Phasing approved for Landing

By BRUCE WEINTRAUB staff writer

Developer Jay Eldridge received at least a moral victory last Thurs-day in his bid to retain the right to develop The Landing.

By a 9-2 vote, Novi's Shoreline Committee recommended that the city council approve Eldridge's proposal to divide The Landing project into two phases. The proposed Landing is scheduled to be located at teen Mile and South Lake Drive.

The Shoreline Committee is limited to forwarding recommenda-tions to the city council for final acHoyer and James Wahl cast votes against the proposal.

Eldridge's proposal includes dividing The Landing into two phases. The first phase would include two restaurants, some commercial property and some office property. The second phase would include a hotel, according to plans presented by Eldridge last week.

According to the proposal, Eldridge would be given additional proval, obtain funding and begin construction

If the Novi City Councill approves Eldridge's proposal, the deadline for beginning construction would be extended to Aug. 15, 1990. His cur-rent contract with the city is set to expire Dec. 15, 1989, if construction has not begun.

The Novi City Council will consider Eldridge's new proposal at a meeting Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Novi Civic Center.

Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall said some members of the Shoreline Committee had questions about the new equity element of the Kriewall said if Eldridge decides not to build the hotel portion of the project, then the city has no assurances that it will be reimburs

"If the city council considers phasing, it must also look at the ramifications of extending the deadline," he said.

Kriewall said while the council may like the idea of phasing, it could defeat the proposal because it could defeat the proposal because it believes the project should be put up for another bidding process. Novi City Attorney David Fried said earlier that phasing was beyond the terms of the present contract between Eldridge and the

Drug czar slated to speak in Novi

Michigan's "drug czar" will hold brainstorming session on substance abuse prevention Wednesday, Nov. 15.

Donald L. Reisig, Drug Agencies Director for the State of Michigan, discuss President George Bush's anti-drug campaign at 7:30 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center (Conference Rooms A, B and C).

The program is co-sponsored by the Novi Council on Substance Abuse and the city to encourage parents to educate themselves and their children about substance

"Drug and alcohol abuse cut an increasingly dangerous path to the heart of each community," Reisig said. "None of us can remain untouched by its consequences. The cost of substance abuse, as well as its negative impact upon the quality of life, is immeasurable. "The good news is that such conequences are preventable. Every community with its people working together and utilizing all available resources, can provide the leader-ship necessary to develop effective drug prevention programs. The Novi area has a history of involve-ment and commitment. I urge all citizens to participate with us in this most important endeavor.

The Novi Council on Substance Abuse was formed in May.

"It seems as if the drug of choice with the youth of Novi is alcohol," said Council President Patricia Gilberg. "It seems to be the easiest for them to put their hands on and the least expensive."

After Reisig's speech, the group will discuss fundraising for the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program currently be ing conducted in sixth grade classes at Novi Meadows by the Novi Police Department. The Novi Optimist Club will assist in the fundraising.

"Most people think this is Novi, it (the drug problem) doesn't include us. This is a problem everywhere," said Cindy Stewart, public information officer for the city.

Pope and Crawford gain council seats

By JAN JEFFRES

An unusually large number of Novi voters braved a rainy Tuesday to throw their support behind the status quo in city government and to veto any hike in taxes.

Mayor Matthew Quinn was neatly re-elected, facing no other contender for the job.

City council incumbents Nancy Covert and Hugh Crawford were returned to office and will be joined at the council table by newcomer Tim Pope. Pope had said during his campaign that he was a supporter of the policies of Covert, Crawford and resigning councilman Ron Wat-son. Citizen-activist Laura Lorenzo lost in her second bid for city coun-

State Proposals A and B — both calling for increases in the state's four percent sales tax — were overwhelmingly defeated in the city, while Proposal One to raise Novi's parks and recreation millage by one half mill was also trouped. one-half mill was also trounced.

Proposal Two to amend the purchasing procedures in the city charter did get an okay from Almost 31 percent of the city's 20,179 voters went to the polls, a grand total of 6,132 voters. Precinct 10 had the largest turnout — 32 percent, while Precinct 4 accounted for the lowest - 19 percent. "It's a pretty good turnout, more than we usually get for a city elec-tion. Usually we get 4,500," said Ci-ty Clerk Geraldine Stipp, "I think it's the state proposals that are bringing a lot of people out."

Mayor Quinn received a total of 4,351 votes in winning election to his second consecutive four-year term as mayor. Quinn was first elected mayor in 1987 when he defeated Council Member Covert in the race for the mayoral post.

Covert topped all candidates in the four-person race for three vacancies on the city council with 1,179 votes. In the most interesting twist of the council race. Pope in his first bid for office garnered the second largest number of votes in the city council race — 3,645. Incumbent Crawford received 3,317 votes;

Dent Crawford received 3,317 votes; Lorenzo was named on 2,967 ballots. Proposal A drew "yes" votes from 1,201 people and "no" votes from 4,728, while Proposal B got the nod from 457 and thumbs down from 5,416.

Novi's own ballot proposals met mixed reviews. The parks and recreation millage was vetoed by 3,226 voters and supported by 2,422. Proposal 2, passing by 3,209 votes to 2,140, will now allow the city council to establish by ordinance the dollar amount in purchases requiring council prior approval and the dollar amount of purchases requir ing sealed bids - currently $1.500 and $3,000 respectively. The adjustments will be the first made since 1977 and are expected to reflect the inflation rate.

Watson honored at 'last' meeting

By JAN JEFFRES

Retiring city councilman Ron Watson was given a mile-long farewell gift Monday night.

In honor of his 12 years of service to Novi, the main roadway in the new Chase Farms Subdivision will be called "Watson Drive."

Mayor Matthew Quinn said that the city negotiated with Herbert Lawson Inc., developers of the 328 home subdivision, for the street Eight Mile to Nine Mile. The subdivision will feature homes in the $250,000 to $350,000 price range.

At the presentation before Wat-son's final city council meeting last Monday, he was given a green-and-white Watson Drive sign wrapped in brown paper ornamented with a racing car magnet.

"The city has a permanant remembrance of Ron's presence That's not exactly for his driveway," Quinn said.

To take home, Watson got a large framed subdivison map showing "his" drive.

Watson and his wife, Donna, were also the first to receive official Novi wrist watches, which bear the city's seal on the face.

"From the administration's standpoint. Ron has been one of the premier people to work with. He's done a tremendous job of serving this community," said City Manager Edward Kriewall, adding that he would view this as a "tem-porary hiatus" for Watson.

Novi school officials said they are pleased with the findings of an audit completed by an outside agency on the district's 1988-89 budget.

The audit, which was presented to the Novi Board of Assistant Superintendent William Barr said he ex-pected to incur less of a deficit based on budget amendments made by the board during last year.

Because the deficit was less than anticipated, the school district was able to finish the year with a fund

Six applicants lined up for planning board job

Six people have applied by the designated Oct. 31 deadline for a single vacancy on the planning commis-

The vacancy was created by the resignation of Enrico

The city council will interview the applicants on Nov. 13, said City Clerk Geraldine Slipp. Following pro-cedures outlined in the Novi city charter, the successful candidate for the nine-member commission will be nominated by Mayor Matthew Quinn and then must be approved by the council.

Digirolamo resigned effective Sept. 30. According to a city advertisement, the formal deadline for applications was Oct. 31, but additional applications will be accepted until the actual interviews begin if the city clerk is notified first.

In June, questions about the planning commission appointment procedure arose when a successful candidate, Thomas O'Branovic, submitted his application one month after the official May 12 deadline. O'Branovic ap-The following people have filed applications as of Nov.

One explanation is that any proposal which called for more taxes was bound to be defeated on a ballot which also contained two proposals to raise the state sales tax to fund education.

Another explanation was that all proposals to raise taxes are going to have a tough time in a day and age when voters believe they are already paying too many taxes.

Both theories have some validity but the biggest problem with the parks and recreation charter amendment that was rejected by Novi voters Tuesday may well have been in the way the amendment was struc-

The amendment itself was rather straightforward. Basically, voters were asked to approve a half-mill increase for parks and recreation programming. It was the rhetoric surrounding the amendment which created the confusion.

One of the city council's objectives in placing the amendment on the ballot was to secure additional revenues for parkland acquistion. It's the type of issue which people tend to support - particularly in an upscale, developing community like Novi where people can perceive the value of acquiring open space before it's all covered with subdivisions and shopp-

The problem was that the wording of the amendment which appeared on the ballot said nothing about parkland acquisition. It promised only a tax increase with no guarantees of what the money was to

I know that looking good is a national pasttime and that hair seems to be getting bigger each week - and I'm used to being a step behind.

I still dash to the grocery store in my jeans. I can't seem to cope with the thought of teasing my hair. It all seems just one step closer to the return to weekly trips to the beauty parlor and trying to sleep with a headful of curlers. I had begun to believe that women had attained a semblance of freedom from dryers and girdles and Then I went to the gym.

Well, the gym is a bad name for it. But silly me, I went to run and ride a bike and maybe swim a bit. That tends to involve sweating and getting your hair wet and let's face it - not looking terribly attractive

I went into the lockerroom to nut on my shorts: As I unloaded my decidedly un-trendy bag, where I shove my workout clothes, I happened to look around. The place was alive with hot pink and aqua. Two women to my left were exchanging horror stories about mascara

A strong vote against gambling

As a newcomer to the sport of horse tant to comment on it. But as one who has always been opposed to gambling in general, I feel I witnessed my first horse race just two weeks ago, ment at Northville Downs was kind enough to let me do an article on the newly pected, probably stands full of seedy-looking characters ambling up to the windows to place their bets, screaming their horses on. and cursing when they lost.

What I saw was much different. The grandstand is nicer than many movie theaters, with the more expensive chairs rivaling the comfort of first-class airline seats. Judging from their dress and attitudes, the clientele were from all walks of life. They gathered at the rail, yelling out encouragement or half-serious taunts to the drivers practicing before a race.

When a race actually started, bettors responded in a variety of ways, but few were seemed to accept the fact quietly, turning are so popular. from the rail without a word

As I have said, I am opposed to gambling in general. I may be one of the few people in the country who have never bought a lottery ticket, even when the amounts at stake get astronomically high. Something depresses me about state-sponsored gambling, seeing people who look like they can barely afford the gas to get to the convenience store standing in line at the counter to lay their money

At least with horse racing you get something besides the ticket, the mumbled "Good Luck" from the cashier who couldn't care less. Your hopes are literally riding on the back of a race horse, at the hands of an experienced driver - you're rooting for a team. For a few minutes anything is possible. You have something to cheer at night besides a machine that blows numbered ping-pong balls in the air.

Horse racing seems a staged form of excitement, with 12 two-minute dramas enacted every night. Though the players are constantly changing, there are a few perennial favorites, horses and riders or drivers whose names evoke images of a certain win. Over the grandstand lingers the heady hope of instant wealth. Perhaps it is a tribute to the perpetual optimism of the human spirit outright hostile if their horses lost. Most just that racetracks, and gambling in general,

But it was disillusioning for me to realize that betters walk out of the track with only 83 cents of the dollar that they bet. The track is allowed to keep an average of 13 cents on the dollar, while the state takes between four and six cents from the track. I don't know what I expected, I just hadn't thought about horse racing from the economic perspective but for the tracks it's big business. For the state it's a very valuable form of taxation that citizens who choose to gamble impose on themselves.

Horse racing is the link between more traditional spectator sports like football and baseball and state-sponsored gambling in the form of lotteries. It generates millions of dollars in revenue for the states and communities in which the races take place, for programs like education where the money is much-needed, and for that it is good. It's a case of the state arguing that the end justifies the means.

But I still can't help but feel a pang of sadness for the people standing by the rail, by the thought of instant wealth and walking out of the gates at the end of the evening with a little less money, and hope, than they had

Interior Place stresses variety

By PHYLLIS STILLMAN

When you walk into most stores, what you see is what you get.

But what you see is only a small fraction of what you can get when you walk into The Interior Place at 242 Summit Street in Milford.

Located in the Allen Center. The Interior Place sells home decorating items usually found in several different stores, such as: wallpaper, carpet, wood and tile flooring, linoleum, window treatments of all types, drapery and upholstery fabric, icture frames and the prints to put in them, custom-mixed paint.

What makes The Interior Place special is what you can't see - the custom design services and furnishings.

"We're more than just a paint and wallpaper store, and that's what makes us unique," explained Sherry Westmoreland, owner of the store.

The store is designed to help make easier for customers to find what they need. For example, wallpaper is arranged by style, such as country or contemporary, and fabrics are arranged by type and function.

There is a wide range of prices throughout the store, with wallpaper starting at about $7.99 per single roll, and carpet starting at about $7 a yard for commercial, $10-12 a yard for residential.

Milford shop combines design service

"We work on the retail suggested by manufacturers, then we do dis-count from there," Westmoreland alerted when items they need go on Whether a customer wants to buy a roll of wallpaper or have a whole house decorated, the staff at The Interior Place will work with the person to help figure out what will go well in their home. As Westmoreland put it, "We'll talk to the client. That's the most important thing - to see what their lifestyle is.''

Westmoreland is proud of her staff. "They're very, very helpful, and that's unique in this day and age. They don't push you, they don't make you make a decision. They understand how hard it is to do decorating. In addition to redecorating, The Interior Place is also a full-service design company. Some design services are free. For example, there is lmost never a charge for advice on window treatments. One of the designers will go to a customer's home, take fabric amples with her, and measure the indows. She will then make suggestions about what might work well in the area - all at no charge to the

There is also a subcontractor who will sculpt or insert color into rugs to form designs, such as a baseball hat or a business logo.

And the newest attraction is fiberoptics. Tiny lights can be inserted into carpet or wallpaper to form a design or to light dark corners. But that's not all.

"I really feel that there's not much that we can't do," said Westmoreland. "If we can't do it and

Rozell carries on honored tradition

Attention to detail shows in his craft

By LAUREN CHIASSON special writer

Ray Rozell is carrying on a timehonored tradition - the art of furniture restoration.

The owner of R&A Furniture in Northville emphasizes that there is a world of difference between refinishing a piece of furniture and completely restoring it.

"In restoring a piece to its original condition we try to preserve all the original parts," he said. "For a broken piece on this candle stand from the 1700s would be easy to replace, but it would diminish the value of the piece. I take the time and effort to repair the broken part and restore the piece to its original

R&A Furniture is located in a converted garage next to the Northville Watch and Clock Shop in town at 132 West Dunlap in Northville. Rozell does all the restoration work for the Northville Watch and Clock Shop.

Rozell is a craftsman in the true sense of the word. In the 15 years he has been in Northville, he has taken the time and effort to perfect his

In his shop, he sits comfortably on ing a heavy leather workman's apron well worn from years of use.

Surrounding him is a comfortable clutter of old and newer antique furniture in various stages of completion. Hanging on the wall is a German Vienna clock waiting to be restored. A clock case from the 1890s lies on a table in perfect condition; completely restored. Hanging in one corner of the shop are two pierce-back Chippendale chairs done in cherry dated at somewhere between 1775-1780 awaiting the workman's hands. And on the floor is a turn of the century baby walker done all in

"There is a big interest in antiques and period furniture because Northville is a historical town," he says. "I get a lot of work here, but I also do a lot of work for collectors and dealers. I get work shipped in from as from away as New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. A lot comes from

If need be, Rozell will also travel to a job site. "I travel all over the metro Detroit area. I like to work early in the morning until mid-afternoon he at the shop, and then I leave to do the school, "When I was a senior in high school I took some shop classes. I lov-ed it. I was the kind of kid who would carry a hammer to school. I was always looking for things to build, rebuild or repair.

While still in his senior year, he began working at two furniture shops
- Ruzzens in Southfield and Hoffmans in Ann Arbor.

"I worked full time, and this is where I really learned the trade with hands-on experience," he explained. "I had some very good teachers."

After graduating from high school, he had his first shop at his parent's home in Westland. He soon discovered, however, that most of his work came from Northville.

"At the time there were 12 antique shops in Northville and all of them needed restoration work. I would drive to Northville, pick up the pieces and do the work at home." He worked at home for six months before an opportunity arose in 1974 to get a shop in town.

"I was 18 years old, I borrowed tools and machinery I had been collecting since I was a kid, and opened

He started the business with a high school friend who had been in his same shop classes. Although the friend is no longer with him, Rozell is still going strong.

"I've worked some pretty unusual jobs over the years, he said. "One of the most unusual jobs I ever did was laying flat on my back on a 20-foot scaffold repairing an old English oak ceiling with water damage. It was in a big home in the Indian Village area

"One of the biggest jobs I ever did was an absolutely massive heavily carved American Victorian bedroom set. It was huge. It came down from Ohio in three truck loa wood bed frame at its highest point was 12 feet high. I had to dismantle it and do it one section at a time.'

Rozell says one of the bigger trends in furniture right now is Deco. "I wish I'd known this would happen 15 years ago when they had a hard time giving it away at auctions, and now people are paying a lot for it.

He says the classics are American period furniture from the 1700s. They are highly-prized because there wasn't that much made

He also finds that Victorian furniture is always popular, and there is a big demand for it at auctions. "Vic-torian furniture is just becoming an antique in my eyes because it is ap-proaching the 100 year old mark," he Rozell has developed an eye for his work. He has become an expert at identifying the period a piece is from and the type of wood that was used. "It is crucial when you are doing repair and restoration work to know exacity what you are dealing with, says Rozell, "and how to handle possible problems that may arise."

He does all the work himself and takes pride in what he does. "I can mix and match any stain, he said, I once had to repair a rare 100-year-old Heppelwhite dining table with a big burn in the middle of it. Completely extended, the table was 15 feet long. I searched through all the wood I had and finally found a piece of mahogany that matched the grain of the wood exactly. I cut a 2-by-5 inch patch and dove-tailed it to fit it into the middle of the table, then I refinished the entire surface. After that the table was taken back east and sold to a prominent dealer who was sure the finish was old."

Rozell not only can repair, refurbish and restore furniture, he also enjoys building reproductions of classic antique furniture when he finds the

His pride in his work shows because he pays attention to every detail. "Every day I go to work happy. I could make more money swinging a hammer and building homes, but I would rather do this. I get a lot of satisfaction being able to transform furniture back to its original luster and beauty."

Easton: solidarity plus char

By James McAlexander

The Easton represents the best of Southeastern tradition. The full brick exterior, symmetrical shuttered windows, and central front gable give the home a feeling of solidity and Colonial charm.

The entryway is quite formal, with stairs coming down to a small foyer between formal living and dining rooms. The front hall leads to a relaxed family room with fireplace and rear deck access.

The kitchen is conveniently placed between the dining room and break-served directly into the nook across a short eating bar. Pantry, storage closet and utility room are nearby. A half-bath lies at the center of the ground floor, close to all working areas of the house.

The sleeping quarters are all up-stairs: three bedrooms and a master suite. The master bedroom contains a private bath and Jacuzzi (one exception to the traditional theme.) The rest of the bedrooms are served by the main bath in the upper hall.

Gabled garage roofs almost beg to be converted into living space. Sherill Troutman Jr., the designer of the Easton, has anticipated that demand by drawing in a bonus room above the garage. The bonus room is very private, since it adjoins no other liv ing space. At the same time, it is readily accessible via either the garage stairs or upper hall. It can become a rental unit, office, exercise room or any other environment its owner can

The problems of animal abuse just get bigger...and bigger...and bigger...

On the morning of February 18, 1986, a 40-year old Dearborn man became annoyed at the barking of his sister's 9-year old German Shepherd, Toro. So annoyed, in fact, the man fashioned a spear out of an 8-inch knife taped to a 5-foot length of pipe and stabbed the dog repeatedly until he dropped to the floor. The stabbing was so severe, Toro later had to be destroyed.

But the cruelty didn't end there.

Just 10 months later, the same man approached a 56-year old Dearborn woman outside a local shopping center. Throwing her to the ground, he attempted to gouge her eyes out and choke her. He proceeded to stab a responding Dearborn police officer and had to be shot twice before being apprehended.

Disturbing? Yes. Coincidental? No.

A recent study by Dr. Alan R. Felthous, M.D. of the University of Texas and Stephen R. Kellert, Ph.D. of Yale University concludes "a pattern of substantial animal abuse may conceivably be associated with a pattern of recurrent violence against people." Granted, every case of animal abuse doesn't lead to human abuse. But too often, evidence shows that those who commit crimes against another human being have abused an animal in the past. One such example is a 10-year old Boston youth who took perverse pleasure in trapping puppies and kittens in orange crates and shooting arrows into the box. The young man's name? Albert DeSalvo, later known as "The Boston Strangler."

Unfortunately, such animal abuse is usually unreported or ignored until it

The problem is that violence inflicted upon an animal, especially at the hands of a child, isn't always considered a problem. It's dismissed as a childish prank or rationalized as an error in judgment.

At the Michigan Humane Society, we do consider it a problem. Because animal abusers all too often grow into human abusers. That's why the MHS, as the only defense against animal abuse, is the first line of defense against human abuse.

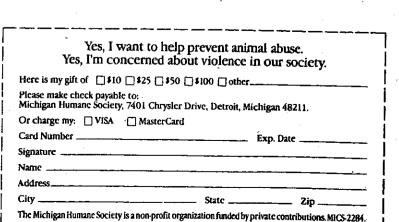

That's why we continue to battle for stronger legislation, vigorous protougher punishments and mandatory counseling of offenders.

The fact is, normal people don't abuse animals. Such actions are an early sign of deviant behavior. Recognized, it can be corrected. Ignored, it gets worse. If you want to help prevent animal abuse, support the MHS with a generous contribution. If you're concerned about the increasing violence in our society, support the MHS. Because if we can allow someone to commit an act of violence against an animal, we shouldn't be surprised when that individual strikes out against another human

The hard truth is, left unchecked, the next victim could be your pet, your child or even you.

Your contribution is tax deductible. And invaluable.

Local teen triumphs over battle with drugs

"The war against drugs is a tough uphill battle and when we look at all the work being done in Northville by the schools, community pro-grams and treatment programs it's important to sometimes look at single cases and know we are on track to righting the ills of substance use and abuse.

"I've had the pleasure to work with a student who now, because of his recovery from alcohol and drugs, is a positive force in the community. He is showing his gratitude and is presently in college attaining a degree in which he hopes to help others. He asked to share his thoughts for readers in order to help maintain hope of a better tom-morrow.

"This is his story."

very night the alcohol was poured into the glass and consumed one after another. Bodily functions slowed down and eventually suffered permanent damage. I couldn't handle this any longer. My grades dropped for no apparent reason and my life seemed to be falling apart. I had no control over my emotions. I didn't care about anybody or anything, not even the people who were close to me. I thought about getting some help, but I figured it really wouldn't make any and my problems. "The strange thing about this situation was that I was not a heavy drinker. I drank on the weekends sometimes, but that was limited. My father was an alcoholic. I couldn't pay the difference. For such a long time I didn't know that the alcohol was having the effect on my life. I didn't make the connection between it price that his problem was demanding on my whole life. I was paying for his problem, and it was unavoidable. You probably thought that I had the drinking problem. Wrong, I had a problem, but it was my father's disease. Alcohol and drugs don't take any prisoners, and they demand everything you have.

"Everyone has heard the phrase 'nothing in life is free.' Well, that is true in most cases. It is in alcohol and drugs. When you get high or drunk you don't get that for free. You have to give up something and the first thing that is demanded of you is your health. Then comes your mental state and your friends and family. Your relationships don't mean anything or are of little value compared to drugs or alcohol. So don't think you can continue doing drugs and alcohol without paying for it.

"I watched my friends slowly turn into what they called "social drinkers" in high school. Friends that I never pictured drinking were the ones who initiated it at parties. I always told myself I would never drink because I saw what it did to my family and my father. But I did anyway.

"Once I started drinking I really had to pay. My relationship with my mom went down the tubes. She wanted me to stop, but I wouldn't. I told her I was fine. I sunk into the deepest depression of my life and I didn't care about anything or anybody. I didn't like myself when I was drunk and I didn't like myself sober. I almost paid the worst price - I thought about suicide. But, thank God, for some reason, I didn't. It was really a cry for help and for at-

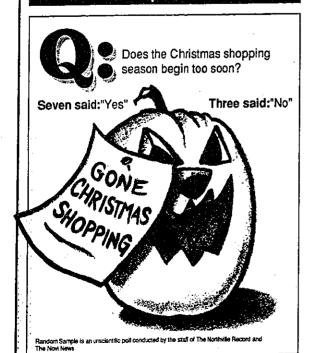

'One of my friends got scared and said something. Later I found myself involved in the Student Assistance Program at Northville High School, I worked through all of my problems after coming to the realization that alcohol was

"Most of my friends from high school still drink today and they're still paying the price they cannot afford. And one day they will come to the realization that this is ruining their lives. And I'm going to be there for them because I made it through. I'm in college studying communications. I've found that God loves me and has some great things for me. He has given me abundant life and happiness. He'll give it to everyone who accepts Jesus's Lordship. But, you have to quit drugs and alcohol. Before it gets to the point where you're not doing drugs, they're doing you. And no one can afford the

Kunz helps needv

By DOROTHY NASH special writer

Because some people have basic needs now and then, and some people always have them, the Civic Concern Committee was formed in 1983 to lend a hand. It's an all-volunteer committee.

and Marlene Kunz is not only secretary of the board but also coordinator of the project. Currently, Kunz said, 45 qualified persons plus 22 senior citizens come twice a month to the food distribution center at 21200 Taft Road in Northville. They come from Novi, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Livonia, and Northville.

Emergency medical needs are also met, Kunz said, as well as rent and utility bills. These, however, are first discussed by a committee of three, and if documentary papers prove the need, they are taken care of by direct payment to the agent, never to the client.

Clothing is supplied at specified times and places, and at Christmas there are available food, clothing, and presents for those who need

Supporting this program are food products from the Oakland County Food Bank and pre-boxed food from the Wayne County Food Bank.

Beyond that — an important beyond — are the donations of material goods and money from individuals, churches, organizations, Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts.

Implementing the program, Kunz said, is a variety of volunteers:

1. Registation clerks to screen applicants from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. two Thursdays a month.

2. Food packagers. 3. Volunteers to pick up boxed food at the Wayne County center.

4. Volunteers to carry the 40-50 pound boxes to the applicants' cars. It's volunteering, Kunz said, that "makes you feel so positive. You know you gotta be doing something right."

Interested? Call the office at 344-1033 any time to find out where you can fit in. If you get the answering machine, you'll be called back soon,

Boy Scout food program assists needy families

A joint service project, "Scouting for Food," is being sponsored by all the Boy Scout and Cub Scout troops in the Clinton Valley Council.

The program is being held in Novi Nov. 11, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., when a Boy Scout or Cub Scout will distribute an empty bag to residents, requesting that they fill it throughout Nov. 18 between 9 am and 3 nm Scouts ask that the items included in he bags be non-perishable

Families interested in donating to the program but not contacted by a Boy Scout can bring food bags to the parking lot of Elias Brothers Big Boy restaurant on Novi Road across from he Novi Town Center, where there will be semi-trucks available to load the food into. ## Outlet stores attract shoppers

That's the battle cry of thousands of Visa and Mastercard-toting bargain hunters daily invading the tiny rural township of Birch Run, just south of Frankenmuth. Detroit-area foot-soldiers of mass consumerism have already been storming the first factory outlet strip mall there. Manufacturer's Marketplace, which opened in 1986. The new center next door -The Village Shops — just celebrated its grand opening on Oct. 12.

The Viltage Shops boasts 34 manufacturer's outlet stores including Liz Claiborne, Etienne Aigner, Jones New York, Jordache, Oleg Cassini, J.G. Hook, American Capezio, Argenti, Evan-Picone, Gant, harve benard, Just Kids, Bruce Alan Bags, Fenn Wright & Manson, Company, Linen Mill and the Crystal

The food situation at both malls is pretty unappetizing. A few fast food restaurants are huddled around the freeway intersection. To keep your energy up for a gruelling day at the malls (and to avoid losing a precious parking space by driving to nearby diner), a thermos of coffee or a cooler of pop in your car may mean the difference between shopping burnout or survival.

With the kind of talent and poise Mollov has exhibited this season, he may be a contender for the state title pext fall as a junior. And if he continues to improve, there is a possibility that he'll be the favorite in 1991. "Statistically speaking, he'll probably be the favorite in a couple years," Smith said.

The running season is hardly over for Molloy, however. He plans to compete in the Kinney Cross-county Tournament in Wisconsin over Thanksgiving weekend and will also run in the TAC Junior Olympics.

"He's got all the tools to someday be the state champ," Smith said.

With the sour taste of a another season-ending defeat to rival Northville, and a spot in the MHSAA Playoffs wiped out, it may be hard to remember the highlights of the 1989 Novi football season — but there were many. The Wildcats extended their unprecedented dominance over the rest of the Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) by winning their fourth consecutive league crown. The Novi win streak against KVC opponents is currently at 24. In six KVC wins, the 'Cats outscored their opposition 128-25, including

Here is a game-by-game rundown of Novi's season:

NOVI 28, WALLED LAKE WESTERN 7: The Warriors ran back the opening kickoff for a touchdown on Sept. 1 but failed to threaten again against the stingy Novi defense.

The Wildcals regrouped to tie the score soon after that and then tailback Craig Berry electrified the crowd with a 46-yard TD gallop to provide the winning points. Novi scored two more times in the fourth quarter and Berry ended up rushing for 140 yards on 17 attempts.

The defense, led by linebacker Mike Yankowski, allowed just 104 yards of that was suspended for a day due to bad weather. The game-winner for Fenton, one of the state's premier Class B teams, came with only 1:19 remaining. Berry scored from nine yards out in the third quarter but the Novi defense couldn't pull in the reigns on Tiger quarterback Matt Idoni — especially in the final 12 minutes. Berry was slowed by an ankle twist and gained only 28 yards rushing.

NOVI 21, MILFORD 0: The 'Cats opened the conference portion of the campaign on Sept. 21 with an impressive shutout over the Redskins. Berry was the catalyst as he rushed for 155 yards on 20 carries and scored 15 of Novi's 21 points. Novi was holding onto a 7-0 halftime lead, but exploded for 14 points in the second half to put the game away. Berry executed a crucial punt take to set up the first and carried it in from the 12 on the se-

NOVI 20. LAKELAND 8: In the first crucial conference battle of the season the visiting Widdcats limited the explosive Lakeland wing-T attack to just one score and came away with a hard-fought win on Sept. 28. After battling to an 8-8 halftime deadlock, Novi scored two unanswered touchdowns in the second — both by Yankowski — to pull out the victory. Junior runner Jason Wladischkin rushed for 111 yards for the 'Cats and Eagle runner Bob Laura had 149 - one of his lowest single game outputs of the year

NOVI 20. BRIGHTON 6: Highly-touted and undefeated Brighton came to Novi hoping to hand the Wildcats their first KVC loss since 1985 on Sept. 29, but left without scoring a point.

The Novi defense batted down numerous passes by Bulldog quarterback Lee Smith, and the offense converted numerous Brighton mistakes into points. A (umble recovery by Yankowski set up the first score, an interception by Mike Gowans set up the second and a 79-yard run by Berry wrapped it up. The winning touchdown came on the first play from scrimmage, and it was Władischkin — instead of Berry — who got the most carries (113 yards on 20 rushes). Berry added 95 yards, and quarterback Chris Weldon passed

NOVI 21, HOWELL 0: The 'Cats won by three touchdowns on Oct. 6 against the hapless Highlanders, but it very easily could have been 42-0.

In the second half alone, Novi had three TDs called back because of penalties. The Wildcat defense held Howell to a mere 60 yards in total of fense. Berry scored early and then made it 14-0 at the break with a 60-yard draw play on a third and long situation. Wladischkin caught a 10-yard screen pass from Weldon to score the game's final points.

Berry ended with 132 yards, Wladischkin added 85. The defense — which notched its third shutout in the last four games — was keyed by Yankowski,

NOVI 26, HARTLAND 7: Novi went to 6-I on Oct. 13 by grinding out a 19-point win over stubborn Hartland at home.

Berry returned a punt 63-yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and added another six-pointer in the second. Weldon connected with Jeff Schram on a pair of scoring passes in the second half, but it was the Wildcat defense that really shined. O'Neill recovered two fumbles.

The Eagles held Berry and Wladischkin to just 68 yards combined.

NOVI 20, SOUTH LYON 10: Trailing 7-0 on the road to the explosive Lions and playing without Berry, the leading offensive threat — things looked bleak in the early going for Novi on Oct. 20. But the Wildcats regrouped to beat South Lyon and secure sole possession of yet another KVC cha

SPINAL ARTHRITIS

The aches and pains of theumatoid arthritis are caused by swollen joints that may become stiff. Spinal stiffness may be the first symptom. Osteoarthritis, caused by the wear and tear of age, thickens the joints and makes ordinary movements difficult.
