City police lie in wait for armed robber

By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Writer

The fifth time turned out to be unlucky Thursday night for an armed robbery suspect believed to have repeatedly struck the Speedway gas station at Pontiac Trail and Beck Road.
Anthony Walker, 38, of Detroit was arrested shortly before 5 p.m. Thursday by Novi Police Officers Ken Meier and Detective Frank Barabas, who were using a videocamera system to stake out the station from a back room.
Walker was arraigned on five counts of armed robbery late Friday afternoon in Walled Lake's 52-1 District Court.
Police say Walker robbed the Speedway station on July 19, Aug. 1, Aug. 10 and Aug. 15. Almost every time, he reportedly acted as though he was buying something, waited until the cashier opened the drawer, then pulled a gun and grabbed money from the drawer.
Walker reportedly used the same method of operation last Thursday. The police stakeout at the station had been going on for about two weeks, since the Aug. 15 robbery, said Novi Police Chief Doug Shaeffer.
They were in the back monitoring the clerk over a close-system TV," he explained. "The guy came in, matching the description (of the suspect in the other robberies). He tried to purchase something, then he stuck his hand in his pocket and pulled out a gun."

The gun turned out to be a toy. "It doesn't matter though," Shaeffer said. "The intent was still the same."
Shaeffer said the officers waited for Walker to complete the robbery, with the money in his hand, before they came out and arrested him.
Dave Harrison was the cashier on duty Thursday evening when the alleged robber struck for the fifth and last time.
Harrison said Speedway's top corporate managers told him not to talk publicly about the robberies until the case was completed.
"We got the man, we're going to prosecute to the fullest, and that's all I can say," he said.
Police are still investigating possible links between Walker's robberies and a string of robberies at a nearby Commerce Township dry cleaners.
Walker is currently being held in Oakland County Jail on a $10,000 bond. The preliminary examination date was not yet known as of presstime.

Students head back to school

Students in the Novi District will head back to school this week . . . more students than originally anticipated.
The increased enrollments in the district, with little growth in its bus fleet, has resulted in a re-arranging of starting times for the elementary schools in order to smooth out the district's bus transportation schedule.
With school scheduled to start Tuesday, Sept. 1, the day will begin at Orchard Hills and Parkview elementary schools at 8:20 a.m. and end at 2:50 p.m. At Village Oaks and Novi Woods, classes will start at 8:45 a.m. and students will be dismissed at 3:15 p.m. The first day, students will attend only morning classes and teachers will participate in a workday during the afternoon. Sept. 2 will be the first full day of classes. Kindergarten students will begin classes

Wednesday as well, and the times have been adjusted there. The morning session at Orchard Hills and Parkview will run from 8:20-11 a.m. while the afternoon session will run from 12:10-2:50 p.m.
Kindergarten sessions at Village Oaks and Novi Woods will run in the morning from 8:45-11:25 a.m. and in the afternoon from 12:35-3:15 p.m.
"It has been our objective for a number of years to start all the schools at the same time," Assistant Superintendent of Human Resources John Swallow said. "But with the increase in enrollments and with a fixed fleet, that was becoming much more difficult. In some case, we were shortchanging some students in terms of instructional time."
"Only the times for the elementary schools will change. The middle school, upper elementary and high school will all stay the same. But the staggering of the elementary school starting times will loosen up the bus schedule and all of the schools will benefit," he said.

Starting and ending times for the Novi Meadows upper elementary school will be 9:10 a.m.-3:40 p.m. Middle School classes will run from 7:55 a.m.-2:25 p.m. and Novi High School classes will run from 7:25 a.m.-1:55 p.m.
Swallow said parents should already have been notified of the times buses will arrive in their neighborhoods. But anyone unsure of when a bus will arrive may contact Virginia Burnham, director of the district's Transportation Center at 344-8314.

Protests end city rezoning effort

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

The second of a series of city-initiated rezonings failed to get off the ground recently, much to the relief of the lakes area landowners, who vigorously protested the idea.
With the Planning Commission, several residents and the property-owners around Walled Lake coming out against the change, Novi planning consultant Brandon Rogers had difficulty working up much enthusiasm about the city's proposal. The plan would realign various parcels to more closely match the city's 1988 master plan.
"I think we all learn and maybe this isn't the time to make the change," Rogers told the Novi City Council Aug. 24. "It did have merit a few months ago. This is a swing area.

"It's a rather weak recommendation. I have little support."
None of that support came from the city council, which Tuesday unanimously squashed the rezoning.
Earlier this year, the council instructed the planning commission to pursue the rezonings.
The second location targeted — several parcels along Novi Road between Austin and Twelve-and-a-Half Mile — would have been changed from B-3, a business zoning, to R-A, a large-lot residential category. The properties, including a real estate office and an auto repair shop, are next to the Shawood-Walled Lakes Heights subdivision and across Novi Road from the future Sandstone development.
Master plans are required by state law. A city's legal position in zoning lawsuits can be undermined when the zoning is not in conformance with the master plan for land use.

While city planners pointed out that the commercial strip zoning appears incompatible with the residential area, neighbors of the businesses came out to protest the rezoning.
To the north of the site are five houses zoned for business.
James Korte blasted the plan, saying he saw no logic in rezoning "silly little pieces of commercial property . . . little postage stamps."
"They are viable businesses and they should be let alone. When Brandon Rogers and JCK (city consultants) get involved, some of my tax dollars are spent to create a better Novi. Whatever these properties are doing or not doing, it's not going to create a better Novi," he said.

Residents forcing drain policy change

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

Residents protesting the dying off of a water-sodden woods in the Briarwood Park could prod the city to change policies in Novi's stormwater management plan.
Homeowners of Briarwood and Roma Ridge subdivision have complained of the use of the four-acre neighborhood park — a woodland which in its natural state was intermittently a wetlands — as a stormwater retention basin.
Representing Roma Ridge's homeowners association, Glen Bonaventura asked the city Aug. 24 to provide a cost estimate on tree replacement in the park within the next 30 days. He also requested that Novi forester Chris Pargoff estimate how many elms, maples, ashes and other trees are destined for a premature death due to roots choked by the water.

The stormwater master plan calls for the use of wetlands when possible for storing rainwaters. The wetlands are typically left in a natural or close-to-natural state.
The ordinance review committee is now discussing how to handle the potential for tree loss and if the developer, the city, or the city's insurance carrier should be called on to replace the trees, Mayor Matthew Quinn said.

Council blocks city rezoning plan

Due to the protest from the landowners, a majority of five council votes was needed to approve the rezoning.

Council Member Robert Schmid said he "was a little amazed" the planning commission toppled the rezoning in their Aug. 5 meeting.

"Every time we get a rezoning request we get a lot of concern about it. Sometimes the city has to take a stand on what I want for the master plan. Sometimes you buy land, you make money, sometimes you don't. That's purely speculative," Schmid said.

Several of the parcels include vacant land purchased for the investment by a West Bloomfield dentist, Dr. William Lukacs, who in a letter threatened to sue the city if the land was rezoned.

Schmid suggested the council and planning commission get together and decide whether or not to pursue the rezoning, rather than have these "traumatic items come before us on a continuous basis."

Had the change passed, the two businesses — A-1 Auto Parts and Realty Center — could have remained in operation as non-conforming uses but would not have been able to expand.

"By no means do we want to destroy existing businesses," Rogers said.

The property-owners, however, pointed out in letters to the city that the zoning would reduce the resale value of their land and that they felt few people would want to build new homes on Novi Road.

"What would be gained by the change? If the change is just to make the master plan look good on paper, with no known benefit to anyone and a very negative impact upon the overall business owners and individual property owners, we are asking it remain zoned commercial," Marjorie Bolton wrote.

"A master plan is a working tool for local government, but when it works against the property-owners and existing businesses, it is time to rethink the purpose of the master plan."

Novi's school year to start Tuesday

Teachers' first day was set for today (Monday, Aug. 31). Although scheduled as a workday, it was set to begin as a breakfast in the high school cafeteria, followed by a motivational presentation to teachers by the new superintendent, Dr. Emmett Lippe in the Fuerst Auditorium. Although the exact content of the presentation was not unveiled, school officials said the speech was to contain a surprise and would be presented with the aid of some of the district's new communications technology.

Not all of the district's new technology has arrived yet. Dr. Rita Traynor, assistant superintendent of instruction, said the district's new instructional Technology Center, nicknamed the FTC, will be open for the first day of school despite the lack of some equipment. Classrooms in the building, which links the Novi Meadows and Middle School buildings, will be in use. The equipment is set to arrive and be installed early this week.

The school district's lunch program will begin with the first full day of classes on Wednesday. Lunch prices are unchanged for the school year — $1.50 for high school students, $1.40 for middle school students and $1.30 for Novi Meadows, elementary school and kindergarten students. Adult lunch prices are $2.10 and milk will be 30 cents. Elementary students can buy lunch tickets weekly, but all other students pay at the register.

Novi residents want drain policy change

An earlier report from Pargoff indicated the trees are succumbing to the inundation. As many as 20 of approximately 100 are dead or dying.

"Forested wetlands when they are used as retention basins will undoubtedly create a condition not favorable," said Joe Kapeleczak, president of JCK & Associates, the city engineers.

"When we use them for detention/retention purposes, we do flood them."

The millage fund raised for the stormwater management plan could be used for tree replacement, he suggested.

Council Member Joseph Toth asked that the city study the policy, to see if the forested wetlands should be included in the stormwater management plan.

"I don't think it should be a one-to-one replacement. A wetlands normally has a percentage of die-off," Toth said.

The alternative to using wetlands as basins might not be attractive, he warned.

"If you start saying you're going to kill a tree, you're looking at 10 to 20 concrete basins," Toth said.

Council Member Nancy Cassis said the committee is also considering an ordinance revision which would require developers to warn home-buyers if a woods was used as a basin.

Some residents have complained that they have paid premiums for lots located on woods which they were told would be preserved — only to find the trees are short-lived.

"This isn't just a today matter. It's a long-term matter," Cassis said.

Bonaventura, who has been researching the situation since 1980, disagrees with earlier interpretations of the water flow made by the city engineers.

He contends that during heavy rains the water flows east to Briarwood park, on to Roma Ridge and from there to a 1920s-era farm drain on Miller Creek. Bonaventura says the stormwater master plan does not take this drain into account and asked the city to check it. The homeowners would not object to the re-paving of the culvert if the surrounding vegetation were not disrupted, he added.

Kapeleczak said the area's drainage was designed to work without the antiquated clay pipe. "The system works without the farm drain. That system does not depend on the farm tile working."

When the area north of Ten Mile Road and east of Beck Road was the Simmons farm, Pargoff's report allowed the installation of the farm drain and the slight depression between what is now Roma Ridge and Briarwood to dry up and the trees began to cover the site.

The new developments altered the former farm's drainage patterns.

Wright throws hat in candidate ring

By JAN JEFFRES
Staff Writer

Just when you thought the slugfest of the August primary election left two contenders for the 11th congressional district — a third has entered the fray.

Brian Wright announced earlier this month that he will join Democrat Walter Briggs and Republican Joseph Knollenberg in the battle for the hearts and minds of the district, which includes Novi, Novi Township and parts of Northville.

In an Aug. 17 news release announcing his candidacy, the 43-year-old Keego Harbor resident says he has spent his adult life witnessing the decline of the country and community under the leadership of the two leading political parties. He is urging voters to elect Libertarians "to free up the system and enable people to solve the myriad social and economic problems beset upon them through decades of Republican and Democrat rule."

Wright, a technical writer at a Livonia software company, favors a repeal of the personal income tax, a limit to legislative terms, making payments to Social Security voluntary, ending all government subsidies to business and agriculture, and turning welfare, private education and transportation over to the private sector.

Libertarians are "pro-choice in everything," he says in his campaign flyer, which is written in blank verse. This includes reproductive freedom.

"Our homegrown American neo-fascists would also hold pregnant women in bondage, forcing them to bear children for God or the fatherland, just as they once drafted young men to fight, kill and die in foreign lands," he contends.

As Wright sees it, the government has failed in its economic and social programs and has no business in imposing ethical standards on its citizenry. "Considering the substantial number of sleazy characters in government, one immediately sees the idea of government legislating morality as ludicrous. Further, government attempting to do so represents a serious violation of the U.S. Constitution."

Brian Wright, Libertarian candidate for congress

The Libertarian Party of Michigan is running 25 candidates statewide this year for offices ranging from state Supreme Court and the state House of Representatives.

On the party's presidential ticket is Nevada businessman Andre Marrou and Dr. Nancy Lord, a Washington, D.C., physician and lawyer.

The 11th district, with approximately 400,000 registered voters, spans Southfield and Bloomfield Hills west to Lyon and Highland townships.

Drinking driver arrested for weapon

Novi police arrested a driver on Austin Aug. 12 for open intoxicants and carrying a concealed weapon.

According to police reports, the Novi man had a hunting knife concealed in the front seat of his pickup truck, within easy reach of the driver's seat.

Officer Jarod Hart reported he was driving behind the man's orange 1985 Dodge pickup truck and observed him driving in the wrong lane and speeding.

When Hart pulled the suspect over, the suspect got out of the truck and grabbed a drive shaft out of the back of the pickup. He then looked at Hart and yelled "What the f--- do you want?" Hart explained the reason for the traffic stop and ordered the man several times to drop the drive shaft before he finally did, according to the report.

When the man went back inside his vehicle, Hart noted an open bottle of beer on the passenger seat. Officer Matthew Conquest, who had arrived to assist, discovered the hunting knife stored in a seatbelt clip.

There are currently no suspects or witnesses. The incident occurred some time between 4 p.m. Aug. 13 and 7 a.m. Aug. 14.

SOLICITATION: A woman working at Gurnsey's received a phone call Aug. 14 from a man who asked her if she would like to be a photo model for $100. Among the questions he asked her over the phone was whether she would like to pose nude on beds with her hands and feet tied.

The woman set up a date for the caller to meet her at the restaurant, then called Novi Police. An officer met the man at the appointed time, identified him as the caller, and questioned him.

The suspect told police that he enters his photos in contests and never sends them. He also said that he meant no harm.

The woman filed a written statement with the police department.

VANDALISM: Meadowbrook Congregational Church was recently targeted by vandals. Novi Police said, according to reports, an unknown suspect threw a chunk of concrete through the church window and flooded the outside hose on, which flooded the back yard.

There are currently no suspects or witnesses. The incident occurred some time between 4 p.m. Aug. 13 and 7 a.m. Aug. 14.

STOLEN BIKE: A resident on Wimbledon reported Aug. 20 that someone stole an 18-speed men's Royce bicycle from his garage.

The incident occurred some time between 11 a.m. Aug. 18 and 9 p.m. Aug. 20.

LARCENY: A $2,000 drum set was reported stolen from American Self Storage on Haggerty Road Aug. 21.

The owner of the drum set, who told police he had stored some of his belongings there while his family was in the process of moving, said he'd locked his storage unit with his own combination lock, which had not been tampered with.

The second door to the unit, which would allow entry, was also locked with a company key lock and not tampered with. Police said there were no signs of forced entry.

The drums were originally stored in the unit on June 1, and were discovered missing Aug. 20.

SHOPLIFTING: The owner of All Star Cards on Grand River reported Aug. 20 that he watched as a suspect took some comic books off a shelf and hid them under his shirt, then left without paying.

The owner got the suspect's license plate number as he was leaving and reported it to police. Police contacted the suspect, who said he was in the store but denied stealing any comic books.

The case remains under investigation.

LARCENY FROM VEHICLE: A resident on Wimbledon reported Aug. 22 that someone broke into his 1981 GMC El Camino and stole his stereo speakers, flashlight, cassette player and glasses.

The vehicle was parked in front of the residence at the time of the theft, which is believed to have occurred between 9 p.m. Aug. 16 and 5:30 a.m. Aug. 17.

DRUNK DRIVING: A 25-year-old Brighton man was arrested for OUIL. He was stopped near the Novi Road/7-96 interchange in a 1990 Mazda pickup truck.

DRUNK DRIVING: A 27-year-old Brighton man was arrested for OUIL. He was stopped near the Novi Road/7-96 interchange in a 1990 Ford Taurus.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call the Novi Police Tip Line at 349-6887.

Novi Briefs

My dear old Swanie: Help Walled Lake residents in their campaign by joining Save Our Swans. The committee believes that watercraft users and wildlife can learn to share the lake and live in harmony. To this end, Save Our Swans is engaged in an education campaign urging people to stay away from nesting areas and swans squinting their young.

If you'd like to join or to report any injury to a bird, call Bruce at 624-0764, Theresa at 624-5139 or Cody at 689-5154.

Or contact the Oakland County Marine Division, 858-4993. 24-hour emergency number is 858-4991.

Here's a tip for bird lovers provided in the group's recent newsletter. If you want to feed the swans, geese and ducks, use Duck Chow, cracked corn or mold-free dark bread. White bread is harmful to the waterfowl.

Crossing repairs: The CSX Railroad Company will be closing four streets in early September to conduct repairs of railroad crossings in Novi. To be closed Sept. 1 will be Twelve Mile Road. Novi Road will be closed from morning to early afternoon on Sept. 2 and Nine Mile Road will be closed beginning in the early afternoon the same day. Ten Mile Road will be closed Sept. 3.

According to one Novi resident and hunter Paul Wolfe, the new regulations will effectively limit sportsmen to hunting from blinds in three one-square-mile, unpopulated areas in the southwest portion of the city.

For the most part, that should address the concerns of both sides. There will not likely be a safety problem as a result of these rules. Residents here won't have to worry about shooting nearby. The hunters will still be able to continue their practice, if on a somewhat limited basis.

And all without need of protests before city council, rock stars coming in to rally the residents or activists making a cause of the issue.

Shows the power of compromise, he thinks.

Cholesterol screening: Total cholesterol screening by finger-stick method will be given from 1-4 p.m., third Monday of each month, for a $5 fee. Stop by the Health Development Network at the Botsford Center for Health Improvement, 39750 Grand River Ave., Novi. For more information call 477-6100.

Aerobic Weight Training for Women: Aerobic Weight Training for Women takes place Tuesdays and Thursdays, 5-6 p.m., at the Total Rehabilitation and Athletic Conditioning Center at the Botsford Center for Health Improvement. Class consists of a 60-minute workout combining weight training and aerobic exercise. Preregistration is requested and there is a $42 fee. Call 473-5600 for more information.

New parents' classes: Lvonica Childbirth Education Association offers a six-week class in Novi for new parents, the choice of two or four week classes for refresher, and a monthly breast-feeding class. Weekly classes are from 7-9:30 p.m. Saturday classes are from 9-11:30 a.m. Classes offer information about pregnancy, labor and delivery.

To sign up for the class or to obtain any additional information call the registrar at 937-0665.

A six-week course will begin Wednesday, Sept. 2, at Novi High School, 24062 Taft Road in Novi.

As We See It

Hunting rules are a good compromise

We've seen what can happen in other communities when the issue of hunting is raised and a proposal to ban the practice from the community is made. Tempers flare and the debate gets hot. The two sides engage in name-calling: "Bunny Huggers!" "Bambi Killers!"

If the issue gets settled at all, it remains the source of lingering hostility and discontent among residents.

But not in Novi. The City Council adopted a new set of hunting rules last week which are essentially a compromise between those concerned about the safety of allowing hunting to continue in a city as well-populated as Novi and those who believe hunting can continue here without endangering anyone.

The compromise not only addressed the concerns of both sides, it was adopted with a minimum of consternation among city officials or the public. The compromise was reached as a result of meetings in which local hunters worked with the police chief and the city ordinance review to talk about their various concerns and interests.

While the hunting regulations in Novi previously allowed hunting only with a permit from the police chief, and announced that we were going to clean a different room of the house each day of our upcoming vacation.

"And I don't mean a superficial cleaning, either," she growled, making it abundantly clear that the topic was not open to discussion. "I mean a top-to-bottom cleaning. Everything. We're moving all the furniture away from the walls. We're emptying every bookcase. We're dusting every book individually."

"I figure if we start every morning at seven o'clock and work straight through, we ought to be able to finish a room by one or two in the afternoon and still have a little time left over to do something else."

"Whatever you say, honey," I said, knowing a hopeless battle when I see one.

"Smile when you call me 'honey, honey,'" she barked, letting me know that anything approaching defiance would be dealt with harshly.

But this is a story with a happy ending... or, at least, a semi-happy ending.

What happened is that she got the house-cleaning bug in her system before our vacation even started. And once she starts, she can't quit.

That's one of the lessons I've learned after almost 26 years of marital bliss (I think that's an oxymoron), and so, I'm smart enough to know it's useless to resist when she gets in one of those moods.

GOP urged to police own campaigns

Republicans should monitor their own candidates, if necessary, to avoid distortions, mudslinging and negative campaigning, according to the very symbol of fairness in Oakland politics, retiring County Executive Daniel T. Murphy.

"We (Republicans) owe it to good candidates," Murphy said Thursday, prior to a GOP caucus preceding the regular Board of Commissioners meeting. "We owe it to the voters."

Supporting that view was commissioner John G. Pappageorge of Troy, GOP caucus chairman. "Otherwise, we can't speak from any position of moral authority."

Murphy and Pappageorge made their comments in response to questions about the tactics of Kevin Miltner, who won the GOP nomination in the 5th County Commission District which includes two precincts in West Bloomfield and 17 in Waterford.

Miltner defeated the second place candidate, Fran Amos, with allegedly false and misleading statements, including reports that she supports releasing convicted felons — specifically serial killer Leslie Williams — back into the community.

Murphy, who is retiring after more than four decades of public life, said he understands how campaign claims sometimes get out of hand. But Miltner went too far, Murphy agreed, by claiming his opponent supports returning Williams — who raped and killed four teenagers — back into the community.

"I think Republicans should do something," said Murphy. "We can't be the party of high ideals without looking at his (Miltner's) claims."

Miltner said his claim is warranted in light of Amos' support of the community corrections program advocated by the State of Michigan and currently being considered by county commissioners.

That program — supported by former Circuit Judge Alice Gilbert among others — would enable judges to sentence non-violent felons to community service. Oakland has generally favored alternative punishment — such as a county-operated boot camp — for non-violent felons.

But the community corrections program advocated by the Department of Corrections wants more, to the outrage of Prosecutor Richard Thompson who opposes it on the grounds some violent offenders may avoid prison.

Miltner claims his position is similar to Thompson's. "I oppose the community corrections plan, she supports it. That's a legitimate difference."

But Miltner went too far, some Republicans say, by claiming his opponent favored the release of Leslie Williams.

Pappageorge said the matter will likely be referred to the Oakland County Republican Party.

"I have a grave concern about this," said Pappageorge who is running against U.S. Rep. Sander Levin.

Pappageorge is one of dozens of GOP candidates to pledge they will avoid mudslinging and campaign on the issues and their own qualifications.

A sad commentary

It's a sad commentary on the state of our society.

The Novi Police Department has announced it will launch a program of sending underage "decoys" into local liquor stores to see if they can buy. Within the next few weeks, the police will launch into this program in the hopes of preventing or curtailing the selling of booze to minors. The program will continue into the foreseeable future.

The program itself is laudable. And we support it wholeheartedly. As Police Chief Doug Shaeffer explained it, the program is less aimed at catching violators than attempting to prevent the sale of alcohol to minors. The theory being that if merchants know those underage decoys are out there, they'll be more diligent about checking IDs and keeping kids from buying.

Nonetheless, there are still some aspects of this program that we feel indeed make a sad commentary.

For instance, we find it a bit disturbing that the police would feel the need to notify the liquor store owners before they begin such a campaign. Shaeffer said his desire was to be as up-front as possible with the store owners about the program. Again, Shaeffer's approach is quite laudable, but we feel it shouldn't be necessary to notify liquor stores before checking on them. It should be safe to assume that liquor store owners already know they aren't supposed to sell to minors. They are licensed by the state after all, and we would like to believe they took it seriously when they were informed about the rules during the licensing process. It is kind of like police sending a letter to a crack house before they raid it.

Another aspect worth noting is Shaeffer's point that notification didn't seem to make a difference in other cities where it has been used. He pointed out that when Farmington Hills launched such a program, 70 percent of those stores tested still violated the law.

It's very sad commentary indeed, that (a) so many stores would be selling alcohol to minors and (b) that so many store owners weren't bright enough to avoid getting caught even after they had been warned a crackdown was coming.

Those points should all the more show the need for the program. Shaeffer and the Novi police deserve credit for launching into it. And they deserve credit for the way they are handling it.

But all we can say is that we hope, with prior notification and all, liquor store owners here produce a little better record than did our neighbors to the east.

New bond issue to cut interest

The city may refund $6 million worth of bonds issued in the 1980s and re-issue new ones to take advantage of lower interest rates.

Seven years are left before the 1983 and 1985 bonds will be paid off. By refinancing them Novi may be able to save a total of $250,000 by reducing interest payments, bonding attorney Dennis Neiman told the council.

"Interest rates have dropped very precipitously. The city can get lower interests and pass savings on to taxpayers," Neiman said.

Novi City Council Aug. 24 gave its bonding attorneys the go-ahead to seek the necessary approval from the Municipal Finance Division of the Michigan Department of Treasury.

With approval from the treasury department, underwriter Roney & Co. would set interest rates. A second council OK would be needed before the new bonds would be sold.

The resolution recently adopted by the council calls for interest no higher than 10 percent.

"If the savings are not there, we would not recommend final approval," Neiman said.

He compared the transaction to "refinancing your house" but with "a lot more technicalities involved."

The city would have the option of passing on the savings by "slightly" reducing taxes annually, Neiman added.

Salon to raise funds for Andrew's victims

By CRISTINA FERRIER
Staff Writer

If you've been thinking about getting your hair cut, Thursday is a good day to do it.

That's because a "Hair-a-thon" scheduled at One Cut Above hair salon in Walled Lake is offering a chance to send your haircut dollars to Hurricane Andrew victims in Florida and Louisiana.

The salon is planning to donate 100 percent of all haircut proceeds, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., to hurricane relief.

Staff members are also sending nonperishable goods along with the money, so anyone wishing to drop off donations can do so that day or any time before then.

Regular haircut prices at the salon, ranging from $12 to $15, will remain in effect.

The plan for this relief effort is to "bypass the middleman" and send goods directly to the affected areas, rather than going through organizations like Red Cross.

"We found out if you send the items to Red Cross, it first goes to their headquarters in Washington, and then it's sent where it's needed," explained hairdresser Annette Krzykowski, an organizer of the event.

"It's faster to just ship it there ourselves. They need help right now."

The brother of a receptionist at the salon is a carpenter volunteering with rebuilding efforts in Florida.

"We're going to ship it to him. He knows the areas and where help is needed the most."

Krzykowski said she wanted to do this after seeing television reports of the hurricane's devastating effects.

As of Friday morning, Hurricane Andrew's death toll had risen to 27 and in south Florida an estimated 250,000 people were homeless. Damage estimates in Florida were as high as $20 billion. No figures were available for Louisiana.

"I wanted to do it for Hurricane Hugo and I never did," she said. "But that always stayed on my mind. We do a lot of charity work here at the salon, and we figure it's just one day out of our time to help (the victims)."

"I've always said I wanted to do something like this. I decided this was it — it's time to act."

She said the situation in Miami really began to disturb her when she learned that people were being charged prices as high as $5 for a bag of ice.

"That just made me sick," she said. "People are making a profit off this disaster. If it was my home, I would want someone to help."

One Cut Above is located at 1224 W. Maple in Walled Lake. For more information, call the salon at 669-1870.

Target slated for Haggerty/Eight Mile

The Haggerty/Eight Mile roads area may be getting a shopping center, but it won't be a garden-variety strip mall.

Livonia city officials will push developers to market a site that calls for two large tenants in separate buildings in Chestnut Hills, the northern portion of 90 acres along Haggerty and I-275 between Seven Mile and Eight Mile. The site sits just across Livonia's border with Northville Township.

The Livonia City Council is expected to grant final approval Monday on a rezoning that would allow the shopping center.

The southern part of the site, formerly called Pentagon Properties, will be rezoned to a lighter industrial classification, which officials hope will attract high-tech users.

The rezoning won preliminary approval April 29 contingent on the site plan.

Negotiations are under way between developer Jonna Realty Enterprises and Target for a 116,000 square-foot store.

The planned second building, about 127,000 square feet, doesn't have a prospective tenant, Frank Jonna told Livonia council members during a committee meeting last week.

Jonna said he envisions a large supermarket, or "hypermarket-type store" for the second building. A & P was reportedly considering the location last spring.

But developers may have trouble drawing such a tenant because of the building's proposed large size and the fact that the shopping center is just across Haggerty from the Northville Township Meijer store.

Whoever moves in, council members said Tuesday they're aiming for a modern, clean center in keeping with the corridor's image and its position as a "gateway to Livonia" for I-275 drivers.

A site plan offering Target and an adjacent strip-type was rejected by the Livonia council.

"Small strip centers are going to come and go. The big box concept works much better," said Councilman Dale Jurcisin.

Premium centers like Laurel Park and Somerset (in Troy) are around for a generation and that's what I'm interested in seeing."

Ron Ochala agreed, calling the second proposal "far superior" to the first site plan.

The council called for exterior treatments including heavy landscaping, updated brick, lots of glass and awnings — for both the front and rear on each building. The rear will face the freeway.

Birmingham-based architect Bob Ziegelman said the second plan carries "essentially the same elements as the first, we've just rearranged it and spread the building apart."

Construction would likely start once the site plan receives formal approval from the planning commission and council, probably this fall.

Jonna and city officials are also close to an agreement regarding a final lawsuit filed over use of the property.

The suit will be dropped once the rezoning goes through, said Harry Tatigian, Livonia city attorney.

Jonna also unveiled plans for a restaurant on the site.

He said developers are courting Applebee's Bar and Grille, a national chain that features casual atmosphere, burgers and medium-priced meals.

The 120-seat restaurant would be the third Applebee's in Michigan, joining a Sterling Heights location and one planned for Canton Township.

The stretch along I-275 was originally envisioned in the mid-1980s as home to high- and mid-rise office buildings, hotels and several upscale restaurants.

A protracted battle over wetlands in the area and the recession effectively killed those plans.

The reworked plans received backing from Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett last fall.

lavoring with rebuilding efforts in Florida.

"We're going to ship it to him. He knows the areas and where help is needed the most."

Krzykowski said she wanted to do this after seeing television reports of the hurricane's devastating effects.

As of Friday morning, Hurricane Andrew's death toll had risen to 27 and in south Florida an estimated 250,000 people were homeless. Damage estimates in Florida were as high as $20 billion. No figures were available for Louisiana.

"I wanted to do it for Hurricane Hugo and I never did," she said. "But that always stayed on my mind. We do a lot of charity work here at the salon, and we figure it's just one day out of our time to help (the victims)."

"I've always said I wanted to do something like this. I decided this was it — it's time to act."

She said the situation in Miami really began to disturb her when she learned that people were being charged prices as high as $5 for a bag of ice.

"That just made me sick," she said. "People are making a profit off this disaster. If it was my home, I would want someone to help."

Possibilities with peaches get out of hand

Peaches were first grown in China several thousands of years ago and were regarded as a symbol of immortality.

There is even a story about a French woman in the 19th century who was gravely ill and refusing all food. But her life was saved by a dish of peaches in syrup and cream that restored her appetite and will to live.

This is all hard to believe, since the first peaches were small, very sour and had a very fuzzy exterior. They were brought to the Americas by Spanish explorers in the 16th century. Peaches may not be magic, but the numerous modern varieties are certainly larger, sweeter and less fuzzy.

There is nothing like a ripe peach eaten out of hand for breakfast or as a snack. Sliced peaches can be added to salads, sugared for shortcake or soaked in white wine or champagne for an easy summer dessert.

They can be baked in a cobbler, or pureed for sherbet or ice cream. Grilled peaches served with grilled chicken adds an interesting twist to a picnic. To grill, coat all sides of the peaches with lemon juice and grill until brown (six to eight minutes).

There are two categories of peaches, freestone or clingstone. This refers to how the flesh adheres to the pit. Clingstones are not generally sold in markets, they are used for commercial canning.

Michigan peaches are freestone or a semi-freestone. Popular varieties available at the local farmer markets are Redhaven, Cresthaven, Glohaven, and Red Kist. These are all versatile and can be used for baking, canning or eaten fresh.

One pound of peaches is about three medium or two cups sliced. If you are interested in preserving them, a lug weighs 22 pounds, makes 16-24 pints frozen or 7-11 quarts canned. A bushel of peaches is 48 pounds and will yield 32-48 pints frozen or 16-24 quarts canned.

While eating peaches out of hand, they need no peeling, however, most peaches are peeled for use in cooked dishes. If the peaches do not peel easily, dip them in boiling water for about 30 seconds, then plunge into ice water and the skins will slip right off.

To prevent browning, coat exposed surfaces with lemon juice or ascorbic acid or vitamin C tablets. Use one teaspoon pure powdered ascorbic acid to one gallon water. If you prefer, use 3,000 milligrams of vitamin C tablets crushed and dissolved in a gallon of water. The procedure is easy: Slip the skins, dip into one of these solutions, drain them and continue to use.

Canning or freezing peaches is very simple. Slip the skins, cut into halves or slices, dip into the anti-browning solution, put into jars or freezer containers.

Peaches can be canned or frozen in a syrup (sugar) pack, a water pack, a juice pack or a sugar-free pack. If you're concerned about sugar, do them the sugar-free way. To get the best results for a sugar-free product, put the cut peaches in a saucepan, add water and heat slowly on the burner. Don't cook them; just heat to activate the natural peach sugar.

Doing them this way you won't have a watery taste to the end product, just a light peachy flavor. For exact canning times, call the Cooperative Extension Service, Food Hotline, 858-0904.

Peaches are a source of Vitamin A and potassium and have virtually no sodium. They are fat free, and if you eat the peel, that's extra fiber. A medium size peach has about 50 calories.

Visit your local farmer's markets and enjoy fresh Michigan peaches. Bite into a fresh juicy Michigan peach. Let the juice dribble down your hand and chin — enjoy this sweet treat that's good for you.

Lois Thieleke is an extension home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Reach for a peach

Pick a peach for pleasure

"The Peaches are gorgeous this year," said Sharon Ashton of Ashton Orchards in Ortonville. "But the flavor is down a little. On a scale of 1 to 10, I'd say they're an eight or a nine."

If you like to can peaches, expect to spend a little more time preparing them this year. Because of the cool weather the pits are sticking, Ashton recommends canning quarters as opposed to halves.

Not all the farmers are feeling peachy keen. A May frost, hail storm and cool summer hurt the peach crop in some parts of the state. Some of the farmers I talked to bought peaches from other farmers to sell at their markets.

Ashton has peaches for sale at Ashton Orchards, 3925 Seymour Lake Road, Ortonville, (313) 627-6671. Juicy Red Haven peaches are available locally at Foreman's Orchards, 50050 Seven Mile Road in Northville.

Foreman's just recently opened under new ownership. After about 60 years of operating their farm market, the Foreman family turned it over to Jack Pereira and his clan.

Pereira, a longtime friend of the Foremans, often supplied them with pumpkins and other produce over the years. He and the family will sell whatever is in season, including bushels of Red Haven peaches. Call 349-1256.

More Red Havens are available at The Strawberry Patch, one mile east of Millford between Burns & Duck Lake roads, 2375 Wixom Trail, (313) 685-1393; and at Blake's Orchard & Cider Mill, 17985 Armada Center Road, three miles north and four miles east of Romeo, (313) 784-5343.

We found a couple of u-pick farms nearby for people who prefer to pick their own fruit. Blake's Big Apple Orchard, N. Ave at 33 Mile Road, call (313) 784-9710; Brookwood Fruit Farm, north of Romeo on M-53, six miles, right on Bordman, 1/2 mile to apple storage building, (313) 798-8312, and Syivan Orchard, one mile north of I-94 between Kalmbach Road, (exit 156) and Pierce Road (exit 157), on Cavanaugh Lake Road, (313) 475-1943.

Never buy soft peaches, said Ashton. Look for peaches that are yellow with a red of golden blush background color.

Avoid any that are extra hard or greenish, said Lois Thieleke extension home economist for the Cooperative Extension Service, Oakland County office.

"Picked green peaches will just get soft and wither. Peaches don't become any sweeter after they are picked, but ripening makes mature fruit softer and juicier," said Thieleke.

To ripen peaches, Ashton recommends putting them in a paper bag or open air basket. Close the bag and check it every day. Peaches will ripen evenly in a paper bag.

"Peaches are fragile," said Ashton. "After they're ripe, refrigerate them. They'll last about a week. Buy them as you use them."

Peaches substitute well in recipes with other seasonal summer fruits.

Late-summer fruit makes for sweet treats

PEACH SALSA
1 cup peaches, fresh diced 1/4-inch cubes
1/4 cup red onion diced 1/4-inch
1 teaspoon jalapeno pepper diced 1/4-inch
1-2 Tablespoons cilantro minced
1 teaspoon granulated sugar

Combine ingredients and chill for 24 hours.

From: "The Health Club Cooks," Newtish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit, 1991 recipe submitted by Peter Loren, Opus One.

PEACH COBBLER
4 cups peeled and sliced ripe peaches
1/2 cup plus 3 Tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon zest
1 Tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 1/2 cups unbleached all-purpose flour
1 Tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/4 cup milk
1 cup heavy cream, chilled
3 to 4 Tablespoons peach brandy or cordial

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Butter a 2-quart baking dish. Arrange peaches in baking dish. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup sugar, the lemon zest and juice, and almond extract. Bake for 20 minutes.

While peaches are baking, sift flour, 1 tablespoon of the remaining sugar, the baking powder and salt together into a bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles cornmeal. Combine the beaten egg and milk and mix into dry ingredients until just combined.

Remove peaches from oven and quickly drop dough by large spoonfuls over surface. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons sugar. Return to the oven for 15 to 20 minutes, until top is firm and golden brown.

Whip cream to soft peaks. Flavor with peach brandy to taste. Serve cobbler warm, accompanied by whipped cream.

(Four to six portions).

PEACH COBBLER WITH FRESH GINGERROOT

Filling:
6 medium ripe peaches, peeled, pitted, and cut into thick slices (about 4 cups)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 to 3/4 cup sugar, or to taste
1/2 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup boiling water
1 1/2-inch piece of fresh gingerroot, peeled and finely minced (2-teaspoons)
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon cold butter, cut into small pieces

Dough
1 cup flour
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup salt
1 1/2 teaspoon softened butter, cut into small pieces

1/2 cup milk

Yields 6 servings
Preheat oven to 400 degrees and butter round 9x3-inch oven-proof baking dish, preferably earthenware. Put peaches in large bowl, sprinkle lemon juice over them, toss and set aside.

In small saucepan, mix sugar and cornstarch. Add boiling water and ginger. Cook for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Pour over peaches and combine. Transfer to prepared baking dish.

Sprinkle with cinnamon and dot with butter, then set aside prepared dough. In medium-sized bowl, mix together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Add butter and stir with wooden spoon, pressing butter into flour. Add milk all at once, and stir only until dough forms. Do not overmix. Drop generous tablespoons of soft dough on top of peaches.

Bake 30 to 35 minutes, or until top is slightly golden. Serve warm, topped with vanilla-flavored whipped cream or a scoop of vanilla ice cream, if desired.

Summer staffers leave behind the old pros

I, for one, will be very glad to see the end of summer. The last few weeks are killers.

Not only would I rather be out having fun but so would everyone else that works here. And it has to be the biggest vacation time ever. Match that with trying to get the kids ready for school, and everyone is busy. Thankfully, too busy to cook, so we are happy to oblige.

On top of all that, there are the students going back to college. We are not "losing" anyone competely, except for Christa Bernardi, a real dynamo.

She was accepted at the last minute to Michigan State and will pursue hotel and restaurant management. I certainly can't be unhappy about that. She'll be a great asset to the industry. We wish her all the luck in the world.

The brunt of the change will be with the lunch staff. We've hired a few new waitresses and they are doing great. They have fit in well.

There is something about interviewing people — a "gut" feeling I get almost immediately about whether the person will make it or not. I'm not always right, that would make life boring. But, a good for-instance is June Watson.

She is a teacher by profession and wanted to work the vacation period. She had no experience but was animate during the interview that she was a fast learner and a people person. By the end of the first week we all were in love with her. A true professional: pleasant, cheerful, and energetic. We are happy.

And there is Kristin. After our initial interview I knew that I liked her but there just wasn't a spot. She decided to take a job at a local chain. One Saturday she worked there. She hated her job and had come to "get on my knees if I have to in order to work in here." Who could refuse that? We made room and she has not disappointed us.

We have over 50 people that keep this restaurant going. Every job is as important as the next. There is a wonderful core that has been with us from the start. Karen, Theris and Terrie worked with us in Southfield. Pat, our sous chef extraordinaire, is a troupier of Seven Mile and Southfield. A true Brady girl. Every one has the best interest of our guests at heart.

They watch out for you. Their job is serious.

Next Monday is Labor Day. A day for most people to celebrate with a day off. To be at home with family or visiting with friends.

Usually we do not close for holidays. We are going to in this case. Our staff deserves to be rewarded for the tremendous job they do. Thus, Tom and I dedicate Sunday and Monday to our crew. Have fun. Enjoy yourselves. We'll see you rested and ready to start all over Tuesday.

FOODLAND PITCHES IN: Foodland Distributors and participating allied supermarkets are teaming with local schools to help supply books, computer equipment, athletic equipment and other materials.

"Cash for the Class" is a program that gives schools five cents for each UPC Universal Product Code symbol collected from Nature's Best, Homebest, Topmost and Bi-Rite brand products. These private label brand products are available at affiliated Foodland supermarkets.

Students simply bring the UPC symbols to their school, and Foodland Distributors will pay the school five cents for each symbol redeemed. The program will begin Sept. 1 and continue through June 30, 1993. The program is available to any class, grade K through 12, private, public or parochial.

Participating in this area are Larry's Foodland, 33151 Plymouth Road, Livonia and Union Lake Food Center, 8040 Cooley Lake Road, Union Lake.

HOME CANNING TIP: Here's a tip for canning tomatoes from Sylvia Tretman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service. The acidity level of varieties of tomatoes may be too low to assure a safe canned product. Therefore the USDA recommends adding 2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice or one-half teaspoon citric acid to each quart of crushed, whole, halved or sliced tomatoes. Add directly to jars before filling them with tomatoes.

For pints use one tablespoon bottled lemon juice or one-quarter teaspoon citric acid.

Do not forget to process all tomatoes according to the latest USDA recommendations. The Ball Blue Book 32nd has the latest recommendations and can be purchased at stores carrying canning supplies.

For more information, call 858-0904, weekdays, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

FREE INTRODUCTION TO WEIGHT WATCHERS: Weight Watchers has announced that its main centers are now open for free introductory consultations.

"We want everyone to know that Weight Watchers teaches people how to live healthier and eat better, no matter how much weight they have to lose," said Florine Mark, president and chief executive officer of W W Group, the largest franchise of Weight Watchers International.

"Many people don't realize that they can come to Weight Watchers even if they only have five pounds to lose. They'll learn new ways of eating, how to make healthy choices and how to keep their weight off without changing their lifestyles."

Weight Watchers staff will be available to explain what Weight Watchers is all about and will give out free recipes and information as well. The following centers are available for this service: Ann Arbor, Dearborn, Farmington Hills, Royal Oak and St. Clair Shores. For further information or to set up a special appointment, please call 1-800-487-4777.

AMERICAN HARVEST REOPENS SOON: Schoolcraft College's American Harvest Restaurant closed for the summer on April 30. The on-campus restaurant, which features gourmet specialties prepared by Schoolcraft's Master Chefs and Culinary Arts students, will reopen shortly after Labor Day. Watch this space for an update on the exact date of opening.

GROCERS SUPPORT CHARITY: Look for "Aisles of Smiles" in your favorite grocery store through Sept. 11. Manufacturers of select products have agreed to donate a portion of each purchase to Muscular Dystrophy.

CULINARY EXTRAVAGANZA COMING: The Schoolcraft College Foundation will present a "Culinary Extravaganza" on Sunday, Sept. 20 from 2-5 p.m. in the College's Waterman Campus Center. Over 50 of the finest restaurants from the Detroit metropolitan area will offer tastes of gourmet appetizers, entrees, and desserts. Tickets are $35 per person. All proceeds will fund student scholarships.

To purchase tickets or receive further information, contact the Office of Institutional Advancement at 462-4417. Schoolcraft College is located at 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six Mile and Seven Mile roads in Livonia.

Everything's peachy in September

The following recipes were created with fresh California peaches by the California Tree Fruit Agreement to be quickly prepared desserts. They say the recipes take less than 20 minutes to prepare. (Time doesn't include prep work, such as homemade preparation of pie crust.) Number of ingredients also is limited.

PEACH PIE WITH TOFFEE TOPPING

- 1 (8-ounce) package light cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup powdered sugar
- 1/2 cup light sour cream
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons English toffee candies
- 3 fresh peaches, thinly sliced
- 1 graham cracker crust (8-ounces)

Yields 6 servings
Beat cream cheese, sugar and sour cream until smooth. Stir in vanilla extract and 1/2 cup toffee. Place half the peach slices in pie crust. Spread cream cheese mixture over fruit. Arrange remaining peaches over cream cheese and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons toffee.

Serve with extra toffee on the side if desired.

PEACH CREAM BAVARIAN

- 6 fresh peaches, coarsely chopped (reserve 3 beautiful slices for garnish)
- 1 egg white
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon orange zest
- 1 cup light sour cream, lightly beaten

Yields 8 servings
In mixing bowl at high speed, beat 2 cups peaches, egg white, sugar and zest until peaks form, about 5 minutes. Fold in sour cream, set aside.

Spread about 1/2 of remaining peaches into bottom of 1 1/2 quart serving dish. Top with 1/2 of mix-

PERSIAN PEACHES

- 1 (8-ounce) carton fruit-flavored, low-fat yogurt. (Strawberry, raspberry or boysenberry)
- 5 fresh peaches, cut into bite-size pieces
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh ginger
- 2 tablespoons honey

Yields 4 servings
In bottom of a stemmed glasses, spoon 3 tablespoons yogurt. Divide peaches among glasses. Combine juice, ginger and honey. Pour over peaches. Top with spoonful of yogurt.

CHOCOLATE-AMARETTO TOPPED PEACH SUPRISE

- 1 package (10-ounce) frozen pastry shells
- 8 ounce light cream cheese
- 1/2 cup sliced almonds, toasted, divided use
- 4 fresh peaches, halved
- 1/2 cup prepared chocolate fudge sauce
- 2 tablespoons Amaretto liqueur, or to taste
- Mint for garnish (optional)

Yields 4 servings
Remove 4 pastry shells from freezer. Let thaw slightly. If necessary, on lightly floured board, roll out further to make a larger opening to accommodate fruit. Bake according to package directions. Top may be discarded.

Form about 2 tablespoons cream cheese into ball slightly larger than peach pit. Roll cheese balls into 1/2 cup almonds and press between peach halves.

In small saucepan, combine fudge sauce and Amaretto. Warm over low heat, stirring occasionally.

To serve, place peaches in cooled pastry shells, ladle chocolate sauce over peach and top with remaining almonds. Garnish with mint, if desired. If desired, pastry can be baked ahead of time.

ture. Spoon remaining peaches on top. Mount remaining mixture in center. Garnish with reserved peach slices. Chill.

Is your menu ready for a makeover?

Tired of tuna? Bored with meat loaf? Avoiding the kitchen because you can't face another broiled chicken breast? If a different hairstyle and new outfit can change the way you look, a menu makeover can do wonders for the way you cook. Here's how:

As with any makeover, you start with the basic elements or ingredients—this case, the meat and side dishes—try to make the most of their best features. Possible options include:

- Changing the form—meatballs instead of burgers
- Substituting one ingredient for another—barley instead of rice
- Adding a colorful garnish—fresh basil leaves and cherry tomatoes.

To build confidence, start with two makeovers created in the Quaker Kitchens. While the "before" tasted good, the "afters" are so much better.

ITALIAN MEATBALL KABOBS WITH OVEN FRIED POTATOES

- 2/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 1/9 cup toasted wheat germ
- 1 egg white, slightly beaten
- 2 teaspoons Italian seasoning
- 4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 4 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 2 medium onions, cut into eighths
- 2 yellow, red or green bell peppers cut into chunks
- 2 large zucchini or yellow squash cut into thick slices

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Lightly spray cookie sheet with no stick cooking spray. Wash and scrub potatoes. Cut lengthwise into eighths. Dip potatoes into combined egg white and water then into combined remaining ingredients. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until potatoes are done. While potatoes are baking, combine first six ingredients for meatballs; mix well.

Shape into 1 1/4 to 2-inch balls. On four skewers, arrange meatballs, onions, peppers and zucchini alternately. Grill over medium hot coals or broil 4 to 5 inches from heat source. Use to eight minutes per side or until desired doneness.

Serve two kabobs with potatoes, covering and refrigerating remaining kabobs for second meal. Two servings plus extras for second meal.

For second meal: Remove meatballs and vegetables from skewers. In skillet, combine meatballs and vegetables with prepared spaghetti sauce; heat through. Serve over hot cooked pasta.

Heat oven to 400F. Combine yogurt, mayonnaise and herbs; set aside. Combine margarine and garlic powder. Brush bread slices on both sides with margarine mixture. Dip bread into wheat germ, coating on both sides; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Heat in oven 3 to 4 minutes per side or until toasted. Cut into strips; set aside. While toasting bread, arrange salad greens, turkey, vegetables and bacon on two large plates. Serve salad with warm toast strips and reserved dressing. Serves 2.

CLASSY CLUB SALAD

- 1/8 cup plain nonfat yogurt
- 2 Tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 Tablespoon chopped chives, parsley or cracked peppercorns (optional)
- 1 Tablespoon margarine, melted
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 4 slices whole wheat bread
- 1/2 cup Kretschmer original

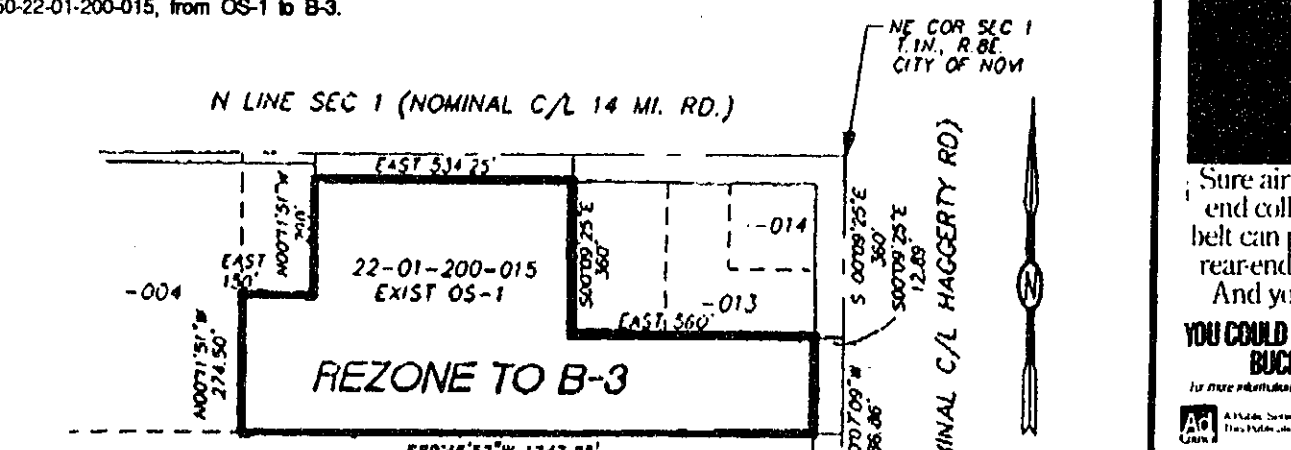

toasted wheat germ
3 cups mixed salad greens
1/4 cup chopped cooked turkey breast
1/4 cup chopped tomato
1/8 cup shredded carrot
1/8 cup red onion, thinly sliced
1/2 cup crisply cooked and crumbled bacon (optional)

Heat oven to 400F. Combine yogurt, mayonnaise and herbs; set aside. Combine margarine and garlic powder. Brush bread slices on both sides with margarine mixture. Dip bread into wheat germ, coating on both sides; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Heat in oven 3 to 4 minutes per side or until toasted. Cut into strips; set aside. While toasting bread, arrange salad greens, turkey, vegetables and bacon on two large plates. Serve salad with warm toast strips and reserved dressing. Serves 2.
