Bids for DPW facility $300,000 over budget

By KATHY JENNINGS

NOVI — City officials scrambled last week, trying to figure out what to do with bids to construct a Department of Public Works maintenance building that came in $300,000 over estimates.

Blaming "subcontractor creep," the phenomenon of rising prices which occurs as the building industry recovers from a recession, Architect Jeff Clark nevertheless accepted responsibility for underestimating the cost of the project.

The city expected to pay nearly $1.4 million for the building, but bids for the project ranged from $300,000 to $600,000 more than estimated. Construction and site work costs were both underestimated.

"I polled a number of contractors and found that some subcontractors are trying to recoup their losses of the past few years. If this project were bid six months ago, the cost would have been cut 10 percent," Clark said.

Clark also explained that architects aim for estimates that are slightly higher than what will be needed to construct the building. "When you look at the total cost we are 10 percent over architectural estimates. If you include the soil storage building we missed by 15 percent," Clark told the council.

But he assured council members there were certain aspects of the plans which could be modified to lower the cost of the building. "This is not insurmountable. Any project designed always has money to take out of it. The question is what you want to take out and what you're willing to live with."

Clark also encouraged the council to build as much of the project as possible at this time, saying prices could not be expected to go down. He indicated the days of no annual escalation in building costs — like those experienced from 1980-83 — have ended.

"The days of a hold on escalation (on building costs) are completely over," Clark said. He told the council that before the recession building costs escalated 10 percent each year and that kind of increased costs could be expected once again.

"The DPW building is a reflection of what has happened in the industry. Even though the dollar costs have come in higher than anticipated, we won't be able to get it cheaper two years from now. It's important to realize if you curtail some of the project and do some of it later it's going to cost more."

Clark suggested that in order to complete the building as close to budget as possible the city follow a revised bid.

Board to seek approval of 10½ mills for schools

NOVI — School district residents will be asked to renew the levy of 10½ mills for a period of four years in a special election on March 6.

The school board made it official last week, voting unanimously to adopt the recommendation of the Millage Requirements Committee to seek renewal of the 10½ mills for a four-year period.

The 10½ mills ($10.50 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation) represents approximately one-third (35 percent) of the operating millage currently levied by the school district. The levy expired at the end of 1983 and cannot be levied again without voter approval.

The major difference between the proposal approved three years ago and the proposal on the March 6 ballot is the addition of one year to the duration of the millage. The 10½ mills was approved for a three-year period in 1981. The citizens committee and board are now asking that it be extended for a four-year period.

Steven Hitchcock, spokesman for the Millage Requirements Committee, told the board the increase from three to four years was being recommended in order to stagger millage renewal questions in even-numbered years.

Voters approved a 13-mill renewal in March 1983 and will be faced with the same renewal again in 1986. By asking that the 10½ mills this year be renewed for a period of four years, it will not have to be voted on again until 1988.

"By extending the length of this renewal," said Hitchcock, "we will only have to ask voters to go to the polls every other year."

Trustee Robert Schram, who also served on the Millage Requirements Committee, noted that Southfield voters recently renewed millage for a 10-year period. "We felt voters should have an opportunity to have input into the millage process a little more frequently than once every 10 years," he said.

"Millage renewals every other year will still give the voters ample opportunity to provide input, plus it will cut down on the expense of holding elections as frequently as we do currently," he said.

Trustee Ron Milam added that citizens still have an opportunity to address the cost of operating the school district by attending budget hearings which occur every year. "Specific items in the program can be discussed during the budget hearings," he said.

The school district currently levies 29.99 mills for operations, although the total authorized millage levy for operating the schools is 33.03 mills.

The citizens' committee arrived at its recommendation after studying enrollment and budget projections over the next two years as well as data provided by the city assessor regarding State Equalized Valuations (SEV).

Assistant Superintendent William Barr, who served as chairman of the committee, projected that enrollment and staffing needs will remain at current levels over the next two years. Although 550 housing starts are predicted in both 1984 and 1985, a decline in current K-12 enrollment is expected to offset any increases from new construction.

Barr said changes in the SEV are even more difficult to predict. City Assessor John Merrifield has projected an increase of either $15-20 million or $20-30 million in new growth over the next two years.

Barr said the committee attempted to be conservative in projecting the SEV. "Two years ago we were projecting an SEV of $354 million for the current year, but we're currently sitting on an SEV of $321 million," he said.

"Experience has told us it's more prudent to be conservative than be unrealistically optimistic."

Police apprehend suspect charged in beating incident

NOVI — Police have arrested a 34-year-old Detroit man in connection with the beating and robbery of an elderly woman at Beverly Manor Convalescent Home November 9.

Raybin E. Davis was apprehended by police last week outside an agency for temporary medical assistants in Southfield. After receiving information at the beginning of the year, Novi police had staked out a number of similar companies in the area in hopes of capturing Davis.

Davis stood mute at his arraignment January 18 before 52nd District Court Judge Harold Bulgarelli. He faces charges on one count of unarmed robbery and a second count of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than

Woman robbed at gunpoint

NOVI — An armed robber and an accomplice entered a home in the Country Cousin Mobile Home Park where they allegedly held up a young woman and two children.

While in the area investigating the robbery, police apprehended a man believed to be driving a stolen automobile.

In the first incident, a purse containing identification and change reportedly was stolen at gunpoint from a home in the 20000 block of Lowery.

After entering the residence, the gunman asked the young woman where they kept the money, according to police. He held a gun on the woman and the two children — a three-year-old girl and a six-year-old boy, while the second man searched the home.

Kitchen cupboards were searched as the gunmen held the three on a couch in the living room.

The children's father, who had been shopping, then returned home. The gunman hid behind the door as the father entered. When the father was ordered to sit on the couch he instead backed out of the door. He pulled the door shut and ran for help.

The robbers then reportedly grabbed the woman's purse and fled.

The gunman was described as a white male, approximately 5-8, 140 pounds and about 23 years of age. He was wearing a black ski jacket and a black ski hat.

The second man was wearing a black ski mask with green and yellow trim. He was described as taller and heavier than the gunman.

Meanwhile, officers responding to the scene of the robbery apprehended a man believed to be driving a stolen vehicle.

While arriving to assist police already on the scene, officers observed two automobiles leaving the mobile home park. Police said the cars appeared to be following one another.

The second car was pulled over and the driver was asked to produce his license and registration. Police found the driver's license was suspended. He was arrested for driving with a suspended license, and the automobile was towed to Wixom Collision.

Upon further investigation police found the Vehicle Identification Number (VIN) had been removed from the dashboard of the car. Federal stickers on the door and trunk of the car also had been removed. Police discovered a concealed VIN and determined that the automobile had been stolen from St. Clair.

John T. Tykalski of Detroit was arrested Thursday before Judge Martin Boyle on one count of possession of a stolen vehicle with intent to pass title and one count of possession of stolen property in excess of $100. He was released on $2,500 personal bond on each count. Examination was set for January 30.

Planners upset with council for shoreline committee plan

By KATHY JENNINGS

NOVI — Planning board members, irked with the formation of a committee to draft plans for city property on Walled Lake, have delayed appointing a representative to the 12-member panel.

Planners leveled a barrage of criticism at the city council last week for setting up the committee, calling the move "high handed" and suggesting the city was improperly taking the role of a private developer.

Planners said they viewed formation of the committee as a move to circumvent them and push through a predetermined plan for the 12.5 acres of property. Planners also said their board should be included in the study because plans for the property affect the master plan for the entire lake area.

To show their displeasure with the "Shoreline Property Planning Committee," planners decided to table an appointment to the committee until the council responds to questions about the plans for development of the property.

Planners asked the council to define the planning board's role in developing plans for the property. They also requested an attorney's opinion regarding the legality of a committee to master plan a specific part of the city. The board further questioned the council's intentions for the general use of the property.

The city last year spent approximately $500,000 to acquire property on Walled Lake. Through several separate purchases, the city now owns approximately 12.5 acres of land with more than 800 feet fronting on Walled Lake. One purchase was made with a bank loan. The city also has used money budgeted for land acquisition and road funds to purchase property.

Council members recently formed a 12-member committee to assist in choosing a consultant to develop plans for the property. The council asked the planning board to appoint a member to serve on the committee. The panel, which also has three residents from the city at large and one resident from the lake area, is to report to the council.

Planner Joseph Toth fired the first volley against the city council and administration, saying he was "literally ticked off" when he read the resolution to form the planning committee.

In a letter condemning formation of the committee, Toth called the resolution a "slap in the face" to city planners. "This planning board has never had the opportunity to put this item on our agenda and now we have a resolution that will require us to rubber stamp whatever the special committee has planned for this site," said Toth in the letter.

Toth objected that the council and administration have created a second planning board, failed to advertise for volunteers for the committee, formed a hand-picked group and by-passed the city's normal planning process.

While Toth commended the city for assembling the 12.5 acre site, he objected to the city trying to develop the property. Toth suggested the property be turned over to a private developer.

Toth also expressed special concern that the property would be turned into a city park because the parks and recreation director is on the committee. He said the property is too valuable to be used in that fashion.

Developers schedule informational meeting

NOVI — An informational meeting on the proposed rezoning of 71 acres of property will be held tomorrow (Thursday) at 7 p.m. in Room 32 of the Village Oak Elementary School.

Developers of Orchard Hill Place will explain their request to rezone 71 acres of property at the southwest corner of Nine Mile and Haggerty Road from its existing residential designation.

The property currently is zoned to be developed with single family and multiple family dwellings. Orchard Hill Place has requested the property be rezoned so that it can be developed under office-service-commercial and office classifications.

Residents and city officials have been invited to attend the informational session with Orchard Hill Place representatives. The planning board is slated to hear the rezoning request formally February 1.

Local youth nominated for service academies

NOVI/WALLED LAKE — Three local high school students are among the candidates for 1984 appointments to the service academies, announced Congressman William S. Brownfield.

The three are Andrew Chinarian of Walled Lake Central, Eric Schuster of Novi and Matthew Turner of Walled Lake Western.

Chinarian and Schuster are among the 16 nominees competing for two vacancies at the Military Academy. Turner is one of 10 nominees competing for one vacancy at the Naval Academy. Chinarian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Chinarian of West Bloomfield. Schuster is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schuster of Novi and Turner is the son of Mrs. Muriel Turner of Milford. All three are seniors in high school.

Brownfield explained that each representative may have a maximum of five cadets or midshipmen charged to his office's quota in attendance at each service academy at any one time. For each vacancy, a representative may select no more than 10 nominees to compete for the vacancy.

Candidates are selected strictly on a competitive basis, according to merit. Religion, race, political affiliation or economic status are not considered. Final selection of appointments will be determined by a selection board at the respective academies, Brownfield said.

Look out, Bill Koch

With the Winter Olympics from Sarajevo right around the corner, Novi youngsters are getting into the spirit of the season through a special cross-country ski clinic sponsored by the Novi Parks and Recreation Department. The program is called the Bill Koch Children's Ski League in honor of the United States' premier

Nordic ski champion. The wind chill factor was 26-below during last week's lesson, but the frigid weather didn't stop these youngsters from preparing for the 1992 Olympics. (News photo by Steve Fecht)

Center eyed for Novi/Nine Mile

NOVI — It was "what if" night at the planning board last week. David Nelson asked planners if they would consider a shopping center at the northeast corner of Novi Road and Nine Mile if his company agreed to purchase the property across the street and develop it as single family homes.

The question came before the planning board for discussion since the property must be rezoned in order to build a shopping center there. The developers must go through lengthy rezoning proceedings if they decided to pursue the project, and the meeting was set up to get an idea of how planners would view such a request. Planners told Nelson they liked his plan, but the shopping center should be located in another portion of the city.

Nelson, representing Nelson-Ross Properties, told the planners the group he represents searched through the city before finding the property they viewed as "ideal" for a shopping center.

He indicated they had contacted a major supermarket concern, which would be the primary tenant in the shopping center, and found there was a great deal of interest in the property.

"Thirty percent of the center is already spoken for," Nelson said.

City Consultant Planner Charles Cairns told the board the proposal was "handsome and attractive from a design standpoint." But he noted he could not recommend rezoning the property to allow a general business land use, because it is contrary to the master plan.

"I feel it would represent too great a deviation from the plan and I couldn't recommend it unless the community, the planning board and the city council felt it would provide a proper service for the area," Cairns said.

Before allowing the development to proceed, the city would have to amend its master plan and go through the necessary public hearings, Cairns said.

Cairns also objected that the city has been sued three times in separate actions to rezone property on the southwest corner of the Novi Road/Nine Mile intersection.

"The property on the southwest corner has become a well-known corner in Oakland County Circuit Court," Cairns said. "We've argued that it would be disruptive to the area to rezone it to B-3 and permit them to put in general commercial. We've prevailed in court on all three instances. For us to recommend rezoning the northeast corner when this matter has been litigated three times across the street would put the city in a very moderate position with respect to the multiple residential orientation on the west side of the road. We would create a situation difficult to defend," Cairns said.

He noted, however, that if the southwest corner of the intersection were developed with single family residential homes, as proposed by Nelson, the city would be in a much better position to defend the zoning in that area.

Chairman William Briggs pointed out that Novi residents previously have opposed shopping centers at intersections in the community.

"We had a lot of public input on this. The residents have said they don't feel the need to have commercial in other areas than the center of the city," Briggs said. "They don't want to live down the street from a well-known corner. We have been to avoid the concept of convenience centers on corners."

Cairns agreed the number of convenience centers proposed in the master plan was reduced from five to two as a result of public input during master plan hearings.

Nelson said he believes his proposal would be accepted by the community because the two existing shopping centers, West Oaks and the A&P Plaza, are misplaced. He explained the highway and traffic congestion forms a barrier that keeps residents from shopping at Krogers in West Oaks. The A&P Plaza is not as successful as it could be because there is no housing to the north of it, Nelson said.

In comparison, the proposed shopping center would be "right in the heart of a developing area," Nelson said. Within three miles of the proposed site there are 22,000 residents, he noted.

But planners were not convinced the public would accept the proposal. Planner Ernest Aruffo said if the matter came to a hearing there would be a public outcry against the proposal and residents the developer hopes to serve would oppose the project.

Other planners indicated they approved of the concept but did believe the city should abandon its master plan with a centralized commercial area at this point.

Board says parcel won't be divided

NOVI — The Novi Elementary School property should be sold as a unit instead of being broken up into smaller parcels.

That was the unanimous opinion of the school board last week after Superintendent Robert Pwko reported that an offer has been received to purchase 2½ acres of the 11-acre site on Novi Road near the I-96 interchange.

The old Novi Elementary School was vacated seven years ago with the completion of Novi Woods Elementary School. The community building at the north end of the school is used by various local groups, including the Oakland-Livonia Human Service Agency, but the school itself is not in use.

"We had a request several years ago for an option that would have tied up the property for a lengthy period, but with very little money down," said Pwko. "We receive inquiries about the property on a regular basis, but there has never been an offer to purchase."

Although the board has set no firm price for the 11-acre parcel, school officials have said they hope to sell it for at least the cost of constructing another elementary school.

Pwko stated that the subject of selling the property was placed on the January 19 agenda because school officials had been contacted by a party interested in making an offer on a portion of the property.

Pwko did not reveal the name of the interested party, but said they were represented by William Gladden of Headliner Real Estate in Novi.

Gladden also declined to reveal the names of the individuals he is representing in negotiations.

Trustee Norman Miller, who met with the interested buyer along with Board President Joan Daley, Assistant Superintendent William Barr and Pwko, said they had received a "very interesting offer" — not for all the property but for approximately 2½ acres.

Pwko added that the proposal involved the "prime 2½ acres with Novi Road frontage."

"The question before the board," said Miller, "is whether we want to sell the land in one piece or sell it in parcels and act as a developer."

Board members maintained that the property should be sold as a single unit. Trustee Robert Schram compared the proposal to purchase 2½ acres with Novi Road frontage to skimming the frosting off a cake. "I really have no interest in selling off the frontage," he said.

Other board members expressed similar sentiments. Daley said she would prefer to sell the property as a unit, "unless there was an unusual offer," and Trustee Ron Milam said he would prefer not getting into the developing business, "which is what we'll be doing if we parcel it out."

Pwko said the board's feeling would be relayed to the interested purchaser.

Board postpones hospital action

By LEANNE ROGERS

COMMERCIAL — The state Water Resources Commission once again has tabled action on the Huron Valley Hospital's request for a wastewater discharge permit.

"A number of citizens claimed they did not have time to evaluate the new information, and the commission went along with that request," said Wayne Denniston, section chief of the Department of Natural Resources' (DNR) groundwater permit division. The permit request will now be considered at the February 16 commission meeting.

The DNR initially recommended denial of the request, but changed the recommendation to approval after a hospital sponsors submitted revised discharge treatment plans. Denniston said the favorable recommendation resulted from the addition of more treatment steps in the system.

Residents opposed to the project and Oakland County Health Division officials have not changed their assessment of the plans, however.

"I doubt if the people who are opposed will change their minds no matter what is offered," Denniston said. "They will never be satisfied. They are opposed to the hospital."

The addition of sophisticated processes causes even more questions to be raised, according to Oscar Boyea, administrative assistant of the environmental health services section of the county health division.

"No one has any idea how to run this, how to manipulate the system," he commented. "It is a paper plant as far as I am concerned. You can espouse it doing anything. Only after it is built we will see if it falls on its face."

Boyea said he would maintain his opposition to building the hospital over a usable aquifer. "Within 35 days the discharge will be in the aquifer," he said. "We have to recognize that no matter how well the system is built, it will not be foolproof."

Carl Kerr, president of the Lakes Area Environmental Action Group, said an unalterable concern for residents is the threat to groundwater supplies.

"Every time they make an addition to the system it makes it better, but they still can't completely protect us," Kerr said. "Systems can fail. One failure and we have contaminated water supplies. I'd rather they wait until there are sewers or find a new location."

Effluent from the hospital would undergo sand filtration, followed by carbon filtration to remove organics and ultraviolet treatments for virus control. The process would also include reverse osmosis treatment which would reduce ions such as chlorides, sodiums and heavy metals.

The discharge would be sent to four sealed holding ponds, each having at least one week holding capacity. The ponds would be used on an alternating basis.

Speaking at the hearing before the Water Resources Commission were virologists Dr. Kenneth Corcoran of the University of Michigan School of Public Health and Dr. Donald Johnson of the University of North Carolina School of Public Health. Denniston said Johnson has conducted over five years' research on ultraviolet treatments.

"We met with him once before and his presentation convinced us about the ultraviolet treatments," said Denniston. "And with the reserve osmosis treatments, they can end up with water better than the existing groundwater quality. There are really high limitations in the treatment."

Denniston said after the proposed treatment the water quality in the hospital discharge would "be as safe and clear as any water from their wells."

"Nothing we say will satisfy them (the residents)," said Denniston. "Some residents may not be as opposed to the hospital as they were."

Denniston denied charges that residents were not provided information about the proposal in a timely manner. He said materials were mailed to 25 residents at the same time they were mailed to commission members.

If the discharge permit for the hospital on Sleeth Road near Benstein Road is approved, actual system designs will have to be submitted.

City water rate hike debated

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING

WALLED LAKE — The city council is grappling with proposed new water rates that would increase the average residential bill by about 55 percent.

The council has held two study sessions on the new rate structure, but has not approved it. A third study session is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, February 13, at city hall.

Water bills for the October to December quarter, scheduled to be mailed to city water customers within the next month, will reflect the old rates and will not contain any increases currently under consideration by the council.

The proposal forwarded by City Engineer Alex Moiseff calls for a uniform increase in the water usage charge to 80 cents per 1000 gallons. The engineer also proposes increases in annual debt service charges and in minimum charges, depending on the size of water meter.

Residents presently pay $8 for the first 10,000 gallons of water used, and 45 cents per 1,000 gallons over that. The water rates have been kept at that rate because the city water system has been subsidized both directly and indirectly by the general fund.

For the past several years, one mill (about $2,400) was allocated to the water department to cover direct operational expenses. Indirect costs of operating the system also were subsidized by the general fund. For example, department of public works personnel help provide labor for emergency repairs, and city clerk's office personnel help with water billings.

Discussion of changing the water department to a "user system" began in 1983-84 budget sessions last May when the council was faced with a possible tax hike. Rather than raise city taxes, the council agreed to scratch from the general fund the one mill traditionally allocated to the water department.

By using general fund dollars to help support the water system, people or businesses that use more water are being subsidized by those who use less. Moiseff explained to the council during budget sessions. In addition, the city's present rate structure provides no "rainy day" surplus for emergency repairs or equipment replacement. Nor does it generate any surplus monies to be set aside for future improvements to the system.

The new rate structure, he explained this week, answers all three of these problems. All customers are billed according to the amount of water they use. A new system benefit fee of $450 per new customer is recommended to begin a fund for system improvements. And the proposed increased rates and minimum charges provide enough revenue to establish funds for replacement of equipment and vehicles.

"With this you are going to create a water system that is independent of the city," Moiseff explained this week.

Based on the use of 25,000 gallons of water, the average residential water bill presently would amount to $16.75 per quarter. This includes an $8 minimum

Investigators say rink fire was set

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING

WALLED LAKE — The January 12 fire that devastated the West Oakland Roller Rink was deliberately set, State Police Sergeant LaVerne Erickson reported this week.

Erickson said arson was suspected immediately upon investigating the burned building the day of the fire. Tests confirmed that an accelerant was used to torch the 10-year-old roller rink, he added.

The fire is still under investigation by Walled Lake police and state police arson investigators. Damage has been estimated at $120,000.

Erickson further confirmed that an insurance policy worth over $400,000 was taken out on the roller rink by owner Kathleen Whipple as recently as within two months of the fire. The policy includes $30,000 on the building and $86,000 on its contents.

The insurance company has hired its own private investigator to look into the fire because of its suspicious nature, Erickson added.

Although Whipple, a resident of Holly, holds the land contract and insurance on the roller rink, ownership of the facility is in the process of being transferred to her ex-husband Gary Bates.

Bates, a Walled Lake resident, built the roller rink himself in 1971. Whipple obtained the rink in a 1976 divorce settlement, agreeing to make over $45,000 in cash payments to Bates, according to his attorney Herb Magnusson. When she failed to make the payments, Bates moved to foreclose on the building.

Bates bought the roller rink back in a sheriff's sale last October. Oakland County Circuit Judge James Thorburn confirmed the sale January 11. Whipple has six months to pay the money she owes on the property if she wants to retain it.

Erickson said there are "no particular" suspects in the case. They are investigating the possibility of various motives, he added.

The fire, which police battled for four hours in sub-zero temperatures, was concentrated in the east end of the building where offices, skate rental, restrooms and a snack bar were located. The blaze finally was extinguished about 4 a.m., according to police reports.

Although the outside cement block structure was still intact, the interior of the building was devastated by the fire, smoke, water and falling debris. The wooden roller floor itself did not burn, but insulation and debris from the artificial ceiling completely covered the surface by the time the fire was extinguished.

"There was no one in the building at the time of the fire, which was first reported about 12:40 a.m. Walled Lake firefighters were assisted by units from Commerce Township and Novi. Four fire trucks and approximately 40 men helped battle the fire.

Dingeldey is new target Recall effort continues

By LEANNE ROGERS

WIXOM — A second petition seeking the recall of Council Member Gunnar Mettala has been filed. The first recall petition was rejected by the Oakland County Elections Division on the grounds it was unclear.

Recall Sponsor Jennifer Stamper said the recall of another council member, Nancy Dingeldey, is being considered. Both recall petitions apparently stem from the council's decision in September to grant tax abatement for the Korex Company.

Mettala said he was not surprised the petitions were rejected. "All I can do now is consult an attorney. I have been accused of malfeasance and misfeasance," said Mettala. "Charges have been made. People are reading about them and the only way to clear my name is to go to court."

Stamper said she was surprised by Mettala's statement. "As a public official, he seems to think everyone should think he is perfect," she said.

The county elections commission rejected the first petition to recall Mettala at a meeting last Friday, January 20, on the grounds it lacked clarity. Stamper was advised to rewrite the petition by commission members. Probe

Court Chief Judge Norman Barnard, County Clerk Lynn Allen and County Treasurer C. Hugh Dohany.

Originally Stamper charged Mettala with a conflict of interest and abuse of office. The first charge related to Mettala's vote to grant the Korex Company tax abatement for 12 years. Mettala's wife is employed by the Wixom-based company.

In a statement presented to the election commission, Mettala denied any conflict of interest. "The city attorney gave the opinion in a previous tax abatement case involving Korex Company that there was no conflict of interest because of the mental nature of Mrs. Mettala's job at Korex," he said.

The second charge accused Mettala of using his position to "carry out a vicious attack against (Mayor) Gary Lantz and has misrepresented material facts concerning the airport project..." Lantz ran unsuccessfully for mayor in 1981, but was elected mayor in the 1983 election.

Stamper also charged Mettala had violated the State Open Meetings Act by adding items to create a city manager position at the end of a council meeting agenda.

Commission loses Veenstra

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING

WOLVERINE — Lakeridge subdivision developer Gary Veenstra last week announced his resignation from the village planning commission.

The resignation culminated five weeks of discussion among village officials concerning the possibility of conflict between Veenstra's interests as a developer and his responsibilities as a village planner.

Earlier this month, Village Attorney Tom Connelly determined that there had been no conflict in Veenstra's past activities as a planner. Veenstra has served on the commission six years.

But Connelly also said the village should attempt to avoid "even the appearance of conflict." Therefore, the attorney advised that Veenstra not attend any meetings during which agenda

"Inasmuch as my developments represent not only my livelihood, but also a substantial financial investment... I find no alternative but to offer my resignation from the planning commission..."

— Gary Veenstra, Village developer

Items pertaining to the developer's property would be discussed. Connelly added that Veenstra should not attend even as a member of the audience, since the influence over the board would be the same, whether he sat with the commission or in the audience.

Novi school budget deficit grows $13,000

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING

NOVI — The projected budget deficit for the 1983-84 school year has increased to $13,754 from approximately $17,625 to $31,380, according to Assistant Superintendent William Barr.

Barr presented the mid-year budget revisions to the school board January 19, noting that the $13,754 difference between budget projections last June and actual expenses through December is less than two-tenths of one percent.

The board subsequently voted unanimously to approve the revised budget with Trustee Michael Meyer saying he felt it was "remarkable to be that close."

Barr said the primary reason for the difference between the projected and mid-year actual budget was the necessity to hire two additional teachers at the start of classes in September. He also cited added utility costs and the cost of providing additional adult educational opportunities as causes for increased expenditures.

The revised budget approved by the board last week shows increased revenues of $123,843 (from $10,352 million to $10,476 million) and increased expenditures of $137,597 (from $10.37 million to $10,507 million).

As a result, the deficit for 1983-84 has grown from $17,626 to $31,380.

The deficit will be offset by digging into the fund balance account. Novi Community Schools had a fund balance of $554,637 on July 1, 1983. A deficit of $31,380 during the 1983-84 school year will reduce fund balance to $523,257 on June 30, 1984.

However, Barr told the board that the total projected deficit of $31,000 could be reduced significantly by the end of the current school year by prudent management of expenditures.

"Several years ago we had a mid-year projection of a $50,000 deficit and managed to finish the school year in the black as a result of firm control over expenses," he said.

Barr also said the weather may have an impact on expenditures during the remainder of the year. Cold weather can cause things to freeze and that creates expenditures you didn't anticipate, he explained.

The revenue increase of $123,843 from $10,352 million to $10,476 million is comprised of a $50,000 increase from local sources, $43,000 increase from state sources and $30,700 increase from federal sources.

SELLING YOUR HOME

If you are 55 or older and are thinking of selling your home, under today's law you are permitted to exclude up to $125,000 of any gain made on the sale. This is a once-in-a-lifetime exclusion but think of the benefits!

It doesn't have to be a house, either, in order for you to benefit from this provision in the new tax law. It can be a condominium, a co-op apartment or a yacht, as long as you've owned and used it as your principal residence for at least three years out of the five-year period preceding the sale. If the property is owned jointly with your spouse and you file joint returns, the law only requires one of you to meet the 3-year, use, and holding period requirement.

If you are not 55 you can exclude the gain if you purchase another residence within 2 years before or after the sale and invest the proceeds. Again, a yacht, etc. used as your residence would qualify as reinvestment property. So retire on a yacht or house boat!

Patrons make one last visit to the D&C

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING

WALLED LAKE — Where else can you go to find a two-ounce block of beeswax. Kits artificial banana taffy or sewing machine needles for your grandmother's antique Singer?

In Walled Lake, there was only one place, according to the faithful patrons of D&C Department Store.

"This store is Walled Lake. It just breaks my heart you're leaving," said a delighted shopper looking for something anything, to buy from the nearby empty shelves.

"This was the best darn store in 50 miles," protested Joseph McKay of West Bloomfield while browsing through the "Going Out of Business" bargains last week. "They've got things here you can't get anywhere else. Dumb little things — you come in here and they've got it."

"Twenty years ago they said Walled Lake was the place, the up-and-coming town. But if they take away this place, it won't happen. They're taking everything away," McKay lamented.

D&C was one of the first stores in Maple Plaza when it was built about 30 years ago. Bob German, of D&C corporate offices in Stockbridge, said the store's lease expires January 31. He said the firm proposed under a new lease with Maple Plaza owner Lee Lasser was "more than double" the rent under the previous lease, and therefore, the store must close.

Lasser was not available for comment when telephoned at his Troy office this week. However, a secretary indicated Lasser is in negotiations with a prospective new tenant. No arrangements have been finalized, she said.

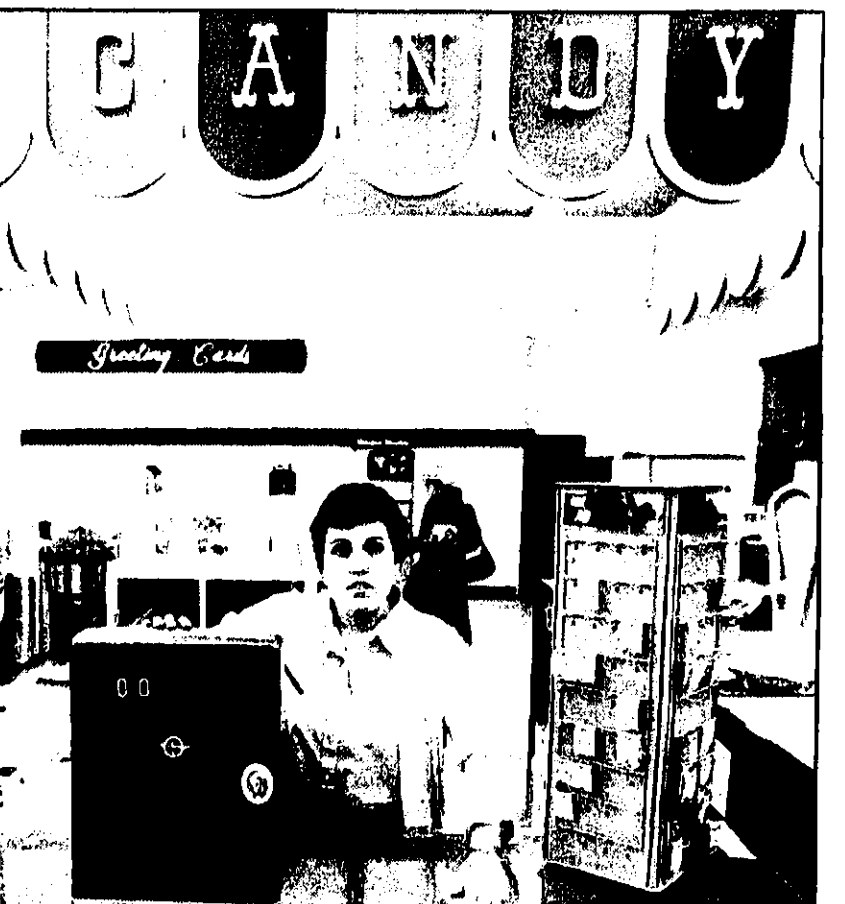

Meanwhile, employees of the venerable cornerstone of "old" Walled Lake are clearing shelves, dismantling dummies and sweeping floors. The sight is an unsettling one for long-time employees and patrons.

"Some have cried... some are angry," said 26-year employee Evelyn Nail. "Some didn't want to come in, they didn't want to see the shelves empty. It has really affected our senior citizens very deeply."

It was the small-town familial atmosphere that made regular customers of many people. "You get to know them; they get to know you," Nail remarked. "We always offer assistance. That's one of the things we're being complimented on. People could come in here and count on being treated well," she explained.

"You can't meet all your friends in here," McKay said. "We never came to Walled Lake without stopping in here. You walked down the hallway and you waved. I had the money, I'd open up a store like this," he added.

Commerce approves mobile home plans

COMMERCE — A mobile home park with 600 units has been approved in the western portion of the township under a consent agreement approved by the board last week.

The agreement resolves litigation between the township and Champion Mobile Homes, which filed suit against the township after its rezoning request was denied. Treasurer Patrick Dohany was the lone board member to oppose the consent agreement.

"Basically the board had told Champion to offer something, but they were not addressing the important issues," said Township Attorney Philip Adkison. "Those issues basically have been resolved through negotiations."

The new mobile home park will be located immediately west of the existing Stratford Villa Mobile Home Park on the south side of Wixom Road. Under the consent agreement, Champion will provide a 200-foot buffer on all sides of the park except the south, which is the Wixom boundary.

"That reserves about 20 acres altogether. They will be allowed to Low prices and "things no one else carries" are additional attractions of the D&C tradition. The candy counter with its red hot and chocolate drops... "those are the kind of things you can't get elsewhere."

"There's something special about buying candy by the pound. If you don't want to buy a pound, then you can buy whatever amount you have pennies and dimes for," remarked Nail.
The notions department seemed to be the most popular, several employees agreed. "Yarn was something we could hardly get ahead of," Nail said.
Imports were popular, as well: decorative plates from Japan, brass trinkets and incense burners from India, tiny boxes covered with bright silk from China, elephant figurines from Mexico and felt dolls under a glass bubble from Taiwan.
"We feel a great loss losing this store," said Debra Fulton, who has shopped D&C for 25 years. "We came regularly. I hope the company will consider coming back to Walled Lake."
"They have great buys," Fulton continued. "We shop all the malls, but we always come back here because it's so handy. We feel real sad about losing this place and the beautiful people who work here."
"It's depressing," Nail said with a glance toward an open space of floor. "It's almost like a death. Some part of you is missing."
"We're all kind of like a family," said Cheryl Campion, an employee of 3 1/2 years. "We uphold each other," Nail agreed.
"Everyone's problems are everyone's problems," added seven-year employee Francis Crawford.
But "dime stores" are becoming obsolete, they agreed with a note of dismay. "It's a little bit frightening to think that we might someday be obsolete," Nail added.
There are 44 D&C stores in Michigan, including locations in Northville, Milford, South Lyon and Brighton.
For a touch of nostalgia, Walled Lake residents might drive to one of these other D&C stores. For the necessities they once purchased regularly at the Maple Plaza location, local residents will have to find a substitution drug store or specialty discount store.
For the personally, the familiarity, the affection of the Walled Lake D&C, however, there will be no substitution.

Officers suffer injuries in scuffle

In Walled Lake
A police sergeant and officer both received minor injuries in a scuffle with a man they arrested last week for driving under the influence of liquor.
Officer Jerry Walker and Sergeant Donald Sanderson were patrolling Maple Road Friday night, January 20, when they observed a 1976 Chevrolet van pull into the road from a parking lot at 1785 East West Maple. According to their report, the vehicle crossed the center line several times and swerved into the opposite lane of traffic while trying to make a left turn at the intersection of Pontiac Trail.
The van was pulled over at Administration Drive. After taking several field sobriety tests, the driver, a 25-year-old Walled Lake resident, was arrested for operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor.
Police searched the man and confiscated a bag they believed to contain marijuana. According to the police report, the man objected when his wallet also was confiscated and began struggling with the two officers.
The man reportedly broke two antennae off the patrol car and struck both policemen before being handcuffed. One of the blows knocked off and broke Sanderson's glasses, the police account said.
Once in the rear of the patrol car, the man reportedly tried to kick out a window with his foot.
In addition to his arrest for driving under the influence of liquor, charges are pending against the man for destroying police property, assaulting a police officer, destructing property worth over $100 (Sanderson's glasses), resisting arrest and possession of marijuana.
The man also was found to be in violation of parole on a 1980 breaking and entering conviction. The 24-month parole, which prohibits him from intimidating or assaultive behavior and from possessing or using intoxicants, expires in 1985.
He is being held in Oakland County jail.
Several people were treated for minor injuries after a two-car collision on Pontiac Trail last week.
One of the drivers was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol.
The accident occurred about 100 feet west of Hollingworth when a 22-year-old Union Lake woman collided into the rear of a car driven by an 18-year-old West Bloomfield man. There were two passengers in the second vehicle, one 15-year-old West Bloomfield girl and the other a Walled Lake girl.
The man told police he was westbound on Pontiac Trail when he signaled to make a left turn into a driveway. The car driven by the Union Lake woman hit his car in the rear, causing it to catch fire and spin completely around until it was facing east on Pontiac Trail.
The man told police she didn't remember anything about the accident except that "for some reason" she passed out just before hitting the car in front of her.
The driver and both passengers in the burning vehicle escaped with only minor injuries and were treated at Henry Ford, West Bloomfield. The Union Lake woman was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor.
A pickup truck reported stolen from the Bay Pointe Country Club in West Bloomfield was recovered by police recently.
An officer on patrol near East Walled Lake Drive reported he saw the brown pickup truck in the 700 block of East Walled Lake Drive and thought it might be a truck wanted by Wolverine Police for a hit and run accident.
The officer followed the truck southbound on East Walled Lake Drive to Fourteen Mile. He lost track of the truck momentarily at Decker but then observed it driving toward him, northbound on Decker. The officer reported the vehicle crossed the road and attempted to drive eastbound across a field, but got stuck in a ditch.
By the time the officer reached the truck, the occupant had escaped on foot. Witnesses in the neighborhood told the officer they did not see anyone walking through the area.
The truck was later reported stolen from the county club.
A resident in the 1600 block of Bolton Street reported a chain saw stolen from his garage sometime last week.
The theft occurred between January 10 and January 22, the homeowner said. It is unknown whether the garage was open at the time of the theft.
An unknown person apparently tried to enter a home on East Walled Lake Drive last week.
The resident said her garage door opener was disconnected sometime between 4 p.m. Friday, January 20, and 5:30 a.m. Saturday. Nothing was reported missing from the garage.

In Novi
A 1974 Dodge tractor truck worth $7,000 was stolen from a parking lot in the 1000 block of Decker last week.
The owner said the vehicle was not locked. It has no insurance or valid license plates. "Rome Machinery Equipment, Warren" is printed on both cab doors, the owner reported.
Police report no suspects in the theft.
Eleven automobiles were vandalized January 13 while they were parked on Roscommon. The complainant told police he noticed that many vehicles on the street had broken windows when he returned home at 2:50 a.m.
Investigating officers reported that the windows in 11 vehicles had been broken, apparently as a result of shots from a BB gun.
In Wixom
Two auto thefts and one attempted auto theft were logged by Wixom police last week.
In the first incident, a Redford Township man reported his 1976 Ford pickup truck was stolen while it was parked overnight at the Town & Country Apartments. The man said he parked the vehicle in the lot at 9:30 p.m. on January 21 and discovered it missing the next day at 8 p.m.
The truck was loaded with carpenter tools when the theft occurred.
A 1976 GMC van was reported stolen from the Wixom Assembly Plant on January 18 at approximately 11:25 a.m.
The owner, a Pontiac man, said a fellow employee reported seeing his van being driven eastbound on I-96 by a light-colored male.
Attempts to steal a 1978 Ford pickup truck from the Village Apartments in Wixom were unsuccessful, however. A Wixom man told police that someone had attempted to steal the vehicle.
Police said a vent window had been forced open and the ignition lock had been punched out, but the responsible party had been unable to get the truck started.
In Wolverine
A snowmobile was reported stolen from a home in the 600 block of Laguna last week.
The homeowner told police the snowmobile was taken between 11:30 p.m. Saturday, January 21, and 9:30 a.m. Sunday, January 22. The vehicle was worth $1,900.
Police report no suspects in the theft.

Resident continues recall effort

Addressing the commission, Metalla denied the remaining charges made in the petition. He said he had objected to rhetoric used by Lantz during the 1981 and 1983 elections. He added that his statements were political, not personal.
"All of the charges cited in the recall petition can be disproved," Metalla said. "It would be a miscarriage of justice to subject Metalla to a recall referendum based on untruthful charges."
The elections commission does not consider the merit of charges brought in recall petitions, only the clarity. Stampler said she wrote her petition after reviewing the one used in the successful recall of Pontiac State Senator Philip Mastin.
The new petition seeks to recall Metalla because "at the September 27 council meeting Metalla voted yes to grant Korex Company a 12-year 50 percent tax abatement."
"I got a 30-page instruction sheet and based the first petition on that," Stampler said. "When the commission talks about it, they want something that can be understood by voters. It doesn't say that in the instructions."
The commission will consider the new petition at a hearing on February 2.
Asked if all the council members who voted in favor of abatement for the Korex Company would be subjects of recall, Stampler said, "We can't recall Nancy Dingley for six months, but we are considering it." State law prohibits recalls until an official has served six months. Dingley began her second term January 1.
Dingley did not vote in favor of abatement for the Korex Company, however. Council Member William Wyllie and Dingley were both absent from the meeting. Metalla and Dennis Andrews, now mayor pro tem, voted in favor of abatement.
Council Members Wayne Glessner and John Lee voted against abatement, and then-mayor Lillian Spencer broke the 2-2 deadlock by voting affirmatively.
"We feel that as taxpayers we have spent enough money on Korex, buying his property, tearing down his old building and paying for his business to move," Stampler commented. "My taxes haven't been reduced."
A housewife with three children, Stampler said she has received a positive response to her recall efforts. "People I have never met have phoned me," she said. "People feel it is time to clean up politics and they want to help."

Stampler said she has formed a group called Citizens Advocating Positive Politics (CAPP). The group currently has 11 members.
Prior to working on the Lantz election campaign in 1983, Stampler said she had not been involved in politics. Metalla maintains that the recall effort is related to conflicts between Lantz and himself.
"I guess he (Metalla) is paranoid about my reasons for the recall," Stampler said. "I put a lot of hours into that first petition. My time is too valuable to have someone tell me what to do with it."

charge for the first 10,000 gallons, $6.75 for the additional 15,000 gallons at 45 cents per 1,000 gallons, and $2 for debt retirement.
With the proposed increases, that quarterly bill would jump to $40.50. The new rate represents $20 for 25,000 gallons at 80 cents per 1,000 gallons, a $12.50 minimum charge and $8 for debt retirement. The average yearly residential water bill would increase by about $90 per year.
In surrounding communities, quarterly water rates vary from $17.49 in Wixom, to $49.02 in Novi — based on use of 25,000 gallons of water.
Business and commercial water bills would vary according to the size of meter. A business with a one-inch meter presently pays $12 minimum charge for the first 10,000 gallons. As on the residential bill this would be changed to 60 cents per 1,000 gallons. The minimum charge for a one-inch meter would be $19 and the debt retirement on a one-inch meter would increase from $14 to $20.
Water system customers will not see the new rates until their January to March quarter bill.

ding procedure. The 12 bidders would be asked to resubmit their bids in greater detail, showing the cost of 24 parts of the project. Contractors also will be asked to include voluntary alternatives, which could reduce the cost of the project.
When those bids come in, Clark will be able to determine the most expensive areas of the project and from there establish a priority list of "things you can live without."
Council members asked if there was any advantage to rejecting the bids. Clark responded the bids are competitive and could not be expected to come down if the project were rebid. He added that the project price could actually increase if it is rebid.
He also discouraged the council from subcontracting the job on its own, saying the city could save 10 percent on the cost of the project only to "blow 15-20 percent in mistakes."
Clark detailed areas the city could eliminate from the project. By eliminating all the items on the list compiled by Clark the city could expect the cost of the building to come down from $10,000 to $10,000. Clark said the cost also was proposed that the size of the site be reduced, thereby lowering the cost of site improvements.

Planners criticize shoreline planning committee

Continued from Nov. 1 Planning Consultant Charles Cairns assured planners that plans for the area must be submitted to the board for approval.

Chairperson William Briggs stated he is philosophically opposed to the city acting as a developer. "I'm asking myself where the city got the money to get into the land speculation business."

Planner Joseph Brett questioned how planning the site affected plans for the entire lake area. "I thought we were going to study the whole lake," Brett said.

Planners were not swayed by Kriewall's explanations or Hoskinson's suggestion and decided to table the matter until receiving an answer from the city council.

Psychologists protest assignments

WALLED LAKE — The school board last week denied a grievance filed by two school psychologists on the grounds their request was an affront to administrative authority.

The Walled Lake Education Association (WLEA), on behalf of the two psychologists, alleged the building assignments made by Special Education Director Dennis Wisinski this year were "capricious and arbitrary."

The board determined it was Wisinski's responsibility to determine what changes, if any, were necessary in building assignments and to carry out those changes.

WLEA Spokesperson Karen Filat told the board that all four school psychologists met with Wisinski in June last year to discuss fall assignments.

"The assignments historically were made by the psychologists themselves," Filat explained. "This year, however, Wisinski did not follow the psychologists' recommendations and altered the building assignments. Two of the psychologists, Adora Kishauer and Diane Sue, together filed a grievance over the assignments.

"Caseload or knowledge of special areas appeared of no concern (in the assignments)," Filat said, explaining the reason for the grievance. "Nearly every psychologist has new assignments. Changes have taken place for which there is no demonstrable need," she added.

On behalf of Kishauer and Sue, the WLEA requested that the psychologists' assignments be returned to the same schedule as the 1982-83 school year. Further, the WLEA requested a policy for making assignments be determined to prevent conflict in future years.

Answering the grievance, Rita Thomas of the Michigan Association of School Boards noted that the teachers' contract indicates that the final decision over building assignments rests with the supervisor.

"There is nothing in the contract which gives the association the right to determine what 'necessity' (for changing assignments) is," Thomas said.

She also noted that two of the four psychologists apparently are happy with the new assignments. Wisinski noted the assignment changes primarily were based on evening-out caseloads among the psychologists. To summarize the difference in caseloads, Wisinski presented the board with a chart showing the number of students each psychologist would be responsible for testing in 1983-84.

Kishauer formerly handled both Western and Central high schools, which together had 118 student needing testing this year.

Sue was responsible for five elementary schools and mentally impaired students at Clifford Smart Junior High. Fourteen students from these buildings required testing in 1983-84.

Psychologist Edward Clarizio handled both junior high schools and three elementary schools, altogether requiring testing of 83 students this school year. Psychologist Fred Kasner was responsible for students in six elementary schools, in which 31 students needed testing in 1983-84.

Under the new assignments, Kishauer lost Central High School and picked up two elementary schools. Her caseload was reduced to 82.

Sue's caseload of testing needs increased to 46; Clarizio's decreased to 60; and Kasner's increased to 65.

Filat noted that Wisinski's statistics only "tell some of the story." "The number of students needing testing is not the only indicator of the psychologist's caseload, she said.

"There is a problem here that needs to be resolved, not only for this year, but for coming years," Filat maintained.

Board Member Merlin Reeds said Wisinski's exercise of authority in making the final 1983-84 assignments was "something I expect to see."

The board denied the grievance in unanimous vote.

Board denies back pay for business secretary

WALLED LAKE — The long-awaited business office reorganization resulted in a grievance heard by the school board last week.

Filed by the Walled Lake School Secretaries Association (WLSA) and the Michigan Education Support Personnel Association (MESPA), the grievance called for the board to approve back pay for business office secretary Carol Sweeney.

According to the grievance, Sweeney performed on duties beyond her job description from November, 1982, through September, 1983.

Although the board denied Sweeney the back pay requested, it ordered a study of job performance in the business office during the past year to determine if pay inequities have occurred.

Sweeney was secretary to the purchasing agent, Paul Martini, until November, 1982, when Martini assumed added responsibilities in the business office due to the resignation of Harry Carlson, formerly assistant superintendent for business. During this period, Sweeney assumed some of Martini's former responsibilities.

When Russell Wright was hired in January, Martini resumed his former position, although Sweeney reportedly was still performing some tasks outside her job description.

The first proposal for reorganizing the office was presented by Wright in March. It called for Sweeney's position to be upgraded in pay from a Class 2 to a Class 3 position. But the board tabled the proposal.

A second proposal for reorganizing the office was presented in September. Again, Wright recommended Sweeney's position be upgraded. But this proposal was tabled, as well.

A reorganization plan finally was approved by the board in December, but this plan called for a new position to be created by combining two former positions in the business office. The new position, a "purchasing clerk", is a Class 4 position. There is no change in Sweeney's classification under the newly approved plan.

The grievance requested that Sweeney be paid the Class 4 rate for her work from November, 1982, through September, 1983.

Speaking on behalf of Sweeney, WLSA/MESPA representative Karen Filat said they had not computed how much pay Sweeney would be entitled to if the request were granted.

Rita Thomas, representing the board, estimated that if Sweeney were paid the difference between Class 2 and Class 3, she would be entitled to about $360. There was no estimate given for the difference between Class 2 and Class 4 payment.

Wright contested the grievance, noting that Sweeney did not put in any "real overtime," during the period of reorganization. "I don't feel that, during that period, she did any higher degree of work than anyone else in that office. That's not to downplay her work, but everybody was working hard," Wright said.

"It was a tough time. Everyone was pitching in to get the job done. I don't think it's equitable to single out Mrs. Sweeney," he added.

"If we have other cases of inequity then let's hear them," responded Board Member Merlin Reeds, who suggested the board "make this situation right" with Sweeney.

But the board denied Sweeney's request in a 5-2 vote. Reeds and Trustee Bonnie Venzke opposed the denial.

In a unanimous vote, the board requested Wright review the job performance in the business office in the past year to determine whether inequities have occurred. Wright is to report his findings at the February 13 board meeting.

Commission sets date for Copper Mug appeal

WALLED LAKE — Al Karner, owner of the Copper Mug, has been granted a hearing before the Michigan Liquor Control Commission's appeal board on his request for outdoor liquor sales.

The hearing will be held Thursday, January 26, at 10:30 a.m. in commission offices at 2251 Dix Highway, Lincoln Park.

In December the commission denied Karner's request to sell and serve liquor at four picnic tables outside his Maple Road bar. The denial was based on an unfavorable recommendation from the Walled Lake police department.

Police Chief Wilford Hook recommended denial because of concerns over "policing, public safety and the proximity of the proposed area to the bathing cages... where minor children and young people regularly congregate."

The city will be represented at the hearing by Hook and City Attorney John Donohue.

Karner presented his plan for outdoor liquor sales to the city planning commission in October. Before granting approval to the plan, the commission required that Karner install cement bumpers and a fence to protect the people in the outdoor area.

The city council also considered Karner's request, but turned the decision over to Hook without making a recommendation. Hook subsequently recommended denial of the permit for outdoor liquor sale.

What the AT&T break-up means to customers and...

When to convert AT&T stocks

By JEANDAY

By late this year, everyone who has telephone service will be asked to make some specific choices about that service.

Most residents or businesses, even if they have not done anything to date, already are making a decision to lease or buy the telephone instrument itself — and whether to buy it from AT&T or another source.

Another decision that will have to be made, probably by fall, will be selection of a long distance service — AT&T or competitors such as Sprint or MCI.

These choices have arisen because "the greatest corporate restructuring in history came about January 1," Marcia Buhl, corporate affairs manager for Michigan Bell, explained to the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce January 18.

At the meeting Michael Broome, account executive in the Plymouth office of Merrill Lynch, detailed how divestiture will affect AT & T stockholders. Judging by audience questions, however, most of the interest was focused on telephone service.

"In the past all telephone services were handled by Michigan Bell. Now several companies are involved," Buhl said, explaining that Michigan Bell now is part of Ameritech, one of the companies formed from the old AT&T, with headquarters in Chicago.

Customers, Buhl said, will become more aware of the changes when they receive their bills as charges for local service, long distance and equipment are listed on individual pages.

"The top page is 'the bottom line,' the amount due. It also shows the previous bill and payment received.

"The second page lists current charges for monthly service and directory assistance as well as any charges and credits itemized on following pages.

"Third page is from AT&T information systems and is the charge for equipment.

"The next page lists Michigan Bell charges and credits; credits will include times when equipment is out of service.

"Following page lists AT&T information systems charges and credits.

"For long distance users, the next page lists long distance calls within the area code as Michigan Bell itemized calls.

"Next page itemizes calls made on AT&T lines to locations out of the area code or out of state.

January bills, Buhl noted, include a one-time $3.55 refund per phone line, ordered by the Michigan Public Service Commission. It results from a reimbursement Michigan Bell received from AT&T for development costs associated with various products and services.

Buhl explained that Michigan Bell has a contract with AT&T to do its billing for three years. She added that she anticipates Bell in the future may do billing for other long distance firms.

How much is this separation going to cost the user? Buhl said it is anticipated the average increase will be 10 percent for residential users. "If your average bill is about $35 with a private line," she said, "it probably will go to $38.50."

For many years long distance had been subsidizing basic service. This, Buhl emphasized, no longer will be the case. It is hoped, she said, that long distance rates will be going down with competition.

Customers who wish to purchase the telephones they are using, or new ones, should get in touch with AT&T. The toll-free information number, she said, is 1-800-55-1111. Telephones now must be returned to AT&T's offices.

In addition, Michigan Bell offices are open Saturdays during January to allow customers to reach representatives.

Buhl replaces Wilson

Marcia M. Buhl of Plymouth has been named Michigan Bell's corporate affairs manager for the Western Wayne County area and Ann Arbor.

She succeeds Hazen J. Wilson, who retired recently after a 43-year career with the telephone company.

Buhl joined Michigan Bell in 1960 as a service representative in Flint.

She was promoted to business office supervisor in 1965 and to staff manager in 1976. Since then, she has held a number of supervisory positions with Michigan Bell.

As corporate affairs manager, Buhl will be responsible for Michigan Bell's public affairs and community relations programs in Ann Arbor, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Westland and other western suburban communities near Detroit.

Her work includes addressing groups, such as her appearance last week before the Northville Community Chamber of Commerce (see story above) to explain Bell services following the divestiture of AT&T.

Wilson joined Michigan Bell in 1940 as an installer and was transferred to the company's commercial department in 1943.

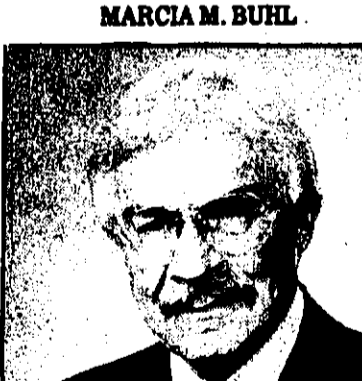

Over the next several years, he served as manager in several Western Wayne County communities and in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Detroit.

In 1973 he transferred to Livonia and served as community relations and corporate affairs manager in the western suburbs for the next 10 years.

A native of Detroit, Wilson attended Soley High School and Lawrence Institute of Technology.

Snow sculpture contest scheduled for Saturday

Novi's Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor its third annual snow sculpture competition, Winter Fantasy III, at Lakeshore Park this Saturday from noon to 2 p.m. The alternate date is February 4.

The snow sculpture contest is open to groups or individuals. Groups can include classrooms, church groups, Scout groups, homeowners associations or community service organizations. The fee is 50 cents per person with a maximum fee of $6 for a group entry.

Prizes will be awarded in three categories: most creative, most detailed and most humorous. First and second place trophies will be awarded for individual entries. Group entries will win first and second place trophies as well as ribbons for each member of the group.

More information and registration for the snow sculpture contest is available by calling Parks and Rec at 349-1976.

GIRL SCOUTS: The Girl Scouts are again taking orders for Girl Scout cookies. Almond fudge sandwich cream has been added this year to the list of cookies which includes peanut butter patties, thin mints, caramel delites, shortbread, peanut butter sandwich and pecan chocolate chips. Anyone who would like cookies and has not been contacted by a Girl Scout should call Barbara McKenzie at 349-9385.

All leaders should attend an important program to plan Thinking Day activities at Village Oaks Elementary tomorrow (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. Theme of this year's program is "Global Understanding." Each troop will select a country to represent on Thinking Day (February 29).

Novi Highlights

By Jeane Clarke
624-0173

Encampment program in June is available from Sarah Eheart or Judy Rosella.

Barb McKenzie, Sher Watkins and Sarah Eheart of Novi will be among the leaders teaching workshops at the "Grand Hodgepodge" on February 4. All leaders will be able to attend four different workshops during the event. Other workshops for leaders include "Name that Tune" on February 6 and Signs and Badges on February 13.

NOVI FOOD FUND: The Novi Emergency Food Program would like to thank the various Scout groups and service organizations which made donations during the holidays to help needy families enjoy Christmas.

However, the need for food is still growing and donations of canned goods or money are needed. Organizers say it takes approximately $500 per week to meet the demand. Donations can be dropped off at the Faith Community Church on Ten Mile. Call 349-8666 for more information.

ATHLETIC BOOSTERS: The Novi Athletic Boosters are purchasing off-season training equipment for sprinters, pole vaulters and shot putters. They also have authorized the expenditure of $3,000 for a pole vault pit at the high school.

The Boosters will hold their annual Millionaire's Party on March 31. The group also has pledged $500 to help sponsor David Toma's program on drug and alcohol abuse.

The next Boosters Club meeting will be held in Room 107 of Novi High School on February 1 at 8 p.m.

FAITH COMMUNITY: Reverend Richard Henderson swapped pulpits with Reverend Austin Denny of the Meadowbrook Christian Church in conjunction with an ecumenical exchange program initiated by the Novi Ministerial Association.

A new family program entitled "Faith's Friendly Funday" begins February 8 and runs through April 11. Included are crafts, adult and children's classes, singing and dinner. The fee is $7 per child plus the cost of materials for special projects.

The Women's Association is replenishing kitchen supplies such as detergent, paper towels, etc. Donations can be dropped off at the church kitchen.

Helping Hands is a group of church women who donate meals to families in times of need. Anyone who would like to join the group should call the church for more information.

INTERACT: Interact, the Rotary-sponsored club for high school students, is helping to pay for the appearance of drug crusader David Toma by selling books. Club members will be guests of Rotary on February 2.

Club officers are Lisa Calhoun, president; Sharon Gannon, vice president; Karen Hsu, secretary; and Marie Vickers, treasurer. Interact has several fund-raisers during the year to fund their community service projects. They currently are sponsoring a Mexican child through Christian Children's Fellowship.

Interact also provides an annual scholarship for graduating seniors. Applications for the scholarship are available through May. Janey Baird is the faculty sponsor.

NOVI CHAMBER: Mayor Robert Schmid delivered the "State of the City" address at the last chamber meeting. The address was videotaped by the Southwest Oakland Cable Commission (SWOCC).

Henry Eubanks and Charles Sajewski of LaFleur Florists, the newest chamber members, presented flowers to new chamber officers. Special guests at the meeting were George White of Chateau Estates, James Duncan of Applegate Condominiums, Mrs. Kay Schmid, Councilwoman Pat Karevich and Lark Samouelian, executive director of SWOCC.

Chamber Secretary Lydia Moses was honored for her efforts on behalf of the business community. The chamber also named five honorary members: County Commission John Calandro, State Representative Willis Bullard, State Senator Jack Faxon, Mayor Schmid and Florence Harris, a retired Novi business woman.

Final details on the 1984 Business Directory are being completed. Call 349-3743 for more information.

PERSONALS: Eric and Beth

Karschnick announce the birth of a daughter. Rebecca Joy was born January 14 and weighed six pounds. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Art Karschnick, former Novi Heights residents now living in Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert VanSickle and daughter Kristen have returned from a four-week vacation in Texas where they visited Mrs. VanSickle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Smith, and Mr. VanSickle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene VanSickle.

Barb Thompson, secretary of Holy Family Church, celebrated her birthday recently.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kartheiser and their three children have returned to their home in Crosswell after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wybo of Oak Tree Street. Their visit included tobogganing at Maybury and dinner at the Tokyo Steak House.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Clarke attended a birthday dinner for their daughter, Mrs. Pete Timko, at the Appeteaser in Milford.

Berniece Frederick, president of the Detroit Association of Retired School Personnel, presided over the group's January meeting. All former Detroit Public School employees living in Novi are invited to attend the meetings.

CUB SCOUT PACK 54: Winners of the Snow Snake contest at Lakeshore Park were Jason Kirk (Wolves), Mark Sadrack (Bears) and Matt VanHorn (Webeles). Each boy received a bear claw necklace as a prize.

Next activity is a trip to the Cranbrook Planetarium. Plans for the Blue and Gold banquet in February will be finalized at the next board meeting at Dr. Christlieb's home on February 7 at 7:30 p.m.

BEVERLY MANOR: Elizabeth

Cameron was named "Resident of the Month" for February, the first time the award has been given. Recipients are selected by staff and residents; and the winner receives an 11x14 picture which is displayed in the lobby during the month and then given to his/her family.

A program has been started for families of new residents. Families and staff meet for informational meetings to discuss concerns.

Pam Teal is assisting Activity Director John Christensen by leading activities so he can spend more time with individuals on a one-to-one basis. Five residents were taken to lunch at The Greenery in Hudson's by Teal, Christensen and Barbara Jablonski. Different residents are invited out for lunch at a nice restaurant each month.

Anyone interested in the "Adopt a Grandparent" program may call 477-2000. The program is designed to give residents an opportunity to meet with children, and give children an opportunity to have a relationship with an older person.

PIN POINTERS: Dyanna Martin won the mystery game. High bowlers were Dora Greaves (224 and 201 in 500 series), Dyanna Martin (201), Rosemary Banish (200 and 199 in 503 series), Judy Curcio (198 in 546 series), Barb Walling (199), Barb Chappel (191 in 521 series), Linda Skvarce (181), Barb Pietron (180 in 520 series) and Diana Canup (180).

Goal-mouth action

Goalie Bobby Hart (11) could use a little help from his defensemen as he fights off a brutal attack in front of the "net" during a Pillo Polo session at Novi's Village Oaks Elementary recently. The

Wixom going high-tech

The Wixom Public Library is going high-tech. At least that's the clearcut indication from courses announced by Head Librarian Doris Goldstein for late January and early February.

Goldstein has announced a series of programs on new technology which will include Cable Television, Microcomputers and Microwave Cooking.

The first of the programs will be a discussion by Mac McCormick of Greater Media Cablevision next Monday, January 30, at 7:30 p.m. McCormick will provide insights into the benefits of the medium and the advantages of cable which the layman may not be aware of in a program entitled "Cable Television — What's in it for You?"

On February 6, David Gonyor of the Inacom Computer Center in Novi will present an overview of microcomputers, allowing time for hands-on experience for those who have just purchased or are considering the purchase of a home computer. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

On February 13, Barbara Dancu of Amana Refrigeration will hold a demonstration of microwave cookery at 1 p.m. Participants will learn the basics of cooking with microwave ovens as well as new techniques. Recipes also will be provided.

All the programs are free and open to the public, but registration is required. For more information or to register for any of the programs call the library at 624-2512.

OLHSA tells distribution schedule for surplus food

The Oakland Livingston Human Service Agency (OLHSA) will be distributing surplus commodity food to low income residents in Walled Lake and Union Lake on Wednesday, February 8.

Food will be distributed in Walled Lake at the Walled Lake Fire Hall (behind city hall on West Maple) from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. In Union Lake, food will be distributed at the Dublin Community Center at 685 Union Lake Road from 9 a.m. to noon.

Any family or individual declaring that their income is equal to or below 125 percent of the poverty income levels is eligible to receive surplus food.

Prospective clients will have to complete a surplus food registration form which includes name, address, family size and source of income. Clients must show driver's license or personal identification along with proof of income (pay stub, unemployment card, food stamp card, etc.).

Appropriate identification and proof of income must be brought to the distribution site. People must attend the same site for each distribution as their registration form will be kept on file where they fill out the first form.

Registration does not guarantee the receipt of commodity food each time. Due to the limited quality of surplus food, distribution is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Homebound and handicapped persons who are eligible and unable to acquire surplus food through the distribution sites will need to make prior arrangements by calling OLHSA's toll free number (1-800-9250) or the local Pontiac number (859-5180).

The number of OLHSA's field office in Walled Lake is 624-5520.

It's YOUR Money

by Charles H. Williams, C.P.A.

CHOOSING AN ACCOUNTANT

Who'll prepare your tax return this year? It's time to start choosing a professional, and to undertake the planning that may help you shelter some of your income from taxes.

If your income is fairly straightforward and deductible expenses minimal, you might satisfactorily use a short-form return and do it yourself or with the help of a tax preparer. But with more income, and more deductions, as the return becomes more complicated, you're going to want a tax professional.

Why? Because it's worth the difference to put your tax return in the hands of someone with the knowledge to find every likely loophole, and the experience to know which are acceptable. And as you reach the higher brackets, you'll get the advice you need on sheltering some income from taxes.

Some free help is available from the IRS. Revenue employees will answer your questions (but the tax court has challenged some of their answers) and prepare the simplest returns. There are also independent and chain tax preparers who pop up at tax season. Their workers may not be experienced enough to catch all legal deductions.

A certified public accountant can handle most complex returns and are familiar with shelters and investing. His or her tax know-how can save you more than the fee.

How do you choose a professional? Recommendations from satisfied clientele are one way, as are referrals from lawyers. Once a relationship is entered, the client will find his accountant helpful in making financial decisions all year round.

INCOME TAX

We're a local organization. Even though we served more than 3,000 clients last year we haven't forgotten that every client is an individual and that each individual deserves the best service we can provide.

When we sign a tax return that we've prepared, we're proud of having done the best possible job for you. When you see our signature on your tax return you can be sure that:

1. The counselor who prepared your return was competent and thoroughly experienced in tax matters.
2. You have received the maximum legal deductions and the minimum legal tax.
3. Your tax return has received all the time and attention that was necessary to do a proper job.
4. Your tax return has been double-checked for both accuracy and tax saving possibilities.
5. Your return has been handled in a confidential manner.

Call us for a free tax organizer and fee schedule. Our fees are often less than the highly advertised tax firms.

Call us. We understand small businesses, personal and corporate tax returns. Computerized bookkeeping and payroll, tax planning systems.

When everything seems impossible, you need someone to lean on.

The death of a loved one is a most difficult time. Often, small details become overwhelming obstacles. Knowing that someone will share the responsibility of arranging the funeral can ease the burden of grief.

We hope our understanding guidance will give you comfort when it matters most.
