Tests indicate low radon levels in Novi homes

By PHIL GINOTTI
staff writer

The latest series of radon tests results, released this week by a private firm, indicate Novi homes are experiencing low levels of radon gas.

Radon-One, a private firm based in Columbus, Ohio, reports that one of the 23 test kits it received in November scored over the four picocuries per liter standard set down by the federal government. Another test kit received extremely high results, but was discounted since the owner had waited too long before sending it in.

Test results ranged from a low of .75 picocuries to a high of 86.39 — however, unusually high reading was scrapped because of the delay. The next highest result was 10.39 — the only one that scored over four in the remaining tests.

Radon-One distributor Dean Pickarski said his firm is getting higher results from Milford, Highland and South Lyon than Novi.

In Milford, for instance, the average of 42 November tests was 9.23 — compared to the Novi average of 2.49 in 22 tests. The Milford tests ranged from a low of 1.27 to highs of 20.72, 20.98, 44.93 and 53.39.

"That's what we're noticing right now," Pickarski said. "Milford and Highland are really coming in with some high results at this point."

American Lung Association Project Director Alex Johnson said no current data is available but a report on the next batch of tests is being finalized. Many of the Lung Association tests were sold out of the Novi Civic Center.

About 400 Novi test kits were sent in over the last several months, he said.

Johnson said preliminary indications show that about 25 percent of Novi homes are experiencing levels over the four picocurie standard. Another five percent are experiencing "extremely high levels" — over 20.

"We've got a good amount of homes that need to do something," Johnson said. "The number of homes coming in at over 20 is pretty significant."

The statewide average for homes over 20 is about one percent, compared with Novi's average of 5 percent. Northville's average is about 4 percent, Johnson said.

The Lung Association is in the process of verifying results from one city street which is consistently scoring extremely high test results. Johnson said they have received test results of over 70 from that street. He refused to disclose the area, citing the confidentiality of the report.

"It's confidential," he said.

"We'll be studying by city street but the city will not be getting those results. We're giving them general information."

Johnson said homes getting the high levels should retest with a long-range alpha-track detector, which can be left in the home for several months. If the results remain high, residents should increase air circulation in the basement area or undertake a variety of other radon reduction techniques, such as enclosing the sump pump, sealing basement cracks or covering basement drains.

The homes scoring extremely high levels in Novi were sent an additional test kit to verify results.

Radon is a colorless, odorless, radioactive gas that occurs naturally as a result of the decay of uranium in soils. Lung cancer is possible with heavy exposure to the gas over a long period of time.

The Lung Association kits are available at the Novi Building Department or at the Lung Association offices. The Lung Association can be reached at 559-5100.

Residents can place the small charcoal canisters in their basements for 48 hours and send them back to the Lung Association for scoring. In about a week to 10 days, the testing is completed and the results are sent back.

The charcoal canister is about the size of a can of shoe polish.

Planners OK early plans of PUD project

By BRENDA DOOLEY
staff writer

Using affordable housing as their objective, city planners encouraged developers of "Maples of Novi," a planned unit development (PUD), to pursue plans for the project proposed at Fourteen Mile and Decker Road.

Novi Planning Commission voted 7-1 to amend the city's Residential Area Density Plan to change the density in the area from 3.3 (R-1 or single-family residential) and 0.8 (R-A or residential-agricultural) dwelling units per acre to 4.0 units/acre over the entire 227-acre site.

The project is proposed in parts of Sections 1 and 2 on the south side of Fourteen Mile and on the east and west sides of Decker Road.

Planners also voted 7-1 to approve the Maples of Novi PUD Area Plan, a decision that basically tells the developer that as a whole the plan will work. The Area Plan is not considered a site plan, however, so the project is still in initial planning stages.

Both of the planning commission's actions are contingent upon approval by the Novi City Council.

Commissioner Kathleen McLallen opposed both actions, stating that she did not agree with decisions that would double the density in an area that is already congested.

Commissioner Gary Phillips was absent from the meeting.

"I think the project is amazingly wonderful in an idealistic sense," McLallen said. "But I have a problem with locating this in Novi... we're talking about doubling the density and adding 80,000 feet of commercial in an area that is already congested."

Police search for clues about rape

By PHILIP JEROME
managing editor

The investigation of the abduction and rape of a 33-year-old Novi woman from the parking lot at Mr. B's Farm in Novi on Dec. 18 is centering on identification of the suspect's vehicle, according to Novi Police Detective Frank Barabas.

In addition, Barabas said police are attempting to locate a man driving a blue pickup truck who apparently observed the suspect's vehicle as the victim was being released near the C&O railroad crossing on Beck Road at approximately 8 a.m. on Monday, Dec. 19.

The case is being investigated jointly by Novi police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. Barabas is heading up the Novi portion of the investigation, while Sgt. Doug Eader is in charge of the sheriff's department's investigation.

Barabas said Tuesday that police now believe the suspect was driving a vintage white panel delivery truck made between 1947 and 1953. The early part of the investigation has centered on proper investigation of the vehicle, Barabas said.

"Initially, all we had was that it was an old truck with no windows on the side," said Barabas. "But we've now been able to pinpoint some more specific information with the assistance of the victim," he reported.

Barabas said police also are asking the driver of the blue pickup truck who apparently saw the victim being released by her abductor near the Beck Road crossing Monday morning to come forward.

Kureth to consult for developer

By PHIL GINOTTI
staff writer

Planning Commission Chairman Charles Kureth has been retained to work for a developer attempting to build senior citizen condominiums in Novi — but denies that the relationship represents a conflict of interest.

Kureth — who is a private environmental consultant in addition to serving on the planning commission — confirmed Tuesday that he will accept a fee to do "minor" consulting work for developer Kenneth Singer.

Singer is attempting to build the South Pointe senior citizen condominium project off South Lake Drive, between Lilac and Henning.

Kureth said he will "leave the table" when the planning commission again reviews the project in 1989.

"When you work the kind of job I do, there are times that this will come up," said Kureth, whose firm CLK and Associates is located on Nine Mile in Novi.

"It's obvious that from this point on I won't get involved in it at all. I don't get involved in many things in Novi. This is one that didn't appear as if it created that many problems," he said.

In June, Kureth voted to approve South Pointe's preliminary site plan, but that was months before being retained to work for the developer, he said.

The South Pointe plans received planning commission preliminary site plan approval on Sept. 2, 1987, and that approval was re-affirmed June 1, 1988. Kureth seconded the motion to grant approval in that June vote and voted "yes" as the planning commission granted preliminary approval by a 7-1 vote.

Commissioner Kathleen McLallen

cast the lone "no" vote.

South Pointe hit a snag last month when the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) asked for a better wetland mitigation plan. Wetland mitigation basically involves creating new wetlands when others on the development site must be destroyed.

Singer said he agreed to hire Kureth in November — requesting plans that would meet DNR approval. Kureth said Singer will pay a standard hourly rate, which he refused to disclose in an interview Tuesday.

Singer said he sought out Kureth for the work.

"He told me without question that he would have to abstain from all future consideration of the project," Singer said. "He was very aboveboard about it."

Newspaperman dies of heart attack

Roland J. Peterson, 53, publisher of The Novi News and Northville Record, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Saturday, Dec. 24, at his Brighton home.

At the time of his death, Peterson was vice president/general manager of Slinger/Livingston Publications, which includes the Livingston County Press, Brighton Argus, South Lyon Herald and Milford Times in addition to The News and The Record.

Peterson is remembered by colleagues as a journalist whose fairness and common sense made him well-respected in the newspaper field.

Retired newspaper publisher William C. Slinger, who first hired Peterson in the early 1960s as a columnist for The Northville Record/Novi News, said, "I always felt Rolly was unusually fair and used excellent common sense as a newspaperman. The sign of a good journalist is someone who can maintain the respect of those he sometimes had to criticize. Rolly always had that respect because he was genuinely fair."

Slinger said he had the highest respect for Peterson as a journalist and will remember him as a man "genuinely interested in people and in the well-being of his employees. He was almost always upbeat. I feel I've lost one of my best friends."

Richard Aginian, president of Suburban Communications Corp., the parent company of Slinger/Livingston Publications, said Peterson's leadership will be missed.

"Rolly was a fun-loving guy who exemplified community journalism," Aginian said. "He was a leader for his staff, the community and the organization. His cheerfulness and leadership will be missed."

Jack Hoffman, former general manager and vice president of Slinger/Livingston Publications, and now publisher of the Straits Land Resorter newspaper in Indian River, Mich., remembers Peterson as a close friend and an excellent journalist.

City rejects warehouse planned near residents

staff writer

Because they would be visible to residents living nearby, representatives of Cunningham-Limp Company, developers of the Johnson Controls facility, have requested that the city reject a proposed warehouse located on the south side of the city.

The operation would also use the C&O railway to transport materials to the site. The city has approved a plan for a train loading or unloading at the site would block traffic on Novi Road.

"I believe it's a rather intensive project," said Commissioner Rico D'Amico, who is in charge of the Commission Vice Chairperson Judith Johnson said the decision to grant special land use was a "tough call." She asked the developer to submit revised site plans containing a lot of details.

Commissioner John Balagna suggested that the truck ways be positioned to the rear of the building. Plans proposed by the developer, however, would place the truck ways on the south side of the building, near the existing Arbor Drug warehouse.

The facility would be built on top of plastic pot boxes. City officials said the building would be located on the north side of the building, near the existing Arbor Drug warehouse.

Teen pedestrian hit by car

A 13-year-old Novi girl suffered serious injuries after she was struck by a car as she was crossing Ten Mile on Tuesday, Dec. 20, at approximately 6:30 p.m.

Christy Lynn Shortt, 13, was transported by EMS to the Children's Hospital of Michigan in Detroit where she was listed in critical condition, according to police reports.

Diane Kuper, a media representative at Children's Hospital, said Wednesday "Doc" that Shortt is still in critical condition, but she is showing signs of improvement.

The accident occurred as the girl was walking across the street.

Voters to decide millage renewal

A millage election for the Novi Charter Township will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 7 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center, 4875 V. Ten Mile Rd., Novi, MI 48062. The election is for a 13.0 mill millage rate to fund the Novi Charter Township's 1988 tax collection. The increase of 15 mills equates a $1,000 increase in taxes for a $10,000 state equalized valuation.

The district currently operates on two millage packages, one of which is a 10.5 mill package that was renewed last March. But because of the 13 mill package's forthcoming expiration, it is being replaced by a larger levy for operating expenses than is legally permissible under the state constitution.

If approved by voters the 13.0 mill package will be in effect from 1989-1991.

Planners opt for rezoning in southwestern Novi

By BRENDA DOOLEY
staff writer

Novi planners have approved the first in a series of rezonings that will bring portions of the city into compliance with the city's master plan. The area slated for rezoning from R-1 (single-family residential) to R-A (residential-agricultural) is in Section 32, which lies between Beck and

Garfield roads from Eight to Nine Mile. Novi City Council will now consider the planning commission's recommendation before the rezoning becomes effective. The planning commission conducted a public hearing about the rezoning at its Dec. 21 meeting. Planners voted 8-0 to recommend the rezoning to the city council. Commission

Gary Phillips was absent from the meeting. Most residents commenting about the rezoning during the public hearing favored the zoning change, which would allow larger lots in an area that is currently mostly rural in character. However, some residents asked the planning commission how the zoning change would affect their property tax rates. At least two residents expressed concern that the value of their property would decrease if the zoning was changed to R-A. Planning Commission Chairperson Charles Kureth explained that planners did not determine property values or tax rates. He said he did not know how property owners would be affected by the rezoning and suggested that anyone having questions should contact the city assessor. David Bartsky, a Nine Mile resident, asked why the rezoning was being considered at this time. He noted that the land carried an agricultural zoning quite a few years ago, but was later changed to R-1. Bartsky said he was skeptical of the zoning change.

Commission Vice Chairperson Judith Johnson explained that the rezoning was the result of a density study of the city. "Going from R-1 to R-A will cut the number of houses that can be built in the western portion of the city," Johnson explained. "It also will cut the number of cars traveling on those roads."

Novi News publisher dies

"We grew up in this business together," Hoffman said. "He was an excellent writer and well-liked by staff people. Rolly was always bubbling with energy and optimism. If you were down, he'd cheer you up. I know when I was general manager at Sliger/Livingston, I depended on Rolly heavily. I couldn't have done it without him."

Hoffman remembers how Peterson encouraged him to buy a newspaper of his own. "I was thinking about buying a newspaper, but had just suffered a heart attack and was a little down, telling myself I was too old to begin a new venture," Hoffman said. "But Rolly was there with encouragement for me. He told me that my life was just beginning, and that it was nonsense not to buy my own paper."

Born April 28, 1935, in Ironwood, Mich., Peterson graduated from the University of Michigan in 1958 and taught English at Northville High School. He broke into reporting as a columnist at The Record, reviewing books and plays. "He was extremely articulate and an excellent writer," Sliger said. At the urging of Sliger, Peterson later became a full-time journalist, serving as editor of The News for about eight months and as editor of The Herald for slightly more than one year. In 1969, Peterson was named editor of The Brighton Argus, following acquisition of that paper by Sliger. In 1980, Peterson was named a director of Sliger Home Newspapers while he continued as editor of the Argus.

When SCC purchased the Livingston County Press, the Milford Times and other newspapers in 1980, Peterson was named publisher of the Livingston County newspapers. He was named executive editor in 1981, concurrent with consolidations of Livingston County newspapers and Sliger Home Newspapers into Sliger/Livingston Publications. He was named vice president and general manager of the newspaper group in 1985.

Peterson was married to Wendy Wistert in Toledo, Ohio, on Oct. 8, 1966. They moved to Brighton from Ann Arbor in 1972. She is an attorney and currently the Livingston County Friend of the Court. Long active in community affairs, Peterson was a member and secretary of the Howell Rotary Club, a member of the board of the Livingston County Economic Development Corp., and a former member of the board of directors of the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce.

A person who enjoyed both sports and young people, he served as a coach for the Brighton Community Schools youth baseball and basketball teams. In addition to his wife Wendy, he is survived by his two sons: David, a junior at the University of Michigan, and Gregory, a freshman at Michigan State University; a sister, Jewel, of Minneapolis, Minn., a niece and a nephew.

Cremation has taken place. A memorial service is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Thursday from St. Paul Lutheran Church, 702 M-36 (3 1/2 miles west of U.S. 24), Hamburg, with the Rev. Carl Welsch officiating. Memorial contributions in Peterson's name are suggested to Brighton youth baseball/softball/basketball programs, in care of 7878 Brighton Road, Brighton, MI 48116.

T WINTER Activities

Places to Play

Put your boots on. Pull the warm woolly hat, mittens and scarf out of hiding. Old Man Winter is here. The same snowy weather that causes headaches for commuters makes for a lot of recreational fun for outdoor enthusiasts. As snowflakes cover the green, green grass in your backyard, don't fill your head with visions of heading to the sunny South. And don't make plans to hibernate for the winter.

It's time to drag out the sleds, toboggans, snowshoes, ice skates, skis, and snowmobiles. If none of the winter sports appeal to you, try building a snowman or even an ice sculpture. Or simply strolling through a winter wonderland can prove calming on a pleasant winter afternoon.

Several area parks and resorts provide trails for sledging, snowmobiling and skiing as well as rinks for ice skating and hockey.

Try skiing at one of the ski resorts in southeast Michigan — Alpine Valley and Highland Recreation Area, both in Milford; Mt. Brighton in Brighton; Mt. Holly in Holly; Pine Knob in Clarkston; or Riverview Highlands in Riverview. Vertical drops are 200-350 feet and night skiing is often available. Lift fees range from $5 to $18 at the resorts.

If you're interested in traveling farther east or west to ski, there are resorts scattered throughout the state — Bintlz Apple Mountain in Freeland; Hanson Hills in Grayling; Bittersweet in Otsego; Boyne Highlands in Harbor Springs; Boyne Mountain in Boyne Falls; Caberfae in Cadillac; Cannonsburg in Belmont; Crystal Mountain in Thompsonville; Hickory Hills in Traverse City; Nub's Nob in Harbor Springs; Pando in Rockford; Shanty Creek in Bellaire; Sugar Loaf in Cedar and Timber Ridge in Gobles, just to name a few.

Cross-country skiers will find plenty of wide open spaces to glide through at Kensington Metro Park, Maybury State Park and at local golf courses that allow the winter sport. For those who don't own a pair of cross-country skis, rentals are available at many of the areas that offer trails.

Highland Recreation Area in Milford, Mt. Holly in Holly, Pine Knob in Clarkston and Riverview Highlands in Riverview also offer cross-country skiing trails.

Ice skaters can enjoy their hobby at outdoor rinks in the area. Two outdoor rinks — one for skating and one for hockey — are planned at Power Park behind the Novi Civic Center, on the south side of Ten Mile Road east of Taft Road. Information on Power Park rinks, including ice conditions will be updated daily on the Novi Parks and Recreation hotline, 347-0473.

Other outdoor sites include two cleared areas on Wilcox Pond, off of Northville Road below Five Mile Road, and the pond at Maybury State Park on Eight Mile. Call 261-1900 to ask about ice conditions on Wilcox Pond and 349-8390 to inquire about ice conditions at Maybury.

Skaters who prefer an indoor ice rink may find the Plymouth Ice Arena more suitable to their liking. The area has open skating time every day of the week but Saturday. Call 455-6620 for more information on times and costs.

Trails are available for snowmobiling at many area state parks. A minimum of four inches of snow is necessary for the sport so you may want to call ahead to check on conditions before gassing up and heading out.

Snowmobile trails can be found at state parks in Holly, near Pontiac, where there is 1,870 acres of trails; Bald Mountain, near Pontiac, where there is 2,800 acres; Pontiac Lake, 3,500 acres; Highland, near New Hudson, 3,600 acres; Dodge Park No. 4, near Pontiac, 130 acres; Brighton, 3,820 acres; Island Lake, near Brighton, 3,100 acres; Pinckney, near Gregory, 5,500 acres.

Superfisky gives time to education

By DOROTHY NASH
 special writer

"We're just getting off the ground," commented Fil Superfisky about the Novi Educational Fund, of which he is one of the seven voting trustees.

The purpose of the fund, he said, is "to provide enhancement to education in the Novi community" — education from pre-school on up indefinitely. And it is funded by contributions which people make, tax deductible, in the form of money or saleable property, for educational purposes.

Sometimes donors provide scholarships and "with strings attached," Superfisky said. For example, one was designated for a student with athletic prowess and average grades. Another was for a student who is going to work his way through college.

The fund is also for individuals who have dropped out of school and now want to return but need financial help.

It's for teachers who, Superfisky suggested, "have a wonderful idea but can't get the money from the school board to finance it. If we think it has merit, we can fund it as a pilot project. Then, if it is successful, we can turn it over to the school board."

The fund is also for general community interest. In illustration, he said, "Last year someone 4-H wanted to do a one-day pioneer festival, going back to Novi roots." There was sheep-shearing, yarn-spinning and loom-weaving, plus candle-making and bread-baking.

"We funded it because of the educational aspect."

In other words, Superfisky said, "We're a source of money, and we look for a place in the community where we can place it."

And he said also that anyone interested in learning more about the Novi Educational Fund is welcome to come to the trustees meetings which are held at 7 a.m. on the second Tuesday of each month.

Fall Sports

The Ladycat netters then clinched the title by sweeping through the KVC Meet, reaching the finals in all seven flights and coming away with three KVC individual championships.

Conference championships were won by Kathy Bealor at second singles, Rita Kang and Christina Ingmire at first doubles, and Rachel Saszynski and Dana Topper at third doubles. Finishing second in the KVC were Sandy Bragg at first singles, Melissa Cooper at third singles, Pam Hsu at fourth singles, and Pam Butler and Cherie Brown at second doubles.

BOYS CROSS-COUNTRY: Coach Bob Smith's harriers did not win a KVC championship, but splendid senior Rob Rasmussen became the first runner in Novi history to win the KVC individual championship.

The KVC's premier runner won the conference meet by a full 20 seconds over his nearest competitor as the Wildcats finished third in the team standings. Bret VanDyke added a third place finish in the KVC.

Rasmussen continued to excel in post-season competition. In the state meet, he ran to an eighth-place finish to establish himself as one of the top distance runners in school history.

"I really believe we were one of the top 15 teams in the state," commented Smith.

GIRLS CROSS-COUNTRY: Coach Norm Norgren's squad enjoyed what may have been its best season in history.

Competing in the KVC, perhaps the strongest conference in the state, the Ladycats posted a 4-2 record. They finished third in dual meets, fourth in the KVC Meet and third overall.

Novi's Gwen Rowlands after her 100 freestyle effort

The Ladycats were led by Jenny Galland, who won All-KVC and All-Oakland County honors before going on to finish 23rd in the state meet. Joining Galland to give Novi a strong 1-2 punch was Lisa Heath, another All-KVC and All-Oakland County runner who finished 30th in the state meet.

SWIMMING: Coach Rick Anderson's Novi tank team lacked the depth to excel in dual meets (3-5 record for the season). But the Ladycats were tough in the big ones.

How tough were they? Ninth best in the state. Led by Gwen Rowlands and Beth Surowiec, Novi accumulated 51 points to finish ninth in the state — the highest finish in Novi history.

Rowlands led the way, posting a pair of top-three finishes at the state meet. She came in second in the 100 freestyle and third in the 200 freestyle.

Surowiec added a pair of ninth place finishes in the 100 backstroke and 200 individual medley.

GIRLS BASKETBALL: Not all Novi teams had stellar falls. The '88 campaign proved to be a major struggle for Coach Debbie Harris' girls basketball squad which was 0-19 in the KVC and 2-19 for the season.

Top players were Nicki Kasten who earned a second-team berth on the All-Area squad and led the Ladycats in scoring with an average of 9.3 points per game, assisits (1.4 per game) and steals (3.6 per game). Darcey Cupp was another key performer, and Adrienne Miskovich offered hopes for a brighter future.

GOLF: The '88 Wildcat golf team won more KVC matches than any team in school history, posting a 3-3 record in the KVC (good for sixth place) and a 3-6 overall record.

Still, Coach John Peace saw signs of hope, noting that his young golfers were only eight strokes from being undefeated in KVC dual matches.

Brent Norton, the only senior on the team, earned All-KVC honors by finishing third in the conference meet. He also had Novi's top nine-hole average of 43.66 strokes per round. Steve Megesi had the best 18-hole average — 83.3 strokes per round.

BOYS SOCCER: The Novi boys soccer team enjoyed its finest season in history, compiling a 6-2-2 record in the KVC (for second place) and an overall record of 11-4-4.

Earning All-KVC honors were Bryan Anderson, Keith Parmley, Scott Pheiffer, Todd Wise and Trey Neubauer.

School board election

Novi voters played key roles in local elections during 1988, as they went to the polls in August and November to cast ballots for a wide variety of candidates.

Besides playing a role in electing a new president and a slate of national, state and county officers, Novi voters had a tough choice to make between appointed incumbent Judge Brian MacKenzie and challenger Terence Jolly in the race for the 52nd District Court bench.

Both were attempting to be the first Novi resident ever elected to the 52nd District Court bench.

But MacKenzie erased the "appointed" label from his title forever, beating Jolly in a hard-fought and well-financed race that ran from May to November.

Five candidates stepped forward to face-off in the Aug. 2 primary. They were Jolly and MacKenzie, plus Emery Jacques of Northville, who rented an apartment in Novi about a month before the election in an effort to qualify for the ballot; Michael Reeds of Commerce Township; and Peter Abbo, also of Commerce.

1988 YEAR IN REVIEW

Election

They announced in April, trying to get an early jump on MacKenzie, who had been appointed to the court by Gov. James Blanchard in February.

That left incumbent Harold Bulgarelli unopposed for a six-year term on the court.

The primary race was non-descript, almost non-existent at times, as the candidates courted local voters with a few well-placed campaign signs. They shied away from taking each other to task.

MacKenzie entered the primary foray very late — only about three weeks before voters were due to go to the polls — leading some to wonder whether or not he had waited too long.

But it worked. Not exactly as he wanted it, but it still worked.

MacKenzie gained one of the top two spots in the primary, finishing second to Jolly with 3,089 votes. Jolly was the primary's top vote-getter with 3,308 votes.

Reeds with 1,995, Jacques with 1,450 and Abbo with 872 rounded out the field.

Jolly beat MacKenzie in Novi by a count of 1,091 to 555.

The tone of the campaign then changed as the two became involved in a bitter struggle for the bench.

Three weeks before the election, Jolly accused MacKenzie of falsifying campaign literature in an effort to gain the support of area absentee voters. The oddly-worded literature said MacKenzie had gained the endorsement of "every" major law enforcement group "to endorse" in the race.

The literature went on to several thousand area absentee voters.

Jolly claimed that he had gained the endorsement of Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and the White Lake Police Officers Association.

Jolly issued an ultimatum to MacKenzie at the South Lyon "Pumpkinfest" parade Oct. 9, hand-delivering it. He called on MacKenzie to correct the alleged inaccuracies and also take out ads in local newspapers clarifying the "facts."

MacKenzie did nothing. He claimed Patterson was a person, not a major law enforcement group and that the White Lake Police Officers Association was a "social club," not a representative of White Lake Police Officers.

Indeed, a member of the department was later disciplined — suspended for a day — for sending out the White Lake Police Officers Association endorsement on official township letterhead.

There were also persistent charges that campaign signs were being destroyed, that MacKenzie got the judgeship because of a political debt — his former father-in-law is Doug Fraser, past United Auto Workers (UAW) official and Democrat heavyweight. MacKenzie called Jolly's Republican Party endorsement "improper" — partisan politics.

The campaign wound to a close with MacKenzie gaining endorsements from several area newspapers — The South Lyon Herald, The Milford Times, The Spinal Column Newsweekly and the Novi News. Jolly gained the endorsement of the Oakland Press.

But early Nov. 9, it was apparent MacKenzie had what it took to win the judgeship. He posted convincing victories throughout the 52nd District Court area.

Jolly's 5,963 to 4,628 victory in Novi wasn't enough to turn it. MacKenzie won the race 19,872 to 18,137.

Novi voters also turned out in force for a host of Republican candidates in the Nov. 8 general election.

They backed County Commissioner John Calandro, State Rep. Willis Bullard, U.S. Congressman William Broomfield, president-elect George Bush and Republican county candidates from drain commissioner to county executive as they won impressive victories over Democratic challengers.

Even U.S. Senate candidate Jim Dunn, despite a floundering campaign, won in Novi. He lost soundly to Senator Don Riegler statewide.

Voters soundly rejected a countywide proposal to tax motor vehicle registrations and earmark the funds for roads.

50's Festival
 The first problem occurred when a dress owned by rock star Madonna was stolen from an exhibit of '50s paraphernalia brought to Novi's Twelve Oaks Mall by MTV.
 The dress was later recovered, and police officials had obtained warrants for the arrest of a loiterer in conjunction with the theft. The dancer was working in North Carolina at the time warrants were issued, however, and had not been extradited to Michigan, and had not been in Novi.
 The theft of Madonna's dress was only a minor compared to another major problem. Festival organizers were counting heavily on a Saturday night concert by the rock group Sha Na Na to finance the five-day event.
 A Saturday afternoon concert went off without hitch, but a huge electrical storm hit the area shortly before Sha Na Na was scheduled to take the stage for the Saturday night concert.
 The concert was cancelled, leaving the Festival Committee with the job of having the day night concert.
 Efforts to reschedule the concert were unsuccessful, and the Festival Committee decided to refund $18,000 worth of tickets — $18,000 which it did not have.
 Despite the setback, festival organizers were able to stage a second annual Michigan '50s Festival in 1989.
 People who got caught holding Sha Na Na tickets were told they could be redeemed at another concert to be scheduled during the summer of 1989.
 The '50s Festival was a success. It was reported an unswerving success. But the festival was not without its down-side as well.
 Koscio's Deli-Pub reported a big upturn in business. And numerous other merchants reported an unswerving success.
 Was the '50s Festival a success? Most — but not all — agreed that it was. The Novi City Planning Consultant, Brandon M. Rogers & Associates, P.C., reported that it was the biggest day in the history of the restaurant. Gary Koscio of Koscio's Deli-Pub reported a big upturn in business. And numerous other merchants reported an unswerving success.

TEACHER CONTRACTS: Novi schools' administration and teachers ratified a three-year contract in January, even though the current one did not expire until August. That contract, awarding teachers a 7 percent salary increase over the next three years, was the third settled under an accelerated negotiation process. By negotiating six months ahead of schedule, both parties thwarted the possibility of a teachers' strike — a feat that some nearby districts, like Garden City and Troy, would have liked to accomplish.

SCHOOL/CITY DEBATE: A conflict about which body rightly oversees the planning and construction of school buildings in Novi was generated in February during construction of the school district's maintenance building. The district maintained it was not bound by a city review of project plans since the warehouse was on school district property at Eleven Mile and Taft Road. The city, in turn, argued that the district should follow the process established for all construction in the city. The building was already three-quarters built when planners became aware that they had not issued any permits to the school district for the project. The two sides seemed to make up after each acknowledged a "Memorandum of Understanding," that was adopted by the respective councils. The board then subsequently agreed to submit site plans to the planners — but noted pointedly that it would not be bound by any city stipulations.

BOARD CONTROVERSY: In perhaps one of the board's most heated moments of this year, President Dr. Michael Meyer told resident Sally Marchak why she was removed from a text book curriculum council — her negative attitude and frequent criticism of the board. An apology was issued in the subsequent December meeting, but not before parents and residents who turned out in large numbers, expressed their their objections to the incident. After a second heated exchange between some audience members and trustees, the board did not change its position on the resident's text book council appointment.

HIGH TEST SCORES: Controversy at school board meetings was a new phenomenon in 1988, but strong performances by Novi students on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program were business usual as the district continued to enjoy a reputation for a strong academic program.

NEW FACES: Novi's board of education saw some new faces this year due to June's school board election and the recent resignation of long-time board member Sharon Pelchat. Incumbent Raymond Byers and newcomer Sandra Thornton were elected to the posts, winning the seats over three other candidates. Thornton took over the post formerly held by Norman Miller, who did not seek re-election. Trustee Dr. Michael Meyer then replaced trustee Robert Schram as president of the board, during an organizational meeting in July.

NOVI MEADOWS: Novi Meadows School, formerly Upper Elementary School, underwent several months of study by professional editors, a citizen and a teacher, in what came to be known as the "Novi Meadows Evaluation." At the root of the report was a concern voiced by parents and administration in the 1985-86 school year over the effectiveness of the academic program. Then in July 1987, parents' objections about a new school schedule, charging that not enough parental input was asked for in creating the schedule.

CARING...WHEN IT MEANS THE MOST

Ray Casterline II proudly announces that Casterline Funeral Home has begun offering Forethought Funeral Planning to the families in the Northville Area.

This new program allows people to plan their funerals ahead of time and fund them through a life insurance policy purchased from Forethought Life Insurance Company. The policy is guaranteed issue; everyone between 0-100 qualifies. There are few health questions to answer and no physical exams to take.

"Families are relieved of having to plan and pay for a funeral during a period of high stress," said Ray Casterline II, "and they are assured they will get the exact funeral they planned. We examined many programs available today and feel certain the Forethought program is the best. We're proud to offer it as another example of the complete range of services to our families."

In order to offer the Forethought program Ray Casterline II had to be licensed by the State of Michigan, which requires specialized training and study.

"I feel," noted Ray Casterline II, "that this license significantly expands my professional capabilities and understanding so I am better equipped to offer the families we serve a complete range of services."

With Forethought funeral planning, our funeral home offers a plan to our community that lets them relieve their loved ones of emotional and financial burden at a time of high stress.

1988 YEAR IN REVIEW City

The year 1988 was spotted with good news, bad news and some interesting twists...

NEW CIVIC CENTER: Ruby and Ira Fuerst and a variety of well-wishers were on hand...

M-9 PROGRESS: In mid-January, the city council supported an M-9 opinion that called for the major roadway to be constructed west of Haggerty Road...

SPIRALING PROPERTY VALUES: Residents winced in February, when most received word that their property assessments had increased drastically...

BOARD/COUNCIL FLAK: Relations continued to simmer between Novi School Board and City Council members over construction of school facilities in the city...

GOLF COURSE: One went the way of development, but plans were unveiled for another in April.

SANDSTONE: The city council reserved sewer taps for the new Sandstone project in June, even though the project is years away from putting concrete plans on the table...

SEWER EXPANSION: The council opted to join Walled Lake in a multi-million dollar expansion of the Walled Lake-Novisewage treatment facility...

THE DROUGHT: The first rumblings of this summer's extremely arid weather were causing a problem surfaced in June...

THE DRESS: Novi got national attention for being part of the theft of Madonna's dress. It was stolen from the Twelve Oaks Mall July 15 during the Music Television (MTV) UnNatural History of Rock Exhibit...

TRASH PLANS: Novi in September stayed with a group of splinter communities breaking from Oakland County's solid waste program.

BUDGET: The city spent more but tax less in 1988... sort of. Even though the new police-fire millage (1.2 mills) was tacked on this year...

DAISY KILLED: Daisy Duck, pet of Claudia Clark, was attacked by a vicious dog in April as she swam in her pond with male Donato. The duck lingered near death, began to make a recovery, then died May 2...

MAYOR FOR-A-DAY: Holland, Michigan, Mayor Phil Tansis, believed to be the youngest mayor in the U.S. (he's 23), was Novi's Mayor for-a-day May 23. It was part of "Mayor's Exchange Day," held statewide.

TANIS LEFT IMPRESSED: Tansis left impressed with Novi's handling of rapid development and bemoaning problems that are also hitting his side of the side - like traffic and roads.

SAD FAREWELL: The community was saddened at the sudden, tragic passing of Winifred Dobeck July 30. Mrs. Dobeck, 64, was killed when the tractor she was driving flipped over on top of her as she mowed grass on an incline near her Twelve Mile home.

MUSEUM: The Novi Motorsports Museum and Hall of Fame progressed further from being an obscure theory to a concrete plan in 1988. The first eight members were inducted in October and the plans were featured twice on the Entertainment Sports Programming Network (ESPN).

THE LANDING: The proposed public/private development near the southern shores of Walled Lake on the old Casino property continued in 1988. The city won condemnation of the few

Whether it was opposition to a new subdivision or reaction to state and federal inaction, Novi residents and political leaders were attuned as ever to environmental issues in 1988.

"SHED" ORDINANCE: After about a year's worth of research, the city council adopted a "shed" ordinance aimed at cleaning up the Walled Lake area of the city.

PARCELS OF PROPERTY: The widening plans are currently on hold, due to a denial of a state grant that would have paid for most of the project and because of the failure of the county $25 road fee ballot question on the Nov. 8 ballot.

WIDENING PLANS: The widening plans are currently on hold, due to a denial of a state grant that would have paid for most of the project and because of the failure of the county $25 road fee ballot question on the Nov. 8 ballot.

1988 YEAR IN REVIEW Environment

HAZARDOUS SPILL: A pair of workers were briefly hospitalized Jan. 19 when they knocked a bottle containing an extremely poisonous material off of a shelf at the former Quazite warehouse. The workers breathed in the product and later complained of chest problems.

CONTAMINATED SITES: Novi continued to have three sites of state-recognized environmental contamination in 1988. The 31-acre Anderson landfill, near Eight Mile and Napier Road, operated from 1966 to 1970. Some contamination was noted in the early 1980s.

WOODLANDS REVISIONS: City officials enacted woodlands ordinance revisions in 1988, hopefully clearing up some ambiguities within the ordinance and also making it easier for the city to work with developers on saving woodland areas within new developments.

EDISON FLAK: Residents reacted angrily when Detroit Edison removed a swath of trees in November, clearing an area underneath high-voltage power lines. After protests, Edison agreed to restore LIBRARY EXPANDS: The Novi Public Library began expansion into the unoccupied eastern wing of the building, which will house reference materials and serve as a quiet study area.

TOWN CENTER: City officials in November unveiled a plan to expand - nearly double - the size of the Town Center District. It met with a lukewarm reception.

MASTER PLAN: City planners approved several revisions and additions to the city's master plan, including lowering Novi's maximum population capacity to about 73,500 - instead of 78,800 as originally estimated in 1980.

WIDENING PLANS: The widening plans are currently on hold, due to a denial of a state grant that would have paid for most of the project and because of the failure of the county $25 road fee ballot question on the Nov. 8 ballot.
