property tax reform, Van Dyke says a more equitable way of funding local government services must be found now. "Supporter of the Tisch proposals," he said, he would support a reduction of assessments to 33 percent of market value, provided a minimum amount of state funds are earmarked for public education and local government.

Van Dyke believes in streamlining state government and endorses a part-time legislature to reduce costs and set an example of efficient and effective leadership.

Van Dyke says public education is a priority and believes the state should earmark a minimum number of dollars from other tax sources to fund education, while permitting local control.

New 'Power Tower' holds concessions, more

"A lot of people have been asking what that 'new blue and yellow thing' is at Ella Mae Power Park," said Thomas Obravnic, director of the Novi Parks & Recreation Department.

"I want to let them know."

And so, for everyone who has wondered what that "new blue and yellow thing" really is, here's the answer — It's the new all-weather building for the city park at the municipal-school complex.

"Affectionately dubbed 'The Power Tower' by Parks and Rec employees, the building contains a concession stand, storage areas and restrooms as well as scores' booths for men, women's and children's softball.

What's more, it isn't really a "yellow and blue" thing. In actuality, it's a "yellow, blue, red and green" thing. Each side of the 25-by-25 foot building is color-coded to coincide with the four softball diamonds that ultimately will be constructed at the park.

The yellow and blue side face Ten Mile and are visible from the road. The red and green sides face the interior of the park to the south.

"We're rather proud of the new building," said Obravnic. "We wanted something that was colorful and had a unique design to set a festive mood for the various activities in the park."

"And we also think we did a good job of providing Novi with a building that is both functional and inexpensive."

"We looked at a lot of buildings in other cities before deciding what to build here," he continued. "We saw some which weren't big enough to be functional and others which had a lot of wasted space."

"We think our building is not only unique in appearance but also has enough space to be functional without having any wasted space."

The $81,000 Power Tower was funded in part with a grant from the federal government's Land and Water Conservation Fund and stretches 30 feet into the air. The concession stand, storage areas and restrooms are located on the ground floor, while there are small rooms on the upper level for two scorekeepers for each of the four ball diamonds.

A spiral staircase enables scorekeepers to get from the ground to the upper level. "It (the spiral staircase) was the cheapest way to go," reported Obravnic. "The building would have cost a lot more if we had wanted a conventional staircase because the building would have had to be larger to accommodate it."

Power Park currently contains soccer fields and two softball diamonds. Future plans call for development of two more softball fields as well as relocation of the soccer fields and development of picnic areas, playground units and parking facilities.

There's also a possibility that we'll have a municipal golf course, jogging trails and bike paths on the site," added Obravnic.

But all that's in the future. Right now, Obravnic is proud of "The Power Tower."

"It's something unique for the City of Novi," he said. "It's only been finished several months and we've already getting calls from other cities who want to come over and see what we've done. "It's a real focal point for all the activities available in the park through the Parks and Rec Department."

Novi, Wixom make it in new Michigan list book

What do Novi and Wixom have in common? Ask different people and you'll get different answers. But to Gary W. Barfknecht of Davison, they're both worth note in his new Michigan trivia book.

Barfknecht is author of "Michiliana" (272 pages, Friede Publications, $7.95) which he calls a "Michigan Book of Lists." Novi makes the book twice, while Wixom is mentioned in three lists.

Barfknecht's list of "five notable weight watchers" includes Patrick Gaynor, a 37-year-old Novi man who died in 1977 while on the controversial liquid protein diet.

"It may be a small thing, but Manufacturer's Bank of Novi also makes Michiliana as number six on the list of Michigan's "six smallest banks." Also included are the Morely State Bank, Fidelity Bank of Wixom, the Old Kent Bank of Grandville, the Northern Michigan Bank of Kingsford and the Fidelity Bank of Bingham Farms.

"In population change between 1970 and 1980, Wixom is number one on the list of the "five fastest growing cities and villages" with a growth rate of 13 percent per year.

"On that list with Wixom are Woodhaven (close behind with an increase of 12.5 percent per year), Rustin (nine percent per year) South Lyon and Au Gres (both 8.1 percent per year).

Wixom's Ford plant also qualifies for a list in the book — one of "seven water polluters."

According to the book, the Ford plant was one of seven companies designated by the State Attorney General's Office, Department of Natural Resources and Water Resources Commission as the worst water polluters in the state.

The book says Ford agreed to pay fines and install pollution control equipment at the Wixom plant, the Ruston plant and the Motrow plant as a result of an ongoing pollution control agreement.

The Ford plant puts Wixom in the book again as the manufacturing location of one of "23 (auto) models made in Michigan" during 1980, when Lincoln Mark Vs were being made at the plant.

Oakland County appears in 14 separate lists in the book, including "four most deadly tornadoes" (47 people were killed by an 1897 twister), "four counties with the most mobile homes" (4,653 in 1970) and "four counties with the most septic tanks or cesspools" (It tops the list with 78,813).

She sees changes

her land. "I've been a widow for 25 years and survived. I've paid all my bills."

But other changes in the community may hasten Harris off her property.

"The city is growing so rapidly it's hard to keep up with everything and everybody. There's so many newcomers and new people. Used to be I knew everybody, at least all the businesses in Novi. It's no wonder I feel like moving out, sometimes."

She's also disgusted with the attitude of homeowners along Grand River.

"Now I'm a homeowner and what the city is doing affects homeowners up and down this area. It aggravates me and what the city is doing affects homeowners sit on their haunches instead of speaking up for their property. I'm not speaking for these people anymore. Personally, I'm reaching the point where I just don't care anymore."

She says "eventually I think I will have to sell."

But then again, she says, "This is my home as long as I can maintain the ground it sits on." Harris admits she is reaching the point where she has begun to question how much longer she can maintain her property. She cuts her own grass and "keeps the weeds down" herself.

Don't get the idea Harris is feeble, however, just because her age "has been a secret for a good many years."

"Some of the young people in their 20s and 30s have trouble keeping up with me and all my activities," she says.

After seeing changes as she has, Harris knows how the wheels of progress turn.

"They'll battle to get Novi the way they want it. Then 15-20 years later someone will come along and say 'who in the world laid this out.' We'll be right back to where we started from."

Neighbors

It's especially because families come to us during their most difficult times that we feel our responsibility so deeply. We've formed some very close friendships here and after being a part of this community for so many years, our commitment to its people is stronger than ever.

Just as our own families know they can count on the support and friendship of our neighbors, we're proud that families here know they can feel confident in the services we provide.

What About the Missing Link?

Dr. James H. Luther

Men have been searching for a link between man and the animals for generations. A number of such links have been found, accepted by intellectuals and then discredited. An honest study of history reveals some incredible qualities on the part of experts. Desire has ruled out reason in certain cases, because of man's zeal to find his true beginning.

Of course, it is quite natural for men to be curious about their roots. And this question of origin simply extends an extension of that curiosity. Yet, it is sad that many answers are missed because of their simplicity. In clear terms, the Bible reveals that men were created by a direct act of God (Gen. 2:7ff). Moreover, we are created in God's "image," or "likeness" (Gen. 1:26).

Instead of searching in vain for a "link" to the animal kingdom, we should rejoice in our real heritage in being linked to God. Man has dignity and a certain nobility by virtue of his "createdness." He is not a cosmic accident, a result of time and chance. He has value, design, and purpose.

Jesus came to link us to God spiritually. Though we are fallen sinners, His death can become our salvation through personal faith. By receiving Christ as the Lord and Savior of your life, you can be linked to God in heaven. This we not only would have a noble heritage, but also a glorious future.

Stop That Action!

When pictures blur, you can be sure that something's moving. Perhaps it's you. More likely it's your subject. Now's the time to start thinking about getting a "faster" low light camera.

"Fast" cameras have more precisely ground lenses that can be opened wider to let more light reach the film. This cuts the time in which the film will have to be exposed to receive an adequate amount of light. The shorter the exposure, the less movement it will record. Less expensive fixed shutter and lens cameras do not afford this flexibility.

You'll see many opportunities for great action pictures — your youngster splashing away happily in the backyard swimming pool, your puppy with all four legs springing merrily in the air as he chases a thrown ball.

The more sophisticated camera will "freeze" that action for you. Many of these cameras are so automated that you have to do little more than point, focus and shoot.

Come in and let us show you these adjustable lens cameras at 1st and 4322nd Grand River, just east of New Road, 348-9333.

NOVI-WALLED LAKE NEWS

Changes in order in election races

Voters are faced with an abundance of choices when they go to the polls in next Tuesday's primary. The gubernatorial and U.S. Senate races are crowded and so are many of the others until one reaches the three Oakland County Commission races in our coverage area, which all are uncontested.

In arriving at our endorsements, some frustration with the incumbents, particularly on the state level, will be obvious. Although the problems with unemployment compensation, workman's compensation and the single business tax have been obvious for some time, previous legislatures have been guilty of doing too little, too late.

U.S. Congress

Allen Sipher is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the 18th Congressional District, but William Broomfield, a member of Congress since 1956, is being challenged by Roger Hall for the Republican bid.

Our choice is BROOMFIELD. With his long years of experience in Capitol Hill, Broomfield is a better choice than Hall, a political newcomer. He is the ranking minority member of Committee on Foreign Affairs and has a pro-business voting record which is regularly lauded by the Small Business Alliance.

State Representative

In the race for the 24th District (Walled Lake, Wixom, Wolverine Lake and Commerce) seat, the top two candidates are Howard Dell and Robert McGee. Our first choice is HOWARD DELL. McGee has eight years' experience as Commerce Township Clerk, has been active in the Michigan Townships Association and is knowledgeable on legislative matters. Dell also has extensive experience on the local (city and township) and state levels. As a small businessman, he will bring both political perspective and business experience to the job in Lansing.

Anderson is an attorney and an executive board member of Industrial Michigan, an association devoted to encouraging business development in the state. He is a bright, young candidate and has the best grasp of the issues among his Republican opponents.

In the race for the 17th District seat (Walled Lake, Wolverine Lake and Commerce), we like MARY FOWLE on the Republican side and GERALD TATTERSALL among the Democrats.

Fowle is unlikely to defeat Richard Fessler who has superior name recognition, but we feel she is a better choice. A former legal counsel to the Michigan legislature for four years, she has a realistic view of the state's financial crisis.

Republican nomination

In the race for the 60th District (Novi), two candidates stand out — Martha Hoyer and Willis Bullard, Jr. Our choice is MARTHA HOYER. Hoyer and Bullard both boast experience on the local level. Hoyer as a member of the Novi City Council since 1975 and Bullard as Highland Township supervisor since 1980. Although Bullard is impressive, we believe Hoyer's superior experience through SEMCOG, the Michigan Municipal League and the National League of Cities makes her a more-qualified candidate.

In the race for the 15th District seat (Novi and Wixom) we like ALAN FEUER for the Democratic nomination and JOHN ANDERSON for the Republican nomination. Feuer, a former executive director of Common Cause of Michigan, appears capable of making a greater contribution than either of the two re-districted incumbents, Jack Faxon and Dana Wilson.

Anderson is an attorney and an executive board member of Industrial Michigan, an association devoted to encouraging business development in the state. He is a bright, young candidate and has the best grasp of the issues among his Republican opponents.

Drain plan needed

Novi voters should vote YES on Proposal A and Proposal B — 1.5 mills for development of a coordinated citywide drainage system.

Proposal A is a charter amendment which would allow the city to levy one mill to fund maintenance of the drainage system. It also will provide revenue for acquisition and construction of regional detention lakes.

By approving the two ballot proposals Novi residents have the opportunity to provide the community with the financial means to implement a planned drainage system. The proposals provide relief for many existing drainage problems, but they also ask residents to look beyond their own backyard, to see that water draining from their property contributes to flooding elsewhere in the city, and a citywide drainage system is needed to handle it.

Currently, the city has a set of design standards requiring all developers to build ponds on their property.

This system is adequate for communities without drainage master plans. But as communities across the county are finding out city's cannot afford to go without a planned drainage system. Troy and Farmington Hills, for example, have waited until drainage problems have created health and safety problems. Their residents are now paying dearly to correct the problems.

Citizens Drainage Committee identified at least 25 existing homes, including the flooding of homes around Walled Lake and repeated flooding of Nine Mile.

Clearly, action must be taken. The course of action proposed is implementation of a regional basin system.

Regional basins would hold large volumes of water and gradually release it into a main stream. Because the ponds are large, water flows are slowed and there is less erosion and less sediment carried downstream.

Instead of the more than 600 individual on-site ponds expected under ultimate development, the proposed system calls for 33 regional basins and wetlands areas. Another aspect of the plan calls for the city to assume maintenance of the drainage system. Now the city has no funding and no right to maintain drains or detention ponds, which are the responsibility of private owners.

Drains: Novi proposes plan for present, future

A citywide plan

Q. Why is this system superior to what is currently in place? Why can't we keep the status quo?

A. The status quo is not working very well. In analyzing the city's system as it is today it's not that effective and it's certainly not the cheapest way to go.

The current method is the easiest one to implement because you simply adopt design standards which require developers of all new projects to provide a means of controlling their storm water. But it would require many of these little basins, ultimately over 600.

That's a tremendous waste of valuable property and it's not very effective as a system for controlling storm water runoff. It has a lot of bugs in it. Because the ponds are small the outlet pipes are small, so the size of the outlet pipe is a maintenance problem. These ponds also are very expensive.

Overall this method will provide much more effective flood control and be much cheaper for all the residents.

We plan with the regional basin concept to reduce storm water flows to a rate which is below a pre-development flow. That slows the speed of the water and creates better water quality; you reduce erosion and therefore reduce sedimentation.

Q. How do you know these ponds are placed properly? How did you arrive at this particular plan?

A. There were a half dozen different aspects of drainage we looked at in determining these locations.

One, of course, was that low areas or wetlands areas are ideal, because they are at the lowest point of a drainage area and that's where the water is naturally going to flow. You want to locate the regional basins at the low areas and make use of that natural wetland area because it has a natural capacity for water storage.

Another thing we looked at was we tried to find a place where the outlet became very narrow. The purpose is that we will have to put in a control structure at the downstream end, and the smaller the outlet is the smaller control device; construction costs will be cheaper.

Of course recreational purposes was also an aspect, but not that great of an aspect. The reason for choosing them was for flood control and water quality. However, some of them will be able to be used for recreational purposes.

Q. How do we know you won't be back five to 10 years from now telling us you were wrong and the plan is obsolete?

A. (Pause.) We believe this will still be viable plan in the future because it provides control of stormwater for the city under its ultimate development conditions. The computer analysis we've used indicates there is plenty of storage volume in the regional ponds and the flow rates will not cause problems.

After six or seven years we feel the fund will be large enough to support a maintenance program. Actually maintenance expenses would be less after the first six or seven years, because regional ponds will be in place and there will be fewer detention basins. Once you begin maintaining the storm sewer system the annual cost will be less.

Q. You said during the campaign that when the fund is in place the millage will come down. Are there any guarantees that the city will stop collecting the millage once the fund is built up?

A. No, there aren't any guarantees just like there aren't any guarantees with the millage city is presently collecting. But the city council has demonstrated it is a very responsible body. In past years they have reduced the millage from the amounts they technically could levy. They have reduced the tax rate.

We feel if there are sufficient funds and there is no need to collect additional taxes there certainly will be a good case to reduce one-mill levy. That is one reason we decided to go with a charter amendment rather than a fixed millage for a set number of years. If the millage were set for a fixed number of years the city would have to collect the money whether they needed it or not.

Conversely, if there were a millage fixed for certain number of years, like two years, and there were certain maintenance they wanted to perform when the millage ran out the proposal charter amendment problem may not be resolved. We think the fund will sustain the system within six years, but there are many variables. Some of the things that will affect it is how much is done in the first few years. If they try to dredge three lakes in the first two years there won't be anything left in the fund to collect interest on. There's that factor and also the rate of development. If there are many new developments coming in during the six year period more tax fees will be eliminated, thereby eliminating the need for maintenance expense.

Decision faces

Novi voters

Novi voters will be asked to approve 1.5 mills for the development of a citywide drainage system on August 10. Proposal A is one mill; half of which will go for maintenance of the drainage system and half for construction of detention lakes and stormwater holding areas. Proposal B is one-half mill to be levied to repay an estimated $4 million in bonds to cover construction of six major drainage projects. City Consulting Engineer Cliff Seiber has worked closely with the citizens drainage committee to develop the proposed regional basin drainage concept. Novi News Editor Kathy Jennings recently asked Seiber to explain the proposed system.

Funds for repairs

Q. You have talked during the campaign about a perpetual care fund. Can you explain more fully how it will work?

A. The fund is based on a method being used in several communities right now. Waterford Township is one, which population-wise is about three times the size of Novi. Waterford requires that developers deposit large sums of money with the township. The township holds the deposit and collects interest on it. They use that interest to maintain the subdivision ponds.

However, that's a very expensive method for the developer because the developer has to deposit amounts large enough to accumulate interest that is sufficiently large to support a maintenance program.

The way it would work in Novi is as the one-mill tax is initially collected during the first few years. The fund would begin to grow and we feel that within possibly three to four years the fund would be large enough to supply between $80,000, $100,000 worth of interest which would be used strictly for maintenance of the system.

After six or seven years we feel the fund will be large enough to support a maintenance program. Actually maintenance expenses would be less after the first six or seven years, because regional ponds will be in place and there will be fewer detention basins. Once you begin maintaining the storm sewer system the annual cost will be less.

As far as guaranteeing that we won't be back, nothing's certain I guess. I don't think the master plan for land use the city adopted in 1980 is the last one that will be adopted. Hopefully the stormwater master plan will be more permanent than that.

For ultimate development this plan will easily handle the drainage problems of the city.

That means there will be no need to collect tax fees from those citizens and they will not have that annual fee, which would continue forever under the current system.

Is city moving too quickly on drain ballot issues?

To the Editor: The proponents of the drainage bond issue state that if your feelings differ from theirs that you're not acting in the best interest of the city. In my opinion this is an unjust accusation.

I feel that the proposals, at this time, leave many unanswered questions. That to put the ballot at this time is premature.

The questions are:
1. The costs at this time are estimates, no definite or approximate construction costs have been established.

2. The starting date of the project has not been determined. However, if the proposals are passed the taxpayers will be assessed immediately.

3. There has been no agreement with the City of Walled Lake which is necessary to implement this project.

4. Why were the proposals put on the ballot prior to the commission's having public meetings explaining their program?

My personal feeling is that the city is moving too fast and asking the taxpayers to make an important decision without a completed and well-planned proposal.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the text of John McLellan's farewell speech to residents of Wolverine Lake village. McLellan stepped down last week after seven years as village council president. His speech is printed as an open letter to villagers.

It was the challenge of being told we can't do it that enabled this council and its residents to have a lake program after years of talk. Eleven-hundred stumps removed a new second well, a permanent drawdown mechanism.

It was the challenge and the persistence that got the residents of Oak Island a new, safe bridge, that got this village one fine park development. And it was all of the residents that pushed for the passage of House Bill 4030, which preserved our village boundaries.

This village is people helping people. Where else does a municipality have a gala event like this village has on the Fourth of July? A showboat, a boat parade. Subdivisions and the lake filled with neighbors enjoying each other's company. Spring Lake Heights subdivi-struction of the regional basins is expected to be $208,000 per year for six years.

Novi's citizen drainage committee has met weekly in public meetings since June, 1981. Additionally, at least 20 public meetings on the ballot proposals have been conducted in recent weeks.

Best foot forward

Boy, it's tough on a skater when the parking lot is sooooo smooth and the skates are sooooo touchy. Susan Rickabaugh, 5, had a trying time staying on her rollers recently when she joined other youngsters in the city hall parking lot for a round with the Skatamobile, sponsored by the Walled Lake Library. Fortunately, Susan received a helping hand from her aunt, Librarian Donna Rickabaugh, who's not a bad skate herself. (News photos by Steve Fecht)

Village Oaks skeptical about Novi drain package

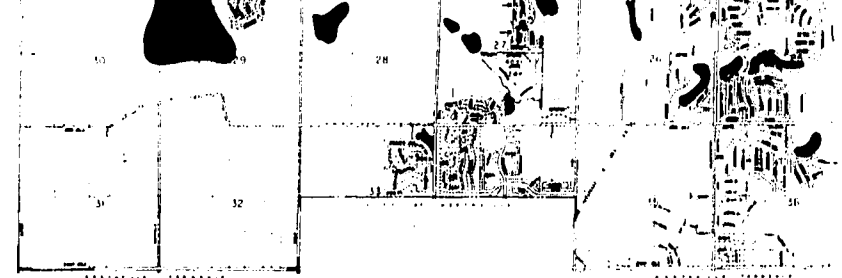

By KATHY JENNINGS
"If this proposal passes and the city maintains the lakes, how can you tell them they can't use our lakes?" Village Oaks resident Chris Weston asked.
It was a fear that echoed through the clubhouse repeatedly as the crowd of nearly 100 persons, believed to be the largest turnout for a Village Oaks Common Areas Association meeting, questioned a proposed citywide drainage system.
They listened patiently while the 1.5 mill drainage proposal was explained. But as the presentation by City Engineering Consultant Cliff Seiber wound down, the opposition of some members of the group became evident.
A flyer stating "The City Wants Our Lake," circulated in the subdivision prior to the meeting.
Novi's citizen drainage committee countered with literature explaining the 1.5 mill proposal which asks citizens to support:

• the levy of one mill for maintenance of the system and construction of 33 regional storm water holding facilities; and,
• one-half mill to eliminate six existing drainage problems including flooding around Walled Lake and the Palmetto Drain project.
In response to their concerns, City Attorney David Fried repeatedly assured the group the city does not intend to create a public access on the lake in the subdivision. He also said city maintenance of the lake would not give the city authority to open the lake for public use.
"Your lake is private property. I assure you Village Oaks Association will have a lawyer sit down and work out an agreement," Fried said.
But the lawyer had many other questions about the proposed drainage system.

"Why didn't you have the decency to explain this program to us prior to us having to read about it in the newspaper?" asked Raymond Gais.
Drain Committee Chairperson Joe Toth responded that all meetings have been public and the committee met every Tuesday night, except during the holidays.
John Schuster objected to the program, saying: "A year ago a representative of our subdivision went to one of your meetings covering drainage and the statement was made that this would not affect Village Oaks and Village Wood lakes. Now your talking about taking over the lake and asking for an easement to maintain the lake. Are you going to be concerned with water quality and the fish we have stocked in the lake?"
Toth said the city would maintain all detention lakes in the city, but would not obtain title to the property. "And as far as chemical treatment of the water, I don't know what's involved. We would have to pass on that decision to the engineers and the city council."
In response to a question of whether public skating or boating would be allowed on the two lakes, Fried responded: "The only city requirement is a drainage easement. That will not affect your rights at all. It would allow water to continue to flow into the lake and allow the city to go in and maintain it. It does not give the city any power over the lake at all. Any right the city does acquire would be worked out amicably with your association. You'll know what's going on."
Another resident said Village Oaks is "being penalized because people around the city didn't do what they were supposed to. Everyone in Village Oaks pays a fee for lake maintenance. That's what should be done in other subdivisions. People get tired of paying for the mistakes someone else has made."
Seiber pointed out that in subdivisions with smaller ponds, which are more difficult to maintain than regional basins such as those in Village Oaks, the city will ultimately be forced to enforce maintenance if the current plan is not approved. "This could be very expensive if the city enforces it," Seiber explained.
"What guarantees do we have that the city will do a better job of enforcement if they take over maintenance responsibilities?" a resident asked.
"The system is not being maintained now; there are no funds to do it," Seiber said. "If it were enforced the subdivisions would have to maintain them. Under a citywide program many of the ponds could be eliminated. Once a city drain maintenance fund is established, using tap-in fees from developers, we believe in six years the basins can be maintained at no cost to the local taxpayers."

He said after the meeting that maintenance costs will be reduced as some existing ponds are eliminated. Most ponds which discharge directly into streams can be abandoned. Those which flow into storm sewers cannot be eliminated.
One resident asked how often the city would dredge the lakes, if the city intends to assume that responsibility.
Toth responded the city would dredge the lake as necessary. "It will cost between $400,000 and $500,000 to dredge. You're not accumulating enough funds to dredge the lake without a special assessment," Toth told the residents.
"One of my worries is that 10 years down the line someone will decide (Village Oaks Lake) would be a nice skating rink," another resident said. "You tell us the lake is private property, but they'll say 'we (the city) have been maintaining it for 15 years and it's ours now.'"
Fried responded that city maintenance does not make the lakes public property. "The city has no right to public access unless they buy the lake and I don't think you have any intentions to sell it."
The city attorney also pointed out to the group that they are part of the Palmetto Drain district.
"That drain is on the books right now. Some day you could be forced to pay for that because it is the drain district you are in," Fried said. "This program would eliminate that. Otherwise it will be paid through a special assessment and you people will pay for it."
Joella Schulman agreed, saying residents in other Oakland County communities are paying large special assessments to correct drainage problems.
"No one in Oakland County planned for drainage and they didn't realize the problems they would have," Schulman said. "Now Farmington Hills and Troy are both paying $50 million. It's all special assessments initiated because the drains are creating health and safety problems. We've tried to come up with an affordable program so we won't be forced to pay a $50 million bill in the future."
As more questions regarding the subdivision's involvement in the original plan were asked, Robert Schram asked the group to consider the subdivision's "historic" involvement in the community.
"It disturbs me that people are not looking at what is best for the city," Schram said. "The point is not whether someone contacted us, but what is best for the city. If this is best for the city we ought to vote it in. If we're only voting them an easement, that's nothing. You all have an easement across your backyard and you don't see the city driving trucks across it. Let's look at this and not be petty. Village Oaks has been at too high a level for that. Let's see what is best for Novi."

CITY OF WIXOM ORDINANCE NO. 39-A7 (1)
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 39-A7, THAT BEING THE BUILDING CODE ORDINANCE FOR THE CITY OF WIXOM, BY ADDING SECTIONS CONCERNING PERFORMANCE BONDS.
THE CITY OF WIXOM ORDAINS:
Section 1. The following Sections are hereby added to Ordinance 39-A7:
Section 5. Building Performance Bond.
Upon application for any building permit for new construction the applicant shall deposit with his application, a building permit performance bond, being a sum in cash in an amount to be specified by resolution of the City Council, to guarantee that he (1) shall remove and cause to be removed all debris, rubbish and trash from the building site and to establish ditches and culverts to properly drain the building area, and reopen and re-establish any drainage that may have been interrupted by the building operation, and (2) shall repair, replace, rebuild or maintain public road surfaces in comparable status as prior to commencement of construction, and in accordance with the requirements and specifications of the City of Wixom.
Section 6. Deposit of Bond.
The performance bond shall be forfeited and deposited in the trust fund of the City where work is commenced under any building permit and the conditions of the building permit performance bond as set forth in the preceding paragraphs are not fulfilled during the life of the permit or any extensions thereof, or within thirty (30) days after written notice is given to applicant to correct or fulfill certain unperformed conditions.
Section 7. Return of Forfeiture of Bond.
The building permit performance bond shall be returned by the City Treasurer to the applicant after final inspection and approval of the City of Wixom of the drains, culverts and roads. If said cash performance bond is sent by mail to applicant at address specified on application, and is returned undelivered, it shall be held and returned to applicant on demand, however, if such demand is not made within one (1) year after the issuance of the certificate of occupancy, the building permit performance bond shall be deposited in the general fund of the City of Wixom.
Section 8. All sections of this Ordinance or other Ordinances in the City of Wixom inconsistent with this Amendment are hereby repealed.
Section 9. That all other parts of said Ordinance 39-A7 shall remain in full force and effect.

Saying 'yes'

Using Michigan products and services was one of the goals at Sheraton Oaks

By PHILIP JEROME

The big band sounds of Woody Herman and his Thundering Jerd blared away from the main banquet room. Just beyond the lobby, guests gathered around the indoor swimming pool to listen to the unique rhythms of a steel drum band.
Out on the cedar deck by the outdoor swimming pool, guests sat at the canopied tables, occasionally walking over to the cabana bar to order another drink.
This wasn't just another party—it was the grand opening of the new Sheraton Oaks Hotel in Novi.
Located on the west side of Novi Road, just off I-96, the three-story, 220-room Sheraton Oaks is almost as long as the Renaissance Center is high. No expense has been spared to make it a first-class facility.
The opening of Sheraton Oaks represents something of a symbol of hope and optimism for Michigan which is still mired in the doldrums of recession.
But more than that, the owners of the new hotel—Gerry Abel, a former Detroit Red Wing and son of Red Wing great Sid Abel, and Tony Wisne of PICO, Investments, Inc.—have attempted to make Sheraton Oaks something of their own personal "Say Yes to Michigan" statement.
"That was definitely one of the objectives," said Raymond Biggs, director of public relations and marketing for the new $10 million facility. "We wanted to demonstrate our support for Michigan businesses by using local products whenever possible."
"There were times when we could have saved some money by going out-of-state to order supplies or equipment, but it was our objective to utilize products made in Michigan as much as we could."
"In the long run, it's good for them, good for us and good for the state."
Unique in its design and appointments, the three-story structure had John Turmala of Southfield as its architect. The contractor was Fordon Construction of Farmington. Furnishings were designed by Steve Mitchell, then with Mitchell & Weiss in Warren, and custom-made in the Walled Lake area.
Abel and Wisne even commissioned Robert Plepenburg, a noted artist from the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College, to create a 24-foot pylon fountain which serves as a dominant feature in the spacious atrium. Even the pictures on the walls in the 220 rooms are originals commissioned from an artist in Ann Arbor.

Now that the Sheraton Oaks is completed, it is providing employment for approximately 200 people on a continuing payroll.
The Sheraton Oaks features all the amenities one would expect to find in a Sheraton franchise, which uses the theme "We've got style" in its promotional campaign.
There are heated indoor and outdoor pools; sauna, whirlpool and exercise rooms; racquetball/handball courts; nightly live entertainment in Anthony's Lounge; first-run satellite movies in the rooms; airport limousine service and shuttle service to Twelve Oaks Mall.
A feature of the new hotel are the four executive suites with wetbars, fireplaces and Jacuzzi tubs for two. Special attention has been paid to business clientele as the hotel offers multiple seminar and meeting rooms, an amphitheater equipped with audio-visual facilities and satellite teleconferencing with stenographic and copy services.
If there's an area in which Sheraton Oaks hopes to make its mark above all others, however, it's in the quality of its dining facilities.
The executive chef is Remy Berdy, who formerly held the same position at the Michigan Inn where he was responsible for the highly-acclaimed Benchmark Restaurant.
Henrik Jensen, a Danish-born, European-trained chef who previously has worked at Fisher's 688, Machus Red Fox and La Rolliserie, is in charge of Anthony's—the Sheraton Oaks' main dining room.
And Peter Loren is the chef de patisserie. Loren's elaborate pastry tables win raves even from his accomplished competitors in the kitchen.
Sheraton Oaks' major claim to culinary fame, however, may well be Raphael's, an exclusive 64-seat gourmet restaurant which is scheduled to open later this month. Chef de cuisine at Raphael's is Keith Farnie, who has worked previously at The Lark and the Benchmark and is establishing an international reputation in the field of culinary arts.
"Raphael's is definitely going to be outstanding," remarked Biggs recently. "It's going to be a five-star restaurant—as good as or better than any other restaurant in the state."

Business Briefs

THOMAS G. PAYNE, a former Northville resident, has been named president of the J.L. Hudson Company, according to P. Gerald Mills, Hudson's chairman and chief executive officer.

Mills said Payne brings to Hudson's a record of outstanding achievement in the retail industry. Most recently as president and chief executive officer of John A. Brown, a department store chain in the southwest, Payne led the company during a period of growth and strong results.

At Hudson's, his responsibilities will include merchandising and marketing.

A native Detroit, Payne began his career in retailing in 1967 with Hudson's. He advanced through the stores and merchandising divisions of the company, serving as divisional merchandising manager of the Men's Division, general manager of Hudson's Southland store, and vice president and general merchandise manager of Hudson's Rain-bow Division.

Payne is a 1962 graduate of St. Mary of Redford High School and attended the University of Detroit. He and his wife Geraldine have five children, ages 10-21.

DR. NICHOLAS DOINIDIS of the Doinidis Chiropractic Clinic in Novi has attended a symposium in Orlando, Florida, on scoliosis (curvature of the spine) recently.

Chiropractic's leading authority on scoliosis, Dr. Fred H. Barge, spoke on new studies concerning this crippling ailment, which is eight times more prevalent in young girls than their male counterparts.

Dr. Barge serves on the board of two chiropractic colleges and is listed in "Who's Who in Chiropractic." His recent book completes a trilogy on chiropractic technique, all of which are being used in the curriculums of chiropractic colleges.

Dr. Doinidis plans to offer free scoliosis screening examinations for a period of one month as a public service.

LESTER MONGER of Walled Lake, a new vehicle salesman for Southfield Dodge, Inc., in Southfield, received an award for his individual performance in selling Chrysler Corporation products.

Monger has reached the Silver level of recognition in Chrysler's unique Sales Professionals Club. Specially-designed incentives are provided by the corporation for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement at three performance levels—bronze, silver and gold. Membership in each level is determined by points earned for sales of new cars and trucks.

The program continues throughout the 1982 model sales year. The top 45 Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge retail sales personnel will win a trip to a three-day national sales convention.

DR. ROBERT YAGOOBIAN, who practices from the Professional Center Clinic at West Seven Mile in Northville, is one of a select group of American Foot Surgeons to be invited to visit professional counterparts in the Soviet Union and China during 1983.

The invitation, issued by the Ministries of Health from the host countries, asked the United States to send a small delegation to Moscow and Peking to observe and evaluate Soviet and Chinese procedures and share perspectives and methods regarding ambulatory foot surgery.

The invitation specially requested that the caliber of the delegation be high, "inasmuch as they must be able to effectively relate with ranking Soviet and Chinese health officials and clinical professionals."

Dr. Yagoobian will be the only podiatrist from the State of Michigan in the American delegation, which is limited to 34 people. The invitation was issued through People-to-People International, the primary group used for foreign peoples to contact groups in the United States they wish to invite for professional contacts.

People-to-People International was originally formed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower as a non-political and non-profit organization to work outside governments to advance the cause of world peace through international friendships.

CARS & CONCEPTS, an automotive specialty company in Brighton, will present its sixth annual Auto Expo '82 this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The event will be held at Cars & Concepts' main offices at 12500 East Grand River in Brighton.

More than 500 special vehicles are expected at the exhibition, which is open to cars, vans and trucks in exotic, sports, antique, vintage, rod and custom and kit car classes. Trophies will be awarded for outstanding vehicles in each class. There is no exhibitor fee.

Activities include a swap meet, flea market, refreshments, music, dancing and door prizes. Linda Vaughn, Miss Hurst, will be on hand to greet the 10,000 expected participants and spectators.

Ticket proceeds from Auto Expo '82 will be donated to the Livingston County United Way Fund. Richard R. Chrysler, chairman of Cars & Concepts, is county chairman of the 1982 United Way Campaign.

General admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for senior citizens. Children under 12 are admitted free.

Small business group sets sites on additional legislative issues

Members of Michigan's largest small-business group are savoring the fruits of pro-business laws passed this summer before gearing up for a fall attack on critical issues that threaten their livelihood when they roll-up their shirt sleeves in September.

According to Roger Haynes, director of governmental relations for more than 20,500 National Federal of Independent Business (NFIB) members, independent-business owners are spearheading a campaign for an equal-access-to-justice law, launching an assault to keep the six-month "temporary" personal income tax hike imposed on April 1981's Day temporary and cracking down on those goods and services the state does impose that could be done better by private companies.

Haynes commended the state Legislature for two laws coming out of Lansing — a forms management program and a higher earnings threshold for businesses that pay the state's single-business tax.

Starting within the next six months and continuing through December 1984, 47,000 state-required forms will be reviewed monthly by a five-member committee for clarity, duplication and ease of reporting. Any forms not approved by the committee will "suspend" (expire) by January 1, 1985.

According to Haynes, the new law will be especially helpful in holding down costs associated with filling out multiple, lengthy state forms.

"Small firms are sometimes forced to pass these costs on to consumers," he added.

"A second 'beachhead' for small-business fight passage of a single-business tax reform measure that should make it more of a tax on profits. Starting January 1, 1984, the earnings exemption

'Less optimism about recovery'

At the first of the year most economists expected the economy to grow at a rate of about five percent during 1982, but that hope has long vanished and the new outlook is for continued sluggishness.

"I think we're less optimistic about how fast we'll come out of the recession than we were six months ago," said Lester V. Manderscheid, a agricultural economics professor at Michigan State University. "I think there's a lot of concern that we may be bouncing along at zero for a while instead of taking off."

"Maybe we'll grow in the second half of 1982 at an annual growth rate of around three percent in terms of output of goods and services."

He also points out that the rate of inflation has dropped to about six percent, that consumer spending has risen since last year.

"This doesn't guarantee that we have started out of the recession, but on the balance, I think we can see the light at the end of the tunnel," Manderscheid said.

Though he concedes that some tough times are likely ahead, he said the last thing the economy needs is a "quick fix."

"I think there is a real concern that if we have major federal infusions into the economy, that quick fix will be quickly translated into inflation," Manderscheid said. "If we can ease out of the current economic situation gradually, we'll have a much better chance at long-term, steady growth in the economy without running into another round of inflation."

War is in part the cause of our current crisis. "We decided to have guns and butter and finance the way by creating hidden inflation," Manderscheid said. "We are paying for that now. I hope we are learning that when we do things like that, one way or another, it will catch up with us."

Two of Western Oakland County's most experienced and successful real estate organizations recently announced that they have joined the Earl Keim Realty organization.

Really World-Shafer, Incorporated, and ERA Parkside Realty, Incorporated, joined the nationwide Keim organization and will be known as Earl Keim Realty West Oakland, Incorporated.

Each office remains independently owned. The new organization can help homebuyers through the statewide network of Keim offices and through its nationwide relocation service.

A NOVI FIRM, Detroit Concrete Products, was low bidder on a Michigan Department of Transportation project in Oakland County for resurfacing and base widening with addition of curb and gutter on US-10 from south of Joes "K" Boulevard north to just south of the intersection on US-10 and M-59 in Pontiac and Sylvan Lake. The firm's bid was $375,798 with an estimated completion date of October 1982.

The project is one of 37 highway and airport maintenance-construction projects involving work in 24 counties let out for bids in Lansing July 21 by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

SEARS IS SPONSORING free admission to the Detroit Zoo for children ages 6-12.

Coupons for free admission to the zoo this Saturday may be obtained this week in the children's department at Sears in Twelve Oaks Mall or any Detroit-area Sears store.

Winnie-the-Pooh and his friends, Tigger and Eeyore, will greet children at the zoo this Saturday and be available for picture taking by Polaroid representatives.

All proceeds go to benefit the zoo.

THE NEWEST JOHN RYAN and Associates Hair Care Clinic has opened in Keego Harbor at 2171 Cass Lake Road. The new location is in a 2,800 square foot renovated building.

The new clinic, which occupies half the building, is part of the largest chain of Family Hair Care facilities in the Metro Area. The new clinic replaces one of the firm's older shops a few blocks away on Summers.

Clowning around

You almost would have thought the circus was in town if you had stopped by the Kinney Shoe store at the Farmington Towne Shopping Center recently. It wasn't the circus, of course, but it was the second annual clown contest sponsored by Kinney Shoes. In the picture above, Gina Barduca of Novi gets a touch-up job from her mother, Laura. Brian Yoder (left) of Farmington Hills displays the winning clown smile which carried him to first place honors in the 7-9 year old division. For complete results of the contest, see the article at the bottom of this page. (Photos by Phil Jerome)

High-tech firm 'says yes' to site in Farmington Hills

Chalk up another victory for Michigan. Another company has decided to "say yes."

Robert Bosch, a $5.7 billion worldwide manufacturer of fuel-injection and electrical systems for the automotive industry, plans to open offices and an engineering laboratory in Farmington Hills in January.

The facility will be constructed on a 20-acre parcel off I-96 between Halsted and Haggerty roads near I-275.

Norman Berman, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, said construction of the Robert Bosch R&D Automotive Applications Center "represents faith in the economic future of Michigan in the most encouraging way."

Berman added that the West German corporation's decision to locate in the Farmington-Novl area was "deliberate, careful and well-researched."

Sales, engineering and administrative groups currently operating in the corporation's Southfield office will move to the $4.8 million Farmington Hills site.

Marc Robling, supervisor of applications engineering and gasoline fuel injection for Robert Bosch, said the Farmington-Novl area was chosen because of its proximity to the firm's major customers.

"We're a high-technology corporation that's well-suited to the area," said Robling. "Another factor that influenced our decision is the availability of technically-disciplined people here."

At the outset, Robert Bosch will employ 30 specialized scientists and engineers from its existing facilities in Charleston, South Carolina; Chicago (headquarters); Piscataway, New Jersey; Salt Lake City, Utah; Madison Heights and New Bern, North Carolina.

Provided the auto industry gets back into gear, Robert Bosch eventually will expand its operations and employ up to 200 people at the Farmington Hills industrial park site.

The development represent Robert Bosch's commitment to furthering its penetration into the U.S. market. Robblings said. Currently, the company's fuel-injection systems are used by heavy equipment manufacturers John Deere and International Harvester as well as Volkswagen, Rolls Royce, BMW and Datsun.

In addition to automotive equipment ranging from air-conditioning compressors to fanfare horns and headlight-washing systems, the 96-year old company manufactures household appliances, packaging material, electrometrical equipment, television cameras and bathroom and kitchen fixtures.

The decision to locate in Farmington Hills was cheered by members of the city's Economic Development Corporation, which has issued a $7 million bond for property acquisition, construction and equipment.

EDC President Robert McConnell views the deal as a satisfying victory because the Farmington Hills site was in stiff competition with others in Chicago and Charlotte, South Carolina.

"Bosch probably will employ 50-100 people and create a spin-off for supplier

Kinney Shoes announces winners of clown contest

Clowns from Novi and Farmington Hills split the top prizes in the second annual Clown Contest sponsored by the Kinney Shoe store at the Farmington Towne Shopping Center recently.

Alice Short, manager of the Kinney Shoe store in the center at Grand River and Halsted, reported that approximately 18 clowns vied for honors in three different age divisions.

Short and members of her staff joined in the spirit of the occasion by also donating clown regalia and passing out balloons.

companies," said McConnell. "This will be a big feature in the profile of our community. It's kind of a perfect marriage."

The fact that Robert Bosch is a foreign interest conducting 85 percent of its research and development in Germany matters little to the Farmington Hills EDC.

"We look at the caliber of the company and the potential for growth in terms of tax base and employment," said McConnell.

These firms are employers and taxpayers in our communities. Remember them when you buy products or seek services they may provide.

Money Management

Vacation housing

It's no secret that an easy way to reduce your expenses is to share them with someone else. This idea has become a popular way of affording vacation housing, whether you use a formal time-sharing system, or buy or rent as part of a group. But you should understand what you are obligated to pay and what you should expect in return for your money.

There are over 770,000 owners of time-shares in the United States, and the prices for a span of 25 to 40 years start as low as $1,700 and spiral up to $26,000 per week. A yearly maintenance fee might be extra. You are buying the right to use a dwelling for a set amount of time — say two weeks — every year for an agreed upon term of years. Although some owners probably bought time-shares as an investment years ago, some counselors might advise against doing so. A major deterrent is a provision in some contracts that forbids selling at a profit, if you are allowed to sell at all.

Time-shares may be purchased or rented. If you buy, you may be buying either a share in the real estate and facilities, or the use of an individual unit for a few weeks annually. In most cases of ownership, you can buy, lease, will or sell your interest in the property. When you lease a time-share, you may be buying a membership in a club that owns or leases the real estate and facilities or you may be buying a lease for a set span of time. Sub-leasing may not be permitted.

A tax advantage of buying a time-share in a resort is that you may be able to deduct your percentage of the property taxes. Interest on a financing arrangement is also deductible. Nevertheless, a time-share has shortcomings. It may limit you to one vacation spot for a number of years, and it may also confine your choice of time to the same period every year. Prices depend on the season.

If time-sharing isn't for you, investigate other alternatives such as group buys or rentals. Although some resort communities discourage groups renting together, you may be able to buy a share with an already existing group. Real estate brokers report a growing number of singles and couples buying second homes together.

Real estate agents will have agreements for rentals, but if you're dealing directly with an owner or landlord, make sure a written statement exists. For summer rentals, the entire rent often has to be paid in advance, or, at the latest, on the day you move in. If you cancel your reservation, you may lose your money.

But, if the landlord cancels, you should be entitled to a refund. A security fee of 10 percent is not unusual for summer rentals. Discuss what the deposit covers and when it will be returned. It might be wise to make an inventory of the house furnishings and their condition to guard against disagreements later.

If you plan to make improvements on the house, make sure you have the owner's approval, especially if you wish to be reimbursed for materials. Also find out who pays utilities and what appliances are provided.

When you rent as part of a group, you might want to designate one person to sign the contract and deal with the agent or owner. But make sure the landlord knows how many people will occupy the house or apartment. Among itself, the group should agree on what percentage each person pays of the rent and security, what that entitles them to, and how to account for damages.

People who buy together may even draw up a contract among themselves. Repair bills, maintenance, decorating expenses, home improvements and use of the residence should be allocated. Also, it is good to discuss how any profits from sale or rental should be divided according to the percentage of each person's investment.

Burglary

Police statistics show that burglary activity increases during August vacations. Protecting your possessions and your family is essential and it can be economical.

A professionally installed, sophisticated security system can cost thousands of dollars, but you can protect your home adequately for much less. Survey your home to determine security needs, and invest in security devices that are most cost-effective.

FBI statistics report 82 percent of illegal entries are gained through doors, most often the front door. Although police say locks are not reliable deterrents, they may persuade burglars to find an easier target.

A second lock, such as a dead bolt, can provide further protection for another $45 to $75. You might want to protect the lock itself with a $25 plate. Even if you stop a thief from breaking the lock, you might not prevent other attempts at breaking the door. Doors can be reinforced with steel sheets ($50 to $120) or plywood. Or you could install a metal-clad or steel door and frame for about $600.

Sliding glass doors and windows also can be secured. Bars which prevent forced opening of sliding doors cost about $30 apiece. Windows can be secured by metal grates ($60 to $150), fastened by locks that cut another $150. You can permanently lock your upper window sash with long nails or screws for only a few dollars.

Experts believe many thieves rob an impulse and are easily scared away by lights or sound. Timers that turn lights on automatically cost only $20, and there are two basic types of security systems that are prohibitively expensive, especially if you install them yourself.

Perimeter systems protect your home against invasion by monitoring entry points. Wired or wireless sensors attached to doors and windows trigger the alarm when the contact is broken. So your cost depends, in part, on how many windows and doors you have. While the wired system is more complicated and more difficult to install than the wireless system, its cost is generally lower.

When comparing systems, price the central control unit which includes the cost of the alarm, although the alarm may be housed separately. A wired control runs about $80 to $150, with an additional cost per sensor of about $10 to $20. (Some sensors may be included.) Extra wire is minimal — $6 to $8 per 100 feet. But don't forget to include the cost of the battery, usually less than $25.

A wireless system, on the other hand, costs about $200 or $300 for the central unit with an additional $25 for each sensor. You can, however, reduce the cost of a wireless system by combining it with a wired system and using less cost by sensors on some entry points.

The other basic system involves space protectors set up inside your home. Disruption of an infrared, ultrasonic or microwave beam signals the presence of the intruder and sets off the alarm. Space devices can be bought for as little as $80 or as much as $300.

Once you install a system, be sure it's working order. If the police have to answer a false alarm — as they do in 90 percent of the cases — they may impose a fine. Since 75 percent of these false alarms are caused by owner neglect or faulty installation and equipment, routine checking can save you the cost of the fine.

Crime insurance

Replacing or repairing your home and its contents after fire, vandalism or theft could prove an expensive undertaking. Therefore, no family money management program is complete unless it includes a sensible plan to protect against emergencies, but do you know how much your home and possessions are worth — and how much it would cost to replace them?

Inflation may well have driven up prices on your silverware, electronic appliances and art objects, which the items thieves covet most, so that you are woefully underinsured. Before you take any other steps, check your insurance to be sure the coverage is adequate.

Information on policies and their costs is available from insurance firms, but the coverage and replacement of lost items has tax implications that should be considered as part of your overall financial planning.

Insurance people will tell you there are two ways to cut insurance costs. First, shop around. Companies that sell directly to consumers usually offer lower premiums. But on the other hand, agents who handle two or more companies might be able to recommend a package better suited to your needs.

Whoever you buy from should be familiar with replacement costs. The second way involves accepting larger risks yourself by agreeing to higher deductibles. While a $100 or $200 deductible is standard, higher deductibles will lower your premiums.

If you are in a high tax bracket, you also could benefit from higher deductibles. Unreimbursed losses are tax deductions while insurance premiums are not. So, if you are in the 50 percent bracket and pay $1,000 insurance premium with a $100 deductible, your entire premium is paid in before-tax dollars as an out-of-pocket, non-deductible expense.

To decide how much replacement you need, figure the total insurance value of your home, not the current market value which is likely to be less. Insurance experts urge you to insure for the full replacement value, but appreciate in value. The list should not be kept with your valuables where it, too, might be taken.

Once you've accounted for all possessions, you can determine the total amount of your loss. The amount of the tax deduction you take depends on the worth of the item and the amount of any reimbursement you receive from insurance and any other source. You must subtract an additional $100 for each theft before you claim a tax deduc-tion. So if you have a theft loss of $600 and the insurance company reimburses $400, your deduction is $100.

The formula to determine the deduction uses the lower of the fair market value and the adjusted basis of the property. From this total, subtract the insurance reimbursement and $100.

The fair market value of the item is the price at which it could be sold. Your deduction might be limited for uninsured loss on theft of valuable property which is 40 percent.

Computer crime almost always involves collusion. One way to tighten security is to restrict the number of employees with access to both cash and the computer. In a small company, Carpenter says, this usually isn't a problem because computer systems are not extensive. The owner of a small business might protect the business by personally operating the computer.

As businesses expand, however, and the number of employees grows, the exposure to potential crime increases. Dividing responsibilities can prevent one employee from controlling an entire system. Transaction logs can provide a trail that deters fraud.

Computer audits can be used to protect your company, say CPAs. Being paid payroll checks, inventory of electronic data, CPAs can recommend safeguards to avert theft. The auditor examines the performance of the computer's accounting functions and verifies answers on a separate computer. By doing so, unauthorized program changes can be brought to light.

Estimates of losses from computer crime now range from $10,000 to $3 billion annually. In addition, police note that computer crimes are reported only 15 percent of the time. With average losses running about $450,000, computer security makes sense for your company.

The most economical security measure for small businesses is personal management. A small business is more vulnerable if its product can easily be carried. In such situations physical security is important. Guards, watchdogs, fences and alarm systems should all be considered. Costs are high, but losses can be more costly.

Despite the costs of white-collar crimes, fewer than one percent of those criminals are convicted and this type of criminal is apt to steal 10 times more than burglars and bank robbers. Losing money to white-collar crime can undermine your profit, sap your company's strength and leave you in financial distress. Money spent on protection is worth the expense.

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.)

White-collar crime, including computer crime, no longer threatens only multi-million dollar companies. Small businesses suffer a higher percentage of crime than larger firms because they often lack internal controls and a realistic awareness of security needs.

However, there are methods to help protect your company against white-collar crime. If you use a computer to pay bills, issue payroll checks, inventory merchandise or perform other accounting functions, your business may be vulnerable to computer crime.

Although professional thieves aim at bigger companies with extensive computer systems, the growing number of people familiar with computer operations increases the hazards to every size company. Regular losses of even $100 can devastate a small business.

According to William Carpenter, a Boston CPA with Wolf and Company

Common sense dictates that quick reporting of burglary maximizes the chances of recovery. If your home is the one out of six that will be robbed this year, you should support your insurance claims with detailed records which can also support tax deductions taken for unrecovered theft losses.

In most cases, you can't deduct the total value of possessions stolen, but you can lessen the final amount of your loss. Start by reporting the robbery to the police and your insurance company. Their records of your report are helpful, especially if the theft loss is questioned. Generally deductions aren't allowed for misplaced or lost valuables.

Keeping a complete, up-to-date inventory of your possessions and their value makes reporting easier. In addition, many insurance companies provide special inventory forms for descriptions, purchase dates and prices of the items in your home. This should be updated whenever you acquire new possessions or when something you own appreciates in value. The list should not be kept with your valuables where it, too, might be taken.

Upon examination of such a child, the doctor looks for things like very large adenoids which, because they lie along the air passage balance inside and outside the middle ear becomes blocked. Children are more prone to such blockage for several reasons. First of all, in infants this tube is not yet fully developed. It is short and lies at a more horizontal angle, allowing it to become easily blocked off and to allow infecting organisms, like viruses or bacteria, to enter it. Also, infants spend a greater proportion of their lives on their backs.

Some children may have a very "collapsible" eustachian tube, so that even a mild congestion causes it to be obstructed. If the tube becomes blocked, the result, as mentioned, is a loss of air pressure balance in the middle ear, and that promotes the accumulation of fluids there from the surrounding tissue. This fluid may cause a decrease in hearing and if infected, will cause fever and pain.

Thus, a simple cold can cause sufficient nasal congestion to block the tubes. So can an allergy. If there is a recurrent cycle of blockage and relief of blockage, there can be a resulting cycle of repeated ear infections.

Q. Our year-old child has repeated ear infections. What caused such infections? Could there be something physically wrong with our child to cause the infections to continually return? What is the best treatment to prevent them?

A. Middle ear infection, which your question very properly refers to, is quite common in young children. It's called "otitis media" to distinguish it from a different kind of ear infection, "otitis externa," which is infection of the ear just outside the other opening. That kind of infection often stems from swimming.

The reason young children are so prone to middle ear infection has to do with the ear structure itself, and specifically the eustachian tube, which is a tiny air passage from the nose that extends down to a point just in back of the

Gymnast brings home more gold

Barrie Muzbeck is toting gold. Despite being less than happy with her performance, the 15-year-old Novi gymnast captured the gold medal in the vault at the National Sports Festival in Indianapolis, Indiana, last weekend.

The gold medal in the vault helped to offset Barrie's disappointment at not winning the over-all championship at the National Sports Festival — an honor she felt she would have had if it not been for a bad fall during her floor exercise routine.

"I really think I could have won the over-all if it hadn't been for my fall on (floor exercise)," said Barrie, who will be a sophomore at Walled Lake Western in September.

"I was working a brand new floor routine which included two very difficult tumbling runs with double-backs. I made the first one, but fell on the second one."

"I could have played it safe and left out the double-back, but I wanted to try some new things with higher degrees of difficulty."

The gold medal was particularly significant because the vault previously had been her weakest area in the four events which comprise women's gymnastics (floor exercise, uneven parallel bars, balance beam and vault).

Last year in the U.S. Junior Gymnastics Championships, for example, Barrie took first place in floor, bars, beam and over-all, but finished far down the list in the vaulting competition.

Why has she improved so much in the vault during the past year? Barrie's answer is simple. She gives much of the credit to Brian McKenna, coach of the girls' track and cross-country teams at Walled Lake Central High School.

"We read the article in The Novi News about Brian and Kathi Harris and decided to give him a call to see if he would work with me as well," said Barrie.

"I've only been working with Brian about a month, but it's really paid off. He said the approach to the vault is a lot like the approach to the long jump and showed me how to start off slowly and gradually build my speed until I hit my peak just before hitting the horse," she continued.

"He also showed me things about moving my arms and legs to increase my speed and forward momentum at exactly the right moment. I can't say enough about the help he's given me during these past two-three weeks."

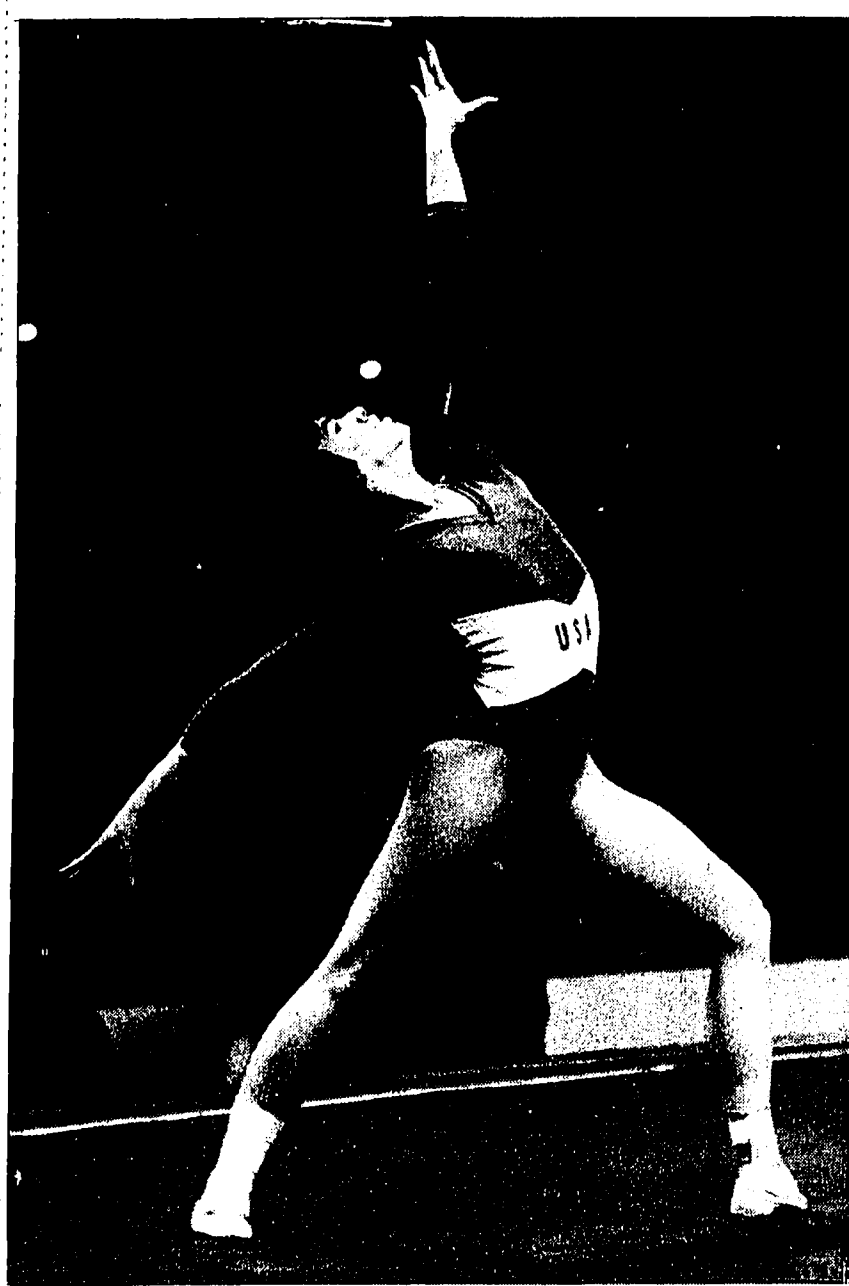

As a result of her association with McKenna, Barrie has now decided she's interested in track and field as well as gymnastics, and revised her plans for making the U.S. Olympic team.

"What I'd really like to do is make the 1984 and '88 Olympic teams in gymnastics and then shoot for the '92 Olympics in track and field," she said.

She's already started working with the javelin which she feels is ideally suited to her background because it requires coordination and the upper-body strength she has developed in gymnastics, particularly her work on the uneven parallel bars.

Barrie's dreams of making the '92 Olympic team in the javelin will take a backseat for awhile, however, as she continues to concentrate her efforts in gymnastics.

In fact, she's currently the youngest member of the United States National Team and is ranked twelfth in the nation among female gymnasts, a ranking she believes will improve considerably now that she is a senior gymnast and can gain exposure by competing in the major gymnastics meets.

Barrie Muzbeck displays the style that helped her win a gold medal.

Bar exam

Novi's Michelle Stephens, 10, faced a bar exam of a different kind during the Junior Olympics Meet at Kensington Metropark last week. It definitely wasn't the type of bar exam taken by aspiring lawyers. It was tougher; the kind you face when you're involved in a chin-up contest. Michelle was a member of the Novi team which qualified for the regional championships during the local Junior Olympics at Novi High School recently. (News photo by James Galbraith)

Novi nine rallies in late bid for crown

Novi's Mickey Mantle squad rebounded from an opening game loss to make a strong run for the Madison Heights tournament championship, but fell short of their goal.

Warren stopped the resurgent Novi contingent 3-1 Sunday to knock them out of the double-elimination tournament. The Novi squad finished fourth in the 12-team tournament.

Eric Kurtchner and Rich Evans, who took the loss, combined pitching efforts for Novi in the 3-1 loss to Warren. The seven-hit attack was led by Rob McCann's two singles. Eric Brooks' sacrifice fly in the third inning drove in Novi's only run.

Novi started the tournament by dropping a 9-7 decision to Hazel Park, which booted off to an early 8-1 lead and then held on for the victory.

Brooks hurled the final three innings and allowed only one unearned run. Brooks, Kurtchner, Bill Ritchie and Craig Santos contributed two hits apiece to Novi's 12-hit attack.

After dropping the opener in the double-elimination tourney, the Novi squad battled back and rattled off three straight wins to get back in the title picture. The first triumph was a 3-0 verdict over Lake Orion 9-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Evans. Ritchie went three-for-three, including a home run and two RBIs, while Brooks added two hits.

McCann hurled another three-hit shutout to give Novi a 4-0 victory over Utica/Shelby in the next game. Brooks went three-for-three with two RBIs to pace Novi's seven-hit attack.

Clawson became the third consecutive victim to fall to Novi, 10-5, as Brooks struck another three-hit shutout. He allowed just one earned run and walked one batter. Kurtchner collected three hits, while Brooks, Ritchie and John Meo had two hits apiece.

Bobcats wrap up perfect season

Novi's Bobcats Swim Club tuned up for this week's league meet with an easy 296-89 triumph over Royal Oak last Thursday. The Bobcats completed their dual meet season with a perfect 4-0 record.

Novi will host the league meet which takes place today and Thursday at the Novi High School pool. Action begins at 2 p.m. each day. The season concludes this weekend with the Michigan State Parks and Recreation meet in Wyoming, near Grand Rapids.

The Bobcats had just too much depth for Royal Oak. "That's why we're always winning," observed Coach Manse Tian. "We can fill every event."

As for the state meet, Tian said the team is looking forward to proving itself. "That's where we'll meet our competition," he offered. The Bobcats took 42 first-place finishes against Royal Oak. Here are their results:

UNDER-8 YEAR OLDS

Chris Foreback was first in the 25 freestyle (19.9) and the 25 backstroke for boys, while Solomon Cleveland won the 25 freestyle (21.5) and the 25 backstroke (23.1) for girls.

UNDER-10 YEAR OLDS

The 100 medley relay team of Chris Cawley, Mark Chigwin, Brian Wohlfeil and Jamie May took first (1:20.0). The 100 freestyle relay team of Bruce Bekkala, Cawley, Wohlfeil and Chigwin took first (1:09.9). Chigwin claimed top honors in the 50 freestyle (27.1) and the 50 backstroke (42.7). Wohlfeil claimed first in the 50 breaststroke (48.3) and May took top honors in the 25 butterfly (18.9).

11-12 YEAR OLDS

The 100 medley relay team of Michelle Patall, Carol Bekkala, Nancy May and Susan Laing took first (1:09.0), while the 100 freestyle team of Patall, Jennifer Clark, Kris Papp and May took top honors (1:10.7).

15-17 YEAR OLDS

The 200 medley relay team of Debbie Wohlfeil, Linda Iseli, Karen Hogue and Lynn Wohlfeil took top honors (2:11.1), while the 200 freestyle relay team of Hogue, Kim Brunett, Lynn Wohlfeil and Debbie Wohlfeil took first (1:59.9).

first in both the 200 medley relay (2:44.1) and 200 freestyle relay (2:27.7). Freyd took first in the 50 backstroke (40.0), while Garacia was first in the 50 breaststroke (41.1) and the 50 butterfly (37.3).

15-17 YEAR OLDS

The 200 medley relay team of Debbie Wohlfeil, Linda Iseli, Karen Hogue and Lynn Wohlfeil took top honors (2:11.1), while the 200 freestyle relay team of Hogue, Kim Brunett, Lynn Wohlfeil and Debbie Wohlfeil took first (1:59.9).

Lynn Wohlfeil was first in the 50 freestyle (27.4) and the 50 butterfly (30.1). Iseli won the 50 breaststroke (37.7) and Debbie Wohlfeil won the 50 backstroke (32.8).

The team of Robert Papp, Erik Balk, Chad Balk and Mark Garacia took first in the 200 medley relay and 200 freestyle relay.

Papp won the 100 freestyle (50.5) and the 100 backstroke (1:09.6). Erik Balk won the 100 breaststroke (1:11.8) and Chad Balk won the 100 butterfly (1:00.7).

Dental Dialogue

of A. Allen Tuckklaper, D.D.S.
CHILDREN'S BLENDED HABITS

Q. What clues might tell me if my child is developing bad dental habits?

A. If your child has chapped lips often or if the lower lip is larger than the top one you might suspect that he is biting his lips. Another bad habit is biting the inside of the cheek. This is a hard one to spot, but look for a swollen flap of tissue inside the cheek. A common habit is nail biting, and if you find you never need to cut your child's fingernails this is probably the reason. You can detect a tongue thrust habit by watching your child swallow.

Be suspicious if the muscles of his chin wrinkle and the tongue pushes forward between the teeth.

This clinic is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of A. Allen Tuckklaper, D.D.S., 24101 Novi Road, Novi 348-3100

Out-of-towners win junior tennis titles

The second annual Novi Junior Tennis Tournament was invaded from the south recently as Northville netters walked off with top honors in both boys' and girls' play.

Northville's Tom Spade continued his dominance in the boys' division as he claimed the tournament championship for the second consecutive year. Spade outscored Bill Swanson of Livonia in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-0, to wrap up the title.

Northville players also prevailed in the girls' division as Sarah Johnson won by default over her sister Brieta. Brieta was forced to pass up a bid for the tournament championship as a result of an ankle injury suffered in her semi-final match.

A total of 10 boys and nine girls participated in the tourney which was sponsored by Novi's Parks and Recreation Department.

Donna Polinsky, tournament director, said she is hoping next year's tourney will produce a larger field of competitors.

Polinsky also reminded adult tennis players that the Novi Doubles Tennis Tournament is slated for August 13-15. The doubles-only tourney will feature individual competition in men's, women's and mixed doubles.

For more information about the adult doubles tourney contact Novi Parks and Recreation at 349-1976.

SCOLIOSIS

Why does it cripple young girls?

Scoliosis (curvature of the spine) is a crippling of the young, striking the 10-19 age group. We don't know why, but girls in this age group are eight times more likely than boys to contract this disease.

To aid in the fight against crippling scoliosis, we are offering a public service: FREE SCOLIOSIS SCREENING. The examination will take less than 20 minutes. To set an appointment, call us today.

NOVI YOUTH BASEBALL: Rob Kress of WXYZ-TV and Tiger announcer Ernie Harwell will be the featured guests when the Novi Youth Baseball League holds its annual banquet on September 23.

Tickets are priced at $6 and include a buffet dinner. For tickets and more information call Dolores Vedro (349-9359) or Barb Ball (624-8033).

SUMMER CONDITIONING: A free summer conditioning program is being conducted at Novi High School by boys' track coach Bob Smith.

The program, which is open to juniors, seniors and recent graduates, runs Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Smith said he will help individuals develop a weight program and teach high jumping and pole vaulting since he will be supervising the track area as well.

Participants can run on the track, play basketball in the gym or go swimming in the pool.

ROLLER SKATING: Novi Parks & Recreation in cooperation with Bonaventure Roller-skating Center is offering discount "summer fun passes." The passes are available for $10 and provide $20 worth of admissions (10 sessions). Skate rental is not included.

There is no limit on pass purchases. The passes are good through September 3. Call 349-1976 for details.

MOBILE RECREATION: Two new units providing nature discovery for youngsters and active sports for the handicapped have been added to the Oakland County Parks mobile recreation program.

Three programs, "Tree Claim," "Zoo Crew" and "Weather Wonders," provide environmental insight through practical and enjoyable learning experiences. The unit is equipped with magnifiers, visual aids, arts and crafts materials, and a knowledgeable staff including parks naturalist Kathleen Dougherty.

The adaptive unit for the handicapped offers an assortment of gear for active and passive recreational games. Handle grip bowling balls for those unable to grasp a normal bowling ball, as well as beeper balls and beeper frisbees for the blind come with the unit.

Bowling ramps, pillow polo games, hoola hoops also are offered. Braille bingo, monopoly and the gamit of board games are included along with musical instruments.

Other Oakland County Parks mobile recreation units include the skate mobile, puppet mobile, sports mobile and showmobile. For information on scheduling the units, call 859-0916.

Novi edges Phillies

Mike Shaper helped Novi Travel Masters post an 8-7 victory over the Northville Phillies by stealing home in the fifth inning in Novi Youth Baseball League action last week.

Both teams needed the victory to stay in contention for the league lead in their respective divisions.

Handling mound duties for Travel Masters was Greg Prost, who broke a finger while hurling a victory over the Phillies last month. Prost hurled all seven innings, striking out four and walking just one to gain credit for the victory.

Scott McWinnie tripled for Travel Masters, while Mike Shaper and Jamie Clancy added singles to the attack.

Mark Olson's infield grounder drove in the winning run in the seventh inning. Defensive standouts for Travel Masters were Tully Gillick, who saved an extra-base hit with a running catch in deep center, and Jamie Clancy, who made a good running catch of a fly ball behind first base to help seal the triumph.

Still time to win golf competition

There's only one day left to attempt to win $1,000 in the second annual benefit Hole-in-One contest sponsored by the Walled Lake Little League and Eldorado Golf & Country Club.

Anyone who records an ace during the contest will win the grand prize of $1,000. The contest ends tomorrow (Thursday).

You don't have to shoot a hole-in-one to win a prize, however. First prize for closest to the pin will be a 1983 membership to the Eldorado Golf Club, while second prize is $100 in cash. A daily closest to the pin prize, along with other prizes, also will be given.

For more information, call 624-1736 or 624-8427. Eldorado Golf & Country Club is located at 2869 Pontiac Trail.

Richard D. Fessler-R

EDUCATION: Graduate of the University of Detroit Law School OCCUPATION: State Representative and private attorney

"Remove rules and regulations that are constricting growth and expansion of small and medium size business in Michigan. Repeal the Small Business Tax or amend it to a tax on profits only.
Unemployment Compensation needs revision.

Property taxes on residential dwellings need to be reduced drastically.
Remove the school operating millage from senior citizens. Earmark one percent of our sales tax revenue for K-12 education and reduce residential and farm land property tax proportions.

The state has a duty to place a funding floor at an established level under each student on a per capita basis per school district. The formulas which have been used for over a decade have not worked or proven to provide equity. It is time for a new approach. Funding should come from one percent earmarked sales tax, partially from property tax revenues and the balance from the general fund appropriation.

My experience and a proven record of representation of the people of my present legislative district and their needs; a voting record which reflects my views and my present constituents' views in that I support job creation legislation for Michigan and I have continually fought to create an environment in Michigan conducive business growth and job creation;

my educational background and my past and present work experience."

Mary M. Fowlie-R

EDUCATION: Graduate of the University of Michigan and the Detroit College of Law
OCCUPATION: Attorney with Standard
Federal Savings and Loan Association in Troy
BACKGROUND: Served as legal counsel to the Michigan legislature.

"We must attract new business. To do that, we must lower the cost of doing business in Michigan. Unemployment compensation reform and tax reform will be necessary. Michigan has abundant natural resources and skilled labor. Those factors must be promoted.

Property tax reform is just a part of the larger picture of tax reform that is necessary. The whole structure needs to be reviewed including the Single Business Tax.

Public education should be funded by property tax revenues which are the most stable tax revenues. In these unstable economic times it is too dangerous to switch to income tax or sales tax revenues for public education funding.

I am an attorney with both government and private industry experience. I spent four years working as legal counsel to the Michigan legislature. There, I drafted legislation and learned how the system works. I am a woman, and the needs of women are not being addressed by the Michigan senate. I am a hard worker and I am willing to dedicate myself to helping to make life better in Michigan."

In the 17th State Senate District race,
Gerald Tattersall-D, George G.
Feuerman-D, and David T. Nederlander-R did not respond to the questionnaire.

E. Leonard Howarth-D

OCCUPATION: Attorney

"Open the market and cut down on regulations. I don't mean favoring special interest groups. I would eliminate that totally.

The immediate thing is to take every public employee from the governor on down and cut their wages 15 percent across the board. Then quit taking the federal income tax out. If we cut the budget down then we could cut property tax.

We should provide more competition for private schools.

(I am the best candidate for this seat) because, one, my body temperature is 98.6. Two, I have a valid Michigan driver's license, and three, my blood pressure is 110/70."

William Broomfield-R

AGE: 60
EDUCATION: Michigan State University
OCCUPATION: Member of U.S. Congress
BACKGROUND: Elected to U.S. Congress in 1956 and has been re-elected in all subsequent elections (26 years); is ranking minority member of Committee on Foreign Affairs; serves on Small Business Committee; elected to Michigan House of Representatives in 1946, 1950 and 1952, serving as Speaker Pro Tem in 1953;
elected to Michigan State Senate in 1954;
served on board of directors of Capitol Hill
Club, 1969-79, and was president of Capito

Hill Club, 1969-74; served in 1982 as member of House Republican Task Force on Real Estate, Housing and Thrift Institutions.

"The inauguration of President Reagan set a new direction for the federal government. The election this fall will determine whether we have a Congress that will revert to the failed economic and social policies of the past or one that will continue to be concerned with promoting the free enterprise system and turning greater control over social programs back to state and local levels.

We must continue to cut and redirect federal spending in all areas, including defense, while also caring for our truly needy. We must also stick with stimulative tax incentives and maintain our efforts to bring down the deficit. These are the keys to reducing interest rates and getting our economy, and the jobs it controls, going again.

We must also be willing to take bold new steps in addressing social problems.
The President's 'New Federalism' in many ways is such a step. However, in other ways it is a return to more traditional methods of doing things. It is a direction I basically support, for it is based on the ideas that there should be a clear and logical division of responsibility among the various levels of government. It means that people and governments closest to a problem can best determine how to meet it.

As one of the most senior Republicans in the House of Representatives, and as part of the House Republican leadership, I will work with and advise the Administration and my colleagues in the House as we continue in this new direction.

My work in the state legislature and the Congress has given me a breadth of experience and background in how government operates which I believe can continue to be useful to the people of my district and state.

For instance, I am continuing to work with my congressional colleagues to make sure the Defense Department gives special consideration to areas of high unemployment when awarding its $3 billion plus non-strategic goods and services contracts. I will also continue to promote our interests in legislation before the bureaucracy. Michigan's strengths and the skills of its people are great, but our story must continue to be told.

If I am re-elected, I will continue to use my experience and leadership position to assure our interests and concerns are heard in Washington."

"The U.S. now has a debt of $1.1 trillion. We pay over $100 billion a year just to service this debt. Next year our government will add up to $150 billion to the debt.

We must stop deficit spending. My basic aim in office is to support and push the Balanced Budget Amendment and to work toward less government spending before and after the ratification of the amendment. No program should be considered exempt from cuts, including social programs and defense spending.

The Balanced Budget Amendment will:

- force Congress to balance the budget except in national emergencies;
- add no more to the over trillion dollar debt and possibly reduce the debt if we have a surplus;
- reduce the government's participation in the money market (reduce interest rates);
- give the financial community the confidence to lower interest rates (reduce unemployment);
- give consumers and business the confidence to spend money and get the economy going (more employment); and
- give the Federal Reserve more control over inflation and interest rates.

The Balanced Budget Amendment is not a cure-all for our economic woes, but it will put us a giant step forward in controlling our economy.

The effort to reduce overall federal spending does not lend itself to trying to increase federal spending in Michigan. However, I feel that a cooperative effort between the governor and all Michigan U.S. congressmen could help to bring new non-automotive business to this state. I would also like to see local manufacturing associations whose purpose would be to sell the products and services of their members to other states.

Currently, there are many automotive subcontractors who have vacant capacity but do not have the ability to market their products or services in other states. I believe that this could be accomplished without the use of government funds.

I am the best candidate for this office because I am a "doer" and have no political debts or obligations to any individual or pressure groups."

AGE: 38
OCCUPATION: Supervisor of Highland Township 1980-present
BACKGROUND: Attorney since 1971, Huron Valley Arts Council Member and Oakland County Chamber of Commerce member.

"Jobs are the number one issue in Michigan today! We must improve the business climate and encourage job creation by reducing the cost of doing business in our state. Further reforms in the worker's compensation, unemployment compensation and single business tax laws are urgently required.

As Highland Township supervisor, I have worked to bring jobs into our community. We must create a climate in which current industries will decide to expand in Michigan and new businesses will locate here to further create jobs.

The people demand and the legislature should enact real property tax relief, not merely a tax shift. My dedication to a severe reduction in the property tax was demonstrated by support of the Tisch I proposal in 1978 and the Tisch II proposal in 1980. Since there will be no tax reduction proposals on the November election ballot, the legislature should act to reduce our absurdly high property taxes. This can be accomplished by reducing the property assessment ratio from 50 percent to a lesser figure.

The exact amount of the property tax reduction will depend on the general condition of the state budget. I support the goal of cutting property taxes by 50 percent over the next several years. We should first look to cuts in state programs to make up for the lost property tax revenues.

By reducing aid to schools the state has balanced its budget on the backs of education. Since 1971 the percentage of the state budget earmarked for elementary and secondary education has shriveled from 29 percent to 15 percent.

Our children deserve, and the future demands quality education. We must reorder our spending priorities away from welfare and back to quality education.

My experience as a township official for four years, and attorney for 10 years, gives me the best background of any candidate to serve as your new state representative. As Highland Township supervisor, I serve as the administrative head of a governmental unit composed of almost 17,000 citizens. In cooperation with the other six members of the Board of Trustees, I have led Highland government along the path of fiscal responsibility. The Highland Township Board has worked together to provide an efficiently run government without the personality conflicts which impeded Highland Township government in the past. As your new state representative, I would continue to serve the needs of the people of the 60th District in this same constructive spirit.

I sincerely believe that my election and the election of other 'new faces' to the legislature will make a difference. With your help, the direction of state government can be turned around so that state government will work for the people to create jobs and reduce unnecessarily burdensome property taxes."

"Michigan suffers from an 'anti-business' image. Revision of existing business and employment taxes to assure that Michigan is competitive with other states is essential. A high technology promotion must provide credits against the Single Business Tax (SBT) for a percentage of amounts spent on wages and personal property since these firms are labor-intensive. Increased deductions against SBT for capital expenditures and property acquisition are further incentives. Unless relief is provided, relocation of industry to Michigan will be thwarted by the Federal Unemployment Debt. Costs of Workmen's Compensation Insurance are still not competitive in spite of recent reforms.

The concern of taxpayers is in the area of ever increasing assessments, further aggravated by state and/or county

"I have spent the last 32 years serving the needs of people. During this period I have been actively involved in many local, county, state and national committees and commissions. I am experienced in legislation, budgets and can readily relate to our local needs. I have the experience, the concern, the desire and the time to represent the interests of my district.

The issues of taxes, education and condition of business are directly related. The eight years I have spent on the Social Service Board and the three years as chairman of the Michigan Youth Commission have uncovered much waste and "Turf Protection" in the state government. I have instituted many reforms in the system via resolutions and new legislation. Two in particular are now saving the state $48 million a year. There is more reform needed and as a legislator I will be able to open many closed doors.

Wednesday, August 4, 1982

I believe that with a needed reduction in the size of state government, sufficient revenue will be available to reimburse local units for a reduction in property tax.

If after fiscal reform has been accomplished, revenue is needed, I believe a sales tax increase would be my choice — maintaining the exemptions on food and drugs. We would be able to capitalize on the tourist income. Thus taking the burden of education off the property tax and placing it on a one percent sales tax increase.

As a small businessman for 32 years I resent legislators with no business experience telling us what is best for us.

We need a complete revision or repeal of the small business tax. More revision is needed with unemployment and worker's compensation taxes. We must offer tax incentives to businesses to expand: i.e. capital gains tax, incentives to individuals and institutions to assist "high risk" investments, and continue to offer property tax incentives.

With fiscal reform, a change in the various tax structures, and increased business revenues will increase. Thus allowing us to fund our number one priority — education for our children."

lightening the burden of the present property tax structure.

Major changes in the Single Business Tax and Workers Compensation and Unemployment Compensation laws, thereby protecting workers and returning profitability to Michigan business, is an essential ingredient in this process.

The Michigan legislature must address its position regarding the relationships between government, business and the private individual and end its ever-growing practice of assuming the role of trying to do everything for everyone and thereby doing nothing very well.

The willingness and desire to change is the single most needed decision in the Michigan legislature. Past experience has shown that the legislature isn't going to change unless the people in it change.

With my election and the election of other experienced candidates from local government, we can and will make the decade of the eighties the decade of change for Michigan and make Michigan work once again for a change."

"Major overhaul of unemployment compensation laws. Continue to attract new industries with emphasis on computers, robotics and genetics.

Property tax relief: A major change in method of equalization by lowering the formula below 50 percent and removing elementary and secondary school funding from property tax, using circuit breaker and usage taxes. Property owner's must have relief and schools must be funded.

In District 24, the economic and geographical status of the two townships and the three cities make up a well-balanced area. It is important to be responsive to their concerns, employment, taxes, health, etc. whatever their economic status.

In addition to the above, work to eliminate governmental abuses and costly mandated programs with no funds in sight. This in effect will lower the cost of taxes for industry. Encourage Michigan to become competitive with other states, using business incentives such as the recently signed Economic Development Authority blended in with Kammer Trust Fund coming from severance tax and sale of state lands and royalties from leases.

This will result in high technology, funding colleges and thereby replacing assets for assets."

"I am a 'Republican' who is young enough to energetically pursue the needs of the voter citizens of the 24th District and old enough to listen to their ideas.

Action in Lansing is dependent on political knowledge and personal contact — two of my better skills.

Redesigning the Michigan tax process will be my priority goal. Based on the fact that Michigan citizens are looking for a 'Fair Share' tax system, I believe the following can be done:

1. Eliminate the property tax.
2. Discontinue the small business tax.
3. Stop all use and nuisance taxes.
4. Re-evaluate costs of all Michigan services.
5. Budget all services so that they would not cost us more than the citizens of other Great Lakes states.
6. Stop borrowing money to pay for anticipated revenue and then paying interest on the borrowed money.
7. Institute a non-deductible flat rate income tax for all citizens of less than 5 percent.
8. Develop a business tax that would equal or improve upon those which other states are now using.

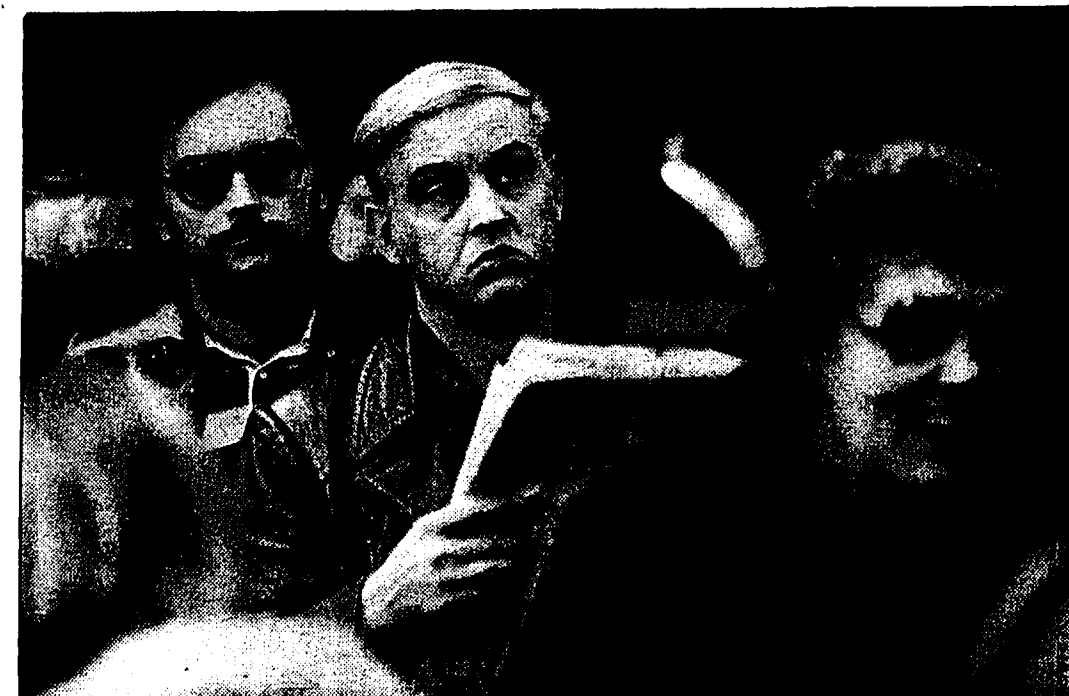

When all these steps are accomplished, business will flood into Michigan — all kinds of new business offering job opportunities for all of our citizens."

mandated factors. Yet, there have been proposals to limit assessments to less than 50 percent of true cash value; to have the state pay a percentage of every bill, to shift school operating cost from property tax to local income tax and to replace parts of the property tax with increases in sales tax or state income tax; and none have won approval. We must seek a workable combination that will afford relief yet not interrupt the functioning of school districts and local services which are vital to the people who pay the taxes.

Public education should be funded through a combination of state and local efforts with controls always at the local level. However, for the past few years, the trend has been to ever declining state contribution leaving the shouldering of more of the burden to the local taxpayer through property taxes. The percentage of total state expenditures allocated to K-12 must be increased starting immediately.

The state aid per pupil must be critically analyzed. We must end state mandated factors that cause more local school taxes and less state aid.

My seven years as a councilmember, with four of those years as mayor pro-tem, have been years of providing leadership, facing issues head-on and making decisions in the best interest of the people I represent. My involvement has extended beyond local government to the regional level through the Council on Regional Development, a SEMCOG committee, to the state level through my involvement with the Michigan Municipal League and the national level through the National League of Cities. I feel that my years of experience and involvement at these levels have certainly prepared me for the position I seek.

BACKGROUND: Affiliated with the Milford Area Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, and Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"Michigan's business climate can be improved by emphasizing the importance of the private sector. We need new and creative land use policies. We need to run our government like a business. We must evaluate regulations and balance environmental protection and economic growth. Put the emphasis on strengthening the private sector and less dependence on government.

The governor's economic recovery program is a first step in addressing the excessive costs of doing business in our state. Legislation has been passed to lower workmen's compensation. Senate Bill 240, increasing the small business profit Single Business Tax credit, has passed. House Bill 5165, establishing 'Economic Growth Areas,' has passed the House and is now in the Senate. Each of these areas must have continued attention by the legislature, and we must also find a way to address the unemployment compensation debt to the Federal Government.

There have been many efforts at property tax reform in recent years, but no proposal has satisfied a majority. We must find a more equitable way of funding local government services, and this must be done now! I supported Tisch Proposal D and Tisch III. I would support a reduction of the A/V to 33 percent of market value, as long as a minimum amount of state funds could be earmarked for public education and local government.

If we continue with property tax as the sole method of funding education and local services, we must review the equalization process.

I do not support a tax shift. We must streamline state government. One of the first steps in slowing government growth and spending is to change the legislature to a part-time body. This would reduce cost as well as set an example of efficient and effective leadership.

Education is presently funded by local property taxes. If the local school district doesn't meet a minimum dollar amount per student from property taxes, the state government subsidizes the district through a complicated formula called 'state aid'. As property taxes increase locally, state aid decreases accordingly. In principle, this is a sound approach to funding public education, only if local governments, through balanced land use, can provide adequate tax revenues. However, we all know this has not worked in the State of Michigan.

Public education should be a major priority and the state must set aside a minimum number of dollars from other tax sources to fund the educational system, but it must allow for the local control. We have tax dollars being wasted in other areas that could be channeled to education.

Our party has five good candidates. I believe I am the best candidate because I have a broad business background and local government experience. I feel government must be run like a business. My involvement with local government and by business associations have given me the experience of working directly with city, township and village government. I am knowledgeable of the concerns of the people of the entire district: property taxes, education, alternate forms of housing, environment and senior citizen housing."

Mary Dumas-R

EDUCATION: BA from the University of Wisconsin
 OCCUPATION: Wayne County Board of Commissioners
 BACKGROUND: Is seeking seventh consecutive term on Wayne County Board of Commissioners in newly-created 10th District. Is a former Schoolcraft College trustee; chairperson of United Community Services Task Force on Youth Outreach and has served as Governor William Milliken's appointee on the Michigan Juvenile Justice Commission; member of the Juvenile Justice Subcommittee of the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council; legislative chair of Michigan Women's political caucus; volunteer probation officer to 16th District Court.

The adoption of the charter and the election of a county executive will result in more responsible county government and the ability to assign responsibility for both legislative and executive action.

Even though we will have a new administrative head, you still need a few experienced people who can recognize the pitfalls of the old bureaucracy, much of which will still be there, and those few individuals who have fought for the reforms and want to help them succeed.

(Dumas has been serving on special committee investigating civil service commission's actions in public works test): If the county is to continue to operate under the Civil Service Act, it must be an honest merit system with safeguards for the integrity of application, testing and appointment procedures for the sake of present and prospective employees as well as the taxpayers.

(Regarding development and expansion of business): It will require a continuing dialogue and cooperation between business, labor and community leaders. Control of mounting taxes will be a primary goal whether by denying increases in the assessment factors or limiting millages.

The economic recovery of Wayne County and restoration of jobs depends upon the aggressive and creative cooperation of industry, labor and government.

"Because Michigan IS Worth Fighting For"

Paid for by committee to elect John Van Dyke, P.O. Box 10, Milford, MI 48042

Livonia Optimist Club; member of the Livonia Youth Commission-vocational scholarship committee and the Livonia Youth Assistance Program Community Action Council; Livonia Police Officers Association Political Action Committee; and member of the board of directors of the Juvenile Officers' Association of Michigan and Ontario.

I am seeking this office because of a sincere desire to represent the people of the 10th district under the newly adopted charter.

People voiced their overwhelming support for county reorganization, and I believe new faces and new blood are needed to make it successful.

The preamble to the new charter pledges to provide more efficient, responsive and accountable government. I can offer that. I don't think the present board can do it.

There's no conflict of interest, and I can be responsive. I have a flexible schedule (as a police officer).

The board in general has just sat back and hasn't done a thing about this (leaking of civil service test) — showing a lack of integrity.

I am pleased to announce that my candidacy has been endorsed by the Livonia Police Officers Association and the Livonia Firefighters Association. Prior endorsements include the Greater Detroit Building Trades Council and Wayne County Sheriffs' Local 502.

William Ryan-D

EDUCATION: Wayne High School
EMPLOYMENT: Manager, drive-in theater

A Livonia resident, Ryan is seeking the Democratic nomination from the 10th District.

Asked which programs he would cut and protect to bring county expenditures in line with revenues, Ryan said he would "maintain those services which protect the welfare and safety of the people."

Ryan also said he considers "the financial situation" to be the most critical problem facing the county. He said he would help solve that problem "by eliminating obvious waste and duplication and unnecessary jobs."

Walter Roesler-D

EMPLOYMENT: Owns hardware store in Detroit

BACKGROUND: Founder and president of Brightmoor Business Community Council; former president, Brightmoor Community Center; former vice chairman, Suburban West Community Center; chairman, Citizens Advisory Committee at Wayne County Community College; former advisor to Governor's Conference on Small Business and President's Conference on Small Business.

During his tenure as president of the Brightmoor Community Council, the group received grants from the City of Detroit for senior citizen home repair. The group also was instrumental in securing a Detroit police mini-station for the area.

Roesler served as president of the Brightmoor Community Center, a program funded by the United Foundation which provides arts and crafts and a hot lunch program for senior citizens, a day care center and a day camp for children.

Should he receive the Democratic nomination for the new 10th District seat, Roesler has pledged to:

1. Implement the new charter: "All expenditures will be thoroughly investigated to insure that critical services continue to be provided for; however, evaluations on each request will occur to insure that budget guidelines are withheld to insure that needless spending does not occur."

2. Dedicate time to constituents: "Dedicate my time and efforts as a full time commissioner, making myself available to my constituents and maintaining an office within the area."

Checking in

The voting process has come a long way from the days when you had to mark your ballot with a pencil and file it through the slit in the box. But one aspect remains unchanged despite punch cards and computerization — the checking in process. Election workers are still needed to make sure each citizen is registered and only votes once.
