Scnool board adopts budget

By BRENDA BONZHEIM staff writer

With little fanfare and no protest, Novi Board of Education last week approved an $18 million budget for the 1988-89 school year.

Approval of the $18,066,767 budget followed a June 16 public hearing on the document which was attended by a few school administrators and newly-elected board member Sandra Thornton.

Earlier in the month, school board members held budget work sessions to become familiar with the proposed allocations. The $18 million budget compares to a $15,937,492 budget for the 1987-88 school year, an increase of 13.4 percent.

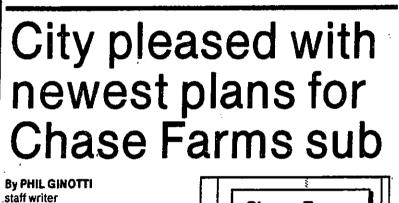

A large portion of the 1988-89 budget expenditures - a total of $428,055 — was set aside for beefing up the district's administrative staff. School officials justify the additional positions by the rapid growth and rising enrollment experienced by the school district. Highlights of the budget include hiring five additional teachers for a total cost of $179,500; adding two custodians for a total of $52,000; adding an assistant principal at Novi Meadows at $56,555; hiring a special education supervisor for $50,000; hiring a full-time athletic director for $50,000; buying new textbooks for various subjects and special purchase items totaling $200,000.

New textbooks will be purchased for foreign languages, fifth and sixth-grade social studies, math, auto mechanics, pre-algebra, advanced enrichment for fifth- and sixth-graders, and middle school social studies.

Novi man arrested Police stop chop shop operator

By PHILIP JEROME managing editor

A Novi man has been arrested on a five-count felony warrant by officers with the Southwest Oakland Auto Theft Unit.

Clinton Hackney, 42, of 210 Herman was arraigned Tuesday (June 21) before Visiting Judge Martin Boyle in 52nd District Court in Walled Lake. He is charged with one count of "Operating a Chop Shop" and four counts of "Receiving and Concealing Stolen Property," according to Detective Ron Roy of the Novi Police Department and the Southwest Oakland Auto Theft Unit. A $1,000 personal recognizance bond was set on each count and Hackney was released pending pretrial examination.

Roy reported that police have suspected the possilibity of illegal activities at the address on Herman for a number of years because of the large number of vehicles which are stored at the location.

After developing additional information, police obtained an administrative inspection warrant from 52nd District Court Judge Michael Batchik. The warrant was exercised last Friday afternoon.

Roy estimated that approximately 11 officers showed up at Hackney's residence Friday to search for evidence of stole Developers will get a slightly more dense development, while the city will get preservation of major environmentally sensitive areas under the terms of a consent judgement ekayed by the city council last week.

The Chase Farms property is located between Eight and Nine Mile, just west of Novi Road and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad line. The Novi City Council approved a consent judgement for the site Monday night, June 13.

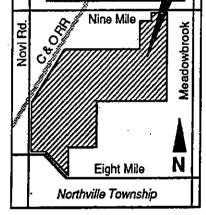

"I think it's an excellent agreement for the city," Councilman Edward Leininger said. "It was certainly much closer to what I wanted out of the development."

Sponsor of the Chase Farms project. Joseph Kosik, sued Novi last year after a disagreement over rezoning of the property in the northern end of the proposed development. A negotiating committee made up of Leininger and Council Members Hugh Crawford and Ron Watson had been meeting since shortly after the lawsuit was initiated.

Kosik will be allowed to put in a single-family residential development with minimum 90-foot lot sizes and no less than 12,000 square feet of area.

The city will get preservation of a major tract of woodlands in the area in addition to keeping development out of the 100-year floodplain. The area contains several environmentally sensitive areas, inlcuding a stretch of the Rouge River system, which runs almost through the center of the property.

- A boulevard entrance will also be constructed north to south through the development, which will occupy the space between Eight and Nine Mile.

Bike paths will be installed in the Eight Mile and Nine Mile frontages of the development. Sidewalks will also be required within the development.

"Originally, they had come in with an old-fashioned, grid-type sub," Leininger said. "I'm glad that we were able to to come up with something that preserves some of the natural features - the woodlands, the highlands and lowlands."

"It's a very workable plan now that they're staying out of the woodlands," Councilwoman Martha Hoyer said.

Kosik's attorney, Robert Bunting of Oxford, could not be reached for comment and did not return phone calls last week.

The agreement heads off further litigation on the proposed development. It had been scheduled to go back before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John N. O'Brien later this summer.

As a result of the search, Roy said police located two items that had been reported stolen and subsequently were able to secure a criminal search warrant to return to the property and conduct a more intensive search.

While executing the criminal search warrant, Roy said officers seized six vehicles which are believed to have been stolen in addition to a large number of tools used in the alleged chop-shop operation.

She's neatly dressed and appears to be a business woman, but she's also believed to have been responsible for having robbed three homes on Talford in the Lakewoode Parkhomes Condos on Tuesday, June 14.

Novi police are warning local residents to be on the lookout for the woman and requesting that any information regarding her whereabouts be called to police headquarters at 348-7100.

Novi Police Detective Max Roder said the suspect is described as a white female, approximately 30 years old with shoulder-length brown hair. She was wearing a brown blouse and a tan skirt and carrying a brown briefcase at the time the thefts were occurred on June 14 between 2-3 p.m.

The woman also was said to be driving an older model, tan-colored vehicle.

"Several people saw her but nobody can give us a very good description," reported Roder who has been assigned to investigate the case.

"She's very well-groomed and looks like a typical businesswoman. She doesn't look out of place; maybe that's why nobody took the time to get a really good look at her."

According to Roder, the female suspect would walk up to a residence and knock on the door. If someone answered, she would report that she had an appointment and request directions to another home in the general neighborhood.

If nobody answered the door and there was no deadbolt lock, the woman would break in by jimmying the lock and then search the residence for valuables.

Roder said three residences were victimized by the womean during the afternoon of June 4. She is alleged to have stolen various items of jewelry from the first two homes. From the third home, she took a television set and a videocassette recorder in addition to a quantity of jewelry, according to police reports.

"She got some pretty expensive pieces," said Roder. "She was very quick . . . very proficient. She knew what she was looking for.

"She didn't ransack any of the homes; she just went straight for the jewelry," he added.

Roder reported that police have requested information regarding similiar types of thefts in neighboring communities, but have not yet received any responses.

Snuffing the flames Novi observes open burning ban

Novi Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan is asking for cooperation and a lot of common sense in the next couple of weeks as residents wait out one of the driest spells in recent history.

The fire department has not been issuing open burning permits for several weeks now because of the dry conditions, Lenaghan said. Just under one inch of rain has fallen on the Detroit metorpolitan area during May and June, far below normal for that period. Last month was the third driest May in the state's history, according to state Agriculture Department officials. "We just won't issue any permits because of the conditions," said Lenaghan. "What's made it worse is that we've had a lot of wind. It's been very windy out on most of the days."

Lenaghan said the fire department is responding and putting out illegal fires.

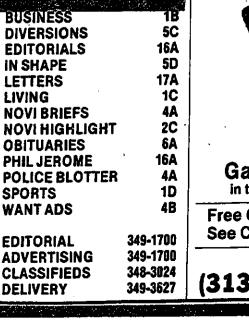

"Anytime we get a report on someone burning we're going out and putting them out," Lenaghan said. "It's too much of a risk."

The fire department has not had to respond to a major grass fire yet this season, according to Lenaghan, although the risk is currently greater than it has ever been. "We haven't had any, but we've been very fortunate," Lenaghan said. "Conditions are extremely dry and we're asking that residents use great care."

That includes backyard barbecuing - believe it or not - a threat in the more rural areas of the city. Lenaghan said the outdoor barbecues could present problems because of floating ash or improper disposal of hot coals.

Woman struggles with purse thief

By PHILIP JEROME managing editor

A 61-year-old Novi woman was the victim of an armed robbery late Sunday (June 19) night, but she didn't give up without a struggle.

The woman told police the robbery occurred shortly after she and her husband had returned to their East Lake Drive home from grocery shopping at the Walled Lake A&P store at approximately 11:30 p.m.

She said she remained in the car while her husband was unloading bags of salt from the trunk into the garage. The husband then went into the house and entered the basement, while the woman backed the car away from the garage and parked next to the house. When the woman stopped the car, Enrico DiGirolamo will join Judith Johnson and Charles Kureth on the Novi Planning Commission as a result of action by the Nov City Council at its Monday (June 20) meeting. Mayor Matthew Quinn appointed DiGirolamo and re-appointed Johnson and Kureth to fill three vacancies on the commission at Monday's meeting.

All three terms are scheduled to expire in 1991. DiGirolamo, a candidate for the Novi City Council last year, was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the departure of Planning Commissioner Richard Clark, who opted not to reapply DiGirolamo formerly served as chairman of the Wolverine Lake

The Chamber had lobbied for and endorsed candidates Rose Crain and Daniel Williamson for appointment to the planning commision. Both Crain and Williamson had openly supported developer viewpoints during candidate interviews last week.

Northland Inn revisited: After standing empty for seven years, the once-elegant Northland Inn may be revived as a six-story senior citizen apartment building.

Plans for converting the inn to 129 units of efficiency, one and two bedroom apartment units cleared a hurdle recently when the Southfield Planning Commission recommended approval of a request to rezone the property from regional shopping o a mid-rise apartment classification. The Northland Inn was purchased last September by Detroit cable television excutive Don Barden for $1.5 million. Plans to convert the facility into senior citizen housing face a major roadblock in the person of Southfield Mayor Donald Fracassi who believes it should be reopened as an executive suite hotel. Fracassi maintains there's a dearth of upscale, full-service hotels in Southfield to serve the convention needs of corporations.

Ban on multiples: A 60-day moratorium on construction of new multiple dwellings has been approved by the West Bloomfield Townshin Board on a vote of 4-2.

Township Trustee Dennis Vatsis said he introduced the moratorium 'because the people of West Bloomfield don't want any more apartments.

"We've got about 5,000 already," he said. West Bloomfield previously adopted a moratorium on development of multiples in February. That moratorium expired in mid-April. Townshig Planning Director Thomas Bird said no apartment projects have been approved since that time. He added, however, that his department has receive

The Novi Tornado One Year Later

The site of the fatal tragedy at the Chateau Estates Mobile Home Park

Sunday, June 21, 1987 — broke clear and hot.

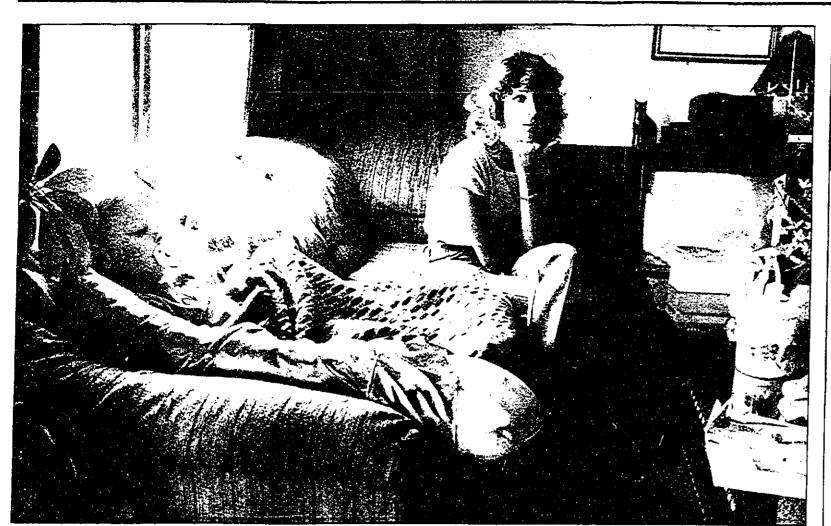

A good day for families to get together to celebrate Fathers' Day. A good day for going to the beach to escape the oppressive rays of the sun.

The tornado struck without warning. Swirled down from out of nowhere shortly before four o'clock in the afternoon and cut a path of terror through the park, completely destroying some homes while leaving neighboring residences virtually untouched . . . taking Michael Muscatello's life and leaving his young wife Vanda confined to a wheelchair, an additional cross to bear in having to raise their then-19 month old son, Michael Jr.

There are other stories. Other lives.

Physically, the mobile home park has been returned to normal. But the lives of those people who lived in Chateau Estates on that fateful afternoon will never be the same.

That's part of the the recommendation from state Mobile Home Commission Executive Director Steve Zamaira. The commission is the state panel made up of manufacturers, consumers and experts.

Zamaira actually recommends that mobile home dwellers with newer units stay in their homes during a tornado. That contradicts nearly every bit of advice handed down by other expert agencies, including the National Weather Service.

The National Weather Service recommends that mobile home dwellers leave their homes and seek shelter in outside ditches or berms, with heavy shelter over their heads — if no other shelter is available. Zamaira winces at the National Weather Service recommendations.

"The advice they give is based on outdated information," he said. "It's based on a 16-year-old wind study from West Texas Tech. A lot has changed in the industry since then

"You've got people trying to problem solve with outdated information," he added.

Zamaira said mobile homes made a turnaround "from the dark ages" on June 15, 1976. That's when federal law setting down the first set of standards for mobile homes went into effect.

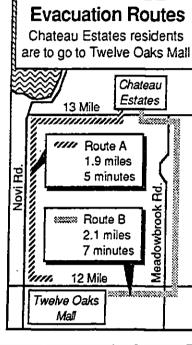

"All these things (improvements) became standards in the industry after 1976," Zamaira said. "Before that, we had some very good people out there and we had some very bad people out there."

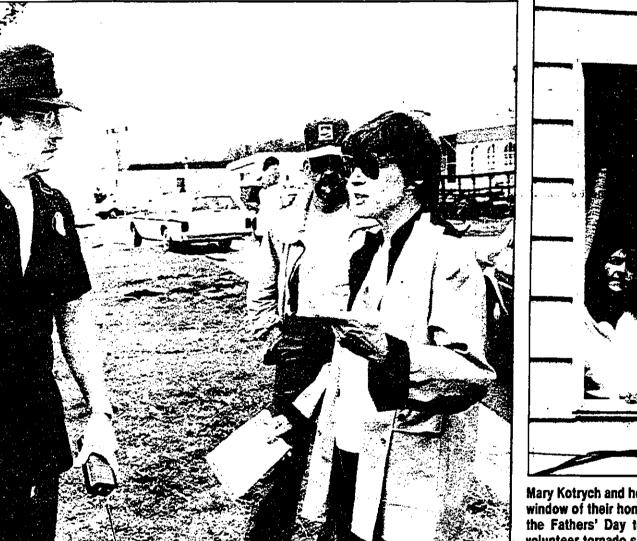

Strict enforcement of local building codes has also contributed to safety improvements since then, he said. Multiple "tie-downs," heavy securing devices, have been added and construction quality has improved greatly, he said.

"Chateau of Novi was built 16 years ago, or so," he said. "You've got homes of that vintage out there." Tie-downs had been required in the parks since 1978. The tornado led Novi Building Department officials to inspect many of the homes in Chateau Estates and add more of the securing devices, Zamaira said. "I've seen tornados rip through a park and destroy not only the mobile homes, but the brick buildings that they were using as shelter," he said. "The question you have to ask is if it hits, will anything hold up?"

Tornado brings about changes in disaster plan

By PHILIP JEROME nanaging editor

If Novi were to be hit by a tornado similar to the one which touched down in the Chateau Estates Mobile Home Park on Father's Day last year, would Novi police be better prepared to respond to it? ovi Police Chief Lee BeGole believes the answer is ves. But the one thing that police learned as a result of the June 21, 1987. tornado is that it's impossible to plan for every contingency.

BeGole maintains that police had done plenty of advance planning prior to the tornado which claimed one life and damaged 227 of 733 mobile homes late on a Father's Day afternoon last year.

In fact, Chateau Estates had been selected as the site for a simulated disaster preparedness earlier in the the planning of that simulated disaster plan.

had everything nailed down tight. but when faced with an actual tornado situation we discovered just how deficient our plans were in certain respects.

For example, BeGole notes that police had designated Dr. Mav Sanghvi as emergency medical director and provided him with a large supply of materials to use in treating the injured.

"We thought we had everything." recalled BeGole. "We had all types of medical supplies . . . right down to splints for broken arms and legs.

"But when faced with the actual situation we discovered that we had forgotten one very important thing year. And Park Manager Bob - bandaids. portion of the 1987 Disaster Plan which proved to be most accurate was the statement that there will be confusion during the initial response regardless of how well you've got your plan in place. "There's no way around it," he said. "There's always going to be a lot of confusion until you get your systems in operation." BeGole said that the city's Disaster Plan has been changed considerably as a result of the experience at the June 21 tornado.

Many of those changes came about as a result of a meeting held in Novi police headquarters on June 30, 1987 — nine days after the Chateau Estates tornado. Among the changes:

□ Additional medical personnel: Dr. Sanghvi will remain as Emergency Medical Director, but the city is attempting to recruit nurses who can assist during emergency situations.

□ Electrical assistance: BeGole admits that the possibility of a power outage is one of the possibilities which somehow had been overlooked when the 1987 themselves without electricity when they set up command headquarters in the Chateu Estates clubhouse. "We had generators, but we didn't have people who were qualified to hook them up," said the Novi police chief The problem was resolved when police were able to recruit a couple of volunteers to do the hook-up work, and the disaster plan has been amended to include mechanics among those individuals who are summoned to respond to the scene.

□ Telephone communications: Another problem that occurred during the 1987 tornado was that emergency personnel found themselves unable to communicate via telephone since the storm knocked out telephone installations.

Fortunately, police found that a pay phone in the Chateau Estates clubhouse was still operable and managed to use it to communicate with outside agencies. In addition, technicians from the telephone company responded to the scene quickly and were able to reinstitute telephone service in key areas for the benefit of emergency operations.

 Public relations coordinator: Another deficiency which surfaced during the 1987 tornado was the need tively to officers in the field. for improved communications with the public during the disaster — an ______ although he is hopeful that erection individual who could deal with in- "of a 300-foot transmission tower near ouiries from friends and relatives as the city's DPW garage will help well as provide consistent, coordinated and accurate information to media sources.

BeGole said the city is currently attempting to hire a public information specialist whose services would be used during disasters to coordinate communications, freeing police to deal solely with emergency operations.

□ Inter-agency communication: Another problem that surfaced during the disaster was the inability of various law enforcement agencies to communicate with each other via their mobile phones (walkietalkies)

The problem is that each agency has phones which are limited to their own frequencies. As a consequence, officers from each agency can speak to other members of the same agency but cannot communicate with officers from other agencies.

The problem was evident following the tornado when police from several cities as well as the Oakland County Sheriff's Department were spread throughout the park. Orders issued by command headquarters could not be communicated effec-

Council studies tree ordinance

Novi Mayor Matthew Quinn ap pointed a three-member council subcommittee Monday night to deal with proposed revisions to the city's woodlands ordinance. Discussion of the proposed changes

- called "cosmetic" in nature by forestry consultant Linda Lemke was marked by a great deal of confusion Monday night. Council members wondered whether or not the changes were causing damage to woodlands. "This entire ordinance is riddled with provisions that put the burden of proof on the individual," Council Member Joseph Toth said. "The problem here is that we do want to preserve the woodlands."

Toth said a number of technical points in the ordinance could prevent that from happening. Toth said there ordinance include limitation of "tree cluding ground cover and under were "too many ambiguities." Council Member Martha Hoyer ob-

Railroad to fix rubber mats

A disintegrating railroad crossing mat at Novi Road near Grand River will be replaced at no cost the city, according to City Manager Edward Kriewall and Department of Public Services staff.

Kriewall said the supplier of the rubberized railroad crossing The Omni Corporation, has admitted to a production defect. They will ship a new mat for the Novi crossing within the the week from their St. Louis headquarters, Kriewall said.

"Apparently, they just had a bad batch," Kriewall said. "They're replacing it at their cost." The mat developed a large hole in the southbound traffic lane on Novi Road. The crossing is located between Ten Mile and Grand River. Department of Public Services Director Robert Shaw said repair work on the crossing probably won't be done until late July. The city supplies the rubber mats, the railroad supplies the labor, while the Oakland County Road Commission supplies repairs on either side of the railroad crossing. A: Like other parimutuel games, Super Lotto prize pools are based on the amount played for each drawing. The 25 cents of every sales dollar assigned t the Jackpot prize pool forms an inves ment in which all the principal and interest combine to pay winners a much larger total over a 20-year period. Super Lotte has a minimum Jackpot of $1.5 million "rollover" - when no one matches all ix winning numbers-keeps the Jackpot rowing until it is won.

Seniors get lawyer's help with wills, estate planning

By PHIL GINOTT! staff writer

Novi area senior citizens, a reknowned gregarious lot, got a chance to get serious for a moment last week. They talked about wills, estates and trusts with Oakland-Livingston Legal Aid Director James DiMeglio, in town for a two day program.

DiMeglio helped about 40 area seniors with estate planning. He'll be back again in August.

"People are really willing to talk about it," he said. "They're interested in it. It's not an easy topic for a lot of people to talk about." DiMeglio said more people are prepared now than in years past, but that a lot of seniors - especially with small to medium size property holdings - are still lacking the Matching current assets up with what is going down on the will is a key. That coordination has been lack-writes a will dividing a home between three children, but opts later possibly many years later - to put one of the children on the deed.

No date has been set for the August sessions, although it will probably be done much the same way, DiMeglio Commission Chairperson Judith Johnson said the ordinance is difficult to enforce. She stated that the commission's Implementation Committee has spent many, many hours working on the I-1 amendment.

"I think what we were trying to do was a worthwhile effort," Johnson commented. "This or-dinance seems to invite people to find a loophole to fit into it. We seem to have opened a-Pandora's Box and it's gotten out of control somehow. I don't know if we can write an ordinance to keep retail minimal without makingour I-1 into strip malls."

Commissioner Ernest Aruffo argued that retail sales establishments in I-1 districts should not be regulated by 25 percent of their total floor space. Instead, he recommended that they be restricted to 25 percent of their total sales.

Planning commissioners voted 6-1 to table the amendment until Assistant City Attorney Dennis Watson has a chance to investigate methods of enforcing retail sales activities through sales tax reports - instead of regulating them by total floor space - as' recommended by Aruffo. Commissioner Edward Kramer cast a dissenting vote.

Threatening letter clearly out of line

The anger expressed by Novi City Council Member Martha Hoyer at Monday night's meeting is easily understood. Hoyer is unhappy with city forestry consultant Linda Lemke and she voiced her displeasure Monday night.

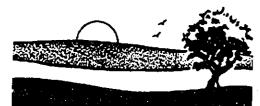

It seems Lemke sent a letter to a Novi resident Glenda Hamilton in mid-May, threatening Hamilton with a $27.654 fine for cutting down a willow tree in her own yard. Lemke defended the letter Monday night. Hoyer wanted some answers.

The Woodlands Ordinance currently regulates trees located in the city's mapped woodlands and other trees — over 36 inches in diameter that may be considered historical or "specimen" trees. Residents must get permission before removing such trees

To set the record straight - and despite Lemke's assertions to the contrary — it was a threatening letter. A very threatening letter. And it has no place in Novi or anywhere else.

Her intent was simply to inform the resident to check with city officials before removing such trees. We don't know if Lemke was having a bad day, but she certainly had a packaging problem in this letter.

First, the letter makes no sense. It threatens the resident with the fine. then later says the fine probably doesn't apply. Next, and most disturbingly, it contains a major typographical error that makes the whole letter nonsensical. Lemke wrote that removing the tree was "legal" rather than "illegal." She admitted the typo later.

Environment

A friendly reminder was the thing to do, and we suspect that Lemke knows that now.

Lemke's improper communication to the resident is somewhat surprising. She has been universally praised for doing a fine job with the Novi Woodlands Ordinance, which is currently undergoing some revisions. We're also a little bit surprised at Brandon Rogers & Associates for allowing a letter like this to go out on Brandon Rogers stationery.

Consultants ought to realize they are actually representing the City of Novi.

Deeper than that, Lemke's actions have now brought up questions about the Woodlands Ordinance itself. What happens when the city (or Lemke) refuses to allow a resident to remove a tree? What happens if that tree or a limb later falls on a house or car? Or a child playing out in the yard? Is this a liability question that the city should even get close to wrestling with?

That's a question council members were knocking around as they broke for coffee during the Monday night meeting. It's a question that should be answered.

Until then, apologies are in order.

Council members also reappointed current Planning Commission Chairperson Judith Johnson and Vice Chairperson Charles Kureth to the two other vacancies on the commission.

Both Johnson and Kureth have worked long, hard hours on the behalf of the city. Faced with marathonsession planning commission meetings, they routinely seek input from other commissioners, developers and residents before making planning decisions. In addition, they also regularly volunteer their time to serve on several of the commission's subcommittees. There's no question both are valuable commission members who have effectively performed their planning duties.

There was a sour note associated during the appointments to the commission. There appear to be unresolved concerns about Johnson's reappointment. During the council's interviews of eight candidates who applied for the three planning commission seats, the question-and-answer format shifted gears when Johnson took the stand. nything?

If you've been reading the Letters to the Editor in The News lately, you know all about this. (If you don't read them, you're missing some of the best entertainment around. Even better than watching people trying to find their way into and around the Town Center.)

Back in May, someone wrote in to point out the severity and magnitude of the whole laundry problem. People all over the city are drying clothes outdoors, and by gosh, it just looks horrible. A real blight on the community. Somebody comes over to visit, and what are you supposed to do? Their sensitive natures have to be protected somehow, and it's pretty inconvenient to move out of town on short notice.

The scandal – "Clotheslinegate," I call it – finally reached the council table a couple of weeks ago. And what did they do? Not a thing.

I'm appalled that elected officials are shirking their duties like this. Isn't that the whole point of city government, to address issues like these? Can it be that the council members really don't understand the gravity of the situation?

If so, they only need to think for a minute about the potential consequences of their inaction. Let's say you're walking down the street when you see an errant towel blowing along, let loose by a faulty clothespin. You decide to retrieve the towel for its owner and you chase it down an unfamiliar cul-de-sac. You grab the towel, but then realize you're in a totally unfamiliar part of the subdivision with no idea of how to get back home. You survive for the next three weeks on acorns and geranium bulbs until the search party finds you.

Another example. You're strolling through the mall and your eyes meet the person of your dreams — your lifetime significant other, your soulmate. It's love at first sight. You bring your sweetheart home for a glass of milk, you open the drapes to look at the sunset - and instead of a symphony of pink and orange sky, you are greeted by the sight of your neighbor's dingy whites. Instantly sickened, your lover rushes out, never to be seen again.

One more. The President of the United States is in the area and he decides to drop into the Novi Inn or the Goat Farm. On his way to the bar he gets lost and drives through a subdivision. He stops at your house to ask directions and notices the laundry hanging out at your neighbor's house. You answer the door, and the President says, "Gee, people around here sure don't know how to deal with ring around the collar, do they?" What are you supposed to say?

And these are not even the worst cases. No, the scenes are not pretty ones, but the threat of them is all too real.

Thank heaven there is still time. The council made a serious error in judgment in passing over this issue, but there should still be time to remedy the situation. They need to address the problem immediately and straighten things out once and for all. Before somebody gets hurt.

"Au revoir, mon frere." Yes, folks, it is with heavy heart that I take pen in hand to ink this column. My older brother David just stopped by to wish me fond farewell. We said those things to each other which brothers only say when times are dark ... despair is imminent.

"You may never see me Jerome again, Phil," he said, tears welling in his beady eyes. "I'm going white-water rafting down the Colorado River."

Yes, it's true. David is taking his son Jimmy for a week-long trip down the Colorado River ... shooting the rapids through the Grand Canyon.

It's cause for great concern. David falls somewhat short of being God's gift to the great American outdoors. You'll never see Dave on Mort Neff's televisionshow. You won't read about him on the pages of American Adventurer magazine. David's idea of communing with nature is going to the Detroit Zoo. The last time Dave went camping (it was about 25 years ago), he caught the mumps and was replaced by his good-looking brother on the trip into the Upper

And now he's going white-water rafting down the Colorado River. What a joke. How's he going to eat? There aren't any Burgers Kings along the Colorado River. Where's he going to sleep? You can't pull into a Motel No. VI in the Grand Canyon. I wonder if be realizes that nobody's going to turn down the covers and leave a little mint on the pillow when he goes to bed at night.

I wonder if he realizes he's not even going to have a pillow.

Will I miss him while he's gone? Will I pray every night for his safe return? Will I count the days until I once again can see his bald dome gleaming in the midday sun?

You bet I will. That turkey still owes me fiv

Women who are tying the matrimonial knot for the second time are faced with a unique challenge — finding a wedding dress that will suit their tastes while tailoring it to the romantic occasion.

Brides marrying for the se-cond time most likely won't be looking for long, flowing tradi-tional white bridal gowns. Instead, they tend to opt for formal tea-length or above-theknee dresses or suits that reflect their personalities, tastes and lifestyles.

Depending upon the type of wedding ceremony they choose, the season they choose to marry in and the time of day the wedding takes place, these brides aren't bound by a dictated bridal dress style. Fashion for the second wedding is as varied and individualized as the brides themselves.

To achieve a romantic, personalized effect, bridal consultants often suggest that brides shop in specialized clothing boutiques in search of a dress for the second wedding. Boutiques usually carry upscale or out-of-the ordinary dress lines not commonly found in department stores.

Locally, brides have several shopping options. In Northville, the Marquis Boutique may offer just what you're looking for. The boutique is owned by Inge Zayti and is located on Main Street, next to the Marquis Theatre.

Ardis McLeod, an employee at the shop, "aid quite a few dresses for the second marriage are

Pat Armstrong, district manager for Casual Corner, said the store has always carried dresses appropriate for second marriages, but lately the management has placed more emphasis on them.

"We're catering more to all lifestyles in our dresses," Armstrong said. "We had quite a few women coming into the store and asking for dresses suitable for the second marriage. We communicated those needs to our buyers, so there are more dresses available here now." Armstrong explained that second brides often aren't satisfied by what they find in bridal shops because they tend to be older and have defined, sophisticated tastes. Also, they may have a more specific style of dress in mind. In turn, these women commonly find themselves searching for their wedding dresses in small boutiques or stores geared toward the professional woman.

"We try to take special care of the bridal party," Armstrong said. "We've even handled a dress for the grandmother-of-the-bride," she said.

She wants to know what's going on in all four divisions. And she's apt to exclaim all of a sudden, "The kid's got a hit!" How did she get in so deep in this volunteering? In answer, she said,

"When we moved here, my husband volunteered in it, and it got so that if meetings all year, and Vedro has a I wanted to see him during the sumfinancial report to present evey mer, I had to, too. Then our two sons got in." The sons have grown out of the league now, she said, but she and her husband stay in because - well, because "we love baseball and we cutting the grass, umpire fees, etc. love the kids."

Besides being concerned with What she can't understand, money, she said that during the though, is why more people don't volunteer

For the bride, two of the featured dresses at Casual Corner are a tea-length white lace version with a sash in the back by A-la-carte, at $120, and an ivory lace dress designed by the same company, at $110.

As a matter of taste, a more polished, tailored look may be preferred by the second bride, an effect that can be achieved with a white or ivory suit. Suits are available in lacy, feminine styles or classically tailored versions. Pastel pink, peach or pistachio green are appropriate color choices for wedding suits if white or ivory doesn't appeal to you. Casual Corner's romantic linen dresses trimmed in lace are good selections for bridesmaids or mother-of-thedresses, especially for spring and summer months. During the winter, velvet dresses in classic styles are popular wedding dress preferences, Armstrong said. Prices for wedding and bridal party dresses at Casual Corner range from $80 to $200.

Armstrong said the store can special order dresses if needed. Unlike the eight to 12 weeks it requires for dresses to arrive at most bridal shops, the wait can be as short as two to three weeks if ordered at Casual Cor-

Wildcat coaches schedule tennis 'academy' for girls

Jim Hanson and Chris Hayward know the secret to success - hard work, hard work and more hard work. Hanson is coach of the varsity girls tennis team at Novi High School: Hayward is coach of the junior varsity girls tennis team at the high school. And both of them know something about success. Novi's girls tennis team won the Kensington Valley Conference championship in both 1985 and '86 before having to settle for an uncharacteristic second-place finish during the 1987 campaign last fall.

In an effort to make sure that Novi continues to rank at the top of the KVC standings, Hanson and Hayward are combining efforts this summer to provide a "Tennis Academy for Girls" through the Novi Community Education Department The camp is open to girls who will be entering the seventh, eighth and ninth grades in the fall. Instruction will be provided at the Novi Meadows tennis courts for two weeks beginning July 11 and running through July 22. There's a registration fee of $45 per person, and lessons will run 8-11 a.m. all 10 days the academy is in Participants also will receive a T-shirt. Hanson and Hayward said the academy will give participants an opportunity to work on the basics of tennis. There will be an emphasis on proper grips, stance, forehand, backhand, volleys, serves, lobs and footwork. Also included will be complete coverage of the rules and scoring along with strategy for singles and doubles play. The use of a tennis machine and video tapes will help enhance the skills being taught.

For more information about the Tennis Academy for Girls call the Novi Community Education Department at 348-1200.

Player of the Year Skown receives top honors

VNEIL GEOGHEGAI

When Novi baseball coach Gar Frantz first saw a youngster named Dave Skown playing ball, he immediately fell in love with his smooth, powerful swing. Now, several years later, Frantz has even more affection for Skown's hitting ability. The 6-foot-5, 210-pounder has been a fixture at first base for the 'Cats for three best ever As a matter of fact, the campaign was so outstanding, Skown has been named the 1988 Sliger/Livingston Player of the Year.

"When Dave hits a line drive, you can almost hear it," Frantz said. "He could really kill you at the plate." For the '88 season, Skown led the area in batting with a .463 average (38-for-82). He also was the Novi team leader in RBIs (24) and on-base percentage (.527).

Skown batted fourth in the Wildcat line-up and was always in the thick of the Novi offense. "I was happy with the season, but my goal was to hit .500," Skown said. "That's what (former Novi great)

Jeff Tandervs hit his senior season and I always admired his hitting." Skown was a complete high school player because he was a solid fielder as well as hitter. And for a player his size, he also exhibited good speed (19 steals - second best on the team). "He's got great size and he's a good athlete," Frantz said. "He made all our infielders better because you couldn't get a throw past him - he's a big target."

"The greatest was when we won the KVC - I'll never forget that," Skown acknowledged. "But I thought we had an excellent season this year. A lot of people were saying that we were rebuilding, but we played well. I thought we could have won 20 games because we did have the talent - we just didn't get some of the breaks." Skown drew some attention from the college recruiters as a junior when Tanderys was the star of the team. As a senior. Skown was rated as one of the premier first baseman in the state and eventually accepted an offer to play collegiately at Eastern Michigan University after turning down Oakland University, EMU head coach Roger Coryell made a last ditch effort to sign him June 15 when he was on the verge of signing with Oakland. Coryell stayed at the Skown home until 1 a.m. before leaving with his signature. "The next day, Dave came to school with an Eastern hat on his head and he was smiling from ear to ear," in the athletic department and said that scholarship money will be made available later, depending on how he progresses and contributes to the program. "EMU has only eight scholarships to give and 35" players in the program," Skown said. "If I work hard and play some, I'm sure I'll get the scholarship money. "It's a top-notch program and I couldn't be happier. Mr. Frantz did everything he could for me and I am very grateful. ALL-KVC SECOND TEAM

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN staff writer

 How would you categorize a season that included a winning record and some outstanding individual accomplishments along with several disappointments?

Gar Frantz prefers to think back on the good times, but, unfortunately, the coach of the Novi Wildcat basebali team may always remember the 1988 campaign as the season the Wildcats failed to defend their first-ever Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) title.

"The KVC was always there,' Frantz said. "We had a chance but we didn't do it." Novi won 16 games during the season and lost 11. The team's 6-5 mark in the KVC was good for third place, so obviously there were a lot of highlights along the way. But for some reason, the low points stick out more prominently. Although nobody knew it at the time, the lowest point of the campaign came one-third of the way into the season when star outfielder/pitcher Ken Hendrian collided with teammate Matt Chirgwin and suffered a broken jaw.

He returned to action several weeks later, but was not the same player he was at the start of the season, and Frantz used him sparing-

"Bernie was the real surprise," Frantz said. "Once he got it going, we rode him for the whole season. He he acted like a seasoned veteran. He was also a good hitter, and just a heckuva kid."

Another pleasant surprise was the play of junior catcher Brian Daniels. earned run average). Because Forn- flashes of brilliance at the plate (.377 "Losing to Howell and then not get- wald didn't play baseball as a junior, average, .539 on-base percentage).

"Brian showed really good patience and made the pitchers work," Frantz pointed out. "He was a good hitter and that took me by surprise. I'd say he is already one of the premier catchers we've had in a long time

Of course, the team was led offensively by superstars like Dave Skown (.463), Scott Wladishkin (.419) and Steve Ross (.414). Skown led the area in batting, Wladishkin led the area in steals and Ross led the KVC in obscurity. Ross was a key figure in just about every Novi rally during the season from his second spot in the batting order and he was also the team's number two pitcher (3-1 record, 3.29 ERA, 1 save). But incredibly, he was virtually ignored by the KVC coaches in the All-Conference balloting.

"One of the things I felt good about is that some of our seniors - like (Jeff) Stanislow, (Eric) Schneider, (Rob) Baumgartel and (Matt) Chirgwin — waited their turn for a year or two on the bench and they came through with solid senior seasons," commented Frantz. Another senior who had a successful season was Brian Schram. The 6-foot-6 Schram gave up track and field to give varsity baseball a try and ended up having a pretty good year offensively. He batted .308 and had a on-base percentage of .410 although he struggled on the mound (0-3 record, 5.70 ERA).

"I was impressed with Brian." Frantz said. "It takes a heckuva athlete to step right in and play varsity ball with absolutely no experienc at this level."

Frantz contends that the '8 Wildcats were fun to coach because team speed was excellent and the talent was there. In many areas, the only thing that was missing was experience. With a host of quality players like Wladishkin, Ross, Hendrian, Daniels and Doug Justus all returning, 1989 could be a great year. "I can live with 16-11," said the Wildcat mentor. "We were kind o rebuilding after losing so many seniors. I'm hoping it will pay off next season."

Weaver stresses healthy living

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN staff writer

Northville's Dr. Arthur Weaver estimates that he's helped over 100,000 people quit smoking. As a matter of fact, for years Weaver has helped hundreds of thousands live better lives - whether it's through weight loss, stress reduction or even better nutrition. Weaver is a Professor of Surgery at Wayne State University, but he established and now directs a nonprofit corporation called the Better Living Seminars. It's main objective is to present to the community educational programs in the areas of health, exercise and nutrition. The seminars have been going on now for about 15 years, and they are as popular as "There is a lot of interest now particularly in the health related areas." Weaver said. "There's no question that we can make a significant impact on these people's lives, and one of the reasons we've been so successful is that the people come to us and they have already acknowledged that they have a problem. They wouldn't be coming to us for help in the first place if that wasn't the case." Weaver started a stop-smoking clinic back in 1966 and almost immediately had success. Soon thereafter he started to become recognized as a specialist in the area. "I got a lot of self-satisfaction helping people quit smoking and along the way I got pretty good at it," Weaver pointed out. "I probabl know as much about it as anybody in the country or the world. "But I quickly discovered if you took cigarettes out of a person's life but you left all the other unhealthy habits in, they'd eventually go back follow-up program, incorporated it into a non-profit organization and particularly stubborn habit. # Novi stars spark Legion squad

By NEIL GEOGHEGAN staff writer

It used to be the South Farmington/Novi American Legion baseball team - but now it's the Novi/South Farmington team.

With most of the players and almost all the key performers from Novi this season, the name change is only natural. Last year's coach Wally Christenson put the team together again this season, but he handed the coaching reigns over to Carl Geistler - so there are other changes as well. "The kids from Novi are a great group - they know baseball," Geistler said. Members of the team include most of the junior and senior standouts from the Novi High School team, and a handful of former Wildcat stars. Not surprisingly, Christenson likes the team he has put together.

"I felt Novi should have an opportunity to have more players on the team because we are playing our home games at Novi High School," he said. "We have 11 and that's the most we've ever had.

"This is a well-rounded team and they have the experience. With guys like (Dave) Skown and (Scott) Wladishkin, we return a very nice nucleus."

Just as they did this spring for Novi varsity Coach Gar Frantz, Skown and Wladishkin will be the corner stones of the team. Skown will be in handle the first base chores when he's not on the mound. Wladishkin will anchor the outfield in center.

"Skown is a strong pitcher and a very fine hitter." Geistler said. "He's got nice size (6-foot-5). Wladishkin has great speed so he can cover a lot of ground on the field and on the base paths. He gets on base a lot and he is dangerous once he does."

The starting catcher will be Brian Daniels, who is solid defensively, but proved this spring he can hit at the high school level when he batted .377 for Novi. Doug Justus will be the regular rightfielder and he can also fly like Wladishkin. He will be joined in the outfield by Eric Schneider in left - making it an all-Novi outfield. Schneider can also provide spot pitching help.

Former Novi greats Chris Henderson and Bill Yankowski also will be key players for Geistler. Henderson will play shortstop and has shown great range and ability in the field. but is currently in a terrible hitting slump. Yankowski will play third, first or catcher, but Geistler says he will be in the line-up most of the time. "Yankowski is a versatile guy and he's steady," Geistler said. "He will be a steadying influence on the team - he's one of the veteran players and he'll be one of our team leaders." The team's pitching ace may be Bernie Fornwald, who was 7-2 for the Novi Wildcats as a senior. Steve Ross the starting pitching rotation and will also will be in the pitching rotation and will handle second base duties. The rest of the Novi players on the roster include Rob Baumgartel, Brad Lewis and Jeoffre LaFontaine.

> "I don't think there's any doubt, the Novi kids will play a huge part in our team," Geistler said.

Farmington's Reid Gough is a veteran of the squad and will be one of the team's top hitters. He'll be a regular at second. North Farmington's Andy Drake will be the first man out of the bull pen.

WATERFORD 6-17, NOVI/SOUTH FARMINGTON 2-7: It wasn't a very impressive season opener on June 15, but Geistler was without numerous starters and it showed.

In game one of the doubleheader. Novi/South Farmington fell behind early and never did catch up. Brian Daniels crunched a two-run homer in the fifth inning to break-up the shutout, but it was the only offense the team could muster.

In the nightcap, things only got worse. Geistler's crew couldn't get Waterford out, and the main culprit was a slew of fielding errors. The game was eventually called early as the mercy rule was invoked.

"It wasn't really of great concern because we didn't have a full team and I am still getting acclimated to the boys," Geistler pointed out. "In the second game, we didn't get much pitching, but the field we played at had really short fences and I'm sure that had something to do with it."

NOVI/SOUTH FARMINGTON 7-10, 🜔 BERKLEY 5-8: With a full team on June 19, the locals turned it around and swept a close twinbill against Berkley.

In the opener, Bernie Fornwald went two strong innings to start the game and struck out five. Novi/South Farmington scored five in the second inning on key hits by Scott Wladishkin and Dave Skown. With a comfortable lead, Steve Ross came on in relief of Fornwald.

In the fifth, Novi/South Farmington scored two more times on Bill Yankowski's two-run double, and it proved to be the game winner. Berkley added several runs in the final two innings but it wasn't enough. Fornwald registered the win and Ross got the save.

In game two, a nine-run explosion in the second inning gave Novi/South Farmington a big cushion and the team held on the rest of the way.

The big rally started on a perfect squeeze bunt by Eric Schneider that led to two runs. Wladishkin, Yankowski and Doug Justus also had big hits in the inning.

Skown was the winning pitcher, and again, Ross relieved and notched the save. Reid Gough (3-for-4), Wladishkin (2-for-4) and Yankowski (2-for-4) were the hitting stars. "It made a big difference to have a full team," Geistler said.

Cabana nine takes three straight

It only took a few weeks - the Novi Cabana Mickey Mantle squad is star-

In the first week of action, Cabana dropped two of its first three games, and Coach Russ Timreck was worried about team unity. Last week, his team went three-for-three - outscoring opponents 26-9 — and the concern about team unity went out the win-

A lopsided 15-2 triumph over Lincoln Park 'B' on June 15 started the week and set the tone for more wins

"I was extremely happy," Timreck said. "We finally got the bats going, and we played very well. I think we're turning the corner and playing as a unit."

Pitcher Mark Van Amyede almost single-handedly crushed Lincoln Park, both in the field and at the Ameyde allowed just six hits, one earned run and two walks while fanning 10. Offensively, he was 3-for-5 with a home run, a triple and a single. Nate Faulkner also had a big day with two homers and a single in three plate appearances.

"Those two were really a two-man wrecking crew, but actually the whole team played well," Timreck said.

Cabana jumped ahead 4-0 after the first inning. Key hits included triples by Mike Yankowski and Brian Bartz and the Van Ameyde homer. Faulkner's first round tripper-helped Cabana score three more in the second. and his second drove in two in the third to make it 9-1. The Novi team wrapped it up with four more in the fifth and two in the seventh to win going away.

NOVI CABANA 7-7, LIVONIA 3-4: Cabana completed a great week by sweeping a doubleheader from Livonia on June 16 to raise the squad's season record to 4-2 overall.

In the opener, pitcher Brad Lewis sent Livonia down in order in the first, and lead-off hitter Rick Timreck started the fireworks early with a solo home run. Cabana added an unearned run in the first to go ahead 2-0 and it was 5-0 after a threerun third as Van Ameyde drove in one run and Bartz followed with a two-run double.

Yankowski scored in the fifth on another run-scoring hit by Van Ameyde, and Lewis helped his own cause with a RBI single in the sixth to make it 7-3.

Lewis went the distance, striking out 17 batters and giving up zero walks. Livonia managed just three hits as Lewis struck out the side in the third, fifth and seventh innings.

"Our pitchers are really coming around," Timreck said. "They know when they are going to pitch and they come to the park ready."

The nightcap was almost the same game. Cabana jumped ahead 4-0 before Livonia added several lateinning runs. Timreck started and was strong through five innings before tiring in the hot sun. He was relieved by Darnel Krause and Mark Clary, who wrapped up the victory.

"It was very hot and this was the second game of a doubleheader," Timreck pointed out. "We were trying to keep the guys as fresh as possible, so I used almost everybody on the roster."
