City budget overrun gets second vote

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

A Novi City Council vote believed to have authorized a fiscal year 1988-89 budget amendment last month was found in violation of the city charter and was re-cast a second time on July 2.

Much debated at the time, the June 18 resolution endorsed $1,440,324 in expenditures over and above the approved budget of $9.3 million. Department overruns accounted for some of the money, but most of the additional funds paid for roadwork. The money is drawn from the city's balance of surplus funds.

At the time, Finance Director Les Gibson warned the council if the budget was not realigned by the deadline, the city's auditors would be obligated to notify the state treasurer and attorney general. State law requires municipalities to balance their books.

The June amendment squeaked by with a 4-2 vote, with council members Nancy (Covert) Cassis and Joseph Toth taking the minority position. Mayor Pro Tem Edward Leininger did not vote because he was overseas on business.

However, City Attorney David Fried said July 2 that he had incorrectly advised the council in June that the budget amendment only required a majority vote. Fried referred the council to his November 1975 opinion which said that a five-vote majority is needed when the council authorizes expenditures not in the adopted budget.

Mayor Matthew Quinn explained that the previous vote "was improper — in the charter it was null and void."

The adjustment to the budget includes $235,102 in administrative department overruns, an additional $894,222 spent on the construction and maintenance of major streets and another $311,000 for local streets. The realignment also accounts for departments which ran a total of $119,539 under budget.

With Leininger back in town, the amendment reprise passed with a 5-2 vote. Cassis and Toth again dissented on the grounds that the departments should have stayed within their budget perimeters.

"Somebody better stand up and say you're overrunning," Toth said.

If the amendment were not passed, Cassis said, the council would give a strong message that it intended to keep within the framework of the budget, adding that the individual department should fund the overruns out of this year's budgets.

But Council Member Martha Hoyer said that the money had already been spent on items such as legal fees and utilities and if the budget were not balanced, the city's bond rating would be damaged.

The city exceeded the budget for consulting fees, building and vehicle maintenance, telephone bills and operating supplies.

"We've already spent the money, we need to clean up the budget or face the attorney general," said Hoyer. "If I have a problem with how things are being handled, I'll call somebody in here and chop their head off at the neck if I have to."

City Manager Edward Kriewall said that next year the administration planned to propose as a "number one budget priority" the funding of a budget analyst.

Paragon fires first shots in lawsuit

By SHEILA PHILLIPS
Staff Writer

Paragon Properties' case against the City of Novi over its proposed Napier and Twelve Mile mobile-home parks went to trial Thursday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Judge John N. O'Brien took opening comments and heard the plaintiff's first two witnesses June 5. The case is slated to resume today at 1:30 p.m. and is expected to finish before the end of the week.

Paragon, which is suing the city for more than $1 million, plus attorney fees, alleges it was unconstitutionally denied its right to use the 75-acre parcel because the city repeatedly refused to rezone the large-lot residential land (R-A and R-1) for mobile-home use.

"The issue is whether the residential zoning the city insisted on unconstitutionally denied my client its right to use the land or was confiscatory, and that is what we will show through testimony," said Paragon attorney Norm Lippitt in his opening remarks.

Truck injures Novi 4-year-old

By SHEILA PHILLIPS
Staff Writer

A 4-year-old girl was seriously injured July 5 when she drove her tricycle into the path of an oncoming Michigan Bell repair truck in Novis Simmons Orchards subdivision.

Sarah Ann Ward, daughter of David and Nancy Ward, was taken to Novi's Providence Medical Clinic and later flown by helicopter to the intensive care unit of Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

She was initially reported in critical condition but was upgraded to serious condition just prior to press time on July 6, according to police.

"The doctor tells us that all vital signs are good and there is no brain damage or internal injuries, but he also tells us that the next 36 to 48 hours will be critical," said Simmons Orchards resident Ed Funke, who stayed at the hospital the night of the accident.

The accident occurred when Sarah, who was riding on the sidewalk beside her mother, darted into the street and was hit by the right bumper of the truck, according to police reports.

The truck's Farmington Hills driver told police that he was unable to see the girl coming. Ac-ording to police, the telephone truck was not traveling at excessive speed when the accident occurred. The matter is still under investigation.

The accident, which was reported at 1:14 p.m., occurred at the corner of Fairway Hills and Cresview roads.

Simmons Orchards residents and friends of the Wards are attempting to raise money to send Sarah and her family to Sea World in Florida after she recovers.

The group has already raised $400. Checks may be sent to P.O. Box 8033, Novi MI, 48376. Or call Ed or Barb Funke at 348-0143 or Cindi Niehaus at 344-2843.

School board elects officers for new year

The Novi Board of Education elected officers and got itself organized for a new year last week.

In a special organizational meeting held Monday, July 2, the board members elected Robert Schram to serve as president for the next year. Stephen Hitchcock was elected vice president; John Streit, treasurer; and Sandra Thornton, secretary.

The board also certified results of the June school election, in which Schram was returned to his seat uncontested.

The first regular board meeting of the new year is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 2.

"C" is for congratulations: Novi voters may not recall seeing a Mrs. Cassis on last November's ballot, but she's definitely a member of the city council. Local official Nancy Covert on June 24 tied the knot with restaurateur Victor Cassis (of Victor's Novi Inn) at St. Mary's Orthodox Church in Livonia.

"I'm very happy and pleased. And that's reflected in my decision to change my name," she said. "The nicest thing is that my monogram has never changed. I was a Cunningham and I became a Covert and now I'm a Cassis."

Prime location: Pete Thack decided he wanted to test the real estate market, so he recently put up a few "For Sale By Owner" signs.

Nothing unusual about that, except that his five acres of land are in an area everyone in Novi is eyeing these days — smack in the heart of Grand Plan territory.

To the north and west of Thack's parcel on Napier Road is the 75 acres owned by Paragon Properties and now being contested in a lawsuit. Further to the west, is the land pinpointed for the city-initiated Novi Industrial Park.

tion for rezoning to from residential-agricultural to industrial, is designated on a site plan for the project as a regional detention basin. Thack says he's had some bites on the land; "I had a few fellows calling me up; they're waiting for the vote." (The Novi City Council is expected to vote on the rezoning of the top half of Section 18 on August 20.)

While Thack won't tell what he originally paid for the property 25 years ago, he will say that his taxes have gone up from $10 per year to $500.

Budget briefing: In the wake of an incipient Novi tax revolt, a Wednesday, July 11, informational meeting has been scheduled to explain the city budget to residents. City Manager Edward Kriewall, Finance Director Les Gibson and Assessor James Klausmeyer will explain the bottom line.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Activities Room of the Novi Civic Center.

Nursery openings: The Novi Co-Op Nursery School has a several openings for this fall.

Three-year-olds attend Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:15-11:15 a.m. Four-year-olds attend Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 12:30-3 p.m.

For more information about the school or enrollment contact Kathy Rainko at 344-0118 or Merry Kroll at 349-5842.

Net Gains: Novi tennis phenom Mark McGrew, 14, is on his way to a National Clay Court Tennis Tournament in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

McGrew qualified for the event in both singles and doubles by placing near the top at the Western Close Championships last weekend in East Lansing.

In East Lansing, McGrew teamed up with Brad Mendelson of Akron, Ohio to place first in the doubles competition. The McGrew/Mendelson duo were seeded first heading into the tournament.

In singles action, McGrew was seeded second, but was sent to the consolation bracket in the quarterfinals after falling to the eventual winner in three tough sets. McGrew ended up winning the consolation title and placing fifth overall in a field of 128.

IYCG Qualifiers: Shawn Koch, Chris Lemmon and Jason Sherman — all of Northville — have advanced to the Insurance Youth Golf Classic state finals scheduled for July 15-16 in East Lansing.

MONDAY UPDATE

Situation grim for displaced homemakers

The number of displaced homemakers in Michigan rose by 28 percent during the past decade, from 445,685 in 1980 to 571,950 in 1989, according to data issued recently.

The data comes from the Special Populations Office at Oakland Community College in conjunction with the Washington, D.C. release by the National Displaced Homemakers Network of a new report, "The More Things Change . . . Displaced Homemakers and Single Parents in the 1990s." The report reveals disproportionately high rates of poverty, unemployment, and doubled-up housing for America's 15 1/2 million displaced homemakers.

"This data confirms," Special Populations representative Lynn Scudieri said, "that even though many doors to employment have opened to women in recent years, the homemakers who take years out of the work force to care for their families are still largely locked out of higher-paying jobs."

The report analyzes 1989 Census Bureau data to assess the demographic characteristics of displaced homemakers nationwide. Displaced homemakers are women whose principal jobs have been homemaking and who have lost their main source of income due to widowhood, divorce, separation, disability, long-term unemployment of a spouse, or loss of public assistance.

"More women are in the work force than ever, but displaced homemakers and single parents still struggle just to survive."

Lynn Scudieri
OCC Special Population representative makers in the United States rose sharply during the past decade from 13.9 million in 1980 to 15.6 million in 1989 — an increase of 12 percent, or nearly 200,000 per year.

In Michigan, 77 percent of all displaced homemakers were white, 22 percent black, less than 1 percent Hispanic.

Nearly three in five (57.4 percent) displaced homemakers were poor or near poor last year, with incomes less than 150 percent of poverty level.

Almost one in four (23.9 percent) displaced homemakers 65 or over lived in poverty last year, compared to just 12.0 percent of Americans over age 65.

The number of displaced homemakers just as much as displaced homemakers need employment.

Since 1985, the Special Populations program has been providing tuition grants and support services to displaced homemakers and single parents in Oakland County. The Washington-based National Displaced Homemakers Network, comprised of more than 1,000 displaced homemaker programs, works to develop public policy for displaced homemakers and to provide technical assistance to services providers throughout the nation.

Snake gets loose in Novi trailer park

By SHEILA PHILLIPS
Staff Writer

An eight-foot-long boa constrictor escaped its snoozing owner June 30 in the Country Cousins Mobile Home Village on Haggerty just south of Twelve Mile Road.

The snake, which was still missing as of press time Friday, is named Alice and harmless to humans, according to naturalists at the Detroit Zoo.

The snake is tan and brown and eats rodents. Its bite is non-venomous and should be treated as a cut.

Alice escaped her Westland owner, who was visiting a trailer in the 26800 block of Lowery, while he was napping beneath a tree in the mobile home park at approximately 8 p.m. Saturday evening.

An area resident reported seeing the snake slip under his trailer on July 1. However, police were unable to find the snake when they learned of the sighting on July 2.

Alice, who is reported as being mild-mannered, was last fed on June 29. Boas typically eat rodents and feed only once every two weeks. And although Deputy Police Chief Richard Faulkner is not overly concerned, he says that owners of small dogs and cats should take precautions.

It is unknown if Alice is still in the Novi area, but police ask residents to be on the lookout. Anyone spotting the snake should contact Novi Police immediately at 348-0911. The boa, which likes temperatures between 70 and 90 degrees and is able to climb trees, is more likely to be spotted in the evening, Faulkner said.

It is unknown if the Westland owner had a permit for his feline pet. However, Novi Police say they plan to give the snake to the Detroit Zoo upon capture.
