Bob Evans plan forces impasse

By PHILIP JEROME

The site plan for the controversial Bob Evans restaurant in Novi's regional center area is headed for the city council "without recommendation" from the planning board.

After discussing the proposed site plan at length last week, the planners failed to reach agreement on whether to recommend approval or denial and ultimately decided to forward it to the council without recommendation.

The Bob Evans restaurant controversy already is in litigation and both Bob Evans Attorney Norman Hyman and City Attorney David Fried stated they were "making their cases" in proceedings before the planners last week.

In fact, the hearing last week was a direct result of the lawsuit filed against the city by Bob Evans, Inc.

The restaurant is proposed for development immediately in front of the Kroger store on the west side of Novi Road opposite Twelve Oaks Mall. Final site plan approval rests with the city council because the restaurant is being developed under the city's PD op-

The site plan was recommended for preliminary approval by the planning board last November but turned down by the city council in January on the grounds it was not in harmony with sur-

Bob Evans subsequently filed suit against the city. The site plan was sent back to the planners last week by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Fred Mester after Fried argued that the suit was invalid because the council had only rejected the preliminary site plan and final site plans had not yet been submitted.

As a result, Bob Evans is now seeking final site plan approval. If the council denies that approval, the restaurant chain is expected to resume pursuit of its lawsuit against Novi.

Further complicating proceedings is the fact that Novi has amended its PD option since the site plan was first submitted. The amended option impowers the planning board and council to determine if the building's architectural design and facade materials are complimentary to existing buildings in the surrounding area.

The amended ordinance states further that contrasts in building design and facade are not to be discouraged unless they can be shown to have an adverse effect on the surrounding area. Fried advised the planners last week that the site plan should be reviewed under the amended ordinance, but Hyman made it clear that the interpretation will be argued in court.

Noting that the site plan was submitted under the original ordinance, Hyman argued that the restaurant chain is entitled to final approval under the original ordinance.

"But even if the new ordinance applies, we comply with all the technical standards," the Bob Evans attorney continued. "The amended ordinance states that contrast in design and facade materials is not to be discourag-

Novi park plans up for comment

One part of planning a city is making space for future recreational areas. And a proposed parks and recreation master plan which does just that will come under public scrutiny at the November 10 meeting of the Novi Planning Board at 7:30 p.m. in the Novi Public Library.

Basically, the plan includes two neighborhood parks and bike/- air." pedestrian paths routed between them and school facilities.

Residents are asked to attend and offer their ideas on the concepts put forward in the proposed plan, Parks and O'Branovic said.

For those who would like to review the plan before next week's public hearing, both the text of the plan and a map showing general locations for proposed park sites are available in the city clerk's office.

"We'd like input on the plan as presented and the approach we've taken," O'Branovic said. "We hope to find out what people think of the concepts presented and how the long-range future of recreation for the city looks."

As an example of citizens' impact, O'Branovic noted that input from residents when the plan was first unveiled before the city council demonstrated the community's interest in construction of pathways. O'Branovic said the estimated 37 miles of pathways now in the plan are on major arterial routes. Bikers and pedestrians will take subdivision and connector streets onto the major traffic routes. On the major routes the city would "provide safe access," O'Branovic said.

"Our plan is to hit the population centers and connect them into as many recreational and school facilities as possible," he continued. "In the less citywide parks, six district parks, 12 populated areas our plans are up in the

He said the pathways, as well as other aspects of the plan, would be developed in phases.

O'Branovic explained one concept of the plan is that the city would provide Recreation Director Thomas fewer parks, but larger parks than national standards would ordinarily dictate. It is believed it will be easier to maintain and control the larger parks, he said.

The proposed plan designates three types of recreational facilities: citywide parks, district parks and neighborhood parks. Citywide parks generally are more than 50 acres, district parks are 15 to 50 acres and neighborhood parks are five to 15 acres.

One citywide park on Ten Mile would have highly active recreational programs, while the second on South Lake would be for passive recreation such as picnicking and hiking.

O'Branovic said he hopes Lakeshore Park and beach can be expanded and

Police report safe Halloween in Novi

"Calm and quiet" was how Novi police described Halloween 1982, nothing like the days when the entire police force was scheduled to handle juvenile pranks.

Police attributed the small number of trick-or-treaters and general lack of vandalism to dank weather and fear of tainted treats.

There were no trick-or-treaters in some areas of the city, while others said the number of children asking for treats was down at least 50 percent.

Lieutenant Robert Starnes said the extent of juvenile mischief amounted to "a couple of eggs thrown and one home sprayed with paint."

"We were ready for about any contingency; fortunately nothing happened," Starnes said. He noted the normal shift procedure was in effect and REACT members helped police scout the city. "We were out in force Devil's Night and Halloween, but the wet weather and Halloween being on Sunday calmed it down."

There was more good news from the Providence Hospital Annex where approximately 400-450 bags of candy were checked for foreign metal objects without incident.

Cindy Panasiewicz, supervisor of the x-ray department, reported no evidence of tampering when candy was x-raved.

"We were swamped from 6:45 to 9 p.m.," Panasiewicz said. She estimated that 130 to 140 families or groups came to the annex to have their goodies inspected.

The bags were placed on an x-ray table and a fluoroscope was run over the bag. Panasiewicz likened the x-rays to screening done in airports, since the hospital staff could see the candy and would have been able to find metal in it. Parents with trick-or-treaters came from as far as Livonia to get their candy inspected, she reported. Police departments from surrounding areas

Novi's Planning Board cleared the way for construction to begin on the proposed seven-story, 250-room facility near the Eight Mile/Haggerty Road intersection by voting unanimously last week to grant preliminary site plan approval.

"We're really pushing hard to get underway this year," said Gerak, a partner in Orchard Hill Place Associates.

"Our goal all along has been to start construction this year and we're anxious to get going.

Orchard Hill Place Associates has proposed a two-phase construction program for the Novi Hilton. The first phase will consist of 250 rooms in a seven-story configuration as well as amenities (swimming pool, banquet rooms, convention facilities) for an additional 150 rooms.

The second phase is proposed to consist of 150 additional rooms, an office building and additional convention facilities. No timetable has been established for construction of the second phase.

Gerak said he currently is making arrangements for release of mortgage money and final drawings to obtain foundation permits from the Novi Building Department. He said he hopes to obtain foundation

"After we get the footings in, we can erect structural steel during the winter and be ready to go with the outside trades at the start of the 1983 construction season," said Gerak.

Get-together planned to introduce students

Novi residents are invited to meet University of Michigan students who will be studying the Walled Lake portion of Novi in an informal meeting tomorrow (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the Lakeshore Park Community Center.

Residents can discuss specific problems or ideas with the students in the session which has been planned to introduce the students working on the project The students are expected to begin surveys of residents this weekend

The study will include inspection and an inventory of the target area to identify and define specific problems. Strategies for feasible solutions to problems identified will be proposed through the study.

Specifically, the students will be looking at problems such as stagnant growth, poor roads, poor drainage, lack of adequate city water and residential blight.

No formal presentation is planned, but reference maps of the study area will be available at the meeting. Refreshments also will be served.

In related actions, however, the council proceeded with the planned reorientation of the Grand River corridor by rezoning heavy industrial property to a light industrial designation. The council acted on 11 rezoning petitions October 25 in a marathon session that lasted approximately Apparently swayed by citizens who said rezoning their property from commercial to light industrial would rob them of the investment they had made in the property over the years, the council decided to retain commercial property on some parts of Grand It also was suggested that the area may someday require services which could only be provided on commercial property. At least 75 persons turned out to encourage the council to reject plans to reorient the current development along Grand River. Rezoning from heavy industrial to light industrial Commercial property south of Grand River from Taft Road west to the Pit Stop also was not rezoned by the city council.

A proposal to rezone property classified for use as small farms to light industrial uses also was reiected by the council. All 11 rezoning actions were initiated by the Novi

Planning Board and had been recommended for approval by that group. Purpose of the rezonings was to bring the city's zoning map into conformance with the master plan adopted in December 1980. Property owners have resisted the rezonings since planners began their discussion of the pro-prohibit expansion in most cases. Others objected that rezoning would reduce its value since it would limit the ways in which it could be used. Planner Charles Cairns recommended the rezonings on the grounds they would create a continuity of land use as the Grand River corridor becomes more heavily developed would create a hardship since they believed it would

by Wayne Loder TELEPHOTO VS. ZOOMS

What's the difference between a zoom and a telephoto lens? That's one of the first questions new 35mm SLR camera users will ask. They know they want to bring distant images closer, but just what is the best way to do that? First off, all long zoom lenses are telephoto lenses, but not all telephoto lenses are zoom lenses. A straight telephoto lens such as a 135mm or a 200mm lens has one image magnification. A 200mm lens quadruples the power of your 50mm "normal" lens. A zoom lens instead gives a range generally from 80 to 200mm quite often with macro capability thrown in Some zooms give a more limited range while others will zoom up to 300mm or more. The biggest benefit o the zoom is that you can back off or close in on your subject without moving.

Today's better zoom lenses are computer designed, offering good resolution with low bulk. Probably 80-90 percent of the telephoto lenses being sold to day are zoom lenses, indicating the great popularity the multipurpose zooms have today if you're considering a telephoto lens, stop by F-Stop, 43220 Grand River in Novi, and let us show you the differences.

Suspect backs down from would-be scam

A would-be thief apparently lost his nerve in a case of attempted larceny at a store in Twelve Oaks

Employees told police a man entered the store and asked if they had an item on lay away for "Johnson." The clerk found a lay away for a "Sue Johnson" and the man confirmed it as the item he was looking for. He then asked to cancel the lay away so he could receive a refund, telling the clerk the item belonged to his girlfriend.

but the clerk said he offered it "hesitantly." When the clerk said she was calling the manager to approve the $24 refund, the man said he had to go to his car in the parking lot and would return, but did not come back.

Two fur coats valued at $900 were stolen from a room at the Sheraton Oaks in a break-in reported

The owner, a member of the band performing at the hotel, said the coats were stolen from a clothes rack near the door of her room. Stolen were a $500 blue fox vest and a $400 waist-length coat.

A Whitmore Lake man reported the theft of a 1982 Chevrolet valued at $10,000 from the Twelve Oaks parking lot. The man said the car was stolen while was inside the mall making telephone calls for

An estimated $1,300 worth of hockey equipment was stolen from a car parked at Twelve Oaks Mall. The owner, a West Bloomfield woman, told police the equipment was stolen while she was in the mall approximtely one hour. Police informed the youth he would be expected to make restitution for the damage to the property. The property owner said he has not yet determined the value of the damage.

Halloween and Devil's Night were extremely quiet in Wixom, according to Wixom Police Chief Phil Leonard.

Leonard said only about half the usual number of children were out trick-or-treating in the city Sunday night, which he attributed primarily to widespread concern about tampering with food in other communities.

Leonard said Wixom police did not have metal detectors on hand to check children's candy, but that they could have made the service available through another agency. Nobody asked police to check their child's candy, Leonard said. He also noted the Wixom CB Club was helpful in keeping a watch over Wixom children and houses on the two nights. He said about 10 CB units were out on Halloween and "they did an excellent job." A Wixom resident called police October 30 to report that Wixom Food Market was selling Hygrade Ballpark Franks after the hotdog company that manufactures them had issued a recall. The recall was ordered after reports that consumers had found razor blades in the hotdogs. However, Wixom police said the store had indeed removed the Ballpark hotdogs from its shelves. Hygrade Beef Franks, which were not part of the recall action, were on sale at the store, police said.

Two "district" parks are planned in each of three sectors in the city. One with a bike-park theme is envisioned between I-96 and Meadowbrook Road at the end of the M-275 bike path. Another is proposed in the northeast corner of the city to tie in with plans for a retention area. A similar park is proposed in the southeast portion of the city, in an area south of Nine Mile near Garfield Road. A fourth district park is proposed near Cherry Hill on either the east or west side of Meadowbrook Road. The fifth proposed park is near Fire Station III, south of Nine Mile behind the Weltronics facility. A sixth is seen near the existing Bosco Field. O'Branovic said it is anticipated the owner of Bosco Field may someday wish to sell the property which is now the site of Novi Little League play. The city would like to see that area remain available for Little Leaguers and may someday attempt to acquire property there or in the surrounding area.

Neighborhood parks average 10 acres in size. They are less intensely developed than other parks and are designed for passive, unorganized recreation. Students put SWOVEC-ian airforce on drawing board

By KATHY LAVEY

If a rival school somewhere, someday, plans an air strike, the Southwest Oakland Vocational Education Center (SWOVEC) will be ready for self-defense, thanks to a high-flying project that is getting off the ground in Carl Monroe's

Engineering Design and Illustration classes. This winter, interested senior students in those classes will construct two motorized, radio-controlled airplanes. By doing so, they'll double the size - and upgrade the technology — of what principal John Xenos has gleefully dubbed the The air force is the brainchild of commander-in-chief Monroe, a former U.S. Air Force officer who admits to having flown model planes as a youngster. "I saw people flying radio controlled models on television and I thought it looked like a project we could do ... it also looked like fun," he admitted. The first division of the SWOVEC-ian Air Force, one glider with an eight-foot wingspan and one known as a "two meter" plane because of its two meter (about 78 inches) wingspan, took to the air behind SWOVEC last year — and, to Monroe's relief, stayed there. "It was a success," he reported. "The longest flight has been about 17 minutes, but people more expert than we are have flown them for hours."

Because they are cheaper. Monroe purchased glider kits for the students, then assigned them to redesign various parts of the aircraft structure using techniques they were learning in class. "With many projects in a school situation, (students) do it and nothing is really produced from it," explained Monroe. "This is something they can draw and manufacture by themselves. It's more of a hands-on situation. You get direct results because you can draw it, make it and try it." Student re-design of the glider plans included such things as relocating weights, changing the angles of air foils and modifying the wings. Modification didn't stop after the planes were constructed, Monroe said. Instead, students are currently modifying existing planes as well as planning the Work is slated to begin next month on the motorized division of SWOVEC's Air Force. To construct that new technology, students will be using new technology -SWOVEC's new "CAD" (computer aided drafting) system. The CAD uses a mechanical arm to draw plans to specifications spelled out in a computer program written by students. It will soon be used to draw the design of a new wing structure for one of the air force's existing planes. "Because the wing is tapered, each rib will be a different size," Monroe explained. "(The students) can plug a formula into the CAD and it will automatically draw the wing for them.'

Whether the planes wind up in the air or grounded due to technical difficulties, their redesign and construction is a "good learning experience" for students, It's also a unique one. "To my knowledge, we're the only school (that's doing

We suspect that Jack Hoffman, former editor of The News and now general manager of Sliger-Livingston Publications, may date the start of "modern Novi" from the days of former Mayor Joseph Crupi. know too much about. And some people I know even less What's worse is I suspect I'm part of a huge majority of voters who do the same thing. You know, we've been hearing about the election for weeks on the radio, on television. We've been reading about it for weeks in the daily and weekly newspapers. We may even have gone to a candidate's night to try and sort out the confusion of which name goes with which platform.

But when it comes right down to it, it strikes me as virtually impossible to know enough about all the candidates in all the races, or even most of the candidates in most of the races, to be a truly informed voter. The catch to that situation is that if you've spent weeks following an election and you're still confused about who to give your vote to, what do you do on election day morning when the choices confront you? Do you cross your fingers and pray before pulling the lever? Do you vote for a minor-party candidate you know won't win just to demonstrate your opposition to the whole selection of candidates? If you're like most of the people I know, you've probably done some of both — as well as voting for someone's rival because you can't stand the shoo-in candidate. In our office, we have a philosophy: If you don't know anything about it, don't vote on it. That means if you've never heard of any of the people running for county commissioner, don't vote. If you don't know who's running for board of regents of a particular university, don't vote. If you have no idea what Proposal A is, don't vote. Vote for governor or president, but not in races where you know none of the issues. But who does that? I mean, you go into the booth, "Hmmmmmm. I see Fred Mester is running for Oakland County Circuit Court Judge. I know that name from somewhere. Guess I'll vote for him.' As one man I work with said, you might just as well go into the booth and say, "Oh, look. Attila the Hun is running for Wayne County Commissioner. I've heard of him.

About Town

By STEVE FECHT

look at the race and see a name:

Sure, I'll vote for him."

While that's a bit dramatic, the point is a valid one. We as voters are frequently pulling levers for people we never heard of or whose names we happen to like. Or worse, for those whom we think must be "somebodies" because we are pretty sure we heard something about them but can't remember what it was so let's hope it was

Now, I ask you. Is that any way to run an election? And when it comes to ballot proposals, the situation is just as bad. Trying to sort out who is on which side of the issue and which side's opinion you're going to trust is distressing, to say the least. For instance, I was pretty sure I was going to vote against the utilities ballot proposals and I knew I was going to vote against the one for an elected public rate commission (because who needs another race filled with people you've never heard of). Then I read a letter my dad got from his employer Michigan Bell, telling all "Dear Managers" to vote against the three proposals and encourage their friends, families and employees to do likewise. Suddenly, I wasn't so sure I wanted to vote the same way anymore. Not that Ma Bell hasn't been good to me. It's just that I'm not convinced that what's bad for Bell is bad for me in the short run. Maybe in the long run if Bell is having trouble getting its rates adjusted, it'll just figure out another way to get its piece of flesh from my checking account. Like everybody else.

I ask you, what's a voter to do? Whose side do you get on? And if you don't know, should you vote? Frankly, I'm not sure. I do think voting may be our greatest privilege and right and is something not to be taken lightly. There are a lot of people who believe that too: I saw them yesterday morning standing in line at South Lyon City Hall, where I vote. I saw them standing for hours in a snake-like ribbon that wrapped around Orchard Hills Elementary's gym during the 1980 presidential election. But I also saw the campaign workers out there trying to win one more vote from someone who didn't know much about the race but might decide to vote for the guy who shook his hand in front of Precinct One. Ahhhh, free will.

Variety is the spice of life. Variety is "the absence of sameness or monotony, a different form of the same thing" according to Webster's dictionary. Who among us thrills over monotony? Perhaps the death of creativity would come if everyone were the same. Try to imagine calling home and all the phone had on it was the digit seven Think what the piano would sound like if, instead of having four fingers and one thumb, we were all thumbs. How boring the novel would be if the novelist repeatedly wrote

These absurd pictures establish the obvious need for variety. Yet even in variety there is a pattern of limitation. When this pattern is broken, an imbalance occurs to our lives. For instance, when we look at our hand we see that no two fingers are the same. It would be abnormal if they were. Numbers are different yet math is impossible as a science if numbers represent dif ferent values from one day to the next. So the pattern allows for variety, but variety must maintain its own pattern.

The pattern of church attendance is a critical one in our lives. There is only one person who suffers when church is neglected-you. Too much variety in life is when we neglect God and ignore His Word. The family that is too busy for God on Sun-

Oldest Northville store changes with the times

The Dom Perignon champagne vintage 1928 displayed on the counter of The Liquor Shoppe at 115 East Main in Northville doesn't have a price tag on it because it isn't for sale.

Proprietor Jim Spagnuolo explains it was given o him by the grandfather for whom he was named before his death in 1981. The elder Spagnuolo had bought the business in 1918. Known as the oldest in downtown Northville, it initially was a grocery store and later, under son

Joe Spagnuolo, became a package liquor store known as Spagy's. The fine champagne resting on the new brass-top counter is symbolic of the complete renovation of the 64 year old family business that Jim Spagnuolo is buying from his father. When his grandfather bought the business, it was located at 113 East Main. Early this year the original owner's grandson made plans to move one door east to a building the family also owns to gair added storage space. The move became a total renovation indicated in the name change to The Li-redesigned facade. "We're really pleased," Jim Spagnuolo said last week after the store's grand opening October 23. He said that he and his father hadn't contemplated the expansion initially and, the year before, had been planning to "pack up and move." It was the improvement the Mainstreet '78 renovation brought to the downtown that caused the Spagnuolos to plan their own remodeling, Jim "Without his help, we couldn't have visualized this." he says. The work was done by Jack Scrivens of Oakland Hills Building Company. Scrivens personally built the brass-top counters, Spagnuolo points out.

Total cost of the renovation will be about $80.000. He is the first local businessman to take advantage of the city's program to loan funds at low interest for facade improvements to businesses in the downtown development district. The project is part of the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Program The interest free loans of $2,000 are designed to help local businesses get started with facade renovations. They are being offered as a result of the block grant allocation for this use by city council. About 25 are available, but businesses must make application by December 3. Jim Spagnuolo already has made application and 'We decided to flow with the town. Northville's on its

WARREN SEWING CENTER is now open for business in the Novi-Ten Shopping Center at the corner of Ten Mile and Meadowbrook Road

The new store sells White and Elna sewing machines, Sanyo kerosene heaters and ceiling fans. The store also carries sewing machine cabinets and offers repairs and parts for virtually all models of sewing machines.

"The concept is to create a store which will help people save money," said Dennis Salamango, owner of the new store. "People who like to make their own clothes will find a wide range of sewing machines, and the kerosene heaters and ceiling fans can help people shave dollars off their home heating bills. The whole purpose of the store is to help consumers save money.'

Warren Sewing Center in Novi is affiliated with the Warren Sewing Center in Centerline which has been in business 29 years. Salamango has worked at the Centerline store for 14 years.

"We are putting strong emphasis on customer service," he said. "When people come to our store, they will be talking to people who know what they're doing and are experts in the servicing of sewing machines. We've been in business a long time and know what we're do-

The most dramatic time

And light for the new day

Sunrise is full of cheer

Of the day.

But sunset

Of the sun.

Is the death

As it slowly sinks

Into the twilight

And peace at last.

Waves rolling by

on tiny crested feet

far above the hear clouds strolling high

as night begins to end

another day to tend ...

The rain is falling slower now

sweat begins upon my brow

Rising with the glowing sun falling with the evening mist

till once again we have kissed but yet another day will end when my love i will but send in a happy, longing, loving sigh..

Secret Stars

in the echo of my goodbye

Night approaching,

Hope — never lose it

Faith, hope and love

Faith, hope and love

Oh how I cherish these three

The mystical stars are ever nearby

In blossoms of earth or the infinite sky; No matter where you happen to be,

There are stars for you and all to see.

By carefully looking at flowers or weeds,

You will find in their hearts or hiding in reeds

A five-pointed star, and sometimes more In the basic design of petals or core.

In silent radiance they seem to express

With wondrous assurance, God's promise to

Summer's End

A living reflection of heaven's caress.

The star is a symbol, since life began

Brown eyed susans stare

Nothing to gain

It's up to you

To live free

To die free

Love - never abuse it

These come from our father above

To live without them is to live in vain

Half-closed lashes cannot hide

The fidelity to autumn charm

With your hidden glance.

A brick wall — solid, dependable, Like a good marriage. Built on a sound foundation It rises steadily, brick by brick for the wedded Cold winds may blow, frost will coat,

But it stays firm, untroubled. Hot sun bakes it. But it radiates warmth to all who come near Children will come and go.

Climbed on, sheltered behind. Used as a stepping stone to greater heights. Ignored, the cement will crumble, Like a marriage will. With harsh words, neglect, apathy

But a little attention will restore it

Leaving their marks,

To its former strength.

Streaks are made to be broken. That's what the Novi basketball team discovered last week as the talented Wildcat cagers saw their 11-game winning streak halted 48-41 by the defending Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) champions from Brighton on Thursday. It was the first KVC loss of the season for the Wildcats whose 9-1 record in the league gives them a two-game bulge ever the Bulldogs who are second at 7-3.

Odom wins grid prize A familiar name is back at the top of the weekly Northville Record/Novi-Walled Lake News football contest. Northville's Chris Odom captured the $10 first prize over four other contestants. all of whom tied with 12 correct answers. Odom was a consistent winner in last year's contest, claiming first place honors six times. His victory this week marked his first appearance in the winner's circle

Odom took top prize by virtue of his prediction on the Arizona State/Southern California tie-breaker. He selected 34 points and 27 was the actual number. Northville's Bruce Martin, no stranger to the list of winners, claimed the $5 second prize with his guess of 41 points. Farmington's Art Thompson and Northville's Bette Moran tied for the $3 third prize with 44 total points. Northville's Bob Martin also had 12 correct winners, but predicted a total of 54 points would be scored in the tiebreaker game to lose out on Five entrants had 12 winners, six had 11 winners, five came up with 10 correct predictions and eight guessed the outcome of nine games correctly.

Warrior thinclads smoke field to win Western Lakes crown

Walled Lake Western's talented cross-country team added another laurel to its stellar season b claiming the first-ever Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) championship last Tuesday. The Warriors were simply awesome as they placed four runners in the top 10 and claimed all the marbles by scoring just 39 points to easily outdistance Livonia Churchill which was second with 49. Livonia Stevenson was a distant third with 111

"It was the best we've run all season," said an elated Dennis Keeney, coach of the Western harriers. "I didn't have to say anything to them before the meet, they just went out and did the job."

The WLAA championship helped offset the disappointment in the MHSAA Class A regional meet Saturday. Western failed in its bid to qualify for the state meet by finishing fifth in the 21-team, 147runner field with 181 points. Milford won the regionals with 114 points, followed by Lansing Eastern (162), Howell (167), Brighton (180) and

Despite the disappointment in the regionals, Keeney was clearly pleased with the Warriors's WLAA championship. Ken DuBois from Stevenson was the top finisher in 15:46 and Churchill's Don Miller finished second in 16:31, but after that the Warriors dominated.

Kyle Chura finished third in 16:34, Chris Mein was fourth in 16:36. Mark Wagner took sixth (16:39). Tony Dodge took ninth (16:59) and Steve Creech came in 17th (17:17) to round out the Warrior scor-

honors by finishing in the top seven, while Dodge and Creech received All-Western division honors on the basis of their ninth and 17th place finishes. Western also won the WLAA junior varsity meet as Brian Rilett, John Blake and Craig Schumann took first, second and third; Greg Daviskiba was seventh and John Kody came in 12th The regionals were a different matter, however,

'It was the best we've run all season. I didn't have to say anything to them before the meet, they just went out and did the job. - Dennis Keeney, three and qualify for state "It was one of the toughest regionals in the state and I think we were tired from having run four big races in the last nine days," commented Keeney. 'If we had run in the regionals like we did in the league meet, I think we could have won. But we just came up flat.' Chura was the top Warrior finisher at the regionals as he placed 16th with a time of 16:30. Mein took 21st (16:41), Wagner was 22nd (16:44), Rich Peck was 56th (17:24) and Dodge came in 66th

The failure to qualify for state brought to a close one of the most successful cross-country season in Western's history. The Warriors had a 6-1 dual meet record in addition to winning the Western Division '

Keeney admitted, however, that he's already looking forward to next year. Chris Mein and Tony Dodge are the only varsity runners who will be lost to graduation, and Chura, Wagner and Peck head up a strong returning cast which also includes Tom Julian, Don Mazur, Creech, Rilett, Schumann and

'We were disappointed at the regionals," admitted Keeney, "but it just made me more determined and the kids more determined. It's going to be hard as the Warriors failed in their bid to finish in the top Western's basketball team last week. But the bad news was enough to overshadow it. On the positive side of the ledger, the Warriors upped their record to 10-6 by beating Redford Union 60-46 Tuesday and Plymouth Canton 64-48 Thursday. But the bad news was that super sophomore Nanthe Tuesday game and currently is hobbling around

"It's a tragic break for the team and a tragic break for Nancy because she's worked so hard and come so far as a sophomore," commented Roy Artley, coach of the Western quintet. "The doctor said the cast will come off November 18, which is the first game of the districts, but I seriously doubt that she'll be ready to play," he added. "She's got a good many years ahead of her and we don't intend to risk any further injury for the sake of a basketball game.' The injury to Leach occurred in a 60-46 victory over Redford Union, which Artley called "the most physical game we've had this year.' Redford held a 27-24 halftime edge, but the Warriors surged back into the lead with a 22-10 advantage in the third quarter and then outscored their opponents 14-9 in the final stanza to clinch the

Val Hall, another of those super sophs at Western, paced the attack with 15 points, but she got plenty of help from Fran Cullen who had 13 and Leach who tossed in 12 points before being injured in the third quarter. Cathy Artley with nine points and Betty Gross with eight also played strong games. The 64-48 conquest over Plymouth Canton was

There was plenty of good news for Walled Lake sweet because it avenged an earlier 48-45 setback and enabled Western to tie the Chiefs for second place in the Western division of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) Western opened up a 22-16 lead in the first eight'

The Novi Wildcat football squad got its revenge against Milford 24-14 last Friday to complete the Kensington Valley Conference season in a second-place tie

The triumph over Milford atoned for last year's 10-9 upset by the Redskins. It vas Novi's only loss in winning its first KVC title. "Air Osborne" had little trouble getting off the ground as quarterback Eric Deline piloted the high-flying Wildcats to three touchdown passes. The senior signal-caller lit up the sky by connecting on 13 of 26 aerials for 225 yards. Todd Crutchfield completed one of three passes for 18 yards to give Novi a total of 243 yards through the air.

Dave Williams hauled in six passes for 102 yards and two touchdowns to lead the receivers. Tim Bunker caught three passes for 71 yards. Vince Meo paced the rushing attack with 79 yards in nine carries, while Leonard Vetere gained 32 yards in nine attempts. In all, Novi mustered 384 yards of total

"We moved the ball nicely and the yardage indicates that," veteran coach John Osborne said. "We had a nice blend with 29 passes and 26 rushes." Deline started the aerial assault with a six-yard scoring pass to Williams in the first quarter before bombing away at the Redskin defense. Williams was on the receiving end of a 47-yard strike in the second stanza and Bunker caught a 33-yard bomb for another touchdown in the final quarter. Kerm Stahr added a 27-yard

Milford tallied once in the third quarter on a four-yard pass from Rick Gordon to Dan Mitchell. The Redskins scored late in the fourth quarter when Greg Cronin found Roger Crouse for a three-yard touchdown pass. 'We scored 24 points and missed two excellent scoring opportunities," Osborne related. "But, we pretty much controlled the game after some rough moments." The rough moments came early in the first quarter when Milford recovered some fumbles deep in Novi territory, but the Wildcat defense rose to the occasion

'The defense played really well. It held Milford out of the game early when we had a couple of fumbles early in the first quarter," Osborne said. There were some changes made at the linebacking position which Osborne said worked for this contest. John Thomas led the defense with six first hits and seven assists. Tom Knasiak added eight first hits and three assists, while Erik Balk had even first hits and three assists in only half a game's action. Milford was not far behind Novi in the total offense department as it finished with 286 yards. Central cagers fall

Plymouth Salem had a little surprise in its bag of tricks Thursday and in one quick burst wiped out Walled Lake Central's chance of pulling an upset against the Western Lakes cage leader With the Vikings on top 18-15 early in the third quarter, Salem shocked Central coach Ken Butler by shifting from its usual man-to-man defense into a halfcourt trap which dropped back into a zone. "They never play a zone. Salem's boys and girls just never do it. We couldn't figure it out, they scored nine in a row and that was the ballgame," said Butler. The final was Salem 35, Central 26, but that nine-point burst ended the game for all intents and purposes, Butler said. "They handle the ball so well that any time they get the lead in the second half you may as well go home," he remarked. "The game looks close, but it's not. Losng to them by nine is like losing by 100.'

There was no way the Vikes were going to come from behind against a team with the quickness and ballhandling ability that Salem had. Pressing was a waste of time. All Central could do was hope that enough of its good shots fell through the cords to keep it in the ballgame. Butler might have asked for a little bit more in that department. Numerous

"Our motion offense worked well in the first half, but we missed some shots. (Sherry) Strohs and (Shauna) Anderson only got two points between them against Salem. You can't have games where you only get two points out of those two

Patty Fitzgerald and Caryn Lamb carried what scoring there was, tallying 10 and eight points resepctively. Most came in the first half, because once Salem got the lead, it really slowed the game down. "We probably didn't get 10 shots in the second half. They do hold the ball very."

Scoring was a little more common in Central's 53-40 win over Livonia Stevenson last Tuesday. Four players hit double figures for the Vikes, who had a good shooting night, according to Butler. The game was tied 22-22 at halftime before Central could get its game together and put away the scrappy Spartans.

"That's the first time that I can recall having four players in double figures. We shot well and played well against a pretty good basketball team," Butler observ-

Anderson topped Central with 13 points. Fitzgerald and Strohs each scored 12

The split for the week left the cagers with a 9-6 overall record and an 8-5 league mark - good enough for third place in the Lakes Division. The league tournament begins tomorrow and Central opens at home against Plymouth Canton. The single-elimination tourney continues next Tuesday and will conclude next Friday with the championship game.

SAVING FOR THE HOLIDAYS CAN BE A BEAR.

You've heard the saying, "Christmas comes but once a year." Well, for people with a stack of bills to pay in January, once is quite enough.

But now, First Federal of Michigan can take that Bah-Humbug spirit out of your next holiday season when you join our Christmas Club now. You'll be prepared for those January bills and your money will be earning 51/2% per year, daily interest, paid and compounded quarterly.

And when you join now, we'll give you a present. A Christmas Cub Bear like the one you see here, free with a weekly deposit of $20 or more. Or only $2 with a weekly deposit of $10.

Stop by any branch office for full details on First Federal's Christmas Hanukkah Club. While you're there you can enter our drawing to win a big 40-inch Christmas Bear to be given away at each office, Decembe 17, 1982. Everyone's eligible. No obligation.

Open a Christmas Club account at First Federal of Michigan today. Next year you'll get many happy returns.

All area women are invited to participate in the celebration.

Leona Riebling of Northville will be the featured speaker during the celebration. Riebling is a member of Salem United Church of Christ in Farmington. She is newly-approinted neace consultant for the east area of the Michigan (United Church of Christ.

Riebling will speak on "Witness for Peace in the Michigan Conference." Within a year, the consultant hopes to have identified a team of peace advocates in at least half the congregations in her area — about 35 churches. She will be responsible for designing and sponsoring training workshops for the peace teams.

World Community Day began during World War II and has focused on the issues of global justice and peace, making Riebling's remarks especially appropriate.

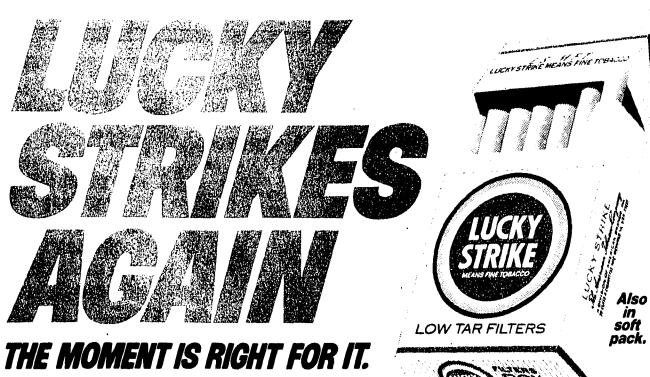

The theme for this year's celebration is "Scarcity/Abundance." The writers of the service hoped that celebration of World Community Day will be a causeway or bridge spanning the gap between scarcity and abundance, said a spokesman for the local chapter of Church Women United.

As part of the celebration, women are asked to bring one non-perishable food item for the Novi-Northville Fish closet and any clean usable blankets for the

As usual at all Church Women United functions, babysitting will be provided. Church Women United is a national movement through which Protestant, Orthodox and Catholic women express the ecumenical dimensions of their faith. Locally, eight churches are founding members. More member churches are welcomed from Walled Lake, Commerce, Novi, South Lyon and Northville. For more information on Church Women United, call Mary Jo Mathias, president of the local chapter, 348-3829.

NOTICE REGARDING POSSIBLE CHANGES IN AVAILABILITY OF ADVERTISED GOODS & IN QUOTED PRICES This advertising circular is not prepared by this retail merchant, but by our wholesaler, Hardware Wholesalers, Inc. (HWI) headquartered at Fort Wayne, Indiana. Because these materials are prepared several months in advance of the actual sale period, all items advertised may not be immediately available on demand at our location, due either to sales above the demand which we anticipated or other circumstances beyond our control even though we have ordered from HWI the quantities which we expect to sell. Therefore, we will gladly issue a "raincheck" for any advertised item not available on demand, which will be good for purchase of the particular item at the advertised price, when additional inventories of the item are received. Due to unforeseen circumstances certain items may not be available at all, in which case a substitution will be suggested and a comparable savings will be provided on this other item. This store and HWI endeavor to avoid any such changes whenever possible, but sometimes we and HWI have no control over

Some of the prices stated are suggested by HWI. Each HWI member location sets its own prices which may vary from the HWI suggested prices. The prices quoted herein are also subject to possible printing errors or other circumstances

We reserve the right to limit quantities in case of unusual demands. Early shoppers will find the best selection
