When 42-year-old Mary Sekuloski ultimately lost her bat-tle against cancer April 28, her daughter, Lainy, initially felt like giving up her fight as well. The 17-year-old Novi High School senior is team captain of the

the Pavement

Chairperson for the upcoming American Cancer Society's Relay

For Life of Novi event. "When my morn first died, I didn't want to think about Relay For Life at all," Sekuloski said.

"But now, 'Id say that I'm more driven than ever to find a cure." The 24-hour event will take place Saturday at Novi Middle School, starting at 10 a.m. Sckuloski has been an active member of Relay For Life for several years. While Sekuloski and her fami-

While Sekuloski and her fami-ly have struggled to accept the loss of a lowing mother, wile, sis-ter and friend, extended family and friends have stepped up to help in any way they can. "People have come out of the woodwork," Sekuloski said. "And my team totally picked up the work on Relay For Life. They organized so many fundraisers that f didn't even know about, they did i all by themselves." The 21-member team is really one over the 20-member maxi-mum for their age group; bar mum for their age group; but Sekutoski was given an exception.

Members of the Pavemet Pounders will support founding member Lainy Sekuloski (top,left) as she remembers her mother during this weekend's Novi Relay for Life event. Sekuloski's mother passed away in April.

The Pavement Pounders team is moving steadily closer to its ambitious goal of raising $10,000. "We have about $6,000 or so (that has been committed) online, and a lot of my team members have received cash donations that haven't been added in yet. So I'd say we're at around $7,000-8,000 so far," Sekuloski said. Many may recall the story about Sekuloski and her mother, Mary, in the April 17 issue of the Novi News. The story detailed Sekuloski's tireless work for the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life of Novi event.

Some positive results arose fol-lowing that initial publication. Inspired by Sekuloski's story, a former Novi High Schoel student contacted her via Facebook, and told her he is establishing a summer house-painting business to He now plans to donate a per-centage of his sales to the cause. In addition, Sekuloski received several requests for her unique "You've Been Flocked By Relay

For Life" fundraising campaign. A typical "flocking" occurs when, for a $10 donation, somewhen for a $70 contains, some-one arranges for Sekuloski to fill a friend's or neighbor's yard with 50 pink plastic flamingos during the night. It then costs the person $5 to make the flamingos fly away. Before she passed away, Mary Sekuloski arranged for her employer, Speedway, located at 14 Mile and Haggerty roads, to be "flocked." She set up some unique requirements, however, for the flamingoes to be removed. She requested the manager donate 50 cents for every sandwich sold by the Speedway store that day. Between customer donations and sandwiches sold, we raised about $314," said Speedway Manager Linda Grammar.

Staff and customers of Speedway were so inspired, they went on to form a brand new Relay For Life team called Mary's Graduating from high school is a milestone in one's life and signifies a major step toward the privi- leges and responsibilities of adulthood. All of us at the Novi Police Department and through- out city government realize this is a joyous time and want it to be the happiest occasion possible. Too often, however, one bad decision results in a tragedy for not only one young person, but their family, friends and an entire community. It is unfortunate that some of our youth under the age of 21 are making he unsafe and illegal deci- ion to drink. Aided and abetted by the erry adults charged with notsication, leaving them ti risk for sections conse- quences associated with onsuming alcohol. It is important that par- nits and young people understand the ramifica- ions and deadly conse- quences which can result rom underage alcohol rinking.	The Novi Police Department strongly dis- courages this unlawful activity and will remain proactive in the illegal use of alcohol by our young peo- ple. Research conducted for The Century Council by Teenage Research Unlimited (TRU) reveals 65 percent of individuals between 10 and 18 who had consumed alcohol in the past year report obtaining alcohol from family and friends. A separate survey con- ducted by Withlin Worldwide revealed a major- ity of parents [53 percent) also believe family and source of alcohol for chil- dren between 10 and 18. At the same time as both parents and kids identify family and friends as the primary source of beverage alcohol, research also shows that parents are the most important influence in a child's decision whether or not to drink beverage alcohol. whelming --- impression is the imazing crush of people. This year's conference drew around 1,800 participants to the fantastically beautiful porch of the Grand Hotel. For three days I was one of them. The press of well-dressed people - talking, deal-making, business card exchanging, selling, buying and looking over shoulders for the next interest ing person — was remarkable. One friend called the event 'a world class political mo pit," but (fortunately) without the screaming teenagers a rock concert would bring. Ouite apart from the sessions, the Mackinac Conference is an extremely efficient way during three days to talk with a bunch of people you would normally have to wait three months to ee --- and even then would never see all in the same place. Everybody has an agenda or two, of course. But f you let yourself be bounced round like a molecule in olution, you're sure to run into people you've been want-

Despite the intense social-izing, the conference is meant to be serious business with high-powered sessions devoted to finding solutions for statewide problems, And the overwhelming impression I took away from the island this year was the enormous gap between what the politicians bicker about and what the state really needs. That disconnect was the most obvious Thursday when House Speaker Andy Dillon, D-Redford, House Minority Leader Craig DeRoche, F Novi, Senate Majority Leader Mike Bishop, R-Rochester, and Senate Minority Leader Buzz Thomas, D-Detroit, gathered to be interviewed by TV and radio personality Tim Skubick. They were on the same stage — but there was utterly no interaction. Each stood behind his designated podium, putting out their own spin on events, never coming together
