Volunteer swings funding

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
 Staff Writer

Kids participating in Novi Youth Assistance's summer teen center program will have two portable, indoor / outdoor basketball hoops to use next year.

Jo Anne Killeen, a member of the Novi Youth Assistance Board of Directors, got a $500 grant for the program early this year.

The money will be used to purchase two portable, indoor / outdoor basketball hoops for a Youth Assistance summer recreation program.

Killeen is the project coordinator for a children's health care program for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan. She has worked for the company for two years.

In the past year, Killeen also has worked as a volunteer for Novi Youth Assistance. And early this year, she received a $500 grant for Novi Youth Assistance, a program that provides activities for 400 young people in Novi to help prevent family and social problems.

The teen center program offers a referral system to help youths with problem solving, Killeen said. Youth Assistance hopes to develop a year-long recreation program for Novi youths.

Killeen received her grant for Youth Assistance as part of a Cheers program sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield. The program is intended to support and encourage employees in volunteering. Over 25 grants have been awarded since the program began in May 1989. The maximum grant is $500.

The program was begun to help small civic organizations and charities survive, according to Blue Cross and Blue Shield president Richard Whitmer.

In her role as a Blue Cross and Blue Shield employee, Killeen helps provide health care coverage for close to 1,000 Michigan children who are uninsured.

She also volunteers with the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children.

Killeen said her roles at work and in volunteering are similar because they all help children in need.

Valentine's Day with Dad

the Novi Parks and Recreation Department, two Daddy-Daughter Dances are held each year at Valentine's Day to allow fathers and their girls a special time.

Tainted soil feared at old station site

By JAN JEFFRES
 Staff Writer

Twelve years after a Boron gas station closed on Novi Road, the water in eight neighboring wells is being tested this week for contamination.

Wednesday, the Oakland County Health Department was scheduled to take water samples from the wells. Testing will be done for benzene, toluene, ethyl benzene and xylenes (BTEX), chemical components of gasoline which are classified as carcinogens.

Recent rumors that the water in neighboring residences was unsafe led Austin Street resident and landlord James Korte to request the analysis. Results are expected within two to three weeks.

"I will find out once and for all if I'm drinking polluted water. I really don't think I am, but better to know for sure than presume," Korte said.

"I don't think anything is going to be found. There is no difference in smell, there is no difference in taste. There is no oily residue in my water."

■ DNR Environmental Quality Analyst Sandra Tait said Tuesday that the Novi-based ATEC Environmental Consultants has analyzed soil borings and is awaiting test results from water monitoring wells on and near the site. Loads of contaminated soil were removed from the site in February and in April. The story is on page 8.

The health department will determine if a more extensive survey of area wells should be done. DNR Environmental Quality Analyst Sandra Tait said.

Contaminated soil and groundwater was found near where the leaded and unleaded tanks were buried during an initial environmental survey in 1989.

Commission rejects Greenwood Oaks 3

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
 Staff Writer

Woodlands and wetlands were at issue in three developments brought to the Novi Planning Commission earlier this month.

Two of the developments met with success, but Greenwood Oaks Subdivision No. 3 did not get a permit to build in a wooded area north of Ten Mile Road and west of Beck Road.

Mark Friedman, representing The Selective Group developers told the commission there would be 80 percent preservation of trees in the development.

But consultant Linda Lemke told the commission that some trees slated to be saved in the development would die as a result of being too close to proposed construction.

Commissioner Kathleen McLallen said the Timber Ridge subdivision, which was built by The Selective Group, had a similar problem. Several trees that were designated for saving are now dead on homeowner's lots because of damage that occurred during construction.

"You cannot build subdivisions in an extremely wooded area and have everybody win," McLallen said.

McLallen said she would recommend the proposed development plan be rejected unless Friedman and The Selective Group were willing to continue working toward a compromise with city consultants.

Friedman said he did not think further discussions with the city would be successful.

Quinn names priorities for 1992

By MICHAEL MALOTT
 Managing Editor

Roadway improvements, parkland acquisition and single family home construction will be the primary points of focus in the City of Novi in 1992, Novi Mayor Matt Quinn said Tuesday in his annual state-of-the-city address.

Construction of several of the road improvement projects called for under the $18.8 million bonding program approved by voters last year are scheduled to begin this year, Quinn said. Even construction of the M-5/Haggerty Connector project could be started by the end of 1992, he said, with completion scheduled four or five years later.

Because Novi soccer programs are running out of space and because Novi Youth Baseball will this year be losing its longstanding home at Bosco Field, parkland acquisition will be a high priority. A number of approaches will be taken by the city, including an attempt to buy new land, updating the master plan for Power Park, and continuing efforts to obtain land for the city's linear park system.

As for new home construction, Quinn estimated some 400 new single family houses would likely be built here in the year to come. That rate would keep the pace of growth Novi has seen in the last two years.

The mayor unveiled these priorities and made his predictions during a luncheon before the Novi Chamber of Commerce at the Red Timbers Restaurant on Grand River, where he regularly gives his state-of-the-city address. Usually given in January, Quinn was unable to make the speech last month due to a death in the family.

Along with his regular predictions and projections, Quinn had several announcements to make this year. Among them were:

■ That Novi is the site of at least one of three finalist locations in the Oakland County board's search for a new courthouse for the 52-1 District Court.

Parish has planners' blessings for church

By SUZANNE HOLLYER
 Staff Writer

Parishioners at Novi's St. James Roman Catholic Church are ready to build a home, and the Novi Planning Commission has given its approval for the church to do just that.

The commission unanimously recommended on Feb. 6 the City Council approve a site plan for St. James to build south of Ten Mile Road between Beck and Taft roads.

St. James has been a church without a building since it came into existence two and a half years ago. Parishioners have been meeting at Parkview Elementary on Eleven Mile Road in Novi since the church opened in September 1989, said the Rev. James Crank.

The Archdiocese of Detroit formed the church by dividing the other local Catholic church, Holy Family, into two parishes. Crank said. Holy Family has about 2,500 member families, while St. James has about 450 families, Crank said.

The 20,000 square foot church should be filled to capacity in about 10 years, Crank told the commission.

St. James will be the eighth church to build in the city limits, and the sixth to locate on Ten Mile Road.

Other churches on Ten Mile in Novi include Novi United Methodist, Faith Community United Presbyterian Church of Novi, First Free Will Baptist Church of Novi, Spirit of Christ Lutheran Church and Church of the Holy Cross.

Holy Family Church is located on Meadowbrook near Ten Mile Road and Oakland Baptist Church is on Beck Road south of Ten Mile. Mea-

Roads, houses to be priority issues in Novi in 1992

Although officials in Oakland County's corporation council office have not confirmed it yet, Quinn said Tuesday that the county had narrowed the list of proposed sites for the courthouse to three, and that "at least one is in the City of Novi."

Such a joint meeting has long been proposed for the two panels, but so far they have been unable to get together.

The city will also schedule informal meetings between the council, city residents, the presidents of subdivision associations, home builders, developers and area businesses. These informal sessions will give residents a chance to air their feelings on a wide range of topics, and according to Quinn, improve communications among the various groups.

That the Novi city council and Novi school board have agreed to meet in a joint session on a Saturday in late March to discuss a variety of topics, including the city's 1990 census data and a proposed expansion and renovation of Novi High School.

Such a joint meeting has long been proposed for the two panels, but so far they have been unable to get together.

The city will also schedule informal meetings between the council, city residents, the presidents of subdivision associations, home builders, developers and area businesses. These informal sessions will give residents a chance to air their feelings on a wide range of topics, and according to Quinn, improve communications among the various groups.

Quinn said that construction will bring the total of dwelling units in the city to 14,539. With another 5,000 pending, the total will be 19,875 in the next few years. But, Quinn said, only 46 percent of those are single family homes. The remainder are multiples and mobile homes.

By the year 2000, Quinn said he expects the city will have a population of 46,000. The 1990 census set the city's population presently at 33,000. When completely "built-out" Quinn said the city's population could be between 67,000 and 75,000.

"As we talk about the number of people who will live here in the year 2000 or who will live here at build-out, there is no question in my mind that the sense of belonging that everybody has that lives and works in the city is not going to be lost. As you get bigger, you don't lose anything, you just have more people who can get involved," Quinn contended.

"And as the mayor, I would like to thank all of you who are here and who will be watching the city council and planning commission) on cable TV for getting involved in the city because it is only through your activity and your involvement that we will remain the place in Oakland County and in the state of Michigan to live and work and raise our kids."

Jeremy Goodman recreates his award-winning poster.

3rd grader wins third in nation Santa poster's no ho-ho matter

By SUZANNE HOLLYER Staff Writer

Jeremy Goodman is only in the third grade, but he is no stranger to the world of art.

Goodman recently found himself very near the top in a contest ranking student artists from more than 10,000 schools in the country.

Contest organizers asked students to design a poster that can be used to advertise Santa's Secret Shop, a holiday store opened every year in December at schools around the country.

Goodman, a Novi Woods student, drew a picture of Santa Claus coming out of a chimney with a bag full of toys. His design came in third in the nation. Novi Woods has never entered the contest before, said Principal Jackie Lawrence.

And Southeastern Michigan has never seen an entrant go as far in the contest as Goodman.

Goodman earned a pin for winning the contest at Novi Woods. The school had 35 students design posters. Goodman received a $50 savings bond for winning at the Southeastern Michigan level, where about 200 schools entered poster designs.

First place in the national contest, where 10,000 schools submitted poster designs, would have brought Goodman a $2,000 scholarship.

Third place, which he received, was to bring no award.

But the Southeastern Michigan organizers were so excited to have a local boy go so far in the contest they gave Goodman a giant stuffed animal during a ceremony at Novi Woods, said Novi Woods organizer Jeri Sunisloe.

Next year, Goodman's art could be transformed into posters that will adorn the walls at Novi Woods, Sunisloe said.

Santa's Secret Shop, sponsored by the Wyandotte-based Fun Services, comes to Novi Woods each year through the PTO, she said. Winning posters from the previous year's contest are hung on the school walls to advertise the shop, which provides inexpensive presents that students can buy for their parents during the holidays.

Goodman, 9, says he wants to be an artist and a basketball player.

John Goodman, Jeremy's father, said Jeremy has been drawing since preschool. He likes to draw comics, and the third grader won a state drawing competition when he was in kindergarten.

And on Saturday mornings, Jeremy does not sit mindlessly in front of the television watching cartoons. Instead, the Novi Woods boy spends his Saturday mornings drawing the cartoons that other children are watching on television.

His skill has been hard earned. Jeremy spends about two hours a day drawing, his father said.

"Jeremy and I used to draw, but my stuff doesn't look anywhere near as good as his," John Goodman said.

Axed worker fires back at ex-boss

A fired PennCorp Financial employee told police Feb. 12 that he had been assaulted by his ex-boss. The man told police that after being fired, he took a cup of coffee from the coffee maker. He said that as he took the coffee, his ex-employer grabbed his left wrist, twisted it behind his back, grabbed his neck and pushed him out of the office. Police contacted the former employer, who said that after being fired, the man stayed seated in the chair he was sitting in. The former employer claimed he said "if you're just going to sit there, sit by yourself," then left him alone. He said the fired employee then left the office and got a cup of coffee. At that point, he claimed he took the employee that if he wasn't going to leave he would physically remove him from the office. He said he then "grasped" the ex-employee's arm and shoulder and "escorted" him from the office. Another employee who witnessed the incident told police he saw it, but didn't pay much attention because he didn't think they were serious. SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES: Novi police reported Feb.

Police News

12 that two 13-year-old girls on Fen-hill were frightened at the school bus stop when a man approached them and asked if they wanted to hear "love riddles." The two girls reportedly screamed and ran away. Police did not release the man's identity, and concealed several other portions of the report. Information released included that the man admitted talking to the girls and said he wanted a girlfriend. MARIJUANA POSSESSION: Novi police arrested a 20-year-old East Lansing man Feb. 14 for OUIL. The man, who was driving a 1988 Pontiac LeMans, was stopped along northbound Novi Road. OUIL: A 44-year-old Novi man was arrested Feb. 13 for OUIL along westbound Nine Mile Road. He was driving a 1987 Hyundai. BREAKING AND ENTERING: A resident in the River Oaks apartment complex reported Feb. 12 that his home was broken into. Various Jewelry and a leather jacket was reported stolen. The man told police he left home around 7:30 a.m. and returned at 5 p.m. to discover the missing items. Police said there was no sign of forced entry to the home, which the owner said was locked. OUIL: The driver of a 1979 Oldsmobile Toronado was arrested for OUIL Feb. 9, police said. The driver was westbound on Pontiac Trail. STOLEN VEHICLE: A Novi man reported Feb. 5 that his 1989 GMC Jimmy was stolen while he was in Vic Tanny. The man told police he parked in the lot south of the facility around 4:30 p.m. and returned two hours later to discover it missing. MOPD: A Fenton woman reported Feb. 11 that someone slashed the tires of her car while she was parked at Novi Middle School. The woman said she parked there before 4 p.m. and returned at 5:30 p.m. to discover the damage. CITIZENS WITH INFORMATION: about the above incidents are urged to call the Novi Police Tip Line at 349-6887.

Novi Briefs

Nominations accepted: The Novi Jaycees are putting out the call for nominations for the 20th Annual Distinguished Service Award (DSA), the most prestigious award in the City of Novi. The DSA is presented annually by the Jaycees to honor an individual whose dedication to serving humanity during the previous calendar year will serve as a lasting reminder and inspiration to others in the community. Individuals who live or work in the city may be nominated by groups or individuals. Nominations must be for individuals, not groups. Nominating forms are available at the Novi Public Library, at the Novi Parks and Recreation and Recreation Department in the Novi Civic Center and by calling 348-3121. Deadline for nominations is Feb. 25. Screening required: Parents planning on enrolling their child in kindergarten next fall must have the child's vision tested before school begins in September. Michigan's public health code requires vision and hearing screening for kindergarten entry. The Oakland County Public Health Department will screen all kindergartners for hearing problems during the school year. But vision will not be tested. So, parents are required to provide evidence of vision screening for their child to be admitted to school. Oakland County offers free vision screening in June for new kindergartners. Screening is on a walk-in basis, no appointment is necessary. Walk-in hours are June 15-18 from 9-11 a.m. and 5-7 p.m. at the Southfield office of the health department, 27725 Greenfield.

'Spoilsport' class can save lives

By SUZANNE HOLLIVER Staff Writer

Knowing when to stop serving alcohol to a customer who has had too much to drink can be a tricky skill in today's world of increasing liability for restaurateurs and bars. The Novi's Community Education program has but the answer for those involved in serving alcohol. A seminar called Training for Intervention Procedures by Servers (TIPS) begins next week. Participants, who can earn certification for successful completion of the program, learn skills to work with customers who are becoming intoxicated. The class will be taught by Darlene Lovinson, who works with the food service department at Oakland Community College. Participants will be taught skills to promote responsible drinking among customers. Servers and sellers of alcohol will be taught to identify customers who have had too much to drink. And they will learn how to control situations involving alcohol. Anyone who successfully completes the course will be certified for three years. Community Education Coordinator Clara Porter said because of increasing liability for restaurateurs and bars that sell alcohol, employers are always interested in hiring certified employees. The program runs from Feb. 26 until March 4 on Wednesday nights from 6:30-9:30 p.m. The cost is $12 for the class and $20 for books. Certificates are included in the price. Students meet each week at Novi High School, 24062 Tall Road, in room 110. Register by calling 344-8330, Ext. 73, or by visiting the Community Education office in person at 25345 Tall Road.

Community Education

Registration is under way for the Novi School District's Community Education programming. Registrations for classes will be accepted at the Education Services Building on Taft Road during office hours until the day of the class or until the classes are filled, except for high school completion credit courses. Special discounts will be granted to those who saved the Fall 1991/Winter 1992 Community Education brochure. To be eligible, you must turn in your old brochure at the time of registration, "in person" until May 29. Only one $3 discount will be given per household. Country Western Dancing: If you really like the country-western dancing style and want to learn how to do it, or if you tried the sampler class and still want more, then this is the class for you. Besides basic turns, you will learn the Texas Two-Step, Shuffle, Cotton-eyed Joe Mober, Horseshoe, El Paso and more. Partners are not necessary. The course will run for eight weeks on Mondays, beginning Feb. 24, in the Middle School Cafeteria. Class times are from 7-9 p.m. The fee is $41 per person, $34 for seniors. Dancing in the '90s: Learn freestyle moves and dances of the '90s like you see in the music videos on television. Don't be a wallflower. Get on the dance floor. The course runs for five weeks. The class for ages 7-10 will begin at 6 p.m. Tuesdays, Ages 11 and up will begin at 7 p.m. Tuesdays. Session two begins March 24. Session three begins May 5. The fee is $32. Cartooning: Whether beginning or experienced, you can draw cartoons. This workshop teaches drawing skills, a step-by-step process for drawing special characters and provides tips on creating your own cartoons. The fee includes all materials and a book of activities and cartoons. This is a different book than the one provided to students in the fall. Advance registration is required. The instructor is cartoonist Neal Levin. Sessions for grades 2-4, will be held at 3:10 p.m. in Village Oaks on March 16; Parkview March 17; Orchard Hills March 18; and Novi Woods March 19. The fee is $11. No discounts.

Courts offer information hotline

State court administrative offices have announced a new public information hotline. Michigan citizens can now call 1-800-968-5669 (or 1-800-YOU-KNOW) to get information concerning more than 60 court-related topics — from victim's rights to traffic violations. The public information hotline, called Tele-Court, was developed by the State Court Administrative Office (SCAO), the administrative arm of the Michigan Supreme Court. The toll-free recorded telephone messages offer information on subjects that local courts are frequently asked. Among the areas covered are: divorce; garnishment; wills; adoption; victim's rights; landlord-tenant relations; restraining orders; and drunk driving violations. Tele-Court callers will be able to select from a menu of subjects. The brief recordings, available 24 hours a day, provide essential information, with directions for where to get further assistance. The message will be updated frequently to reflect caller interest and inquiries. Callers can also request brochures on a variety of the topics covered by Tele-Court. This service is available to callers using either a touch-tone or a rotary telephone. "I believe Tele-Court is an important step in providing the people of Michigan with information about their rights and their courts," said Michael F. Cavanaugh, Chief Justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. "It's appropriate that this system come on line as we celebrate the bicentennial of the Bill of Rights."

Senate budgets for new 52-1 judge

By TIM RICHARD Staff Writer

A legislative panel moved this week to add four more trial judges in Oakland County — including one additional judge at 52-1 District Court in Walled Lake — at the same time rejecting the Supreme Court's call for "sunsetting" three underworked urban judges. The House Judiciary Committee voted to add two Oakland Circuit Court judges and two 52nd District Court judges — one each in the first division (Walled Lake) and the second division (Clarkston). Judy Cunningham, Oakland Circuit Court administrator, gave the panel charts showing the criminal caseload had risen nearly 10 percent a year — from 5,269 in 1985 to 7,856 last year. Total circuit court filings in the same period rose from 22,985 to 30,762 or nearly 6 percent a year. Oakland has 16 circuit judges and would elect two more in 1992 if the bill becomes law. Joe Mullin, staff member for the Oakland County Board of Commissioners, told a tired Judiciary panel that the board endorsed the need for two more judges in the county-wide district.

Mullin's testimony supported a study by Supreme Court administrator Marilyn Hall. It showed the Walled Lake court has three judges but a workload for 3.82 while the Clarkston court has one judge and a workload for 1.7. The Walled Lake-headquartered court also serves the Novi, Milford, Highland, Commerce, Rose and White Lake communities. The same bill also renewed authorization for one additional judge each in the 47th District (Farmington area), the 35th District (Blymouth, Canton-Northville) and 48th District (Birmingham). Addition of those judges is subject to local unit funding. The committee had little to argue about as it added those judges to a House Bill 5437, sponsored by Rep. Claude Trim. R-Springfield. Deadline is May 12 for candidates to file for the Aug. 4 primary. The arguments were over whether to "sunset" through retirement, one district judge apiece in Pontiac, Lansing and Muskegon. The panel dropped only a Muskegon position after judges in the other areas pleaded that the Supreme Court's figures inaccurately represented their workloads. "We're a role model to youth. We can't afford to lose a black judge in Pontiac," said Chief Judge William Waterman, noting that three of the four present judges are black. The Supreme Court said the Pontiac district has work for only 2.1 judges, and Waterman replied, "If you look only at numbers, you'd be tempted to agree." "But there's been an incredible increase in serious crime," he said. Pre-trial exams in murder cases take two to three days compared to a few hours for less serious felonies. "We have 1,000 to 1,400 felons compared to 200 or 300 in the 48th District, Birmingham," Waterman said. "What's the story?" asked committee chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. "We're aware of the cost involved. That's for you to resolve," said Doctoroff, who was elected by his peers less than a month ago. "Crime and drugs," said Doctoroff. There are automatic appeals when a judge departs from sentencing guidelines, but that's not the core of the problem. "The litigiousness of our society is not something we can control," Doctoroff said. He said the court had tried alternative methods of dispute resolution, but those don't work during the appeal process because the winner at trial is less likely to want to settle.

The refund policy for Community Education courses has been changed. Refunds will not be issued for one-day classes. Refunds for all other classes should be requested five working days before the class begins, and a $5 service fee will be assessed. Full refunds will be given if the classes are filled prior to your registration. Refunds requested after a class begins will be charged for each class held, plus the $5 fee, but refunds will not be issued after the second class has met.

Father, daughter face porn charges

By MIKE TYREE
Staff Writer

The owners of Northville Video stood mute Tuesday on charges they violated state obscenity statutes by renting allegedly pornographic videotapes.

Carl Wilson, 50, of Brighton and his daughter Laura Wilson, 26, of Northville, surrendered to township police Tuesday and were booked and then arraigned at 35th District Court in Plymouth.

The Wilsons and Northville Video face four counts each of second-degree obscenity stemming from last week's township police raid of their business in the Highland Lakes Shopping Center off Seven Mile Road.

The Wilsons face a March 6 pretrial hearing at 35th District Court.

Police confiscated jackets from four allegedly obscene videotapes, boxes of allegedly obscene glossy materials and a computer and computer discs containing the names of Northville Video customers.

Police acted on a search warrant approved by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office. The prosecutor's office later authorized arrest warrants for misdemeanor charges against the Wilsons.

A Detroit man who identified himself as president of the Michigan Coalition on Pornography filed a complaint over Northville Video's tape stock in December. The man, who refused to give his name, called rental of tapes such as Taboo and Anal Angels and others a "clear violation" of state obscenity statutes.

"The material that was in that store I would deem to be obscene under Michigan law," the man said.

The Wilsons refused comment on the case, but their attorney blasted the complainant, township police and the county prosecutor's office.

"He's a religious zealot who travels around the state trying to goad (local officials)," said Carl Rubin, of Southfield. "Most communities simply ignore him; I can't tell you why Northville has chosen to listen to him."

The Wayne County Prosecutor has brought (charges up in) a number of these cases and lost every one," Rubin added. "These materials have been proven by law to be constitutionally protected."

Rubin said he soon would file a motion to dismiss the case.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Raymond Walsh is handling prosecution of the case. He was unavailable for comment Tuesday.

Township police Chief Chip Sneider said his department was "obligated" to investigate the initial complaint and file a report with the prosecutor's office.

"We're obligated to submit it to the prosecutor for review," he said. "In this case, the prosecutor said there was enough to bring charges."

Concerns that police intended to scour confiscated computer lists to identify renters are unfounded, Sneider said. He said the prosecutor's office asks for records that would indicate the number of times the allegedly obscene tapes were rented during the past year.

Father investigated for abuse

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

Police arrested a Novi man Feb. 13 after his wife alleged that he was abusing her and their three children. In addition to the abuse she described on Feb. 13, she said her husband has previously forced their children to watch pornographic movies.

Further, she said her husband would sometimes come home at 2 a.m. and force the children to get out of bed and stand at attention until he told them they could sleep.

The woman told police Feb. 13 that her husband attempted to strangle her, and that he was physically abusing her oldest son.

Possible charges from the incident have not yet been decided by Novi police and the suspect reportedly has not yet been arraigned. The identity of the husband is being withheld by police until charges are filed.

The suspect allegedly told police that he and his wife were arguing, but that he did not hit her or the children. Police said he was arrested because marks on the woman's neck and statements by the children were consistent with the charges she was making.

After the man was arrested, the woman reportedly told police that her husband was intoxicated when he came home that evening, and that he was yelling at her and telling the children that she was a bad mother.

The woman allegedly told police that her husband repeatedly insulted both of his sons and her, using profanities and describing various obscenities.

She reportedly said that when her husband found out she had called the police, he told her that they wouldn't do anything to him because he is a taxpayer and pays their salaries. She said he also claimed that they couldn't keep him for long, and when he got out he would "get even" with her.

County board may clip own wings

Now that the horse is gone, Oakland County Commissioners are locking the barn.

After overruling the travel budget by nearly $30,000 last year, commissioners decided to take up the issue of limiting or cutting expenses for out-of-town meetings.

Commissioners spent $89,000 for travel in 1991, according to the county budget department, or $29,678 more than the $49,702 allocated. Commissioners went to places like Hawaii, Salt Lake City, Phoenix, Atlanta, Chicago, Washington, D.C. and Traverse City.

Just two commissioners — Donald Bishop, R-Rochester Hills, and James Ferrers, D-Pontiac — did not take any out-of-town trips in 1991. Records reflect they spent no money for travel.

But their frequent flying colleagues more than make up any slack, making this board one of the most well-traveled in history — despite frequent calls for austerity and belt-tightening.

The most traveled commissioner, according to county records, is Hubert Price, D-Pontiac. Price spent almost $6,000. Spending more than $4,000 for travel were Ruel McPherson, D-Hazel Park; Thomas A. Law, decided to talk about the problem. When commissioners exhaust the $1,600 in travel allowances they are entitled to, "I will approve no further expenditure," Crake said in a memo dated Jan. 30.

But that could be a penny-wise and pound-foolish approach, said a number of commissioners, who defend spending as much as necessary for travel, even in a budget crunch.

"We have several commissioners who serve on various steering committees," said former board chairman Roy Rewold, who this month stepped down as a county commissioner. "And they're expected to attend meetings."

He was referring to steering committees for the National Association of Counties and the Michigan Association of Counties. Both organizations examine government issues and formulate positions that are sometimes incorporated into legislation enacted in Washington or Lansing.

By having commissioners on those committees, Rewold said, Oakland benefits in two ways — input into pending legislation and first-hand information about what other communities are doing about common problems.

This is particularly helpful, Rewold said, when commissioners are trying to deal with issues such as solid waste management or mass transportation.

Commissioner Law, who went to Hawaii, Salt Lake City, Washington, D.C., and Traverse City, said each of his trips were approved before he went. "And every dollar is justified."

"I'm a member of the NACO steering committee on transportation," he said. "If the county doesn't think that's a good investment, I won't go."

Commissioner Lawrence R. Pernick, D-Southfield, went to Atlanta as a member of the NACO Task Force on AIDS. "I think it's very important to find out what's happening in other areas... how other communities are addressing similar problems."

Oil and water mixed at 1970s gas station

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) massive file on a former Novi Road Boro station began in June, 1988 with a telephone call from neighboring Austin Street resident James Korte.

Based on a discovery of petroleum tainted soil and groundwater from alleged leaky storage tanks, the 1970s gas station was added to the DNR's Michigan Sites of Environmental Contamination Proposed Priority Lists, Act 307, in October 1989.

Today, an environmental assessment is close to completion at the corner of Novi Road and Thirteen Mile, just 500 feet away from the blue waters of Walled Lake and not far from the wells many area residents depend upon for their drinking water.

DNR Environmental Quality Analyst Sandra Tall said Tuesday that the Novi based ATEC Environmental Consultants has analyzed soil borings and is awaiting test results from water monitoring wells on and near the site.

"They have done quite a bit there, getting all the work completed," Tall said. "We've had an awful lot of phone calls about it. People were concerned about their wells."

ATEC will not comment on their findings.

Loads of contaminated soil were removed from the site in February and in April.

"Quite often, as they do the assessment they will take out the worst part," Tall said.

BP (British Petroleum Co.) which bought out Boro's parent company Standard Oil, is paying for the assessment.

Who will foot the bill for the final cleanup is still under negotiation.

Property owner Victor Muscat may have been living through every small businessman's nightmare. According to the purchase agreement, the long-time Novi resident bought the old Boro facility "as is" in 1982 for $75,000 and promised not to operate a gas station there for 20 years. This was two years after Boro's Boro went out of business and six years before the Michigan Leaking Underground Storage Act of 1988 took effect.

Muscat uses the former gas station to store video arcade equipment. He was not available for comment.

But records at the Oakland County Circuit Court show that after contamination was found on the land, Muscat found himself faced with an environmental mess that could cost hundreds of thousands of dollars to correct.

A city ordinance — since superseded by the state law — required abandoned underground storage tanks to be removed. Korte, who owns several rental homes on Austin, asked the city and the DNR to get the tanks out. Muscat had already been ticketed by the city in 1985.

He was ticketed for the second time by Novi Fire Marshall William Conn in August 1988. In January 1989, Muscat was found guilty in the 52-1 Walled Lake District Court of failure to remove the tanks, was fined $75 and told to have the lot pulled out within 90 days.

In February 1989, Conn looked on as the six tanks were removed. He subsequently reported to the DNR that he detected a strong odor of petroleum, the soil appeared contaminated and an oily sheen was present on the groundwater.

The DNR then told Muscat that state law required him to contract for a hydrogeological investigation. He was given 14 days to submit a workplan. The water and soil assessment alone requested by the DNR could have run Muscat as much as $49,000.

An initial study done at the time by Clayton Environmental Consultants found "significant contamination" of the soil and ground water, apparently from leaking underground storage tanks.

Muscat subsequently filed suit against the City of Novi, BP Oil and the DNR. Novi was brought into the case because the city leased the old Boro site, using it for one year as a fire station before Muscat purchased the land.

Muscat's lawyer argued that he was assured by BP Oil that the storage tanks were cleaned out and filled with water.

Muscat contended that BP Oil — a billion dollar multi-national corporation — should pay for the cleanup. He also sought damages in excess of $10,000.

In December 1989, Oakland County Circuit Court Judge John O'Brien removed Novi and the DNR from the case.

Attorneys for BP Oil — which has a U.S. headquarters in Cleveland — contended that the firm did not know of any leaking tanks at the Novi site; the tanks had been drained of gas and filled with water; and at the time the station was closed and no federal, state or local requirements were in place for environmental testing and remedies for underground storage tanks. BP Oil denied it directly or indirectly discharged chemicals into the soil or groundwater through spills or leaks.

In addition, the company's attorneys said Muscat agreed to take the land "as is."

In July 1990, Judge Tyrone Gillespie, filling in for O'Brien, dismissed the counts of misrepresentation, breach of contract, unjust enrichment filed against BP Oil. But Gillespie did uphold a count accusing BP Oil of negligence under the Michigan Environmental Protection Act.

This ruling was the key to an accord between Muscat and BP Oil. Both parties agreed in November 1990 to drop the lawsuit. BP Oil subsequently sent a proposal for a site assessment to the DNR which was approved in spring 1991. The study covers land within one-half mile of the Muscat property.

"They agreed to pay for contamination testing and monitoring of the property," Muscat's lawyer Charles Berschback said. "We're still negotiating as to who is going to be responsible for the final clean up. They have given us some assurances that they will be responsible, but they have not put that in writing as yet."

"It depends upon what the results of the testing are."

BP Oil environmental professional Martin Coleman said that while the company never operated the station, they acknowledge ownership of the tanks and plan to finance the purging of the soil and water.

"The work they're doing out there is part of the cleanup. They're removing some of the contaminated material that was in the tank area," Coleman said.

Soil, water test results pending for Boron site

Who foots the bill was at heart of lawsuit over cleanup of underground storage tanks

The location was given a rank of seven out of a possible 15 in October 1989 on the state Department of Natural Resources' Michigan Sites of Environmental Contamination Proposed Priority Lists, Act 307.

"A seven is not very high at all. So we may not know that much. I would think it would get a higher score when it is rescored," Tall said.

When the underground storage tanks were extracted in 1989, Korte said he observed the petroleum-polluted soil being placed back into the holes. DNR records show that the department suggested this procedure until a complete environmental assessment could be done of the property.

Korte said he saw a green, slimy substance oozing from the spot this summer, where soil in the refilled holes had settled.

ATEC Environmental Consultants of Novi are completing an independent study of the water and soil, paid for by BP Oil, a former owner. The risk potential assessment — required by state law — will include property within a half-mile radius of the site.

ATEC is still waiting for results of its water study, Tall said. This water sampling is looking for lead, as well as BTEX.

The property, owned by Victor Muscat, is at the west side of Novi Road, just before South Lake Drive. Cleanup at the site was delayed by a lawsuit brought by Muscat against BP Oil.

But Jennifer Besh, who used to live next-door to the former Boro station, said in December 1989 she and her husband paid for an independent water analysis, which found no evidence of petroleum in their well water.

ATEC's work plan for the site includes at least four 45-foot monitoring wells. The groundwater flow appears to be from South Lake Drive to the south and west over the site, the consultants found.

ATEC reported to the DNR that at least 15 domestic water wells are in the vicinity of the site and one "public" well. That study was conducted to pinpoint locations of wells, not to indicate any known contamination.

Mark Adams Shawwood home was on the list — although it is far from being the nearest residence to the site.

"All the homes on Shawwood are on wells," Adams said.

"We're still negotiating as to who is going to be responsible for the final clean-up. They have given us some assurances that they will be responsible, but they have not put that in writing as yet."

Charles Berschback
Attorney

"There's no city water. If you start up along East Lake Drive, there is a large district where everybody is on wells. There are 50-70-80 homes close by, all on wells."

"I have been concerned from the first that this thing has been drawn out as long as it has. I think they should put the health of the community before whose financial responsibility this is."

"To date — according to DNR records — ATEC found no evidence of petroleum vapor or "free product" in underground utility lines near the property. In April, some contaminated soil was removed from the site and sent to a Browning Ferris Industries landfill in New Hudson. Additional dirt was removed earlier this month.

A letter from BP Oil to the DNR notes that the work plan does not define any "corrective activities" but that once the full extent of the contamination is known, a long-term action plan could be developed.

At Lakeview Market on Novi Road — about an eighth of a mile from the site — owner Bill Spicer said the convenience store's well will be analyzed by the health department. He says he's not particularly nervous about the situation.

"There's so much of that around everywhere, really," Spicer said.

Boron — now owned by BP Oil — purchased the site at the corner of Novi and Thirteen Mile roads from Cities Service Oil Company of Tulsa in 1971 and operated a station there throughout the decade.

In closing down the operations, BP Oil says the tanks were drained and filled with water.

Rules sought for pro sport agents

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Rep. Kirk Proffitt is trying a third time to win state regulation of the agents who sign up young athletes for professional teams.

"We have control of the coach, the school, the athlete — everything except the athlete's agent, which is strange because the athlete's agent is in it exclusively for gain," said Proffitt, D-Ypsilanti.

"We'll do it without you," he told Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee who saw his bill as paternalistic.

Proffitt's House Bill 4524 received discussion but no action in committee Tuesday. In past years, a similar bill passed the Democratic-controlled House twice but was sidetracked in election campaigns.

It's against National Collegiate Athletic Association rules — but not against state law — for an agent to deal with college freshmen.

"This would prevent an athlete's agent from contacting a student during his college eligibility, which is a violation of NCAA rules."

"The agent says, 'I can put you in a Cadillac and guarantee you won't have to worry (about money). Just let me represent you when you graduate,'" Proffitt said.

"They get 'em under contract at 17 or 18 because they know a certain percentage will turn pro."

Rep. Tom Power, R-Traverse City, called Proffitt's bill "paternalistic. An 18 year old is old enough to make a contract."

Rep. Bill Martin, R-Hastle Creek,

Congressman Broomfield looks toward 19th term

His vow to run for a 19th term came off a little weaker than usual.

But U.S. Rep. William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, gave a strong performance before about 75 people at the invitation of the Oakland Branch of the American Association of University Women last week at the Salvation Army Church in Royal Oak.

"What a difference a year makes," he told the attentive, responsive audience, referring to last year's war with Iraq and America's military might, technology and leadership.

"We were the A-team. No one could touch us. Now, a year later, we're down in the dumps."

He called the recession "a symptom of our problems" and worried that too much hype preceded President Bush's State of the Union message and its solutions for the economy.

In his prepared speech he covered:

- Japan — I have no intention of bashing the Japanese but something's unfair in our relationship with that country. We send them potato chips and they send us computer chips. Closing markets is not the answer to our trade problems. Competition has been good for us.
- Deficit — There isn't an agency in government that couldn't use trimming. We can reduce it substantially.
- Peace dividend — Take the money and give some of it back to the people in the form of tax cuts.
- Education — Money alone isn't the problem. Per pupil spending is down from 19 years ago, but test scores are down. Accountability is needed — setting standards in five major subjects and using achievement tests to see they are met.
- Postal service — The shootings at Royal Oak really drove things home. I am trying to mobilize a bi-partisan committee to study the postal service.
- "I wish we could see you more often," said Arlene Victor, of Bloomfield Township, who questioned Broomfield on reducing defense spending.
- "My first obligation is in Washington," Broomfield said, acknowledging criticism that he doesn't hold town meetings. "Sure I think town meetings are important, but most people know where I stand."
- As far as his retirement, Broomfield, the longest-serving Republican in Congress, seemed to hedge just a bit. "I know there are people who want me to retire." He suggested that we'll just have to wait and see how the redistricting goes.
- "There's no short cut in this business. I had a dream the Republicans would control the House. I would like to continue to serve. I'll put my qualifications up against anyone."

Broomfield, whose district now includes Novi, may face opposition from incumbent Republican Carl Pursell, or Novi may be drawn out of Broomfield's district, depending on which of the currently pending apportionment plans is adopted.

Under the Democratic plan, Broomfield and Pursell, whose district now includes Northville, would face off against each other. But in the Republican version, Broomfield's district would be drawn further to the north.

Courts reviewing closed meetings

By TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

Governing boards of state colleges and universities are a year away from a final court ruling on how tightly they may shut the doors while interviewing presidential candidates.

"This matter concerns more than the University of Michigan. It concerns all universities and colleges in this state, particularly where there is an impending or existing vacancy in the office of president," said Court of Appeals Judge Glenn S. Allen Jr. recently.

Allen contended when the state's second highest court enjoined the U-M Board of Regents from further use of the closed-door procedures it employed in 1988 when it picked James Duderstadt as president. Attorneys for both Booth Newspapers (Ann Arbor News) and U-M agreed that whoever lost in the Court of Appeals would appeal to the state Supreme Court, a process that will take the better part of a year. The U-M regents made it official after the Court of Appeals' Jan. 21 ruling.

Allen's fellow judges — Kathleen Jansen and Harold Hood — said it was clear the regents violated the Open Meetings Act (OMA) in 1987-8 when they searched 14 months for a successor to Harold Shapiro.

"We hold that the use of overlapping, intercommunicating, sub-quorum committees of public bodies as a means of direct circumvention of the OMA is not legal, and is in direct contravention of the objective of the OMA, which is to promote openness and accountability in the government," said Jansen and Hood.

Regent Paul Brown, chair of the selection committee, made the cuts from 250 candidates to 70, according to U-M's briefs. But the appeals judges said, "It is clear he did so after innumerable meetings between the advisory committees and sub-quorum groups of regents."

Regents used a series of five steps to pare a list from 250 to one, but never took a public vote until Duderstadt was nominated.

But Allen called the law "ambiguous" in allowing boards to "review the specific contents of an applicant" in closed sessions but requiring that "all interviews by a public body for employment or appointment to a public office shall be held in an open meeting."

Allen said "screening interviews for the presidency of a college or university should be exempt" from OMA. "I would urge that the Legislature take remedial action promptly."

But prompt legislative action is unlikely.

"It'll be another year before there's real pressure. I would oppose it," said House Judiciary chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, father of the OMA's companion measure, the Freedom of Information Act.

"If other states can live with it (open interviews), why can't we?" said Bullard. Florida, Texas and Wisconsin are among the states with strict public interview requirements.

Schoolcraft College conducted open interviews of three finalists for president in 1981.

Regents from the area include Neal Nielson of Brighton and Phil Power, of Ann Arbor. Power is also the president of the Suburban Communications Corporation, which owns this newspaper.

Obituaries

George V. Wade

George V. Wade of Novi, 65, died Feb. 12 in Botsford General Hospital due to cardiac arrest. He was born Oct. 4, 1906, in Wadesville, Ind., to George Britton McClelland Wade and Della Mae Moyer. His wife, Betty Knapp Wade, survived his death.

He attended Indiana State Normal College Terre Haute and Wayne State University. He received his bachelor's degree in 1928 and his master's degree in 1935. He worked as a principal and a teacher for Detroit Public Schools for 44 years, until his retirement in 1967.

He also taught at Cleveland Intermediate, was assistant principal for White Orthopedic School, principal of Leland School for Crippled Children and taught night school at Northern High School.

Surviving with his wife are his daughters Dorothy Parker, Barbara Schman, Stewart and Mary Jackson; 12 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.

His funeral will be Feb. 18 at 11 a.m. at O'Brien Chapel/Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home of Novi with Dr. Daniel Kuhn Jr. officiating. He was cremated at Evergreen Crematory.

Memorials may be sent to Central Woodward Christian Church, 3955 W. Big Beaver, Troy 48064 or the American Heart Association.

Kenneth Witney Bell

Kenneth Witney Bell of Novi died at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac Thursday, Jan. 30 due to cancer. He was born Feb. 2, 1915, in Brady Township, Mich., to the late John W. Bell and Minnie Robbinnott.

He has lived in the community for years. His wife, Genevieve Lawton Bell, survives with their three nieces, Beverly Lawton, Jane Miller and June Gross, and his brother Robert Coon.

The funeral was Feb. 1 at O'Brien Chapel/Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home with Chaplain Norman Schollett officiating. He was buried at Cadillac Memorial Gardens.

Gary D. Schneemann

Gary D. Schneemann, 47, of Novi died at Harper Hospital Feb. 2. He was born Jan. 15, 1945, in Detroit to Karl Schneemann and Ruth Kellert. His mother preceded his death.

Pam Schneemann, his wife since Aug. 1966, survives with their sons Steve and Jon, their daughter Susan, his father Karl, his step-mother, two brothers and two sisters.

He received his bachelor's degree in business operations in 1968 and his master's degree in business in 1972, both at Wayne State University. He was a systems analyst for Ford Motor Co. for 13 years.

He was an Elder at the Ward Presbyterian Church, a sports enthusiast, runner in the Detroit Free Press Marathon and was pursuing his master's degree in Computer Technology. He taught at Oakland County Community College and Schoolcraft College.

Visitation was Monday, Feb. 3, and Tuesday, Feb. 4, at the O'Brien Chapel/Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home in Novi. Visitation was also at the Ward Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, Feb. 5. The Rev. Bartlett Hess officiated the service.

He was buried at Oakland Hills Cemetery in Novi. Memorials to the Gary Schneemann Memorial Fund would be appreciated.

Emmett I. Smith

Emmett I. Smith of Novi died Feb. 14 in his home after a short illness.

Mr. Smith, age 64, was born June 26, 1927, in Detroit to Emmett I. and Ruby Avant Smith.

Surviving Mr. Smith are his wife of 37 years, Marion "Kirk" Smith (nee Kirkpatrick); his daughter, Maureen L. Smith of Texas; his son, Shawn I. Smith of New Jersey; and his grandchildren, Meghan L. Smith of Texas.

Mr. Smith served in the U.S. Navy during WWII and is a graduate of the University of Michigan, where he received his bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. He was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity.

Mr. Smith had over 35 years of operational and staff experience with the Bell Telephone System, first with Michigan Bell, then in New Jersey at AT & T's World Headquarters. His work experience included engineering, field operations for installation and maintenance of customer premise equipment, and staff assignments in personnel, training and labor relations.

Mr. Smith was associated with Michigan Bell from 1950 until 1973. Upon his retirement in 1985, he began a consulting career with several East Coast firms, including AT & T, Drake Bean Mortin Inc., Focus Inc. and Assessment Alternatives.

Services for Emmett I. Smith were Tuesday, Feb. 18, from the Ross B. Northrup & Son Funeral Home in Northville. Officiating was the Rev. Eric S. Hammar (retired) from the First Methodist Church of Northville. Burial was at Riverside Cemetery in Plymouth.

Memorials to the Michigan Cancer Foundation would be appreciated by the family.

Arrangements were made by the Ross B. Northrup & Son Funeral Home of Northville.

As We See It

State is speaking out of both sides of mouth

Education

The state government is speaking out of both sides of its mouth these days and it's enough to make you seethe. The state legislature has never hesitated to make additional requirements of local school districts about the way they teach their students. The state has regulated everything from the number of snow days the district can take in a year to the way school buses must be marked to the types of food which must be served in the cafeteria. There are even more regulations on the curriculum. And still more regulations about how school districts go about their business are due to come on line soon.

But when the Novi school board threatens to ignore those requirements and go its own way because of a lack of financial support, the state turns around and says it thinks that's a great idea. In fact, Gov. John Engler claims he's in favor of "more flexibility" for local school districts.

In a recent interview with the Novi News, Engler said: "I would like to leave the schools as free as possible to be innovators — to not be bound by state rules and regulations — and to allow them to meet the educational challenges with the creativity that can only come from local school districts that are freed from state shackles."

Nice words, but it's a lot of bunk as far as we're concerned. Coming on line this year are new state requirements for teacher competency testing, and pending in Lansing is a proposal to add new minimum standards for students to earn a state-endorsed diploma.

Engler should realize that the only one in favor of making those requirements is the state. No local school districts are out there asking for more regulation. So if "flexibility," "creativity" and being "free from state shackles" are really something the state is in favor of, why doesn't it just not adopt those added regulations.

Perhaps Engler was not the one who sponsored these particular proposals, and maybe he wasn't even in favor of them. But we also don't see him putting forward a school district deregulation proposal either. The state could simply deregulate if it wanted to, even without cutting off the funding it gives to local school districts. But that's not what we're seeing.

What we are seeing is diminishing state resources being put to education, to the point that if Engler's latest proposal for cutting funding to schools is

Time to settle dispute

There comes a time when you just throw up your hands and say, "Enough is enough." In the ongoing disagreement between government officials and Laura Lorenzo, that time is now.

How do things get so out of control? Because, at least in part, both sides can claim firm ground for their arguments. Lorenzo does have a serious drainage problem, and various governmental officials have spent a lot of time and money researching it.

Lorenzo's yard — within the City of Novi, but bordering Northville — suffers from severe flooding. She attributes this in large part to restrictive culverts involved in the construction of Northville's Pheasant Hills subdivision. But agreements that her property also falls in an unfortunate position regarding other drainage problems. Other lots in Lorenzo's Lexington Green subdivision apparently drain onto her land, and in extreme floods a nearby detention pond can overflow into her yard as well.

The City of Novi offered to redirect the Lexington Green drainage, an offer Lorenzo refused because it didn't address all the problems. This decision is puzzling, because although she's right — her property would still retain water — it would at least take care of the problems which, even by her analysis, involve the City of Novi.

At a Northville city council meeting last month, Lorenzo and the city council heard an overview report from the city engineers on all these issues. McNeely and Lincoln recommended that the city petition the Oakland County Drain Commissioner for a Pheasant Hills culvert-maintenance program, discuss future water discharge levels with Novi officials, and monitor the area to prevent any illegal filling or dumping.

Combined with Novi's offer, those actions would go a long way toward solving the drainage problems. But still Lorenzo speaks of filing a negligence lawsuit, and at the most recent meeting added an accusation of illegal wetlands filling against Stinch Development and the City of Northville.

We can understand Lorenzo's frustration with her drainage problems and the delays involved in dealing with various local, county, state and federal bureaucrats. When she rejects partial solutions out-of-hand, however, she at least appears to be more interested in lawsuits than in problem-solving.

Having seen her genuine concern for environmental issues demonstrated often publicly in the past, we don't think that's her true feeling. But that is the impression she presents, with no recognition that Northville has spent upwards of $8,000 looking into her problem, on top of Novi's effort.

Enough is enough. The City of Northville is getting opinions from its own attorney, the Department of Natural Resources, and the Federal Emergency Management Agency on whether it's done everything it's supposed to do. That's fine; and in the meantime we'd like to see both Northville and Novi pursue the partial remedies already suggested. If that's not enough, we don't know what is.

Education is his sacred cow

Tim Richard

When Gov. John Engler cuts a budget, he doesn't cut everywhere. Education, one-third of the state general fund budget, is his sacred cow. Social services, another one-third, are the Democrats' sacred cow.

The last one-third takes the hit. Department of Natural Resources, which does environmental permitting as well as parks. Agriculture, which keeps the gasoline pumps honest. Commerce, which does financial regulation. Labor, in charge of workplace safety. State Police. Attorney General. Courts. Prisons.

Courts and prisons won't cut much. So the real squeeze is on all the other regulatory functions of government.

Engler rarely talks in detail about it. He uses abstractions like "downsizing" and "reducing the intervention and cost of government."

Phil Power, chairman of this company, suspects Engler has a Reagan-esque hidden agenda about ripping up that portion of state government. I worry about it, too, particularly since Engler has a "cut and cap" property tax plan that, if passed, will quickly eat a $1 billion bite of state government.

So I put the question to Engler directly, starting with financial institutions.

"Well, we probably have one of the better Financial Institutions Bureau in the country," Engler said. "It's in the hands of a civil servant today who is acting commissioner, and he doesn't want the job full time. But frankly I haven't."

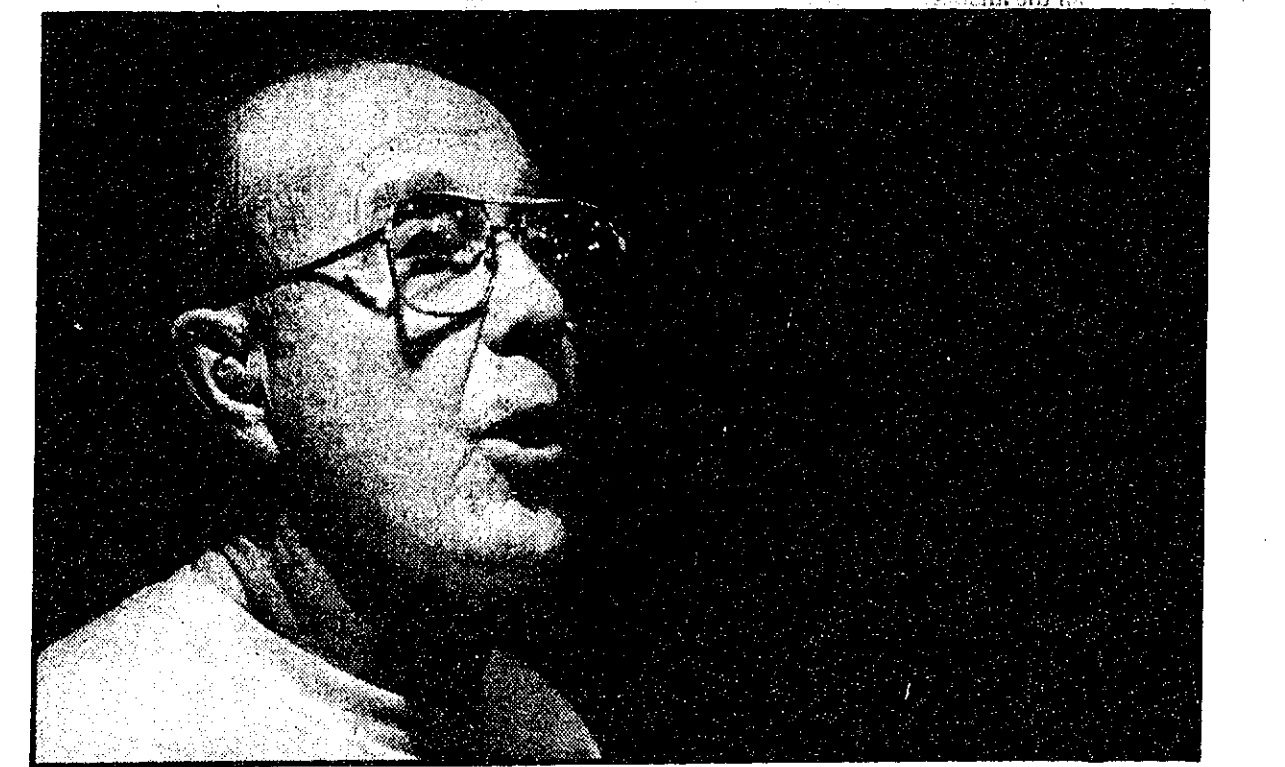

"We had fewer problems in Michigan than almost any state in the country."

"If regulation is cut back, will that continue? I have a whole string of questions."

Engler: "It depends. I don't think we're doing enough in the Insurance Bureau. That's probably on your list. (It was.) We've inherited some very unpleasant situations when we took office. Mr. (David) Dykehouse has moved very promptly to deal with those. That's protection for the state and regional events."

The rustle of Pander season

Phil Power

That strange sound you have been hearing in the background for the past few weeks is nothing more than the spring rustle of the seasonal Pander.

Often seen at the very beginning of spring in election years, Panders cluster together in noisy flocks, usually in search of juicy clumps of voters. Their cry — loud, shrill and persistent — is the key to identification: "Cut Taxes! Cut Taxes!"

Of course, politicians have been pandering to voters ever since elections were invented. But when our Wall Street geniuses, ably assisted by the Reagan Administration, elevated personal greed into America's Top Value during the decade of the 1980s, the bipartisan squawk to cut taxes at all costs has become deafening.

It's no surprise, therefore, to see Michigan versions of this instinct to pander already solidly on the ballot for this fall.

The Democratic proposal exempts the first $30,000 in residential property value from school property taxation. As the candidates already are reminding us, this helps "ordinary folks in the middle class." It also would cost $750 million, to be paid for by an equal increase in business taxes.

Given the immediate recession and the longer term fear that the very basis of Michigan's economy is in severe trouble, does it make any sense to saddle employers with yet another tax increase? I think not.

The Republican idea, cleverly dubbed "Cut and Cap" by Gov. John Engler, would cut all local school operating consumer. But if we don't do our job, it's going to be very costly to the consumer."

Q: "The Liquor Control Commission says it lost inspectors. We're not talking about privatizing, LCC says it has only 47 inspectors for 83 counties. Does that bother you?"

Engler: "It does, especially when their staff is 500. Everybody's out in the warehouses moving cases around, arranging for them to be shipped and running the stores. That's precisely my point. There's an inherent conflict. On one hand, we're running a business and trying to get the liquor out the door. On the other hand, we're regulating so that it isn't sold to minors, so we don't sell drinks to someone who's intoxicated so they don't go out and drive. We could accelerate the hearings when someone's charged with a violation."

"I am not comfortable with the way it's run at present ... I'd like to have them focus on regulation."

Q: "If that whole regulatory section of the budget is squeezed, at some point do we run into the danger there'll be too little regulation?"

Engler: "We're not close to that today. But certainly, conceptually, that's a concern. You don't want to reduce staff to where they can't carry out their responsibilities."

"What you want to do is encourage staff to become more interested in quality management. In other words, what can I do with my time that pays the most important dividend? How can I improve through use of modern information technology?"

"We spend far too much time issuing a license and not enough checking up on the licensee after the fact. Some of it is administrative slowness in responding to new technology. We're encouraging employees to come to us with new ideas."

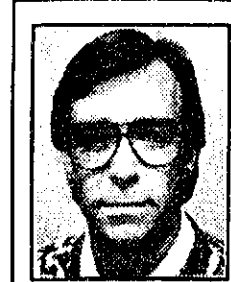

"A bright light in 1991 was the Civil Rights Department, which reduced staff slightly, the budget was smaller, but it resolved more cases because it changed the processes by which they made decisions."

He cited a backlog in workers comp cases that has been wiped out, and a snafu in cosmetology licenses.

In short, Engler thinks we're not close to danger in cutting the regulatory area. I say we're close.

Seizure of customer lists is scary

Michael Malott

Video store on Seven Mile Road, your name is now on file with the prosecutor's office and the Northville Township Police Department.

1. for one, think that's pretty scary. It's an invasion of privacy, if you ask me. Who has been slipping what into the slot of their own home VCR is, in my opinion, darned well none of the prosecutor's business. That he even wants to know snacks of Big Brothers.

Now, no one should forget that this is an election year, and the timing of this obscenity raid probably was not a coincidence.

Still, it was the strangest raid I've ever heard of. When the Northville cops hit the video store in a raid ordered by the prosecutor, they seized the jackets of four allegedly obscene videotapes, a variety of glossy promotional materials, the store's computer and its computer records.

Oddly, they left behind the actual tapes of the four offending film flicks, to be rented again, pending a determination from the prosecutor that the material really is obscene. In most obscenity raids I've ever seen or heard about, the

Urges more support in elections

To the Editor:

I recently spoke with you on the issue of Novi voters in the north end being misinformed about where to go to vote. I still believe that the map provided in the Feb. 6 issue of the newspaper could have included in the school precinct number box, and the corresponding city precinct numbers. This would have taken very little extra space and time. I do believe that this would have made somewhat of a difference in the number of people that turned out to vote.

Find it hard to believe that out of 15,517 registered voters in this city, that only 1,123 of them turned out to cast a ballot. That would mean that 14,394 people had to be misinformed. I also found out that of 303 registered voters in city precinct No. 4 (school precinct No. 1) only 19 people thought it was necessary to vote.

"In trying to find all the answers to my questions, I may have made judgements and some not so dignified remarks to certain people. For this I apologize. I now know that many people not turning out to vote can only be construed as lazy. There's really no other excuse for not taking the time to vote.

In closing, I hope the misinformed now know that school Precinct No. 1 is the same as city Precinct Nos. 1, 4 and 9. As for the other precincts you're on your own. Please try to show more support for the June Board Election.

You are target for landfill

To the Editor:
Attention All Oakland County Communities with Open Space:
You have always been a potential target for a general landfill. Soon your community may be the recipient of a "hazardous" waste landfill.

If County Commissioners get the approval they need for the County's $500 million solid waste plan, which centers around a mass-burn incinerator, hazardous waste ash monoliths will be sited in the county. Many Oakland county residents voted for the bonding of this plan because of the perceived landfill crisis. If the incinerator comes to fruition, the crisis will be heightened.

Incineration actually perpetuates the landfill problem. Incinerators require a constant stream of trash to run efficiently, thus forcing recycling and other resource reduction and recovery programs. Incineration does not make trash go away, it simply converts it to airborne emissions, and ash which requires landfilling. The Oakland County facility is expected to generate up to 240,000 tons of toxic ash per year. The ash is not clean after burning as one might expect. It is laden with heavy metals (lead, mercury and cadmium) released from trash during burning and deadly compounds synthesized during the combustion process itself (dioxins, furans). The June 16, 1988, Wall Street Journal details the problems communities are facing with incinerator ash. On Nov. 19, 1991, the Court of Appeals ruled ash from municipal solid waste incinerators as hazardous waste in Illinois, Indiana and

Kindergarten signups begin soon

The Novi Community School District is starting Kindergarten Roundup for the 1992-93 school year.

Kindergarten roundup is held each spring as a means of preparing students for entrance into kindergarten. Children who will be five years old by Dec. 1 are eligible to enter school in fall. Registration will begin Feb. 3.

An informal meeting on the kindergarten registration process will be held at each elementary school during the month of March. These meetings are for parents only. At this meeting, principals will discuss what will be expected of the students and explain the registration procedures.

An integral part of the roundup process is the prekindergarten conference. This conference provides parents and teachers an opportunity to exchange information, and for the teacher and student to assess the child's skill level. Parents may sign up for a conference at the general meeting or call the school principal to arrange a time.

Kindergarten Roundup meeting dates are as follows:

- Novi Woods, Tuesday, March 10, 7 p.m. 344-8335.
- Orchard Hills, Monday, March 16, 7 p.m. 344-8332.

- Parkview, Tuesday, March 10, 7:30 p.m. 344-2600.
- Village Oaks, Monday, March 16, 7:30 p.m. 344-8324.

Questions regarding kindergarten roundup should be directed to the appropriate principal. Information on which school a child will attend may be obtained by calling the communications department at 344-8330 ext. 30.

Volunteer Notes

Cancer Society Lock Up: The American Cancer Society is seeking volunteers to help implement the Great American Lock Up, March 3-6, at the Sheraton Oaks Hotel in Novi. The Sheraton Oaks is one of 14 sites in the metro Detroit area involved in the event.

Volunteers will not only have the chance to help in an event which raises funds for cancer research, education and service programs, but they will also be able to act as dispatchers, bailiffs, clerks, jail-keepers or even judges.

For $25 a friend or foe can be sent to the "slammer" at one of 14 Lock Up sites in the metro Detroit area, where they will be sentenced to raise bail in the form of pledges to the Society.

For more information, contact Karen Rose at the American Cancer Society at 557-5353

Hospice volunteers needed: Volunteers are needed to help Hospice of Southeastern Michigan provide compassionate care to dying.

Patient care volunteers help patients and their families by running errands, lending support and being a friend. Some may perform simple patient care tasks such as giving baths, transferring patients and changing linen.

Volunteers also participate in the hospice bereavement program, making calls and visits to families after a patient's death and helping with bereavement support groups.

"On-call" volunteers are willing to be called whenever a patient or family has a need for their special skills or talents. Services include driving, barbering and hairdressing, lawn care, snow shoveling and simple home maintenance.

Office volunteers provide clerical support. Volunteers with computer operations or medical transcription skills are in great demand.

Speakers bureau volunteers tell the hospice story to groups in the community.

Anyone over the age of 16 is welcome to volunteer.

Mystic Forest, Nottingham approved

The commission unanimously rejected The Selective Groups request for preliminary site plan approval and for a woodlands permit.

A second development, Nottingham Woods, a subdivision on the east side of Wixom Road north of Ten Mile Road, was more successful in its dealings with city woodlands and wetlands ordinances.

The commission unanimously voted to recommend City Council approval of an adjusted lot size plan for the site.

The development is about 10 acres of regulated woodlands, located on a wetland.

But Lemke said there would be almost no impact on the wetlands in the development.

"They've done a good job of staying out of the wetlands," Lemke said.

Finally, Mystic Forest Subdivision got the go-ahead from the commission. But support for the development was not unanimous.

Mystic Forest is to be built on the west side of Novi Road between Nine and Ten Mile Roads.

The development required a woodlands and wetlands permit to be built. Commissioner Timothy Gilberg noted that two of the homes proposed to be built on part of the development would be on filled wetlands.

Gilberg said the development creates a sort of "buyer beware" situation for potential homeowners who might have to purchase a sump pump to keep their basement dry.

Consultants recommended against developing on those two lots because of wetlands concerns.

But the commission approved 5-3 a wetlands permit for Mystic Forest.

Developers received unanimous approval for a woodlands permit, and approval for the tentative preliminary plat with Kramer and Johnson voting against granting approval to the plat.

downbrook Congregational Church is on Meadowbrook, south of Nine Mile Road.

Commissioner Kathleen McLallen expressed concern that the number of churches in Novi could cause Sunday morning traffic problems. But consultant Rodney Arroyo said the churches likely will schedule services to avoid creating traffic problems.

Commissioner Tim Gilberg said he was happy to see another church locating in Novi.

"I think somebody once said you can envision the health of a community by the number of churches," he said.

Commissioner Ernest Aruffo said he envisions the presence of a church as the cornerstone of a community.

"I see no negative impacts. It's all positive," Aruffo said, adding that the external architecture of the proposed church is "striking."

THURSDAY
February 20,
1992

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

It happened in 1990. It happened again in '91.

And this year, it three-peated. MacKinnon's, by a landslide, is the overall winner of our 1992 Restaurant Poll.

After the 131 ballots were counted, MacKinnon's came out on top in the "Best Overall Restaurant" category with 48 votes — 34 more than the second-highest vote-getter.

MacKinnon's, located in downtown Northville, also won top honors in the "Best Service," "Best Desserts," "Best Atmosphere" and "Best Steak" categories, winning in more categories than any other restaurant.

What is it that makes people so fond of MacKinnon's?

Well, owner and chef Tom MacKinnon says eating at his restaurant is "kind of like going home."

In other words, he said, MacKinnon's offers consistent quality and good service that people know they will get whenever they go there.

His key staff members include people who have been with the restaurant for as long as 11 years. People like Trisha Alberts, who MacKinnon describes as "our No. 1 waitress," Larry Janes, a writer who also works there part-time as a waiter; waiter Danny Korte and bartender Billy Alberts.

"As far as good service, I have a good crew," MacKinnon said. "I cannot stand watching bad service. I go through the roof."

MacKinnon said 80 percent of his business goes through American Express, which provides him with an annual rundown of where his customers come from.

The most recent showed him that 19 percent of his American Express customers are Chicago residents, 11 percent are from Toledo, and 6 percent are from countries outside the U.S.

MacKinnon describes Wednesday nights at his restaurant as "Cheers night."

"All the 'local executives' come in, sit around the bar, and drink wine," he said.

Every single dish served at MacKinnon's is an original recipe, invented by MacKinnon himself. In fact, he said, his recipes are sometimes copied by other restaurants. When that happens, he takes that dish off his menu because he wants his restaurant to be unique.

MacKinnon's may have a reputation for being high-priced, but MacKinnon disagrees.

"The average (dinner) entree is $17 or $18.95, and that's for the whole meal," he said. "And our lunches are downright cheap."

Customers get what they pay for at MacKinnon's, too.

"We buy the best product," he said. "For our steaks, we always get Black Angus. I never have to worry, because I know I am buying the best."

"Friendliest crew: Papa Romano's, Novi Road."

"I think if the Rosewood had more publicity, they would have to knock out a wall."

"Worst pizza: Domino's."

"Best brunch: Sheraton."

"Best salad bar: Ruby Tuesday."

"When we think of going out to dinner it's the Dandy Gander and we never miss Sunday breakfast there."

"Riffles — a place where people can get a meal without paying for the building."

"Edward's is the most hip!"

"Our gratitude to the new owners of Center St. Cafe for maintaining the fine food and service we have always appreciated. Great waffles, too."

"The Northville/Novi area has great eating. Why go anywhere else?"

3-PEAT

MacKinnon's is tops again in our annual restaurant poll hes at MacKinnon's is the unusual "blown up duck." To make it, MacKinnon prepares the duck by actually putting an air compressor between the meat and the skin and blowing air to expand the skin. Then the entire duck is then seasoned and cooked.

"You are basically getting a duck with the maximum amount of grease taken out of it, and a very crispy skin," he explained — exactly what duck eaters want.

Other popular entrees include beef wellington, dover sole and fresh seafood.

Desserts, for which MacKinnon's is renowned, are big sellers. Favorites are "chocolate chocolate," which is a house made of chocolate and filled with chocolate mousse and other treats; as well as popular fresh sorbets, banana wellington and caramel custard.

"All-in-all, for anything, the customer always leaves happy," MacKinnon said. "That's my job and that's my employees' job. Make them happy. We'll go to extraordinary lengths."

In addition to the restaurant, MacKinnon's also does a heavy catering business. A 32-foot catering truck goes to the site, and food is prepared in the truck rather than the kitchen of the home or other location.

With two full-time chefs, MacKinnon doesn't do all of the cooking at the restaurant. But he does all the catering.

At MacKinnon's, "I just do the fun stuff," he said. "And I kind of oversee everything."

Tom MacKinnon is also the host of a half-hour television show called "Gourmet on the Go." It airs Fridays from noon to 12:30 p.m. on WDIV, Channel 4.

The top three restaurant winners in each category are as follows:

BEST OVERALL RESTAURANT:
First place: MacKinnon's
Second place: Country Epicure

Third place: Too Chez

BEST INEXPENSIVE RESTAURANT:
First place: Crawford's
Second place: Dandy Gander
Third place (tie): Malsano's, Guernsey Farms

BEST SERVICE:
First place: MacKinnon's
Second place: Too Chez
Third place: Country Epicure

BEST BREAKFAST:
First place: Crawford's
Second place (tie): Dandy Gander, Center St. Cafe
Third place: Cindy's Coney Island

PATRICIA GILBERG

Substance abuse slowed by council

By DOROTHY NASH
Special Writer

Because she is a parent of two teenagers, Patricia Gilberg is concerned about substance abuse and peer pressure among high school students. And to do something about it, she is a member — and president — of the Novi Council on Substance Abuse.

One activity is the fund-raising February dinner, which is co-sponsored by the Novi Optimist Club. It's called D.A.R.E., the initials standing for Drug Abuse Resistance Education. It includes entertainment by seventh-graders who have taken the Council's course on drug abuse.

This course is taught by the Novi Crime Prevention police officer, who has taken special training for it. He visits each sixth-grade classroom for one hour each week for 17 weeks, telling the students how to say "No" even if their best friends offer them something.

The Council provides students with workbooks, pens and pencils with the logo D.A.R.E. on them, and it makes available to the T-shirts and hats, also bearing the logo.

The second activity of the Council is the Red Ribbon Campaign, Gilberg said. "It's tied with the National Committee for Drug-Free Youth, and we pass out red ribbons to churches, businesses, schools, anyone to tie them all over town."

Also, Gilberg said, the Council donates money to the senior all-night party and sends out letters to alcohol retail stores, hotels and limousine services alerting them that graduation is coming up. "We urge them to check for IDs and not to sell to minors."

If you are interested in the cause — teenagers or adults — call Patricia Gilberg at 349-7053.

Lamparski is featured speaker at upcoming Town Hall event

Richard Lamparski will be the featured speaker at the March 9 Northville Town Hall. Lamparski will speak at the Livonia Holiday Inn, Six Mile at I-275, beginning at 11 a.m. The optional luncheon will follow immediately after. Recognized as the leading authority on yesterday's Hollywood, Lamparski is Hollywood's "answer man." Appearing on many TV and radio programs, he never fails to delight and entertain the audience. There have been two TV specials produced for ABC based on his series of eight books entitled Whatever became of....

Hollywood, he also has interviewed and has tales to tell about such diverse personalities as Tokyo Rose, Alger Hiss and the Coptic Pope. Lamparski begins his presentation by helping to put faces to the names he discusses, using slides of candid photos of his interviews with such people as Fred Astaire, Gloria Swanson and P.G. Wodehouse. In part two, the audience is invited to ask questions which may result in concise replies to where and how a celebrity of the past is today or a detailed reminiscence of his encounters with that person.

Season ticket holders who wish to order luncheon tickets must do so one week in advance. Luncheon tickets are $12. If you and a friend wish to sit together at the luncheon, indicate it with the ticket order. To order luncheon tickets, mail a check (payable to Northville Town Hall) with name and address and a self-addressed stamped envelope to Virginia Kaiser, Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167. For more information call Virginia Kaiser at 349-8938.

'Shay' is first show at Novi's theater

Novi's own theater troupe, The Novi Players, will present its first production at the new Novi Circle Theatre beginning Feb. 28 at 8 p.m. "Shay" is a story that brings together comedy and drama as the audience watches a woman who is a wife and mother struggle with her identity. The woman, Shay, disguises problems in comedy, song and dance. The play, by Michigan playwright Anne Conner, takes place in Michigan and has been produced on Broadway. Conner lives in Waterford. The Novi Circle Theatre is located in the new Novi Expo Center. It was so named, according to Novi Players publicity chairperson Ann Duffy, because they hope to make the Expo Center the "circle of activities" in Novi. Play dates are Feb. 28, 29, March 6, 7, 14 and 15 at 8 p.m. and March 1, 8 and 15 at 2 p.m. The Novi Expo Center is located just off Novi Road near I-96 behind Bob Evans. Tickets for "Shay" are available at the door for $6 or in advance for $5. For advance tickets call 337-0400.

AAUW to present local honor

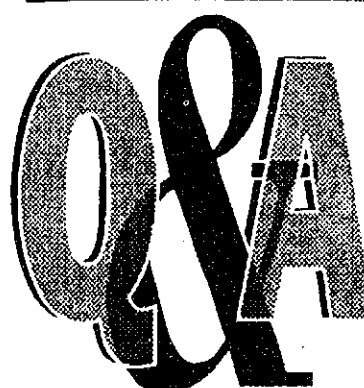

Do you know a woman who has a current or historical impact on the Northville-Nov community? If so, you can help. Once a year the Northville-Nov Branch AAUW (American Association of University Women) presents a "Community Enrichment Award" to someone in the community. It will be presented at the AAUW luncheon meeting on March 21. The criteria for selection are: This person must have a current or historical impact on the community. This person shall reflect the goals of the American Association of University Women's mission statement, which promotes equity for women, education, self-development and positive societal change. Northville-Nov Branch of the AAUW will welcome suggestions for recipients of this award from other organizations or members of the community. Recommendations may be sent (with some documentation) to Ann Weston, President, Northville-Nov Branch AAUW, 53 Wayne Rd., Wayne, MI 48184. Please send responses by Feb. 12.

Host families needed

Have you ever considered hosting an international student in your home? Teenagers (14-18) from Spain, Germany, and Japan are eager to experience life in an American school and family. The students will arrive at the end of August. They will live with their host families for one or two semesters. The students have enough money to pay all of their personal expenses, including school lunches. The sponsoring organization, American Institute for Foreign Studies, rewards host families with generous scholarships for foreign travel and/or study. Families with or without children of their own are welcome to apply. Most families that have hosted foreign students in the past say that hosting is fun. For more information call AIFS at 1-800-322-4678 or call the AIFS local representative in Plymouth, Lynne Levenbach, at 453-8552.

My family and I will be skiing in Mammoth, Calif., this winter. Do any local activities provide a break from the slopes?

A: The whole family might enjoy a dog sled ride. Paul Marvelli's Dog Sled Adventures offers trips from the Mammoth Mountain ski area's main lodge to nearby scenic territories. Adventurers can mush with a 30-dog team of huskies and malamute crossbreeds along a winding forest trail.

Special Winter Moon Dinner rides offer picture-postcard romance — as well as complimentary champagne. The trips range from $30 to $73 for adults, with reduced rates for children age 12 and under.

For further information contact the Mammoth Adventure Concor at (619) 934-0866. For information about lodgings call the Mammoth Lakes Visitors Bureau at (800) 367-6572.

Q: Can you tell us where to get tips on student travel abroad?

A: The free 1992 Student Travel Catalog, now in its 18th edition, is targeted to budget-minded student travelers.

Prepared by the Council on International Exchange, the catalog has details on programs for study, employment and voluntary service around the world, as well as travel advice on rail passes, visas and customs regulations. It also has an application for the International Student Identity Card, which lets students take advantage of substantial discounts and benefits worldwide.

For further information or to order the catalog contact the Council on International Exchange, Dept. ISS-82, 205 E. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017 or call (212) 961-1414, ext. 1108. A $1 fee is charged for postage.

Q: We are looking for a Caribbean resort that offers privacy and relaxation. Any tips?

A: Jumbay Bay in Antigua has 38 suite-size rooms on a private 300-plus acre island, on a recently lost, to former Middle Easterner Terry Anderson, who sought a private place to escape the media spotlight and relax.

One of Jumbay Bay's prime attractions is renowned chef Enrico Perlingher, formerly in service to the Prince and Princess of Wales. The versatile chef prepares America, Italian and Continental meals.

For further information contact the resort at (800) 421-9016.

Q: Can you recommend any cycling tours through Scotland?

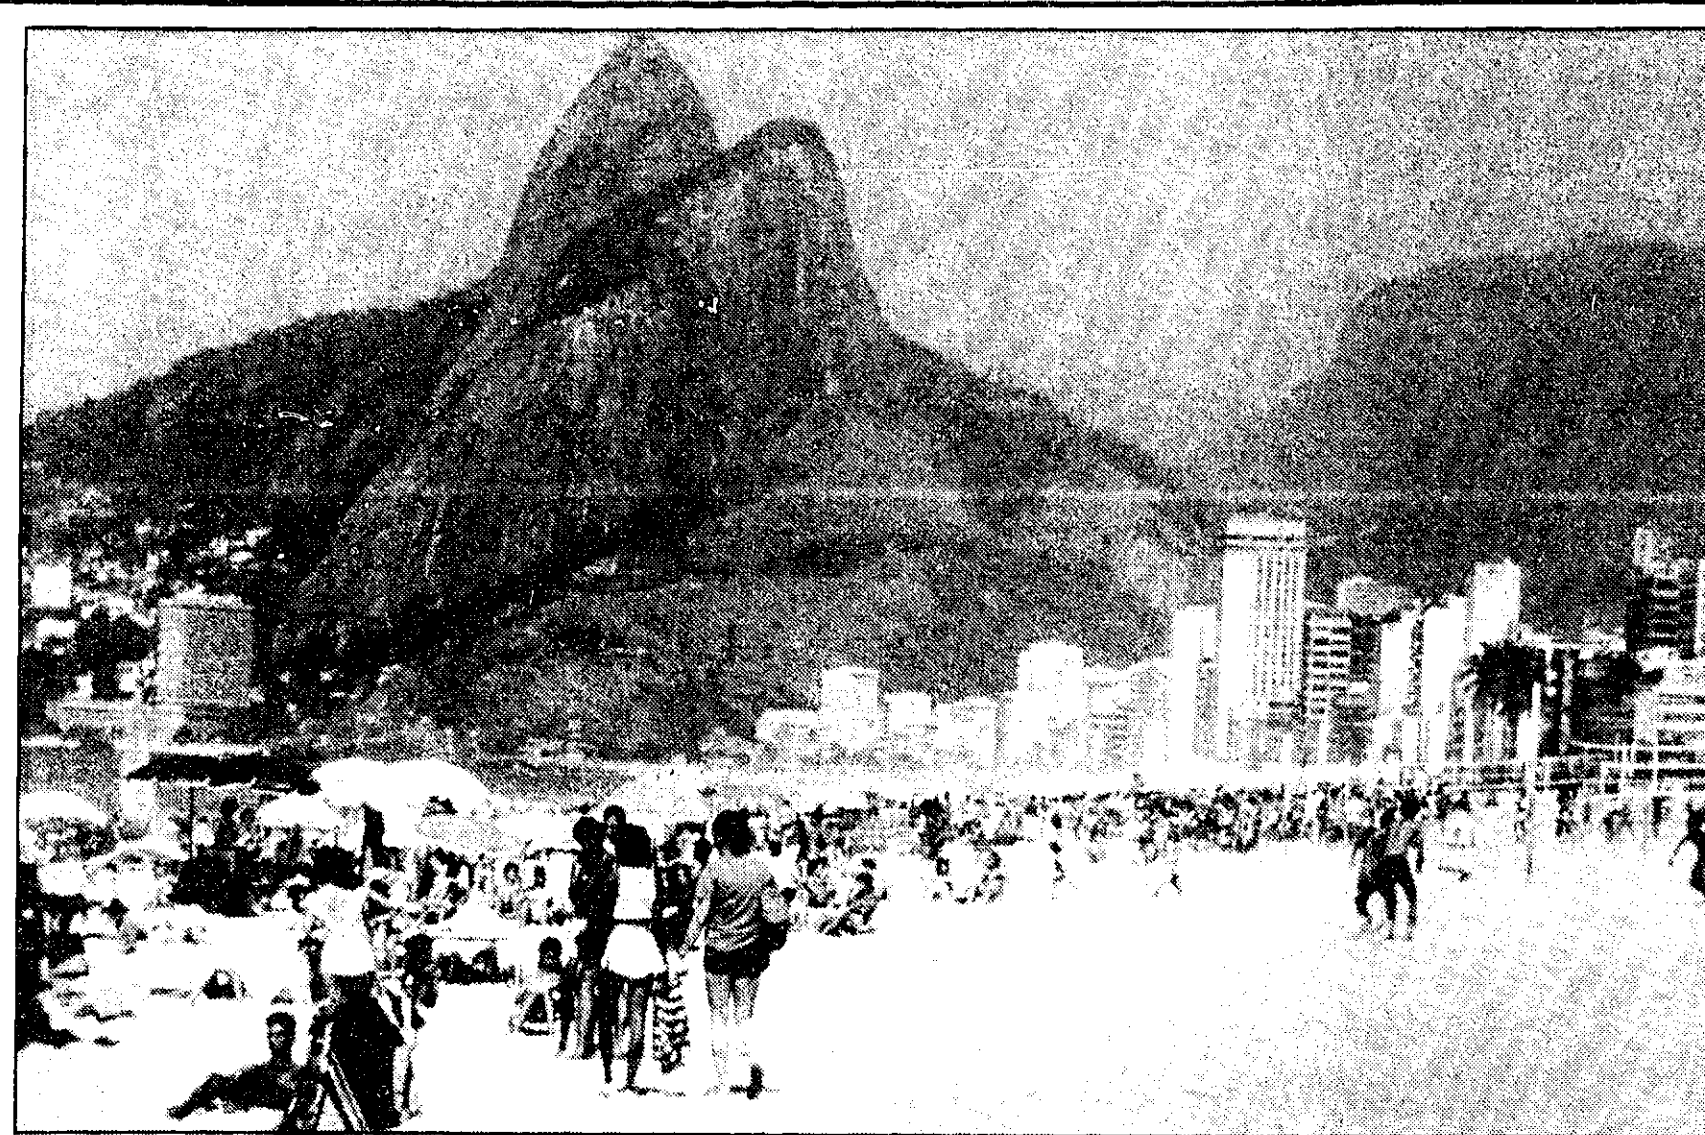

A: From June through September 1992, Baltimore-based agent Peter Costello Ltd., offers 12 six-day bicycle tours called Bicycle Romantic Scotland.

These trips all begin and end in Edinburgh and take cyclists to some of the most famous and scenic sites in Scotland's so-called border country — past historic ruins, through fields and pastures.

Participants stay overnight in attractive bed-and-breakfast inns. Knowledgeable cyclists lead the tours and a van follows the group to give support.

Until March 1, this year's tours are being offered at last year's price: $995 per person, which, among other perks, includes accommodations, breakfasts, and admission fees to stateily homes and castles. For further information contact Costello at (301) 783-1229.

Readers are invited to submit questions to William Tomicki, P.O. Box 5148, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93150. Although he cannot answer each query individually, selected questions will be included in his column. Mr. Tomicki, who logs over 150,000 miles each year, is the publisher of EN-TREE, a noted travel newsletter.

High-rise apartments at Ipanema Beach in Rio de Janeiro are one possibility for travelers who want to swap homes

Swap a home for a visit abroad

Home-swapping makes foreign vacations a lot more affordable

By EVERETT POTTER
New York Times Travel Syndicate

For Lori Home, a San Francisco resident, traveling to Europe for three or four weeks of vacation every year has never posed a major financial problem — even though she and her husband Mark have three young children.

The family has stayed in a small village near Ravenna, Italy, in a beachfront apartment in Majorca and in Paris, in a huge apartment in Montparnasse, near the Luxembourg Gardens, with a maid who not only cleaned but cooked every day.

This year they're going to Barcelona for the summer Olympic Games.

Growth has nothing to do with their travels. The Homes are part of a growing number of Americans who exchange their home for a home abroad.

Lori Home liked exchanging so much that she and a partner, Paula Jaffe, bought International Home Exchange five years ago. It's now the largest such company in the United States and is affiliated with InterVac, a network of 22 independently owned home-exchange companies throughout the world. Here's how it works. Potential exchangers fill out a registration form with a detailed description of their house or apartment, including nearby attractions and recreational facilities, preferred travel dates and destination.

Then, for a fee of $45 plus $12 postage, the listing will appear in one of three exchange books, which are issued in February, April and June. For $11 more, a photograph can be published, although only about a third of the listings are illustrated.

Those who list accommodations receive all three books, which contain a total of about 8,300 listings. A recent directory offered listings in every major western European country, as well as Australia, Brazil, Mexico and New Zealand. They included high-rise apartments overlooking the beach in Rio de Janeiro, cottages in Ireland's County Wicklow and charming houses on the islands outside Stockholm.

It's up to the lister to make contact with potential exchangers through letters and phone calls. Flexibility in terms of time and place are very important. For example, it might be easier to arrange a three-week exchange in Denmark in August than a two-week swap in Paris in June.

You can save an enormous amount of money, especially if you have children," says Home. "Let's face it. Who can afford a week in a European hotel with three kids, let alone three or four weeks?"

For those who voice concern about leaving their house in the care of strangers, Home has a veteran's advice.

"People don't come to take your silver," she says, laughing. "If you have anything valuable or breakable, just lock it up. If you have pets, you can board them. Ask for references in popular destinations such as New York City, San Francisco or Florida have a better chance than those who live in the Midwest."

"Exchanging puts you into a certain frame of mind," says Home. "I have to take care of this house, you think, 'because someone else is taking care of mine.' In 10 years we've never had a problem."

For further information contact International Home Exchange, P.O. Box 590504, San Francisco, Calif. 94159 or call (800) 756-4663.

Here are some other home-exchange companies travelers might want to consider:

■ The Vacation Exchange Club, founded in 1950, is the oldest such company in the country. A $50 registration fee buys a listing in one of four books the club releases each year, with 10,000 listings yearly.

For further information contact Vacation Exchange Club, P.O. Box 820, Haleiwa, Hawaii 96712 or call (800) 638-3841.

■ At Better Homes & Travel, owner Linda McCall charges a $50 registration fee and then attempts to match prospective exchangers with up to 12 partners. For a successful match, she charges a "closing fee" of between $150 and $600.

"These other companies are just publishers," she says. "I take care of the headaches of matching people."

Not everyone can find a match, McCall stresses, noting that people in popular destinations such as New York City, San Francisco or Florida have a better chance than those who live in the Midwest.

For further information contact International Home Exchange, P.O. Box 590504, San Francisco, Calif. 94159 or call (800) 756-4663.

(212) 689-6608. ■ Both active and retired teachers of all levels can utilize Teacher Swap. It costs $34 for a listing in the single directory, which is published in mid-March. A supplement follows in May.

"Two colleagues and I started this six years ago," says Ron Frevola, a retired Long Island, N.Y., teacher, "because teachers have plenty of time but not that much money."

For further information contact Teacher Swap, Box 4130, Rocky Point, N.Y. 11778 or call (516) 744-6403.

■ Those seeking long-term rentals of four months or more should contact Loan-A-Home.

Established in 1968, the company publishes directories in December and June, with supplements in March and September. There is no charge for a listing. One directory and one supplement are $35 and all four publications are $45.

For further information contact Loan-A-Home, 2 Park Lane, Apt. 6E, Mount Vernon, N.Y. 10552 or call (914) 664-7640.

Denmark: A fairy tale land for grandchildren

By GENE and ADELE MALOTT
New York Times Travel Syndicate

Dear TMT: We have lots of relatives in Denmark who have visited us in America.

Now we want to take our two young grandchildren to Denmark to visit their relatives and see some of the country.

Have you heard of Alborg, where our family lives? What is the best way to get there from Copenhagen?

Carl Haroldsen
Des Moines, Iowa

DEAR CH.: Denmark will enchant your grandchildren.

What's more, mature travelers will find that this ancient island kingdom is accessible and easy to navigate.

Visits to Danish attractions such as Legoland near Billund, the Hans Christian Andersen city of Odense and the Viking rediscoveries at Roskilde and Alborg are enough to turn mature travelers into kids.

The public transportation is good for exploring busy Copenhagen — from the magical Tivoli Gardens amusement park to the stimulating Tycho Brahe Planetarium.

From there Bakken, the world's oldest amusement park, is just a bus ride away.

We took an early-morning expedition to the Viking Ship museum at Roskilde to visit the reconstruction of five ships resurrected from the sea.

The train at Copenhagen's Central Station took us to the local Roskilde bus which went directly to the museum.

To visit your relatives in Alborg — and give your journey more freedom and flexibility — rent a car. It will allow you to enjoy the Danish countryside with its white-painted barns and thatched-roof houses, many with cheerful geraniums nodding a welcome from the window boxes.

Nearly every city has a tourist information office that displays the big "I" sign offering help and answers to travelers' questions.

On the drive to Alborg, stop a day at Odense in the middle of Denmark's island of Funen. It's the city where Hans Christian Andersen once lived and wrote his magical stories.

A self-guided walking tour leads along Odense's streets and gardens to Andersen's home and museum. In the nearby city streets, costumed natives re-enact the characters and events in Andersen's tales.

A quick drive from there to Funen Village provides still another historical perspective. Two dozen buildings are now part of an outdoor museum that catalogs the styles of housing and farming once characteristic of the Odense region.

Funen Village has an outdoor amphitheater where Danish youngsters act out a festival of Andersen plays each summer.

Plan another day with your grandchildren at Legoland near Billund. Lego bricks or plastic blocks of many shapes. They are named "Legos" after the Danish words "leg" (meaning "play well").

Here, in incredible detail, a miniature airport, a Swiss village, the Port of Copenhagen filled with ships, the U.S. Capitol, the Acropolis, Mount Rushmore, Sitting Bull and the Statue of Liberty — are made out of 38 million Lego blocks.

Special Legoland rides include a ferris wheel, a train and a monorail — all look like they're built out of big Lego blocks.

Atone attraction, kids drive miniature cars through a miniature city with stoplights and four-way intersections, sometimes bumping into each other. The game actually teaches young people about the rules of traffic, while they have fun.

In Alborg, it's rewarding to go up the hill overlooking the water at Lindholm Høje. There is the site of Scandinavia's largest Viking burial ground, with nearly 700 graves — many marked by stones in the shape of ships.

For further information contact a local travel agent or the Scandinavian Tourist Board, 65 Third Ave., 18th floor, New York, N.Y. 10017; telephone (212) 949-2333.

For mature travelers it's the best time of life to get up and go! The aim of this column is to help make it happen.

While many of the bargains and special trips that will be reported on are for 49ers-plus, the information can help younger travelers spot values too.

Mature travelers should remember that wherever they go, whatever they do, they should always ask for the senior-citizen discount, even if one isn't posted. That's one of the main privileges of being among the "chronologically gifted" who are 50 or over.

Readers are invited to submit questions and comments to Gene and Adele Malott, c/o New York Times Syndicate, 130 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10011. Send the Malotts a postcard from your trip with ideas, questions and information on the bargains you find for seniors.

The Malotts are the publishers of THE MATURE TRAVELER, Travel Bonanzas for 49ers-Plus, a newsletter for mature travelers.

Michael Farrell lectures return with focus on Greece, Crete

The Northville Arts Commission announces the continuation of the 1991-92 Michael Farrell Lecture Series.

The lectures will be held on three consecutive Wednesday evenings, March 11, 18 and 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the Northville High School Forum. This three-part slide lecture series, entitled "Men & Myth: The Art of the Ancient Aegean," will illustrate the art of ancient Greece and Crete. Particular focus will be the art and architecture of Knossos, Mycenae and Athens. Each lecture will include a slide presentation accompanied by the wit and entertaining style of artist and lecturer Michael Farrell.

Farrell is an associate professor of art history at the University of Windsor, adjunct curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts, and an instructor at the Art House of Detroit. He has become known as a raconteur and art expert around the area, and his lectures in Northville have become something of a tradition for the Northville Arts Commission.

Season tickets for the three-lecture series are available in advance through Joann Dayton, 42085 Boushury, Northville, 48167 for $15 for all three lectures (checks should be made payable to The Northville Arts Commission) or at the door for $6 each lecture.

MUSIC

STARTING GATE: The Starting Gate Saloon offers live music every Friday and Saturday night from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Each weekend in February, Squander will perform.

The Starting Gate is located at 135 N. Center in downtown Northville.

WHISPERS LOUNGE: Whispers Lounge, in the Novi Hilton, is open Monday through Saturday, 11:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. and Sunday, noon to 1 a.m. Live entertainment from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Heartbeat is scheduled through Feb. 29.

VICTOR'S: Where can you find an active Hammond organ, great music and good food? Answer: Victor's of Novi. Call 349-1438 ahead to find out if nostalgic Connie Mallett will be on keyboard.

A graduate of the mid-life crisis, master of the Hammond and the venerable Novi Chamber executive director, Mallett charms her audiences at Victor's with such favorites as "Misty," "New York, New York" and "Moonlight Serenade." Her playing is smooth and familiar without being too sweet; easy listening without the elevator.

PIANO MAN: Pianist Tom Altenberg is now performing nightly at the Country Epicure Restaurant.

Altenberg, who has delighted audiences for years in metropolitan Detroit, performs new and classic selections Tuesday through Saturday. Crowds are welcome to sing along beginning at 7 p.m. each night.

Country Epicure is located at 42050 Grand River between Meadowbrook and Novi roads. For more information call, 349-7770.

WEEKNIGHT JAZZ: Home Sweet Home restaurant, on Nine Mile just east of Novi Road, offers live jazz every Tuesday and Wednesday from 8-11 p.m.

Performances are by the Buddy Budson Band with featured vocalist Eric Brandon. Often local jazz stars like Ursula Walker and Marcus Belgrave sit in as well.

There is no additional charge for the performances. For more information, call the restaurant at 347-0095.

CHURCH CONCERT SERIES: The First Presbyterian Church of Northville presents its 1991-92 concert series. The remaining schedule is as follows:

- David Lee Heinzman, organist and composer, in a concert of original music for organ, Sunday, March 8, at 4 p.m.
- Men and Boys Choir of Christ Church Grosse Pointe, D. Frederick DeHaven, conductor, in a concert of English Cathedral Music, Sunday, May 17, at 4 p.m.

Tickets to all concerts are $8 each. For more information call 349-0911.

Theater

NOVI PLAYERS: The Novi Players present Shay, written by Waterford's Anne Commire, Feb. 28-29 and March 1, 6, 7, 8, 13, 14, and 15. Friday and Saturday performances are at 8 p.m.; Sunday performances are at 2 p.m.

Performances are at the Novi Expo Center, on Novi Road below I-96 (behind Elias Brothers). Tickets are $5 in advance or $6 at the door. For information call Helen Weiss at 478-9306.

Directed and produced by Genevieve Terry, the story concerns a wife and mother struggling with her identity.

NORTHVILLE PLAYERS: The Northville Players present a dinner theater production of Neil Simon's Plaza Suite March 6 and 7 at the Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main.

Dinner theater tickets are $19.50, with dinner starting at 6:45 p.m. There are also a limited number of general-admission seats for the play, starting at 8 p.m., at $7 each.

Tickets are available at Bookstall-on-the-Main or by calling 349-1969. All ticket reservations must be in by Feb. 28.

For more information about the group or the play, call 349-1205 or 344-1969.

AUDITIONS: The Plymouth Theatre Guild will hold open auditions for Neil Simon's Brighton Beach Memoirs at 7 p.m. Monday, March 2, at the Water Tower Theatre, located on the campus of Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, 41001 W. Seven Mile.

The cast consists of one male and two females in their 40s, and four youths, ages 10-19.

Performance dates are May 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 15, and 16.

Help is also needed behind the scenes. If interested, come to the auditions.

For more information call 349-7110.

DINNER THEATER: The Northville Community Center, 303 W. Main, presents a family dinner theater production with The Actor's Company.

"Earthings," on Friday, April 3, is a musical designed for education about ecology in an entertaining way. Dinner at 6:15 p.m. and show at 7. Tickets $9 per person.

For more information, call the community center at 349-0203.

MURDER MYSTERIES, OPERA AT GENITTI'S: Genitti's Hole-in-the-Wall Restaurant continues to present its Murder Mystery and Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre performances.

Genitti's now has three different production companies performing three different Murder Mystery Dinner Theatres. Every Friday evening at 7:30 p.m., separate performances are planned in separate dining rooms. Reservations are required for all shows.

Special performances of the Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre are now available for large groups of people any day of the week, day or evening, lunch or dinner time.

Dinner is served. As the crime unfolds during the performance, the guests try to discover who "committed the murder" through clues given out during heated exchanges between cast members. Additional clues and motives are given out as the cast mingles with the guests. Small gifts are awarded to those who correctly guess the identity of the murderer.

The standard seven-course dinner is served family style, like an old Italian wedding; lots of food, served hot, homemade soup, antipasto salad, vegetables, Italian sausage, baked chicken, Italian steak (pork), garlic toast, beverage and a delicious dessert.

The "Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre" is now scheduled the third Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m. All areas are performed by the Verdi Opera Theatre of Michigan. Special performances are available for large groups. Reservations are required for all shows.

Genitti's "Hole-in-the-Wall" restaurant is located in downtown Northville at 108 East Main St. just east of Center Street (Sheldon Road). The Murder Mystery Dinner Theatre and the Verdi Opera Dinner Theatre including the seven-course dinner costs $25 per person (including tax and tip).

Please phone 349-0522 or fax 349-4641 for reservations. Group rates are available. Large parties can be accommodated for any performance. The Genitti's Gift Shop will be open for dinner guests. Valet parking is available during the evening.

Cagers rip Howell in fourth, stand alone in conference play

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Sports Writer

Novi took a huge step in claiming back-to-back Kensington Valley Conference titles Friday with a 59-49 rout of Howell on the road.

Trailing 39-34 at the start of the fourth, the Wildcats mounted a crushing comeback behind Jay Walker, Matt Rolles and Mike Kramer. Novi made a similar charge in the first meeting of the year between the two schools when the 'Cats pulled out a one-point victory.

"Once we got the lead," said Rolles, "they lost all confidence."

The Wildcats scored narrow victories over the Highlanders last year. Walker said the key to the game was clamping down on Howell defensively, especially in the fourth.

"Our goal was to hold them under 50 points," he said. "We reached our goal."

With three KVC games remaining, Novi's task is simple in repeating as champions.

The Wildcats must win only one of the three to repeat. Novi was scheduled to tip off against Brighton Tuesday night, at home, and will face Milford and South games.

Novi stands at 9-0 in the KVC. Howell is now 6-2 and Milford 6-3.

Rolles said the championship wasn't a lock with the win over the Highlanders. But, he commended it, it was of major importance.

"It was probably the biggest win of our careers," Rolles said of his fellow senior teammates Walker, Tony Wise and Kramer.

Walker echoed his teammates thoughts.

"It's what we worked all summer for," he said.

All that hard work appeared in trouble in the first quarter. Novi never led in the opening eight minutes as Howell used pesky full court pressure defense and the scoring of Jamie Mahar to build a 16-11 margin.

The Highlanders jumped out to a 4-0 advantage in the opening minutes on baskets by Mahar and Jason Phepo. A Wise three-pointer got the 'Cats off of the goose egg and cut the lead to one.

Back to back baskets by Mahar and a pair of three-pointers ended the scoring for Howell in the quarter. Mahar had eight in the first.

For the Wildcats, Walker and Rolles each had four. Wise had three points.

Novi made a charge at Howell in the opening seconds of the second quarter. A three-pointer by Rolles and a Walker follow-up basket tied the game at 16 at the 6:51 mark.

Howell quickly reclaimed the lead, however, on five straight points from Mahar. Folsby Rolles and Brian Csordas sent the Howell player to the free throw line for three of those points.

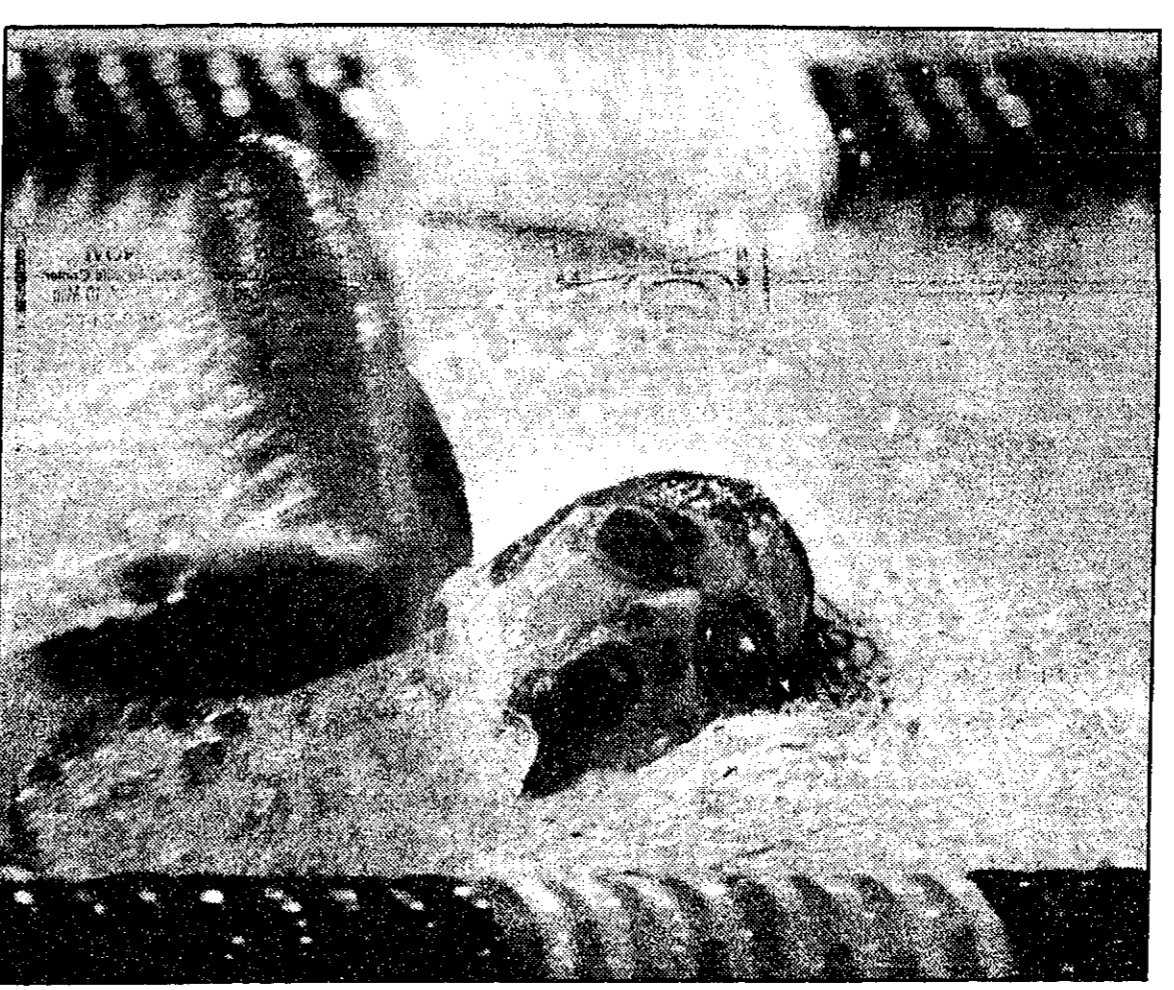

The Highlanders led 25-18 with just under three minutes left in the half. Four straight points by Walker cut the lead to three.

Tankers take pair from Fenton, Livonia Franklin

Staff Sports Writer

Despite being far away from home and stone cold, the Novi swim team powered by Fenton last week 100-86.

Top performances from Derek Speerscheider, Adam Cox and Matt Mutch paced the win. After the 45-minute drive and an hour delay of the start of the dual meet coach Mark Mason said he was happy to get the win.

But, he said, he believed his squad may have done even better without the delays.

"Everybody was stiff and tired from sitting so long," Mason said. "The times weren't as good as we wanted."

The delay was caused by a ceremony honoring Fenton swimmers and parents. Mason said his team had warmed up before the ceremony but was forced to exit the pool and wait for nearly an hour until the festivities were over.

"It was a rather long evening," he said.

The team of Derek and Mike Speerscheider, Matt Mutch and Mike Lafferty won the 200-yard medley relay in 1:49.31. Ryan Bush, Curt Speerscheider, Dan Clark and Jim Luther placed third in 1:57.40.

Novi swept the 200-yard freestyle. Derek Speerscheider won the event in 1:52.08 while Lafferty was next in 1:55.98.

In the 200 IM, Dennis Suchyta and Rob Mutch finished third and fourth, respectively. Suchyta came in at 2:17.98 and Mutch in 2:26.03.

Matt Mutch swam a fine race in the 50 freestyle despite finishing second in 23.89.

The Wildcats got back on the winning track in the diving competition. Cox won with a total of 252.25. Luther was close behind for second with 229.80. Derek Wladischkin placed sixth with 134.35.

The string of victories continued in the next three events.

Matt Mutch was the first place finisher in the 100 butterfly with a time of 58.01. Derek Speerscheider won the 100-yard freestyle in 50.84. Lafferty took the 500 freestyle in a personal best time of 5:05.55.

Suchyta, Clark, Curt Speerscheider and Luther placed second in the 200-yard freestyle with a 1:41.21. Ryan Bush placed third in the 100 backstroke with a personal best time of 1:09.55.

The last two events, the 100-yard breaststroke and 400 freestyle relay also saw Novi wins.

Mike Speerscheider was top dog in the 100 with a time of 1:07.19. Derek and Mike Speerscheider, Matt Mutch and Lafferty took the relay in 3:31.95.

Spikers dismantle Hartland, Howell

By SCOTT DANIEL
Staff Sports Writer

Kristin Kenny saw increased playing time last week.

A pair of wins for the Wildcat volleyball team last week revitalized their hopes of a Kensington Valley Conference championship.

Novi knocked off Hartland Feb. 10 and Howell three days later to stay in the hunt for the crown. The Wildcats are now 6-3 in conference play and 8-4 overall.

Brighton leads the KVC. Against Hartland, the 'Cats needed only two games to walk away with a victory. The triumph avenges an earlier season loss to the Eagles.

"We knew we shouldn't have lost to them the first time," said coach Amy Wagner. "We wanted to prove that to them."

Novi did just that in game one. The Wildcats trailed 5-4 before rallying. Laura Jones tied the game at 5-5 before senior Dianne Bassett put Novi ahead to stay.

Alexis Johnson helped to increase that lead to 11-7 as she served four straight 'Cat points. The Eagles came back to cut that lead to one before Kate MacKenzie, Jones and Bassett closed the game 15-11.

Wagner used a timeout midway through the game to pep her team up. The coach said she was worried about a letdown.

"I was afraid that we would sit back and take it easy," Wagner said. "But they stayed up and gave it their all."

Game two was never close.

Novi built an 8-4 lead on the Eagles. That four-point margin was the closest Hartland would come as the Wildcats quickly closed the game out 15-4.

Wagner said the key to the match was Novi's excellent serving. The 'Cats connected on 92 percent of their serves.

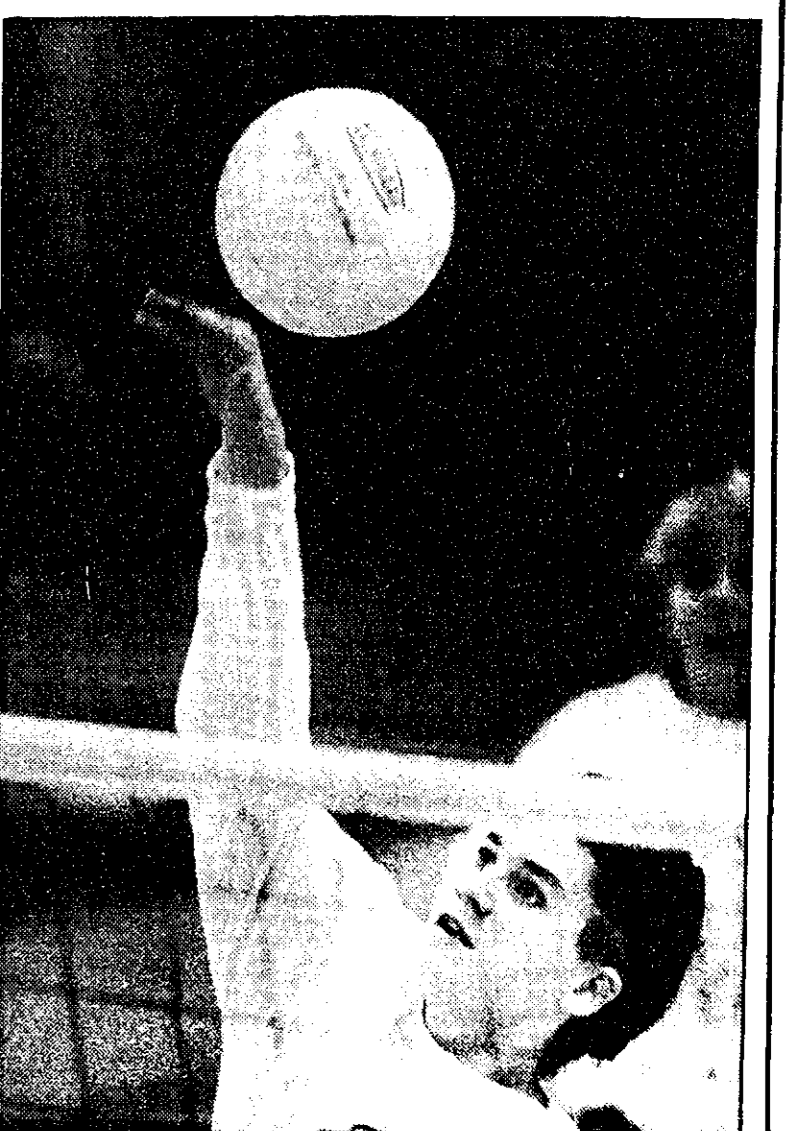

The coach added that Novi's 61 percent serve reception also helped. Wagner commented that getting the ball to the setter allows her team to run its offense more effectively.

"It gives her lots of choices," she said.

NOVI def. HOWELL 15-5, 15-8: The Wildcats had even less of a hard time against the Highlanders Feb. 13.

With MacKenzie serving, Novi rolled up an 8-0 lead in game one. The 'Cats closed the game early in the second rotation of players 15-5.

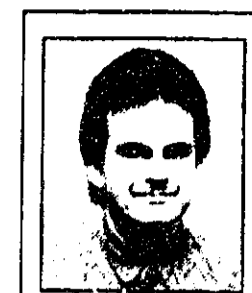

"I was pretty confident about the match," Wagner said. "The girls were playing really well."

Wildcats show flair for dramatics

The good guys won Nov's 59-49 win over Howell Friday night was a little like an old Hollywood western. The hero, dressed in white of course, comes riding into town looking to root out evil and injustice (i.e. the villain), gets knocked around at first but restores truth and the American way by the end of the movie.

These guys were following the script to a "T." Here was Howell center Jamie Mahar working close to the basket dropping in shot after shot. The sinister 6-foot-5 star knifed his way to eight points in the first.

Clogging provides exercise, good times

If you mention the word exercise, people usually can find any excuse not to do it. They know it's good for them, but it's not much fun. Well, clogging is fun and clogging is also exercise. Ask any of the 80 Novi Sixth Gate Cloggers.

Ten years ago, senior recreation coordinator Kathy Crawford watched a group of people clogging in Flint. She was determined to bring clogging to the Novi Senior Center one day. In September, 1988, Kathy's dream became a reality. The Sixth Gate Cloggers sponsored by Novi Parks and Recreation began at the Novi Civic Center to provide exercise and comradeship for its members. The original group of 30 seniors who began clogging once a week with instructor Cathy Florke has grown into over 80 members, aged 18 to "80 something" who clog Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Clyda Berend has been clogging over three years. "It's great exercise that anyone can do regardless of their age," she said. "My only regret is that I didn't start years ago. It helps bring out the performer that's hidden within us all. Besides the exercise we get, we have fun entertaining others."

The Sixth Gate Cloggers regularly perform for schools, nursing homes, civic organizations and private clubs throughout the metro area, and provide entertainment for the Michigan '50s Festival, the Festival of Trees and Builders Show at Cobo Hall.

Last year they attended a clogging workshop in Kentucky. They had the largest group, as well as the oldest group there. While the other groups demonstrated their dances to traditional bluegrass and southern music, the Sixth Gate Cloggers brought the house down with their rendition of New Kids on the Block's "Cover Girl."

While Clogging is an American folk dance, two of their other favorites include Bob Seger's "Old Time Rock and Roll" and Roy Orbison's "Pretty Woman." Clogging is one of the oldest and fastest growing forms of dance in America today. It started in the Appalachian Mountain regions of Georgia and the Carolinas.

One of the new Sixth Gate Clogger teachers is Jeanine Lamb. Jeanine began clogging in Georgia. In 1988, her husband Del was transferred to Michigan. She told him that she wasn't going unless he found her a new clogging class. They founded the Mainstreet Cloggers in Northville and in 1989 she began clogging in Novi. She started teaching the Monday night class in November, 1991.

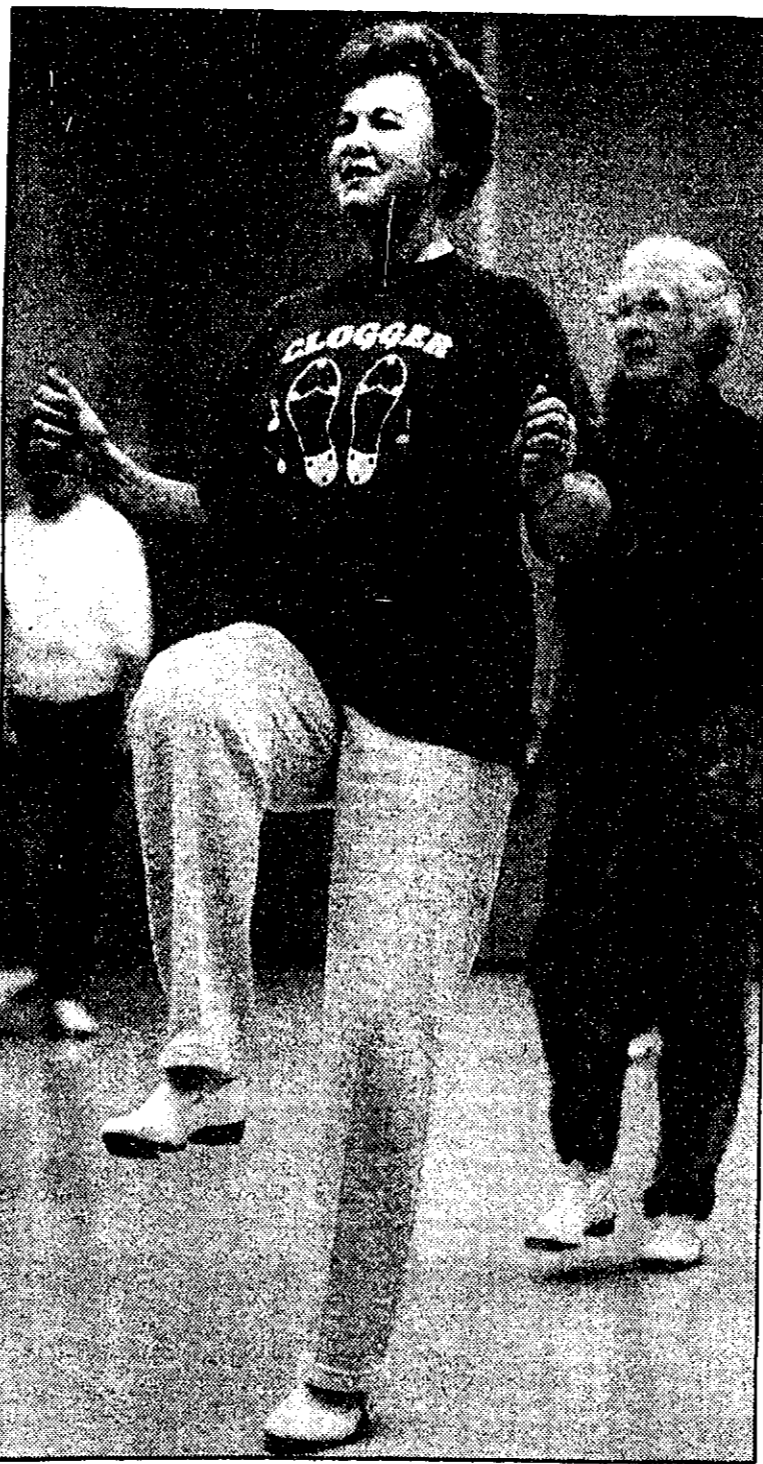

"Thanks to clogging I have met so many people and developed wonderful friendships," said Jeanine. "I recommend clogging to everyone. It's the fun way to exercise."

Joni Velzy is the new daytime instructor. She teaches beginner, intermediate and drop-in dancing classes on Wednesdays and Fridays, 12:30-3:30 p.m.

"Clogging is great, it's the latest dance craze," said Joni. "What other type of dance can you do to any music from Merle Haggard to New Kids to Bob Seger? The cloggers really get a workout after one or two hours of dancing."

The Sixth Gate Cloggers average four to five performances per month. They will perform at a Hootenanny in Davidsburg and dance in Windsor, Ontario, later this month. In March, they will be heading to Pigeon Forge, Tenn., March 5-9 for the "Spring Fling," as well as the Builders Show and a Nursing Home later that month.

Whether you want to exercise, have fun or perform, clogging is the way to go.

Clogging is good exercise.

Softball registration under way

Softball: Many leagues will be offered by Novi Parks and Recreation for both men and women this year. The men's resident league will allow only five non-residents per team, while the men's Sunday, Wednesday, Thursday, women's open and men's 35 and over leagues have no residency rules.

Registration is going on now at the Novi Civic Center. Spring/summer registration ends April 1.

Refs needed: Soccer referees are needed for the spring season. Call Parks and Recreation at 347-0400 for more info.

Coaching Schools: For all prospective coaches — become a championship coach. The ASA Junior Olympic sponsored event will teach crucial details and fundamentals, as well as common errors your players will make and how to correct them. Feb. 29-March 1 in Howell. Call Dennis Troshak at (517) 546-0693.

Senior Golf: Novi's golden retrievers golf league will begin play on the week of May 11 at Pebble Creek Golf Course. Choose from either the Monday or Thursday leagues. Novi residents can register now at Novi Parks and Recreation.

Senior Dances: The Senior Sweetheart Dance will be held Tuesday, Feb. 25 from 1-3 p.m. Live band and refreshments. Cost is $1.50.

A "Senior Wearin' O' the Green Dance" will be held March 31 from 1 to 3 p.m. Wear your green and dance to the live band for a cost $1.50.

Gymnastics: Discover or develop your child's talent in gymnastics. Pre-beginner/beginner no experience required. For advanced beginners prior lessons are required. Intermediate must be adequate in performing cartwheels, back walkovers and tumbling stunts. Register through April 3 at the Civic Center for spring classes.

Banquet: The 5th annual "Sportsmen On and Off The Field" awards banquet will be held at the Novi Hilton March 6.

This year's award winners include Desmond Howard, Dennis Archer, Jeff Bender and Tirrel Burton. Cost is $65 for singles and $120 for couples.

The banquet is sponsored by Wolverine Human Services. The non-profit agency serves more than 300 troubled adolescent males ages 11-17.

Novi Youth Baseball: Registration for all levels (ages 8-16 by July 31, 1992) of Novi Youth Baseball will be held from 6-9 p.m. at the Novi Civic Center March 11 and from noon to 3 p.m. March 7.

Fees range from $40-$50 per player, with a $100 maximum for those families registering three or more players. Birth certificates are required.

For more information call 348-9456 or 349-6983. If you would like to volunteer for Novi Youth Baseball call 349-2543.

Soccer Clinic: Open enrollment to anyone interested in understanding soccer game rules and for prospective soccer referees. Clinics begin March 1. For more info call Novi Parks and Recreation at 347-0400 or Dick Burke (evenings) at 348-8548.

Open Gym: Open gym time is available at Novi Meadows school from 8:30-10 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. You must be a Novi school district resident. A $1 charge per person is asked and you must present I.D. For more information call Novi Community Education at 344-8330.

Baseball Camp: A camp for boys and girls, grades 2-9, will be held at Novi Meadows School 9:30 a.m. to noon Feb. 20-21. The fee is $38. The camp will stress both pitching and batting skills. For more information call 348-1200.

Dance For Heart: The third annual dance for heart Aerobic-athon will be held at the Novi Civic Center March 7 from 8:30-11:30 a.m. The event will be limited to 100 participants. For more information call 347-0400 or 349-2193.

Aerobic Exercise: Designed for men and women, this aerobic exercise program stresses an individual workout at your own pace. The class, sponsored by Novi Community Education, meets at Novi Meadows Gym Monday through Thursday from 7-8 p.m. For more info call 344-8330.

Fitness for the '90s: Aerobic conditioning is combined with progressive resistance using weight machines to reduce body fat and achieve good muscle tone. Meets in the Novi High School weight room. For more information call 344-8330.

Billing changes cause for concern

Raymond Hobbs, M.D.

On Jan. 1, changes in the health center billing system took effect which will affect people with Medicare, Blue Cross/Blue Shield and many commercial insurance carriers. For Medicaid patients the changes will go into effect on April 1. The changes will result in decreased charges for many procedures and possibly increased charges for others. For certain procedures, there will be no change at all. Because the changes will affect us all, I thought it would be worthwhile to provide information on what the changes are and how they came about. In the United States, there are hundreds of different insurance companies as well as many different Medicare and Medicaid plans. Because of the different rules among the plans, it was not unusual to find large differences between what physicians and hospitals were paid for the same examination, test or procedure. For example, the charge for a routine gallbladder operation was generally much lower for physicians practicing in rural areas than it was for physicians practicing in urban settings. In addition to this, the payment rules frequently caused unusual results in billing, such as EKG's costing more than the amount paid to the physician for the rest of the visit. Other problems arose when insurers tried to bill across specialties. For example, when a family practitioner removes a wart, should he be charged as a dermatologist for doing exactly the same thing? Because of the need to lower health care costs and to make the system more fair, the government has undertaken many studies to help improve the problem. Under the new system, physician charges will be based upon the severity of the health problem, the complexity of the diagnosis, and the patients' health risks. The time the physician spends during the exam will no longer be a major determinant of the cost. In some cases, the price will go up, in many cases it will go down. Under these guidelines, certain procedures, such as EKG's, are not billable when performed during a physician visit. There are too many changes occurring to list or to explain in this article. The important thing for patients to realize is that nationwide changes in health care billing are taking place now and in the next few months. This is sure to result in some confusion for patients, physicians and hospitals alike. If confusion occurs due to the mandated changes, contact your insurance billing agent or hospital and ask about the bill.

REAL ESTATE

Who does the real estate broker work for?

By James M. Woodard
Copley News Service

When you work with a real estate broker in a home-selling or home-buying transaction, who is that broker really representing?

That's a question that has become increasingly important in recent months. In fact, 43 states and the District of Columbia have enacted laws requiring brokers to disclose in writing to home buyers and sellers whose interests they represent in a real estate transaction.

The new laws were most recently enacted in New York and Louisiana. Similar legislation is being considered in the seven remaining states.

The disclosure laws are designed to eliminate the widespread confusion on the part of consumers regarding broker representation. In many cases, a person seeking a new home will call on a broker to assist him find and purchase the right property.

That buyer may think the broker he contacted will represent his (the buyer's) best interests. But in many cases the broker has a legal and fiduciary obligation to represent the interests of the property's owner-seller, not the buyer.

When a broker lists a home (places it on the market), he signs a listing contract that obligates him to represent the best interests of the seller. When he shows or sells a home listed by another broker, often through a multiple listing service, he works as a sub-agent under the broker who has the listing—still, indirectly, representing the interests of the seller.

However, there are "buyer brokers" who work for and represent the buyer. In these cases, the buyer signs an agency agreement with the broker and pays a fee for his services. But these contracts are relatively few in number. The "buyer broker" concept has been around for years but has never gained much momentum.

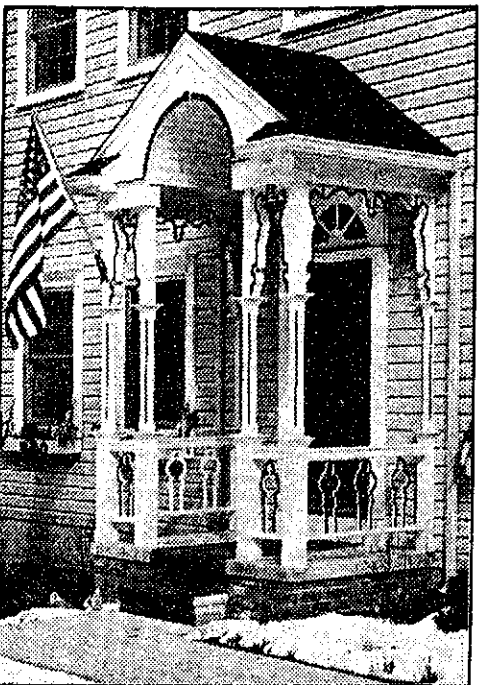

"The mandatory written agency disclosure is a good thing," said Dorcas Helfant, president of the National Association of Realtors. "It's in the best interest of real estate brokers and consumers."

About three years ago, NAR added the following section to their association's Code of Ethics: "The Realtor, acting as agent of the seller or as subagent of the listing broker, shall disclose that relationship to buyers as soon as practicable."

HOME DESIGNS

A kinder, gentler slope fits the McCord's style

By James McAlexander
Copley News Service

Looking for a home that takes full advantage of a view facing out over a gentle slope? Or perhaps you're looking to build on a corner lot. Whichever it is, the uniquely shaped, richly windowed McCord is designed to fit the bill.

Wide windows along the back offer striking vistas from the living room, dining room, master suite and bedroom. High multipaned windows on the front and side add street appeal while bathing the interior with natural light.

A tiled, sky-lit entry opens into a vaulted and high-ceilinged living room/dining room. Just around the corner to the right, a fireplace is tucked into the odd angle created by the entry.

To the left and four steps up is an elevated kitchen designed to reconcile two conflicting needs: Individuals working in the kitchen can easily maintain visual and verbal contact with family and friends socializing in the great room, but guests on the lower level can't see messes in the kitchen.

A large walk-in pantry in the kitchen augments the already generous storage space, and both the kitchen and the equally spacious nook offer views to the front. Parents of young children will appreciate this feature, along with the placement of the second bedroom close to the master suite.

The master suite is comfortably large and chock-full of odd angles. A walk-in closet provides plenty of storage space, and the suite has two lavatories, one in the sky-lit bathroom and the other in a small dressing area.

An odd-angled deck is accessible from both the master suite and the nook.

For a study plan of the McCord (208-25), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, c/o HomeTown Newspapers, 323 E. Grand River Ave., Howell, MI 48843. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering.)

Trim is what separates the Queen Annes from the Italianates, the salt boxes from the colonials.

Victorian homes built in the early 1900s, like the Queen Annes and Italianates, derive a great deal of their individuality and beauty from the lacy appearance of the wood trim over windows, along the roof lines, and in entryways.

Other homes, especially those built in the 1930s and 1940s like the craftsman-style house, sport simple, straight trim both inside and out that complements the no-nonsense home designs.

Trim functions much like a fingerprint: Each style of home has its own signature trim, and if the right trim is added to the wrong house, the result can be disastrous.

Just ask Paul Elsele. The owner of Specialty Woodworks in Hartland, Elsele builds historic reproduction

A primer of planting

GARDENING

Q. How do I make a pot-pourri from dried rose petals?

A. Pick the rose petals (red holds its color best) when the flowers are in full bloom, but not completely blown. Spread them carefully on sheets of paper or strips of cheesecloth in a dry, airy room, away from the sun. Turn daily, allowing them to dry completely. This will take from a few days to a week.

To each quart of petals, add 1 ounce of orrisroot. Spices such as cloves, cinnamon, coriander and mace may be added, if desired (use 1/2 teaspoon of each). Keep in an airtight earthen jar.

HORTICULTURAL SUPERMARKET

The new garden catalogs have arrived—literally a gold mine of information—with hundreds of top-notch flowers and vegetables, many useful gardening aids, the excitement of new varieties, plus easy-to-follow gardening information on "how to."

You can plan in advance the most successful garden ever! Order your seeds and gardening supplies early. Getting set for the coming season is one of the best ways to dispel winter's dreariness and to make your garden dreams come true at planting time.

Be sure to follow early-harvest vegetables (spinach, peas, radishes) with late-maturing types (summer squash, snap beans, cabbage, fall broccoli and lettuce crop) to keep all of your garden space producing from spring to late autumn.

THE FRUGAL GARDENER

Pampered seedlings make strong plants, and suitable containers for starting these seeds can be found in many unexpected places. Some people use plastic bottles cut in half, egg cartons (my favorite), cheese boxes, shoe boxes, milk cartons cut in half and the plastic foam cups used for hot drinks.

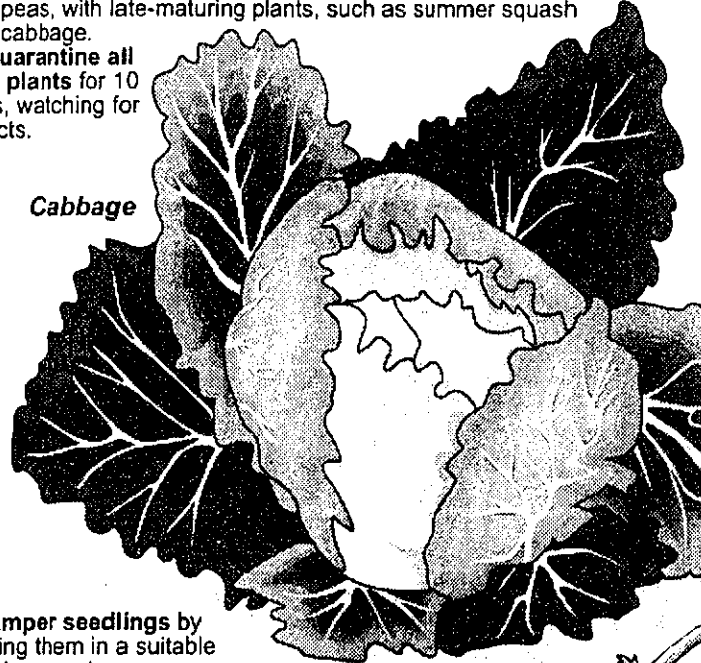

They are particularly useful for plants like tomatoes that will later need protection from cutworms. When put in the ground, the top makes a perfect protective collar.

Porcelain tray made in Bavaria, Germany and Mettlach stein

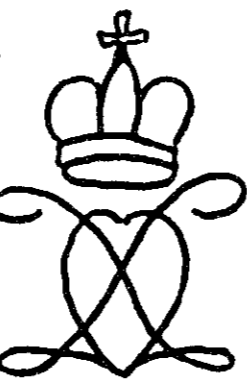

James G. McCollam
Copley News Service

Q. What can you tell me about the porcelain tray in this picture? I realize that the chip in the upper rim seriously detracts from its value. It is marked "Z.S. & Co., Bavaria."

A. This tray was made by Zeh, Scherzer & Co. in Rehau, Bavaria, Germany, between 1900 and 1910. It would be worth about $125 to $135 in good condition; I can't assess the diminished value due to damage.

Q. The attached mark is on the bottom of a covered porcelain jar decorated with colorful flowers on a green background. It measures about 6 inches in height.

Can you identify the maker and give me some idea of the vintage and value?

A. This mark was used on Crown Derby porcelain made in Derby, England, between 1878 and 1891. It would probably sell for $275 to $300.

Q. The mark on a stein I have is a castle over "Metlach" and "V.B." and the number 1487. It has four panels with scenes of hunting, farming, weaving and picking fruit.

ANTIQUES

Can you tell me anything about the origin and value of this stein?

A. Your stein was made by Wilroy and Boch in Metlach, Germany, during the late 1800s. It would probably sell for $275 to $300 in good condition.

Q. I have a Wedgwood plate commemorating the Columbian World's Fair in Chicago in 1892-93. It depicts the Machinery Building and has a floral border.

Can you tell me anything about this and what it might sell for?

A. Wedgwood made a series of five plates with pictures of various prominent World's Fair buildings. Any one of these would sell in the $40 to $50 range.

BOOK REVIEW

"Warman's English & Continental Pottery & Porcelain 2nd Edition" by Susan and Al Bagnold (at Wallace-Homestead imprint of the Chilton Book Co.) is an excellent guide for English and Continental ceramics on the American market. It contains more than 10,000 listings with prices and hundreds of photographs.

Send your questions about antiques with pictures, a detailed description, a stamped, self-addressed envelope and $1 per item (limit one item per request) to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 1087, Nobe Dame, IN 46556. All questions will be answered but published pictures cannot be returned.

This porcelain tray was made in Rehau, Bavaria, Germany between 1900 and 1910.

Handshake no longer enough, brokers try to increase creditability

When a broker discloses the nature of his agency representation he "clears the air" on this sometimes sensitive subject. He also enhances his credibility with the buyer and reduces the risk of encountering a future legal liability problem.

Association of Realtors "But times have sure changed." NAR is now studying various types of agency relationships, including buyer brokerage. A special report on the subject is scheduled for this summer.

It should be noted that most brokers try to render good and professional service for buyers even though they legally represent the seller. If they don't perform productively for the buyer, they will very likely fail in consummating the transaction and earning a commission.

And they certainly would thwart any possible repeat business or referrals from the buyer. The incentive is in the right place.

Q. Are special mortgage loans available for first-time home buyers?

A. Yes, a number of special plans are offered. Check with lenders or mortgage brokers in your area.

Also, President Bush recently proposed a new $5,000 income tax deduction for first-time home buyers. This may be just election year rhetoric. But it could become a reality.

Q. What is the current interest rate for a VA home mortgage loan?

A. In December 1991, the Department of Veteran Affairs reduced the maximum interest rate on VA home mortgage to 8 percent — the lowest level in 14 years. This is for fixed-rate loans on single-family homes. Some economists say interest rate will dip still lower by mid-spring.

Questions may be used in future columns: personal responses should not be expected. Send inquiries to James M. Woodard, Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, CA 92112-0190.

Hartland wood-worker: trims to fit homes, a job that he takes great pride in.

Eisele is one of several builders with homes currently planned for construction in Howell's Briar Haven subdivision, a neighborhood that will feature all historic reproductions, according to Kevin Belew, the project developer.

"Paul's work fits right in with what we intend for the development," Belew said. "I am pleased that he is involved in the neighborhood."

So interested in being historical-correct, Eisele spends much of his free time roaming through historic home districts across the country, sketching the different kinds of wood trim that go with different styles of homes.

"I collect my sketches and then, when I get home, I go straight to my workshop and develop patterns," Eisele said.

His workshop is actually the converted garage of his Hartland home, the place where all of his trim is cut.

Before being put on a home, each piece is sanded and painted to complement the home's exterior on-site. The trim for each home is always treated as a separate project, according to Eisele.

The inspiration for his custom-

Eisele found that he had to sort of invent the machine that would carve the wooden poles by modifying a wood router with an adjustable cable.

adjustable cable.

Since that time, Eisele has also modified other machines to custom make his trim pieces.

Now, Eisele runs his workshop to supply himself and his associates with the pieces they need to make sure that each home is historically accurate. The shop works on a collective philosophy.

Debbie Reginek, another reproduction home builder, says that when she comes in to Eisele's shop to cut her own wood trim, she cuts extras that other builders can help themselves to. All of Eisele's associates do the same.

Reginek said that Eisele has been a mentor to her. "Paul has taught me just about everything he knows," she said.

Eisele also takes special orders for hand-made trim pieces, as well as fireplace mantels, and when customers place orders with him, Eisele says that he never knows exactly what the finished piece will look like.

"I use my imagination," Eisele said. "I try to make sure that whatever I craft is the right piece for the house."

The homes that Eisele builds feature an amazing attention to detail: All feature one-of-a-kind fireplace mantels, crown moldings, custom-designed staircases, fluted pilasters in walls, and crown pediments over doorways and windows.

And for those customers who buy one of his historic reproduction homes, Eisele always leaves behind a hand-made hall tree.

"It's my signature," Eisele said.

It could be a creative solution to an difficult problem. It could be a special room — an exercise room, sewing room, attached green house or an electronic video center. What makes your home special? What makes it unique? What makes it of interest to your neighbors?

particularly nice job of landscaping with gardens and flowers.

We won't be able to feature everybody's home, but there are a lot of creative people out there with good ideas, and we think your neighbors would like to read about them.

Family home becoming family business

By ANNE SEEBALDT GOGOLIN
Special Writer

Margaret and Tom Dennis had a dream: to keep her great-grandparents' home on Bogie Lake Road in the family.

They realized, however, that the only way to do so would be to have it pay for itself, Margaret explained.

In order to achieve this end, the couple investigated what types of businesses could legally be on the premises. The choice they made was child care.

Margaret took the state-required child development courses. She already had two years worth of general courses, which met the other portion of state requirements to become a director of a child care facility.

While she was completing the necessary educational requirements, the couple worked together to restore the 1902 home. It had been used as a rental property for about 15 years and had left family hands once, Tom said. It took about two years to complete all the necessary repair and remodeling work, including painting the house trim.

"The kitchen and bathroom on the first floor were completely gutted," Tom said. About the only original feature kept in the kitchen was the wooden flooring, he added.

"There isn't a room that wasn't re-finished," he explained.

The Dennises also discovered that they had to redo the plumbing work as well as rewire the back portion of the house.

work, the couple had to meet state specifications for the house itself.

The work the couple had to finish in order to meet state mandates included installing a second hot water heater, which is set at a safe temperature for the children, as well as enclosing the open stairway for safety purposes.

Tom said the project took two years to complete, working every morning and weekends around his piano teaching schedule. He hopes to eventually use the upstairs portion of the house for lessons.

The obstacles to starting Cream of the Crop Child Care were not limited to renovation. Eventually, Tom said, the couple had to take White Lake Township to court to get a consent judgement for a variance. In White Lake Township, day care centers are not supposed to be within residential areas. Tom said that the litigation was not hostile — the township preferred the matter be taken to court rather than setting a precedent for exceptions to day care locations.

Cream of the Crop's license has come through from the state. The business must pass a final township inspection before opening. Tom expects the inspection to occur within the next week or so.

Margaret explained that the furnishings and many of the toys were either donated or bought second-hand. All were thoroughly cleaned and ready. She said their son Eric is looking forward to having playmates. She and Tom are both excited and

Two sure things: taxes and tax rights

Taxpayers have certain rights guaranteed in the Taxpayer Bill of Rights. The Michigan Association of CPAs emphasizes that it's important for you to know your rights to ensure that you are treated fairly under the tax system.

IF YOUR RETURN IS QUESTIONED

The Taxpayer Bill of Rights ensures that you have sufficient opportunity to respond to IRS inquiries and resolve any differences. In most instances, the IRS will contact you by mail when they have an inquiry about your tax return. However, you do not necessarily have to respond to their questions through the mail. You can request a personal interview and even have the right to audiotape it. The IRS must work with you in scheduling the interview at a reasonable time and in a reasonable place.

During any interviews, you may have a qualified professional, such as a CPA, attorney or enrolled agent, accompany you. Throughout your dealings with the IRS, these individuals may also represent you in your absence.

If during the interview you do not resolve your differences with the IRS, these individuals may also represent you in your absence.

If during the interview you do not resolve your differences with the IRS, you have other options for presenting your case.

Business Briefs

LINDA BANKS ORD, Northville Realtor and artist, has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the University of Michigan Alumni Association.

The Board of Directors governs the activities of the U-M Alumni Association — one of the largest in the country — and its members worldwide. The board also serves as a support organization for the University of Michigan and its activities, aiding in promotional and auxiliary capacities.

Ord is affiliated with Coldwell Banker Schwitzer in Northville and is an artist who has won 21 state and national awards since 1987. She just recently retired as president of the Board of Governors of the University of Michigan School of Art Alumni Society. She resides in Northville with her husband, Ken, and their children Jason, Justin and Kristin.

COBB INSURANCE AGENCIES of Milford and Howell announce the promotion of Amy Drossart from service assistant to personal risk manager for their Milford office.

Drossart has been employed by Cobb insurance for three years. She has received her certificate in General Insurance from the Insurance Institute of America and is a licensed resident agent for property and casualty with the State of Michigan.

In her new position, Drossart will be responsible for servicing personal lines clients in addition to reviewing protection and security provided by existing policies. She will also be responsible for the development of new clients through sales of the agency's competitive personal lines markets.

DR. K. K. KUMAR, a consulting psychiatrist for Northwestern Community Services, has been appointed director of psychiatric services. It was announced recently by Sara E. VanderVoort, executive director.

Kumar has been with the Michigan Department of Mental Health for 20 years. For the past 18 he has served on the Hawthorn Center (Northville) staff, where he now holds a concurrent position as medical staff chairperson. As a specialist in child and adolescent mental health, the physician has provided psychiatric consultation to a number of Wayne County community mental health facilities including Northwestern (formerly Northwestern Guidance Clinic), the Downriver Guidance Clinic and others.

"Dr. Kumar has fulfilled many of the director's responsibilities on an informal basis since the resignation of the former medical director," said VanderVoort. "This appointment serves to support his directions and coordination of the agency's medical and psychiatric services and their integration with the work of other disciplines. We are very pleased that he has accepted our offer," she continued.

Trained in Madras, India, Kumar came to the United States in 1970. A naturalized citizen, he and his wife, a systems analyst, reside in Ann Arbor with their 11-year-old son.

Northwestern Community Services is a community mental health agency serving children and adolescents, and their families, living in western Wayne County since 1963. It has locations in Garden City and Canton. One unit, its Respite Care Program, serves developmentally disabled family members residing throughout Wayne County.

FENDT TRANSIT MIX of Novi has been awarded first place in a National Ready Mix Concrete Association Truck Fleet competition.

The purpose of the contest was to provide recognition for NRMCA producer-members whose use of fleet graphics generate positive public perception of the ready mixed concrete industry and, to that end, promote the use of attractive, well-maintained truck equipment.

Fendt's First Place award was in the category of Concrete Producers Operating from 25 to 70 trucks. The firm has plants in Novi, Howell and Webberville.

Roger Fendt Sr., president of the organization, received the award Feb. 4 at the New Orleans, La., convention center.

WALLY RODAMMER of Northville, chief engineer and director of engineering for WXYZ-TV/Channel 7, has retired from the company after 42 years of service.

Rodammer joined WXYZ-TV/Channel 7 in 1950 as a Staff Engineer remaining with the station to that capacity for 16 years. In 1966 Rodammer worked as chief engineer and director of engineering for KTSB-TV in Topeka, Kansas for two years. Rodammer rejoined WXYZ-TV/Channel 7 in 1968 as technical director and engineering supervisor. He was named WXYZ-TV/Channel 7 chief engineer and director of engineering in 1978.

Rodammer's contributions to broadcasting and WXYZ-TV/Channel 7 have been significant. He helped construct the technical areas of Channel 7's broadcast house in 1959 and later aided in the design and fabrication in the station's audio and visual systems. Rodammer also implemented electronic news gathering and satellite delivery at WXYZ.

While working in Kansas, Rodammer was involved in building from the ground up a new UHF station, KTSB-TV, now KSNB. After returning to WXYZ, he participated as a technical manager at the 1984 Summer Olympics for ABC Sports.

Rodammer was awarded an ABC Sports Emmy for Engineering in the 1984 Summer Olympics and was also a recipient of the NATAS Silver Circle Award. He is a member of the Rotary Club of Southfield. Wally Rodammer and his wife, Betty Lou, are the parents of three adult children and reside in Northville. They plan to travel and spend more time with their son, two daughters and three grandchildren.

Child care service finds home

Looking forward to the challenges of the new business.

"It's nice to put down the paintbrushes and actually do what we want to be doing," she added.

Cream of the Crop Child Care is located at 1451 Bojge Lake Road in White Lake Township. Projected hours are from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call 887-7068 for rates.

The couple also gave credit to Margaret's father, Jim Thompson, who worked on all the renovations, as well as to their nephew Russell, who stayed with them one summer to help. Their friend Jim Izzl painted extensive tree murals in the nap room.

Office. If your problems cannot be settled through this office, you may make an appeal to the courts. Depending on whether you have already paid the disputed tax, you can take your case to the U.S. Tax Court, the U.S. Claims Court or your U.S. District Court.

INTEREST CHARGES
You are responsible for paying interest on any additional taxes to be collected by the IRS. The interest is figured from the due date of your tax return, even if the return was filed under extension. The IRS may reduce the amount of interest you owe if an IRS error caused a delay in processing your case.

REFUND OF OVERPAID TAX
All is not lost if you've overpaid your taxes. Generally, you have three years from the date you filed the return or two years from the date you paid the tax, whichever is later, to file claim for a refund. What's more, in some circumstances you can charge the IRS interest on the money due to you.

CANCELLATION OF PENALTIES
Even the IRS can make mistakes. If in calculating your taxes you relied on erroneous advice provided in writing by IRS employees, the IRS must cancel any resulting penalties. This assumes you gave the employee accurate information and that your reliance on the advice was reasonable.
