Laura Lorenzo has made her backyard a haven for all types of wildlife

Former 'city girl' loves rural life

By BRENDA BONZHEIM

It's not uncommon for Laura Lorenzo to pause from household chores on any given afternoon to observe a groundhog sitting in her backyard furiously munching on a chunk of banana.

Or a pair of Canada geese gracefully gobbling from a pile of cracked corn generously scattered on the ground beneath the Novi resident's three birdfeeders.

For Lorenzo, the presence of such woodland critters has particular significance now because this is the 50th annual National Wildlife Week

(March 20-26). In honor of the event, Lorenzo recently put together a display using this year's theme, "Forests are More Than Trees," which is on display at the Novi Public Library.

Neighbors

Lorenzo explained that National Wildlife Week is part of a campaign by the National Wildlife Federation to provide information about important issues relating to forests in the United States and elsewhere.

"I've been reading about National Wildlife Week and wanted to make other people aware of it,"

Born and raised in New York, in what she described as "the concrete jungle," Lorenzo said her heart has always been in the country and with nature. Since moving to Novi about four years ago when her husband Robert started working for Ford Motor Company, Lorenzo said she has had the opportunity to become more actively involved in environmental issues. "There weren't many woodlands or wetlands in New York and the only animals there were on two legs," she said, laughing. "It's been a new Novi - I've learned a lot about nature and the environment and development. And I've learned how important it is to try to balance

During National Wildlife Week. Lorenzo urges other residents to be conscious of nature and the relationships between humans and wildlife.

"We depend a lot on nature and wildlife, and we can learn from them," she added. "As human beings we're only one of a vast species and we have a responsibility to be good stewards and good neighbors.

Planners OK restrictions on hospitals

By BRENDA BONZHEIM

staff writer

Hospital officials with an itch to locate medical facilities in Novi may soon face tighter restrictions on where such buildings can be

Novi Planning Commission voted 9-0 to recommend to Novi City Council a proposed ordinance that would not allow hospitals to be constructed in residential areas. The decision occurred at the commission's March 16 meeting.

Planning Consultant Brandon Rogers explained that the basic intent of the proposed ordinance is to permit medical facilities to be developed in Novi only in OS-1 (office service), OS-C (office service commercial) and I-1 (light industrial) districts. At the same time, the proposed ordinance prohibits hospitals in residential areas.

Rogers noted that the ordinance was not intended to apply to any particular parcel of property, although it does carry overtones for a certain petitioner, namely Providence Hospital.

Officials at Providence Hospital have asked Novi City Council to rezone a 70-acre parcel of land on the southwest corner of the Ten Mile/Taft Road intersection to a multiple-family residential classification. Medical facilities currently are permitted in the multiple-family residential zoning classification.

Providence officials are asking to rezone the property in order to

City seeks more seniors' housing

By BRENDA BONZHEIM

Senior citizens will be able to enjoy their golden years in cozy surcommissioners have anything to say about it.

Novi Planning Commission voted 8-0 to approve an amendment to the regulations for senior citizen housing within the city at its March 16 meeting. The amendment is designed to make it easier for developers of senior citizen housing to build in Commissioner Gary Phillips abstained from the vote.

According to the city's Senior Citizen Housing Ordinance, senior citizen developments must front upon a major thoroughfare.

The amended ordinance, however, allows senior housing developments in SCH-1 (shared elderly living) categories to gain access from a public street.

Under the proposed ordinance, planning commissioners also may waive the thoroughfare require ment for SCH-2 (low rise independent and congregate elderly living) if the street upon which the development will front has the capacity to accept anticipated traffic volumes. In that case, setbacks, landscaping, screening and building orientation of the proposed development also must be sufficient.

The commission received immediate feedback about the amended ordinance from two developers who attended the meeting.

Jean Day retiring from editor's job

Jean Day, who has served as editor of The Northville Record since 1980, will end a 40-year career in journalism when she retires on March 31.

"I really think it's time for me to retire," said Day, who has been affiliated with The Record and The Novi News for almost a quarter of a century.

"I feel we have a good staff; the paper's in good hands," she added. Asked what she planned to do in retirement. Day said she would start sorting through all the cardboard boxes "scattered here and there."

She also indicated that she would continue to contribute occasional articles for The Record and The The new editor of The

By ANITA CRONE staff writer A fiery head-on crash on Interstate-96 between Beck and Novi roads claimed two lives early Monday morning. The fatal accident involved law enforcement officials from three jurisdictions and forced the closing of the freeway for more than three hours. Michigan State Police Trooper Wayne Etue, who is in charge of the investigation, said a pickup truck traveling eastbound on the freeway, driven by James Eric Blodgett, 37, of Brighton, crossed the median and struck a pickup driven by John Charles Markey, 47, of Romulus head on. Both men were pronounced dead at the scene by doctors from Botsford

The Oakland County Medical Examiner's Office, which originally had determined the two men had died from the crash impact, informed Novi Fire Chief Arthur Lenahan that Blodgett's death was fire related.

The Novi Fire Department was called to extinguish the fire and use its "Jaws of Life" equipment to extricate the two bodies from the Etue said witnesses told investigators that Blodgett's vehicle crossed the median, which is a ditch, and traveled eastbound in the high-speed (left) westbound lane for about .4 miles before ripping an outside mirror off a truck driven by a man identified as Farmington resident Mayford Stiltner before striking Markey's truck head on.

Child care center receives approval

By BRENDA BONZHEIM

Young minds in Novi will have new place to foster their learning when the Pathways to Learning Children's Center comes to town.

Novi Planning Commission approved final site plans for the children's day care center at its March 16 meeting. The center will be located on the east side of Meadowbrook Road between Eight and Nine Mile.

The center will be located in the building formerly occupied by the day care facility is licensed for 45-50 children and the hours are expected to be 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Approval was granted on the following conditions: ☐ Opacity requirements be met for the trees to be used as screening. ☐ A 4 to 6-foot berm be constructed around the outside playground area, along the north, south and east edges. ☐ Scotch pines be installed around the western end of the proposed chain-link fence. The project was granted Special Land Use approval and preliminary approval on Dec. 16, 1987, but at that time petitioners of the project were told to pay strict attention to all the conditions of the consultant's letters and asked to bring the final site plan back to the commission.

Recall in West Bloomfield: Representatives from OUST (Organizations United to Save our Township) say they expect to have enough signatures by April 12 to force a recall election for three West Bloom-

OUST must file petitions with the Oakland County Elections Commission by that date. The organization is seeking to recall Township Supervisor John Doherty and Township Trustees Jeffrey Leib and Raymond Holland. A total of 3,750 signatures is needed to force a recall election.

The group cites the following reasons for the recall campaign: refusal t terminate the cluster option, using general funds to build a new township hall "against the will of the people," unplanned and excessive building in the township, and failure to cooperate with the parks and recreation department in obtaining parkland.

Crime falls in Farmington: Major crime dropped three percent in the City of Farmington in 1987, according to crime statistics released by Public Safety Director Frank Lauhoff.

The only increase in major crimes was in larcenies (thefts in which there are no break-ins) which jumped from 337 in 1986 to 382 in 1987 — an increase of 13 percent. Much of the increase was in larcenies in buildings, while shoplifting crimes declined.

There's a fee of $5 for Chamber members and $7 for non-members. Hors it'oeuvres will be provided by the Wyndham, and there will be a door prize of a weekend for two at the new hotel, including a dinner and a breakfast. For more information call the Chamber office (349-3743) or Dianne Fenrich of Talbots (349-6500).

> Upcoming seminars: Executive Director Connie Mallett of the Novi Chamber suggests chamber members might be interested in a seminar entitled "The General Practitioner and the Japanese Client" at the Sheraton

> The seminar is subsidized by the General Practice Section of the State Bar of Michigan. Registration fee is $35; more information is available from Program Chairman Clark Davis at 338-2608.

MERRA seminar: Michigan MERRA will host its seventh annual conference on Federal, State and Private Research and Development Opportunities in Michigan at the Sheraton Oaks on April 20.

The seminar is aimed at small businesses seeking research and development funds. Registration for the day-long conference is $50. To register or obtain more information call Mark Clevey, vice president, Small Business Research and Development, MERRA, at 964-5030.

Zoning amendment should benefit city

If experience is the best teacher, the Novi Planning Commission has demonstrated that it is an attentive

The reference is to the commission's decision to recommend apwhich prohibits development of Development proval of an ordinance amendment medical facilities on property zoned for residential uses.

The planners voted 9-0 to recommend approval of the ordinance amendment at its March 16 meeting. The recommendation will be forwarded to the Novi City Council which makes the official decision on amendments to the zoning or-

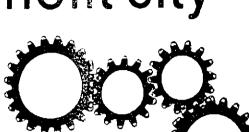

Specifically, the proposed amendment permits development of medical facilities only in areas which are zoned OS-1 (office service), OS-C (office service commercial) and I-1 (light industrial).

The amendment represents a substantial change from the current ordinance which permits development of medical facilities in areas zoned RM-1 (multiple-family residential).

In recommending approval of the proposed amendment. City Planning Consultant Brandon Rogers said the legislation was not intended to apply to any particular parcel of property. Despite the disclaimer, it would seem clear the action comes as a result of a request from Providence Hospital to rezone a 70-acre parcel on the southwest corner of the Ten Mile/Taft Road intersection to the RM-1 classification to permit development of a major medical

It was that situation which provided the experience the commission is learning from.

Several problems are associated with permitting medical facilities in the multiple-family zoning district. First, the inclusion begs to be utilized for the simple reason that RM-1 property generally is less expensive than property zoned for office or light industrial development. Why should Providence or any other potential developer of a medical facility purchase more expensive land when it can achieve the same objectives by purchasing less expensive land?

Secondly, permitting medical facilities in residential areas represents an obvious intrusion into residential neighborhoods that does not need to be permitted. Although it can be argued that a medical facility is a relatively compatible neighbor which provides a more-or-less unobtrusive buffer to residential areas, it also can be argued that medical facilities can fulfill their buffering functions just as efficiently in the office or light industrial zoning classifications which abut residentia

For example, would homeowners in the Meadowbrook Lake subdivision have been as concerned as they were several years ago if the Providence Hospital facility had been proposed adjacent to them instead of an industial park? The answer, we suspect, is "probably not."

Finally, prohibiting medical facilities in residential districts and. requiring them to be located in office and light industrial districts serves the function of placing them in those areas where the city is most concerned about attracting quality development which is potentially clean and aesthetic, creates jobs and, in the case of medical facilities, provides needed community services.

The proposed amendment makes good sense on all accounts and should be adopted by the city council. It also demonstrates that planners are learning from experience.

Seeking a balance

Development is nothing new to Than Trees," which can be viewed at beyond the commercial shopping centers to the pockets of natural wildlife that are still part of Novi.

Sandwiched between the miles of paved roadways, parking lots and concrete sidewalks lie parcels of rural land containing undisturbed woodlands and wetlands. Such habitats — which provides homes for trees, birds and various species of wild animals — add just as much character to a city as an impressive sprawling housing complex.

City and planning officials have made a committment to preserving Novi's woodlands and wetlands by establishing environmental protection ordinances and giving consideration to how proposed developments will infringe upon those areas. However, it takes more than an ordinance to insure that the woodlands and wetlands are protected. Public awareness about the environment and proposed methods of safeguarding it take ordinance provisions one step further in their effectiveness.

At least one Novi resident, Laura Lorenzo, has made an effort to recognize the importance of preserving the environment within the city by calling attention to National Wildlife Week (March 20-26). In hopes of educating others about the nationwide campaign to showcase the importance of wildlife and forests throughout the United States, Lorenzo and librarians from Novi Public Library put together a display with this year's theme, "Forests are More Novi. Yet as the city expands within the library. She also contacted Novi its boundaries, it's important to look educators and sent information to the schools so that the word could be passed on to students.

> We commend Lorenzo for spreading the word about National Wildlife Week and encourage other residents and city officials to take the time to recognize the importance of wildlife in Novi. Other interested residents certainly share Lorenzo's interest, evident by the response to the city's desire to create a Needs Assessment Committee for Parks and Recreation matters. Five residents were appointed to the committee, although several others expressed interest in becoming involv-

The committee is made of of the present seven-member Novi Parks and Recreation Commission. Planning Commissioner Thomas Kavanagh, Council Member Joseph Toth, residents Lorenzo, Thomas O'Branovic, Robert Pheiffer, Larry Cupp and Novi High School senior Robert Mitzel. Committee members plan to examine the possible acquisition of park land by the city and Novi's present recreational facilities to determine if they are sufficient.

Although the committee has already been appointed and the Novi city council and planning commission regularly review and discuss environmental impact issues, we urge other members of the public to provide input on the future of the city's woodlands, wetlands and wildlife. This input will better insure an adequate balance between development and wildlife in Novi.

I have always appreciated the trust that those for whom I've worked have placed with me. Ours are respected newspapers in communities that have always been close to my heart. The residents and organizations, as well as the official bodies, have made our area a wonderful place to call home.

When Bill Sliger, publisher when I began with the paper in 1963, and Jack Hoffman, editor, hired me, a mother with preschooler Laurie and elementary school student Robin, they gave me Wixom as my beat — and, incidentally, allowed me to write a column about activities In Our Town. I always enjoyed talking to Lillian Spencer. We found we both liked antiques. I also had immediate help from clerk June Buck.

In those days, it was very much part time on a schedule that made accommodations to my needs. I remember the day Dutch Van Ingen called me at the paper to tell me "Laurie isn't feeling well." Bill Sliger immediately responded, "Take her home — and take your work home, too." I'm sure many career women today envy my understanding superiors and my situation.

Our area is known for its amazingly active organizations. As the paper grew, Our Town became a separate section. When I became editor, Hoffman suggested (and had to do so repeatedly) that I divorce myself from writing about the work of various clubs and organizations. I've tried, but it just hasn't worked.

It was good that such news never had been my only beat. I covered the Northville Schools when Raymond Spear was superintendent and Stan Johnston was a board member. I always appreciated Stan because he

My memories go back in Novi to meetings in the old city hall building on Novi Road — and in Northville to township board meetings in one of the buildings on the Wayne County Development Center property. Today both communities have expanded into new facilities.

Northville's downtown no longer has any empty stores and has experienced a renovation that daily brings visitors. I've watched Twelve Oaks bring tremendous development to Novi. I remember standing in the bare center under constuction, not then grasping what change it would bring.

Reporting and living in such developing areas has been a challenge, a responsibility, an adventure - and a big part of my life.

Nothing could have prepared me for the sight I encountered when my mom and I reached the room. It was empty. My bed and dresser and curtains were gone. The bookshelves looked suspiciously different and my furry stuffed animal friends peered at me from the confines of cardboard boxes. Worse yet, the familiar wallpaper with the tiny yellow flowers was stripped away and the walls had been repainted in sterile white.

"Wh. . . what happened?" I asked in a voice that wasn't quite my own. There was an echo in the room.

"Well, your dad and I thought it was time to change things around a bit," Mom said. She handed me a garbage bag. "After all, you haven't lived here for almost five years. I didn't throw anything away - I thought I'd leave that up to you.'

Highland store undergoes complete make-over

From the outside, the store looks the same. Aside from the large, white "St. John St." sign that covers up the painting of Stan's familiar face, you'd swear nothing has changed. But a closer look at the sporty apparel adorning the sharply-designed display windows gives passers-by a hint of new fashion excitement.

After nearly 50 years of doing business at the corner of McPherson Street and Milford Road, Highland Township's landmark, Stan The Pants Man, has given way to the era of contemporary clothing shops.

"The jean store concept is really outdated," explained Mike Kowal, owner and president. "What we did was give the inside a facelift and update the entire store in merchandise and appearance," he said.

In order to make a clean and total break from the old image, Kowal decided to create a new name for the store as well. The name, St. John St. (pronounced Saint John Street), occurred to Kowai, a 1977 graduate of Milford High School, for a number of reasons. Not only is it an old name in the Highland Township area, it also happens to be the name of Kowal, referring to its success. "We received lots of calls, and lots of curious people started coming Since the change was completed, reaction has been more mixed, according to Ella Kowal, Mike's mother and business partner. 'Many people were angry because they were led to believe we were closing or selling out," she explained, noting that the anger wasn't necessarily negative, but rather the result of confusion over

"I think the change really stirred people," she ontinued. "This is an area where everybody knows everybody, and this change upset their

Small changes in merchandise started to take place last fall, but, according to Kowal, a complete change couldn't be made until spring because merchandise lines are purchased five months in advance.

Predominant are the new lines of better quality, contemporary women's separates. Kowal has opted against some of the higher priced, more famous designer names for lines such as Outback, Lawman and SKA Sportswear.

The primary areas of men's big and tall, and With any luck, it will help us exist another 25 years basic jeans will remain in stock. Designers such or more," she said

"I look for things that are new and fun," said Kowal of his half dozen or so shopping trips each year. In the past his trips included mainly Detroit and Chicago, but within the last year Kowal has been working almost exclusively out of New York. An area Kowal anticipates expanding into is watches and accessories. "I see this as an important area to get into with clothing stores," Kowal said. His goal is to find only the most unusual

PRESERVING NOVI'S PAST

How important is a sense of history to a growing community? According to the members of the Novi Historical Society it may be one of the most important and least recognized aspects of the city.

"The purpose of the society is to restore and protect the history of Novi," Mabel Ash said during a meeting of the Historical Society's Executive Board. "You don't have to be old to protect it," she added. Ash is membership chair for the group.

The executive board of the society has been a part of Novi for years and years, and was instrumental in creating the society eight years ago. "We like each other and what we're doing," said Society President Frank Horenkamp. "We all have a real sense of history and the importance of preserving history."
Novi is growing — no one will dispute that fact. New subdivisions bring new residents to the city each month and those residents may not even be aware that there is an historical society in the city. And that is a fact the board would like to change. "We welcome newcomers - any warm bodies!" said Town Hall Chairman Bill Gladden. The society was established in February of 1980. The play "Our Town" had come to Novi, and the production company had involved some of the older citizens of the town in the play. "We were asked to bring Novi antiques for use with the play," Lucy Needham recalled. Needham is corresponding secretary for the society. The play worked in pieces of Novi history with the performance and honored Novi citizens on stage. During one of the shows a petition was circulated in the audience asking people if they would be interested in establishing an historical society.

The interest was there and today the society numbers about 70 persons. "We'd like to have more," Needham said. "It's hard to get younger people." The society needs people with "extra time and

Novi Historians work to clean up the Town Hall interior

"Our main goal right now is getting the building finished," Horenkamp said. That involves fund-raising efforts on a major scale and trying to get community and business groups interested in the project. A local Novi Boy Scout Troop has offered to help with cleaning and painting on the site, and the Novi 4-H Group has lent a hand along the way, Horenkamp noted. Horenkamp estimates that it will take about $80,000 to restore the old building.

The society's main goal in recent months has involved the restoration of the Old on land just west of the Novi Library. The building will eventually be used as a museum and meeting room for the society.

The Society has approximately $8,000 in the The Society holds monthly meetings with programs on a variety of topics. The meetings are normally held the third Thursday of the month at the Novi Com-

Meetings are usually held the third Thursday of the month in the Community Center portion of the Novi Civic Center. Information on joining the Novi Historical Society can be obtained by calling President Frank Horenkamp at 349-3419 or Membership Chairperson Mabel Ash at 349-1967.

The Novi Historical Society was chartered in 1981 for the purpose giving residents of the community a knowledge of their common heritage; fostering the collection and preservation of records and objects which explain and interpret the story of Novi; to cooperate with all persons and groups to further these purposes; ind to loan historical material to other historical societies or educational institutions having a curator. It is also the purpose of the Society to establish an Historical Museum in Novi. (Source: Novi Historical Society)

Freedom is key to interior design

There is enormous choice in interior design today, according to Mary Jane Pool, a consultant to Baker Furniture, at a recent Michigan Design Center seminar. People are more confident about expressing themselves and it shows Speaking on trends in interior design at the Troy design-trade showroom, Pool drew on her past 'House & Garden' magazine, and editor and author of several books on design.

"There is a marvelous freedom to do whatever you want to do," she said. Supporting this idea, Pool referred to slides showing a painted garden where a real one would not grow, and woodwork painted in a design to be more interesting and exciting. "These are things we might not have done 10 or 15 years ago," she added.

Rooms are approached today as works of art, with a concentration on color and composition beyond

Ward, a Novi resident, has announced formation of an organization known as the Agage Smiles Foundation, Inc. It's a tax-exempt, charitable trust registered with the U.S. government and it has as its purpose the goal of making life a little more enjoyable for people stuck away in nursing homes and senior citizen living

And how will the Agape Smiles Foundation achieve its stated objective? By scheduling and providing free entertainment for the lonely and often forgotten people who are confined to a nursing homes and senior citizen

"We throw people away when they get old," said Ward, who has made service to people in nursing homes a major priority in his life. "We warehouse them, and forget about them. What we do to seniors is put them in these homes to get them out of sight and out of mind. And I think that's a shame." The Agape Smiles Foundation is the logical extension of work that Ward has carried on for the past 12 years. While working as a choir director at a church in Farmington, he started holding choir practices at various nursing homes and senior citizen centers.

"It was nothing special," he said. "We had to hold choir practices somewhere, so we started holding them at senior citizen centers. We did our rehearsals, and the residents enjoyed hearing us sing."

Four years ago Ward started a group known as the Agage Singers. Based at the Holy Family Catholic Church in Novi, the group entertains seniors at various locations throughout the northwest Detroit suburbs virtually every Monday night. ' 'Agape' is the Greek word for 'giving love,' " explained Ward. "The 'Agape Smiles Foundation' means giving love and smiles.' That's exactly what we do." Ward said the Agape Singers is unlike other organizations which perform in nursing homes because it charges an admission price. "Everybody who comes to our shows has to agree to stick around and talk with us after the show is over," he explained. "We do more than present our show, pack up and leave. We stick around afterwards to talk to the people who come to see us." Ward would be the last to claim the Agape Singers provide sonhisticated entertainment. But he'd be the first to claim the group's performances are a lot of fun. "We're corny," he admitted. The group's 1987-88 program, for example, is called "A UFO Show" and eatures Ward in the role of an emcee named Bob

"We do all the old songs," said Ward. "'Don't Sit under the Apple Tree with Anyone Else But Me,' 'Chattanooga Choo-Choo' and 'Over There.' It's really a lot of

The Singers will be presenting their show at the Novi Civic Center on Friday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1 for children 12 and

All proceeds are earmarked for the Agage Smiles Foundation. Tickets are available by calling 478-1819. The Agape Smiles Foundation will use the money to set up its program of providing entertainment at senior citizen centers. Basically, the foundation will act as sort of an entertainment and booking agency for nursing

The foundation will pay entertainers $25 for going to a nursing home and putting on a one-hour program. In addition, the foundation will schedule all appearances. "We'll pay $25 to anyone who will go in and perform," said Ward. "It doesn't make any difference what kind of entertainment it is. It could be folk singers, guitar players, magicians, church choirs, banjo players.

"If a person puts on three performances a day at three different nursing homes, he could make $75 a day or $375 for five-days work.

"Did you know there are 200 nursing homes and 100 senior citizen centers just in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties? Our goal is to provide two shows per month in every one of them. That adds up to 600 shows per month or 7,200 shows per year." Ultimately, Ward said he would like to see the Agape

Smiles Foundation go nationwide. "Those people should not be forgotten. And the purpose of the Agape Smiles Foundation is to make certain

We call this group the "Volley Girls" because it just may be the most knowledgeable and dedicated team we've ever assembled. These players really love the game and they know how to play it. To many, volleyball is more than just a game. Our team features great athletes like Julie Howell of South Lyon and Dana Kicks of Lakeland - players who can dominate a match at the net with their raw power and athletic ability. The team also boasts crafty athletes like Northville's Katie

Start exercise program with some common sense

So you want to start an exercise program, but it's been a few years since you did laps around the gym. Here are some pointers that can get you started. Common sense is the best guideline. Start slowly and build your endurance level. You're not going to progress as fast as a 20-year-old. Your progress rate will be determined by your age, health, smoking habits, degree of inactivity and the amount of time you've been inactive. Before strapping on the tennis shoes and taking off, answer the following questions to see if you're ready to begin an exercise program.

1. Has your physician said you have heart trouble? 2. Do you ever experience chest pains or 3. Do you have joint or bone problems, such as arthritis, which may be aggravated by exercise? 4. Do you have high blood pressure? 5. Do you have any other medical problem not mentioned here, which might prevent you from exercising?

6. Are you over 40 and not accustomed to vigorous activity? If you answered no to all of the questions, it probably would be safe for you to start an exercise program without com-

If you answered yes to any of the questions, consult your doctor before increasing your physical activity level. Your physician may recommend a restricted or supervised exercise program to meet your specific needs. No matter what your fitness level, keep in mind that once you begin exercising, you need to build the pace and intensity slowly. Your exercise sessions should follow the same pattern each time to avoid soreness

☐ Warm-up stretching (five minutes)— Warming up gets your body ready for exercise by stimulating the flow of blood and exygen to the heart. It also warms the muscles, making them more elastic and less prone to injury. Stretching should be done slowly while breathing deeply.

force it. ☐ Conditioning exercise (20 minutes)— This phase involves raising your heart rate to a "target" level appropriate for your age. Find your maximum heart rate by subtracting your age from 220. Your target rate, the pulse rate you should work up to and maintain for 20 minutes, is allows the heart rate to return to normal gradually and also relaxes the muscles after the workout. Determining the correct pace for exercising is up to you, but watch for these signs that you may be overdoing it: ☐ Breathlessness—You should be able to carry on a conversation while exercising. If you can't, slow down.

neck, arms or back—Stop immediately and check with your doctor. ☐ Excessive prespiring—You should exercise enough to work up a mild sweat, but a drenching sweat means you are overdoing it. If the sweating is accompanied by chest pains or discomfort, signs of a possible heart attack. ☐ Dizziness, feelings of faintness or nausea—You may be pushing too hard. Slow down. Stop exercising and see a doctor if the symptoms persist.

☐ Joint pains or orthopedic problems— Make sure you are wearing the proper shoes. Don't try to exercise through pain. Switch to an exercise that does not use the aching joints or muscles. If the problem persists, see an orthopedist or exercise physiologist for an evaluation. Television is a major culprit in our children's less active lifestyles say Assenmacher and other health professionals. "The average kid watches television four to five hours a day," he explains. "The thing that is ironic about a sedentary activity is that it makes a person more tired than if he was participating in something active. Plus, people eat because they want something to do with their hands."

An active lifestyle enhances more than body fitness. "Kids do better academically when they're physically fit," says Assenmacher. "They get better oxygen flow to the brain. Companies recognize this and have put exercise equipment in their offices for the use of their executives.' Kids who are obese usually get into an "obesity cycle." They're so heavy that it is difficult for them to exercise. (The average obese child at the beginning of Dr. Rocchini's program cannot walk three miles without stopping.)

Since exercise is so difficult, they don't do it. So they sit, they're bored, they eat more and get fatter. And when a fat child becomes a fat teenager, he finds himself

A typical school lunch must have meat or an alternative, two different fruits or vegetables, a serving of bread or alternative and a serving of milk. Stephens said Northville does not routinely include puddings and cookies in their lunches anymore. "With children we want to keep it balanced. We don't want a lot of heavy Stephens tries to keep the a la carte menu healthy. Some Northville schools limit a la carte purchases to one per child.

One school does not allow children any snacks until they finish their lunch. Many children bring lunch from home and Stephens has no control over that. "I worry about milk," she says. "They might get it on cereal in the morning, but

Children can help prepare good snacks

Like riding the seesaw at the park, helping your children get the most nutrition from food is a balancing act. Demonstrations have shown that children who eat a well-balanced diet tend to be healthler and grow and develop better. On a daily basis, children need at least three servings from the milk group, two servings from the meat group, four or more servings from the fruit and vegetable group and four or more servings from the grain group. Teen-agers should add one more serving from the milk group.

Ideally, children should eat well at breakfast and lunch, but snack time provides an opportunity to make up for nutrients that may have been missed. By planning ahead, parents can provide afterschool snacks for their children that are nutritious and easy to make.

It can be as easy as filling the refridgerator with fresh fruits and vegetables, already washed and cut into bite-sized pieces; cartons of lowfat yogurt make a handy snack, as do containers of juice or low-fat milk.

Children often enjoy making their own snacks, especially those that are easy to prepare and fun to eat. The recipes that follow take a minimum of preparation, but adult supervision is

Ruth Kudla walks her way to a healthy lifestyle

Walk This Way

It's a simple, easy exercise that's healthy, fun for the entire family

In the aftermath of a fitness explosion that urged individuals to get out and better themselves, more and more families are making exercise a part of their group

Family fitness can be as simple as taking a walk or biking to the park. The important thing is that all members of the family can participate and have fun.

One of the newest popular forms of exercise is walking, and it's great for families too. Family members from young children to older adults can participate; it's a simple exercise and it doesn't take a lot of advance preparation. "I don't think there's any doubt that walking is one of the safest exercises," said Gary Wasiak, who specializes in sports medicine at his Milford clinic. A good, brisk walk can have the same cardiovascular benefits as swimming and it will tone leg muscles, he said. Walkers also have little chance of strains and severe tendonitis, afflictions that sometimes hinder runners, he said. Wasiak does recommend that anyone interested in using walking for an exercise program, combine it with secondary exercises-stretching, indoor biking, weightlifting-for better overall condi-

It's also a good idea to loosen up and stretch your muscles a little before doing any exercise, including walking, and to wear comfortable, loose-fitting clothing.

If walking isn't up to the pace your family had in mind, then you might want to consider bicycling. Biking has also grown in popularity recently and it's an exercise that children and adults can do

"Kids love it," Eliot said. "And they graduate from riding a bicycle seat on the back of their parent's bikes to riding a Safety is a prime concern for bikers, and parents should take care that they and their children follow the rules of the road and and that they wear helmets. Riding a bike is a good way to teach children traffic safety tips, Eliot said.

Bikers, like all exercisers, should wear layers of comfortable clothing and take along plenty of water, especially during warm weather, Eliot said.

If the weather is hot, swimming is a good way for families to cool off and get some exercise too. In addition to being a good form of exercise for small children, swimming teaches them a valuable skill, they're drown-proof," he said. And for some older adults, swimming is the ideal exercise, he said. "It certainly is a universal exercise, and it is particularily good for people who are having joint problems," Eliot said. "Swimming may be the activity for them." Many area pools sponsor family nights to give adults and children a chance to swim. Call your local pool for more in-

Another activity that might not fit in the traditional fitness mode is square dancing. Young people and older adults enjoy it and moving around the floor can really get your heart going, Eliot said. Both Eliot and Wasiak offer some cau-

Good motto for those seeking key to keeping their health

By Marilyn Herald

"What you don't use, you lose" is a mot-to heraided by most doctors and exercise proponents in counseling their patients especially those in their retirement years. When you meet someone like Lola Alexander of Northville, you realize that what you do use just gets better and better with

At age 78, Alexander teaches three exercise classes a week for Livonia Public Schools and has the trim figure and type of complexion most companies like to use in their advertisements for great retire-

"I've tried to retire (from teaching) three times, but I always go back," Alexander said with a smile. "I was an interpretative dancer when I was young and I really believe in keeping in shape."
Alexander, who has taught exercise classes for 19 years, said exercise and good nutrition go hand in hand in the search for health and fitness. Denise Bartlett, dietitian and coordinator of health promotions at the coordinator and exercise instructor for South Lyon Community Education, couldn't agree more. All three women feel to stay in shape a person needs to eat right as well as getting plenty of exercise. They also agree that walking is probably one of the very best exercises there is for people of all ages, and particularly for senior citizens. Brisk walking can provide exercise for the heart while not causing excess stress to any part of the body. Bartlett reminds senior citizens that as they grow older, their bodies need less calories. "Most people are less active,

too, and therefore, they tend to gain weight because they still eat about the same as they did all of their lives," she

"You need to eat less or exercise more or a combination of the two in order to keep trim," the dietitian said. While it is difficult to generalize on the perfect weight for each person, Bartlett said no one should go below 1,200 calories a day without being monitored by a physi-

said, adding that it is still being tested. "But don't take fish oil capsules without a physician's advice," she cautioned. Bartlett recommends two cookbooks available at most book stores and from the America Heart Association. The first is "Don't Eat Your Heart Out," by Joseph Piscatella, A "very reliable book," she said. The second is the "American Heart Association Cookbook." A third publication Bartlett finds helpful is published by the heart association. Entitled "Nutrition Labeling," it gives the consumer tips on what to look for when checking out product labels for calories, sugar, sodium and fat content. To obtain a free copy of the labeling booklet, write or visit: American Heart Association, 204 S. Highlander Way, Howell, Mich. 48843. The Oakland County

Lathrup Village, Mich. 48076. Bartlett advises everyone to become "wise consumers" by learning to correctly read labels. She points out that products labeled "lite" may not always have fewer calories or less fat.

"The companies are not telling you an untruth because the product may be lighter in color or texture," she said. "It may, indeed, be lower in calories or fat, but you have to read the label carefully to

The dietitian also cautioned that some products labeled "no cholesterol" may have high saturated fat content. More Alexander said her classes at Livonia liber in the diet has been much in the news. Schools do not contain many residents. Continued on page 11

When increasing fiber, be sure to drink four to eight glasses of water a day for good digestion of the fiber, Bartlett added. Another part of the label to check out carefully is the sugar content, she said. "Whether it says sugar, honey or corn syrup, they are all sugar.

"Any ingredient that ends in 'ose,' such as maltose or sucrose, is just another form of sugar. Manufacturers will split up the sugar into various kinds to make it look like there is less sugar."
