Traffic training

A string of miniature moving vehicles rolled through the traffic signals in Safety Town last week. The program, sponsored by Novi Schools Community Education, is designed to provide safety education to children four, five and six years of age. During the 20-hour course, the youngsters learn safety songs and poems, visit the Novi police and fire department, and, of course, navigate their way through the simulated safety town constructed in the Middle School parking lot.

Traffic concern delays Mobil Oil

A gas station, car wash and convenience store are proposed for development on the corner of Grand River and Haggerty. But the developers won't be pumping gas, washing cars or selling snacks until two major concerns are resolved.

The planning board tabled plans submitted by the Mobil Oil Company last week after expressing serious reservations about traffic and a proposed driveway over the Patnales Drain.

The Mobil Oil property is located at the southwest corner of Grand River and Haggerty and contains just under three acres. The Patnales Drain runs across the southwest corner of the property and eventually empties into Meadowbrook Lake.

Mobil Oil proposes enclosing about 151 feet of the drain in order to provide access to the gas station from Grand River.

But Joela Shulman, formerly a member of the Stormwater Management Committee, suggested Mobil Oil's plan might disturb this natural watercourse. The preservation of existing, "environmentally sensitive" areas is considered a key ingredient in the Stormwater Management Master Plan, she noted.

The developers of two adjacent projects — Pheasant Run Shopping Center and the West End Shopping Center — agreed to avoid covering the drain, Planning Consultant Brandon Rogers noted.

The city's Sensitive Lands Report completed in March recommends preserving watercourses and waterways "to the maximum feasible extent" when planning developments.

"The intended policy of the City of Novi contained in the approved Sensitive Lands Report . . . is clearly opposed to covering over creeks, streams and watercourses," Community Development Director James Wahl said.

Shulman reminded the board that the city agreed to allow runoff from the Ford Motor dealership across Haggerty to empty into the drain at Grand River. The dealership was required to provide a filtering system to block any automobile oils from running into the drain, she noted. No such filtering has been proposed by Mobil for the car wash and gas station.

"We have very grave concerns about that," Shulman said.

The board agreed to request a detailed analysis on the drain issue from the Oakland County Drain Commission, which must issue a permit before any work can be done on the drain.

The second area of contention between the planning board and Mobil Oil is traffic.

"Our concern is not whether this is an acceptable use. Our concern is whether the site can accommodate the traffic," commented Board Member Joseph Toth.

Mobil Oil representative Joe Galvan told the board several site plan adjustments already have been made to alleviate traffic safety concerns expressed by the city's traffic engineer, as well as the Oakland County Road Commission.

Although original plans called for two driveways onto Haggerty, the company has agreed to only one. Acceleration and deceleration lanes also were added on the revised plans, he noted.

Although respecting the city's concerns, Galvan pointed out that the Oakland County Road Commission grants ultimate approval of the road plan.

"The Oakland County Road Commission has been a disaster in this area," Toth responded, noting the paving condition on Ten Mile and the traffic condition on Haggerty, in particular. "They're criminal as far as what they've done in this area. The traffic problems are horrendous!"

But any development of the site will contribute to the traffic, Galvan countered.

Board Member Judy Johnson subsequently turned to the zoning ordinance, noting that it charges the planning board with protecting the health, safety and welfare of the citizenry. "I think we have a very valid safety question here," she added.

Residents fe growing debt

By PATRICIA N. BOWLING
 staff writer

Are Novi's debts growing faster than the city itself?

According to reports from the Civic Center campaign committee, many residents fear they might be.

When plans for the proposed $7 million civic center were unveiled at a public hearing in June, resident Leo Buffa questioned whether the city could afford another debt.

Buffa noted a new bond issue would add to the city's growing list of outstanding debts — which he predicted would reach a billion dollars if allowed to continue growing.

Although the city's outstanding debts could be considered sizable, they are not quite to the billion dollars Buffa forecast.

As of June 1985, the total amount outstanding on Novi's five debt funds was about $9.125 million.

Over the past 10 years, residents have approved bond sales to fund such projects as street improvements, completion of the public library, construction of a new police department and several new fire stations, and construction of a citywide drainage program.

The municipal street fund includes three bond issues approved in 1975 for $4.825 million in street improvements. The amount currently outstanding on these bonds is about $3.1 million. The street debt will not be paid off until 1993.

In 1977 residents approved two construction projects to be funded through bond sales. The first involved $2.375 million to acquire 71 acres at Ten Mile and Taft for a future Civic Center Complex. Construction of the first phase in that complex, a new police administration building, was included in the $2.375 million.

The second project on the 1977 ballot was completion of the Novi Public Library. Voters agreed to sell bonds in the amount of $335,000 to complete the library, thus providing a location for city administrative offices until a separate city hall could be built.

New regulations affect businesses with toxic waste

New federal regulations on small quantities of hazardous waste became effective August 5 and may apply to many small business and industrial operations in Novi.

An estimated 25,000 businesses in Oakland County received notification of the changes from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) this week.

Any business using and discarding solvents, cleaning fluids, degreasers, paints, thinners, inks, oils, pesticides or other typical hazardous materials is likely to fall under the new regulations.

A business need only produce 220 pounds — or about one-half of a 50-gallon drum — of hazardous waste in any one month to be affected by the new regulations.

The new federal requirements also apply to companies that dispose of over 220 pounds of hazardous waste on site or send it away for disposal, storage, treatment or recycling.

The new requirements affect operations such as the Quazite Corporation, which normally produces about 600 pounds of hazardous waste per month, according to Richard Hammit, vice president of manufacturing. As a "small quantity generator," the Grand River Avenue corporation is required to have wastes shipped by a licensed hazardous waste carrier to a licensed hazardous waste facility.

The new regulations do not affect Stricker Paint Products, which was already subject to state and federal regulations due to the amount of hazardous waste produced, according to Stricker vice president Scott Moore.

Stricker Paint was recently found to be in violation of some of those regulations, but Moore said they are working on compliance. Since being cited by the DNR in December, the company has begun marking waste containers on the site more clearly.

However, the company has not yet completed a "contingency plan" as required under the federal regulations. This plan involves a detailed outline explaining how an accidental spill of hazardous materials would be handled.

Moore noted the new regulations for small quantity hazardous waste producers will require smaller paint operations to meet similar requirements. "Anybody who paints will be covered (in the new regulations)," he commented.

Complying with the new regulations involves keeping records of waste production, shipping wastes to a licensed hazardous waste facility and documenting all such shipments.

Businesses producing amounts of hazardous waste similar to Stricker Paint also are required to get a federal identification number. They must remove accumulated waste over 2,200 pounds within 90 days and must use licensed transporters to ship the wastes.

According to a 1983 DNR report, over 850 contamination sites have been reported in Michigan, many of which were caused by improper management of hazardous waste.

Found!

$100,000 recovered; returned to owner

If you found $100,000 lying in the middle of the road, would you turn it in?
 One local resident got to take that "honesty test" last week.

There was, in fact, some $100,000 stashed away in an envelope lying in the middle of Ten Mile. And, fortunately for the owner of the money, the envelope was found by Officer Herbert Harbin of the Novi Police Department.

Police Chief Lee BeGole said Monday that the man has expressed his gratitude to Harbin and the entire Novi Police Department for the safe return of the $100,000.

In a letter to BeGole, the man (whose identity is being withheld) reported that he went to the Michigan National Bank at Ten Mile and Novi Road on Wednesday, August 7, and cashed several checks, some personal money orders, bank books and other financial items.

"It was a large sum of money, and the bank books totaled almost $100,000," wrote the man. "All of this I had placed in a red paper envelope pouch."

"When I returned to my car, I laid the pouch on the roof while I unlocked the door. Then I entered the car and drove off. A short time later, Officer Harbin, driving a Novi patrol car, just happened to spot the pouch lying in the middle of Ten Mile Road.

"He stopped the car and retrieved the pouch and all the contents, and turned them over to Sergeant Thomas Hesse," he continued. "Sometime later I talked on the phone with Sergeant Hesse who informed me the Novi police had my pouch and contents."

"I hadn't even had time to miss it. At the Novi police station, all of the contents were safely returned to me."

The man wrote that the letter was intended as a commendation for Harbin and asked that it be placed in his personnel file and read at roll call.

"Because of Officer Harbin's keen observation and deep sense of honesty," he wrote, "I feel that not only Officer Harbin but the entire Novi Police Department are to be commended and every officer is a favorable reflection to his training and commanding officers."

"Both my wife and I are deeply grateful not only to Officer Harbin and Sergeant Hesse but to the entire Novi Police Department for the good services they perform," he concluded.

Opening of Hilton under way

The Novi Hilton has been opening piecemeal over the past week as finishing touches are completed on the 237-room hotel at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road.

The 9,000-square-foot ballroom was inaugurated August 3 with a wedding reception. The Orchard Cafe and guest rooms on the third and fourth floors were opened for business the same weekend.

Since then the fifth floor, lobby and Whispers cocktail lounge have been opened. Manager Gary Selbert reported Tuesday. Whispers, a 160-seat lounge, offers entertainment and dancing Tuesday through Sunday evenings.

The sixth floor, a portion of the second floor, and the swimming pool were expected to be completed by mid-week.

Residents worried about city's debts

The library debt will be paid off in 1991, the police building debt in 1982.

Another $1 million bond issue was approved by voters in 1979. This issue funded fire department equipment, as well as fire station construction. The fire debt will be paid off in four years.

The last bond issue approved by Novi voters was the stormwater management plan voted in the summer of 1982. The $3.97 million plan included property acquisition and construction of regional detention basins, as well as six major drain improvement projects.

In the last 10 years, the total millage levied for paying off debts has ranged from 30 cents to $1.18 on every $1,000 of assessed property valuation. This year residents are paying approximately $2.74 for debt retirement on every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The proposed civic center would add an estimated 2 mills to the debt retirement portion of residential tax bills. For several years, residents would be paying nearly $5 on every $1,000 of assessed valuation for debt retirement.

However, payments on all debt funds decrease toward the end of the payment schedule as interest is paid off. In addition, payments on four of the five current debt funds will end by 1993.

As a result, the total millage for debt retirement will be less than 4.5 in five years, and less than 2.5 mills in 10 years — if no new bond issues are passed.

However, voters are likely to see a request for additional parks and recreation funding in the near future, City Manager Edward Kriewall noted. The only other anticipated need is in the area of added support for the road system, he said.

Official announces retirement plans

WALLED LAKE — Nelson O'Shaughnessy said the biggest problem he had to face while employed by the Walled Lake Schools was lack of money for building maintenance.

"Usually, this is the first thing cut from budgets," he said. "If staff is cut, the first cut is usually made in the maintenance and custodial staffs. You never have people up on the roof. When there are enough leaks, they will scream about it."

Using tax money approved over a year ago, O'Shaughnessy said the district can start improving building conditions.

Married with three daughters, O'Shaughnessy said he hasn't made any definite plans for his retirement, which becomes effective September 27.

"I feel like I'll take a couple of months and relax. Then I'll get back into the work force," said O'Shaughnessy, who lives in Orchard Lake.

"I'm 55 years old. That is too young to retire. I would probably like to get out of the office atmosphere and get some work outside."

Service offered

The Michigan Public Service Commission has authorized Michigan Bell to offer two new services aimed at taking the expense and worry out of telephone repair to residence and small business customers.

Vince Fordell, local corporate affairs manager for Michigan Bell, said that "Line-Backer" and "Line-Backer Plus" maintenance agreements should give customers new peace of mind knowing that when something goes wrong with their phone service, they won't be alone in locating the problem.

"Customers will no longer have to determine whether the problem is in the phone line or in the phone itself, and who to call when there's a problem," said Fordell. "With basic Line-Backer service — $1 per month — we'll send someone to the home, pinpoint the problem and we'll fix it if it's in the wiring within the house, with no additional charges."

And while Michigan Bell no longer services telephone sets, should they need repair, with Line-Backer Plus service — for an additional $1 per month — the company will provide the same Line-Backer options plus "loaner" phones for up to 60 days until customers repair or replace their own phones.

"Line-Backer services are designed to take the hassle out of repair problems," Fordell said. "We know it's been hard for customers to determine the source of the problem. These services should take out the guess work."

Both services will be available to customers August 2. To subscribe to the service, customers need only return the enrollment form being mailed to them or the one published in local newspapers.

As a special offer for the new service, customers who order before November 2 will not have to pay the sign-up charge of $4.95.

Future driver

It won't be that long — just 11 years — before five-year-old Daphney Dudek may be driving an automobile around the streets of Novi. And she'll probably be a lot safer driver as a result of having participated in the Safety Town Program operated by the Novi Community Education Department in conjunction with the Novi Jaycees. In the picture above, Instructor Brad Waite teaches Daphney the proper use of hand signals while she's perched on her Big Wheel at a "stop" sign. The Big Wheels, of course, come equipped with seatbelts in the program which teaches youngsters safety rules in a simulated setting. Both morning and afternoon sessions of Safety Town courses are being offered three hours per day for two weeks. The program concludes this Friday.

Mobil Oil plans on hold

"There's no question this is a permitted use," Board Member Richard Clark commented. "The question is whether or not it's the best use in terms of the health, safety and welfare."

Galvan suggested the issues raised by the planning board were "beyond what is supposed to happen in site plan approval." If a plan meets the criteria set forth in the zoning ordinance, it should be approved, he said.

"If site plan review was just ticking off the criteria, there would be no need for the planning board," Chairman William Briggs responded.

Northville planners eye offices along Haggerty

By KEVIN WILSON staff writer

NORTHVILLE — Office space would be more extensive and multiple-family housing more limited under the latest draft of proposed revisions to the township master plan for the Haggerty Road corridor.

Closing in on what may become the final version of the plan revision, the township planning commission last week ordered detail changes prepared for review and a possible vote at its August 27 meeting.

Under the latest proposal, more than 4 million square feet of office floor area could be developed in buildings 50 feet high along Haggerty Road. The figure includes the potential floor area for and unlikely to be developed as offices, despite the master plan. One large parcel is owned by Ward Presbyterian Church, another is occupied by the state department of mental health's Hawthorn Center. Other properties unlikely to be turned over to office include private schools, other churches and the Oasis Golf Course.

Deleting those properties from the calculations still shows more than 2.7 million square feet of potential office development — four times the 94,000 square feet available under the earlier proposal.

Planning consultant Claude Coates drafted the latest proposal after the earlier one was criticized for its reliance on multiple-family and cluster housing development to serve as a "buffer" between office development on the Haggerty frontage and single-family subdivisions to the west.

The major benefit foreseen from extending the office zoning nearly a quarter-mile west from Haggerty is creating a potential for high-quality office buildings on parcels sufficiently large to include their own landscaped buffer areas adjacent to the single family housing.

To make room for such office developments, Coates eliminated the potential for 900 cluster-housing units and reduced the number of possible multiple-family units from 600 to 370. Commissioners ordered a further reduction in the amount of land devoted to multi-family housing among the detail revisions sought.

Although implementation of the plan would require establishment of two new zoning classifications (one allowing for four-story offices, the other a special freeway-service zone that would permit motels and gas stations among other uses), discussion at the commission's special August 6 meeting was intentionally focused on the plan revision.

Commission chairman Richard Duvel said he aims to complete the master plan revisions before getting involved in detailed amendments to the zoning ordinance that would implement the plan.

But there was sufficient discussion of the zoning ordinance revisions to note that the office districts would bear "stiff requirements" for landscaping between office buildings and nearby homes. The latest proposal demands a 100-foot setback from a lot line shared with single-family homes. That entire area would be devoted to greenbelts — no parking area or other use would be allowed.

Several commissioners said they found that alternative a more attractive one for nearby homeowners than the earlier proposal's allowance for apartment buildings or cluster housing developments.

Commissioner Charles DeLand asked Coates whether the economic impact of office development or of multiple-family was "worse" for single family homeowners.

Coates said in 23 years of planning he had never encountered "definitive evidence that would allow me to form such an opinion." No studies have shown an adverse economic impact from adjacent development, he said, and there are no studies demonstrating a difference in the impact of various types of development.

Commissioner Ted Martin raised serious reservations about making any changes in the township master plan to accommodate commercial development along Haggerty Road, citing the "distinct character" of Northville Township as a residential community.

"There's been a great deal of effort, I think, to tie-in the zoning in Northville Township with the zoning in Livonia," Martin said. "There is an effort here to compete with Livonia for development, and I don't think we have to compete. There are two different characters here."

But commissioner Pat Wright outlined the growing consensus for change by suggesting the township's master plan has to take into consideration the changes in adjacent communities.

"I'm all for keeping Northville Township as a residential community," Wright said. "However, if I was going to move here today I would not buy a house on Haggerty with what's going on in Livonia. We've got to provide some kind of transition."

Former planning commissioner Bernard Baldwin, a Meadowbrook resident whose home will be near the proposed office district, strongly objected to the plan revisions, particularly targeting he perceived "need to respond to market forces."

"If you look at the preamble to the zoning ordinance," Baldwin said, "you'll see that it says we are not going to compete, we are not going to go after as base, that Northville is a distinctive residential community."

He concluded a long statement addressing various details of the proposal by saying, "This is a very, very wide departure from the philosophy earlier."

Commissioner Marvin Gans stressed his belief that the township's planning is not motivated out of a desire to compete with its neighbors but rather from its own needs.

"You're not doing something just because it's being done in Livonia," Gans said. "You're doing it because of a unique situation — the freeway. We should take advantage of that in a very nice way in a very nice area."

It was Martin who pressed the issue of keeping multiple family development to a minimum, conceding the commercial applications to "real consensus that we need a new master plan" for Haggerty Road.

"But I question the density," he said. "If we remove the multiple family from some areas, I think it would be more to the liking of most residents."

Commissioner Jerry Chisnell said he was also concerned about the amount of multi-family residential in the proposed plan revision.

Duvel stressed to audience members that the issue under discussion is an alteration of the master plan, not zoning. The plan is a tool used in evaluating future zoning requests. Developers who request rezonings that coincide with the master plan are likely, but not assured, of gaining approval. Rezoning requests that do not comply with the plan are often rejected for that reason, although many from the plan are sometimes allowed.

Overall, he said, the latest proposal is a very good plan that makes a lot of sense to me," Duvel said.

Coates was instructed to "refine" the latest proposal, deleting some of the multiple-family areas and fine-tuning the area to be planned for office uses.

The commission voted unanimously in favor of that approach. Commissioners Richard Allen and Larry Sheehan were absent. Allen's alternate is liaison from the township board, James Nowka, was also absent.

EDS opening boosts Oakland County economy

Tennessee got GM's Saturn plant. But the huge auto firm's less publicized venture — the acquisition of EDS — has helped some segments of the economy skyrocket in Oakland County.

General Motors acquired Electronic Data Systems, Inc. (EDS) in October to serve as its computerized data branch. If all the ripple effects are being accurately gauged, the impact EDS has had on the area is nothing short of remarkable.

Recent figures released by EDS show that it has hired 5,900 new employees and transferred another 634 company workers into the area. About 1,000 more will be hired this year, not counting the hundreds of former GM personnel transferred to EDS operations.

Those 10,534 new employees will be paid $451 million a year, according to Marian Droll, director of public relations for EDS. More than 75 percent of them will work in southeastern Michigan.

More specifically, most will work in Oakland County where the company has leased 2.2 million square feet of commercial office space. That's about four times the space available in the American Motors Corporation headquarters in Southfield, which is 25 stories high.

Morris: 'There is a shortage of office space in Oakland County today. For instance, you can't find over 6,000 square feet in Troy. (EDS has) continued to have an impact on the market. It still continues to grow. And they're making long-term commitments.'

Those rentals have almost single-handedly dried up virtually all the available office space in Troy, Southfield and the greater Birmingham-Bloomfield area, according to local leasing firms.

Steven Morris of Morris & Moon Real Estate Group in Bingham Farms said his firm has just leased 15,000 square feet in Troy and another 40,000 square feet in Detroit to EDS. He has seen a big impact since the beginning of the year, Morris said. "There is a shortage of office space in Oakland County today. For instance, you can't find over 6,000 square feet in Troy," Morris said. "(EDS has) continued to have an impact on the market. It still continues to grow. And they're making long-term commitments." David McNabney of McNabney & Associates Inc. Realtors in Bloomfield Township agreed that EDS has helped reduce a demand that has outstripped supply.

The decrease in office space available — for example, McNabney said, there is no unleased office area of more than 2,000 square feet in all of Bloomfield Township — has triggered a number of new office construction sites. "Things are coming on line now because of the absorption in the last year was by EDS, and they're still looking."

Of course, EDS is not entirely responsible. As the area's economy has expanded, other companies have expanded. "There's no question that they have been dominating the market at this point," McNabney said. "I would say over half the property leased in the last year was by EDS, and they're still looking."

Once in the building, the company has spent millions of dollars on office furniture and related equipment. EDS said it spent more than $21 million furnishing its first 1.2 million square feet of office space.

Gary Isherwood, manager of Troy's Globe Furniture Rental store, said he has seen a dramatic increase in business since last year's GM-EDS consolidation. Besides the office furniture though, the amount of home furniture rented has really picked up. "They bring in transfers here for short periods, say six months. It's primarily in apartments. It's been really good for us."

EDS had no recent figures for numbers of apartments rented. Ruth Elias, who coordinates the Southfield Information Center, said the current year has seen an increase in apartment demand, with occupancy rates more than 98 percent.

"I think it's increased dramatically in the last year or so," Elias said. "Perhaps EDS has had an impact on that. They've been bringing in a lot of employees, filling a lot of jobs. The influence of many more employees probably had something to do with the availability of apartments, but we do not have any way to measure that."

EDS did supply recent statistics for houses purchased by new employees. About 530 houses valued at $34.7 million were purchased by EDS employees. Almost all of them were in Oakland County, Droll said.

From the Birmingham-Bloomfield Board of Realtors' "narrow point of view" EDS's impact has been perhaps noticeable, but not influential," according to President Bowen Brook.

Brook said many other factors have contributed to the seller's market that has recently existed in the area — interest rates are down, the local economy is improving and there was a backlog of buyers and sellers waiting for the right time.

However, there probably has been a direct and even a trickle down effect of EDS on the local home market, Brook said. "I suspect that the EDS move is the single most important event in our residential market here," Brook said. "I don't know of any other single event or influx that has affected it to that extent."

All the statistics produced by EDS — such as the fact that EDS employees pay $2.9 million a year in state taxes — cannot fully address the impact of the company, Droll said.

"None of this includes the peripheral spending or ripple effects of spending in restaurants and stores," she said. Or, from another view, Morris said in his commercial real estate leasing business, "Everybody I run into has some kind of contract with EDS."

Joe Krause is one of the co-owners of the Northville shop which specializes in American folk art

Existing home sales increase 12 percent

By MARILYN MORRISON

You can find "the best of country" in Northville at the Peddlers Four on Mary Alexander Court.

The Peddlers Four opened its doors to Northville November 1, featuring a wide array of country accents for the home as well as simple craft sup. ies.

But where's Mary Alexander Court? That's a question that baffles even some Northville residents.

Mary Alexander Court, known as the "alley" to some Main Street merchants, is tucked around the corner from Macquinn's on Main Street in the downtown section.

The shop is owned by four people — Susan Barnes of Livonia, Marilyn Curtis of Sterling Heights, Joe Krause of Canton and Margene Mieras of Livonia.

The four business partners — all dedicated craftsmen — met at craft shows in Michigan. While each enjoyed showing and selling their work at craft shows, Barnes said the shows tended to get a little "gimmey" after a while.

So, the four decided to pool their talents and money to open the Peddlers Four.

Barnes said business is getting better and better as people discover the store. Currently, the owners are funneling their profits into expanding their stock and widening the selection.

For people who are looking for a unique gift or country accents for the home, the Peddlers Four may have exactly what you are looking for.

As you enter the store, the aroma of cinnamon-scented candles adds to the store's country-like setting. Candle holders, old-fashioned desks, dried flowers, mats, stoneware, metal folk art and pictures are some of the items to be seen at the Peddlers Four among the dozens of small knickknacks that line the counter and a few walls.

For craft lovers, the Peddlers Four has an entire room filled with different types of yarns and craft accessories, including folkwear patterns to make at home.

The items sold at the store are from various parts of the United States, so chances of finding the same picture or item at another store are slim.

"Northville's where it's at," Barnes said. That is the primary reason the four craftsmen decided to set-up shop in Northville. Barnes explained that Northville can be just as successful as Plymouth when it comes to small, unique shops such as the Peddlers Four.

The decision to open the store was a quick one. Barnes said when they discovered the space was available, the four had several meetings and decided to "go for it." So far, the sporadic decision has been a good one.

The Peddlers Four is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The reporting phase of the 37th annual Torch Drive will run from October 14 through November 7. The United Foundation Torch Drive raises operating funds for 127 charitable organizations in the tri-county area. Last year's Torch Drive raised $50.8 million.

College-bound need 'blue jeans' budget

Money Management

College students need a "blue jeans budget," says the Michigan Association of CPAs.

"Write yourself a check once a week, and use only that money to pay for entertainment and miscellaneous expenses," recommends CPA Jim Wilson, who teaches a course in personal financial planning to college students.

"Cash that one check each week and put the cash in the back pocket of your blue jeans," he said.

College is a good time to tackle the issue of fiscal responsibility. With the rate of increases in college costs outpacing the rate of family income, even students who have financial assistance from their parents need to develop practical habits about spending money.

The average college student doesn't have much discretionary income, so the key to solving their financial problems is budgeting. The hardest part of budgeting is writing everything down, but it's the key to fiscal success.

To chart your budget, write down your monthly income and expenses for a full year, or perhaps only for the 10-month school year. Once you figure out what your monthly fixed expenses will be, you know how much is left for that weekly blue jeans stipend. If you maintain good records of all your transactions,

GTE Sprint announces free long-distance calls

Detroit Metropolitan area residents and businesses selecting Sprint as their primary long-distance service will be offered one hour's worth of free long-distance calls by GTE Sprint.

The offer is directed to customers in the greater Detroit area who become eligible for equal access or "1-plus" dialing during July, August and September of 1985. Customers must sign up prior to their equal access conversion date, set by the local telephone company, to qualify for this offer.

Sprint also announced a program which will allow new customers to try Sprint's Direct Dial Service without risk.

"We designed these promotions to encourage people in the greater Detroit area to use Sprint's Direct Dial long-distance service as equal access gets underway, and to eliminate any risk they perceive in signing up with Sprint by providing a money-back guarantee," said Cheryl Kurtzman, program manager for Sprint's Direct Dial Service.

Anhut to preside over state board

John Anhut, president of the Botsford Inn in Farmington, has been elected president of the Board of Directors of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Anhut has been a member of the board of directors since 1979 and served as a vice chairman since 1983.

State Chamber Directors also endorsed four policies. The policies include and eventual elimination of the tangible personal property tax to improve the state's business climate; the establishment of a clearinghouse for information on the cost of business-related crime and passage of anti-shopping laws;

participation in a Chamber Federation Federal Political Action Committee; and the establishment of a comprehensive tort reform system.

Anhut stressed the continued challenge faced by Michigan job providers in dealing with economic development and other issues vital to positive growth in Michigan.

"The State Chamber of Commerce is committed to economic growth and can lead the way in the expansion of job opportunities in Michigan," said Anhut.

State senator offers overview of business trends, legislation

In a continuing effort to inform business and workers in the 6th Senate District on business and government issues, State Senator R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) has prepared a report on highlights of small business and industry trends and legislative initiatives reforming day-to-day business operations in the state.

BUDGET: 1985-86

The state budget was approved at $5.9 billion for the 1985-86 fiscal year beginning October 1. That figure is an eight percent increase over last year's budget totals. One of the big winners in next year's budget is education at all levels. The largest portion of the budget approved by the Legislature was the Department of Social Services allocation. Michigan's Department of Corrections will receive a $51 million increase to build five regional prisons.

WORKER'S COMPENSATION

The long-standing issue of worker's compensation reform has finally passed the Legislature and subsequently was signed into law by Governor James Blanchard.

Some key changes: A January 1, 1987, termination date for the law where a new definition of disability will go into effect; a new small claims procedure for cases under $2,000 — no attorneys required; provisions as an evidentiary standard, with substantial standards taking effect October 1, 1986; allowing medical testimony when a party inadvertently fails to provide a deposition.

The result of the negotiations proved that an earlier controversial statement by Attorney General Frank Kelley claiming that the current law did not establish a tax amnesty program. Geake says, adding, "I expect this issue to carry over through the summer and the top agenda item during the new fall session."

MEDICAID

BALANCED BUDGET

The balanced budget resolution, a resolution urging Congress to balance the federal budget, has proponents who will make another attempt to push it through the Michigan Legislature this fall with the inclusion of a new provision — "the call for a constitutional convention would be rescinded if the discussion and scope of the meeting goes beyond its intended purpose."

Earlier this year, the Michigan House of Representatives fell one vote short of passing such a resolution. A successful attempt would have made Michigan the 33rd state adopting it — enough to call a convention. Look for this issue to gather tremendous publicity on the national and state level sometime in the fall, predicts Geake.

SMALL BUSINESS FACTS

The number of small businesses has increased steadily during the past 30 years — they now employ 48 percent of the private work force. One of every two new small businesses will fail within the first four years of operation, studies show. Overall, a firm's chance of survival increases with size: firms with 20 or more workers have a 20 percent greater chance of survival than smaller firms. Small firms have led employment gains during the economic recovery and expansion.

Studies show the incidence of innovation among small business workers is significantly higher than among workers in large businesses (by as much as 2.5 times). Almost every energy-related innovation of the past century has come from small businesses.

FREE PRODUCT ADVERTISING

General consumer products not industrial can be listed free of charge in a new joint venture program between the State of Michigan and a private firm. By using 906-892-7790 company number will be listed on a computerized network which allows other companies to locate in-state suppliers. The name of the program is Michigan Products Information Exchange (MPIE). It is endorsed and promoted by the Michigan Department of Commerce.

SMALL CLAIMS COURT

The small claims court filing limit, previously $600, has been boosted to $1,000 for 1985 and will increase to $1,500 in 1986, enabling more small businesses to take advantage of the court's quick and inexpensive process.

LIQUOR LIABILITY INSURANCE

The cost of liquor liability insurance has skyrocketed to the point where approximately 50 percent of the restaurants and bars in Michigan are not insured. However, as much as affordability is the problem, says Geake, the availability of liquor liability coverage is now shrinking. These are legitimate concerns for restaurants, bars, country clubs, bowling alleys and all dispensers of alcohol in Michigan.

CUTTING RED TAPE

Michigan's office of the Business Ombudsman was established in November, 1983. The office helps business clear the channels of communication, simplifying contacts with state government. A

Builders' group claims favorable home market

With mortgage interest rates at their lowest level in five years, housing construction remains high, and customers across the nation are flocking into the new home market.

With the surge in house shopping, one of the questions asked most frequently by consumers is, "Should I buy now or wait to see if interest rates will drop even more?"

The answer depends on market conditions and each consumer's circumstances. But looking back over time, there are very few instances in which consumers would have profited by postponing a home purchase.

As a general rule, if a person wants to buy a house and can afford to do so, waiting rarely pays. By waiting, a consumer is gambling that interest rates will drop further than home prices will rise.

Buying a house also may involve many important non-financial considerations. Owning a house can provide security and stability, no matter how high interest rates are, and no matter how many threatened evictions or surprise rent increases threaten to displace you in control of your own destinies.

Never rush into a home purchase without first exploring your options. But once you have found the unit and the financing package that best suits your needs, do not hesitate in the hope that you can obtain a better deal in the future.

If you are tempted to gamble on interest rates and house prices, remember that the stakes are high and the odds are against you.

Gas station? Concession stand? Picks surprise

Dane Johnson

Dane Johnson is a Novi resident and an architect with a Southfield firm. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in Architecture from Lawrence Institute of Technology (LIT) in 1983 and his Bachelor of Architecture degree from LIT in 1985, graduating with distinction. A John Portman Scholar, he has been a guest lecturer at the University of Michigan and has been published in CRIT, a publication of the ASC/AIA.

Johnson's firm is currently preparing a list of 10 examples of what he considers to be well-conceived and well-executed architecture in the City of Novi. He fully expects some of Johnson's choices to be provocative and debatable. He would have been disappointed if everybody agreed with them.

"We weren't disappointed. A gas station? A brick building with hardly any windows? A fire station, for Pete's sake?"

"When I judge a building," says the gaudy architect, "I try not to exclude any particular kind. For example, I'm sure a lot of other architects might automatically exclude a house in a subdivision. But if I'm evaluating a subdivision house, I ask myself, does it achieve its goals particularly well? That's what I look for, whether the building does its job."

"I look for something that's individual in having either a one-of-a-kind appearance or a good integration of past influences," Johnson adds.

"I think architecture to some business people is sort of an amorphous idea. But a building will be worth more and will last longer if it's done in a quality way... I think people spend time in buildings so much, they often don't think about them."

Asked where he thinks Novi is headed architecturally, Johnson makes it clear he considers the direction far from ideal.

"There's nothing much innovative being built," he says flatly. "If you look around the Twelve Oaks area, you'll see a lot of brick buildings with a nice, clean look to them. They're designed well, but they could be anywhere."

"It's sort of a battle to do something distinctive."

In the interests of winning the battle, Johnson provides these 10 choices and comments — and we provide a map to help you find them.

1. BARR RESIDENCE, 22600 Napier Road.
 A unique contemporary interpretation of "home," this house uses traditional elements and a twisted geometry with striking effect. Basically a box, the house surprises with an interplay of angles and colors — its red roof and yellow walls play off both sky and trees to create a chromatic whirl. A dramatic stairway on the front of the house becomes an extension of the numerous sculptures that dot the lawn. Designed by Laurence Booth of Chicago, the house is sprightly, inventive and inviting.

2. NOVI FIRE STATION NO. 4, Beck Road at Eleven Mile.
 This little building remains, surprisingly, the best piece of civic architecture in Novi. Small in scale and a little retiring, it responds to its residential context most pleasingly. Its use of traditional forms is playful and yet respectful. Architects TMP Associates have blended the influence of historic civic architecture and domestic scale into a concise package that is neither cartoonish nor patronizing.

3. LINCOLN PLACE (Residence), 47133 Nine Mile.
 I do not know whom to give the credit for this lovely home, seeing as it was built in 1938. Certainly one of the oldest homes in the city, it is also one of the most respectfully maintained in terms of architectural character. A proud, dignified Greek Revival building, it speaks well of the eclectic nature of American vernacular architecture; but it also speaks softly. The elegant arched entry recalls the influence of Renaissance design and augments the severity of the remainder of the facade. Placed proudly on a broad lawn, it is a lovely house.

4. WILLIAMSON RESIDENCE, 46010 Nine Mile.
 Another of Novi's finest residences is one of its oldest, although this one has served only short-term as a house. The Williams' 19th-century barn has been carefully reworked as a home with its simple structural system largely intact and exposed, and its exterior character retained. The interior spaces show a concern for integrity of character and a sense of delight that the owners find in their house. Incidentally, the placement, scale and landscaping of the entry make it perhaps the most inviting in the city.

5. NOVI HIGH SCHOOL, Ten Mile at Tall Road.
 It would be easy to hate Novi High, with its bulk and potentially oppressive brick expanses. If you look at it the right way, however, it becomes an assemblage of monumental geometry and it is decidedly the only civic center structure to take command of its site. Stand between the domed cafeteria, the angular theatre structure and it's a little like being on the moon — harsh, but fascinating. Add the adjacent farm buildings to the landscape and you've created what is certainly the freakiest juxtaposition in the city.

6. CONCESSIONS/ANNOUNCING STAND Powers Park.
 This little structure is testament to the fact that when a building of an unusual use is dictated, an unusual design should be attempted. This spaceship-like building is really a giant sculpture, and where better to use playful colors and forms than at a playfield?

7. LOBBY, SHERATON OAKS, 27000 Sheraton Drive.
 This space ranks as one of the best examples of the slick, packaged interiors which are permeating Novi's developing fabric. The atrium space is not bold, but it is pleasing. It is relaxing, calming and warm, while not awe-inspiring. Much of its charm comes from the fact that it is such a relief from the forbidding exterior of the hotel. Whatever the reason, the space blends materials well; it blends light with the sound and sparkle of water and people, and is quite a pleasant place to be.

8. MOBIL STATION, Novi Road at Grand River.
 This efficient building represents the beginnings of Mobil's corporate commitment to quality design. Clean and

Emergency Food Program requests assistance

By JEANNE CLARKE news special writer

The Novi Emergency Food Program is continuing to serve approximately 30 needy families per week, but funds are running low and donations are needed to keep the program alive.

The Food Program is based at Faith Community Presbyterian Church and is able to obtain food at reduced prices from the Gleaner's Food Bank in Detroit.

Key volunteers include Reverend Richard Henderson, Jeanne Beiber, Sue Lowe, Bill Charles and the Sixth-Grade CAP Squadron, who transport the food from Detroit to Novi, and Larry Neusius who assists with moving the heavy boxes.

Any group or organization looking for a worthwhile community project is asked to consider raising funds for the Food Program. More information is available by calling Faith Community at 349-5666.

Offices hours are 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in August and 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. starting in September. Food donations can be dropped off during those times.

PARKS & REC: Novi Parks and Recreation's "Team Novi" gift catalog is now available at Parks & Rec offices on Sixgate.

YOUTH ASSISTANCE: Novi Youth Assistance (NYA) will hold a pollack dinner meeting at the home of President Debby Fox on Tuesday, August 20, at 6:30 p.m.

The new fall brochure will be out the last week of August for residents interested in taking classes. Included in the fall program are bowling leagues for adults and young people, 4th and 6th grade basketball for boys and girls, and a new program entitled "Fitness Factory."

NYA is a co-sponsor of the Novi/West Oaks Arts & Crafts Show at West Oaks on September 7-8. Volunteers are needed to man the NYA refreshment booth at the fair.

FAITH COMMUNITY: Ginny Lamb has joined the staff of the Faith Community Presbyterian Church as Christian Education Director.

The church will continue to lead worship services at Whitehall Manor the first Sunday of each month under the direction of Bill and Marilyn Rice.

about all Faith Community activities and services is available by calling 349-5666.

AGAPE SINGERS: The 25 members of the Agape Singers are taking a well-earned rest during the summer after a busy schedule during the past year that included performances at Beverly Manor, Detroit Baptist Manor, Marian Rest Home, Farmington Hills Inn and Allen Terrace in Northville.

The volunteers' group meets every Monday under the direction of Ron Ward who has had five years' experience with choirs at St. Gerald's Church. He is assisted by Ed Ringel, Greg Liptow and Doug McClellan on guitars and soloists Mary Lee Skalls, Richard Soudner, Cathy Harlow and Jo Ann Bailey.

Two of the group's most popular programs are "We Salute America" and "Songs that are Oldies but Goodies." Included in the performances are sing-alongs, magic acts and comedy skits.

The Agape Singers will begin their fall season with an appearance at the Holy Family Church picnic at Lakeshore Park on September 18.

PERSONALS: Mr. and Mrs. Bill MacDermid traveled through the Upper Peninsula and Glacier National Park en route to Boise, Idaho, where they visited their daughter Lynn, her husband Bob Schulz and their two children, Michelle and Lauren. On the return trip the MacDermids visited Yellowstone and Fort Laramie, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Taylor traveled the Monroe County Fair, staying overnight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Salow in Ida.

Cindy and Dee Starnes will host a bridal shower for Janet Buss in Brighton on August 18. Janet will marry Robert Starnes III this month at St. Anne's Episcopal Church in Walled Lake. The reception will be held in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Interviews will be limited to 15 minutes and announcements will be limited to three minutes. For more information call Denise Swope at 624-2396 or Sharon McDonald at 476-4315.

SIXTHGRADE SQUADRON: Seniors and Cadets of the Sixth Grade Air Patrol (CAP) squadron participated in an intensive week-long summer encampment at the Phelps-Collins Air National Guard Base in Alpena.

Four seniors — Captains Sue An F'Geppert and Noel Gregory and 2nd Lieutenant Louis Gombasz and 2nd Lieutenant Susan Stratton — completed courses in first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and leadership training. They also qualified to instruct introductory courses for new cadets.

Cadets participated in orientation flights during the encampment. David Manz and Ken Wicke took first place honors in drill competition in Fox Trot Flight, while Steve Salas was in the Honor Flight at the best overall flight at the encampment.

CRAWFORD CAMPAIGN: A party to kick off the Crawford campaign for Novi City Council will be held this Sunday, August 18, from 2-6 p.m. at 2373 Harvest Drive in the Orchard Ridge subdivision next to the Novi Police Station.

Refreshments will be served, and anyone interested in working on the campaign is invited to attend and have a "Coney with Crawford."

Weddings

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL J. JULIEN

Patricia L. Byberg, daughter of George and Pat Byberg of Novi, and Michael J. Julien of Livonia exchanged marriage vows in a 6:30 p.m. Mass at Holy Family Church July 19. The bridegroom is the son of Jeanne Julien of Livonia.

Woman assigned on aircraft carrier

WALLED LAKE — Sue-Jen Chin has a rare assignment in the United States Navy. She's one of the few women assigned to an aircraft carrier.

"I was really surprised when I was sent to the ship," said the 1981 Walled Lake Western graduate. "It's not at all what I expected."

The daughter of Charlie and June Guy of Walled Lake, Chin had expected an assignment to a shore station and a school in jet mechanics, the technical training she had requested when she joined the Navy in 1981.

During her next enlistment, Chin hopes to make that dream a reality. She also hopes to further her education. "When you are at sea, even for a limited time like we are, you don't get the chance to take many college courses," she said.

Petty Officer Su-Jen Chin is responsible for much of the administrative workload aboard the USS Lexington.

Another aspect of life on the "Lady Lex," as it's called by its crew, is that the ship is one of the few in the Navy to have both men and women. Women joined the Lexington's crew in 1980; Chin came to the ship the following year.

Area women sought for Fashion Guild

Armstrong: 'The trend toward using non-professionals in marketing and advertising is a natural outgrowth of identifying with people who are more representative of our lifestyles.'

Members of the Fashion Guild will be selected from applicants by an interview process. Modeling experience is not necessary, but applicants should be interested in modeling and fashions, as well as learning to improve themselves.

Participants will receive fashion training and guidance as well as many complimentary services and gifts from Twelve Oaks stores. Instruction will be given on modeling, public speaking, make-up application and fashion direction.

"We are excited about working with Fashion Guild members to help them develop their individual styles to their fullest potentials," she said.

Best building picks contain surprises crisp structurally, the building subtly uses color, light and graphics. Good as it looks by day, it's at night that the building comes to life, bathed in a certain light that only intensifies the clarity of the design.

CHURCH, 24585 Meadowbrook. A new church and this is certainly the best for a couple of simple reasons. This building, unlike most others in the city, has some of the grandeur of form and monumentality of scale that should be inherent in places of worship.

Novi resident earns ACHA fellowship

Rita Radzialowski, a Novi resident and administrator of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, was advanced to Fellowship status in the American College of Hospital Administrators at its 31st convention ceremony in Chicago recently.

Fellowship is the highest level of professional achievement in the College. Fellow must demonstrate their education, experience and leadership in the health care field over a period of several years. As a special project, they must complete a series of case reports or a thesis on a subject related to health care management.

Weight-training not glamorous, just successful

There's little time for talk in Toby Kessler's fitness class at Novi High School.

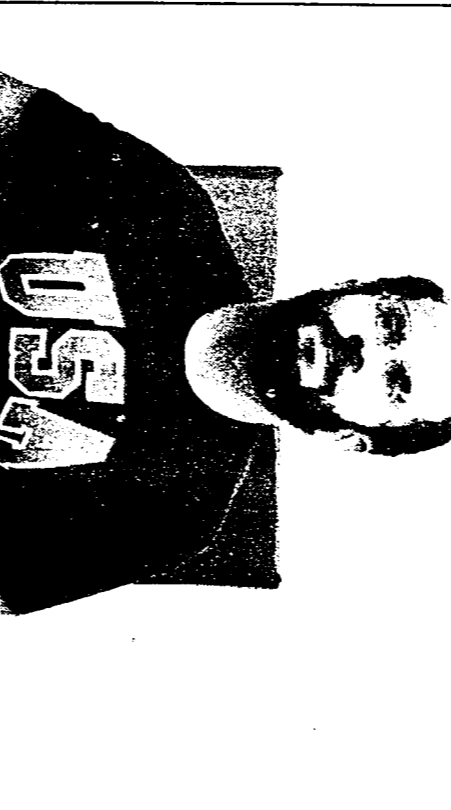

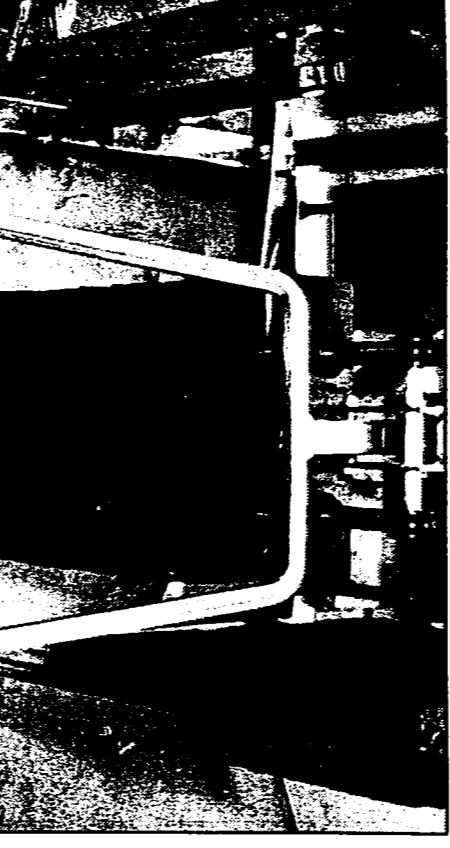

The steady, grating of the pulleys and the rhythmic clatter of the high school weight room are in sharp contrast to the upbeat tempo of the music in the gym where a group of students is working out.

It's different than the class I teach. My class isn't fun, the people in it aren't smiling, and there aren't any glamor in the weight room, while a group of 20 women are working out. They're getting more serious as they work out.

Still, Kessler's class is beginning to develop a devoted following and adds a few new disciples every year.

"The results were gratifying, but I started looking around for a system to get the same results with a program that took less time than the other two were taking," he says.

"I've been thinking you understand the muscle in order to promote growth. In my class, we slightly over-train the muscle in order to give it tone with no appreciable growth."

Kessler closely monitors all of his students.

"I wanted to move a step beyond where I was in my personal fitness program. I was looking for a difference between aerobic and aerobic weight training is the concentration on lifting and moving the weights. It requires total concentration."

The weight training is only part of Kessler's fitness program. Members of his class also receive training in nutrition, stretching, and cardiovascular conditioning.

"I'm pretty serious about the things I teach. Physical fitness is a lifestyle and that's the way we go about it."

Diane DeWitt strains to finish her bench press reps.

Kessler closely monitors all of his students.

Kessler: "When we offered it for the first time in 1983, I was worried nobody would sign up. But we've found some people who want to take their physical fitness as seriously as I do. They tell their neighbors about the gains they've made and then their neighbors sign up. We're getting more and more people every year."

Huron Valley sets September 4 start

HURON VALLEY — Wednesday, September 4 will be the first day of school for all Huron Valley students on the regular calendar. Students on the 45-15 Year-Round School Program begin school August 20.

The first day of school will be a full day for all students. Elementary principals will send information on the opening of school to the parents of registered kindergartners.

All elementary and secondary buildings will be open the week of August 26 for the registration of students new to the district and for kindergarten students who have not yet been registered. Information on registration times should be obtained from the individual school offices.

School hours will be the same this year as they were for the 1984-85 school year. Bus runs will be approximately the same as last year.

Lakeland and Milford high schools will begin at 7:25 a.m. and end at 1:55 p.m. Highland and White Lake junior high schools will be in session from 8:10 a.m. to 2:40 p.m. and 8:10 a.m. to 2:40 p.m. elementary schools will also be in session from 8:10 a.m. to 2:40 p.m.

The hours for Lakewood and Apollo elementary schools will be 8:20 a.m. to 2:50 p.m.

Muir Junior High hours will be 9:05 a.m. to 3:35 p.m. Johnson, Kurtz and Spring Mills elementary schools will be in session from 8:15 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.

Special education classes also will begin September 4. Parents of special education students who attend programs outside their regular attendance areas will be notified by the Special Education Department about transportation, school assignment and any other necessary information.

Few changes planned in Huron Valley buses

HURON VALLEY — Bus schedules and routings for Huron Valley students will be approximately the same as last year. The bus route information will be mailed to parents by principals in their back-to-school newsletters.

Information about bus routings will also be available at the school offices during regular school hours beginning August 26.

Questions about routings or transportation problems will be answered by the Transportation Office (685-1511, extension 242) from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. beginning August 26.

The Board of Education provides bus service to students in grades K-3 who live a mile or more from school. Students in grades 4-12 who live 1.5 miles from school are provided bus service. Bus service is provided during the noon hour to all kindergarten students who reside over a half mile from school. Exceptions are made for hazardous conditions.

Under normal conditions, elementary students can be expected to walk up to a half mile to a bus stop and secondary students up to a mile.

Weather and road conditions, traffic hazards and the ages of the children are taken into consideration when deciding a bus route and stop. Bus stops are limited to no more than four per mile when possible.

Transportation personnel have spent the summer rescheduling bus routes to balance bus loads and anticipate safety hazards, traffic conditions and to estimate the time needed for the number of children to board at each stop.

Parents who want to request a change in a bus stop should make the request in writing to the Transportation Department. The request should include a route number, the child's school, the present stop, the change requested and the reasons for the request.

WALLED LAKE - Students returning to Walled Lake Schools this year will see something they haven't seen very much of in the past - new textbooks.

The Walled Lake school board has approved a purchase of new textbooks for K-12 students in the 1985-86 school year.

The purchase of new textbooks was made possible when school district voters approved a millage proposal in the 1984 election. The amount of the millage was set at 1.000 - 15 for the district.

One of the reasons that the district voters had previously turned thumbs down on a millage proposal, and then approved a millage proposal in the 1984 election, was that the district had been unable to raise the amount of money needed to purchase new textbooks.

The majority of this year's expenditure for textbooks is for the purchase of new textbooks. The majority of this year's expenditure for textbooks is for the purchase of new textbooks.

Textbooks are being purchased for all levels of the curriculum. The majority of this year's expenditure for textbooks is for the purchase of new textbooks.

Novi sets meeting for new residents

Novi - You've heard good things about the Novi Community School District. In fact, it was one of the reasons you moved to Novi.

But you'd really like to know more about the school district, its philosophy of education, and its philosophy of education.

If that sounds like the position you're in, you should attend a special meeting designed to introduce new residents to the Novi Community School District. The meeting will be held at Novi High School on Thursday, September 22, at 7:30 p.m.

New residents who register their names at the meeting will receive notices of the meeting. However, new residents who do not have children in schools will receive notices of the meeting.

More information about the program is available by calling Novi 528-1200.
