City will keep trail network rights of way

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

Here's the scorecard on Novi's controversial nature trail system to date.

The City Council in August deleted the pathways from subdivision common lands, leaving them only on city property.

But the Planning Commission kept the entire 33-mile design intact in Novi's master plan in October.

"I think the players are quite obviously in their position." Mayor Kathleen McLallen summed up, adding that, "I would never go forward with it (the plan) without the consensus of the individual community. # Cops say mall theft is case of car fraud

By CRISTINA FERRIER Staff Writer

A man who reported his Mercedes stolen from Twelve Oaks Mall back in 1991 is facing felony charges in connection to what police now say was an insurance fraud.

Anthony Zambrowski of White Lake Township collected $10,337 from AAA insurance in May of 1991 after his wife reported that their 1983 Mercedes 190E was stolen from the parking lot of Twelve Oaks Mall

But over two years later, last September, it all fell apart when police found the stripped parts of Zambrowski's Mercedes hidden at his brother's Columbiaville, Mich., farm.

The investigation began after an anonymous caller tipped off the insurance company.

"An anonymous caller called AAA saying the guy had done an insurance fraud on that car and that it was up in Columbiaville," said Novi Police Detective Ron Roy. "A detective from Genessee County Auto Theft did some research and found parts of this Mercedes that was supposed to have been stolen at Twelve Oaks Mall."

Zambrowski's brother told police een the car narts t he ai there, never suspecting that they were stolen. Zambrowski, who police say confessed to the false insur-

McLallen, council members clash Celebration is a surprise to some

By JAN JEFFRES Staff Writer

Novi's newly reconstituted City Council got off on the wrong foot Monday, as just sworn-in Mayor Kathleen McLallen found her ideas for running the meeting challenged and took the opportunity to exercise her wooden gavel for the first time.

Council Members Tim Pope and Robert Schmid questioned McLallen's ruling that the first of three audience participations should be restricted to 20 minutes.

Pope, a supporter of unsuccessful mayoral candidate and former city council member

Nancy Cassis, said Tuesday that changes in council policy should be exercised by the council, not unilaterally by the mayor.

"I wanted to see if the mayor was willing to work with the council on this rather than have a clash. I would do the same thing if Nancy Cassis was mayor or Matthew Quinn. It's not a matter of who's mayor," he added.

"I would call it a rough start. I was disappointed with that. A new mayor can come in and decide they're going to work with council or fight with council. Last night was disappointing."

As part of her campaign platform, McLallen said she aims to shorten and make more efficient the lengthy city council meetings:

Audience participation sessions before council business commences have sometimes lasted as long as two hours.

Pope contends that the 20-minute cut-off violates the rules of procedure adopted by the city council in March 1992 and requested a legal opinion from City Attorney David Fried to clarify the issue.

He also asked Fried to investigate if the Novi City Charter gives the mayor the power to override council adopted regulations.

"It's a technical question I think will help guide and reduce any confusion in the future," he said.

Four City Council members are wondering if Novi's 25th anniversary bash, scheduled for early next year, is going to be a surprise party.

At least it came as a complete surprise to Council Members Carol Mason, Robert Schmid, Joseph Toth and Tim Pope that a committee planning the gala - which celebrates the community's incorporation as a city — is up and running and has already met twice.

"I'd be embarrassed if I was walking down the street and somebody said 'Are you going to the 25th birthday party?' and I said, 'I didn't even know it was going on,"" Schmid said.

The council protest arose Monday, as members inadvertently found out about the committee when newly reappointed Mayor Pro

This home in the Chase Farms subdivision, which was recently purchased by a family moving here from Chicago, suffered minor damage shortly before 11 p.m. Friday night when a propane heater used to hasten the drying of drywall material apparently tipped over and started a small blaze in the front hallway. Novi Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan said that, although the cause is undetermined. It was likely caused by the heater tipping over onto its side. The fire, which was in the front hallway, burned through the floor and damaged some floor joists and a stairway. Lenaghan said he spoke with the new owner of the home, who told him she purchased the home because the liked the community. "I assured her she'd made a good choice," Lenachan said. Damage was estimated at $1,500. He said the contractors, Superb Builders, will likely do the repairs.

The commission approved a revised site plan for the site condominium development at its Nov. 3 meeting. The new plan deletes the city's "Rhythms" trail network segment through Walden Woods and a private path which connected the complex to the nearby Simmons Orchard subdivision.

The trail network has been the subject of scrutiny in recent weeks following the city council's Aug. 16 action. On a 4-3 vote, the council decided to drop segments of the proposed 33-mile pathway which lie on privately-owned land. Council members also voted to return the easements obtained for the trails to pass through those lands.

The commission, however, at an Oct. 27 public hearing voted 5-4 to retain the complete proposal in the Commissioner Robert Taub said. city's master plan for land use. area there is now cleared of vegetation, developer Ray Cousineau told the commission, and people are able to get on to it.

That's creating a real problem, one property owner whose home is right next to the trail told the commission. The resident asked the commission to delete the path from the Walden Woods plan, saying that kids use the area now, creating a serious disturbance and damaging his property.

The path was a substitute for a road connection between Walden Woods and Simmons Orchard, the plan for which city officials did not approve. In its stead, the path was called for as a link between the two

The issue is a philosophical one: many on the commission strongly support vehicle and pedestrian links between subdivisions to create a feeling of "neighborhood."

Most commissioners, however, agreed that the proposed path was too close to homeowners' properties. Chairperson Richard Clark called it "a case of a gross invasion of privacy." "This is a blatant disturbance,"

Commissioner Glen Bonaventur supported the deletion. These people have a nice neighborhood and they deserve an exclu-

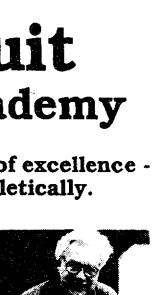

While not seeming to disagree on the private pathway, commissioners did oppose each other on the question of dropping the NRDP trail segment. Discussion of the issue ranged across the concerns both sides voiced at the Oct. 27 hearing.

Those who favored keeping the segment in the Walden Woods I plan lost out, however, in the 6-3 vote to approve the changes in the revised preliminary site plan.

As this was a revised site plan, the commission's approval is final; the matter does not need to move on to the council. Final site plan approval for Walden Woods will come from city planning consultants. Phase II of the development will soon come before the commission for preliminary site

When the class gets a new teacher, some kids just have to test the limits. The "bad boys" of the classroom will misbehave just to see what they can get away with and to determine how far they can go before "teach" will crack down.

As far ners are finding that there may indeed be as we know, no other community has gone even that far, far enough to study the local wildlife populations, identify the species that live in the area and the identify the habitats where they live.

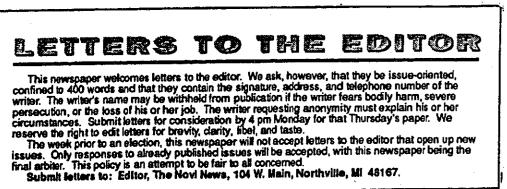

So, Novi Planning Commissioners, who ordered up the study conducted by city consultants Linda Lemke and Kevin Clark, therefore deserve applause for their efforts.

never make the history books. Last spring I wrote about the 1927 school explosion in Bath, a village 10 miles north of Lansing. Andrew Kehoe, a school board trustee, dynamited the school and his own farm buildings, killing 45 people, including himself, the superintendent and three dozen children. I noted how several history books either failed to mention the enormous disaster or kissed it off in half a sentence.

Next day Howard Walker called and left a message. The 93-year-old retiree had visited the site, and would I like to see his 1927 snapshots? Yes, indeed. And was I interested in his view of the train wreck near Plymouth that was the worst in Michigan history? Yes, again. Walker lives in Plymouth. During that fateful week in 1927 - the same week Charles Lindbergh flew solo across the Atlantic - he had been teaching in Lake Odessa, not far west of Bath, and drove to the disaster site. He snapped pictures of the bombed consolidated school and the tiny graves decorated with flowers. The photos, still crystal clear, make you choke up. Perhaps memories of the Bath explosion are ______ said.

Faxon skewers guv's reform plan Library Notes

By MICHELLE HARRISON Staff Writer

State Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, had the sparse audience at Monday's Northville Board of Education meeting in stitches as he humorously shared his opinions on school reform.

Faxon, whose district includes Novi, used analogies in his lively, 45-minute address, which was often and pay for it, Faxon added, critical of Gov. John Engler.

There are so many things wrong with what has happened in the last few months, I can't find anything good about Lansing," Faxon said.

Faxon compared the latest movement in school reform - the elimination of property taxes to fund public education — to an approaching flood that moves a mile every day.

They (legislators) sit around and enjoy their coffee and tea," he said. "No one believes the flood is coming. Anyone who wants to stick their head in the ground and think property tax has not been eliminated has to realize it has. It is coming and the flood is coming."

There are two things wrong with the reform measure proposed by the governor, according to Faxon. The first is that the Legislature has failed to come up with a way to replace the approximately $6.5 billion formerly generated by property taxes. The other is the governor's per-pupil foundation grant idea.

What the governor has proposed is the most serious assault on the system that has ever occurred in the history of public government," Faxon said. "The foundation grant is an insult to the schools in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. It's less than what any school district in the metropolitan area is spending."

The senator also chastised the governor for his stance on cracking down on violence in schools. In his plan, the governor proposed that discipline be improved by adopting a "zero tolerance for violence." The board chuckled when Faxon said he's never heard a school administrator comment "gee, we've always allowed guns in the school before."

The public idea that it's a jungle out there is absurd," Faxon said. "We do have problems. I'm not standing up here and saying the system is all roses, but what has happened in Lansing is a tragedy and a travesty."

Calling the latest events occurring in the reform movement a nightmare, Faxon faulted the governor for not putting thought into his plan which he thinks is, in essence, a case of "re-creating the wheel."

*He did it not by thinking about it, ment and community services for all people in a community."

Municipal governments operate one police department and one fire department. Schools should be operated the same way, Faxon said. "I'm not saying we can't have private schools," he said. "But you have to pay for it." If you want added police protection then you hire a private detective

"That's the American way."

The state of the school finance reform debate is discouraging businesses around the country which are putting Michigan on hold, Faxon

"The future of the schools is in such marginal shape, I don't blame them. I'd be insecure, too."

A proponent of the current system, Faxon said nothing is wrong with how things are working now.

"The current way is more fair," he said. "Every district has the opportunity to raise its own millage."

ANN ARBOR

With the governor's plan, instead of moving the bottom of poorer school districts up, the richer school districts will be brought down, according to Faxon

Robert McMahon, board president, praised Faxon for his efforts in Lansing.

"It's good to have a legislator up there that speaks to the positive aspects of education," he said. "The public does not always know our successes."

not by studying about it . . . but by executive decree by orders of his lordship, the governor of the state," Faxon said sarcastically. He went on to state that the governor's plan is geared toward the days of little, one-room, red schoolhouses. "His design for the future is not based on infusing more into the system," Faxon said. "It's the opposite -exhuming and leaving the system decrepit and exhausted . . . The governor's concept of charter public schools also garnered critical remarks from Faxon.

Senator's petition would give public vote

Proudly admitting he is behind a petition drive to throw a wrench in Gov. John Engler's property tax elimination plan, state Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, isn't making any new friends among his Republican counterparts.

The proposed initiative referendum is designed to provide a "safety net" for the next year, said Faxon, whose district includes Novi. Headed by the Citizens Alliance for Responsible Education (CARE), based in Farmington Hills, the petitions are being collected in order to allow voters to decide if property taxes should be used to pay for public education.

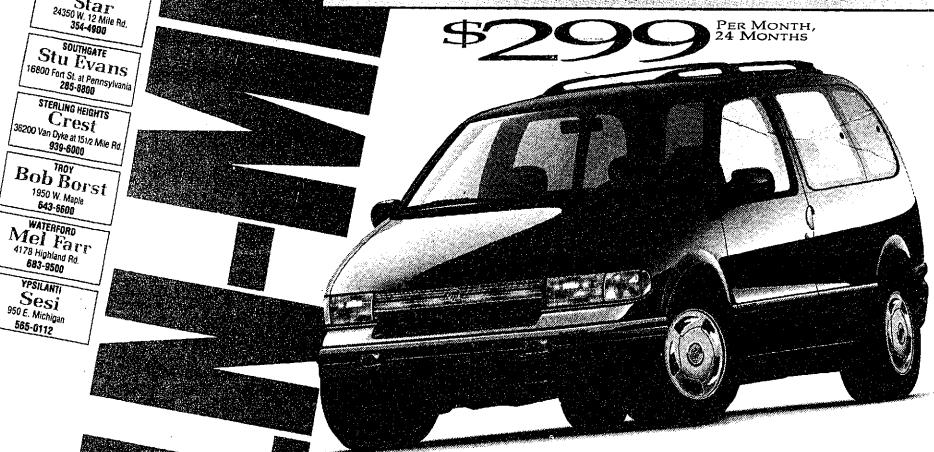

"As of Jan. 1, 1994, the deal is done," he said, referring to Senate Bill 1 (SB 1). "Property tax is gone and all you can say is boo-hoo."

SB I was passed in July when lawmakers pulled over $6 billion from public schools and cut property taxes by nearly 60 percent.

But if 129,000 valid signatures are collected, the Legislature will have nine months to look at school reform options before a November ballot question takes place.

"We will then at least have the time to look and examine the implications of all these proposals," the senator said. "I feel we need breathing space. I don't like the idea of being sent off in a röcket ship and not knowing when the rocket ship will be back."

Faxon, who is on the appropriations committee and the K-12 funding committee, left a box of petitions with the Northville Board of Education Monday night. Residents interested in learning more about the petition drive should contact CARE, 29271 Glencastle Ct., Farmington Hills, Mich. 48336, or Northville Public Schools, 344-3400.

Novi's most historic road, Grand River, is one that passes through town on its meandering way west to Lansing and on to Muskegon, or east into Detroit.

The road, which dates back to 1832, was once the only route from Detroit to Lansing. Private companies covered the road with wave and a shout across the room wooden planks, for which they were allowed to charge the stagecoaches a penny per mile.

But the road to Lansing was a long one. Even with the planks in place, it was a full day and night's journey to travel from Detroit to Lansing. Weary travellers needed places to stop along the way at local inns where they could find a fantastic." bite to eat and, perhaps, a place to sleep.

And so the tradition of eating on Grand River began. Even today -with the average drive from Detroit hours and bypassing Grand River best. altogether - the road is still dotted with dining experiences, from casual to fine.

Lillie Howard's been making those famous ribs for 10 years, by the way. She's also known for her Buffalo Wings, which have a secret ingredient in the dip.

"It's hot but it's not overpowering," Ron said. "She won't tell the secret. I know it, but I won't tell you. I'm sworn to secrecy."

When told about the ringing endorsements out in the bar, Lillie in the kitchen just smiled.

"It's very nice to have customers like that," she said.

Down the road at the Rosewood, it was a little quieter than O'Shea's.

"It's always like this," said wait-ress Wendy Smela. "One minute it's slow, the next minute it's busv."

The Rosewood attracts a big breakfast crowd, and gets a lot of business from truckers heading in from I-96. The most popular dish is the Working Man's Breakfast, which has three eggs, choice of meat, potatoes and juice.

"This is the oldest place in Novi," owner Dave Zdravkovski said. "It used to be a train stop, or something. I don't know." In the 1950s, when Novi was a rural farming area, the Rosewood was a popular truck stop.

Zdravkovski, who each year sponsors several local sports teams, has only taken one vacation in the 19 years he's owned the Rosewood. And he says he doesn't mind.

At the intersection of Grand River and Novi Road, a 1950sstyle diner glows in the dark and fills the air around it with the fragrant smell of burgers and fries.

Inside Bates, behind the shiny steel counter, Paula Miller and Linda and Kelly Vatter were serving up double cheeseburgers and chili fries Friday night.

"We get all different kinds of people," Miller said. "Really different. Some obnoxious, some scary, some very nice,"

It's later, when the bars close, that the odd crowd tends to show up.

Program gives moms time with their kids

By DOROTHY NASH Special Writer

Moms and their kids get together for a couple of hours once a month because of Children's Outings, a program that Alyce Cummings puts together. The moms, incidentally, all belong to Northville Newcomers, and the kids range in age from infants to 8 years.

It's a one-year term for Cum-mings from September to June, and her outings so far have been ... well, the first one was rained out, but it was supposed to have been Plymouth Orchards and the cider mill.

In October there were two. First there was an hour (10:30-11:30 a.m.) at the Gymboree in Plymouth. Ten moms and kids came," she said, at $2 per child.

Second there was an outing at Heritage Park in Farmington Hills. Moms met at the playground there at 10:30 a.m., and some, Cummings said, brought a brown-bag lunch to eat in the picnic area. "Five moms and eight kids went to that."

For November Cummings invited moms to get together "for lots of fun" at Kid Kingdom, the indoor play park in Canton. Scheduling it at 12:30 p.m. on a half-day for Northville school grades K-5, Cummings hoped for a large turnout. Admission price was set at $3.95 per child. Coming up but not yet scheduled, Cummings said, will be a movie at the Marquis Theater during Christmas holidays. Children will have to be 4 years old.

And sometime after that there'll be Bumper Pool at the Novi Bowl. That'll be on a no-school day, and there'll be a lunch, too - probably a hot dog and pizza.

"It's a fun a job," Cummings said. She checks out places ahead of time, announces them in the monthly Northville Newcomers newsletter, and waits for moms to call her to sign up.

If you are a mom who would like to go on a Children's Outing, but you don't belong to Northville Newcomers, give her a call at 348-1538, and she'll tell you how to get in.

Navy Petty Officer First Class JAMES M. WILLACKER, a 1983 graduate of Walled Lake Western High School, is aboard the aircraft carrier USS America, homeported in Norfolk, Va., which recently passed through the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean Sea to take station off the coast of Somalia.

The arrival of Willacker's ship permitted the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln to return to Alameda, Calif., ending its scheduled sixmonth deployment on time. Navy leaders are committed to a six-month cap on deployments to help limit time away from home for sailors. Since arriving in the Mediterranean Sea in late August, the USS America battle group has operated in support of U.S. And NATO taskings off the Balkan coast. Before the transit to Somalia, Willacker's ship visited Trieste. Italy, where the crew and the embarked airwing assisted in refurbishing a refugee camp of 175 people in the nearby country of

Kelly Kearney will never forget Thursday night. The sophomore forward led Novi High to its first Kensington Valley Conference championship in more than a decade with a masterful 26-point performance in the Wildcats 50-47 victory over Milford. Kearney scored nine in the fourth quarter, all from the free throw line, to help preserve the win. "It's unbelieveable," she said after the game, unable to stop tears and laughter from pouring out. "We've worked so hard for this. "It finally paid off."

Novi led by as many as 17 points in the second half but saw the score tighten in the waning moments. Ahead 48-44, Kearney stuck it to the Redskins by dropping a pair of free throws with 24 seconds left. Milford's Allison Watkins sank a three-pointer with 16 seconds left to make it 50-47. Moments later, Cindy Heinonen missed tying the game by inches with another bomb. "I expected to win," Novi coach

John Hoffman said. "But I couldn't believe we did it." The Wildcats did do it and under the most unlikely of circumstances. Heading into the final weeks of the KVC race, Novi stood at 6-4 with league-leader South Lyon at 7-2. The Wildcats beat Brighton and then Milford in the season finale to finish 8-4. "We knew we had to win and we won," said Kearney.

The Lions, meanwhile, lost their final three games to finish in second place at 7-5. Howell, which

REAL ESTATE Preparation the key to selling a home

By James M. Woodard Copley News Service

Home sales are sluggish in many areas of the country. It requires special effort and creativity to successfully sell a home at a fair price within a reasonably short time period.

It's important to properly prepare a home to be shown to prospective buyers, according to leading Realtors.

"Today's buyers respond to a home that's in tip-top condition," said Jim Garfield, owner of Cal-West/Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate. "An intensive cleanup and improvement project should be completed before the property is introduced to the market. First impressions are important."

Garfield emphasized the importance of "curb appeal." Exterior paint, if needed, should be a priority. And enhancing the front landscaping with bright and colorful flowers is a key improvement element.

"I've noticed when driving clients around in my car that the condition and appeal of a house as we approach it has a big impact on their overall response to it," he said.

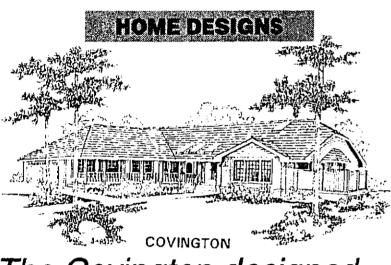

Susan Herrick, owner of Herrick & Co. Realtors, also emphasized the importance of curb appeal. "It costs very little to weed and spruce up the landscaping, repair torn screens and generally give a home a face-lift job. But it has a big effect on prospective buyers."

Herrick also stressed the importance of keeping the interior neat and clean.

"Get rid of the clutter. And place some real pretty potted plants at strategic points within the house. It brightens the interior and makes it look homey."

She suggested touring several open houses-particularly model homes at new residential develop-

The Covington designed as a natural light house

By Amy Kemnic STAFF WRITER

Hiring household cleaning help is becoming increasingly commonplace these days, with more and more busy, two-income familles looking for ways to save time and energy.

According to Paul Wiljanen, vice presi-dent of marketing for the United States division of Molly Maid, an international cleaning sevice, the average customer repre-sents a typical American family with two working parents, a couple of kids in school or daycare, and a combined annual income between $50,000 and $75,000.

As more and more families turn to outside help for keeping their homes clean, there are three important questions they should ask to protect themselves from future liability, Wiljanen said.

The first question to ask a potential home service worker is whether he or she has adequate liability insurance in case something in the house is damaged or the worker is injured on the job.

The person may say they are insured, but ask for written proof that you are "really protected," Wiljanen said. "Also, most people assume their homeowner's insurance will cover any problem, but unfortunately that's just not true. They should check with their (insurance) agent."

Rich in windows and skylights, the Covington is designed to allow as much natural light as possible in every room of the house. Even the covered porch has three skylights and the garage, too, has three large windows.

Sunniest of all are the formal rooms at the back-the vaulted dining room and living room. Wide multi-paned windows span most of the rear-facing wall, allowing full appreciation of a vista of landscaped yard.

And six skylights provide additional illumination.

The entryway also has a lofty vaulted ceiling, brightened by two skylights. A small bathroom is just inside the front door, close to the pass-through utility room. Muddy shoes can be removed while sitting on the bench in the garage, and stored underneath the bench to dry.

garage include: built-in shelves, a workbench and storage cabinets.

Windows rim the left wall of a combination family room/kitchen, expanded by a bayed eating nook. The kitchen work area is designed to minimize steps, with the sink, cook top and refrigerator placed close together.

Face framing on the walk-in pantry allows direct access to some of the shelves; a built-in grill provides an alternative cooking option. Features in the utility room include a deep sink, a fold-down ironing board and counters that could house a sewing machine or be used for folding clothes.

The library, to the immediate right of the front door, can also be used as a home office or as a private sitting room for the master suite.

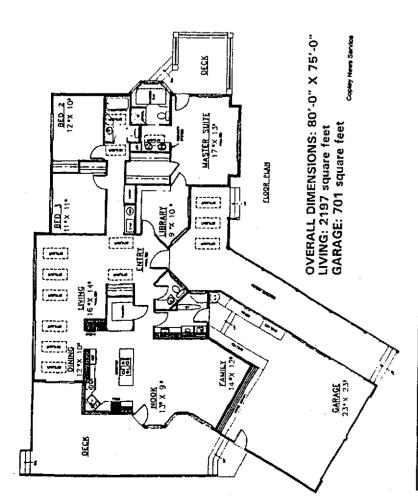

Luxury amenities in the master bathroom include an oversize shower, a garden tub with space for tropical plants in the tub alcove and skylit twin basins in the vanity outside the bathroom.

The sleeping area is vaulted and has a security system, a large walk-in closet and a private deck, enclosed by a wall.

The other two bedrooms share a third bathroom, which is also brightened by a skylight.

The second question to ask is whether Social Security and taxes are withheld and worker compensation insurance provided for the domestic help.

"Unless this is done properly, (the home-owner) might be personally liable for back taxes and any work-related injuries incurred by the help," Wiljanen said.

The third important question is whether proper bonding insurance is provided, in the event that something turns up missing from the home.

"There are two types of bonding insurance," Wiljanen explained. "One protects the company, and the other protects you. A company may say they are bonded, but ask which type they have and get written proof for your protection.

These exotic beauties are of overwatering. They indicate amazingly easy to care for; in fact, orchids are my favorite plant.

There are plenty of orchids that will flourish and bloom well in the environment found in the average household. Of course, the key to success is twofold: First, learn some of the plants' basic needs and characteristics, then select those varieties that lend themselves best to indoor culture.

CULTURE TIPS

Unfortunately, the downfall of most first-time orchid growers is the tendency to overwater! Many orchids, for example, epidendrums, cattleya and oncidiums, have swollen stems known as pseudobulbs that can store water. So it's important that plants of this type dry out between waterings.

Other types of orchids that lack pseudobulbs - paphiopedilums, vandas and phalaenopsis-need a continual supply of moisture, but even these varieties must be grown in a coarse, freely draining medium that allows some air to reach the roots.

Keep in mind wrinkled leaves, which beginners sometimes interpret as a sign of wilting, are usually the result that the plant's root system has collapsed and can no longer take up water. Generally, you'll need to water your orchid only two times a week in summer and once a week in winter. When you do water, allow it to run through the medium for a few seconds to wet it thoroughly, then set the pot aside to drain. This is the proper way to water all plants. A good rule of thumb for watering is when in doubt, wait a day or two.

LIGHT AND SOIL

Inadequate light is the next most frequent reason an orchid fails to thrive. Although some types of orchids require more light than others, none will bloom in a dark corner. Most orchids need direct filtered light from an east- or south-facing window or 12 to 14 hours a day beneath four 40-watt fluorescent tubes. A plant that is getting sufficient light produces sturdy growth and has leaves that are a medium green. Pale or yellow leaves are an indication that the plant is receiving too much

Reporting income of home employees

Continued from 1 sation insurances, and adequate bonding, may charge slightly higher prices, but Wiljanen said the price is worth the peace of mind. "More and more of our customers are saying it's just not worth the risk and hassle (to handle the tax, insurance and bonding paperwork on their own)," he added.

Independent home service workers are still the largest segment of the cleaning industry, Wiljanen said, and homeowners who choose to hire an independent are completely responsible for reporting all wages and paying all withholding taxes to the government.

"One of the biggest misconceptions among homeowners is that if they pay the lady down the street $40 to clean their house, and that lady doesn't report her earnings to the IRS, it's her problem, she goes to fail if she gets caught," he added. "But that's not true. Federal law has very clear guidelines. (which say that) if you hire domestic help and pay them more than $50 over three months, you are responsible for withholding the appropriate taxes (and reporting the income).

Federal guidelines say that if an individual works directly for the homeowner, was hired and can be fired by the homeowner, and performs services under the homeowner's direction, the worker is considered the homeowner's employee. This category inleades housekeepers and caretakers who are not with outside services, and even babysitters Conversely, guidelines say that if the worker belongs to an agency or service and isn't hired, fired or paid directly by the homeowner, the worker's Social Security and taxes must be covered by the agency providing the workers. Workers who use their own tools. perform their job without instruction and offer the same services to a number of people are considered contractors, and are responsible for their own Social Security and taxes Homeowners who are unsure which category their domestic help falls into can file a form SS-8 and let the government decide whether the worker is an employee or under contract. All forms for withholding and reporting can be obtained from the IRS by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM. Reporting a domestic employ ee's wages and withholding the appropriate taxes, as well as obtaining liability and workers compensation insurances are critical for homeowners who hire independent household help, Wiljanen said.

"If the homeowner doesn't (handle taxes) and they get caught, they are on the hook for thousands of dollars in back taxes, penalties and interest." he said. "And if they don't have liability insurance and their clean ing lady slips and falls down the stairs and has a $2,000 medical bill, the homeowner has to pay

Orchids need fifty-percent humidity

Continued from 1

The potting medium to use since it works best for the home grower is fir bark. It comes in fine- or medium-size chunks, usually with some admixture of redwood fiber, charcoal, coarse peat or tree-fern fiber. Bark-based mediums are moisture retentive but drain swiftly enough so that the plants' roots remain healthy

HUMIDITY

To grow well, orchids need humidity-level of about 50 percent. This is not a difficult task to achieve during the summer months when open windows and muggy days do the job for you. In winter, it's a different story when central heating turns many houses into virtual deserts. so you must boost the humidity in your growing area. Daily misting is the key, preferably in the morning because misting at night promotes fungal and other bacterial diseases.

Most growers place their plants in trays filled with 1/2 inch to 1 inch of gravel that is kept constantly moist. The plant should never rest on the gravel. Simply place it on top of an overturned saucer; it will keep the potting medium from becoming saturated with water.

Depending on the variety, orchids differ in their feeding requirements. I feed my orchids every week (during the growing season) with Miracid, available in most garden centers and nurseries around the country. Contrary to their image, most orchids are perfectly at home in temperatures that sult human beings. Try to avoid extremes of either hot or cold, a range during the day of 75 to 80 degrees is perfection; fall to 60 to 65 degrees at night is ideal. This 15- to 20-degree difference between day and night temperatures is necessary if the plants are to remain vigorous.

Of course, during the summer months (depending on where you live) it is often tricky to achieve this indoors or out. Open windows with ample air circulation are best conditions in summer, preferable to air conditioners. Orchids grown at home rarely suffer from pests, but watch out for slugs and mealy bugs. don't use pesticides; with all infestations, I wipe the affected leaves once a week with a cotton swab dipped in rubbing alcohol until all signs of the pest have disappeared. Be vigilant thereafter. When selecting your first orchids, the more knowledge you acquire will be rewarding and will increase your chances of success if you start out with plants that are easy to deal with. So select hybrids over species.

Once you have mastered the basics of orchid care, you can move on to the species that catch your fancy. Either way, buy your plants from the best orchid nursery you can find.

Highland resident Dan DeClark's enthusiasm for Southwest art and decor combined with his desire to draw more people into Milford led him to open Legends of Time, a store with a Southwest theme.

"I wanted to bring something different to Milford," DeClark said.

A retail store manager for 10 years. DeClark decided to take a chance. He quit his job and has devoted himself full-time to his business -- something he says he would not have done were he married.

Comments from friends and family members asking where he obtained Southwest items in his home and their desire to purchase similar items inspired him to begin his own business.

He said his family was shocked at first by his decision.

"After they came out and saw (the store), they were behind me 100 percent," DeClark said. "They were my first customers," DeClark's store, which opened the first week of September, houses a combination of reminders of the Southwest's past and present. Indian art, pottery, bandanas, colored cacti and adobe houses mingle at 453 N. Main Street in Milford - the former Milford Times office location. He chose the site because it was available and conveniently located in the heart of Milford Village.

DeClark said he couldn't have chosen a better location.

"I like meeting the people in town and all the customers who come in." he said. "I enjoy talking to people."

DeClark's personal favorite is a striking Southwestern painting of

<sup>66</sup>The boy who delivers the crack, he's eleven. He makes $300 a day but now he's dead. These kids are not learning nothing except how to be hopeless. How to die. You don't need to go to no school to learn that. And that's just it. These kids aren't going. So I went to the schools to see what I could do. Me, a man who's seen his neighborhood go from bad to worse. But now I'm tired of it and I'm going to start with the kids. They're the hope. I go to the junior high and just show up in class and tell them to take pride

These kids just don't know better. And that's no good because how are our children going to have good lives if they don't stay in school? There is a reason to stay. And I'm going to tell them.
