Ex-mayor finishes 2,000 mile bike ride

By JAN JEFFRES

Here's what former Novi mayor Gil Henderson did on his summer

He took a bike ride. A 2,910 mile, six-week solo bike

All the way from Everett just north of Seattle in Washington to his home here - on less than $40

No mean feat for a 55-year-old retired middle school principal — but absolutely not out-of-character for Henderson, a self-described natural-born nomad.

You talk to my dad, he'll tell you I always was a wanderer, even when I was 2 to 3 years old. They put me in a harness and tied me to the clothesline when I was 4 to 5 years old. I came into this world with a need to see the world," he said.

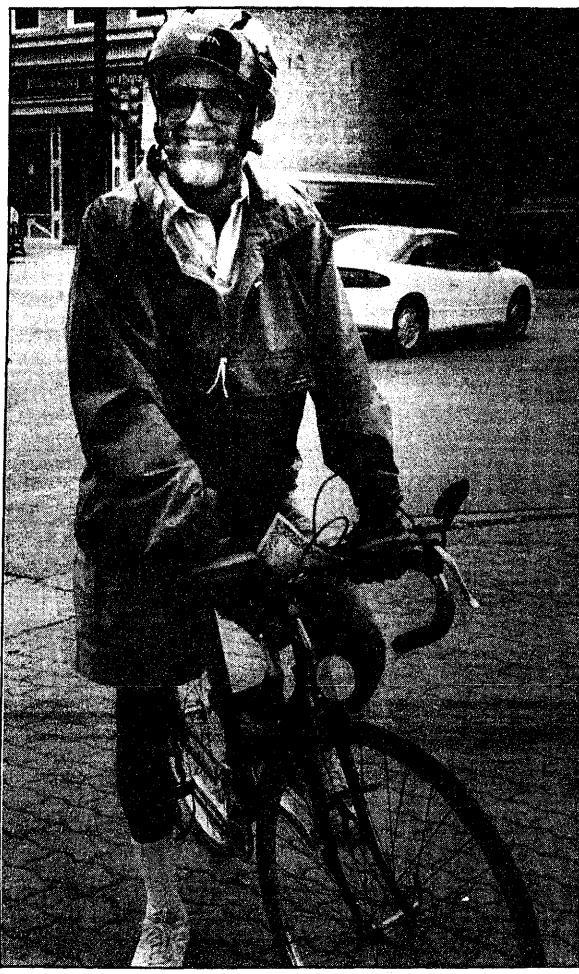

"It helps to have a wife (Myrna) who's tolerant and understanding." Bike touring is the best way to really get out and meet America close up, according to Henderson, who was mayor here from 1975-77. He hopped an Amtrak train in

Ann Arbor on July 16, was on the road July 18 and was back in Novi Sept. 1. The trip began on Washington State Highway 20. After he reached Glacier National Park in Montana, Henderson traveled U.S. Highway 2 all the way to the Mackinac Bridges----

I was in towns smaller than New Hudson. The ethics and the honesty that I grew up with in the 1940s are still alive and well in smalltown America. I would see people in grocery stores and little restaurants just put everything on their tab. When they are breakfast they'd write down their name and leave the paper at the cash register," he said.

Not until a few weeks before the trip did Henderson beef up his typical exercise routine of weightlifting at Novi High School three times a week and biking about 30 miles weekly. To improve his conditioning, he began sprinting up the hill at Northville High School five to ten times in a row each session.

Man renews old ties with friends

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

In July, while much of the city was partying at the Michigan '50s Festival, retired Texas "roughneck" David Spisak began his quest to touch base with the Novi he's kept in his memories since the Eisenhower years.

It took two months, but he's half-way there.

Spisak — who with his brother William spent his childhood here from 1953 to 1959 - has been trying to track down their adopted father. Daniel Spisak. The two have not met in 24 years. Spisak, 43, wasn't sure if his father was dead or alive. The family drifted apart after his parents divorced in 1959.

With the help of Spisak's adopted uncle Edward Burndoff, Daniel Spisak's Palmetto, Fla.,

address was phoned to Texas Sept. 6. The southern residence was a surprise. Spisak thought his dad lived in New York.

"Is he still alive? This is great, this is beautiful. He will be in for the shock of his life," he said after hearing the news.

Spisak, who now lives in Odessa, Texas, had no luck four months ago trying to trace his father by his social security number. In frustration, he penned a long letter to the Novi schools in July. This was then passed on Thursday to City Clerk with one of five haulers who have placed bids for a citywide contract.

Gerry Stipp, who faxed a copy to the Novi News. Bundoff then placed a series of calls until he pinned down the address.

Browning Ferris Industries, Waste Management Inc., Laidlaw, City Management and Duncan are the firms vying for the job. Director of Public Services Anthony Nowicki said Thursday.

Novi is expected to begin the move to citywide garbage dispoal — including mandatory curbside recycling - by July 1, 1992. The subdivisions will be the first to make the switch, followed by pick-ups, as well as public education. multiple-housing complexes and the business

At present, homeowners' associations contract individually with waste haulers.

The bids are currently under review by a city council-appointed citizens' committee.

All but Duncan -- which currently picks up garbage in Novi - are large-scale operators.

Waste Management, one of the biggest disposal The future of trash collection in Novi may lie corporations in the nation, had earlier promised cheaper rates to Novi if the city did not pursue competitive bids. But the council in July opted for an open-to-all process.

Nowicki said that the bid review will not just look for the lowest prices. Factoring in the decision will be the companies' ability to meet Novi's requirements, which include mandatory curbside recycling, yard waste collection for composting and twice-annual household hazardous waste

"It's a complicated process with the number of different bid items. You don't just look down the ers and plastic bottles have now become a familiar list. We have various things we're requiring them streetside sight in the cities. to do. Somebody may be a low bidder, but they may not be a quality bidder," he said.

A review committee has met twice and will be holding interviews Sept. 25 with the interested companies.

Novi, as a member of the Resource Recovery and Recycling Authority of Southwest Oakland County (RRRASOC), will follow the lead of other member communities who have already made the leap to curbside recycling, including Farmington, Farmington Hills and Southfield.

The conversion to recycling is not expected to be cheap. RRRASOC's executive director Lenora Jadun has said that it may increase a household's annual trash collection bills by 30 to 40 percent.

The Farmingtons moved to the trash separation system this summer. Green collection bins for mingled recyclables such as glass jars, newspap-

Meijer zoning denied, store looks to Novi

Meller Inc.'s bid to move into Wixom was shot down Tuesday when that city's decision makers nixed a rezoning request.

Wixom City Council voted 4-2 to deny rezoning of a 34.5 acre parcel at the northwest corner of Grand River and Wixom Road. In voting against the rezoning, the council cited adverse road and downtown development impacts.

"Meijer will jeopardize development of downtown," said Wixom Councilman John Lee, who motioned for denial. "I don't see this as a total benefit to the city. I see spot benefit."

The Grand Rapids-based comparry sought to rezone the parcel from industrial research office and freeway service districts to general business designation. Jennifer Downs, a spokesperson for Meijer, said the company hasn't given up on the site at this point.

We hope to have open communications with the Wixom council."

■ Some issues just seem to keep resurfacing, like the construction of a proposed new Meijer store in Novi. If the city wants the project back, now is the time to grab it. But the city should also consider a number of items about Meijer. An editorial is on page 5.

she said, "to see what alternatives we have."

Meijer originally planned placing a store on Novi's side of the Grand River and Wixom Road intersection. The company made that decision in early March of this year after rezoning requests for a 28-acre parcel in Novi were denied.

White said Meijer will look in the Novi-Wixom area for a new site. She

On June 15, 1960, Richard Lee Blackwell began a life sentence for murder in South Carolina. He was 17 years old.

in 1969, at age 26, he decided he'd had enough. After ten years in the Columbia, South Carolina State Penitentiary, he managed to Blackwell changed his name to Eddie Lemar Barnes and fled to Detroit, where he began a new life. He married and had two children. He worked to support his family.

Last March, he began working at Charter House of Novi. And on September 8, he was heading home from work when a Novi Police officer pulled him over for an obstructed rear view mirror.

Blackwell, a.k.a. Barnes, now 48, was arrested on a 22-year-old warrant. He is currently in Oakland County Jail, awaiting extradition to South Carolina.

Novi Charter House administrator Sandy Spiro was unaware Friday that his employee had been

"I just talked to him yesterday," he said. "He called and said he couldn't come in to pick up his check, and wanted to know if his wife could pick it up. I had absolutely no idea. That's incredible." Spiro said he was "flabber-gasted" by news of the arrest.

"He's a very nice man," he said. "He's pleasant. He communicates very well. He works hard. He's a very good employee. He worked in the dietary department as a dietary

"He came to work, he did his job, he did not complain, and he went Spiro added that he had talked to Blackwell, whom he knew as Eddie Barnes, "at least 5,000 times.

"We kidded around together," he said. "I only had cause to reprimand him one time, and it was on something very minor. I can't even remember what it was now . . . He was always very kind and courteous to all the residents here."

According to Novi Police reports, Blackwell was heading east on Ten Mile around 3:45 p.m. September 8, when Officer Terry Whitfield stopped him for a vision obstruction on his rear view mirror.

Although Blackwell's driver's license identified him as Eddie Lemar Barnes, a computer check revealed his real name and the July 12, 1969 warrant from South Carolina.

His date of birth was listed as March 17, 1947 on his Michigan driver's license, but South Carolina State Penitentiary public affairs director Robin Zimmerman said his actual date of birth is listed as March 17, 1943.

Jazz comes to Novi: The great sounds of jazz have finally found the suburbs. Local and internationally-known jazz artists are appearing weekly at Home Sweet Home in Novi, with vocalist Eric Brandon and the Buddy Buddson Band.

Performances are Tuesdays between 8-11 p.m. This Tuesday, Sept. 17, vocalist Ursula Walker and saxophonist George Benson will

For more information, call Home Sweet Home at 347-0095.

Brett's buddies: Friends of Brett Schneider, the first-grader burned in an accident at Lakeshore Park, are popping up all over Novi. On Sept. 20-22, the Party Supplier and Gags on Ten Mile Road will hold a "Balloons for Brett" weekend. The store will donate to the Brett Schneider Fund five cents on any latex balloon purchase and 15 cents on any mylar balloon.

Mary Bohme, organizer of the fund, and "Toots the Clown", also known as Pat Zielke of Novi, met with success Saturday at a three-hour face painting moneyraiser for Brett. "We really did good. There were at least 150 people there," Bohme

The event was held in front of Children's Palace at Novi Town

Cloggin' the night away: For the first time, Novi Parks and Recreation is now offering nighttime clog-dancing classes. High-stompers can go through the paces on Tuesdays until Nov. 26 - and it's not too late to

The evening session for beginners is at 6:30-7:45 p.m. and costs $24 for Novi residents. An Intermediate session and an open dance drop-in runs from 8-10 p.m. at a $2.50 per week charge. The daytime howdown still gets down on Mondays and Wednesdays. For information, call 347-0400.

Living with a worst-case scenario: The Novi Fire Department has recently published a brochure on how to cut your losses in the event of a fire. Advice includes how to inventory your goods, pet care, cleaning and salvaging tips, smoke odor reduction and clothing and furniture

For information, contact the fire department at 349-2162.

NOVI arts council: The Nevi Arts Council will be launching a new program this January, holding a dinner-dance to raise money for a new scholarship fund of the Arts Council and to help raise money for future programming. The event has been scheduled for Jan. 18 at the Hotel Baronette. Information and tickets will likely be available as of early November. The first committee meeting on the event will take place Monday, Sept. 9 at 7:30 in the Civic Center parks and recreation conference

Buckle up: Motorists on Michigan city streets, county roads, and state highways are the focus of a special law enforcement effort to increase safety belt use. The program, entitled "The Blitz," involves state, county and local lawenforcement agencies in paying special attention to the non-use or misuse of safety belts. Motorists not buckled up or having infants and children not buckled up can expect appropriate enforcement action, according to Acting Novi Police Chief Doug Shaeffer. The Blitz is a national seat belt usage campaign coordinated by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. "It may sound cliche, but safety belts save lives. In Michigan, we spend more than $750 million on medical costs due to the non-use of safety belts," Shaeffer said.

We want to make citizens aware that the Novi Police Department will not look the other way when it comes to belt use. We want the public to get used to using seat belts. It's the law and they save lives."

Casino memories: Do you remember the golden years of the Walled Lake Casino? If you worked, played or performed at Novi's mostrenowned entertainment center at any time during the 1920s through the 1960s, the Novi News would love to hear from you for a special nostalgia project. We are also looking for old photographs, brochures, posters and other memorabilia of the casino to be re-copied. Please contact Jan Jeffres or Scott Daniel at 349-1700.

Planning Commission invitation: The Planning Commission and the department of community development is inviting residents to discuss issues of importance in Novi with them.

The commission encorages residents to take a proactive stance on items which they view as important — without the pressures of pending lecisions and development concerns. The commission and administration wish to provide a forum for residents to take that proactive approach. Residents or homeowner associations can participate in that forum by calling the community development department at 347-0475.

Free swim clinic: The Livonia-Novi Spartan Aquatic Clib is sponsoring a free swim clinic for the week of Sept 16-22 at the Novi High School Pool. The clinic will be held on Monday and Friday from 5:30-6:30 p.m. and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 5-6

Registration will be today (Sept. 16) at 5:15 p.m. at the pool. For more information, call Lisa Nicol at 348-7044.

Fleming attends tennis convention: Northville resident Mark Fleming, a tennis-teaching professional at Franklin Fitness and Racquet Club, is attending the premier educational forum in the tennis industry, the National Convention of the United States Professional Tennis Association (USPTA).

Nearly 2,000 of the nation's most influential tennis teachers and leaders have gathered at Hilton Head Island, S.C. to attend the 64th annual convention which started on Sept. 13 and will continue through : Sept. 22. Some of the top names in tennis will conduct seminars, including Billie Jean King, Tim Mayotte and Stan Smith.

"The convention grows in size and stature every year," USPTA Chief Executive Officer Tim Heckler said. "The challenge of planning an event of this magnitude is considerable, so much so that we already have begun to prepare for the 1992 Convention."

The emphasis of the convention is on education. Seminars are being presented on professional communications skills, on-court strategies and tactics, sports science and sports medicine and junior development, to name a few.

Other highlights include the annual Awards Breakfast, where USPTA's top members will be honored in various category categories, including Pro of the Year.

Founded in 1927, USPTA is the primary institution of tennisteacher certification and training in the world. USPTA remains the world's oldest and largest association of tennis-teaching professionals with its members numbering more than 9,000.

In the state of Washington I went over five mountain passes with grades of six percent, 15 to 26 miles up. You just put your nose to the handle bars and instead of doing 15 miles per hour you break your tail doing four or five," he said.

Beyond the physical challenge, there's a psychic one. A solo traveler is thrown into the world on his or her own

"It depends on the person, specifically on their ego. This can be a plus or a minus. Everywhere you go, you have no identity. You're nobody's boss, nobody's neighbor, nobody's employee, nobody's dad," Henderson explained.

The main advantage is you don't have to mesh your style of living with anybody. When you're alone and you're on a bike, people want to talk to you more than they do if there are three or four of you. You have limited responsibilities. I never had to feel responsible for somebody else's pleasure and contentment."

"On the flip side is if you're seeing something that's beautiful, you have nobody to discuss it with."

Henderson's had past experience of going it alone. In 1989, he biked from Tampa, Florida back to Detroit, taking a circuitous 2,000 mile route to avoid the hills and hollers of Tennessee and Kentucky.

The first 10 days of that trip were emotionally rugged ones. As a teacher, principal and mayor, Henderson said he was used to having an audience.

"I kept wanting people to recognize me and say there goes Gil Henderson. Eventually I got over that and it doesn't bother me as much. Occasionally, I wish I could see family or friends, but it doesn't become an overwhelming need," he said.

Henderson took up bicycling 20 years ago as a sport he could enjoy with his son Philip, then 12 years old. One day, on a whim, the pair and a friend biked 50 miles to

Sometimes, he stayed in $10 hotels with connoisseurs of the street and bottle. Other times, he pitched his tent wherever he could find the room — at a park, a campsite, a field or someone's backyard.

Frequently, smalltown America opened its hearth, home and heart to the long-distance biker. He hitched a ride with a log-hauler in Montana, joined a farmer and spent a day working on his combine.

PULL THE PLUG ON CABLE THEFT

Theft of cable TV services takes place in many ways, and you may not even be aware it's going on. But you pay the price.

Tampering with converters, tapping into the system or running cable to an extra outlet may sound like an easy way to get something for nothing. Using a friend's old box or one sold by a salesman promising a lifetime of cable for a one-time price could seem like a great bargain. Sometimes cable companies themselves fail to disconnect service after an account is closed, and why bother to tell them?

cable theft has two things in common: it means people are receiving services they haven't paid for - and it's all paid for by honest subscribers.

You can be a solution to the problem of cable theft, though. And the solution begins with awareness.

Beringer wines blend nicely with Contadina pasta

Elegant wine-dining at home prepared in 15 minutes. Sound too good to be true? A current product promotion at local grocery markets and wine outlets links the wines of Beringer Vineyards and Contadina Fresh pastas and sauces to make it all

Generally, we don't bite when we see these marketing gimmicks. Beringer wines - OK, they're consistent top quality. Packaged pasta and sauces? Not for these two purists who make them at home from scratch using authentic Italian

Since they were introduced, we've pushed the shopping basket right past the Contadina Fresh pastas and sauces. We've resisted the convenience because we "knew" they wouldn't be at all similar

A wise man once said, "Don't knock it 'til you try it." The current promotion caused us to do just that. We were more than pleasantly surprised.

The store displays of Beringer wines attract attention with eye-catching neckhangers. Some stores couple this with cross-merchandising displays in the refrigerated section near the Contadina Fresh pastas and sauces. Whichever you find, do capitalize on the mail-in, $2-off coupons good on the Contadina products and the wines.

Featured wines include Beringer Chenin Blanc, White Zinfandel and Gamay Beaujolais. Since sweet-edged wines (chenin blane and white zinfandel) don't pair well with red sauce, you need to consider your purchasing choice in advance for a proper food and wine harmony.

A white sauce such as the Contadina Fresh Alfredo Sauce will work with the off-dry chenin and the slightly sweet white zinfandel, if you want to keep it light and white.

We concentrated on the red sauces with various pastas since this is our preference. Following the package directions, we prepared the Angel's Hair pasta and sampled it with each of four sauces (Plum Tomato with Basil, Fresh Garden Vegetable, Bolognese and Marinara), heated according to the microwave directions, and a slightly chilled bottle of Beringer Gamay Beaujolais.

The best wine and food harmony was achieved with the Fresh Garden Vegetable and the Bolognese sauces. The first sauce should please any vegetarian. The vegetables are crunchy and the sauce is plauant, enhancing a slightly spicy element in the wine. The Bolognese meat sauce is richly flavored and sticks to the pasta - a sign of quality. The balance between the wine's fruitiness and the richness of the sauce is a tempting taste treat.

Part two of the taste test consisted of preparing both the Contadina beef and chicken ravioli and sampling each with the same four red sauces evaluated previously with the Angel's Hair pasta. To introduce a note of creativity, we added a bottle of zinfandel to the taste arena.

The Gamay Beaujolais stood up to the challenge, but the zinfandel was a clear winner. Again, our preference was the Fresh Garden Vegetable sauce with the chicken ravioli and the Bolognese sauce with the beef ravioli.

Zinfandel served with the Bolognese and beef rayioli enriched the taste experience. The sauce's righness was complexed and the beefy flavor of the ravioli came forward.

What's been discussed so far is an under 15 minute dinner preparation. Buy the pasta and salice of your choice, prepare according to package directions, open a bottle of wine and you're Grate some Parmesan cheese and assemble a fight green leaf basil garnish while the pasta is cooking. No more prep time is added, but a note of blegance is.

Being vegetarian requires a change in lifestyle

By RICK BYRNE Copy Editor

Eating healthy may be "in," but like most things that are "in," it doesn't require a long term commitment. There are lots of good reasons to consider a vegetarian, or macrobiotic, lifestyle (see sidebar).

but if you really want to make the lifelong commitment to eating healthy, it's the way to go.

When most people think of vegetarians, they think of emaciated earth mothers (and fathers) in sandals. That stereotype is nowhere near the truth. Many professional athletes and highpowered corporate executives have recognized the energizing effect of eliminating meat from their diets. Heck, we even know vegetarians with weight problems.

Dave Scott has won the Ironman Triathlon six times, making him the only person to win the event more than twice. He adopted a vegetarian lifestyle, with the competitive motto, "Outsmart him. Outrun him. Outlive him."

Of course, before you make any changes in your diet, radical or not, the Oakland County Department of Health strongly recommends that you consult your regular physician.

The biggest roadblock to adopting a vegetarian lifestyle is often not knowing what to cook. A good health food grocery store can help you get started. Most offer high quality and good-tasting products from meatless hot dogs (made from tofu) to chocolate chips made with no animal products (such as butterfat).

Up-to-date methods for old fashioned canning

Whether it's fresh picked from the garden, or bought at a farm market, there's nothing tastier than locally grown fruits and vegetables. You can't stop the temperatures from falling, but you can save some of the harvest for later by canning or freezing.

Home food preservation is again gaining popularity with consumers concerned about sugar, salt and additives. Canning is not a time to express your creativity, however. Sidet methods and procedures must be followed to ensure a safe product.

The first step is to buy a new canning book. Don't use a book that is older than five years. If you're using grandma's 100-year-old pickle recipes use the same ingredients, bhi update the preserving method and procedure.

Foods fall into two categories, high acid and low acid. High-acid foods are generally all kuits plus tomatoes, sauerkraut, and picked vegetables. Acid in these food producis guard against growth of bacteria, and can be safely canned using the hot water Use any kettle large enough so the jars are completely immersed and surrounded by water. The jars should be held off the bottom of the kettle to prevent breakage and so the heat can thoroughly penetrate the product.

Low acid foods are all vegetables, meats, poultry, scafoods, soups or combination foods. These must be processed in a pressure canner. Harmful elements of certain bacteria thrive in low acid and cannot be destroyed at boiling temperature of 212 degrees farenheit. Low acid foods must be superheated to 240 degrees. Botulism is the deadly food poisoning caused by the clostridium botulinum. If the spore of the botulism is not killed by a high temperature, the risk of fatal food poisoning is very great.

Many people who do not want to deal with the pressure canner opt to freeze their produce. Freezing is probably the simplest and least time-consuming way to preserve foods.

Freezing retards growth of microorganisms, slows down enzyme activity, and oxidation. However, there are some other tions in your favorite cookbook. food spoilers to be aware of in freezing.

Formation of ice crystals can be prevented by drying food better before freezing, and freezing food quicker. Freezer burn is caused by improperly packed foods. Packaging is very important for good results.

Blanching vegetables before freezing stops the enzyme action, locks in color, flavor and nutrients. Blanching does not mean cooking, it means giving food a short heat treatment. It can be done in the microwave: just follow the directions in a microwave cookbook.

For top of the stove blanching, have a large kettle of water boiling, add the prepared vegetables, count the exact time of starting when the product hits the boiling water. When the time is up, quickly submerge the product into cold water to stop the boiling action. The quicker this can be done, the better product you'll have later.

Blanching times vary, depending on the amount you want to freeze. Follow the direc-

There are certain vegetables that are best completely cooked before freezing. These are beets, pumpkin, winter squash and sweet potatoes. Cook as you would to use; then cool, package, and freeze.

Cooked or raw tomatoes can be frozen. Core tomatoes for freezing. Freeze raw tomatoes whole or cut in pieces. Pack into containers leaving one-inch head space. For cooked tomatoes, peel, cover, core and cook till tender. Place pan in cold water to cool. Pack into containers and allow one-inch head space, label, and freeze.

Fruits and flavoring products such as pepper, onions, horseradish, mint and other herbs do not need to be blanched before freezing. Cut into desired sizes, package air tight and freeze. Spread packages out in single layers to freeze quicker.

There is no need to can or freeze with salt or sugar except when making pickles or jams and jellies. The teaspoon of salt added to a jar of vegetables does not help preserve the product, it only adds to the flavor. Sugar can also be deleted from the canning of fruits.

Cut fruit into desired size, put in a kettle, add a little water and heat slightly before filling the jars. The heat activates the natural sugars in the fruit so the product ends up; tasting very natural, and very sweet.

Ascorbic acid or lemon juice added to the product before canning or freezing will help , keep the light color.

The keys to safe food preservation are to follow up-to-date canning and freezing procedures exactly. Don't waste your time, money and energy having to throw out food that . has spoiled. Just think how good that food, will taste when the snow is piled up to the?

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) An exercise program will have you feeling fit, but it is imperative you stick with it to reap the benefits. A loved one needs to know you care. LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22) Say what you mean when dealing with A friend will deliver great news that authority figures, and don't beat around the bush. They will appreciate night away. An elderly person will offer your not wasting their time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21) Children or young adults could figure You will feel much better if you prominently in your future. Stay away from those who gamble; you could lose more than you bargained for. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21) Your stubborn streak is showing, and it isn't going to get you far this week. Sometimes compromising is the only way to get things done.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) You don't always feel like doing the right thing, but do so anyway. Remember how good you'll feel after it's done.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) Take advantage of a business opportunity that falls into your lap. Health matters concerning loved ones should be taken seriously.

By C.C. Clark PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20) A love relationship could take a serious turn for the better. You are ready, but you have your doubts about going one step further. ARIES (March 21 - April 19) will give you cause to celebrate the sound advice. TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) organize those important papers at home. Gather everything together first; you'll finish quicker.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) Take preventive health measures. A yearly checkup should be a priority. Use your free time to expand your horizons by taking a class. CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

A short rest will have you feeling refreshed and ready to face whatever might come your way. If it's feasible, pay someone to do those chores. LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) Keep your eyes open for the job opportunity of a lifetime. A seemingly casual acquaintance could be your

Christopher Noth observes 'Law & Order' By Lisa Otoupal

First there was Car 54, Where Are You?, which made America laugh at the antics of two bumbling cops. Then Adam 12 gave TV a more realistic shot. The public loved the human drama of Hill Street Blues, but the downand-dirty side of the streets was often missing.

Now there's Law & Order, a new intense, hour-long show filled with cops, thieves and lawyers. On the front line is Christopher Noth, playing hardened but human police detective Mike Logan.

The son of former CBS News reporter

Jeanne Parr, Noth was born in Madison, Wis., raised in England, Yugoslavia, Spain and Connecticut before attending Yale School of Drama. After Yale, the darkly debonair actor portrayed Hamlet at the American Shakespeare Festival in Connecticut and went on to featured roles in theaters from coast to coast.

Noth appeared on television in the miniscries I'll Take Manhattan, the NBC movie Killer in the Mirror and Hill Street Blues. His big screen career includes roles in Off Beat, Smithereens and Baby Boom.

Before undertaking his role on Law & Order, Noth decided to get the facts about being a cop by observing detectives of New York City's 34th Precinct, which has the highest homicide rate of any precinct in James Garner is a con man-Manhattan, N.Y. James Garner is a con man-turned-city councilman in NBC's Man of the People, debuting Sunday.

YOU COULD LEARN A LOT FROM A DUMMY. BUCKLE YOUR SAFETY BELT.

Don't close the good book on 'Amen's' Sherman Hemsley

Amenuttered its last prayer on NBC, but star Sherman Hemsley has yet to see Judgment Day. Hemsley recently signed with CBS to star in a new half-hour comedy, premiering in the 1992-93 television season. No word is out on show title or concept.

Rhino Records and Rhino Home Video have teamed up with MTV to produce a new two-volume CD/cassette and videotape. The union promises The Best of MTV's '120 Minutes' will feature alternative artists who have made the biggest chartbusting mainstream crossovers during the past decade. Among them: R.E.M.,

Red Hot Chili Peppers, Stone Roses, Sinead O'Connor, Faith No More, The Ramones and Depeche Mode. The video will be released Oct. 3, with CDs and cassettes following on Oct. 22.

The premiere of CBS' Top Cops, Thursday, Sept. 12, will pay tribute to six police officers, John Adair, John Davis, Kim Tonahill, Tim Ruopp, Gene Simpson and Gordon Silva, all tragically slain in the line of duty. The show coincides with the Oct. 15 Washington, D.C., dedication of the National Law Enforcement Officers' Memorial, honoring those who have given their lives.

Sherman Hemsley

NBC and Hunter star Fred Dryer have struck a deal, following months of nasty haggling ultimately ending with the series' cancellation. The deal calls for a minimum of three made-for-NBC Hunter movies, starring Dryer, to be filmed over the next few years.

'Peter Pan' flutters onto Disney Channel

By Dan Rice Some boys never grow up, and some movies never get old. On Sunday, Sept. 15, The Disney Channel will finally bring Peter Pan to the small screen. The timeless tale of the perpetually prepubescent Never-Never Lander and his little fairy sidekick remains one of Disney's finest animated features.

If you're still in the mood for dreams coming true, try the story of the little girl who grew up to become a princess, by way of movie stardom. A&E's Biography presents Grace Kelly: The American Princess, a documentary about the respected actress who married the prince of Monaco. Told with film clips, celebrity interviews and home movies, this special premieres on Tuesday, Sept. 17.

For frosty vistas way up high, join The Discovery Channel on Tuesday for Colorado...Picture Perfect, as three photojournalists journey to the state's most beautiful resorts in search of the perfect mountain winter portrait.

From breathtaking scenes to deathmaking scenes, the camera has seen it all. During the second World War, Joseph Goebbels sent thousands of filmmakers to the front lines to provide battle images for the Nazi propaganda machine. While hundreds of them died in action, their work lives on. On Sunday, see the truth and lies caught on film in A&E's Eye of the Dictator.

Michigan State looks to end luck of Irish

By Steve Paschal Michigan State fans remember "the catch" all too well. The Spartans, looking to knock off Notre Dame for only the fourth time in 21 years, took a 19-7 lead into the fourth quarter of last year's game against the top-ranked team in the country. But, the Fighting Irish scored early in the quarter to cut the deficit to 19-14, then pulled off their second, lastminute comeback over a Michigan team in two weeks when quarterback Rick Mirer's long pass was deflected into the waiting hands of Adrian Jarrell at the Michigan State two-yard-line with 45 seconds showing on the Notre Dame scored seven seconds later, leaving the Spartan fans staring in stunned disbelief at a scoreboard that read Notre Dame, 20, Michigan State, 19.

Saturday, Sept. 21, the Spartans, who went on to finish the season with an 8-3 record that included a 17-16 Sun Bowl victory over Southern California, travel to South Bend, Ind., to play the Irish in a game to be televised live on NBC's Notre Dame Saturday.

Michigan State, led by all-American receiver Courtney Hawkins and running back Tico Duckett, is looking to overcome the "Luck of the Irish" and break a three-game losing streak at Notre Dame Stadium. The Irish should contend for a national title.

Strange bedfellows make TV magic in 'Eerie, Indiana'

Film's Joe Dante directs pilot

by Suzanne Gill Each fall, there's at least one show that's the darling of the critics. Even in uninspiring TV seasons, one or two gems somehow find their way to the air. Such is the case with "Eerie, Indiana," a Sunday-night series debuting on NBC this season.

At first blush, the premise for "Eerie" seems too glib. An adolescent boy moves with his family from the comparative normalcy of New Jersey to a suspiciously perfect Indiana town that's half "Donna Reed," half Amityville. It's a cute piece of shtick for National Lampoon, but is it a series?

The show's mongrel bloodlines offer no guarantees, either. "Unsolved Mysteries" producers John Cosgrove and Teri Meurer, who have no apparent experience with comedy (unless you take your humor very black indeed), are executive producers of the show, which Meurer says means they read scripts and show up at tapings. to the point, "Eerie" is the cocreation of writer/producers Karl Schaefer and Jose Rivera. Three years ago, Schaefer produced the clinched "TV 101" (forerunner of the clinched "Hull High"), a mediocre effort at best. Playwright Rivera's resume is more promising and includes the provocatively titled "Each Day Dies With Sleep," a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts and a stint as playwright-in-residence at London's Royal Court Theatre. To this spark is added the wicked genius of director Joe Dante, who leavens "Eerie" in a limited role as creative consultant and occasional director.

As Marshall Teller, the series' main character, 15-year-old Omri Katz moves from the adult dream world of "Dallas" (where he played J.R. Ewing's son) to a fantasy land kids can appreciate. Marshall loves his cookie-cutter-generic family a mom, dad and teenage sister but can't help thinking they're a little naive about Eerie. After all, where else does the mailman carry a sidearm or Elvis Presley live on the paper route? Marshall and his younger friend Simon (Justine Shenkarow) are collecting evidence of the town's abnormalities (watch closely for props from Dante's films), which they keep locked in Marshall's attic. (For your own evidence that "Eerie, Indiana" is a hit, listen for kids to start quoting Simon's signature battle cry, "I was BORN for this!")

Whether in spite or because of its premise and pedigree, "Eerie, Indiana" delivered a strong, memorable pilot episode - a tough assignment that's rarely completed. Full of satire, sight gags and just the right amount of tension, the episode found Marshall's mom being wooed by one of Eerie's most enterprising housewives, a widow with twin sons who supports herself by peddling Foreverware, her late husband's invention, to ladies in the neighborhood. With his realiably sloppy mom in a defrosting frenzy and about to mortgage the house to a woman in a pink shirtwaist dress and a flip, Marshall discovers the twins are trapped in a time warp that has kept them in the seventh grade for 30 years. Anyone with any sense of justice - or any experience with the seventh grade — would be sympathetic to their plight. And thereby hangs a tale that, if you missed it in the premiere episode, should be saved and savored in a

The second episode, airing Sunday, Sept. 22, involves another eerie, or rather, Eerie event. One of Marshall and Simon's chums is fitted for a retainer that picks up sound waves in the dog spectrum. From this, he learns Eerie's canines are plotting to take over the town.. just as soon as they can figure out how to work a doorknob. Future shows include "The Jolly Rogers," in which Marshall meets seventhgeneration pirates who've become landlocked in a Winnebago, and "The Lost Hour," in which Marshall rescues himself and a lost girl from a parallel Daylight Savings Time universe. Eventually, there must surely be an episode featuring the Eerie raven, who appears in the show's opening plucking out the eyeballs from postage stamps.

NBC deserves credit for putting "Eerie, Indiana" on the map this fall; the series is strong enough to overcome its ill-advised lead-in, "The Adventures of Mark and Brian," and entertaining for quickwitted viewers of all ages. It may even change the way you look at your own hometown. VOLUNTEER FOR THE RED ARMY.

Viewer awakened to talents of 'Awakenings' actor

By Taylor Michaels Q: Could you possibly tell me where I can write Robert De Niro? I think he gave an outstanding performance in Awakenings. -Margie Premovich, Casa Grande, Ariz.

A: Write De Niro c/o CAA, 9830 Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

Q: Years ago, during the filming of The Andy Griffith Show, Don Knotts took time away from the series to act in several comedy pictures. I have never seen a rerun of these movies. Why? In my estimation, Don Knotts is a one-of-a kind comedian. I, personally, would like to see more of those good, clean movies. - Meg Scott, Prescott, Ariz.

A: Don Knotts' movies are on video: No Time for Sergeants; It's a Mad Mad Mad Mad World; The Incredible Mr. Limpet; The Apple Dumpling Gang; No Deposit, No Return; Hot Lead and Cold Feet; and The Apple Dumpling Gang Rides Again.

O: My Aunt Zelda told me about three blooper movies called Star Trek Outakes, Bambi vs. Godzilla and Bamoi's Kevenge, would you please send me the address where I can write to order these movies? -M.C., Denton, Texas. movie expert on this one, and here's what he had to say: According to our sources, Bambi Meets Godzilla is available on videotape (VHS and Beta), but we're not sure where. Your best bet is to check with Movies Unlimited, whose catalog includes Star Trek Bloopers. Bambi's Revenge is a new one on me, but there's reason to suspect it might be on the same tape as Bambi Meets Godzilla, since the latter is only two minutes long. Contact Movies Unlimited, 6736 Castor Aven-

Q: Dana Delany was such a presence on China Beach. I will miss her and the show a great deal. How can I contact Dana? I would love a picture of her as McMurphy. - J.A. Slezak, Amersterue, Philadelphia, Pa., 19149.

A: You can write to Delany c/o ICM, 8899 Beverly Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif., 90048.

Q: I've been hoping they would revive the series The Law and Harry McGraw, but so far ... no luck. I thought it was a good series, well written, acted, directed, etc. No doubt the vice president who canceled the series is mopping the floor at the CBS building, as well be should. Your advice to write the networks about the shows is good, but every letter I sent in was returned unopened and, of course, unread. It seems to me the networks are not viewer friendly. -Robert Lind, Hibbing, Minn.

A: I've talked to several people who have written letters to the networks about various shows. Whether or not they got results, they never had their letters sent back. You didn't say how many you had written, but if it's just one, I would say write again.

The concern networks have is just one - money. ABC, CBS and NBC tend to cancel a program if it looks like it will slow them down in the ratings race and, therefore, lose their money. So far, Fox seems to be less apt to do that. They tend to keep shows on to see if they can build an audience. The other networks, while claiming to be A: I had to consult our resident trying to put "quality programs" on the air, seem to measure quality by how much money it makes. And who really knows what quality shows are? Look at PBS; they're constantly asking for money to put educational, documentaries and how-to shows on the air. In one day of viewing PBS, you can pick up a few Spanish phrases, hear what it was like to be in World War II, make dinner using a recipe you got from a cooking show, and serve it all on plates you made from wood while watching New Yankee Workshop.

Kids go back to future with 'Reading Rainbow'

By Sherry Jones The magical blending of books and the creative use of public television help introduce children to 10 new and exciting adventures premiering this fall on Reading Rainbow. Host LeVar Burton, also known for his role as Lt. Cmdr. Geordi La Forge on the syndicated show Star Trek: The Next Generation, hopes each half-hour episode of Reading Rainbow will encourage young viewers to find out more about the things that interest

Starting Monday, Sept. 16, Burton takes children to see a wacky female inventor from the Stone Age, Thomas Edison and a machine from the future that is full of surprises. Also, read along as a boy tries to build his own time-traveling apparatus in Alistair's Time Machine.

Tuesday, Sept. 17, follow The Adventures of Taxi Dog, taking kids behind the wheel in York City.

New Mexico's Pueblo Indians use the earth to help them with their art. Wednesday, Sept. 18, Burton meets three Indian artists as he visits Taos Pueblo in Taos, N.M. Follow journeys of a young Indian boy as he tries to find a special gift to give his people in The Legend of the Indian Paintbrush.

These, and more adventures, await children as they open their eyes to what books have to offer on Reading

What would you do if you could be a TV soap writer?

By Candace Havens Dear Candace: I am an avid fan of The Young and the Restless, but sometimes I get so mad. How long is this thing with Sheila (stealing Lauren's baby) going to last? Let Scott find out what she did and let him and Lauren get back together with their own baby. Put Sheila in jail where she belongs.

And David - let's expose him, too, throw his butt in jail and let Nina get on with her life, Leanna Love - that story line is so sick. If she wants a baby so much, let her meet a man, fall in love and then get pregnant, the way it is supposed to happen.

Poor Rex and Katherine. Can't they be a loving couple again along with Brad and Tracey? And when is Paul going to open his eyes where his secretary is concerned. She loves him. Why can't he see this?

Boy, I wish they would let me write this show for a couple of weeks. I would clean house, and when the dust settled, a lot of people would be happy. I didn't even want to say what I think about wicked little Victoria. -- Imogene Pasley, Williams, Calif.

Dear Reader: I'm with you. It is time to clean house on The Young and the Restless, and I think you are just the woman for the job. But I do have to say, without the bad guys and the turbulent relationships, the soaps would be pretty boring. Thanks for writing in.

Dear Candace: I started watching All My Children a few years ago, and my favorite couple from the beginning was Dixie and Tad Martin. I'd like to know when Michael E. Knight is coming back to the show, and why he had to leave in the first place. -Nature Riney, Pilot Point, Texas.

Dear Nature: Knight left the show to pursue other interests, namely prime time and movies. He left the show on good terms, so if he doesn't find the kind of work he is looking for, there is always the possibility he could return. The first time he left the show he moved to Los Angeles, but this time he has opted to work out of his home in New York.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009.
