y postpones action on rezoning issue

By PHILIP JEROME managing editor

The controversy surrounding plans to develop an industrial subdivision immediately west of the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision will continue awhile longer. The Novi City Council voted 5-2 Monday (Nov. 3) to table consideration or a request to rezone the 49acre parcel from its current I-1 (light industrial) classification to an R-4 (single-family residential) designation.

Purpose of the delay? To give a special subcommittee composed of Meadowbrook Lake residents, the property owners and city officials an opportunity to work out an amendment to the I-1 zoning district that would make the light industrial classification more acceptable to abutting property

The tabling action was opposed by Council Members Nancy Covert and Arlen Schroeder.

Covert maintained that council's refusal to act on the rezoning request put the Meadowbrook Lake residents in a "Catch 22" situation.

'When we say we won't rezone it for residential use, we're putting these residents in the position of having to work out the best compromise possible for themselves," she charged. "I have a problem with that.' Schroeder opposed the motion to table action on the rezoning request on the grounds that he believed the proposed single-family classification should be approved. "If I were living in one of those houses over there (abutting the proposed industrial subdivision), I would look at this (proposed industrial subdivision) exactly as they're looking at it," he said. "If an industrial subdivision were proposed next to my neighborhood, my neighbors would be furious, too." At issue is a proposal to develop a 25-lot industrial subdivision on a 49acre parcel on the north side of Nine Mile. The parcel lies between the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision on the east and the C&O railroad tracks on the west.

Meadowbrook Lake residents are opposed to having industrial development immediately adjacent to their homes and have suggested that the property be rezoned to a residential classification, noting land use development. Although the Novi Planning Commission had already recommended tentative preliminary plat approval for the industrial subdivision, the city council asked the commission to consider rezoning the property to that a residential designation is proposed on the city's master plan for the residential classification due to the potentially adverse impact on a residential subdivision.

Both the planning commission and Planning Consultant Brandon Rogers have advised the council that the light industrial classification should be retained.

The council's decision to table consideration of the rezoning request came on the recommendation or Rogers who said he is working with a special subcommittee that

Specifically, voters turned down the proposal by a margin of 3,220 to

As a result, the citizens of Novi will continue to elect someone to serve as mayor every other year. The next mayoral election is slated for November 1987.

The proposed charter amendment called for the city council to elect one of its own members to serve as mayor for a two-year term. Under terms of the proposal, the general public would elect seven city council members, who in turn would select one of their own members to serve a two-year term as mayor Results rolled in slowly during Tuesday's general election.

In fact, Novi City Clerk Geraldine Stipp reported that not one of the city's 10 precincts had reported results as late as 10 p.m. - approximately the same time that Republican William Lucas was conceding victory in the gubernatorial race to incumbent Democrat James Blanchard.

In other races, Novi voters:

☐ Backed William Broomfield's bid for re-election to his 18th District seat in the U.S. Congress. Broomfield received 4.441 votes to 1.883 for Democratic challenger Gary Kohut.

☐ Gave Republican Frank Brock a narrow 3,350 to 3,217 edge over Democratic incumbent Jack Faxon

Novi voters have rejected a pro- in the race for the 15th District seat ☐ Endorsed Willis Bullard's bid for re-election to the 60th District seat in the State House of Representatives. Bullard received 4,128 votes while Democratic challenger Marshall Spinner received 2,000 votes.

☐ Gave Republican incumbent John Calandro a vote of support in his bid to win re-election to the 24th District seat on the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. Calandro received 4,086 votes, while Democrat Leo Foley was named on 2,022 ballots.

The vote totals are unofficial and represent only the Novi portion of the overall districts.

Some 7,201 of Novi-s 17,705 registered voters showed up at the polls - a voter turnout of approx imately 41 percent.

In Novi, voter rejection of the proposed charter amendment culminates a process which began after the November 1985 mayoral race in which current Mayor Patricia Karevich unseated former Mayor Robert Schmid.

Proponents of the charter proposal argued that having the mayor elected by the city council would, in effect, put the city in the same position as school boards throughout the

Tougher standards proposed to protect trees

By PHILIP JEROME managing editor

When there's an "oops" at his appliance store, Ollie Fretter has an 'oops'' sale.

When a developer in Novi has an "oops" involving the restrictions of the city's Woodlands Protection Ordinance, City Council Member Edward Leininger believes there also should be an "cops" sale.

But instead of cutting prices, Leininger would like to double the fine for either intentional or unintentional removal of protected

"We've had an incident in the city

just recently where some trees were removed 'by accident,' " said Leininger, referring to property adjacent to the Meadowbrook Glens subdivision.

"It's too easy for the fellows driving these machines to get too close to these trees and nick them enough to effectively destroy them," he

"There's an 'oops' here and an 'oops' there, and pretty soon you have a lot fewer trees than you thought you were getting. In case of an 'oops,' we should have some sort of double indemnity clause in the ordinance," maintained the council

Leininger made his comments during a review of proposed amendments to the Woodlands Protection at the Nov. 3 city council meeting.

Although the council did not add an "oops" clause as recommended by Leininger, it did grant concensus approval for the proposed amendments to be set for public hearing in order to add them to the ordinance. Ernest Aruffo, chairman of the Woodlands Implementation Committee, told council that the committee has held 15 sessions to attempt to eliminate the loopholes in the existing Woodlands Ordinance.

"Our committee has looked at a lot of hypothetical situations and we've also take a lot of field trips to review actual conditions," said Aruffo. "I think we've finally got it (Woodlands Ordinance) in the condition you wanted it to be in when it was first adopted."

Aruffo also noted that the committee has received considersable citizen input. "It's remarkable the interest people have in preserving our woods ... particularly when they hear the wood cutter at work next to their property," observed Aruffo.

The committee has proposed a total of 10 amendments to the Woodlands Ordinance. Those proposed amendment include:

☐ Historic/Specimen Trees: The amendment provides procedures and critera for designating historic and specimen trees.

□ No Tree Affidavit: The ordinance has been amended slightly to change the phrase "no tree verification" to "no tree affidavit."

☐ Forest Management Use Permits: The proposal has been added to require a Forest Management Use Permit for professional forestry work.

☐ Emergency Actions: The amendment provides an exception for emergency actions to protect public health or safety, or to prevent damage to property. Replacement trees may be required when the tree damages exceed that necessitated by the emergency situation.

☐ Use Permit Applications: Proposed are a number of changes relative to the information that must be provided with a use permit application site plan. One section has been revised to clarify the manner of noting tree locations on the site plan. Another section has been revised to indicate that permanent protection of remaining trees may be required. Another section requires that utilities be depicted on they are today. Why the recent interest in addressing these concerns?

YOUNGBERG: An interesting thing has happened here. Four years ago I could see a need for commanication with students. We formed SAC Student Advisory Council). To my happy surprise, it was received eagerly by students at that time. We had a volunteer membership in SAC across all grades of about 240 students. They wanted to have direct contact with me. There were no questions asked, no screening process. If they wanted to join, they simply had to talk to me and have their name ad ded to the list. This organization has continued through the years. Cluster housing merits considered by planners

managing editor

What looks like condominiums but is really single-family housing? The answer is "cluster housing." And it looks like the so-called 'cluster option" may play an increasingly important part in Novi's residential construction picture in the years to come. The cluster housing option was the subject of discussion at a joint meeting of the Novi City Council and Novi Planning Board last week after Council Member Edward Leininger said he has received numerous citizen inquiries about the "condominiums" being constructed on the southwest corner of Nine Mile mayor of Detroit.

Us gun-toting, radical. racist suburbanites are willing to keep ourselves outside the City of Detroit boundaries if the Mayor of Detroit is willing to keep his unwanted prisoners inside the City of Detroit. We'll even match the mayor 5-1.

That's right. For every gun-toting suburbanite Mayor Coleman Young, his city officials, or police force discover causing problems in Detroit, we'll accept five convicted prisoners for any of our three prisons.

What we won't accept, no matter how vocal the mayor of Detroit gets in his pleadings, are any more of Detroit's unwanted prisons or juvenile detention

This area has already suffered the slings and arrows from Detroit. Many of western Wayne County's current residents once made their homes in Detroit. Some of us have family still living in the city. No one forced us to move out here. We did it of our own free will, after careful thought and after saving our pennies.

That doesn't mean we don't sympathize with Detroit. No matter how far away from Detroit's borders we move, we still realize that Detroit's image is our image. We realize that we depend on Detroit for some very basic needs — water, sewer and identity. But we do not take these items from the city. We pay for them.

Apparently, however, Detroit is working with a different currency than the suburbs. It does not have to build two regional prisons within its borders while it owns land in Northville Township. It thinks, or at least the mayor publicly states, that he can consider building his prisons on land the city owns in the suburbs.

It can take land it currently owns, where the closed Wayne County Child Development Center now sits, and construct a juvenile detention facility. Of course, suburban taxpayers will not have the opportunity to vote on the measure. After all, if Detroit owns the land, Detroit can build on the property, providing it gets approval from the planning commissions of the involved com-

But where is the tradeoff. What do the communities involved receive. Apparently, not much.

The suburban communities such as Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Novi have paid their dues to the city. We continue to pay them in water and sewer charges. We go to Detroit for culture and entertainment, but no one is holding a gun to our heads and forcing us to visit Detroit. And no one should force us to pledge allegiance to the city.

I don't understand what the mayor of Detroit hopes to accomplish by baiting the suburbs. It appears he is driving suburban dollars and developers further from Detroit, when he should, as the suburbs are doing, try to lure them back to their roots. Perhaps some day Mr. Young will realize that you can catch more flies with honey, than with a fly swatter. Hopefully, that will happen before the suburbs swat back.

Already Canton Township has served notice that it wants no part of the City of Detroit Wastewater Treatment Plant or its excessive charges. Canton, Northville and Plymouth townships don't even want to participate in the county-lauded North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley

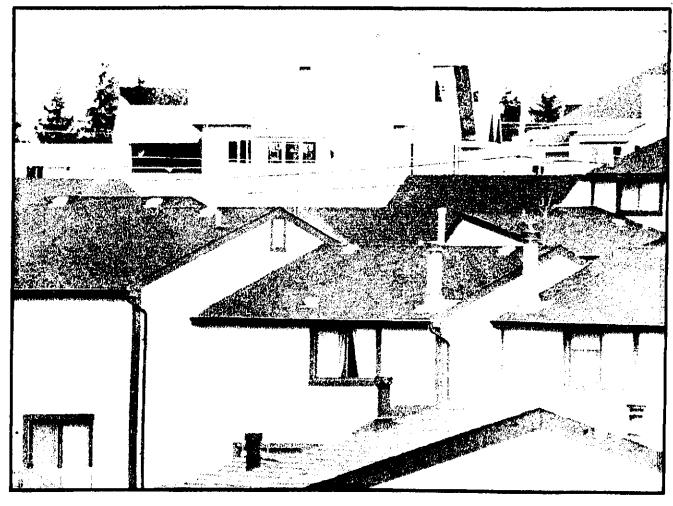

One of the main concerns of the three townships is that there are no guarantees they will not be charged to renovate and update the City of Detroit plant.

Already Northville Township has had to contend with the City of Detroit fighting the township's attempt to put city land lying vacant going on the township taxrolls. In fact, Detroit tried to get an injunction before the land was even taxed. That doesn't seem to be a viable way to win friends and influence people.

What we would like to see is an attempt by Detroit and the suburban communities to cooperate, to talk to one another in person, rather than through the media or through threats, and try to iron out their differences. Neither area can exist without the other, but if current efforts continue, they may have to try.

Hello There!

Maybury looks better — now

It's Saturday. My day off.
The day breaks cold and damp. couldn't be happier.

"Bummer," I say, trying to sound like I mean it. "Look at that rain. Looks like we can forget about doing any lawn work today.''

"We're going to clean the fence by the park," she said as if she hadn't even heard me.

"Didn't we do that last week?" I asked. "We cleaned our side of the fence last week. This week we're going to clean the other side of the fence . . . the park side of the fence."

"You've got to be kidding," I replied. "You mean we're really going to clean Maybury State Park."

"That's right," she said firmly. "It looks like a jungle over there. It needs to be cleaned."

"But that's the way it's supposed to look," I countered. "It's a wildlife preserve. All that brush makes nice winter houses for your little bunny buddies.

"Next thing I know you'll want to landscape back there. Put in a shed for a lawnmower so we can hop the fence and keep the grass trimmed nice and low. What are we going to do if the neighbors see us? Tell them we're cleaning the park? If this gets out, we'll be the laughing stock of the neighborhood. People will say -'there go the Jeromes. They're the ones trying to clean

"You about ready to go?" she asked, interrupting my monologue in mid-sentence.

"I'll be right with you, my pet," I grumbled, resigned to the fact I was going to have to clean the park. "Maybe we could start on Kensington after we finish with Maybury."

Hurt, alone, unwanted. They are the victims of tragic accidents or intentional cruelty. Unfortunately the Michigan Humane Society handles scores of these sad cases daily, receiving hundreds of calls reporting animals in distress. Our rescue vans are on the road thirteen hours a day, seven days a week. But our goal is around-the-clock vigilance. These rescue efforts and medical attention take money. More than we have. Won't you please help these underdogs? They deserve a fighting chance.

In 1985, the Highlanders handed South Lyon its only loss of the season, denying the Lions a spot in the playoffs. And this year the Highlanders did it again - to Novi. Howell fell two points shy of beating Lansing Everett last Friday, knocking Novi out of the state playoff picture.

Prior to last weekend's action. Novi sat in sixth place in Region Two of the Class A playoffs. The way Wildcat Coach John Osborne had it figured, Novi had to win its final game (against Northville) and two of the teams ranked higher than Novi in the playoff rankings would have to lose in order for his squad to move up into the top four and qualify for the playoffs.

The Wildcats (8-1 overall) did their part, nipping Northville 12-7 in the regular season finale. And two of the teams ahead of Novi also did their part in the scenario by losing. Number two Portage Central dropped a 15-14

> "We looked at it and found that Everett came from eighth place up to fourth to edge us out," lamented Osborne. "We figured beforehand that we needed two or possibly three of the teams in the running to lose their last games, but we didn't look back in the rankings as fars as Everett.

Everett (7-2) picked up the fourth and final spot in the region. Novi was close behind in fifth place. Other teams making it in the region were Ann Arbor Pioneer (8-1 with a 51-6 win over Ann Arbor Huron). Every no doubt the Wildcats would be preparing for their first team earns eight bonus points each time one of the teams it has beaten manages to beat somebody else. Unfortunately, the majority of Novi's opponents didn't win very much this season. KVC foes like Milford, Lakeland and South Lyon all combined for just five wins. Non-league opponents like Walled Lake Western and Northville combined for just six victories.

Everett and Ypsilanti didn't win as many games, but they played much tougher schedules and beat quite a few teams with good records. Novi's only real pointgetter of any consequence was the win over Howeli. "It's almost like parity has come to high school football this year," Osborne said. "The closeness of all the

What if the Wildcats hadn't turned Novi hadn't been caught for a pair of roughing the round playoff opponent this very week if the team hadn't self-destructed against Lake Orion.

"What happened after we lost the Lake Orion game is that we lost control of our own fate." Osborne observed. "We were in the position where we had to get help from other teams and that's not a good position to be in." Sadly, the bottom line is that Novi has played its last game of the season. Senior standouts and fixtures in the starting line-up like quarterback Jest Tanderys, tailback Joel Finzel, and linebacker Bill Yankowski will never again wear the Wildcat fotball gear. But '86 brought Novi its second KVC football championship and that's what Wildcat fans will remember they do it right, somebody should get freed up — it was Joe (Miskovich)."

Wildcats hang tough to thwart Northville, 12-7

Novi took advantage of a fumbled punt just before the half to score the game's first points, and added the second touchdown to take a 12-0 lead early in the third quarter after a poor Northville punt gave them good field position. The Mustangs scored the final points after a long drive midway through the fourth quarter.

second heroics.

"It was probably our best game," Schumacher said. "I was extremely pleased with the way the kids played, but we just couldn't finish it off. Our players are extremely disappointed because they honestly felt they could win the ball game — it was very heartbreaking."

It all set the stage for the final-

The first quarter went according to plans with Novi moving the ball offensively and stopping Novi cold on defense. But the 'Cats hurt themselves with penalties and mistakes, and the Mustangs held on.

"During that span we sort of got iulled to sleep," Osborne said. "Then all of the sudden things got turned around and the longer the game went on, the more confident they got."

Northville put together a 66-yard drive in the second quarter, with the aid of a roughing the kicker call against Novi. With a first and goal at the 14, Mustang quarterback Scott Stevens tossed an interception to Neil Garry in the end zone. Ironically, it was Garry who was flagged for the roughing penalty that kept the drive alive.

With time running out in the half, Novi got a big break and capitalized. Matt Hubert fumbled a Wildcat punt and Jason Korte pounced on the loose ball at the Northville 43 with less than two minutes remaining. On fourth down, Novi quarterback Jeff Tanderys hit Scott Wladishkin with a clutch 27-yard pass that moved the ball to the 16 with 21 seconds left. Tanderys then connected to flanker Brian Schram on the next play for the T.D.

"We knew when (Novi) gets in close, they like to go to Schram because he has good height and jumping ability," Schumacher said.

"I'm convinced we had it defensed very well, he was double-teamed and just made a nice play."

Mike McGuffin's point-after attempt was blocked by Jeff Hamilton and the half ended at 6-0.

Novi scored again in the third quarter after a high snap led to a 17-yard Mustang punt and gave the Wildcats the ball on the Northville 36. Randy Parker snared a 20-yard pass from Tanderys on a third down play and tight end Bill Yankowski caught the touchdown pass over the middle from 13 yards out. Again, the quick Novi strike ended on a sour note as the two-point conversion attempt failed.

The Mustang scoring drive started at their own 25 and was kept alive by a pass interference penalty against the Wildcats. With just less than seven minutes left in the game, Sylvestre bolted into the end zone untouched on a 10-yard quarterback bootleg, then kicked the extra point to narrow the gap to 12-7.

The Northville defense held Novi in check down the stretch and gave the offense possession two more times. With 1:41 left on the clock, the Mustangs started at their own 25 and drove down the field.

Wildcat defender Matt Kamish dropped a potential game-ending interception early in the drive. And Sylvestre kept the drive alive with three clutch pass completions. On fourth-and-11 at the 42, he hit Mike Yard for 30 yards down to the Novi 28. On the next play, Greg Kozler caught a 16-yard sideline pass moving it down to the 12 with 40 seconds left. Hubert then grabbed the third throw, eluded a couple of tacklers and was upended by Wildcat defensive back Dave Senkbeil just two yards from victory.

"He was upset about the dropped punt and tried everything humanly possible to score the winning touchdown," Schumacher said about Hubert. "I give the kid a lot of credit."

credit."

After an incomplete pass that stopped the clock, Miskovich sacked Sylvestre to end the game.

"Northville had a great night," Osborne said. "To their credit, after we had them 12-0, they never quit. Their defense shut us down and played very well. (Mustang linebacker) Tony Briningstool is an exceptional player.

Mustang runner Mike Yard overshadowed Novi's 1,000-yard rusher Joel Finzel by gaining 77 yards in 19 carries. Finzel was held below 100 yards for only the second time this season with 61 yards on 23 carries.

Hansen reflects on back-to-back KVC net titles

Looking back, Jim Hansen is very proud of his team's two consecutive Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) titles.

The coach of the Novi Wildcat tennis team is hardpressed, however, to put one ahead of the other. But Hansen readily admits it's the type of dilema he doesn't mind facing.

So far, in nearly one and a third seasons of league play, Hansen stands head and shoulders above his Wildcat coaching counterparts with two KVC titles. The only other coach with a title is football coach John Osborne.

"I'm happy for both teams," he said. "This one (1986) had only four players who had a full year of varsity tennis experience — the other six came from the J.V's and did an excellent job. We weren't the favorites like we were last season. A year ago (1985), we were expected to win, but sometimes it's very hard to get the first one."

Although it's not a contest between coaches, Hansen's success is an indication of how rarely two KVC championships come along. As any coach will admit, two in a row is very difficult.

Novi's 8-3 overall record and 7-2 league mark for the season are very impressive, but Hansen believed the team was capable of turning out wins like that.

"It's an excellent record, but I thought heading in that we had a chance to do well," he said. "The whole season came down to a win over Milford in a dual meet and finishing first in the KVC Meet. Everybodyhit when they had to hit, and we somehow managed to slip by Milford and win (the KVC title)."

Singles players Judy Piotrowicz, Laura Maloney and Kathy Belor were all instrumental in the successful season, especially when tournament time rolled around. Piotrowicz had a fine 10-2 mark against league opponents at second singles and then finished second at second singles in the KVC Meet. For the last two years, the junior has a combined record of 25-7, a pretty high winning percentage.

"Judy played well for us, but I was counting on her," Hansen said. "She was very consistent and generally a sure bet to help us score points."

Maloney (8-4 mark in KVC) and Belor (7-6) didn't have as impressive numbers, but both peaked at the end of the season to provide some key wins in the drive for the title

"They both played their best at the end of the year and if it wasn't for either one's efforts, we couldn't have won the title," Hansen pointed out.

The top doubles team of Michele Benoit and Sandy Bragg were without a doubt the league's top team. They grabbed the KVC title at first doubles, went undefeated in league play (11-0) and were the perennial top seed.

"They were one of the best doubles teams in the KVC that I've seen in my three years as coach," Hansen said.
The second doubles squad of Kim Dasher and Lisa

Latham were also among the KVC elite and proved it in the league championships. In three sets they upended Milford's top-seeded duo to grab the Wildcats' second flight title. Dasher was 12-0 against KVC opponents and Latham, slowed by injuries much of the campaign, was

"Kim had three different partners because of Lisa's injuries and she blended well with all of them," Hansen

Perhaps the biggest surprise was the play of Angel Ianni and Michelle Marckwardt at third doubles. Up until the end of the regular season, these two were rotated in every other meet with Renee Lindow and Lisa Kramer, but came on full time in post season play and staged two key upsets.

"We had a great year because all the players seemed to rise to the occasion when the pressure was really on," Hansen said.
