Head-on crash kills 18-year-old

A head-on automobile crash Sunday evening took the life of 18-year-old Novi resident, Mary Margaret Madigan, a 1985 graduate of Novi High School.

According to police reports, Madigan was eastbound on Ten Mile a half-mile west of Taft at 5:50 p.m. Sunday when her car struck a car being driven west by Judith Anne Kalanik of Redford Township.

Kalanik had crossed the road's middle line at the time of the accident, said Novi Police Lieutenant Robert Starnes. Starnes refused to comment whether alcohol had been involved in the accident, but he said an investigation should be completed later this week.

Madigan, known as "Meg" to family and friends, suffered multiple injuries and was pronounced dead at Botsford Hospital shortly after the accident. Kalanik, according to reports, is recovering there.

The daughter of Richard and Suzanne Madigan, Meg is also survived by an older brother, James, and an older sister, Barbara. She has a stepmother, Elaine Madigan, and a two-year-old half-brother, Matthew.

Madigan had been active in theater as a student at the high school. She played the title role of Lisa in "David and Lisa," a serious drama, in 1983. During her senior year, she was student director for the Novi High School production of "Godspell."

Since graduating, Meg worked at K mart and recently at a local Fotomat outlet. Elaine Madigan reported Meg had been considering going to college to study drama, but had no immediate plans.

School officials said yesterday Meg had been a popular girl and that friends are expected to come from various colleges across the state to attend funeral services, some to sing at Mass.

Mary Margaret Madigan will lie in state from 4-9 p.m. today (Wednesday) at O'Brien Chapel of Sullivan Funeral Home, 41555 Grand River in Novi. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) at Holy Family Church with interment at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Broken glass said seen in baby food

By MICHELE M. FECHT
 staff writer

NORTHVILLE — An unconfirmed report of shattered glass found in a Gerber baby food jar purchased from Meijer at Eight Mile and Haggerty Road has befuddled both local police and the store's management.

According to Northville Township Police Captain Phil Presnell, an unidentified woman called the Novi Police Department last Thursday to report that her eight-year-old son bit into a piece of glass while eating from a jar of Gerber baby food.

Refusing to identify herself to police, she went on to say that the jar was purchased from Meijer.

After instructing the caller to return the jar and lid to the local store, Novi police contacted the Northville Township Police Department to apprise them of the situation.

Presnell said Monday he talked with store manager Art Athar about the incident and instructed him to contact police when the woman arrived at the store. He also said he told Athar to remove the Gerber products from the store shelves.

Though Athar would not comment on the incident, he noted he did not pull the Gerber baby food.

Although Presnell reiterated that he requested the baby food be taken off the shelves, Athar said his understanding was that police officials only "advised me to look into the situation."

However, as of Monday morning, the anonymous caller had not shown up at the store — leaving Meijer officials and local police without any substantial evidence of food tampering.

Dave Lukens, public and consumer affairs coordinator for the Grand Rapids-based Meijer, said he was aware of the situation and has been "in constant contact with Gerber."

"We instructed our store to get the woman's name and address when she comes in," Lukens said. "However, we certainly can't do anything if she won't come forward."

Lukens said the local Meijer store was told not to pull the product.

"We cannot substantiate anything," Lukens said of the unconfirmed report. "As far as we know it could have been a prank call."

Recent reports of tainted Gerber products have thrust the Fremont, Michigan-based baby food manufacturer into the national limelight — along with Johnson & Johnson, the creators of Tylenol capsules.

Lukens noted the attention brought to the recent incidents makes Gerber easy prey for a hoax.

"To my knowledge, we have not had any Gerber jars with glass returned," he said. Reports of glass shards in Gerber products have been noted in 12 states including two incidents in Bay City.

Police are asking anyone with information about the incident to contact the Northville Township Detective Bureau at 349-9400.

Town Center plans get early OK

By BRUCE J. MARTIN
 staff writer

Despite the objections of Planning Board member Richard Clark and Council Member Nancy Covert, plans for Trammell Crow's 68-acre Town Center project were given preliminary approvals by both the board and council last Wednesday.

Clark cast the lone opposing vote among board members and Covert the lone opposing vote among council members in considering the plans, which outline 400,000-plus square feet of commercial space in a group of structures to be built northeast of Grand River Avenue and Novi Road.

In a prepared statement, Clark said the proposed shopping center "does not develop a downtown Novi and does not foster a sense of community identity."

In addition, Clark maintained the project will have a "substantial and adverse impact on adjacent street capacity and safety on a road which cannot safely handle its present traffic volume, let alone the new traffic to be generated by two new regional shopping centers."

"What has happened to our dream of a truly downtown Novi?" Clark demanded. "Some dreams are too important to be sacrificed on the altar of so-called progress or to be surrendered to the lure of increased jobs and expanded tax base

Clark: 'This flies in the face of everything we have tried to do in this area and the very intent of the Town Center ordinance.'

"It flies in the face of everything we have tried to do in this area and the very intent of the Town Center ordinance," Clark concluded.

Covert agreed with Clark's reservations about the strain imposed by additional traffic, and she repeated concerns she has expressed in the past over the scale and regional-retail concept of the proposed development.

"Our Town Center ordinance and this resulting site plan do not promote a desirable pedestrian, resident-oriented atmosphere," said Covert.

"What we're looking at is an extension of the regional center district — the end result looks like the largest commercial center in the state."

"This will attract (people) within 50 miles," she added. "I think this has happened because our original concept of what we wanted in the northeast quadrant has not come about. This will set the character for the other three corners; it results in an overabundance of one use."

"As a council member, I'm not in favor of this proposal for reasons of traffic and for reasons of regional activity where local residents were to have a place to sit, see a movie or a play, go to hear a band concert or gather for a parade... I'm not talking about another Northville or Plymouth, but a unique downtown our residents can call our own."

Mayor Patricia Karevich countered that the sort of small-scale downtown Covert favors may be fine in theory, but was unrealistic economically.

Police win some, lose some

By BRUCE J. MARTIN
 staff writer

Novi police gained some ground and lost some ground in 1985, recently-released year-end statistics for the department demonstrate.

While the number of burglaries and alcohol- and drug-related incidents dropped sharply, rapes, larcenies and reported cases of arson were far more numerous than in the previous year.

Other than miscellaneous traffic infractions, the most frequently committed crime in the city was larceny. Fueling an increase of nearly 40 percent in that category was a rash of radar detector thefts from automobiles.

Captain Richard Faulkner of the Novi Police Department said many radar detector thefts could have been avoided simply by detaching and concealing the detector when leaving the car parked. "They're easy to see around the rear view mirror," Faulkner pointed out. "It's just an open invitation."

Faulkner said more vigilance also might have subdued an alarming rise in the number of rapes in Novi, from nine in 1984 to 14 in 1985. The officer said the circumstances and location of the rapes varied from a parking lot abduction, to a rape of an early-morning jogger, to rapes by acquaintances, to an incident in which a girl was followed home from a date and raped (not by her date) in her own home.

"We offer a rape prevention class through community education every year, but recently our participation has been very low," Faulkner said.

Besides recommending women take the class when it is offered again, Faulkner specifically suggested women avoid vans in parking lots. He noted one rape incident last year occurred when a woman entering her car was grabbed and dragged into a van in the next parking space.

Police made significant gains in curbing burglaries from area homes, dropping the number of incidents from 307 in 1984 to 213 last year — a 30.6 percent decrease.

Faulkner said he would like to think the decrease could be attributed to what he called "pro-active" rather than "re-active" community crime prevention efforts.

"We've been trying very hard to get people involved," he said. "We've been working very closely with some of the subdivisions in town." Faulkner said homeowners in Echo Valley, Cedar Springs and Turtle Creek subdivisions have been particularly cooperative.

"We still run into so many cases where somebody simply didn't lock their house or even shut their garage door when there was a snowblower or a bicycle there for the taking."

Sex offenses, a category including in large part incidents of indecent exposure, rose 39.1 percent, from 23 in 1984 to 32 in 1985.

Faulkner said his department would have difficulty restoring low

Robbery foiled by a teller

An attempted hold-up of a Michigan National Bank office at 45075 Pontiac Trail ended in failure when the teller told the would-be robber that she had no money.

Police were called to the bank with reports of an attempted armed robbery at approximately 11:28 a.m. on Thursday, February 20.

The clerk told responding officers that a lone white male had entered the bank, approached the service counter and pulled out a note written on blue-lined school paper. The note said, "This is a robbery. There is a gun in the bag. Give me your money."

When the teller responded that she had no money, the suspect fled the bank on foot, taking the note with him.

Planners approve rezoning to office

In opposition to the wishes of a contingent of homeowners from the Orchard Hills subdivision, the Novi Planning Board last week voted to recommend approval of a request to rezone some 25 acres of property directly to the east of the subdivision on the south side of Ten Mile, along Novi Road.

Borin: 'If the city is to rezone these parcels to office, there'd be nothing to stop this developer from developing all the way to the subdivision.'

Although developer Robert Melvin informed residents he intended to build an office park on the property, the rezoning was initiated by the City of Novi in order to bring the zoning classification on the property into general conformity with the city's Master Plan (guide to long-range development).

Melvin showed officials at last Wednesday's joint planning board-city council meeting a map of his proposed development: four office buildings of 14,000 square feet apiece situated well back of neighboring property lines, with sidewalks and bike path. The proposed development appeared to be effectively screened from neighboring property by the topography: foliage, marshes, a creek and to the west, the subdivision's detention pond.

The city's engineering consultant, David Redash, supported the rezoning and noted the site's extensive low-lying property likely would make construction difficult near some of its borders. But homeowners complained the property, now zoned for high-density single-family homes, would detract from their subdivision's desirability and safety.

"Why do we need more office spaces?" attorney Gary Borin asked board members. "There are offices going in at Ten (Mile) and Haggerty, across the street; much of the Trammell Crow property will be proposed for office. There's no shortage.

Several residents expressed concern over increased traffic loads and the introduction of strangers into an area largely used by residents.

Richard Clark, the only board member who voted to oppose recommending rezoning to the city council, agreed he believed the city's traffic problems would spread south from Grand River if the office development were to take place.

"We have problems now between Twelve Mile and Grand River, and now we want to creep south?" Clark puzzled. "I don't see it's in the best interests of the city or the residents of the subdivision. To allow it, I think, would be somewhat of a breach of faith."

Scouting outing

For Novi Boy Scout Troop 54 Scoutmaster Norm Ross and scout Carl Kinzel, last Saturday's chilly temperatures made roughing it really roughing it at a weekend camping expedition at Maybury State Park.

Mobile home ravaged by flames

A fire at Old Dutch Farms Mobile Home Park destroyed one mobile home, damaged another and sent a mother and child fleeing early Sunday morning. It was the third mobile home park fire reported in Novi in recent weeks.

It took the fire department 17 minutes to respond to the fire after the call went out at 12:16 a.m. Sunday. By the time they arrived, the fire had devastated the Frankel residence at 1557 Ocher. It took the department 20 minutes to control the blaze, which also caused exterior and window damage to the trailer next door at 1555 Ocher.

Developer reports Town Center plans

By BRUCE J. MARTIN staff writer

The Trammell Crow Town Center project was expected to set off a chain reaction in revitalizing the central Novi area — and early signs of that chain reaction appeared last week.

Gary Shapiro, a partner in Ivanhoe Investment Group of Southfield, appeared before city officials last week carrying unofficial plans to develop 27 acres of property southeast of Grand River and Novi Road.

Ivanhoe and Shapiro currently are awaiting final site plan approvals for Beacon Hill, an "upscale" apartment housing project containing upwards of 300 apartment units, to be located close to the east Town Center boundary and south of Grand River.

Ivanhoe also controls property directly west of Ivanhoe and immediately south of the businesses lining the south side of Grand River east of Novi Road — and that property was what Shapiro wanted to talk about.

At last Wednesday's joint session of the city planning board and city council, Shapiro told officials he would like to build a "ring road" similar to the accessory road looping around the Trammell Crow Company's Town Center project northeast of the intersection.

Kriewall: 'Once Trammell Crow breaks ground, the potentials in that area are going to become pretty obvious. I'm convinced after the southeast quadrant (develops), it'll spin across to the next one. There may be a totally new look there.'

Shapiro said he would like to have the proposed Novi Motor Sports museum occupy property along the southeast section of the ring road. In addition to the museum, Shapiro said other possibilities for development along the ring road might include a senior citizen housing project, a group of village-type shops or other business-type uses. He would like to arrange a trade — possibly with a private business or with the city — to obtain property facing Novi Road that he does not currently control.

'Sweet Hour of Prayer'

Gerri Stipp (center) and her daughters, Robin Pearce (left) and Shelley Cain, sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer" during special services at the First Baptist Church of Novi last Sunday. The special service was held to commemorate the 140th anniversary of the founding of the church back in 1846. Featured was a re-enactment of the first service held in the church which was initially located near the Novi Road/Grand River intersection. Tony Leech, a senior at Novi Christian School, portrayed Peter F. Jones, the first minister at the first church in Novi, and read one of Jonathan Edwards' most famous sermons, "Pardon for the Greatest Sinners."

Shopping center at Ten & Novi

Applereast Square, a 10-acre shopping center on the northwest corner of the Ten Mile/Novi Road intersection appears likely to begin construction this year.

The Novi Planning Board unanimously approved preliminary site plans for the project, submitted by Mike Kojanian of Kojanian Properties, a Birmingham real estate development firm.

"We bought the property about 12 years ago," Kojanian said last Friday. "We just felt now was about the right time to start developing, with all the other development going on in Novi."

Kojanian said the shopping center will likely be anchored by a grocery-drug store type of major tenant. "We're going to wait until we have the package all ready before we put it on the street," he added. "It will be a quality development."

Provided he obtains final site plan approval promptly as expected, Kojanian said he would begin construction "as soon as possible."

The property will be located directly south of The Goat Farm Tavern on Novi Road. The stores will be located within an L-shaped building of 30,235 square feet. There will be two driveways into the project, both facing Novi Road.

Teachers to be cited
The Novi Community School District has planned several activities next week in celebration of Teacher Day U.S.A. on Tuesday, March 4. Becky Hurst, public relations chairperson for the Novi Education Association, said organizations throughout the district are planning special activities in conjunction with the national celebration.

Services set, honor Ziegler

A memorial service for Cathleen Ziegler will be held this Saturday at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi.

Ziegler, a small vehicle maintenance mechanic with the U.S. Army, was one of 248 "Screaming Eagles" from the 101st Airborne Division who died in a fiery plane crash at Gander, New Foundland, on December 12.

The daughter of William and Dottie (Mann) of Novi, she was born May 11, 1964, and was 21 at the time of her death.

A 1982 Novi High School graduate, she was enrolled in the veterinary medicine program at Michigan State University and entered the U.S. Army in 1983. After APT at Fort Dix, she served in Panama and then attended the U.S. Military Academy School, a preparatory school for West Point.

She had volunteered to serve on a multi-national peace-keeping force in the Sinai Peninsula in the Middle East. Spec. 4 Ziegler was on her way home from the Sinai with other members of the 101st Airborne for the Christmas holidays when the chartered Arrow Air DC-8 crashed on take-off after a refueling stop in Newfoundland.

Visitations will be held at the O'Brien Chapel of the Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home on Grand River on Thursday and Friday, February 27 and 28, from 1-4 and 6-9 p.m. An additional visitation will be held prior to services at the First United Methodist Church in Northville on Eight Mile on Saturday, March 1, from 10-11 a.m.

Interment will follow at Oakland Hills. A color guard from the U.S. Army will be in attendance.

Spec. 4 Ziegler is survived by her parents and four brothers and sisters: Randon, William, Richmond and Cinnamon. Also surviving are her grandparents, Wilda Ziegler and Ruby Mann.

The family asks that memorial contributions be sent to any animal shelter or Greenpeace, an international environmental protection agency, at 1411 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20070.

Bishop's talk starts series

Bishop Thomas Gumbleton of the Archdiocese of Detroit and Harry Cook, former religion editor of the Detroit Free Press, will be keynote speakers at a Lenten series sponsored by the Faith Community United Presbyterian Church in Novi.

The series will be held March 2 and 16 at the church. Gumbleton will talk about his Bread for the World program at the March 2 series. Cook will discuss "Jerry Falwell and the Religious Right" on March 16.

Both programs begin at 5:30 p.m. with a potluck dinner. Speakers will address the audience at 6:30 p.m. followed by a question and answer period.

The planning to attend should bring a passing dish and their own place setting. Free babysitting will be available.

For more information and reservations call Faith Community at 349-5666.

Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers Celebrates 4th Anniversary

This month, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers is celebrating its fourth year in Detroit. Currently, there are five locations in the Detroit area and over 180 Centers nationally.

The company, which began in 1979, guarantees that patients will lose 3-7 pounds per week if the patient follows the prescribed program. Essentially, this means a patient could lose between 42 to 98 pounds during a 14-week period. This amazingly fast rate is closely monitored by a medical team of doctors, nurses and certified weight loss counselors to ensure the safety and health of each patient.

Anyone who has ever tried to lose weight would probably be skeptical of such promising figures, but Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers has the proof to support its claims—thin, healthy, and happy patients. The Physicians receiving therapy lost the same amount of weight in six months as those on the low-calorie diet lost in four months. But they regained only half as much in the year after treatment ended.

Often, the hardest part of dieting is keeping the pounds off for good. When patients finish the weight loss portion of the program, they have the eating habits and knowledge needed to maintain their ideal weight virtually forever.

Once the patient's goal weight is reached, a period of calorie adjustment follows to stabilize the body's new weight. In addition, a full, one year maintenance schedule is established and encouraged.

In the year following, if up to three pounds are gained, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers invites each patient to return at no additional charge. The counselors will gladly help the patient lose these few extra pounds before more weight is gained and the weight problem recurs.

Program Now 50% Off In celebration of their fourth anniversary, Physicians WEIGHT LOSS Centers is offering a spectacular 50% savings on enrollment. This special runs for a limited time only, so call your nearest Center for a free consultation!

Why Clark voted 'no' on the Town Center plans

Clark: 'The path we take on this project will once and for all determine if we develop a downtown, a sense of community, a sense of belonging or simply surrender our goals and dreams and become the town that almost was. There is nothing wrong to saying no to something that is not Novi's dream.'

Planning Board Member Richard Clark read the following statement opposing the Trammell Crow Company's preliminary plans for its Town Center project at last Wednesday's joint session of the board and Novi City Council. To begin with, let me preface my remarks and position on the Town Center proposal which is here tonight for preliminary site plan approval by saying that I for one recognize the tremendous input of time, energy and talent which has been expended on the Town Center proposal by council, city staff, planners, developers, the Town Center Steering Committee and others.

To arrive at a position on this proposal has not been easy, being mindful of the energy already expended, bearing in mind the long-range implications and tremendous impact such a proposed project would have on the City of Novi and its future. I have reviewed as much documentation as was available and attended various meetings with the exception of the formal presentation meetings, but have had the opportunity to be present at informal interim presentations. After all of this, I have been compelled to come back to some very basic documents which need to be referenced here.

This ordinance seemed to me consistent with a city that says it has dared to dream a dream of its own unique character and recognized the historical significance of the Novi/Grand River crossroads. This ordinance also seems to be consistent with the Town Center planning and design overview of Brandon Rogers of September 5, 1985, which stated that what was sought to be developed was a coordinated, practical yet far-sighted plan that relates to all four quadrants of the Town Center and emphasizes the need for a multi-use, attractive, efficient downtown.

Wildcats of the Week

For 5'9" co-captain Erin Barry, the current Novi volleyball season hasn't gone as planned — the Wildcats are just 3-13. But Barry has put together a solid season, combining a strong serve and consistent hitting up front. For her achievements last week and throughout the year, Barry has been named the "Erin" of the Week.

"Erin is a natural athlete, and volleyball is one of the sports she does really excel in," said Coach Kathy Bedor.

At the Kensington Valley Conference league meet last Saturday, Barry was a thorn in the side of the service line in their 12-15, 5-15 loss to Brighton. Barry recorded 11 spikes in the game and led the team by connecting on six of seven serves.

"I'm really hoping to get a scholarship," Barry said. "I don't get an offer. I think I'll go to CMU (Central Michigan) and try out for the team — I'd love to play there."

Rec Briefs

ADULT SOFTBALL: It's not too early to start thinking about the 1986 softball season. The Men's and Women's Resident Leagues sponsored by the Novi Parks and Recreation Department permit only five non-residents per team. There are no residency requirements for the Men's Sunday, Men's Over-35 and Co-Rec leagues.

Complete information packets are now available at Parks & Rec offices. Returning teams must submit a $100 deposit prior to March 14 to secure a spot in the 1986 leagues. New teams will be added on a first-come, first-served basis as openings occur. Call 349-1976 for more information.

SPRING BROCHURE: Novi Parks and Recreation has mailed its new spring brochure to all Novi residents. Special events include the Spring Sports and Recreation Equipment Sale, Easter Egg Hunt and the Providence/Novi Run. Registration is already underway for spring programs. Call 349-1976 for more information or to register.

NOVI'S YOUTH BASEBALL LEAGUE still has a few vacancies for the 1986 season. The league offers play for eight to 16 year olds in four different age divisions. Players must be eight years old by August 1, 1986, to be eligible for the season.

Registration fees are $35 for 8-9 year olds, $40 for 10-13 year olds and $45 for 14-16 year olds. Families with three or more eligible youngsters pay a maximum rate of $55.

For more information about the Novi Youth Baseball League's summer program are available from Player Agent Jean Flores at 349-7197.

SOCCER SIGN-UP: The Novi Parks and Recreation Department is taking registrations for the 1986 spring youth soccer program from boys and girls born from 1969 to 1980.

Games will be played on Saturdays and Tuesday and Thursday evenings. There's a registration fee of $15 which includes shirt, shorts and socks for each player. Registration deadline is March 7.

Tank coach raises expectations

If you want to know for sure that Novi's swim program is on the rise, all you have to do is consider the remarks made by Coach Larry Teahan after last week's meets.

Take February 18, for example, when the Wildcats beat Livonia Franklin for the first time in history. Teahan's response: "It turned out to be a lot closer than I thought it would be."

And then last weekend, Novi scored 86 points to place seventh (out of 10 teams) at the super-competitive Brighton Invitational. Those 86 points were exactly 50 more than the Wildcats scored a year ago en route to a ninth-place finish. Teahan's comment: "I was hoping we could place at least one spot higher."

What this tells you is that the swim program at Novi has reached a point where more is expected. Teahan could have been content with a win at Franklin and an improved showing at Brighton, but he expects more out of the team and wants his swimmers to expect more.

Teahan coached at Franklin for 14 years prior to coming to Novi, so a win over the Patriots has extra meaning. But to his surprise, the Wildcats had to claw their way to a much-closer than expected 87-85 win.

"For a meet we thought we had under control, we sure did our best to keep it close," Teahan said. "I wasn't happy with our performance as a team. It was much too close for comfort."

Novi (92-1 overall) grabbed wins in the first four events and six of 11 overall, but a lack of help in the outside lanes enabled Franklin to nicker and dime its way to a lot of points. It was a very deceiving meet. What appeared to be an easy Wildcat win was actually a barnburner.

"We needed points from our number two, three and four men, but we just didn't get very much from them," Teahan stated. "They also hit us hard in two races, and a combination of those two factors kept them right in the picture up until the final event was over."

Novi's 200-yard medley relay team of Jon Cohen, Jeff Cohen, Matt Lorenz and Steve Warthman took first place (1:48.2), but the "B" team was disqualified for a foul start.

"That sort of set the tone for what was gonna happen the rest of the way," Teahan said.

Novi then went 1-3 in the next two races to take a 27-19 lead. Jon Cohen won the 200 freestyle (1:48.5) with Eric Sarlund third (1:55.1), while Lorenz won the 200 IM (2:14.8) with Todd Market third (2:30.0). The 500 freestyle was close, but Warthman touched out a Franklin swimmer (23.9) for another Wildcat first place.

The Patriots' first win came in diving, but the Wildcats upped their lead to 10 points by grabbing the second, third and fourth place points as Brian Paul led the way.

Jon Cohen (57.2) and Marker (1:05.0) came in first and second respectively in the 100 butterfly event, but Dave Bolton was the lone Novi point-scorer in the 100 freestyle (second with a time of 56.4).

The last win by a Wildcat was Warthman's 5:10.5 in the 500 freestyle. Sarlund finished second (5:12.0). Following a 3-34 in the 100 backstroke, Novi's lead was 14 (78-64) with just two events left, but it was far from over.

Franklin recorded an 11-5 swing in the 100 breaststroke to cut it to eight heading into the final relay. Jeff Cohen was the only Novi swimmer to place in the top five. It meant that the Patriots needed to go 1-2 in the 400 freestyle relay to pull out the win. Fortunately for the Wildcats, Bolton, Marker, Jeff Cohen and Sarlund teamed for the meet-saving second place.

And if that wasn't enough, Cohen teamed up with Warthman, Bolton, Sarlund and Jeff Cohen to place seventh in the 400 freestyle relay. Their time of 3:29.2 in the finals set a new school record. The only other Wildcat to place in the top 12 was Warthman who qualified seventh in the 200 freestyle and placed eighth in the finals (1:53.35).

"The competition was just unbelievable," Dearborn, the top-ranked Class B team, outdistanced Grosse Pointe South, the top-rated Class A team, with 287 points. Most of Novi's 66 points were the result of another outstanding outing by Jon Cohen.

The freshman set a new meet record and a new school record with his incredible 4:39.3 clocking in the preliminaries of the 500 freestyle. Cohen, who was seeded number one by virtue of his fastest time of the year, went on to win the 500 freestyle finals with a time of 4:40.3. He had some stiff competition in the early going, but pulled ahead on the fifth length and cruised to the win.

Cohen was also the top seed in the 200 IM, and he proved it with a 1:59.1 and another first place finish. This time Cohen made his move on the third leg of the race, the breaststroke, and closed the door in the freestyle. It was another lifetime best and school record.

And if that wasn't enough, Cohen teamed up with Warthman, Bolton, Sarlund and Jeff Cohen to place seventh in the 400 freestyle relay. Their time of 3:29.2 in the finals set a new school record. The only other Wildcat to place in the top 12 was Warthman who qualified seventh in the 200 freestyle and placed eighth in the finals (1:53.35).

Wildcat spikers endure fast exit in KVC tourney

Novi volleyball Coach Kathy Bedor contends that her team is playing much better.

The problem is that it doesn't show in the win-loss column.

At the double elimination Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) League Meet at Brighton last Saturday (February 22), the Wildcats dropped their first two matches of the day and were quickly eliminated from the tournament.

It was the beleaguered team's ninth straight loss and its 13th loss out of 14 contests dating back to early January. But Bedor was looking at the level of play rather than the outcome, and seemed generally pleased.

"We played very well," she said. "I was pleased to see us hustle and play together as a team."

The opening round found Novi pitted Brighton, a team that beat the Wildcats last week. A week didn't make any difference as the Bulldogs went on to a 15-12, 15-5 straight game win. Bedor said Novi played very well in the first game, but it still wasn't enough. Problems at the service line plagued the Wildcats in the second game. Annie Hwang and Eric Barry carried the load up front with 11 spikes apiece.

In the consolation bracket, Novi gave South Lyon a battle before losing a 10-15, 15-3, 11-15 war. Six missed serves by the Wildcats proved costly in the first game as a 10-9 Novi lead became a 15-10 South Lyon victory after the Lions took the last six points.

Vicky Muzzin's deadly service helped Novi race out to an 8-1 lead in the second game as the Wildcats coasted to a 12-point win to square the match score at one game apiece. But in the deciding game, South Lyon again scored the final six points with the score 10-9 to clinch the victory.

"(South Lyon) was blowing us away with their spikes," Bedor said. "They were placing them very well, and you can't be everywhere at once."

The Wildcats, after winning their first two dual meets, ended the regular season with records of 1-7 in the KVC and 3-13 overall. They now have the unenviable task of taking on Brighton again in the opening round of the state district tournament in Howell this Saturday (March 1) at 11:15 a.m.

Existing home market records fast start

The 1986 existing home market got off to a rousing start in January with the Metro MLS reporting a 25 percent sales jump from December and an increase of nearly 11 percent from the year ago.

Sales by members of the area's largest multiple listing service included 377 homes and 60 condominiums compared to the 383 and 52 sold last year.

"A growing concern among both Realtors and buyers entering the market is the continued decline in listings in many of the most popular areas," observed Metro MLS President Joanne Bryngelson.

"While there is still a good supply of homes on the market, the range of choice is declining with more favored properties selling fast. We still have a way to go before returning to a seller's market, but we seem to be heading in that direction."

Bryngelson noted that the 2,829 homes listed in January were down nearly 15 percent from a year ago. Condominium listings at 116 showed an even more dramatic decline of nearly 44 percent.

"With better values being realized from their homes, we are seeing many sellers using their improved equity to move up the housing scale," said Bryngelson. "Last month our members sold 252 homes priced above $90,000 including 146 above the $100,000 level. Comparable figures a year ago were 185 and 90."

"On the other end of the scale, buyers looking for low-cost bargains, including many first-timers, are finding a tighter market," she reported. "Last January our members sold 302 homes below $40,000 including 146 under $30,000. This year those figures dropped to 240 and 110."

THE NUCLEUS of the comet is thought to be very similar to a dirty snowball, a four-mile wide sphere of sandlike dust and frozen water and other ices. We never see the nucleus because it is surrounded by a coma of gas, which is produced as the nucleus is heated by the sun. Halley loses about a meter of its surface on each pass by the sun but it is expected to pass another 3,000 times before it disintegrates.

THE TAIL of the comet is formed as sunlight and solar wind blow the gases that surround the nucleus. The tail, sometimes 30 million miles long, always points away from the sun as it is pushed by the solar wind. The comet actually has two tails, a plasma tail extending straight back and a dust tail that curves off like water from a moving hose.

HALLEY'S COMET

Once in a Lifetime

By JIM CURTIS

What? Halley's Comet is coming back again this year?
Well, yes — and no.
Actually Halley's Comet has never been away since it disappeared from view in January. It's been hiding.
The comet's path through our solar system has temporarily taken it to the other side of the sun, blocking the view from the earth. Soon it will come back into our range of view and give us one last chance to get a look at the space traveler before it leaves us for another 76 years.
What's the big deal about some funny-looking light up in the sky, anyway?
To many people in the past, Halley's comet was a sign of impending disaster. The comet's visits have been recorded since before the birth of Christ and have been associated with such infamous events as the destruction of Jerusalem in A.D. 66, the defeat of Attila the Hun in A.D. 451, and the Norman invasion of England in A.D. 1066.
The Milford Record noted on May 14, 1910, just as Halley's comet was appearing, that King Edward of England died suddenly of pneumonia.
Hopefully the comet has become less a harbinger of doom these days, but it can still be an interesting phenomenon of nature for modern viewers.
Halley's comet has a fairly large following because it is one of the comets that returns at regular intervals which can be plotted in advance.
Since it visits our part of the solar system once every 76 years or so, a person will probably get the opportunity to see Halley's only once in his or her lifetime.
Unfortunately, this comet's predictability means

The above map can help you locate Halley's Comet in the pre-dawn sky, with the best viewing times from March 21 to March 26. The scale along the bottom and sides of the map are divided into "hands", which equal the width of a hand at arm's length. The moon is also shown for reference.
For example, on March 23 look for Halley's about seven hands right of east and 1½ hands up from the horizon.

From late February to mid-March look for Halley's about one hour before sunrise. From mid-March to early April look 1½ hours before sunrise. Allow your eyes 15 minutes to adjust to the darkness and scan the horizon with binoculars. It also helps to seek an area above the horizon, like a hill, and away from city lights. From Rome to Reagan, Halley's saw it all

If only Halley's Comet could talk — the wonders it could describe. It has been visiting Earth for over 2,000 years, a silent "eyewitness" to our history.

But while the comet dates from before the time of Christ, it is young, just 30 in Halley's years, which are defined by the comet's orbit.

Halley's Comet gives us a link to the past and the future. It is the same comet witnessed before the Battle of Hastings in 1066. It will be the same comet that will pass again in 2061.

For a different perspective on Halley's, we can view it in relation to our past, to see where the comet has been and where we might be going.

248 B.C. — The comet, long before it took Halley's name, is first recorded by Chinese astronomers. Hannibal, the famed Carthaginian general, is just six years old.

164 B.C. — The comet views the beginning of Roman world domination.

87 B.C. — Gaius Julius Caesar is just 16 years old when the comet passes a third time.

12 B.C. — Halley's sees the Roman army push deep into Germania. The birth of Christ is judged to be eight years away after a readjustment of the ancient calendar.

68 A.D. — Christ was crucified 36 years earlier and St. Peter's execution is a year away when the comet turns five.

141 — Hadrian ended his term as Roman emperor three years ago and the earliest known Sanskrit inscriptions in India are still nine years ahead.

218 — The seventh visit of Halley's sees the Baths of Caracalla of Rome finished in 217.

285 — The Roman Empire is divided in two and both Christianity and Buddhism are growing.

374 — The comet views a world in turmoil: Huns invade Europe and Russia and, in 378, Roman Emperor Valens is defeated and killed by the Visigoths.

431 — The comet turns 19. Attila the Hun dies in 433; Vandals sack Rome in 455 and the Mayans begin to rise in Mexico.

538 — The Western Roman Empire is long dead. Theodora, the wife of Byzantine Emperor Justinian I, is 22 years old.

827 — Halley's visits a plague-stricken Europe, which lost half of its population to the disease. Mohammed, the founder of Islam, is 37.

884 — In two years, Sussex, the last heathen kingdom in England, will be converted to Christianity. And Halley's is a teenager.

786 — Charlemagne, the future king of the Franks, is 18; he will begin his reign in 11 years. Arabic numerals are known in Baghdad.

837 — Charlemagne's kingdom is divided between his son and grandson. The birth of Charles III, future French king, is two years away.

918 — Halley's is sweet 18 and the Vikings are exploring the coast of Greenland.

989 — Europe is learning arithmetic from the Arabs and systematic musical notation is just developing.

1086 — The comet, on its 18th visit, witnesses William of Normandy defeat Harold II at Hastings and win the crown of England.

1145 — The Second Crusade is launched; it will fall in two years.

1222 — Genghis Khan is rampaging over Asia and the Magna Carta is seven years old.

1391 — The comet comes of age on its 21st visit. It sees Marco Polo return from China in 1295 and the first medical reference to spectacles in 1393.

1378 — The steel crossbow is the modern weapon of war. The Great Schism begins when two popes are named.

1498 — Leonardo da Vinci is just four years old and Christopher Columbus is five.

1581 — Henry VIII is recognized as the head of the Church of England. Michelangelo Buonarroti is 56 and the Inquisition burns in Portugal.

1607 — Just five visits ago, Jamestown becomes the first English settlement on the American mainland. William Shakespeare is 43.

1682 — LaSalle takes the Louisiana territory for France; Versailles becomes the French royal residence and Edmond Halley predicts the return of the comet.

1789 — The comet does return as predicted for its 27th visit and takes Halley's name. Composer George Handel dies. The Declaration of Independence is seven years ahead.

1833 — Writer Mark Twain and industrialist Andrew Carnegie are born. P.T. Barnum staves his famed career under the big top.

1918 — George V is king of England and Barney Oldfield drives his Benz at 133 miles per hour at Daytona Beach. World War I is four years over the horizon. Halley's next visit: 1986.

HOLY TOLEDO!

The Toledo Museum of Art, known for its glass collection

Plenty to offer south of border

Radio funnyman Dick Purtan once mockingly referred to Toledo as the "Baghdad of the Maumee." Others have snidely called Toledo a Cleveland without the frills. The pro of that Michigan won the war with Ohio, they say, is that our neighbors to the south had to take Toledo. When a friend learned of a planned trip to Toledo, she asked, "Are you going there on purpose?" And she used to live there.

Poor Toledo. And how unfair. This nearby city—it's an hour or so south on U.S.-23 or I-75 and I-75—has a lot to offer, from a top-notch art museum to an entertaining zoo to a rejuvenated waterfront.

For a day trip, an evening out or a weekend, Toledo offers a convenient, fun and affordable option. The newest showplace for Toledo is the Portside Festival Marketplace, two floors of gift shops and clothing stores combined with a canopy of food booths providing everything from salami to shrimp and satisfying just about every ethnic taste bud.

The most obvious comparison is to Detroit's larger Trapper's Alley, but its flavor seems to more resemble Queen's Quay overlooking Lake Ontario in Toronto.

Besides the fast food booths on the main floor, Portside boasts two fine restaurants with panoramic views of the Maumee. One, the Real Seafood Company, is a spinoff of the original eatery by the same name in Ann Arbor. The other, El Porto Restaurant, specializes in Italian cuisine.

Outside Portside, the Maumee River beckons with riverboats, paddlewheels and dinner cruises.

The Arawanna II riverboat takes scenic river boatrides from May 15 through October 15. Cost is $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 12. The Arawanna Princess offers lunch and dinner cruises daily with live entertainment. Trips last from 45 minutes to three hours and cost from $8 to $23. All cruises are by reservation only (call 419-893-2883).

The new Arawanna Queen plies the Maumee and Lake Erie waters with day trips and dinner-dance cruises.

Towering over the riverfront is the Toledo Edison building and the new (opened last August) Hotel Sottile, adjacent to the Portside.

The Hotel Sottile is part of a Parisian chain that offers fine service and dining (see story below) and features a fetching Romantic Rendezvous weekend. For $155, couples receive a handsomely decorated suite for two nights, two satin robes (one blue, one pink) for the couple to keep, a bottle of champagne, roses and yummy truffles. One morning's breakfast for two in the room is also included and coming soon, the price will also include $10 credit on spending in the hotel.

The hotel is a pleasant place with indoor access to Portside. A rather stark front desk gives way to a more comfortable lobby where, in the winter, you can watch ice skaters on a nearby rink.

There is also a Holiday Inn within easy walking distance of the Portside and a 400-room downtown Toledo Radisson is also in the works.

After your day by the riverfront, try Rusty's Jazz Cafe, 2202 Tedrow, with live entertainment and no cover charge nightly. Or cross the Maumee to Tony Packo's Cafe, an oft-mentioned favorite of Jamie Farr (Corporal Klinger) on television's "M*A*S*H." The Westgate Diner Theater, 3301 West Central, and Friar Tuck's Cabaret Theatre, 111 West Dudley, are also suggested.

Not far from the riverfront is the impressive Toledo Museum of Art, internationally known not only for its extensive glass collection, but also for its American and European paintings, sculpture, prints and photographs. Admission is free.

Take the I-75 exit at Bancroft Street or Collingwood Boulevard.

Toledo also has an outstanding zoo, open 362 days of the year. Twelve buildings on 33 acres house 2,260 specimens of 560 species. Among the highlights are the aquarium, large mammal collection, botanical gardens, reptiles, birds and a Children's Zoo. Admission is $2 for adults, 75 cents for children. Reach the zoo off the Anthony Wayne Trail (U.S. 24) or off Broadway.

Lots to eat at riverfront

There is no lack of choices for fine dining at the Hotel Sottile, Toledo's new riverfront hotel. For gourmet dining, lavish surroundings and the sounds of harp music, Cafe Royal beckons.

For slightly less formal, but still enjoyable dining, "bordering on gourmet," according to one hotel spokesperson, there is the Chez Colette.

The food is not flamboyant, but it is imaginative and extremely well prepared. The menu is designed to display fine examples of dining from various French regions.

The surroundings are not opulent but they are solid, tasteful and, with the soft strains of a three-person band drifting by, definitely conducive for a special dinner for two.

Waist high dividers in a dark stained wood break up the deceptively large eating area, allowing several fine views of the Maumee River without creating the feeling of a huge dining room. Beveled glass tops the dividers.

Strategically placed old-fashioned brass lamps on tulip stands and brass ceiling panels along with solid wooden floors provide a sturdy, traditional atmosphere.

Seated at the linen-covered marble tables, the attention turns to a menu that offers specials, a mixture of selections, and a few surprises.

Buffalo steak, for instance, was one of the specials on the night we visited there. The Coquilles St. Jacques Nantaise, an enterprising combination of scallops, lobster and salmon, was also appealing.

For the seafood lovers, a Friday night special, Marimate Diepoise, combined monkfish, scrod, scallops, mussels, clams, shrimp and a white wine sauce.

But we selected the Filet de Boeuf en Croûte, a so-tender-you-can't-believe-it-beef tenderloin in a crusty pastry dough covered with a flavorful sauce that made its presence known without detracting from the beef.

Good thing, too. The beef was so well prepared and tasty that it would have been a capital offense to have tampered with its flavor.

Other attractions on the menu include meal-in-themselves salads. We were especially intrigued by Salade Neptune, an ocean of goodies including scallops, shrimp, halibut, lobster and tuna.

A fair number of chicken, veal and lamb chop dishes finds places on the menu.

Each meal begins with a loaf of French bread delivered to your table. It's fun to rip into and sets the tone for your French meal.

Adjacent to the Chez Colette is the La Terrasse which offers a fine selection of meals at more modest prices. Dinner for two and appetizers at Chez Colette (a drink apiece, no wine, no dessert) cost $54 with tip. Dinner for two at La Terrasse (a drink apiece, a cheese tray, no dessert) cost about $30 with tip.

Other dining choices near Portside (all within easy walking distance) include:

The Boody House Restaurant, 192 North Summit Street—Continental dining on the first floor, gourmet dining on the second floor.

Ricardo's, One Seagate—Steaks, seafood, veal and lamb.

Greenstreets—141 North Summit Street at the Holiday Inn Riverview—Full menu.

Chez Colette, at the Hotel Sottile, Two Seagate, Toledo. Serves breakfast, lunch and dinner daily with a Sunday brunch. Reservations accepted. Visa, MasterCard and American Express. Liquor and wine list. (419) 291-1411.

Portside and the surrounding area offer a restaurant 'mecca'

MARCH ON

What's Going ON Music

THEATRE: "THE MISER," Meadow Brook Theatre, Oakland University, Rochester. Moliere's famous comedy masterpiece about a man obsessed with money-hoarding will open a four-week run at 8 p.m. tomorrow (February 27) at Meadow Brook Theatre. Tickets may be reserved by calling the box office at 377-3300. "MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING," Bonstelle Theatre, Cass and Hancock, Detroit. "Much ADO About Nothing," a Shakespearean "middle" comedy, opens at the Bonstelle Theatre at 8 p.m. March 7. The play features Shakespeare's brightest and wittiest lovers, Beatrice and Benedick, and some of his funniest comics. Tickets and information are available at the Wayne State University Theatre box office, 577-2960. "BLUES FOR MISTER CHARLIE," Lydia Mendelsohn Theatre, University of Michigan campus, Ann Arbor. Ann Arbor Civic Theatre will present James Baldwin's searing drama today through March 1. Performances are at 8 p.m. with Saturday matinees at 2 p.m. In his powerful drama, Baldwin exposes the racial tension of a small southern town in the mid-1960s. Tickets are on sale at the AACT Building, 338 South Main Street, or call 662-7783 for information. "GEORGE WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE," Henry Ford Museum Theatre, Dearborn. The comedy hit by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman opens the 1986 season at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre with performances Friday and Saturday evenings through March 22. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $6 each for reserved seats, available daily at the information desk in the entrance to Greenfield Village, at the Museum. Theater box office one hour prior to each performance or by calling the Reservations Center at 271-1620. A combination dinner and theater package, at $19.25 each person, also is available. "GHOSTS," Actors Alliance Theatre, 30800 Evergreen Road, Southfield. "Ghosts," a classic among chilling mysteries, will open March 7 at the Actors Alliance Theatre Company. Four performances of the production will be held each weekend through April 13. "Ghosts," by Henrik Ibsen, is a dark mystery that probes into the dark side of human nature as a ghost from the past determines the destiny of the young and innocents in a world where ideals have fallen. Performances are Fridays at 8:30 p.m., Saturdays at 5:30 and 9 p.m., and Sundays at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for Friday performances are $9; Saturday, $8 for the 5:30 p.m. twilight performance and $10 for the 9 p.m. performance; $8 for the 6:30 p.m. performance on Sunday. For reservations or more information, call the Actors Alliance Theatre Company, at 642-1326. The box office is open for over-the-counter ticket sales from 2 p.m. Friday through Sunday. "THE HEIRESS," The Village Players, corner of Hunter Boulevard and Chestnut Street, Birmingham. "The Heiress," a drama by Ruth Augusta Coetz, suggested by Henry James' novel, "Washington Square," will be presented by The Village Players (March 21, 22, 23, 28 and 29. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.; Sunday matinee is 2 p.m. Tickets are available at the door, but reservations are recommended. Adult tickets are $5; student tickets are $4. Reservations may be made by calling 644-2075.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: "ANNE FRANK IN THE WORLD: 1929-1942." The international exhibition "Anne Frank in the World: 1929-1942" is coming to the metropolitan Detroit area February 23 to April 16. The exhibition of more than 800 previously unpublished photographs and documents from Dutch and German archives and private collections provides a personal account of the life of Anne Frank as well as an historical account of events leading to the Nazi rise to power and of life in Germany and occupied Holland. The exhibition will be at the Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit through March 9; University of Michigan-Dearborn, March 14-21 and Detroit Historical Museum, March 28 and April 16. For further information, call 540-9337. "SIGNS OF LIFE," University of Michigan-Dearborn, 300 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. Werner Herzog's first feature film, an original mixture of Doc Quisote and case history, will be shown at 8 p.m. March 12. A wounded soldier walking out the war on an isolated Mediterranean island is slowly driven mad. After seeing an incredible vision of a valley filled with thousands of small whirling windmills, he stages a lyrical, insane revolt. Dan Greenberg, professor at Oakland Community College and a film critic for the Observer & Eccentric newspapers, will discuss the film. General admission is $3; students and senior citizens $2.50. For further information, call 645-3635.

Decisions in planning funeral

By CAROLINE CASE

The death of a loved one brings on a series of questions about funeral arrangements, decisions that will be easier if you take the time to plan ahead.

What sorts of decisions will you have to make?

Here is the basic procedure for making funeral arrangements, according to Jim Herrmann, of Herrmann Funeral Home in Brighton, and Don Keehn, of the Keehn Funeral Home, also in Brighton.

When a death occurs, the first step is to call the funeral director and arrange an appointment, Keehn said. Bring the clothing that you want used with you when you come in, including stockings and underwear.

Keehn and Herrman said they begin by taking information for the obituary and death certificate. Most of the information will be familiar to the survivors, but some, such as the deceased's Social Security number or mother's maiden name, may not be.

The funeral director will then discuss the type of funeral you want for the deceased. Is it to be burial or cremation? Where do you want the funeral held? Do you have a cemetery lot?

These are some of the questions the director will use to help plan the funeral. The director will also contact the minister or other officiant and arrange for a time.

If you do not already have gravesites, he or she can help arrange a trip to the cemetery to choose a site.

If you have opted for burial you will need to choose a casket and burial vault during this first session with the funeral director. Herrmann recommends that when choosing a casket, the family try to keep appropriateness in mind and match the casket to the deceased's personality.

Cost is another consideration. "Look in the price range that you feel comfortable you can handle," Herrmann said. He said he has funeral "packages" which include the casket, funeral director's services, use of the chapel and hearse, beginning at $1,800.

Keehn agreed that cost is important. "I often suggest they use their head instead of their heart," he said. "They know more than anybody else what they want."

His caskets begin in price at $180, he said. Caskets can be covered with cloth or in a variety of metals or woods. The quality of the material will determine the price. A steel casket will generally cost less than a copper one; an oak less than a mahogany.

A "sealer" casket, which acts as a barrier against water, may appeal to some.

"If people are worried about water getting in graves, they should consider a sealed casket and sealed vault," Herrmann said.

Such caskets are made of metal and have rubber gasket which seals hermetically.

Burial vaults or containers also run the gamut, from basic to elaborate, Herrmann said. A cement grave box will cost about $280-290, while sealing vaults range from asphalt-lined to copper at costs from $380-$1,550, he said.

Most cemeteries require at least a cement box.

Herrmann offers a cremation package for $800 that includes the cremation, the container, the funeral home's services and transportation to the crematorium. For an additional charge, the family can have a memorial service at the funeral chapel.

You can also decide to buy a casket and have a viewing of the body, then follow with cremation. Since the cost of cremation is generally lower than burial, choosing this type of funeral could save several hundred dollars.

Because planning for a funeral involves many decisions in a short period of time, Herrmann recommends doing at least some planning ahead.

"People don't like to face the fact that, 'Someday, I'm going to die,'" he said, "but an older couple in their retirement years should sit down and write these things out, or maybe some Sunday take a drive around the county and look at cemeteries."

It is also possible to "prearrange" your funeral or the funeral of a loved one.

Grave markers comfort living

By CAROLINE CASE

If you've ever wandered through a cemetery and been fascinated by the names, dates and sentiments carved into the monuments, you'll know why grave markers have long been the custom.

"It makes a permanent record of who's buried where, and it's something so that we're all remembered," said Jim Allen, owner of Allen Monuments in Northville. "It ties you back with your community."

According to John Krol, an owner of Brighton Memorials, the grave marker can serve another purpose for the survivors: "They want something where the design is comforting to them." He spoke about one family who chose a marker carved with an angel when their 4-year-old daughter died.

How do you go about choosing a marker that's appropriate? Krol and Allen say that the way to begin is by restrictions on the type or size of markers which can be placed on the grave.

Ken Filkins, sexton of Lakeview Cemetery in Howell, said that in the cemetery's new section, only tablet or flat markers are allowed.

Restrictions at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens in Novi are even tighter.

It ties you back with your community."

"Every marker in this cemetery is bronze, and they're all flush to the ground," said manager Gary Eppolito. That policy was instituted in 1928, when the cemetery opened.

He cites three reasons for the design: The flat stones make for ease in mowing and trimming around graves; are less attractive to vandals; and have psychological advantage over the upright stones. "That overwhelming feeling of depression is not a factor," he said, when you drive into the cemetery."

Once you've determined what your cemetery will allow, you'll find a variety of choices at the monument company. According to Krol, markers come in an array of materials, styles and even colors.

Krol listed three basic shapes of markers: "Flush," or flat to the ground; a available to new experiences."

Hutchinson emphasizes that the grieving process takes an average of one to two years, from whenever it begins. Though some people may deny their grief for months or even years after the death, when they are ready to begin grieving they must be allowed that same amount of time.

Hutchinson is almost evangelistic in her belief that the community must reach out to help the widow.

"You can't grieve alone," she said. "I recommend that those people who know a young widow, reach out, constantly."

Many people take a "Band-aid" approach to helping the widow, trying to make it better for her, Hutchinson said.

"We can't make it better, but we can make the road less lonely," she said.

Two groups in Livingston County offer support to the widow. Widows United, a Brighton support group, meets the third Wednesday of every month at the Mill Pond Manor in Brighton.

President Helen Stone said the group is primarily a social organization that allows widows to make friends. New widows are offered special support and literature on grieving.

Hutchinson leads a loss support group at the hospice every Wednesday, 10 a.m. to noon; it is open to all people who have lost a loved one.
