The Costella-Novi light industrial project, which has been fiercely opposed by what may eventually be its neighboring residents, was denied a front footage variance July 7 by the Novi Zoning Board of Appeals

Brent Canup, chairman of the ZBA, said the board's decision was cut and dry, and that the project did not legally qualify for a variance. "In order for us to grant a variance

The Costella project is a 30,000 square foot light industrial warehousing complex, proposed to be located at the foot of Trans-X Drive. Residents of the neighboring Meadowbrook Glens subdivision have voiced opposition to the project claiming the industrial use would harm their community. The planning commission has refused to consider the project further until developers of the project can specify who would be the tenants of the complex.

City ordinance requires a 100-foot front setback on all light industrial projects. The Costella plan called for a 60-foot front setback, and thus, needed a ZBA variance. Lee Mamola, architect for the project, said his client would decide the project's next step sometime this week. Mamola said they may possibly appeal the ZBA's decision, and that a redesign of the project is not being considered at this time. "By law, we cannot grant a variance simply because someone

"The competition becomes very keen, when you have so many applicants and so few places to fill," Piwko said.

The district revised and expanded its application form this year, in time for the rush of requests which comes each spring, he said. "We had 1,000 printed up, (and) we're getting ready for a new batch." he said.

Quinn noted the city's traffic situation is a major issue but said "unfortunately there is not a lot the city can do about it. One of my campaign pledges is to actively pursue cooperation between Novi and the surrounding cities, state and county. I've been happy to see them start that," he said.

Quinn said he believes he has the "personal wherewithal to run the council with a firmer hand." He said he would like to make the proceedings more understandable to the audience and to "keep the meetings a little shorter". Workers earn wages during summer heat

Early this week people throughout Northville and Novi and across southeast Michigan were suffering through — and complaining about — high humidity and temperatures which were closing in on 100

Many of those people were able to seek refuge from the heat at work, in the comfort of air conditioning or a strong fan, and only braved the weather in between the office and the car. But not everyone had it so good. For some, hot and humid weather is more than an inconvenience — it's almost a reason to call in sick. In several different places around the area people work in especially hot jobs that become tougher to work with each increase in the mercury.

In garages, at construction sites, in front of stoves -Novi and Northville offer plenty of places to work for anyone who dislikes cool temperatures.

Novi conntinues to pursue the regional 'Super Sewer' plan as the the council. most cost effective and quickest route to expanded sewage capacity for the city.

The city council heard a report on the status of the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System, or Super Sewer, at its July 20 meeting. City Manager Edward Kriewall told the council the project has run into some delays from Wayne County. Novi is rapidly approaching a time when sewer taps will no longer be available. The city manager and mayor have gone on record as saying the search for additional sewage capacity is the number one priority with the city. "If everything on the books today is built, we won't have enough taps," Mayor Patricia Karevich said

The Super Sewer project would bring together 10 communities in a cost-sharing program to provide additional services to western Wayne and Oakland county communities suffering from burgeoning populations and insufficient capacities for sewers to serve them. The preliminary price tag on the newest Super Sewer project is $27.8 million. Original cost apportionment plans showed Novi responsi-

"Wayne County had been hopeful that the three townships would swing back to the Super Sewer Program," Kriewall told the council. "However, recently Ypsilanti has worked this out with the DNR and apparetnly the program to service the three townships from Ypsilanti is back on track. Wayne County can apparently now move ahead on the down scaled Super Sewer. In other words, there has been some Wayne County politicking going on," he Kriewall told the council Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara had said he prefered to have Wayne County communities stay in the fold. "It was his one last attempt as the new executive to do that - it has not come about," Kriewall said.

Resident involvement should begin earlier

The city is currently facing a zoning situation not covered by any specific ordinances. City planners, in their pursuit of an updated master plan, have begun to finalize zoning proposals for some major sections of land in the city.

Areas such as the Grand River West corridor and Section 10, have been under study by the city's planning commission and planning consultant for some time. Recently Rogers made recommendations on future land use zoning for Section 10. His plan for the Grand River corridor went before the city council for zoning and master plan changes some

In both these instances, current residents of the land under consideration, have disagreed with the city's proposed changes. In the Grand River West corridor, property and business owners formed a coalition and hired a professional land planner to present the council with an alternative zoning plan. Likewise in Section 10, the land owners have joined with a noted developer to give the city another view of possible op-

Both groups are to be commended for presenting well prepared and well executed proposals to the city. Novi has a fine history of citizen participation in all governmental decisions. Zoning and master plan changes should not be done in a vacuum, and the city ordinances require public hearings on all such matters for just such a reason.

Novi City Council members were

Section 10 land owners took their cues from surrounding property owners in Section 11 who met with developers and worked out a plan long before the city had established a goal for the

It is unfortunate that members of the West Grand River Landowners Association waited until the planning commission had recommended specific master plan changes be made by the city council, before forming their group and hiring their outside planners. West Grand River residents did speak during the planning commission public hearing on the proposed changes, but waited to present a formal 'second option' proposal until the matter made it to the Time has been lost and more time will be lost as that proposal is studied and debated by the planning commission for a recommendation back to the council for action.

Citizen involvement in such critical areas as master plan and zoning changes is needed and encouraged. When that involvement is thoroughly researched and well executed the results for the city and the residents are far better than when either group works alone or against the other. However, that involvement should come as the city begins its planning procedures, not after to avoid costly and potentially damaging time delays.

The movie is called 'Robocop," and it takes place in the greater Detroit area at some undetermined future time. Apparently Detroit has somehow annexed all of Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties, and the area is now one enormous city. And it's not a nice place to be.

Crime is much worse than it is presently. It's bad throughout the area, but worst in what the movie calls "old Detroit." presumably today's city proper. The plot of the movie concerns a a new half-human, half-robot police officer who singlehandedly takes on the city's bad guys, and ends up leaving most of them full of holes and lying in a puddle of blood.

The movie tries to be more than a brainless shootem-up, however; it also tries to work as a brainless offbeat comedy. For the most part, critics have loved the film. They say it's a clever commentary on America's fascination with violence, or a fun action movie, or a tongue-in-cheek warning about where our society is

Don't believe it. This movie is none of those things. It's a violent, destructive film that uses humanity's worst instincts to capitalize on Detroit's problems. And it knows what it's doing.

I happened to see "Robocop" at a theater up in Bloomfield Township. The audience was large, and a very mixed group; apparently reviews and advertising had convinced a lot of people that here was some fun for Most everyone there loved Robocop. The first big laugh came when a robot shot a man in dozens of different places — because of a malfunction. Chuckle, chuckle. As the movie wore on, the deaths seemed to get more and more violent, and the audience appreciation grew more and more vocal.

'This movie was not filmed in Detroit. If the filmmakers had spent any time here, I'm sure they would have thought twice about magnifying, glorifying, and romanticizing the violence in this area.'

By the closing few minutes of "Robocop," we were all so numbed that the filmmakers had to resort to showing us a man's skin melting away because of a toxic chemical for its shock — and comedy — value.

Yay, Robocop. Fight fire with fire. That's the only way to win. It's the same kind of warped thinking that once led a candidate for a county office to earnestly tell me, "If the death penalty can stop one person from being killed, then I believe that it's worth it.'

This movie was not filmed in Detroit. If the filmmakers had spent any time here, I'm sure they would have thought twice about magnifying, glorifying, and romanticizing the violence in this area.

That's all this movie does. It doesn't even laugh at the violence; it laughs with it. And the audience laughs

I know, I know, my bleeding heart is showing. (No pun intended.) I shouldn't take it so seriously - it's only a movie. Right. But it's a movie about our community, no matter how fictionalized or how far removed in time. That's why it hits so close to home: it is home.

Do yourself a favor. Skip this movie. I'm not so naive as to believe that the presence or absence of "Robocop" will make any kind of practical difference. But we don't need to be entertained by a picture of a terrible future for our town, and we certainly don't need to help anyone profit from it.

More than at any other time, Novi needs positive mayoral leadership and an uncompromising vision for its growth that considers homeowners interests first.

Yes, I'm speaking of controlled managed growth that deals with infrastructure questions (roads and sewers) upfront before a single hole is dug or brick is laid. .

Growth that can afford itself in terms of needed police, fire protection and parkland amenities. . Growth that maintains a separation between residential and non-residential uses. . Growth that doesn't cost taxpayers so much that they consider mov-

Growth that preserves our lowprofile environment while protecting our trees, wetlands and water quali

Growth that encourages a partnership between homeowners and small businessmen who recognize that a liveable and affordable community benefits business and residents

In sum, I'm running for Mayor because of my long-term committment to represent Novi homeowners' desire for a quality community. Your message has been loud and clear: don't sacrifice liveability for uncontrolled development in the name of progress. Plan for the future now to ensure that we obtain our goals and vision for Novi.

When you buy a 1986 or 1987 Subaru you can choose up to *1500 cash back * or 3.9% A.P.R. financing. * * So if getting that much cash back wasn't enough to get you into a Subaru showroom, 3.9% financing should be. Just be sure and visit your Subaru dealer before August 3. After that, all you'll have are the usual reasons to buy a Subaru. Like durability, reliability, performance and quality.

CITY OF NOVI ADVERTISEMENT FOR A PUBLIC HEARING AND AVAILABILITY OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

The City of Novi is calling a Public Hearing at 3:00 PM, EDT, on Tuesday, August 4,1987, at the Novi Public Library, 45245 West Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan.

The purpose of this Public Hearing is to provide the opportunity for a public discussion of the alternative treatments under consideration for the proposed improvements of 13 Mile Road between Meadowbrook Road and Haggerty Road. The proposed project is to reconstruct the existing narrow gravel roadway to provide a continuous two lane pavement constructed of hard surface, wider lane width, adequate shoulders, better drainage, improved vertical alignment, construction of an eight foot wide non-motorized vehicle safety path, and to realign and enlarge the intersection at Thirteen Mile and Haggerty Road. Additional right of way and grading easements will be acquired to construct the project. The safety path on the south side of the road is proposed in conjunction with the Parks and Recreation Master Plan.

As required by Federal Regulations, an Environmental Assessment (EA) has been prepared evaluating the social, economic and environmental aspects of the project. The Environmental Assessment demonstrates that implementation of the proposed action will not have a significant impact on the quality of the human environment. Copies of the Environmental Assessment are available for public inspection or may be obtained at the office of the City Clerk, 45225 West ^ren Mile Road, Novi, Michigan.

This public hearing is called in accordance with the most current Federal, State, and Local Public involvement/Public Hearing Procedures. A tentative schedule for the reconstruction of this project and information concerning the right of way acquisition and the relocation assistance program will be provided at the Public Hearing. This Public Hearing is held to hear testimony of interested citizens regarding the economic, social and environmental impacts of the proposed alternatives in the area. Written statements and other exhibits in place of, or in addition to, oral statements at the Public Hearing as well as requests for copies of the Environmental Assessment and/or the responses to the testimony received may be submitted to Geraldine Stipp, City Clerk, 45225 West Ten Mile Road, Novi, Michigan, 48050, at any time up to ten days after the Public Hearing.

Swallow pursues Olympic dreams the 20-year-old Northville ice dancer is still chasing his ultimate dream of a berth in the Olympics.

Swallow and partner Jodie Balogh of Livonia have been together on the ice over five years now, but are relatively young compared with the rest of the best the United States has to offer in this type of competition. The two are former National Junior Champions who are now competing at the senior or Olympic level, and the opposition is as stiff as it's ever been.

The summer of 1987 promises to be one of the busiest and most important Swallow and Balogh have ever experienced. Their goal of making the

For all of you wondering about Jerod Swallow, U.S. Olympic team by 1992 could very well hinge on their performances this summer.

For the third straight year, Swallow iwas invited and is currently competing with Balogh at the U.S. National Olympic Festival, held this year in North Carolina. The festival features all the summer events normally held in the Olympics and two winter sports - hockey and figure skating. It's designed to give the nation's finest amateur athletes a chance to compete together as they would in the Olympics.

Swallow and Balogh have also been invited to . Lake Placid, N.Y., to compete in a summer ice dancing competition beginning in early August.

Immediately following that, it's on to the National Collegiate Championships in Colorado Springs for three weeks beginning Aug. 15.

PONY DIVISION

"This is one of our busiest summers ever," Swallow said. "Spring is usually our lightest time of the season, we usually take two or three weeks off then, but now it's picking up again. At this level, you can't afford to relax much because everybody is so good."

The Olympic Festival has venues in two areas -Raleigh-Durham and Greensboro. The competition will be televised by ESPN and if all goes well, he may get a bit of national exposure.

Road needs urgent; funding sought

Road repairs and improvements urgently needed in all communities could be accomplished with a proposal set forth by the Board of Oakland County Road Commissioners.

"This proposal is designed to take care of all the needs which officials of local units of government countywide identified a year ago," said Road Commission Chairman Fred D. Houghten.

"Included are some measures which have gained support of a variety of interested groups — including local, county and state officials — during the year we have been discussing alternatives," he said.

"Ours is a program comprehensive enough to do the job," said Houghten.

The Road Commission Chairman said, "It would be misleading the public to pretend that half a loaf will be good enough. The public wants good roads, not just more patches on top of patches."

"The needs during the next ten years total $740 million more than can be projected from current funding sources, and our proposal would yield about $74.8 million per year," said Houghten.

The funds would be shared between county roads and municipal (city and village) streets. Estimates are that county roads would receive $59.1 million annually and municipalities would share $15.7 million.

"About $46 million annually, or 61 percent, would come from improvements in state funding. The other $28.8 million annually, or 39 percent, would result from funding actions within the county," he said.

"For the most of the county-level actions to occur, state enabling legislation is needed first. We hope local and county governments and the general public will actively support this comprehensive program to achieve that," said Houghten.

Houghten said, "We present this proposal in an attempt to help. Under current circumstances, we have no power to raise funds for roads although we are expected to provide services on the roads.

"We believe the state legislature has a duty to show some sensitivity to our plight. The state counts on the county road system to serve job-creating new economic development. Oakland County is the leading attractor of development, but is not being provided the state funds for roads."

PROPOSAL

Remove the existing cap on the statecollected motor vehicle fuel tax and, if necessary, adjust the base to generate two cents additional per gallon each vear for three years.

• Distribute one-half of the proceeds as currently (39.1 percent to state highways, 39.1 percent to county-roads and 21.8 percent to city and village streets); with urban county roads to receive 15 percent of the county roads portion, up from 10 percent currently. Oakland County would receive $9 million of new funding, of which $6 million would be for county roads and $3 would be for city and village streets.

Distribute one-half of the proceeds via a new Economic Development Fund to county roads and municipal streets proportionate to economic development activity, in three programs: major job growth areas, trunkline conversion and capacity improvement. Oakland County would receive $46 million of new funds, of which $37.3 million would be for county roads and $8.7 million would be for city and village streets.

Authorize local-level road funding as follows:

A voter-option two-cents-pergallon tax on motor vehicle fuels sold in the county; ($12 million total; $7 million county roads, $5 million municipal).

• Local-option traffic impact fees to be charged to developers: ($7.5 million total; $5.5 million county roads, $2 million municipal).

• County Board of Commissioners appropriation of non-property tax revenue equivalent to 0.62 mill, which is the difference between the county's authorized levy and its actual levy: ($9.3 million total; all county roads).

Traffic tie-ups common on many two-lane paved roads in county

Almost half of the paved, two-lane arterial roads on the Oakland County road system are congested to the point of needing capacity improvements now.

Recent analysis puts some startling numbers on the traffic tie-ups that are familiar to motorists in Oakland County.

Motorists recognize the symptoms of traffic congestion:

• Waits in line for two or more cycles of a traffic signal.

• Long waits to make left turns across or into a stream of traffic.

or into a stream of traffic.

• Multi-car traffic backups behind turning vehicles.

Highway engineers know the statistical barometers:

On a two-lane roadway, these conditions begin to be common during rush hours when a two-lane roadway must handle 10,000 vehicles per day.

• At 15,000 vehicles per day, these conditions worsen and also occur during non-rush hour periods.

• At 20,000 vehicles per day, these conditions are still worse and extend all day except for very late evening and very early morning.

Recent analysis of Oakland County's two-lane roads showed that:

• On 267 miles of two-lane paved roads, traffic is at the 10,000 vehiclesper-day level.

• On 139 miles of those two-lane paved routes, traffic has reached 15,000 vehicles per day.

On 46 miles of two-lane paved roads, counts total 20,000 or more vehicles per day. Eight miles carry in excess of 25,000 vehicles per day.

"The sad thing is that there is little we can do to solve the problem," said John

L. Grubba, Managing Director of the Oakland County Road Commission.

"In fact, traffic congestion is definitely going to get worse before it gets better. New development in Oakland County is pouring more vehicles onto the roads, but not the money to catch up—let alone keep up—with the road improvements necessary," he said.

"We project that very soon there will be three cars on the roads for every two cars that are currently there."

"At our current and expected level of funding, it is impossible to improve the roads fast enough. We'll be lucky if we can provide widening on eight miles of roads in the next three years," he said.

"We've identified possible funding for that much through 1989, but even that is dependent on actions yet to be taken by others, such as Congress, the State Legislature and local units of

"It isn't because we don't know the problem exists. It isn't because we haven't tried to get sufficient funding. We have mounted the most comprehensive effort ever undertaken to put the message across to those who are in positions to do something. So far, the results are disappointing," Grubba said.

Highway user fee collections do not go up with general economic development, and are a different case than taxes. The highway user fee rates are lagging behind road needs. An increase in user fees is already three years over-

First, about user fees being a different fuel user fees collected by the state in case than taxes:

Fees imposed for use of the road system are expressed as a "rate per gallon" only because the number of gallons purchased was long considered the best gauge of the use of the system. It is a mistake to call the fees a "tax on consumption" of fuels. The fees are charged for the use of the system, the same as if they were charged at toll booths.

Secondly, user fees are lagging behind road needs:

Collections do not go up proportionately with increased use of the system. nor at the same rate as inflation increases costs.

Until the 1970's, the user fee as a rate per gallon was a very equitable measure of use. Gasoline mileage differences between commonly-driven automobiles were relatively small. Since the mid-1970's, smaller, lighter, more fuel-efficient vehicles have become predominant. As a result, more miles of travel are possible with fewer gallons. The average vehicle uses only 703 gallons a year now, compared to 779 gallons annually in 1980!

Also, until the mid-1970's, the number of gallons sold increased at about Chairman's Message:

United effort needed

The Oakland County Road Commission has submitted a funding proposal that would make possible doing all — all — of the repairs and improvements urgently needed on county roads, and on city and village streets.

Although this may seem like an ambitious undertaking, it can be done — if we all work together to accomplish it.

There is no reason other than lack of will for the roads and streets to continue to be below the standards of quality which this county generally prides itself in.

For many, many years, we have settled for inferior roads because we assumed the needs were too costly. Now we know that quality roads and streets at the county and local levels are affordable.

We know what the needs are because officials of each of the various communities; who are in the best position to know, have told us. Their information has been discussed widely in a number of forums during the past year, and there has been

We know that those needs can be met with $740 million of new road and street funding over the next 10 years. It's possible to calculate how to come up with that amount of money. We can think of it as $74 million a year. That annual need can be thought of as $1.5 million from one source, $9 million from another, and so forth.

Also, because the needs are largely due to a boom in economic development, we have a fairly good idea of where to turn for the funding. Roads have long been paid for by those who benefit from them, by the users. The users of Oakland County roads are builders, suppliers, contractors, deliverers, residents going to and from jobs, citizens going to and from shopping, recreation, schooling, doctor and

All of these gain economic benefits, in profits, salaries, wages, fees. In theory, they — in turn — provide the funding base for public services: increased property tax base, income tax base and sales tax base. It's not even necessary to increase the rates for these taxes; the simple fact that more economic activity is taking place in a given location provides more return for the given tax rate.

However, roads are not significantly funded from any of these taxes. Further, the amount of road funding does not go up automatically with increased activity in a

Let me review where road funding presently comes from:

We receive nothing from state income tax sources and nothing from state sales tax sources. State funding of county roads is from highway user fees. Sixty-two percent of our operating funds, which includes the only funds we receive for road maintenance, comes from these highway user fees.

Our operations receive nothing directly from property tax sources. We do receive some contributions to projects by local units of government which collect property taxes. Cities, villages and townships contributed about eight percent of our revenue over the past 10 years. County of Oakland general government contributed 1.38

tions actually decreased in 1980, 1981 We believe it is folly to expect that the state will act on its own to improve funding Further, inflation has reduced the of county roads and city and village streets. Every indication is that it will not. We at the county and local levels are going to have to carry our case forcefully to the state capitol. We must, if we are serious about wanting to improve the roads so that our citizens can be extracted from constant traffic jams.

It is also unlikely, we believe, that the state will provide all of the funding that is necessary. State legislators are not fools. They know that counties and local units of government are also benefitting by increased tax bases because of the economic development boom. They look to see how much money is being put towards needed services by the counties and local units. They assume that county and local spending is a fair barometer of the importance attached to those roads locally.

If you don't think so, consider this: an official of the Michigan Department of Transportation is saying that while the State of Michigan ranks 15th in the nation in collection of highway user fees, total spending on roads ranks only 42nd — implying that spending on roads by local units in Michigan is subpar.

It is difficult to argue with that. We cannot — not as long as the facts show that 62 percent of our road funding comes from state-level user fees, while only 1.38 percent comes from county contributions and 7.9 percent from cities, villages and townships. If we truly expect the state to do more, we've got to be able to present a Third, an increase in the user fee rates better picture of local commitment than that.

If the proposals we made for county-level funding are adopted, the picture will be much better indeed.

We ask you to work to make these proposals happen.

We urge you to actively campaign in support of state legislation to enable the local initiatives, as well as to restore state-collected highway user fees to proper

We urge you to campaign in support of action by the Board of Oakland County Commissioners to appropriate an amount of money equal to the difference between authorized and levied county millage from your non-property tax revenues for county road improvements.

It is possible to bring the roads up to the standards which Oakland County has generally prided itself in.

What's needed now is the will, the commitment and the action. With a united effort to public officials and citizens, we can win the funding that is necessary to preserve and improve the roads in Oakland County.

22 bridges replaced, renovated

The Oakland County Road Commission has replaced or renovated 22 bridges in the last 10 years and will do five more this year. "The projects opened one bridge and allowed removal of weight restrictions from the others, enabling travel by all vehicles licensed to operate on the. roads," said Road Commission Chairman Fred D. Houghten.

"Most of the bridges had been built in the 1920's and had outlived their design life. They were safe for use as posted with reduced loadings. But heavier loads are common today, particularly that of trucks serving the economic development boom," he said.

Bridges to be replaced this year are: • Twelve Mile Road over Pebble Creek west of Inkster in Farmington Hills, a $772,600 project for which $645,840 was obtained from the Federal/State Critical Bridge Fund and the Road Commission and city are each contributing $63,380.

 Crooks Road north of East Hamlin over the Clinton River in Rochester Hills, a $477,500 project for which $387,500 was obtained from Federal/State Critical Bridge Funds and the Road Commission and city are each contributing $45,000.

Bridges to be renovated this year, at Road Commission cost of $70,000 each, • Stanton Road east of Dartmouth over Paint Creek in Brandon Township. Stanton Road east of Baldwin over Paint Creek in Orion and Oxford Township.

• Rossdale Street west of Cass Lake Road over Cass Lake Canal in Waterford Township.

BOND PROJECT - This view of Hickory Ridge Road north of General Motors Road is typical of work completed with funds borrowed by the sale of bonds. In addition to resurfacing the existing pavement, paved safety shoulders, imbedded centerline reflectors and new guardrail were added.

Funds borrowed to enable projects communities want

About 25 miles of pavement resurfacing and safety improvements in 1987 are possible because local communities put up one-third of the cost.

The Road Commission borrowed against future revenue by selling bonds to finance the remaining two-thirds, said Chairman Fred D. Houghten.

"Most of the work to be done is the same type of resurfacing by recycling existing pavement and adding safety shoulders that we did very successfully with a $5.5 million bond issue in 1986," said Houghten.

"The bond issue for 1987 will be approximately $4 million, but with it we'll accomplish $6 million worth of work because of the local units' participation," he said.

The local contributions are for projects on roads in their communities. Those communities and the amounts they're contributing are:

• Southfield ($27,500); Oak Park ($27.500): Bloomfield Township ($165,000); Troy ($55,000); Madison Heights ($55,000); Farmington Hills ($366,000); Royal Oak ($270,000); Springfield Township ($270,000); Farmington ($11,000); Novi ($51,556); Walled Lake ($103,111); Rochester ($75,650); Auburn Hills ($27,500); Rochester Hills ($241,635); Macomb County Road Commission and Shelby Township ($349,250).

Projects are denoted as "bond" in the 1987 Road Improvement Program article in this annual report.

New lanes for only 2.8 miles

The Oakland County Road Commission budget for Fiscal 1987 totals $59.2 million, although current-year revenue totals only $50.4 million.

The budget includes $3.9 million from sale of bonds and $4.9 million of prior-year carryover fund balance.

Short of Needs

The $50.4 million of current-year revenue is $74 million short of the amount required annually for all needs identified by officials of local units of government in the Strategic Planning

For example, said Road Commission Chairman Fred D. Houghten:

"Although 46 miles of two-lane county roads are already severely overburdened with 20,000 or more vehicles per day, only 2.8 miles of additional lanes can be provided for in 1987.

"To overcome the backlog of pavement resurfacing needs, we've had to borrow $9 million last year and this against future revenue."

Service Increases

The 1987 budget does provide for some service increases, as follows: • increasing asphalt patching 50

• increasing gravel road gradings: to an average per year of 15 times (from 13) on local roads, and to 17 times (from 16) on primaries; and

• quicker winter snow and ice control on subdivision streets;

Traffic-Safety

Signals, signs, pavement markings a specialty

Traffic-Safety is a specialty of its own for signals, signs, pavement markings and guardrail. This department carries out both maintenance and improvement duties related to these.

When road improvement projects being conducted by the Engineering Department include adding or improving traffic control or safety devices, the Traffic-Safety Department assists.

The Traffic-Safety Department also oversees special uses of the roads and rights of way. It issues permits for work by others, such as driveway connections, utility installations and commercial hauling.

The department also provides signal, sign and guardrail services for 251 miles of state highways in the county by contract with the Michigan Department of Transportation. Also, some services are purchased by cities and villages in the county.

It is the Road Commission's second largest department with 116 employees. a payroll of $3.4 million and a total budget of $6.1 million in Fiscal 1987. Fees collected for permits and inspections will bring in $313,000.

DAVID ALLYN Director, Traffic-Safety

Michigan's legislature has made it the duty of Road Commissions "to keep in reasonable repair, so that they shall be reasonably safe and convenient for public travel, all county roads, bridges and culverts that are within their jurisdiction. . . Services provided by the Oakland County Road

Commission to perform this duty are of two types:

• Maintenance: "to preserve or keep in a given existing condition.'

 Improvement: "to advance to a better state or The Road Commission is organized to carry out these operations through three departments:

• Electricity for more than 950 traffic signals total $553,000.

 Materials to install and modernize signals is $358,764.

• Paint and reflective beads for centerline and edgeline painting comes to $472,619.

• Sign materials cost $321,923. • Guardrail materials cost $244,275.

Organization

The Traffic-Safety Department is organized into two divisions and two districts under Director David Allyn, a registered professional engineer and 12year Road Commission employee.

Staffing includes seven engineers, nine engineering technicians, eight engineering inspectors, two superintendents, six foremen, seven clerical and 73 hourly employees.

Traffic Engineering Division

This division evaluates existing signs, signals, guardrail and pavement markings and determines additions or modifications.

Many projects are initiated by requests from local units of government, police and private citizens. Others are included in road improvement projects administered by the Road Commission's Engineering Department.

Traffic Engineering must assure the safest and most efficient design of traffic controls for current and future traffic.

This division also designs traffic staging diagrams and signing for construcMaintenance, Engineering and Traffic-Safety.

Maintenance Department responsibility is the travelled portion of roadways and their curbs or shoulders, drains, ditches, bridges and rights of way - including snow and ice control.

Engineering Department responsibility is to design and administer improvements to the travelled portion of the roads and their curbs, shoulders, drains, ditches and bridges - generally referred to as "construction" or "reconstruction."

This year's annual report features the Traffic-Safety Department and its functions.

Electrical Services District

This district installs and maintains electrical devices, including emergency repairs day or night in any kind of weather.

Installation functions include assembly of signal heads, lenses, lamps, wiring, harnesses and controller mechanisms for traffic signals. At the site, these are placed in position using electrical service and poles provided by state laws and Road Commission stanpublic utility companies.

Maintenance includes annually replacing the 27,000 lamps in the 950 traffic signals, sign flashers and beacons on county, state and city systems.

Emergency repairs are required an average of nearly 4,200 times annually, including about 1,000 overtime callouts.

Sign Services District This district is responsible for making, placing and maintaining signs, and for placing and maintaining pavement

New traffic is pouring onto the system so fast that in some cases stop-go signals are warranted before a planned flashing signal can be installed.

Another indicator of mounting traffic is the 14 already-signalized intersections where special turn-phase signals must be added in 1987 alone to provide sufficient time for such movements.

Demand has exceeded the Road Commission's capacity to respond. despite stepped-up Traffic-Safety funding. Staff has been increased 14 percent

In addition to signals at intersections and significant highways on the 2,375mile county road system, the Road Commission installs and maintains signals on state highways by contract with the Michigan Department of Transportation.

In the past, the Road Commission has also installed signals for cities and villages, but is currently declining such contracts due to its own workload. The Road Commission does inspect such installations and assumes maintenance

An innovation makes late-night driving safer

Sixty intersections on the Oakland arterial road with a city major street. at night now that their traffic signals remain in stop-go mode rather than changing to flashing operation.

The safety improvements expected have been confirmed, said Oakland County Road Commission Managing Director John L. Grubba.

"For one thing, there are ten times fewer right-angle accidents, the type most likely to result in injuries. Only five right-angle accidents per year occur at the intersections during late-night hours now. There were 51 per year previous to stop-go signalling," he said.

"Most importantly, lives have been saved and personal suffering has been reduced. Fatalities have been reduced to zero, compared to one per year. Severe personal injuries have been reduced to 2 per year, compared to 31 per year," said

The 60 locations are intersections of two county arterial roads or of a county

County road system are much safer late Traffic on each route through such intersections during late night hours is about equal to a ratio of 2:1 or less.

Prior to 1984, these intersections had flashing signals for some period of time day. after 10 p.m. and before 7 a.m. In 1984, the Road Commission changed its policy to require stop-go signalling around-the-clock.

The findings reported by Grubba are those of a follow-up study of results at 59 of the locations at which no other significant alterations had been made.

The Road Commission's decision to require round-the-clock stop-go signalling had been based on a study of a few ntersections at which the requirement had been in effect previously.

The studies indicate that such a change is not a significant safety precaution at intersections of roads or streets with opposing traffic ratios of 4:1

Traffic volume and need for gaps warrant signals signal? There are several criteria which have been established and published in the Michigan Manual of Uniform Traffic Control Devices.

The manual has ten warrants, or criteria, for installation of traffic signals. The main two warrants used are based on volumes of approaching traffic and need to create gaps in traffic for side street traffic.

Other warrants use pedestrian volume, school children volumes, accident experience, peak hour delay and peak hour volumes.

Allyn notes, "Even with guidelines such as the manual provides, the fact that a warrant is met does not necessarily indicate that traffic signal control should be installed."

To warrant a left-turn phase, the general criteria is that the average number of vehicles making a left turn must exceed two times the number of stop-go phases in the same period of time.

Regarding traffic volume criteria, it is noteworthy that more than 267 miles of the county system's two-lane paved roads already have more than 10,000 vehicles per day. Of those, 139 miles have 15,000 vehicles per day and 46 miles have 20,000 or more vehicles per

Modernizations

In addition to adding signals, the Traffic-Safety Department has been improving safety and efficiency of the existing signalling system with a modernization program.

Adding left-turn and pedestrian signals as necessary is part of this, but by no means the entire story. Less obvious, but equally significant, are such improvements as:

• Replacement of outmoded and unreliable electromechanical controllers with solid state electronics.

 Replacement of metal signal heads having eight-inch-diameter lenses and 67-watt lamps with plastic signal heads

What does it take to warrant a traffic having 12-inch-diameter lenses and 150watt lamps.

> • Installing in-pavement vehicle detectors and traffic-actuated controllers at some intersections to allow variable timing of the various phases for the greatest efficiency and safety.

Synchronization

One of the best ways to move traffic efficiently and safety, is to have signals along a route timed such that traffic may move through several green phases without a red.

Unfortunately, it's easier said than

Timing is relatively easy when there are long distances between signals and all signals are evenly spaced along a route but difficult when there are many signals and signals are at irregular intervals.

The most difficult problem, particularly in heavily-travelled urban areas where there are many signals relatively closely spaced, is to determine a satisfactory timing. On two-way surface streets, a timing satisfactory for the morning rush may be inadequate for the evening traffic in the opposite direction. Three means of "interconnect" are

• Use of telephone lines is currently the most usual.

• Use of other lines, such as those of able television. • Use of clock mechanisms, called time-based coordinators, at the various Television cable is potentially the most reliable means, but thus far only one company has been willing to allow it in Oakland County. That company, United Cablevision, is not only cooperating but contributing $80,000 to a demonstration program this year. With that and $200,000 of federal aid, Fourteen Mile Road from east of Woodward to west of Dequindre will be interconnected by November.

MODERN ELECTRONICS - Robert Wightman, Special Assistant for Training and Facilities in the Traffic Safety Department, demonstrates a solid state signal controller system to William Travnikar.

Nobody keeps a record of citizen complaints about road congestion problems, but for 13 years the Road Commission has tracked complaints about maintenance-related items.

One of the conditions complained about, and increasingly, relates directly to traffic generated by the economic development boom in the county.

"The logged complaints, which we consider to be requests, provide remarkable information," said Managing Director John L. Grubba.

"Most important to us are the trends of complaints about various road conditions, where they are coming from and their proportion related to our programmed services," he said, and explained:

"For example, we were actually encouraged when complaints about rough paved roads soared during 1981, 1982 and 1983. In each of the previous years we had not been able to do the usual resurfacing because of funding cutbacks. More complaints confirmed that the previous levels of resurfacing had been justified.

"Thankfully, complaints about rough good regarding complaints about paved roads have generally decreased since we've resumed resurfacing efforts by borrowing against future revenue."

Unpayed Roads Hurting "Unfortunately, the picture is not as roughness of unpaved roads. "These complaints also soared in 1981-83, but have gone even higher in 1985 and 1986 despite increased service

REFLECTORS GLOW — Extra safety to motorists is provided by use of reflectorized materials in signs and pavement markings.

"We can attribute the increased roughness of unpaved roads to the simple fact that these roads are now carrying vastly more traffic than previously," said Grubba.

"Development of all types has boomed in Oakland County. Much of the residential development and some of the commercial development is situated such that unpaved roads are key routes for substantial numbers of motorists

"It's virtually impossible to adequately maintain an unpaved road that has more than 500 vehicles per day of travel. The loose surface material and irregular base conditions ranging from soft and wet to hard and dry is inheritantly unstable. The more pushing around it gets from vehicle tires, the more rough it becomes.

"Even if we could afford to do it, it's unlikely that daily 'maintenance' would make a real difference," said Grubba.

"The only solution when traffic becomes heavy on a gravel road is to pave it. The obvious solution is to pave all such roads, but we can't afford that either," he said.

Kesurfacing stepped up last year

During Fiscal 1986, the Oakland County Road Commission let 84 contracts for $16.4 million worth of road improvements.

Half of the contracts were for $11.4 million worth of improvements on nonsubdivision streets:

• 60.46 miles of pavement resurfacing

• 0.67 miles of boulevarding

• 0.75 miles of gravel road paving • 33.3 miles of regravelling

• 3 intersection reconstructions

• 17 intersection approach payings • 9 turn lanes

5 passing lanes

• 4 curve reconstruction projects

• 4 bridge replacements • 3 road drainage improvements

The other 42 contracts were for 30.36 miles of subdivision street payings worth $5 million in special assessment

County provides $1 million a year for roads

Passing lanes, turn lanes and paving of gravel road approaches to alreadypaved roads are some of the projects chosen for this year's Tri-Party Road Improvement Program. The popular program is staked to its first third of funding by the County of Oakland. This is matched by the Road Commission. Participating communities provide the final third for projects in their areas.

The local communities and the Road Commission cooperatively propose projects, which are submitted to the Board of Oakland County Commissioners for approval.

The County authorized a two-year program for 1987 and 1988, and increased its contribution to $1 million annually. That will make possible $3 million worth of projects each year, or $6 million worth over the two years.

Program amounts available to communities are determined by a formula that includes county road mileage, population and accident history. Amounts of County and Road Commission funding not used are apportioned among those which do participate.

Because two-year funding is assured, communities could choose to use any amount up to the total of their two-year allocation in a single year.

Following, by communities which chose to participate, are the combined totals of 1987 and 1988 allocations, projects chosen by communities to be done in 1987 and estimated costs of such projects. (If the project costs will exceed the two-year Tri-Party allocation, communities have agreed to pay the difference.)

He's appeared at virtually every important folk and jazz festival in North America and Europe, and has released several fine albums, 'Jazz, Ballads and Blues' being the most recent. On stage he moves through a casual history of folk music on both the six and twelve string guitars, never failing to show the influence of his father, Josh White

Welcome

It seems hard to believe that it's already been 11 years since we set up a stage off the back porch of our old store and spent a long cold rainy afternoon listening to folk & Bluegrass. That's how it all began, our first annual festival to benefit Huntington's Disease.
I lost my half-sister to Huntington's Disease in 1974. Just before her passing she made a very special request. She asked me to do anything I could for her 3 children; Lori, Dean and Sean "who are at risk of contracting this heriditary disease." I took that promise to heart, and between my wife Rita and I, we came up with the idea of a festival. It's purpose is not only to raise funds for research, but also to bring a better public awareness of Huntington's Disease and its tragic results. Marjorie Guthrie spent over 10 years watching her husband Woody detiorate in lowly mental institutions, suffering with H.D., she fulfilled a promise to him that she would educate legislators in Congress to appropriate funds for H.D. research. Marjorie was extremely successful and saw millions of dollars go to research. In 1984 Marjorie passed away knowing we were heading in the right direction.

There has been progress in the research of genetic, neurological diseases. There also has been a growing public awareness of H.D. It's a real comfort to the families afflicted or at risk, to know that we support them.
