House-size issue returned to Novi council

By PHILIP JEROME

The fate of two ordinances designed to deal with the downsized housing problem apparently will rest with the Novi City Council.

The Novi Planning Board voted 6-2 last week to return the proposed ordinances to council "with a negative recommendation" after Mayor Robert Schmid lambasted the board for not moving more expeditiously.

Schmid's blast came after the board on a 4-4 vote had rejected an initial motion to return the ordinances to council with a negative recommendation and was considering a mid-March date for a study meeting to discuss them at greater length.

"This thing is going to get pigeonholed," said Schmid from the audience. "It may not be a perfect ordinance but it should get back to council as soon as possible."

Noting that the planners have been working on a criteria ordinance for the past 1½ years, Schmid said he did not want the two housing ordinances to get lost in the paper shuffle. "If you can't make a decision, I would respectfully request that these ordinances be returned to council so we can work on them."

Schmid's comments came at the conclusion of a four-hour public hearing on two proposed ordinances designed to deal with the downsized housing problem in Novi's unfinished subdivisions.

A proposed Architectural Review Board ordinance would establish a committee to ensure design compatibility, while a proposed House Size Ordinance would set up minimum square footage requirements in the city's single-family residential zoning districts.

Planning Consultant Charles Cairns called the hearing one of the finest he has ever attended, both in terms of quality of input and representation of both sides of the issue.

Virginia Fitzpatrick, a Realtor, urged the board to adopt ordinances to protect the integrity of the city's subdivisions. She said prospective homebuyers are being told to avoid Novi because the city is experiencing zoning problems. Residential areas will retain their value if there are good, well-implemented zoning laws, she said.

Nancy Covert, president of PLAN (People Looking After Novi), expressed similar concerns and submitted petitions with 440 signatures in support of emergency action on the ordinances and a moratorium while the issues are being debated.

Noting that Novi's residential areas are 72 percent undeveloped, she said the city's zoning ordinance should give people confidence and security that the integrity of subdivisions will be maintained.

She also urged the city to undertake whatever legal battles may be incurred by adopting the ordinances. "The city is willing to fight a Bob Evans restaurant to protect its commercial areas, it should be willing to do the same for its residential areas," she said.

Richard Clark also urged the city to undertake any legal challenges which might arise. Citing case law, he said sufficient precedent has been established for the city to do what citizens are asking.

"If standards are reasonable, rational and serve the public good, they will withstand whatever challenges are brought against them," Clark said.

Annual figures show fires drop

The number of fires in Novi during 1982 was the lowest in five years and property losses due to fire were the lowest in six years, according to Novi Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan.

"I think we've made progress," Lenaghan said. "We were showing a steady increase in both incidents and fire losses, but we've been able to impact that by any means possible and it's showing in the statistics. This is the third year we've shown a decline."

Fire runs in the city dropped for the third consecutive year. There were a total of 399 runs in 1982 compared to 439 in 1981, 516 in 1980 and 644 in 1979.

Fire department figures show fire losses also were down dramatically, falling nearly 50 percent from a year ago.

There was approximately $335,810 in property losses in 1982 compared to $657,820 in 1981.

Lenaghan reported losses were down in 1982 primarily because there were no major fires. Although there were more fire runs to commercial establishments, storage areas and institutional buildings, the losses were "of a minor nature," Lenaghan reported.

Decreases were seen in the areas of fire emergencies, residential fires, and grass and trash fires. There were 14 less fire emergencies, eight less residential fires and 22 less grass and trash fires than a year ago.

Fire emergencies are incidents such as smoke investigations, downed wires and wash downs.

ARTHUR LENAGHAN

Lenaghan attributed the drop in grass and trash fires to the success of Novi's burning permit ordinance, which he says has created a "more controlled situation." Residents are informed of proper burning methods and given a copy of the burning permit ordinance upon request. He notes that in 1979 there were 207 grass and trash fires, compared to 112 in 1982.

"We issued over 200 permits last year to residents disposing of limbs and other things by burning. We're getting excellent cooperation," he said.

Despite the overall trend toward a decrease in fire runs there were eight more institutional fires than one year ago and 10 more fires in storage areas than the preceding year.

There were a total of 60 residential home fires, 112 grass and trash fires, 78 fire emergencies, 45 vehicle fires, 15 fires in commercial buildings, 12 fires in storage areas and nine institutional fires.

Fires in industrial buildings were down from nine in 1981 to six in 1982.

Only one fire was reported in Novi Township. The township contracts with the city for fire protection.

Four firefighters were injured in 1982.

In total there were 40 fewer fire runs in 1982 than there were the preceding year.

Although fire runs have continued to drop over the past three years, Lenaghan said he's pleased, but not satisfied.

"I'd like to see that reduced even further; 399 incidents is too high," he said.

To accomplish that the fire department will continue its efforts in fire prevention — efforts which the fire chief believes have been partially responsible for the minimal amount of fire losses in the past year.

"We've been going to businesses with fire prevention programs for five years now and we've had programs in the schools. I think people are more aware of the fire department. We have more visibility with the buildings and maybe that makes them think about fire prevention more."

The fire department presented over 40 programs on fire prevention last year.

If people view the decrease in incidents as a reduction in the need for fire protection services, "it could be self-defeating," Lenaghan added. He said he hopes people view the department's fire prevention methods positively.

Delay in hiring director opposed

By KAREN RICE

Upset parents of Novi special education students last week took issue with an administrative recommendation not to hire a special education director until September.

Parents told the Novi Board of Education February 17 that their children will suffer if the board waits much longer to hire a replacement for Dr. Kathleen Pistono, who resigned as special education director in December to take a position with the Macomb Intermediate School District.

Superintendent Dr. Robert Piwko told the board that administrators were recommending that position and the job of buildings and maintenance director not be filled immediately, but be handled internally. He recommended Dr. Helen Ditzhazy, administrative assistant of curriculum, assume the special education director's duties temporarily. Piwko said the special education program was running smoothly.

The recommendation will come before the board for action March 3.

Piwko said the two vacant administrative posts gave the district a good opportunity to study its organizational structure and determine if any positions could be combined or eliminated.

"It gives us an opportunity to review our entire administrative structure," Piwko said. "I think what we're looking at is how can we maintain our present level of services while picking up some cost savings."

However, he said delaying the hiring of a special education director should not be construed as a change in Novi's commitment to special education programs. He also said several of the finalists interviewed for the post had said they would prefer to start in September and finish out the school year in their various districts.

Trustee Ron Milam said he could support the recommendation to review the district's administrative structure "whether it were the director of curriculum or the director of food services," although the vacancy in question was special education director.

"I think it's time to take a look at our entire administration, the way it's organized, and see if there's a better way of doing it," he said.

Parents of several special education students strongly objected to the recommendation, however.

"We appreciate Dr. Ditzhazy's good intentions," said Debbie Fox. But, she said, Ditzhazy was not a qualified special education director and "there is no one in this district currently who is qualified to be director of special education."

Fox said several special education programs were in critical stages — such as the intensive support program that was to begin in September at Novi High School and would mainstream special education students into classrooms. Without a qualified special education director, Fox charged, those programs would suffer and could be delayed.

Fox said she felt the situation had been "mishandled" because special education parents were not informed the board would be discussing the possibility of postponing hiring a special education director.

Trustees said they felt the administration had acted properly and said they would consider parents' reactions in their decision on whether to wait before filling the post.

Trustee Robert Schram said he thought Ditzhazy could handle the job on a temporary basis.

Another parent, Phyllis Opperman, disagreed. "Novi's special education directors have been very well qualified in the past," she said. "I've worked with Dr. Ditzhazy and I have great admiration for her, but I think we need somebody who has had special education training."

"I don't think when you're talking about special education you can compare that with food service or building maintenance. They're two different bags entirely."

Peter Romanow, also a special education parent, said the temporary vacancy in the special ed post could make a critical difference to students in the program. "We have to recognize they're starting off way, way behind

Road improvements for '83 approved

By KATHY JENNINGS

Michigan Highway Department officials are "starting to talk positively" about improving traffic access into Section 15 — Novi's commercial area across from Twelve Oaks Mall, according to City Manager Edward Kriewall.

Solutions ranging from a tunnel under Novi Road to a "break" in the expressway ramp to Brighton which would allow traffic to cross Novi Road, get on the ramp to Brighton and turn into Section 15 have been discussed, Kriewall said.

"We have to look at this seriously in 1983, because when the expressway ramps were built the configuration limited Novi Road to five lanes," Kriewall said.

Traffic turning left from Novi Road into Section 15 bound for West Oaks Plaza or the Sheraton Oaks hotel is frequently backed-up to the I-96 exit ramp. During peak traffic periods such as the holidays the problem is particularly acute.

As a result city officials have been meeting with state highway department personnel to discuss alternatives to ease the traffic congestion.

Novi council members agreed to spend $5,000 to study the problem and possible solutions in 1983.

The expenditure is part of the city's five-year road program budget. Council members recently reviewed revisions and authorized adoption of the road program and the related expenditures detailed for 1983 road construction, engineering and studies.

But council members continued their opposition to plans to extend Decker Road from Thirteen Mile to Twelve Mile by redirecting funds earmarked for Decker Road right-of-way acquisition toward undesignated right-of-way acquisition.

Mayor Robert Schmid questioned the validity of traffic count studies conducted in August used to determine what effect extending Decker Road will have on Twelve Mile.

"I'm not totally convinced Decker Road should be extended. I think poor studies have been made on the projection of traffic needs. I'm concerned whether we need additional roads in the City of Novi. And I've always been concerned with the impact of the road on the green farm (Meyer Farm on Twelve Mile.) I hope it will stay as a farm..."

Kriewall said that given the choice of paving Meadowbrook Road or extending Decker Road, the owners of the farm have indicated they prefer the extension of Decker Road and they will cooperate with the city in that project.

The city manager also noted traffic consultant Rolf Killian has said traffic must be dispersed rather than concentrated on Novi Road.

Last fall Killian told the council Decker Road should be extended because "all routes should be distributed more evenly over the entire system, not concentrated on one route. Novi Road already has reached saturation on two lanes (from South Lake to Twelve Mile.) It carries in excess of 10,000 vehicles a day. That's as much as it can handle before service (to traffic) deteriorates."

"You should look at alternative routes or consider widening Novi Road. But if you widen Novi Road you're still putting all your eggs in one basket. You're putting all the vehicles through the intersections of Novi Road and Thirteen Mile and Novi Road and Twelve Mile instead of spreading them out."

Accident prompts look at safety of playgrounds

By KAREN RICE

The parents of an 11-year-old boy injured during lunch recess at Novi Middle School North in January 20 are seeking immediate removal of rusty poles and old parking signs from the lawn designated as a school play area.

Richard and Sharon Burke told Novi school board members they feared for the safety of their son and other children playing in the driveway and on the lawn in front of the middle school, and urged the site be made safer. They presented petitions signed by 325 Novi residents in support of their request and also asked the board to set up a committee to determine what sort of recreational area middle school students need and how it can be provided.

A committee of parents, teachers and an administrator met last week after the board meeting and have begun formulating recommendations for the school board, Mrs. Burke said.

The Burkes' son, Robbie, was injured January 20 while he was playing football during recess at Middle School North. Robbie ran out to catch a pass and collided with a parking sign attached to a metal post, Mrs. Burke said. He sustained a deep gash on his nose and was taken to Providence Ambulatory Care Center by the school principal, Paul LePae. Robbie received over 50 stitches and has undergone plastic surgery, his father said; doctors speculate he will require at least two more operations on his nose.

Robbie returned to school January 31. But his parents are not convinced that enough has been done to make the middle school play area safe for children and presented their concerns to the school board February 17.

"The tragedy of this accident, I believe and the friends who are with me tonight believe, is that this accident did not have to happen," Mrs. Burke said. "When children are entrusted to our care, it is our responsibility to remove all accidents from happening whenever possible because we all know accidents will happen and flukey accidents will happen."

Mrs. Burke criticized school administrators for not acting promptly to make the play area safer and said she was bringing the matter to the board because she was not satisfied with the response shown by Superintendent Robert Plwko and Assistant Superintendent William Barr. After the accident, Mrs. Burke said, she sought an appointment with administrators "to determine the answer to one question: 'Why is my son playing in an area that is so unsafe? I do not feel I have had an answer to my question.'"

Mrs. Burke said she also had met with LePae on several occasions to discuss safety at the school and commended his concern and efforts. However, she said, she was not satisfied with the solutions offered.

During lunch recess, Novi Middle School North students are allowed to stay in the lunchroom, use the gym or a designated area outside for recreation, depending on weather. When weather is fair in the spring and fall, a field and driveway behind the school are used for recreation. There are a basketball hoop and two tetherball poles there.

In the winter and when that area is too wet, students play in front of the school on the grassy area between the bus driveway and the parking lot, and in the bus driveway. Plyons are placed at the ends of the driveway to prevent cars and trucks from using the driveway while children play there, but vehicles sometimes drive around them, school officials acknowledged Thursday.

Piwko explained the situation was "not ideal" due to the facilities that they exist and to make the best of them."

Since Robbie Burke's accident, students have been restricted from using the lawn area in front of the school, and until last week were asked to use only the bus driveway and paved areas in front of the school. They have been asked not to participate in football and other running games by LePae.

But last week Mrs. Burke said she learned her son had again been playing football. LePae said he accepted responsibility for that, but noted he had expressly instructed teachers and students the games should not be played and explained why.

"I appreciate that Mr. LePae has made an effort to repair a bad situation," Mrs. Burke said. "But I don't consider this solved."

She asked the board to immediately direct the driveway be closed during recess and sought removal of all unnecessary poles and signs. Those poles required should be wrapped to make them less dangerous, she said.

She also asked a committee of parents, teachers, students and administrators be formed to determine the student body's recreation needs and make a recommendation to the board prior to the end of the school year so a safe area could be designated by September. She presented petitions signed by 325 residents supporting those requests.

"I submit this is a reasonable request," Mrs. Burke said. "I realize money is tight. But you are my representatives. You represent my children, your children and all the children of Novi. For an issue as serious as this, surely we can find the money."

Trustees agreed Mrs. Burke's requests were reasonable.

"Why don't we have those poles removed immediately instead of waiting?" asked Trustee Sharon Pelchat. "I don't know what we can do with the back of that building... but I really don't think we should waste any time."

Trustees Ron Milam and Norman

Miller agreed. Milam suggested administrators "should do immediately the things that can be done immediately." He asked administrators to forward some recommendations to the board concerning playing needs at the middle school by the March 3 meeting.

At the board meeting, the play area was changed to a parking area southeast of the bus driveway and lawn. That area has been barricaded to traffic.

Middle School North teacher Susan O'Donnell supported LePae's efforts to improve the playground, saying the staff felt LePae had "made great efforts" to improve safety.

Several parents echoed Mrs. Burke's concerns. Cliff Thompson said he was "appalled" at the situation Mrs. Burke was referring to.

Paula Docherty, whose son will attend the middle school in 11 years, said, "I did not realize these kids play in a parking lot. I was appalled to learn that. Novi is supposed to be one of the best school districts. With all the area that is around that school, couldn't they play somewhere else?"

Trustee Robert Schram suggested the school PTO might be the best group to charge with the responsibility of studying recreation needs and making a recommendation to the board. His suggestion was questioned, however, by residents who interpreted his statement to mean the PTO should be responsible for improving the playground and by Mrs. Burke, who said she thought administrators should be on the committee.

Board members directed the administration to remedy the situation and make a report March 3 on the playground area at Middle School North.

The write stuff

Some middle and high school students from Novi and Walled Lake got a first-hand experience at putting together a newspaper during the past three weeks. The students participated in a Newspaper in Education program, sponsored by The Novi-Walled Lake News, and put together a special section included in today's paper. Here, some of the student-journalists

Bid made for school site

After being on the market approximately one year, it looks like there may be a buyer for the former Union Lake Elementary School site.

The Walled Lake school board voted 6-1 Monday to make a counter-proposal to Borman's, Inc., which has offered to purchase the 10.5 acre site at the Commerce/Union Lake road intersection for the sum of $450,000.

Specifically, the board authorized its representatives to offer a counter-proposal of $500,000. At the same time, they noted that the $500,000 figure was not necessarily final and further negotiations were possible.

"We're not closing the door," said Board President Robert Cooper. "We're receptive to a counter-proposal."

Ted Simmon, vice president of real estate for the Detroit-based supermarket chain, said Borman's is considering the site as a possible location for a small shopping center.

"The offer we made ($450,000) is based on our estimates of problems relating to zoning design and obtaining utilities," he said.

"We don't want to come on too strong in a re-zoning action and there also are problems with utilities," he continued. "If the problems can't be resolved, the property is no good to us and we'll let you have it back to sell to somebody else."

The Walled Lake school district has been attempting to sell the site since closing Union Lake Elementary School last year due to declining enrollment and financial problems. The age of the school and the commercial potential of the Commerce/Union Lake Road intersection were cited as reasons for selecting Union Lake for closing.

The district originally was seeking $525,000 for the property, but let it be known that the price was open to negotiation when Borman's submitted its initial $450,000 offer in January.

The lone dissenting vote in the 6-1 decision to submit a counter-proposal of $500,000 was cast by Trustee Janet Callahan, who apparently felt the figure was too high.

"In these economic times, you can't always get top dollar," said Callahan in explanation of her vote.

Paul Martini, the district's purchasing agent who has been overseeing bids for the property, noted that Borman's has proposed a direct cash deal. "It's a very good offer," he said.

Dental Dialogue
of A. Allen Tucklaper, D.D.S.
PLAQUE IS GUILTY

Q. What is the number one cause of tooth decay?

A. The major cause of decay is a sticky, filmy substance known as plaque. Because our mouths harbor bacteria, almost everyone suffers from some degree of plaque throughout their lives. The plaque clings to the enamel of the teeth and when food particles and sugar are fermented by the bacteria, they form an acid. This acid, if not removed regularly, will form a pit. Then more bacteria accumulate and eventually there is a hole that allows bacteria to invade the interior of a tooth and a cavity is born. The only way to stop this destruction is to remove the villain, plaque.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of A. Allen Tucklaper, D.D.S., 401 Novi Road, Novi 348-3100

School board approves computer purchase plan

The Novi Board of Education authorized administrators to move ahead with the purchase of 33 computers for use in the district's schools beginning next fall.

On a vote, trustees ordered administrators to prepare bid documents for the purchase of the computers, rather than allowing administrators to begin purchasing the computers as requested. Trustee Joan Daley was absent.

The cost of buying the 33 computers, 21 of which will be used at Novi High School, is estimated at $60,000. Superintendent Robert Piwko indicated the purchase will be split over two budget years fiscal 1983-84 and 1984-85. Earlier he had said the district had the latitude to split the cost over two years or pay for the computers out of other budget year.

Twelve computers will be used at Middle School North, where seventh graders will take 12-week courses in computer literacy beginning next year. The course requirement is designed to link the computer knowledge gained by Novi students at the elementary level, where computers are in frequent use, with courses offered at the high school.

Of the 21 computers allocated to the high school, 14 will be used to set up a second computer lab, which administrators are to expand to include course offerings. Seven computers will be available for classroom-aided instruction.

In addition to authorizing administrators to begin the bid process, trustees changed a recommendation of assigning seven computers to high school departments. As approved, the seven computers will be available for use in all departments, including the five suggested by the administration. These areas were drafting, metals, chemistry, physics, counseling and the library.

Although the administrative staff repeatedly stated the seven computers would not be permanently tied to the suggested areas, trustees were concerned that once the terminals were earmarked for a particular department it would be difficult for teachers in other areas to use them.

Board President Joel Colliau was especially concerned about designating the computers for special departmental use, saying he was opposed to the

Water rates suitooms

All but three communities using Detroit water have agreed to proposed rate increases slated for July 1 — the City of Novi remains among the holdouts.

Rate negotiations are continuing. City Manager Edward Kriewall said if Novi does not receive word regarding the proposed rates this week the city will commence litigation.

"We'll give them one more week," Kriewall said. "We've been led to believe this is an administrative matter and with all the turmoil in the water and sewer department they haven't had a chance to review it."

Top officials in the Detroit Water and Sewer Department have been indicted by a federal grand jury and the replacement for former department head Charles Beckham resigned Friday.

"They've indicated they will review this further, so we're still in a holding position," Kriewall said.

The city has learned reduction in rates are to be recommended for three communities and discussions are continuing with three others. Beckham notified the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners of the status of rate negotiations before his resignation.

Beckham was recommended for Greater Pointe Shores where rates may drop from $4.40 to $3.36; Washington Township where rates went from $7.17 to $4.79 and Woodhaven where rates went from $8.82 to $5.24.

Cliolet, West Bloomfield and Novi have not agreed to accept the proposed rates.

For 1983, the Detroit Water Board has proposed an 18.8 percent increase in Novi's water rates from $9.35 per 1,000 cubic feet of water to $10.99 per 1,000 cubic feet.

According to calculations by Novi's consulting engineers, however, water rates in Novi should drop from $9.25 to $8.21 per 1,000 cubic feet during 1983.

Kriewall said he has been told Novi would be negotiating regarding revisions in their proposed rates this week.

Water rates suitooms

recommendation almost "to the point of voting against the entire package."

"Time will certainly tell in the next year how it's going to be paid," he said. "But if we assign a computer to any particular department and it isn't being used and the students can't use it, I'd be very upset about that."

Robert Youngberg, principal of Novi High School, said the idea behind earmarking seven computers for special use was to allow the purchase of special computer software programming for those areas. For example, he said, special programs were available in drafting that would not be of use to other departments.

Youngberg suggested giving students opportunities to take specialized courses might improve their chances of finding jobs after graduation.

"I think we may be offering an alternative there... by going in for some specialized equipment," he said.

Piwko noted that extra costs in the specialized programming would be made up by economies at the middle school level, since the computers going there would be used to teach basic computer literacy. He also said the cost of computers is continually moving down.

Colliau said he was familiar with the type of programming administrators were suggesting for drafting classes and charged it was too expensive and not needed at the high school level. "I really don't like that assigning," he added.

A member of the audience, Gary Schultz, spoke to support Colliau.

"What we should be doing in terms of computer literacy is teaching kids how to come up with software," he said. "To teach a kid how to follow a chemistry software is teaching him how to follow a cookbook. We don't need any more cooks."

Trustee Sharon Pelchat, a member of the committee that formulated a computer curriculum that was largely incorporated into the purchase request, said she felt badly that the committee's work was being "picked apart" by trustees.

Trustees unanimously spoke in favor of seeing bid documents before approving purchase of the 33 computers.

For something different in your picture taking, why not try something as old as photography itself and yet as new and modern as the next best thing to the work of outstanding professional photographers?

That is... black and white photography.

Black and white lends itself beautifully to portraits. It reveals hidden facets of the subject's character in landscapes and seascapes, the use of yellow or red filters for black and white film provides dramatic and soft detail.

Professionally cared for, black and white prints and negatives will last for decades, offering a more permanent record of people or events than color photographs.

There's a wide range of black and white film available, from finest grains to highest speed. Black and white photographic paper is also available in a number of special finishes to enhance your picture. You can load your own film. You can load your own film. You can load your own film. Foster care plan revised

But Babcock said he had "grave concerns" with the township directly operating a community placement facility. He added that after a "curious review" of state statutes he was not certain charter townships had the authority to "engage in such activities."

Babcock suggested a non-profit agency with experience in providing foster care services should operate the homes under a contract with the community mental health board or the agency responsible for the home.

Committee members compromised with a proposal to place township representatives on the board of directors in a shift from the township's original proposal to operate its own foster care facilities.

In the original concept, Commerce also proposed banning foster homes in the subdivisions and encouraging their development in clusters on township-owned land.

The revised proposal says the homes will be "mutually agreed upon by Community Mental Health and the home operator within DMH policy parameters." They also are to be placed in areas which will give residents "maximum access to community activities, shopping, recreation and similar normalizing experiences."

Since the committee believes the type of persons placed in the homes also is important for community acceptance, the program would not allow placement of persons with history of forensic problems or substance abuse.

Otherwise the selection of the clients for the home would be up to Community Mental Health and subject to approval by the operator of the home. Persons from southwestern Oakland County will receive preference in placement in homes located in Commerce.

The ad hoc committee also has proposed that this plan be used for homes which currently are to be developed by the Macomb Oakland Regional Center.

Additionally, the group suggests that four foster care homes currently operating in Commerce be turned over to the Oakland County Community Mental Health Services Board at the same time other parts of the proposal are implemented "so the case management responsibility for all homes in the township for developmentally disabled residents can be consolidated in a single local agency."

Dohany said the proposal is designed to address "the needs and concerns of the citizens."

The Unknown Competitor

Pushing wheelbarrows apparently is so easy for Jack Lawson he can even do it with a bag on his head. Lawson propelled his brother Ed through the obstacle course during last weekend's Winterfest '83. Spring may have gotten in the way of Walled Lake's Winterfest, but where there's a will there's a way and the events went on in the streets instead of on the ice. Winterfest '83 was sponsored by Walled Lake Action Committee of the Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce, local businesses and service groups. (News photo by Steve Fecht)

Bottles of fine wine stolen from Novi residence

In Novi

The individual who stole three bottles of fine wine from a home in the 2000 block of Jamesstown apparently knew what he was doing. Stolen were two bottles of Chateau Lafete Rothchild and one bottle of Lafete Monton, which were purchased for $75 each five years ago.

The owner said the bottles were hidden, so they may have been taken by a person who knew their location. Bottles of Freemark Abbey and Sterling Vineyards wine and a bottle of Seagrams bourbon also were stolen.

Eight windows were broken and five vehicles damaged in a malicious destruction of property incident at Cadillac Asphalt at 27575 Wixom Road.

The windows, which are 12-15 feet from the ground, apparently were broken with pieces of asphalt. Several asphalt pieces were found inside the building, according to police. Windows from the ground, apparently were broken with pieces of asphalt, police reported.

Approximately $1,200 in appliances and household items were stolen from a home in the 20000 block of Meadowbrook Road.

The theft occurred while the house was under renovation.

Stolen were a $400 range, $300 oven, $200 dishwasher, $150 microwave cabinet and a $50 kerosene heater.

An estimated $780 worth of goods were stolen from a home in the 20000 block of Cranbrook. The owner said the home also sustained $500 damage when a door was pried off the tracks.

Stolen property included a $400 color television, $200 .38 caliber handgun, $50 in liquor and $120 cash.

Police reported finding a tennis shoe print around shrubs in front of the home.

Fog lights worth approximately $120 were stolen from a vehicle parked in a lot south of the complainant's home in the 4000 block of North Hills. The fog lights were unbolted from the front bumper of the vehicle.

Tires were stolen from a vehicle left in the parking lot of the owner's place of employment in the 4000 block of Ten Mile. The owner said he left the vehicle in the lot overnight and discovered the theft the following day. The tires were valued at $100.

The tires of a vehicle owned by City Food Service were slashed while it was parked in front of an apartment in the Watervliet Farms complex. The driver of the vehicle told police four-inch gashes were found in the tires.

In Wixom

A home on Barbary Court was ransacked but apparently the only item missing was a video cassette recorder, according to Wixom police. Entry to the home was gained via a dining room window at the rear of the home, police said.

The theft occurred between 7 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. February 15, police said. The VCR was valued at about $800.

Five machines in a laundry room at the Village Apartments were vandalized when suspects apparently removed coin boxes, according to Wixom police.

Two dryers and three washers were damaged in building 15 at the Village, according to reports. An unknown amount of money was taken during the incident, which was discovered February 20.

An ice shanty "disappeared" from Loon Lake last week, according to Wixom police. The shanty, apparently stolen from the lake between February 13-15, was valued at about $75 by its owner, police said.

The lawn near the picnic area at Willis Memorial Park in Wixom was damaged when unknown persons apparently drove a truck across the grass and left deep ruts, police said. The damage was discovered February 15, according to officers.

Four truck tires were removed from a trailer parked at a Beck Road home last week, Wixom police said. The tires were apparently removed from the trailer prior to February 18.

gramming, and simple graphics. All these uses can help students become familiar with a very useful tool, the computer, at an early age.

Besides training students, teachers also had to be taught computer literacy so they could properly use the computer in teaching. Both Chalker and Heath feel that most teachers have responded favorably to the frequent in-service training offered in the form of computer workshops. Most teachers realize the great help a computer can be as a teaching aid in many subjects such as mathematics, spelling, social studies and science.

However, Chalker points out the importance of carefully examining and testing software before purchasing it, because, he states, there just aren't enough good programs for students to use yet.

This course will be basically in computer literacy to acquaint students with computers and computer usage.

Some of the goals of the district as cited by Chalker are:

- a minimum of one computer per 100 students at the elementary level, and an ideal setting would be one computer per classroom,
- a minimum of one computer per 100 students at the junior high level and ideally, 17 computers (15 for a lab, one for the media center and one for the teachers' workroom),
- a minimum of one computer per 100 students at the senior high level and ideally, 30 computers for use in labs, classrooms, media center, and the teachers' workroom.

For further information on computer workshops for both adults and students, contact the Walled Lake Community Education Center at 624-0202.

Cheese distribution set

Government surplus cheese will be available for Walled Lake area residents tomorrow (Thursday) morning at two locations.

Walled Lake area residents who qualify for blocks of government surplus processed cheese should stop by the Walled Lake Firefighters' Association Hall behind city hall tomorrow between 10 a.m. and noon.

Northern Commerce and Union Lake area residents can pick up cheese at Dublin Community Center, 685 Union Lake Road, between 9 a.m. and noon tomorrow.

Blocks of cheese are scheduled to be distributed to qualified persons in Oakland County this week through the surplus food giveaway ordered by the Department of Agriculture.

In Oakland County, distributions are being coordinated by Oakland-Livingston Human Service Agency in conjunction with the Michigan Department of Education.

OLHSA, a community action agency, will begin distributing other surplus commodity food, an agency spokesman said.

Residents requesting the cheese should bring proof of income and identification to the distribution site. Registrations will be kept six months and individuals should report to the same drop-off point after filling out registrations, the spokesman said.

Individuals who are homebound or handicapped may be eligible for the surplus food program. To receive more information on what is required to qualify for the program, call 1-800-482-9250.

In addition to assisting the cheese give-away, OLHSA provides senior citizen meals and activities, employment and training programs, fuel assistance, home weatherization, outreach, co-ops, self-help groups, child care services and other information and programs.

to the council. Council members who chose Berchtold as their first choice felt he would be able to step in and run the village immediately and be able to put together a budget quickly.

Nadolny, at 26, was the youngest applicant. He impressed the council with his friendliness and outgoing personality, as well as his background as an assistant city manager and former assistant to the village administrator in Flossmoor, Illinois. Council members preferring Nadolny suggested he would be more aggressive and would bring lots of new ideas to the village; they admitted, however, they thought it would take him a few months to adjust to being the head administrator.

Six council members chose Berchtold as their first or second choice, interestingly, all seven council members voted at a preliminary screening they would like the opportunity to interview him. Five council members chose Nadolny as their first or second choice.

Clerk Donna Thorsberg and Treasurer Fran Barber also said Berchtold and Nadolny were their top two choices of the five candidates interviewed. Police Chief John O'Neill did not offer a recommendation since he was not present for all interviews.

The council unanimously agreed to direct Kozub and Connelly to negotiate with Berchtold first and Nadolny second. They further authorized a committee of council members Pat Howarth, John Coxeter and Tom Gerhardt to finalize a benefits package for the new administrator.

That benefit package will include the best of the benefits given to village employees through the DPW and police officers' unions. A performance review after six months also is planned.

Tax hike opposed of CURB (Citizens Urging Roll Back), a Commerce-based group that actively fought property tax increases in 1981.

According to Bergman, many people opposed to the income tax hike feel the state's fiscal woes can only be solved, in massive cuts — beginning with the salaries of legislators and other state employees.

She said benefits of legislative and executive state employees should be slashed by a quarter and salaries rolled back to their 1980 levels.

"They keep saying that it's only a few thousand dollars, but it adds up," she contended.

She said legislators who think residents will sit back and accept another income tax hike are "out of step with the average person. They don't need any more money. What they need is a good housecleaning."

"When my husband or anybody else finds out they have to make cuts, what do they do? They go over their budget and make them," she said.

Bergman suggested anyone who would like to join the protest contact several other people to spread the word, and they could carpool to Lansing to save money.

"We're hoping anyone who's contacted will contact five or 10 friends," she said. "I hope it's a good showing. We just want to get to Lansing and show a visible opposition to the income tax."

Flagging the judiciary

The 52nd District Court in Walled Lake is no longer flagless. Judges have been concerned about the absence of the United States and Michigan flags ever since they moved into their new quarters in the former Department of Social Services building last spring. But last week their concerns were assuaged as Congressman William Broomfield and State Representative Robert other students," he said. "This may be very important to them."

Karrie Kitchens, who recently moved to the district, said her son is one student who should participate next fall in a program being developed by Pistono. Without a special education director hired immediately to replace her, Kitchens said she was concerned the program would not be ready by September.

"The reason there haven't been any problems (in special education) for two months is because (Pistono) did such a great job," Kitchens added.

Parents questioned the district's priorities in allocating $60,000 over two budget years to buy computers, while waiting until September to hire a new special education director.

"I don't really think we're talking

"Being a member of the millage... needs study committee, I realize there are problems this community has never had to face," he said. "We may be at a point where we have to make some decisions. If we want to continue our educational services at the same level we have in the past, we're going to have to raise the millage. This community has some hard decisions to make and it will manifest itself March 22."

Board members said the matter will again come before them March 3.

Prior to that meeting, Pitwks will meet with special education parents to hear their concerns and explain the goals of the administrative study. A meeting is scheduled for tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at Novi Middle School South. All parents of special education students are invited to attend.

Mayor LaMarca reveals budget goals put some unemployed residents back to work.

Use volunteer help whenever possible. Last year several programs by the city council saved the city "thousands of dollars" and put some unemployed residents back to work, LaMarca said.

A suggestion/idea box should be started. Bonuses should be awarded to any person whose idea will save the city money.

"If we follow this program, and we are capable of it, we all will help put the people back to work," LaMarca said. LaMarca said he believes it will take three or four years before the city will be able to take up on its money-saving measures.

City Manager J. Michael Dorman said he was concerned about the additional goal of a personal hearing freeze, explaining the clerk's office needs a part-time employee who would serve as a replacement for Rita Eagleton, who left at the end of the last budget year. Dorman said the clerk's office had tried to absorb Eagleton's work but did need at least a part-time employee.

Council members said the goals would not prevent employees from being hired, but would require council approval.

Lewandowski, who opposed the goals, said he was concerned about asking city employees, including union members, for concessions. He said he didn't think existing contracts would permit wage cuts.

"Well, it's only recommended," LaMarca replied. "We're recommending it, that's all we're doing."

Last year, the budget goals sought employee concessions but none of the city's unions gave them. Administrators did not receive pay increases, with the exception of Clerk-Treasurer Ruby Lewandowski, whose salary was raised to make her pay

Novi edges Pirates in double overtime

Brent Dinan's 15-foot jump shot with 33 seconds left gave Novi a one-point lead and a 56-55 double-overtime victory in an old-fashioned "barburner" at Pinckney last week.

Dinan's late-game heroics offset a pair of free throws by Pinckney's Keith Dunn 20 seconds earlier that had given the Pirates a 55-54 advantage.

Dinan scored 10 points for Novi's cardiac kids, who don't seem to play games this season without exciting finishes. Chris King led with 18 points, while Eric Deline and Tim Bunker had 11 and 10 respectively.

"I never know how the kids are going to play anymore," lamented Ron Flutar, coach of the Novi squad, who watched his team lose a six-point, 25-20, lead that let Pinckney back in the contest.

"It's always difficult to predict how a team will do in a particular game and it's especially hard to know with this team," concluded Flutar.

Deline had hit a pair of free throws in regulation to send Novi ahead by four points in the final minute. Pinckney's Mike White proceeded to sink two crucial baskets in the waning seconds to send the game into overtime.

Scoring was at a premium in the initial overtime period. Pinckney's tentative style forced Novi to foul with seven seconds to go. Dunn hit both ends of the bonus situation to give Pinckney a 51-49 lead.

Dinan's 20-foot desperation shot at the buzzer slid off the rim into the eager hands of King, the Wildcats' 6-4 senior, whose bank shot was allowed to trigger the game into a second frenzied period.

Novi found no heroes at Milford Lakeland Friday as they dropped a 60-41 decision to the Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) leaders. The Wildcats are now 5-7 in the conference and 6-10 overall.

Cold shooting by Novi in the first half allowed Lakeland to build an insurmountable 32-12 lead that the Wildcats were able to challenge only briefly in the fourth period.

King led Novi with 18 points and a game high 11 rebounds, while Dinan had 14.

For the game, Novi hit just 27 percent of its field goals, a statistic that was "just atrocious," according to Flutar.

Novi jumped from the fat into the fire last night (Tuesday) when they hosted Class B powerhouse Oak Park.

Wildcat's Kim qualifies for regional mat tourney

Steve Kim will be the lone Novi representative in the MHSAA Class B regional wrestling tournament at Linden this Saturday.

Kim, a 128-pound junior, finished fourth in his weight class at Saturday's district tourney to qualify for this weekend's regionals.

Surprisingly, Kim (16-8) was the only Wildcat to advance to the regionals and qualify possibly was the most pleasant feature of a very pleasing day for Novi's interim head coach Eric Center.

"I'm very proud of the way we wrestled," said Center, complimenting his squad. "They never gave up and fought to the last second in every match. We lost some tough ones, but we can be proud of ourselves and our effort."

"I am also very proud of my two seniors," Center said of Darrin Beyea and Bill Case. "They were exceptional leaders all season and I know they were disappointed by finishing their careers on losing notes, but they have nothing to be ashamed of."

Kim started his trip to the regionals by pinning Orionville-Brandenburg's Dusty Childers in 49 seconds. He then defeated Chelsea's Dave Dassance 11-4 in the second round, but ran into trouble against Fen-ton's powerful Keith Foguth in round three and was pinned in 2:47.

Hartland's Craig Peterson concluded Kim's afternoon by taking a 7-3 victory in the consolation finals. "Steve is very capable of wrestling well," said Center. "He is a good wrestler. He will be facing some very tough competition Saturday but if gets a few breaks he should do very well."

Novi's seniors bowed out with respect if not medals.

Case won his initial match at 185-pounds over Ovid-Elsie's Brett Reuss, 5-3, but ended his prep career with a fall to Yale's Todd Deslover at 1:11.

Beyea (eighth seed) lost his opening round 96-pound match to Corunna's Scott Ordway, 7-2.

More fortunate was Beyea's brother Wayne, who captured his first round match 2-0 over Linden's Chuck Hall before losing to Brian Bowman of Hartland, 13-2.

Charlie Brown, the Wildcats 119-pound grappler, pinned Orionville's Lane Launer at 3:13, but lost in the second round to Ovid-Elsie's John Gault.

Tim Ford, Novi's most outstanding wrestler throughout the season with a brilliant 42-7 record, was seeded sixth at 142-pounds. Ford's credentials didn't bother Fen-ton's Matt Dunlap who eliminated the hard-nosed Wildcat, 2-1.

Ford had earlier beaten Durand's Keith Klapper, 17-4.

Eric Schuster pinned Allan Bowman of Imlay City in 1:06 for a bright beginning to a day that soon clouded over following a 4-2 defeat at the hands of Ovid-Elsie's Dan Hall.

John Thomas pinned Rick Reed of Mt. Morris in his first match before losing 5-3 to top-seeded Dave Foguth of Fen-ton.

Ron Rankin (105-pounds), Dan Brinker (155), Steve McBride (167) and Ed Marash (156), all lost first round matches.

Tim Horemans, Novi's heavyweight contender, was injured in practice and did not compete.

With a rising star in Kim and a host of eager young grapplers returning to action next year, Novi is looking to improve this year's 16-11-2 dual meet record.

NOVI-WALLED LAKE NEWS

Western spike squad finds winning formula

Practice and patience are beginning to pay off for the Walled Lake Western volleyball team.

After winning just one of their first 14 games, the Warrior spikers doubted their win total last week by posting victories over Northville and Clarenceville. Western also dropped decisions to Milford, Flint, Atherton, Temperance Bedford and North Farmington as their record now stands at 3-17.

"We're beginning to come around," commented Ron Fuson, coach of the Warrior squad. "We're still having trouble setting the ball and getting into our offense, but we're really making progress in our overall play."

Betty Gross, Karl Boardman and Kristin VanPatten were the keys to an victory over Northville on Monday. The Mustangs prevailed 15-3 in the first game, but Western roared back to secure the decision with 15-13, 15-9 victories in the next two games.

Gross was 12 of 14 from the service line with seven aces, while Boardman was 10 of 11 in the service department. VanPatten paced the team offensively with 10 of 15 spike attempts, including five kills.

Fuson said his Warriors suffered the ravages of the three-game Northville match when they fell 15-9, 15-7 to Milford on Tuesday. "We were doing things right, but we were tired and didn't move as fast as we should have,"

The Warriors will be looking to add some more victories to their total this week. They played Farmington on Monday and Lakeland on Tuesday, and then will host Plymouth Canton next Monday.

The other Western victory last week came in the Schoolcraft College Tourney on Saturday. The Warriors were pitted against Flint Atherton and Temperance Bedford in their first two games and were defeated easily by the two state-ranked teams.

Things started looking up against North Farmington in the third round when the Warriors played tough before dropping a 15-13, 15-10 decision. That set the stage for the fourth round when Western posted a 15-11, 16-14 victory over Clarenceville.

JoAnne DeBoer was 13 of 16 in the service department, while Pam Roselle hit five of six serves with one ace. The key offensive player, however, was Kristin VanPatten, who tied in an outstanding game at the net.

"Kristin is developing into top top spiker," commented Fuson. "She's getting her timing down and putting the ball on the floor." The Warrior coach also praised the play of Lori McGovern and Betty Gross. McGovern has impressed Fuson with her consistency, while Gross paced the "dirty shirt" award for her diving and hustle on five kills.

Novi Christian five topples taller foes

Novi Christian School has a total enrollment of just 20 boys, but the Eagle cagers managed to upset two Wolverine Christian Conference (WCC) title contenders en route to a second title finish in last weekend's WCC Invitational Basketball Tourney.

The Eagles sacked third-place Faith Baptist of Davison 44-22 Tuesday on a pair of free throws by Dan Yoder with 10 time showing. Tom Hardesty led Novi with 16 points, while Steve Caswell and Yoder each had 10.

Roseville Calvary Christian, the second-place WCC team, was next to discover the hidden talents of little Novi Christian, as the Eagles posted a 50-46 victory.

David met Goliath in the championship game, but there were no storybook endings this time around. Springfield Christian, the top team in the WCC, grabbed a commanding 49-25 halftime lead and then held on for a 69-59 triumph.

Southfield's All-America forward Todd Forsten poured in 26 points to lead all scorers, while Hardesty led Novi with 16 points. Mike Quinton added 14 and Caswell 11 for eight.

During the championship tilt, Quinton became only the second player in Novi Christian history to haul in over 600 rebounds. He now has 603.

Yoder also reached a milestone, blocking an incredible 12 shots to set a new school record in that department.

The Eagles' now boast a 20-3 record, including tournament play. They'll be looking to improve that mark when they host the Michigan Christian Athletic Association regional tourney this weekend.

Central's Regan Goins (top) won the 126-pound regional title

Viking matmen win district titles

How tough was Walled Lake Western's district wrestling tourney at Ann Arbor Huron Saturday?

Well, Aldo Buttazzoni took his 230 record and Western Lakes Activities Association (WLA) championship into the tourney and came away seeded no better than third — which is exactly where he finished up.

"You know it's a tough field when somebody like Aldo has to settle for third place," commented Dick Watson, coach of the Warrior matmen.

Still, the Warriors acquitted themselves nicely in the districts, finishing fourth out of 19 teams and qualifying five wrestlers for the regional tourney at Trenton this Saturday.

Plymouth Salem showed that its WLA championship was no fluke by winning the districts with 130 points. Milford was second with 107, Lakeland was third (92), Western was fourth (91) and Walled Lake Central took fifth (76), while qualifying three grapplers for the regionals.

Representing the Warriors in this Saturday's regionals will be Dave Millitello, Bob Rich, Rolf Henriksson, Matt Turner and Buttazzoni. Millitello and Rich finished second in the districts, while Henriksson, Turner and Buttazzoni all posted third-place finishes.

Central's John Andrews and Regan Goins were district champions, while Mike Arnold took second in his class.

"Basically, I was pleased with our showing," said Watson. "We only had one of two other boys who might have gotten through to the final four, but in general we only got beat by good wrestlers."

Millitello and Rich were both seeded second in their respective weight

Warriors scare Canton, but upset bid falls short

You can't question the heart of the Walled Lake western basketball team.

Despite having lost their first 16 games of the season, the Warrior cagers battled Plymouth Canton all the way to the wire before dropping a 68-61 decision Friday.

"I'm really proud of these kids," commented Felecy, coach of the Warrior squad. "It's tough being 0-16, but these kids haven't given up and they proved it against Canton."

Western turned in its best quarter of the season by jumping off to a 22-14 lead over the Chiefs behind eight points from Rob Wendland and six from Kyle Chura.

"It was easily our best quarter of the year," reported Felecy. "We were playing tough defense and moving the ball on offense."

Canton woke up in the second quarter, outscoring Western 16-8 to tie the score 30-30 at the half.

The Chiefs started the third quarter by moving ahead 38-30 as the Warriors had trouble finding the range. "We just had trouble hitting our shots," explained Felecy. "We were 13 of 29 from the floor in the first half, but we missed our first nine shots in the third quarter and eight of them were within the 10-foot range."

The Warriors battled back, however, narrowed

Novi spikers battle odds

Dave Haywood's initiation into high school volleyball has been anything but smooth.

Haywood's Novi spikers found the road rougher than usual at the Schoolcraft Invitational Saturday as the Wildcats finished third in their pool with a 4-4 record.

Deirda Thurston bounced Novi 15-7, 15-10 to open the busy day on a gray note. Grand Blanc gave indications of another two-game sweep, winning the first game 15-11, but Novi rebounded in strong fashion for a 15-7 triumph.

Regaining its composure as the day wore on, Novi split with Western Lakes Activities Association (WLA) Livonia Stevenson, 15-12, 12-15 and then topped Farmington Harrison, 15-4, 15-8.

"We had a lot of trouble in the morning," said Haywood. "We had problems with our serves early on, but we seemed to catch fire against Stevenson, which is a very good team. We should have beaten Grand Blanc and done better against Thurston."

"I don't know if our style of play at Schoolcraft was because we were coming off a tough loss mentally or not," he added. "We just looked flat most of the day and made errors we usually don't make. We weren't real sharp."

Novi's mental letdown was caused by KVC-leader Brighton, which rallied from a second game loss last Thursday for a 15-6, 14-16, 15-11 victory.

Brighton led the second game 14-8, but Novi responded with eight consecutive points to stay alive in the dual meet. The Wildcats held an 11-9 lead in the third game before Brighton rallied to win the match.

Missy Hatlum had a "super game," according to Haywood. The senior spiker hit 100 percent of her spikes, including seven aces and made no errors in the entire match.

"It was a big disappointment to lose," said Haywood. "But I wasn't too disappointed because the girls played real hard. The scores don't reflect how close the games really were."

Viking five set for playoff run

There weren't many bright spots for Walled Lake Central's basketball team last week, but coach Steve Emert is optimistic this week will be different.

Central was manhandled by both Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem in the final week of the Western Lakes schedule. Despite the defeats, the Vikings managed to qualify for the league playoffs which begin Friday. And Emert thinks his team has a shot in its first-round game.

Livonia Churchill, the top team in the Western Division, invades Central's gym Friday at 8 p.m. Central tied for third in the Lakes Division, but was assigned the fourth spot through the league's tie-breaking procedure.

Churchill defeated the Vikings earlier this year, but had to go to overtime to do it. And with the anticipated return of Tom Menard and Jim Kreuzer to the starting line-up, Emert is looking for a battle.

With Kreuzer and Menard still sidelined by injury and guard Dean Terpstra suffering a 102-degree fever, the Vikings' hopes of beating Lakes Division leaders Salem and Stevenson last week were slim.

And when those two schools controlled the tempo and the backboards, that slim chance turned to none.

Stevenson rolled Tuesday to a 98-62 victory over Central, piling in 38 points in the third quarter. The game was never close. It was 29-11 after one quarter and 39-24 at halftime.

Clark Bock tossed in 21 for Central; Tommy Cummings added 18. Terpstra, slowed by his illness, managed just eight.

It was more of the same against Salem in a 64-45 loss Friday. Central was shot, 12-2, after the first quarter, thanks to poor shooting and the Rocks' dominance of the backboards. Plymouth averages 6-4 across the front line.

"It was a little late," noted Emert. "They were controlling the boards and we were missing the shots we needed. Trying to board with a team that size is difficult. We weren't getting second and third shots."

Bock was again the top scorer for Central with 16 points. Terpstra added 10.

Valentine.
Prick of violet leaves
Outside his window...
Sent words—

By a friendly dove
To a loved one...
Imprisoned
For his faith
He sent out
Only love.

Love Letters

There is a box of old love letters
Somewhere on a closet shelf
I know they are there because
I hid them away myself

The box is tied with a piece of ribbon
It may look faded and old
But the words that are tied within
Are worth more to me than gold

They speak to me of beauty and youth
Of yearning and longing, young hearts
They speak of joys that made our day
Of meeting, and time to part

They tell me how pretty I looked back then
And speak of my long dark hair
And remind me of a certain dress I wore
Of dancing with never a care

Yes things were a lot different then
I have changed with passing time
That's why now and then I read them
Those heartwarming letters of mine

The loving young smile they speak of
Is different, teeth have been crowned
And wrinkles aren't only from smiling
Some days have caused me to frown

My hair isn't dark now it's silver
That was why now and then I read them
Just stay home on cold winter nights
Let the young ones go out, have fun

The Song

Of my Heart's Desire
(An Invocation
To the Spirit of Romance)

Swiftly, swiftly come to me,
Spirit of Romance,
Why keep from me the ecstasy
When I am so entranced?
O Love long-sought, wilt thou not bestow thy gracious glance?

The nectar's ready for thy cup,
the hearth is filled with fire;
the flowers sup; I softly pluck thy long-forgotten lyre.
Is all for naught? Will thou not share my heart's desire?

Once upon a tender time
my heart was leaking joy;
a fount of leaping laughter,
soaring, buoyantly aware;
a spirit spilling crystalline delight upon the air.

I then was friends with Reverence,
with Wonder wandered long;
I sensed a gentle Presence hiding just behind our song—an Essence pure and powerful, which spoke... but then was gone.

Ah! Truly, truly, it was Thee,
Spirit of Romance!
Why plunge me in such misery
yet keep me so entranced?
O Beloved! Will thou not embrace me with thy glance?

The candle burns impatiently, perlung empty air,
the incense curls enticingly,
unopinioned like thy hair.
O wilt thou nestle in my arms,
MI Love extraordinary?

In honor of St. Valentine's Day,
Excited from a longer work:

Love You Mom

Your birthday is so far away
Yet I would like to give you something special
Just for a token of appreciation
So how about a card?
How you've always been there
When I'm sick or sad
When I'm happy or mad
When I'm weird or mad.
You've supported me through many events
Roller skating
Horses
Playing the trumpet
All those competitions
From grade school
And now soon college.
I wish I could say thank you
In a real special way
But I know I can give you a good report card
Just turning out
And succeeding in the world
These days that's a lot.
How much you don't know
But your best friend I have
I know just being with you
And helping you out says a lot.

People Are People

Babies are people, children are too!
And people don't always do things they should do.
Daddies will spank, Mom's will scold.
The people remember, when they grow old.
They remember the times, when parents gave Love.
And the spiritual light that shines from above,
How well they receive their well-earned advice,
Will make a difference in their type of vice.

The character is important, in this world of ours,
If we are to survive to complete our chores,
We have to be weak so that we can be strong,
We have to be right to be proven wrong,
We have to be blunt so that we can be heard,
We have to meditate to be free as a bird.
For we don't always know what directions we fly.
Or the obstacle course in the days going by;
Most people think that they know the way,
'That's why wishes are so much confusion today.

If we are to survive our chartered course,
With love and happiness and little remorse,
We're given a chance, to live life on earth,
For peace and love, since Jesus' birth,
I hope I can follow the right way to go,
Before it all happens and the earth has to blow.

Peruse

WHY IS IT—
That we can choose not to lose
The pronouncing of ooz,
And will no doubt excuse
If we gear our just dues,
But if we take off on a ship
For a cruise
What will we do if we don't get
The news?

This could go on, about
The rams and the ewes
The same simple thing like
The pants and the shoes,
But we can't overlook the
Shrubs and the yews
So we'll wind it up here
With the we's and the youz.

Arrests affecting Novi High School

Most governmental officials were rather unsure of the actual possibility of this proposal becoming a reality. However, spokesmen from State Senator Richard Fessler's (R-24th District) office notes that many other similar proposals have been made and were defeated.

Another aspect to be considered is that teenage unemployment is the highest of any age group, states Fessler's spokesman. And this fact may alter the chances of the proposal in a positive direction.

In regards to the opinion of officials on this proposal, many were unwilling to comment at this time because clarification regarding the actual proposal is needed from the President.

Levin's office was the only willing to go out on a limb at this early stage in the proposal. The senator's spokesman reports that Levin is basically opposed to the proposal at this time, because of the possibilities of adult workers being replaced by teens and because of the idea that equal work should receive equal pay, regardless of age, race, sex or any other discriminatory factor.

Arrests affecting Novi High School

During mid-December no one ever suspected that the outcome of the Russ Gardner-Rick Trudeau alleged arson attempt would bring out such strong emotions from the students, faculty, and administrators at Novi High School, and the citizens of Novi.

But emotions are running high and in many different directions.

Levin's office maintains that another disadvantage of this proposal arises from the concept that equal work, (whether done by men, women or young adults) should receive equal pay. Levin's spokesman argues that under this proposal, teens would be "exploited" because they would be doing equal work to adults while receiving less pay and possibly they would be replaced by an adult as soon as the "summer months" of the sub-minimum wage ended.

Nakamura noted that many labor unions are also opposed to this proposal, because of the possibility of teen workers replacing adult workers. The Retail Clerks' Union of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. was contacted about their opinion on the subject, but no statement was available.

Wearing a smile

Students at St. William's School in Walled Lake are wearing more than a smile every morning as they report in for roll call. Uniforms are mandatory and receive both positive and negative support from St.

Armstrong keeps 12 Oaks growing

Throongs of Christmas shoppers hurry through the mall. Suddenly, music is heard as a large choir begins to sing carols. Shoppers gather around, one by one, to listen and join in and soon there is a large group of people, all celebrating the holidays with song. This is a description of the enjoyable Christmas sing-along that took place at Twelve Oaks Mall last December.

The sing-along, involving seven local high school choirs, was conducted by Mal Sillars. It was arranged for the benefit of the Detroit Science Center and has been called "the super-scientific celebration of the season."

The evening was entitled "Twelve Oaks Programs a Party" to fit in with the computer set-up in the center court of the mall. The sing-along is just one of the many events that occur at Twelve Oaks.

The coordination of these events and others is a rather large responsibility. It is the job of Sheila Armstrong, Promotions Director of Twelve Oaks Mall.

Some other mall activities include, the "Classes With Charisma" program, which took place last fall. Classic cars were displayed throughout the mall and cameras were loaned to customers for participation in a photography contest.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, with Richard Hayman conducting, performed at Twelve Oaks last June. Many other musical events occurred throughout the year, particularly during the Christmas season.

Santa and the Easter Bunny visit the mall every year to meet children and have pictures taken with them.

Each fall and spring, Twelve Oaks hosts a fashion show, displaying clothes from various shops in the mall.

Armstrong says that so many hours are spent in the developmental stages of an event, it is too difficult to number

Sheraton chef knows his English

Executive Chef Remy Barry, who is originally from London, England, works at Novi's Sheraton Oaks. His career was inspired by his mother who was a great cook. When Chef Remy was a child he traveled extensively. He also liked to cook as a child when he had the chance.

By age seven, he already made his decision to be a chef. At age 12, Chef Remy was an apprentice at the Savoy Hotel in England. He also went to regular school in England. Chef Remy studied catering and hotel management at Westminster College of Catering. Prior to his employment at the Sheraton Oaks, he served as executive chef at the Michigan Inn in Southfield for two years.

In the Sheraton Oaks Hotel there are two restaurants; one is Anthony's, a casual restaurant; the other is Raphael's, a classical French restaurant. The hotel also has banquets for up to a thousand people.

As executive chef, he keeps the whole kitchen in working order. He designs the menu for the hotel, then various other chefs prepare the items. They also have a purchasing agent, who is called a Chef Du Provision, he buys all the food for the hotel.

On Sundays, the Sheraton Oaks has their Sunday brunch. It has a cold appetizer bar with 10 different kinds of salads; two different kinds of jello molds, three different kinds of smoked fish, and much more.

Rhyme and rhythm is poet's reason for writing

Hutton writes "only as the spirit moves, only as the thought lends itself. Poetry isn't mysterious, poetry is rhyme and rhythm. Two forms of the same thing. You want a poem to rhyme and to be in rhythm. People tell me I write in a set style. They say that things I write are like things they used to read by Edgar A. Guest. I deal with life as it is."

Hutton primarily writes for enjoyment. "It gives me a little satisfaction of my own, and it's a kind of self therapy."

But the poet has no ambition to become famous for his writings. "When you write, you write for yourself. You begin to know you. You never do it to make money, just to enjoy it."

Hutton started writing 10 years ago and he says it just happened. "My field is music. One of the members in a group I lead was leaving, and someone thought I could write a poem for her. It turned out better than I thought it would, and I just kept on writing."

Hutton says that things that happen in your life are apt to influence your writing. "I wouldn't sit down to write right now, since my wife passed away."

He also agrees that his music affects his poetry. "Anyone who is a musician has a 'foot in the door.' It depends on what he's written and what your interests are."

"To be a poet you've got to have some vocabulary. If you don't, your sense of rhyme and rhythm don't hold up," says Hutton. "I've sweated over two or three words in a four-line poem for weeks, or just written a long poem in a day or two."

"There are definite things I would like to do. I would like to go New York

Church organizes Singles Ministries for meeting others

What do you do when you're young, single and don't like going to bars to meet people? That's the problem that prompted a half-dozen members of Grace Community Bible Church in Walled Lake to begin a group-oriented club for young single adults.

Matt Swiatek, a church member and one of the group's organizers, said Singletime Ministries hopes to reach young adults who would like to meet others and participate in group events. "We really do feel there is a need for this," he said.

The Business Office Education Club (BOEC) at Novi High School is less than a year old, but that didn't stop Novi students from piling up honors in the BOEC regional competition with 150 students from 14 other area high schools recently. First, second and third place winners from Novi included (left to right, up the stairs) Nancy Hykal, Kathy Byrne, Karen Goers, Stephanie Beattie, Jill Trombly, Cheryl Loeffler and Debbie Swindlehurst. Not pictured is Kris Zemke. (News photo by John Galloway)

All-State Musicians

Western students in All-State band

Excuse Al Johnson for being a little proud these days. The Walled Lake Western music director received word recently that five Warrior musicians have been named to the 1983 Michigan Lions All-State Band. Western students selected for the all-state band are Steve Rundell, tuba; Gary Nelson, alto saxophone; Mark Perry, baritone; Dianna Godfrey, flag corps; and Kim Czarnecki, twirler. They represent over 240 high school musicians representing 91 high schools on January 16. Johnson said that having six students selected for the all-state band is a credit to the instrumental music program in the Walled Lake schools as well as the talented young musicians.

Area students vie for academy posts

Three local students have been nominated for appointments to service academies by Congressman William S. Broomfield.

Beth Pianta of Novi has been nominated for the Air Force Academy, Scott Geoffrey of Walled Lake has been nominated for the Naval Academy and Gary West of Walled Lake has been nominated for the Merchant Marine Academy.

Broomfield said candidates are selected strictly on a competitive basis, according to merit. Religion, race, political affiliation and economic status are not considered.

The three local nominees will be competing for one vacancy at the Air Force Academy, two vacancies at the Naval Academy and 12 vacancies allotted to Michigan at the Merchant Marine Academy.

Pianta is one of 10 nominees for the Air Force Academy. A Novi High School student, she resides with her family on 12½ Mile.

Geoffrey, a senior at Walled Lake Western, is one of 20 nominees competing for the Naval Academy. He resides with his mother in Walled Lake.

West is one of nine nominees selected by Broomfield to compete on a statewide basis for the Merchant Marine Academy. A Walled Lake Western student, he resides with his mother in Walled Lake.

Nominees must fulfill requirements for academics, physical aptitude and medical fitness to qualify for admission. A selection board at each academy reviews each nominee's record and makes the final selection.

Chamber music group holds Sunday concert

The Novi Chamber Music Society will present a concert featuring Nathaniel Gurin, trombone, and Pat Gurin, violin, this Sunday at the Faith Community Presbyterian Church.

The concert will begin at 7 p.m. Tickets are priced at $3 for adults and $2 for students. A reception will follow the concert.

The church is located on Ten Mile between Novi and Tait roads. For more information call 349-5666 or 349-7783.

Nathaniel Gurin, assistant principal trombone with the Detroit Symphony, studied at Eastman and Juillard schools of music and has been a member of the Montreal and Boston symphonies.

His wife, Pat Gurin, is also a Juillard graduate and currently heads the string department at the Detroit Community Music School.

They will be accompanied by Fontaine Laing of Novi.

Concert Band slates Sunday performance

The Novi Concert Band will make its fourth public appearance this Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Holy Family Church on Meadowbrook Road.

The newly-organized group will perform works by R. Vaughan Williams, Alfred Reed, John Williams, Cy Coleman and Henry Fillmore. Dr. Annetta Kelly will be featured as trumpet soloist in "Carnival of Venice."

A Dixieland group, made up of band members, known as the Grand River Four Plus One, also will perform with full band accompaniment.

Admission is free.

Raymond Gales is conductor and Robert Zimmerman is assistant conductor. Raymond Murphy is business manager.

The band is sponsored by Novi Parks and Recreation with the cooperation of Holy Family Church. The group is comprised of Novi area musicians who regularly rehearse at Holy Family Church. Area musicians are invited to join the group.
