City airs ire at Edison's tree trimming

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

The electrical service in the Willowbrook subdivision may be spotty but the telephones are working.

City Manager Edward Kriewall said the Civic Center's phones have lit up thanks to calls from residents irked over frequent blackouts

"We've had more complaints from Willowbrook. They've had power outages on clear days. The power will go out two and three times a week." Kriewall said.

"They just couldn't count on reliable service over there. They've been buying generators. It appeared to be a tree problem."

Detroit Edison officials were on hand at the Novi City Council meeting Monday to discuss the service complaints, as well as the recent local controversy over the company's tree trimming campaign. Some Orchard Ridge residents were outraged when the firm's contractors accidently chopped down four trees in their backyards. Over 20 trees, part of the same stand, were razed in adjacent Novi Township.

Edison also has agreed to meet with city representatives in the near clip back the limbs to the trunk or future to discuss Novi's repeated calls for buried power lines.

■ South Hill — the firm embroited in Novi's water main controversy — is suing the city for non-payment of work completed. The story is on page 8A.

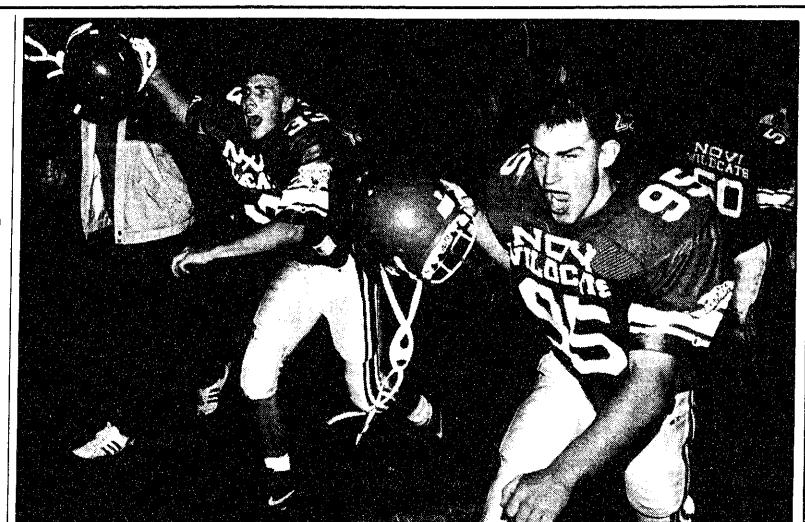

Joseph Ford, governmental executive for the Oakland Division. said the utility has been working ons plans to patch up the service in Willowbrook.

Detroit Edison currently has crews out cutting tree limbs away from lines throughout Novi. Edison representatives predict this will improve service reliability by 80

"The program is receiving accolades from the property owners who are enjoying the reliability," said Novi resident Gary Christensen, Edison's supervisor for line clearance in Oakland County.

"Granted, sometimes the trees are not aesthetically pleasing." While some residents have griped about the results - Mayor Matthew Quinn referred to some of the cut back trees as "horrendous" - Christensen said it is healthier to

Homecoming

Novi High School students got a special homecoming celebration over the weekend courtesy of the Wildcat gridiron squad. With only four minutes left in the Friday night football contest against previously undefeated Milford Lakeland, quarterback John Lahti connected with Brian Csordas for a five-yard touchdown pass. That gave Novi a 30-28 victory over Lakeland and set the tone for weekend. Above, Randy Naumann and Paul Roma celebrate the victory at the end of the game. Of course it was not the only special event. There was the Homecoming Parade Friday before the game and Homecoming Dance Saturday. At left, senior homecoming court members Robert Gdowski and Colleen Fitzpatrick ride in the parade Friday afternoon. More photos are on page 17A.

Board hears ballot pros, cons

By RANDY COBLE

It was "cut and cap made easy" at the Novi Community Schools Board of Education's Oct. 1 meeting, as a visiting school official detailed the arguments for and against November ballot proposals A and C.

Rick Simonson, assistant superintendent for state and federal affairs for the Oakland Intermediate School District, spoke to the board on the motives for and effects of two proposals. Proposal C is the "cut and cap" plan put forth by Gov. John Engler; Proposal A, supported by the state legislature, offers only the cap.

Simonson, whose job is to deal with state legislators on behalf of the Oakland school district, said he was making an impartial presentation. "My job tonight is to inform, not to advocate," Simonson said. He spoke for over 40 minutes, taking questions from board and audience members after his presentation.

The proposals' fate will be decided by voters on Election Day, Nov. 3. Proposal C would cut the portion of property taxes owners pay for school operation by 30 percent, phased in over four years. The part of property taxes that pay for local services such as police and fire would be left

The plan would exempt 10 percent of a property's value from being taxed for school operating expenses in 1993, 15 percent in 1994, 20 percent in 1995, 25 percent in 1996 and by 30 percent every year after that. Capping the rate at which a property's annual tax assessment could be increased is the common feature of proposals A and C. Proposal C would set the cap at 3 percent of the assessment or the rate of inflation, whichever is lower. Proposal A offers a 5 percent cap or the rate of inflation, whichever is lower. If a property is improved or sold under Proposal C, it would be reassessed at its market value and then the 30 percent cut would kick in again.

Cut and cap would pep up the state's dragging economy, encourage business investment.

promote jobs and bring in more revenue to the state, those backing the plan say, Engler foremost among them.

Constitutionally, the state will have to reimburse school districts for the money they'll lose under the plan, backers add. After explaining what the proposals were, Simonson then outlined the major arguments offered by cut and cap's proponents and opponents. "The first big reason advocates are pushing

C," he said, "is that (they argue) our property taxes are too high." They're right, he added - the state's property tax rate is well above the national mean.

"We're anywhere from fourth to 11th highest in the United States," he said, depending on the figures used.

Simonson added that Oakland County residents paid the third highest property taxes per capita in America.

LSD's back, but local kids find liquor's quicker

Acid is beginning to re-emerge as a "drug of choice" in America. Although there has been only one recent Novi police incident involving LSD, also commonly referred to as acid, communities across the country have reported a marked increase in the use of the

"There is more acid now," said Novi Youth Assistance Director Karen MacKenzie. "It seems to go through phases and you hear things about it in passing. "But in Novi, the honest-to-God truth is that I hear the most problems about alcohol." MacKenzie said it's possible, however, that there might be young people in Novi using LSD. There's more of a stigma attached to the use of such drugs and someone using them would be more likely to keep it to himself.

She said she does not know of any cases of acid use among high school students here. "If I ask a high school student how many kids in the school use alcohol, it's about 60 to 90 percent. If I ask them about drugs, they just don't know. The experience base in the middle of the night. isn't as large there." The recent local case involved a the chemist said. According to the Michigan Substance Abuse Information Center, LSD (lysergic acid diethylamide) is a hallucinogen which affects perception, sensation, thinking, selfawareness and emotion. Effects of LSD vary according to dosage, the personality of the user and the conditions under which it is taken. It causes changes in sensation and altered vision. A person under the effects of LSD will experience changes in depth perception and in the meaning of a perceived object. In addition, the sense of time and of self are altered.

MacKenzie sald that ayoung person would have to be away from the parents for long periods of time to use LSD without arousing told the council.

Anyone who's refinanced their home lately will appreciate the City Council's Monday money maneuver. The council agreed to re-fund $5.6 million in bonds sold in 1983 and 1985 and to resell the bonds at the current low interest rates. This will save city taxpayers $207,000, Dennis Nieman, a city bonding attorney.

That savings would have been about $250,000 but the short-term interest rate plummeted recently, he Novi's citywide collection program will initially only be mandatory for single-family houses. The service would include a weekly trash pick-up and curbside recycling, as well as hazardous waste and compostable collection.

An owner of a $150,000 home could anticipate an annual bill of $225 for the service.

Eventually, the service might be extended to multiple housing complexes and businesses.

The citizens group has already kicked off a flyer campaign explaining "Why city-wide service makes 'cents,' " and is soliciting donations for newspaper ads.

Abortion bill wins male votes

By TIM RICHARD

Women lawmakers backed 26 amendments to weaken a parental consent abortion bill last week, but lost them all.

The state House of Representa tives gave 69-35 approval to a bill correcting a flaw in the 1991 law. A Kalamazoo circuit judge said the law was unenforceable because it failed properly to define an "emergency."

House Bill 6099 substituted a definition of a "medical emergency" under which a girl under 18 wouldn't need the permission of either her parents or a probate judge to obtain an

Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell sought to expand the definition to include juvenile diabetes, hepatitis, sickle-cell anemia and a long list of illnesses. It was shot down 41-60. "I'm appalled that we have to vote on this issue again," said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R Livonia, who votes with Munsell on abortion issues. "I'm tired of having male legislators making decisions that I have to live with."

Only four of 18 women lawmakers backed the parental consent bill while 65 of 91 men supported it. Voting yes on final passage was Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford. Voting no were Munsell, Georgina Goss, R-Northville, and Kirk Profit,

Other failed amendments:

Maxine Berman, D-Southfield keep the content of the bill but add a sentence giving all other women clear abortion rights. The effect would have been to repeal Michigan's law against abortion which has been legal dead wood since the 1973 Roev. Wade decision.

■ Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills emergencies to include allowing a physician to certify he believes a girl will try a self-induced abortion or visit an unqualified abortionist. ■ Bankes — emergencies to include the HIV virus.

■ Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake force a parent or legal guardian who denies a girl permission for an abortion to bear financial responsibility for the grandchild.

■ Bill Bobier, R-Hesperia - require amale minor who gets a girl pregnant to inform his parents within seven days after he learns of the pregnancy. "How about a little sex equity?" he

The bill was sponsored by Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton. In eight years in Lansing, Kosteva has consistently voted to restrict abortions but never was vocal about it -- until last

Facing a challenge from a Right to Life candidate to revise the definition of an emergency, Kosteva made sure he had victory in hand before he walked into the Capitol door - 55 co-sponsors with 55 votes needed for

His bill was debated for just 10 minutes while two hours and 15 minutes were spent on amendments. But he was four votes short of the two-thirds majority needed to give the bill immediate effect. Instead it will take effect about April 1, 1993. Meanwhile, no parental consent is

The bill goes to the Senate, where passage is likely this week, and then to Gov. John Engler, who is certain to Kosteva's bill defines "medical emergency" as "that condition which. on the basis of a physician's good faith clinical judgment, so complicates the medical condition of a pregnant woman as to necessitate an immediate abortion of that woman's pregnancy to avert her death, or for which a delay in performing an abortion will create serious risk of substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function."

Chamber Monthly Luncheon Meetings: David Sowerby, Vice-President and Economist, Manufacturers Bank on the Economic Conditions in Michigan. Mr. Sowtby discussed the economic climate of Michigan for the next year. He said that we began moving out of the recession a year and a half ago, but we're only going at one-third to onehalf of the normal recovery rate. Although positive growth can be seen, we are not yet back to the level we were at two years ago when the decline

A more positive outlook is predicted by Mr. Sowerby for the year ahead. He said the low interest and mortgage rates are helpful in getting the economy moving but we will continue to move about 50 percent of a normal recovery rate. Growth will continue at about 3-4 percent. He said although the Big Three took a hard hit this time, Detroit and Michigan didn't do too badly because we geared up for it better than the rest of the country. And, while we haven't been able to escape, our ability to weather it out is enhanced.

Tax cuts, deregulation and more jobs will help get the economy moving. Sowerby said it will be the small businesses that create the jobs; not the Fortune 500 companies.

Its next meeting, at the Civic Center, drew a crowd of about 60. But these days, active membership is down to three - Gilberg, Barbara Vanderhoff and Judy Maxwell. And, well, you just can't keep a group going with that small of a core of active members. Gilberg said she hopes to revive the group at some ence and 84 percent of seniors said they point in the future, if interest is again

But we hope a lack of interest in the group does not mean residents here believe there is no substance abuse problem in Novi, or that the drug and alcohol likely that the experience in Northville abuse problems of youngsters has been been addressed and solved. We see no evidence to reach such a conclusion.

In fact, we see some indications plained to the Novi City Council about that drug and alcohol abuse here is as rowdy parties being held in an old gravel called community newspapers" take their pictures. by folks in the news business. We're not like the big daily Press and Lansing State Journal, which try to cover the nathe region. Nor are welike the TV children. stations, which try to do the same thing using the medium of television rather than print.

Community newspapers are rooted in the local communities they serve. They try to cover whatever goes on in their home towns, from the city council meetings to the 50th wedding anniversary of that nice couple down the street.

We try to be part of the community we serve. Often we have our office in town. We like to hire editors and reporters who live in the community. We believe that we can practice community journalism with a combination of objectivity and fairness and also a sense of responsibility to the community we serve and to our neighbors who often appear in our news stories.

This is hard to do. In fact, I think community journalism is the toughest kind, if only because lots of the people you run into every day know just as much about the story you wrote as you do. And when you make a mistake, it's easy for them to charge into your office and chew you out face to Here's an example of how we try to do our job, contributed by Phil Sherman, editor of our newspaper in West Bloomfield. It describes the way we covered the dramatic murder of a local resident and the aftermath.

The young children of the victim testified at the trial of Newspapers like this one are the accused. The presiding judge asked the media not to Sherman wrote: "We saw no gain by putting a little boy and girl through such scrutiny after they had just watched newspapers like the Detroit Free their father die. We reported the story thoroughly without diving into the gruesome, sensationalistic tone the other media took, particularly when they snuck out to the side tion, the world, Michigan and door of the courtroom and tried to snap pictures of the

"At the funeral, which took place in a church," Sherman went on, "several news organizations tried to go inside. We did, too, and the person leading the services asked us to leave, which we did - quietly and peacefully.

That's in contrast to the television camera team that was forcibly thrown out of the church for standing its ground, and the other camera team that caused the widow to break down crying when they chased her out to the hearse after the service."

Sherman concludes: "Through all this, we still managed to cover the story but in a kind, thoughtful manner. "We ALWAYS consider the human angle when approaching a story, and ask ourselves if we would want someone covering our lives the way we plan to cover their lives. If the answer is yes, we go ahead. If the answer is no, we scrap the plan and come back with a more sensitive

Sure, as community journalists we make our share of mistakes, some of them pretty bad. But we try our darnedest to live up to the difficult standard of being both journalist and member of the community we serve.

And when we do our jobs as well and as sensitively as Phil Sherman and his staff, there's nothing that can

Often, ghosts are friends

Richard

I expected far more than a collection of spooky stories in Michigan Haunts and Hauntings, and as usual I was absolutely delighted at the Great Witch

Gundella's new book. Gundella is the witch name and stage name of an entertaining storyteller, playwright and former school teacher known formally as Marion Kuclo, 62, BA and MA, of Garden City. I respect her work because she has a foot in each camp the scientific and the occult. That's rare.

Owen Rachleff, a New York University professor and author of The Occult Conceit, calls belief in the occult "a clear and present danger. . . evident in the widespread proclivity of many immature persons, young and old alike, to govern their lives by the archaic principles of witchcraft and magic. . . . "I'm with the professor — except in Gundella's

Back in the early 1970s, when the Age of Aquarius was the rage, our papers considered adding an astrology column. I was adamantly opposed on both theological and scientific grounds.

But Gundella the Witch - ah, she was different, Before ! met her, I wondered if she were into devil worship. Never! Although she tells me there are such covens in the wealthlest section of Oakland County.

Marlon Kuclo turned out to be the kindest, most charitable person I know. Don't bother asking the jolly grandmother to put a curse on your enemy. In 22 years I've never heard her say "heck" or "darn," let alone the more robust Anglo-Saxon epithets.

I hired her to write a "Witch Watch" column, a rational person's guide to things science doesn't yet understand. Now Marion Kuclo has cancer - bad. No longer does she do Gundella entertainments. She is wrapping it up. For Ron Rose Productions of Southfield, she has recorded Ghastly, Gruesome Ghostly Tales, an audio tape for

Michigan Haunts and Hauntings, hot off the Thunder Bay Press of Lansing ($11.95), is a greatly expanded set of tales. Ive read draft chapters of her forthcoming historical novel about Minnie Quay, which takes place on the shores of Lake Huron, and can assert she has saved her best work

Yes, you'll be entertained by her tales collected in Detroit, Westland, Farmington, Livonia, Southfield, Bloomfield Hills, Novi and several outstate towns such as Oscoda and Jackson. But you'll also learn.

"As a witch," she writes in the preface, "I was taught not to fear ghosts, but to try to accept and understand them. "Do you believe in ghosts? Most people do, even those who don't acknowledge it. If you believe in a separable soul, or you feel that when you die a part of you lives on in some way, then, my friend, you DO believe in ghosts."

Every page of Michigan Haunts and Hauntings has a cracking good tale. You also learn the difference between a ghost, a shade (re-enactment of a previous event), an outof-body experience and a poltergeist — a scientifically identified phenomenon known as psychokinesis.

More often than not, ghosts are our friends.

What do those awards really mean?

awards, does it really mean you're doing a good job? Are you just writing the kinds of stories and shooting the kinds of pictures that impress judges, or are you really serving the community?

newspaper contest

Those may seem

Malott like kind of esoteric questions, but they are the kinds of questions that get a lot of discussion around here at this time of year. This is the time of year the results of various newspaper contests get released, and when we get awards - especially when we do as well as we Hollver. did this year - we put some mental energy into trying to figure out what it all means.

It was Executive Editor Phil Jerome who said, "The kinds of coverage that really serve the community aren't going to win any awards." He was pointing out the need to give good coverage to such things as the local school's honor roll. the activities of the cub scout troop, getting the little league results in the sports section and making sure the engagement announcements get in on time.

He's right, too. All those items are very important to the community, and thus should be to the community newspaper. But they'll never bring in an award.

Another aspect of this was raised by one of the awards we won recently in the Michigan Press Association's Better Newspaper Contest. The judges gave us a third place award in the Spot News Photo category. But they also offered some scathing criticism of the way we had cropped that photo . . . or perhaps I should say the way I cropped that photo.

I'm obviously very proud of those results, because I think a lot of people worked very hard on the stories and photos that earned them. I think they were pretty well deserved.

Now, back to that nasty comment from the judge. The photo entered in the Spot News category was the photo we ran on the front page after the tanker crash on I-96 last November

And the judge had this to say about it. "Editors (that's me) rulned a very good photo when they ran it with the victim cropped out. The victim was covered up in the photo and should not have been cropped out. This is a blatant example of trying to soft peddle hard news. Photo would have won first place if it had run as the photographer had printed it."

What the judge didn't see land what you didn't see because we cropped it out) was that the truck driver's body wasn't completely covered. Sticking out from underneath the sheet was an arm. It wasn't close up, but since the man had been caught in a fire, it was pretty

I made the decision back then to spare Novi readers a graphic look at a dead body, and I happen to think that was the right decision. The story made it clear he'd died in the fire. It made it clear how the accident had happened. There didn't seem to be any point to publishing a photo I found gruesome and was pretty sure the readership would too.

So I'd make the same decision again. And I think that's a pretty good example of where the emphasis should be. We in the community journalism business should put the emphasis on the community.

CELEBRATION

By SHARON CONDRON Staff Writer

Abigail Adams, a pioneer in the women's rights movement in the late 1800s, looked across the ballroom at the Northville Woman's Club luncheon last Friday and smiled.

She smiled because she was proud of the strides these women had taken to hold true to their ideals, and proud that the words she spoke more than a century ago were heard. She sat dressed in an iced pink satin skirt topped with a white lace collared blouse and watched as the 168 active club members, with a host of past presidents and life and associate members, waltzed into the Holiday Inn in Livonia to lunch. The luncheon - which featured Past President Gladys Weiss roleplaying as Adams - was intended to mark the centennial celebration of

ing group for women. In notation of the centennial, club members took a stroll back in time to present "Celebrating Ourselves --Retrospective Vignettes," a skit that brought to life the reactions of some of the club's founding members to the advances women have made since the suffrage and women's rights movements.

The skit featured the comments of prominent women like Lucy Stout Dowd, the founder of the club, and a list of her successors, which were and are still legendary names in the community. Researched and written by Kathy Leo and Diane Rockall, the skit featured the voices of the late Edith Yerkes, Dr. Mary Lapham, and Mary Ambler, Narcia Dubuar, Minnie

Rundell makes stage call for volunteers

By DOROTHY NASH Special Writer

Jacquie Rundell, who is president of the community's little theater group, the Northville Players, has two problems. One is how to attract new members to work on and off stage, and the other is where to find a permanent place to put the stage. "We need volunteers to build the sets - carpenters," she suggested, and also she'd like more volunteers to try out for acting parts.

Then there's the need for a permanent place to operate. The Methodist Church has been providing free space for rehearsals, but the two or three plays a season have had to be staged, for a fee, at various places as convenient — Cooke Middle School, The Recreation Center, Mill Race Village, and the American Legion Post. "I wish someone," Rundell said, "had available space in a vacant building we could use" for little or no

"I can work around anyone's schedule," she said. "I could do plays any time, any date, anywhere. About money, the Northville Players do get income from advertising in their programs and the $1 admission charge. So where does the money go? Mostly, Rundell said, "It's for ordering scripts, and we do have to rent the lights, too," and, of course, pay rent for the location. Many of Northville Players' productions have been melodramas because it was thought to fit the Victorian nature of Northville. Rundell, however, would like to vary the offerings and also put on comedy and plays that are better known. But without more volunteers and a permanent — low-rent or rent-free location, the future for Northville

Players is dimmed. Interested? Call Jacquie Rundell

1992 Fall 🚐 for adult writers.

Are you a writer? Or do you play one on

If so, we are looking for you. We need writers for our 1992 Fall Fiction Contest

Have you written a short story? Or have you got an idea for one buzzing around in your head, but you haven't found the impetus to sit down and write it? Then get busy and send a copy of your original short story to us for our second annual contest.

Your story will be rated by a panel of judges with ties to the literary world, and if you are among the top three, we will publish your story in upcoming issues of The Northville Record and the Novi

Of course, there are a few rules. Have fun, and good luck!

RULES

- Contest is open to all teenagers and adults. Stories must be original and relate in some way to Novi or Northville. For example, the story might be set in the area, relate to local history, or involve a local experience.
- One entry per person. Entries must be short fiction; no essays, articles or poetry.
- Entries should be kept to 1,500 words or less.
- All entries must be typed.

Fiction

Contest

- Entries must be received by Friday, 0ct. 16.
- Attach a cover sheet to your manuscript, which includes your name, age, address, telephone number, and the title of your story, as well as any other pertinent information. Do not put your name on any other page of
- the manuscript. Judges will not know the authors' names. Entries with self-addressed, stamped envelopes will be returned whenev-
- er possible. However, we cannot be responsible for lost manuscripts.

9: Our family is going to Vermont this fall. Any tips on activities that will interest the children?

A: Don't miss the Crowley Cheese Factory in tiny Healdville. VI., which is just outside Ludlow and northwest of Springfield. It is the oldest cheese factory in the United States. Founded in 1882 the factory has workers who still make cheese by hand - same as in the 19th century. There is a display of tools used in early factories and in home cheese making

Visitors can stand in the factory — where the action is and sample the product. Admis sion is free Monday through Friday, but the cheese is usually done each day by 1 p.m. For further information contact the factory at (802) 259-2340. Infor mation is also available from your local travel agent.

9: Can you recommend a Christmas cruise that offers top-quality entertainment?

A: Victor Borge, famed planist and humorous, is scheduled to entertain passengers aboard two upcoming Panama Canal cruises on the Seabourn Pride, which is on the Seabourn Cruise Line. Borge will perform aboard the ship's 18-day Christmas cruise Angeles through the Panama Canal to Barbados in the British West Indies. His shipboard act is as funny as the sold-out performances in

New York's Carnegie Hall, the sponsors say. Borge mimics pretentious classical virtuoso performers and creates sidesplitting jokes with phonetic sounds. Borge is also set to appear on the ultra-luxury ship's 12-day cruise [Jan. 6-18] from Barbados

THURSDAY October 8,

Author series returns to Schoolcraft

Back by popular demand, the "Author-Author" program series will return this fall with a slate of stimulating programs at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The programs are open to the public, and interested writers and aspiring writers may register for one program or the entire series of five. Price is $78 for the series or $20 per program, with registration information available by calling Schoolcraft College at 462-4448.

Led by successfully published authors, students will have an opportunity to learn how each author works in his area of expertise as well as acquire writing techniques and publishing tips. For beginning as well as advanced writers, the series includes authors Jim Burnstein on Screen Writing (Oct. 13); Lowell Cauffiel on True Crime (Oct. 20); Margo LaGatutta on Poetry (Oct. 27): Elaine Watson on Historical Novels (Nov. 3); and Illustrated Books for Children with Valerie Scho Carey (Nov. 10). The classes meet on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Burnstein, a U of M graduate with bachelor's and master's degrees in English literature, has written numerous made-for-television movies. He works with 20th Century Fox. Touchstone Pictures and several other Hollywood production follow from the idea stage, to the outline, to the first draft, to the final script and finally to market.

Award-winning author Lowell Caufflel will head the workshop on True Crime. A 21-year veteran jourbooks, Caufflel has held writing positions with Detroit Monthly magazine

Nature should be explored

When our parents took us out on "nature walks" to point out the burst of wildflower growth, the ugliest bugs, the brighest stars, there wasn't this sense of urgency of, "Look at this now - it may not be here to show your own children." But to take a child out on such a walk today, or even to do some wandering with a friend to take a closer look, maybe that very walk is the sort of thing it takes for us and our children to learn how to make sure those birds and flowers are there for the next generation.

In order to respect something, you have to understand it. And the first step in understanding is going out and taking a good, close look. We did this yesterday. My two small children, the puppy and I

in years for Northville High. The Mustangs have a chance to capture the WLAA's Western Division crown - for the first time ever. Northville earned that shot Saturday with a 19-14 upset victory over Livonia Franklin on the road.

For the second week in a row, Danny Walsh led the way. The senior quarterback threw for a touchdown, returned a kickoff 90 yards for another score, and ran for a third

"He's becoming one of the bigger threats as a quarterback," said coach Darrel Schumacher. "He puts a lot of pressure on the defense." Walsh and and company will have to play as well or better Friday to beat the Warriors. Western is atop the division at 3-0, tied with Northville. Walled Lake is 5-0 on the season. "We are enjoying the moment." Schumacher said. But the moment doesn't last long when you look ahead (to Western).'

The coach described Northville's win Saturday as an upset. Franklin boasted a much larger and physical team than the Mustangs. Statistically, the size missimat showed. Northville managed just 142 yards of total offense, compared to Franklin's 266. "Special teams won the game," Schumacher said. "We had little of fense, but we were able to get point off we had better speed. I think it wore them down as the game went along and helped us." Livonia miscues also played a key

Northville was forced to punt after three downs on its first possession of the game. The Mustangs got the ball right back, on the Franklin 4-yard line, on a fumble by the Patriots. On second down of the short drive, Walsh hit running back Kevin Shaw for a four-yard TD pass at the 8:12 mark. The locals led 6-0 after an extra-point attempt failed. Livonia appeared it would tie the game near the end of the first quarter. The home took the ball after Northville's score and promptly marched down to the Mustang 14-yard line. The 14-play drive stalled right there, though, and Livonia tried a 31-yard field goal and missed. The quarter en-

The teams traded possessions in the second.

With more than half the quarter gone, Franklin took over on its own 36-yard-line. Five plays later, Eric Holmes scored on a 10-yard run and gave Livonia a 7-6 halftime lead. Walsh worked a little of his magic to start the third quarter. The senior took a good Franklin kick at his own 10-yard line and ran straight up the middle of the field. Walsh then broke a couple of weak tackle attempts and was off to the races for 90 yards and a touchdown. "It was just what the doctor or-dered," Schumacher said.

Northville has had lots of luck on returns against Franklin in the last few years. Former Mustang Bill Kelley and Walsh have both had returns for TDs in the last two years against

A two-point try failed and Northville led 12-7 just seconds into the fi-nal half. But that lead didn't last long. The Patriots put together a nineplay scoring drive on the ensuing kickoff. Franklin quarterback David Little connected with Josh Reynolds on a 38-yard pass for the TD at the 7:48 mark of the third.

Schumacher said the fact that his team was unable to stop Livonia to that point caused him great concern. But, he added, the Mustangs proved to be equal to the challenge. "For some reason," Schumacher said, "the kids responded

Compact DiVittorio offers big possibilites

By James McAlexander Copley News Service

Although compact enough to fit on a standard city lot, the Mediterranean-style, two-story DiVittorio is by no means a small home. It is designed for construction on a site that slopes from front to back and left to right, creating additional storage in a partial basement.

More people are working at home these days, and the placement of the den near the entry makes this room ideal for a home office. An additional door from the porch could also be added to senarate home and business activities.

The kitchen has a huge nookalmost a mini-family room. If the family has but one computer, the extra space here might well be the most central location, allowing equal access for homework, household accounts and games.

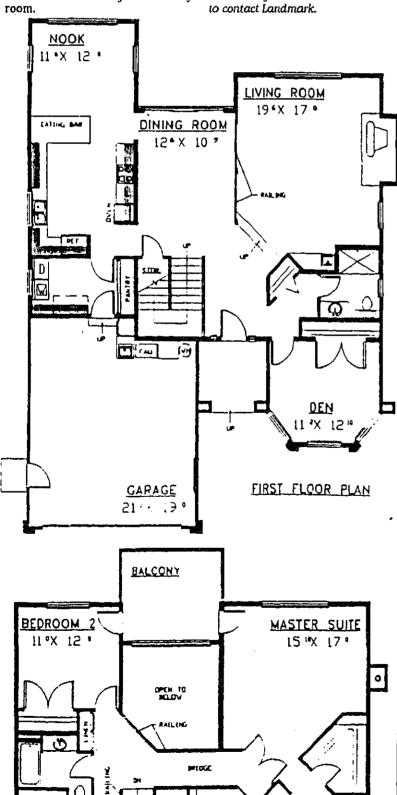

Other features of the kitchen include a snack counter, built-in range and double ovens. A pantry is located in the adjacent utility

A railing separates the formal dining room from a sunken living room with a wet bar and woodburning stove. Filling the woodbox is easy, thanks to an exterior door that opens directly into it.

The entry foyer and dining room are open to the second floor, where a landing bridges and overlooks both areas. Although all three sleeping rooms are on the upper level, the open area between the master suite and the other two bedrooms provides some sound separation.

The uniquely shaped master bath features a walk-in closet, compartmentalized totlet, oversize tub and separate shower.

Large windows and two skylights allow plenty of sunshine into the Milford Township home of Jim and Rose Gorney.

The Gorney's contemporary two-story brick home, perched atop an 11-acre parcel, measures 5,500 square feet.

ave you ever wished your home were larger?

Throughout their 31 years of marriage, Jim and Rose Gorney have lived in several homes. They recalled that their first house was just 900 square feet in size. The couple's current home, located in Milford Township, measures 5,500 square feet. What a remarkable contrast, and how nice to have so much room to stretchi

"When we designed the house, we gave it a lot of thought because we knew we would never build a house this big again," Jim said.

The very comfortable twostory brick home was constructed by builder Robert Rock of Milford in 1987. Perched atop a beautiful 11acre country parcel on a private road, this distinguished contemporary home features three bedrooms, four baths. large kitchen, formal dining room, living room, sunroom, sewing room, office and a billiards room.

It also contains an attached two and one-half car garage, a separate 16-by-32 foot workshop, 20-by-25 foot gym, and a 10-by-25 foot pantry. "We designed the home ourselves," Jim explained, "We told the builder this is what we wanted. We are very happy with it."

With thoughtful and imaginative planning, the Gorneys have designed an elegant residence inside and out. For example, the exterior is highlighted with expert landscaping. Jim hired Chura & Sons of Wixom to design the wellmanicured front yard. Maple trees and flowering shrubs were planted to frame the entrance and driveway, and they do, indeed, nicely complement the welcoming mood of the house. Jim, director of business development for an engineerin and science firm, finds time to maintain the yard.

To the rear of the house, park benches are conveniently placed for guests to sit and admire the scenery, perhaps to watch the birds at their feeders. On the lower level of the garden, a table with chairs is placed on a cement patio, offering sunspace and retreat. On the upper level, there is a wolmanized deck stretching 65 feet across the length of the rear of the house. This store bulbs and tender tubers for the winter?

A. Tender tubers and bulbs should be dug up and stored for the winter before the frost hits in your area. Tuberous begonias, dahlias and cannas should be dug after the frost has blackened the leaves.

Be very careful when lifting these beauties to avoid bruising, and allow them to dry well before storage. Most tubers take about two weeks to cure. Store at 40 F to 50 F in sand and check occasionally during winter to make sure they stay Unfortunately, once out of the soil most tubers and bulbs look pretty much alike, making identification of variety and color difficult.

Here's what I do to solve the dilemma. If you label your plants during the summer, it's easy to transfer the name or color of the variety directly onto the tuber using a felt-tip pen. Come spring, it's a cinch to plant the right dahlia in the right spot!

9. I would like to divide my peonies, but I don't know the proper time. Can they be divided at any time?

GARDENING

9. What is the best way to Can they be divided at any season of the year?

A. Peonies can be divided in the early fall. Be careful when digging around and under the plant so you don't break off the roots. Wash off any soil that clings to the clumps and strip off all leaves.

With a sharp, sterile knife, cut the "tubers" into sections containing three to five "eyes." Be sure each section has a tap root. When the cuts are made, check for signs of disease.

As a precaution, dust the tubers with Zineb, which can be bought in any garden shop. The tuber should then be replanted immediately in a sunny location, but never deeper than 11/2 to 2 1/2 inches in the ground.

g. I have a very rare species of a deep purple magnolia tree. Many of my neighbors are amazed at this particular type.

When its blossoms sprout in and around April or so, depending on the weather conditions, its flowering buds open to a deep purple color. These petals are similar to the shape of a tulip on all the branches of the tree. Continued on 3

If you think your chance of getting breast cancer is one in a million, the fact is,

it's one in nine.

Over their lifetimes, one out of every nine women will be faced with breast cancer. That's one out of nine friends. One out of nine sisters, mothers, daughters. It's a statistic you can't afford to ignore And mammography is a weapon you can't afford to be without. A mammogram can detect breast cancer in its earliest stages, when it's most curable. It's not enough to simply know the statistics. You have to fight back. Get a mammogram.

Mammography. Your most powerful weapon.

Getting the Novi Expo off the ground

It took efforts by many to get center off to a start

By DIANE DEMPSEY

The Novi Expo Center is up and running, but it has taken a lot of combined effort from a number of people to get it ready for public shows and trade shows, according to Blair Bowman, president of the Novi Expo Cen-

"There was no key person that made the entire thing happen by any means," Blair Bowman said.

An Expo Center ad hoc committee was formed to brainstorm the ideas for the center.

The committee was made up of the Adell Brothers Children's Trust, which owns the old Mohawk Liquor building that the center is now located in; local business proprietors; the Novi Chamber of Commerce; the Veterans Alliance of Novi; hotel proprietors; Novi officials and Thompson-Brown Realtors.

Although many people gave their support and attended the committee meetings regularly, there were some people who had an integral part in getting the Expo Center off the ground.

Blair Bowman was one of these people and has an ongoing role in the Expo Center.

As president of the center he is responsible for coordinating and scheduling events. He also handles any problems that may come up.

Blair Bowman became involved while being the commercial industrial manager in Novi for Thompson-Brown Realtors. He became president of the center when a private company was formed to operate the center. Blair Bowman continues his position at Thompson-Brown Realtors.

He began his career at Thompson-Brown when he was 18 years old. He earned a finance degree from Michigan State University and has a law degree from University of Detroit.

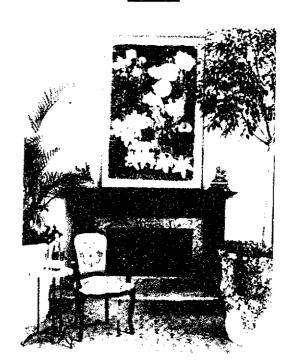

Bill Bowman, Sr., was also one of the idea people behind the Expo Center.

Bill Bowman is president and owner of Thompson-Brown Realtors and the father of Blair Bowman.

Blair Bowman said, "He was one of the key initial founding members of the thought process of transisting this into something bigger and better.

The Novi Expo Center, operating on temporary permits while final approval was pending, hosted a trade show for Continued on 6 the National Landscape Association earlier this year.

Businesses to benefit from spinoff

Services will be needed by those at Expo shows

By DIANE DEMPSEY

The Novi Expo Center will stimulate local business, according to the president of the Expo Center and the executive director of the Novi Chamber of Commerce.

Blair Bowman, president of the Novi Expo Center, Inc. said vendors, employees and exhibitors will come into Novi for days or weeks and stay in the hotels and partonize the restaurants and shopping areas.

"We have heard on many occasions people coming to shows say, Yes, I dropped off my wife or my husband's at the mall picking up some things," Bowman said.

He said a food trade show in April drew many people to such restaurants as Mr. B's Farm and Diamond Jim Brady's.

Bowman contended that as the center becomes more and more successful, there will be more business opportunities than can be imagined

"What I think is that it will solidify the business base that is already here," he said. "It is no secret that the economy is not the greatest. There is a tremendous concentration of various business entities in this area and this will provide another spark plug in that overall program to assist the current business base."

He said the building is more beneficial to Novi as an exhibition center than as an industrial facility because it will serve as a spur to that local business, which is much needed.

Connie Mallett, executive director of the Novi Chamber of Commerce, said exhibitors will have a need for printing, secretarial services or computer services, depending on the type of trade show. She said Novi will be the logical place for exhibitors to get these services because it is convenient to their exhibits.
