Voluntary Pay Needed to Offset Additional Expenses

With this article The Reminder is announcing a voluntary pay program whereby readers can help defray some of the costs we incur in delivering The Reminder to you.

The Reminder is delivered to you free every week. It has been delivered free to area residents in our Zone 1 area for over 27 years. Zone 2 residents have received it every Wednesday for over two years.

The cost of printing and delivering continues to rise. Both our printers and deliverers have hiked our price twice in the last year. These costs have been born by The Reminder and by the advertisers who use The Reminder to let you know about the quality merchandise, services, and prices that they have to offer.

The Reminder is now offering you the opportunity to help it overcome those costs in getting the paper to you.

We've pronounced September, "Voluntary Pay Subscription Month." If you enjoy receiving The Reminder and wish to participate in this voluntary pay program, just fill out the coupon and mail with five dollars to The Reminder, 8062 Ortonville Road, Clarkston, 48016.

In return for your contribution you will receive three 50 cent discount coupons to be redeemed when you place want ads in The Reminder.

Remember, this is a voluntary program. The Reminder will continue to be delivered to you weekly whether you wish to participate or not.

CHS Band Chaperones Sing Praise

Letter To The Editor:

We would like to share with everyone the great experience we had as chaperones with the Clarkston High School band at band camp August 20 through the 25. We saw students pull together from individuals to a unit group in just a few days. We saw the rewards of hard work between teacher and student with understanding and caring blossom into patience and harmony. The students we left with a week ago were not the same students we brought back home. They returned ready for the up-coming season that lies ahead of them with great enthusiasm. (Something that in past years has not been reached until mid-season.) The people of Clarkston have no idea what a super person we have for a band director. He gives of his time and himself more than 100%. We would like to stand up, take our hat off and say: "thank you Cliff Chapman for everything." (And Laurie Chapman too.) As chaperones we want you to know it was a rewarding, impressive and fun experience. (We have signed up to go again next year.) We also would like to thank the Band Boosters for their generosity in covering one-half the cost of each students camp cost and the extra money given for first aid supplies, snacks and fruit and the Pizza party our last night at camp. We wish every band parent could have seen the benefits this groups hard work has accomplished this past year. We are hosting a twelve band competition on September 29 and hopefully parents will come out and back us and see all the hard work that has been accomplished by students, teacher and boosters.

Sincerely
Penny Bernard and Eunice Mandilk

Durbin Day a Success

Dear Editor:

It's with great pride to write to you to express independence center's gratitude to the community for "Durbin Day for independence center." There are many people to thank: First, Mike Loszewski and Rainee Stricklin from Durbin Realty who came to us with the idea of Durbin sponsoring this fundraiser for us and also coordinated the event; the township officials who allowed us to use Clintonwood Park; the 1894 Washboard band and the Cross-Roads band who provided us with fine music; the Independence Squares with their enthusiastic square dancing; Independence and Waterford Fire Departments for playing a terrific softball game and Whitey tower and Jerry Buckmaster who umpired; all the many people who helped run the midway games; the i.c. volunteers who sold games tickets; the senior citizens for operating the food concession; and to Brooks Patterson and Dan Murphy and all the celebrity tennis players who participated in the tennis matches.

It's really great to see so many people from so many groups working together on a community project. We thank you all!

Sincerely
I.C. Board

WE'RE GLAD YOU ASKED!

With
 Lew Wint
 Funeral Director

Lewis E. Wint
 Funeral Home
 Clarkston

HOW CAN I MAKE KNOWN MY FUNERAL PREFERENCES?

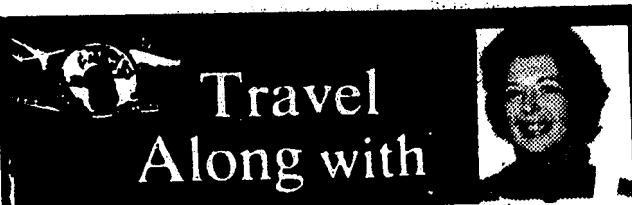

Usually your preferences can best be made known by your pre-planning some or all of the funeral service with a funeral director.

If you feel reluctant to give "instructions" to your family, you might make a list of preferences and suggestions covering your wishes. We have simple forms which will help guide you as you fill them out.

After completing the forms which entail no obligation on your part, then advise your family about your preferences and where you will keep the Pre-plan form.

We find people have a greater ease of mind once this is done, just as after filing a will or setting up an insurance program. It takes a load off the family later on and it makes sure your preferences will be respected.

There are many choices and options in pre-planning. You would be well-advised to discuss them with your funeral director. We will be glad to explain your options in detail. To help you reach an informed decision, we can also give you some reading material for your study. Stop by or phone for your free copy.

Claudia Jakus of Clarkston Travel Bureau

Before leaving on your carefully planned trip, be sure to find out what kind of hotel accommodations you will have. You may be sharing a room without your knowledge. If you are going to a warm place, you will want to know if the room will be air-conditioned or heated if you are visiting England, which can suddenly turn cold, even in summer months. Ask whether your room will have a private bath, or if you will have to share--and, if so, with how many people. Ask if you will have to pay extra for a single room if you are traveling alone.

If your trip is planned through us at CLARKSTON TRAVEL BUREAU INC., 6 N. Main St., 625-0325 we'll make sure you have the answers to these questions. Our staff is well traveled and can provide you with any information you need on most places in the world. All forms of travel are handled, and there are no extra charges for booking reservations. Open: 9:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Monday thru Friday, 9:30 a.m. - 1 p.m. Saturday.

TRAVEL TIP:

Ask which charge cards to take on your trip. Some businesses for instance, honor Visa and Master Charge more readily than American Express.

Full-Size Merry-Go-Round Prize of Collection Clarkston Couple Collect Carousel Pieces

by Mike Wilcox

Mrs. Jon Abbott with her Denzel Lion

Although it seems to be the merry-go-round that gets all the attention, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Abbott of Clarkston, have a house and garage full of various collector's items from autographs to calliopes.

The items are not the usual garage sale castaways, but rather unusual and often times quite expensive. Many of the items are hand carved animals that originated on merry-go-rounds throughout the world.

A large (nearly life size) Denzel lion peers loftily from a corner in the dining room. Mrs. Abbott claimed the Lion, which was built in 1910, came from Detroit's Edgewater Park.

Mrs. Abbott has many other animals scattered through the house. Animals, intricately hand carved by ancient masters like Charles Loeff, Marcus Illions, Charles Carmel and the Philadelphia Toboggan Company.

In a couple of weeks, Mrs. Abbott expects to receive another piece from Atlanta. In the meantime she sold a rare Stein and Goldstein to make room.

How did the Abbotts ever get involved in collecting merry-go-round pieces?

Purely by chance. As Mrs. Abbott, tells it, she and her husband attended an arcade auction in Lapeer in 1973 because Jon was interested in looking at some equipment. As a lark, Mrs. Abbott began bidding on a piece. "I bought it and didn't have any idea what it was at the time," she said.

Thus the beginning of a time consuming hobby that has taken the Abbotts all over in search of rare pieces. "It's just like a wild goose chase," said Mrs. Abbott.

"We've really ran into stuff we don't expect...Such as the time we ran into a group of 42 Illions. The guy (seller) didn't know what they were. What a find!"

In 1975, the Abbotts decided to buy something more than just a merry-go-round piece. Instead they bought an entire merry-go-round.

Mrs. Abbott claims the reason they moved to Clarkston was they didn't have enough room in their Southfield yard to place a merry-go-round. Now, it's here, in Clarkston, full-sized and fully restored.

The Abbotts bought a 1912 Hershel Spillman, bringing it home piece by piece in baskets. It was bought in 1975 from Northandawanda, New York and took an entire year to restore.

"It seemed like we would take one step forward and then three back," recalled Mrs. Abbott about the restoration process.

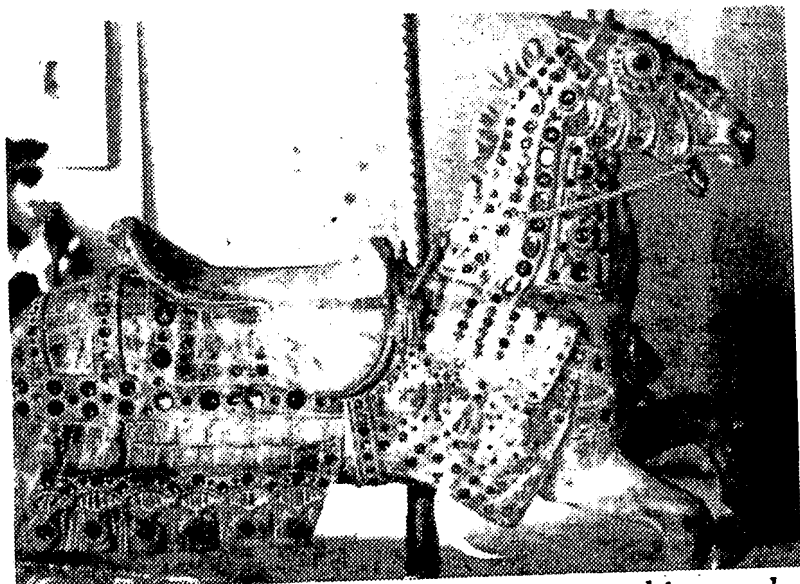

The finished product has a variety of animals including zebras, dogs, chickens, pigs and horses. And whenever the Abbotts operate the antique merry-go-round, children from all over the neighborhood gather around to watch and ride.

"We enjoy showing what we have," said Mrs. Abbott, "and also seeing other people get enthused."

The Abbotts have two children; Kellie, 10, and Kari, 8, and according to Mrs. Abbott, they are continually sponsoring class parties or scout gatherings with the merry-go-round as the main attraction.

Not only are the Abbotts interested in buying antique pieces, but they have a major concern in preserving the carousels and their pieces. To this end they are active in

But despite gaining neighborhood celebrity status and a lot of publicity (some Detroit TV stations and

One of their latest purchases was a calliope, which they are now renting out. Abbott also collects antique cars and buggies, as well as many smaller items.

Land Millage Question Added to Independence Special Ballot

The Independence Township Board unanimously approved the motion by Treasurer Fred Ritter to place a request for three tenths (.3) of a mill for five years on the October 16 special election ballot. That millage would generate enough money to purchase 80 acres adjacent to Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road.

Proof of financing is required before the township can initiate condemnation proceedings against the owner of the property, the Edward Levy Company which purchased it only last month.

It was Levy's plan to acquire some 500 acres in the area to operate a gravel mine that prompted Ritter's proposal.

That area includes the flood plain of the Clinton River and is also adjacent to Independence Oaks county park. The county and the state are working together in an attempt to acquire the balance of the land.

Approval of the millage proposal was not without some discussion on the board's part although those members present were generally in favor of it.

Trustee Rudy Lozano stated he was "utterly opposed" to governmental acquisition of property for the sake of acquiring property, but would support the proposal only to stop the gravel pit.

Opinions of citizens present supported the proposal mainly because they had seen the "devastation" on Stickney Road caused by that gravel pit.

Two Suspects Arraigned in Hockey Murder

Late Tuesday afternoon, September 4, two suspects were arraigned in 52nd District Court before Judge Gerald McNally. They were held without bond on an open charge of murder in the death of 20 year old Monica Hockey of Independence Township.

Arraigned were Kyle Glen Johnson of 4991 Clintonville Road and Jeffery Allen Coyle of Lake Orion. The suspects are both 19, unemployed, and have requested court-appointed attorneys.

Judge McNally set September 14, at 2 p.m. as the date for a preliminary examination to establish sufficient evidence of the crime to bind the pair over to Circuit Court for trial.

In a statement released by the office of Undersheriff Robert Nyovich of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Johnson was identified as a parolee from Jackson prison, serving 18 months to 10 years for breaking and entering and 1-5 years for prison breaking. Coyle was listed as an escapee of a halfway house in Pontiac.

The arrest followed a tip from an unidentified informant with credit given not only to Sheriff's Department personnel but also to the crime lab of the Michigan State Police for their assistance.

Two Hundred Springfield Residents Pack Center to Question Officials About Contaminated Wells

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls scheduled a general information meeting last week prior to the regular meeting of the township board. It was an attempt to allay the fears and answer the questions of those residents living in the areas of dump sites found to contain toxic wastes and those whose wells have already been found to be contaminated.

To accommodate the anticipated crowd, the meeting was held at the Youth Activity Center at Springfield Oaks. Nearly 200 residents of Springfield, Rose and White Lake Townships packed the hall to hear representatives of the State Health Department of Natural Resources attempt to answer their questions.

Also in attendance were State Senator Kerry Kammer, State Representatives Claude Trim and Richard Fessler, and County Commissioner Robert Gorsline. Pat Cole, represented the newly-created Toxic Substance Control Commission.

One member of the DNR contingent, told those present the steps already taken by the agencies concerned with the problem were to be found in the newsletter published by the county health department. The newsletter will continue to be circulated for as long as necessary.

He said plans for disposal methods and costs of disposing of the barrels of contaminants were due Friday, September 7, and the DNR was still looking for a "suitable interim storage site" in the township.

The estimated cost for cleaning up the 800 barrels on the Shindler Road site alone was "guessed" at $200,000. The DNR repeatedly told those present cost was a major factor in how the situation was handled.

Dr. Robert Locey, director of the county health department, said the newsletter was an attempt to keep the public well-informed. He added the results of the first round of testing area wells were in and his department will meet with individuals about their test results.

Walls cautioned those present saying the meeting might be premature because not all of the answers were available and told them if anyone seemed to hesitate before answering it was because they may not know the answers.

Question: How do I know if my water is safe?

Answer: No one knows how far contamination had spread.

They have started by sampling the wells closest to the dump sites with no firm data at this time. It may be necessary to expand the testing area, but the newsletter will keep them informed.

The wells closest to the sites will be tested first. Not all requests for testing will be honored. If some are considered too far away but people are anxious, they may consult a private testing lab.

Question: Why have the contaminants not been transferred to safer containers?

Answer: We are making arrangements now with contractors who do this sort of work. Money is a problem, there are no special funds available but they are working on it. "We can't spend money we don't have."

Later Senator Kammer assured citizens the money would be available either to be found in the DNR budget or by special appropriation. He pledged his support along with that of Trim and Fessler.

Kammer also said it was faster and easier to provide state funds for the cleanup than to take those responsible to court to force cleanup.

It was estimated it would take 2-3 weeks to remove the drums once someone was found to do the job and the money found to pay for the removal.

Question: Have the two elementary schools been tested, Andersonville and Davisburg? They are each close to a dump site.

Answer: They are outside the test areas. (After residents disagreed, however, and persisted, county health department people agreed to test the water at the two schools.)

Question: Do we qualify for emergency funds?

Answer: That will be discussed at the September meeting of the Toxic Substance Control Commission.

Question: What about dairy contamination? There are several farms in the area.

Answer: The farms have not been sampled because the question has not come up before. It will be turned over to the Department of Agriculture.

Question: What about possible effects on Big Lake?

Answer: Fish and surface water samples will be taken later. The main concern is with the groundwater for the time being.

Question: Are there alternate sources of water?

Answer: The five-gallon containers presently used are the best method although not the most convenient. A tanker filled with water could be placed in the area but the water would have to be so heavily chlorinated it would be undrinkable.

Eventually, three suggestions are possible. Once the aquifer is investigated and the extent of the contamination is known, it may be just a deeper well will be required. Another possibility would be to extend an existing municipal water system. A third suggestion was a community water supply, a new well in a safe area close to the affected homes.

It was generally agreed it would take months to years to accomplish any of these.

In the meantime, putting anything in water conditioners in an attempt to purify the water was not recommended. It would be better to use alternate sources of water for the time being.

Question: What about property values, new homes and proposed new homes?

Answer: Walls was checking on tax assessments for this year but is finding it difficult to establish a rate for lowering assessments.

As far as new homes under construction were concerned, Walls said he didn't know as yet what to do about final occupancy permits. He didn't know if he could legally hold them up or hold up building permits either. He was explaining the situation to anyone who requested a building permit.

Question: Who is responsible for the situation and why was it not taken care of long ago?

Answer: There were no answers to "why" or "who," only that the DNR was in charge of the situation now.

Legislative steps have been taken recently covering the disposal of toxic wastes, but no guarantee was made that this will not happen again despite legislation.

After three hours the meeting broke up and the people left. Some of their questions were answered, many were not.

The people are concerned over the degree of harmfulness of some of these substances on the human body. No one could agree on how much one substance could do and what the effects would be.

There is a general fear of unknown chemicals with unknown effects over unknown periods of time.

There seems to be no one to blame for the dumping, no one to blame for not following through on the cleanup order, no guarantee this won't happen again, and no timetable for getting back to normal.

Independence Earmarks Surplus for General Fund

The Independence Township Board has finally decided to spend about $235,000 of surplus funds by not levying general fund millage next year.

The proposal by Clerk Chris Rose was not without opposition, however. Treasurer Fred Ritter sharply disagreed with Rose calling the proposal "financially irresponsible."

Ritter's argument was based on an interpretation of the Headlee amendment passed last November. Ritter feared that if the township levied no general fund millage next year, the following year they would be levying a percentage of zero with the resulting figure being zero.

Rose did not agree with Ritter's interpretation, but said if it should prove to be correct, the board would just tell the citizens they had made a mistake and ask them to approve once more the 1.33 mills normally levied by the township.

Ritter's proposal to levy .9536 percent (the Headlee rollback formula) of the current 1.33 mills or 1.27 mills, for the general fund was defeated on a tie vote. Trustee Jerry Powell was absent.

A similar vote defeated Rose's first motion to levy no general fund millage. When the motion was reconsidered, Supervisor Floyd Tower broke the tie by supporting it.

The motion to levy no general fund millage next year was supported by Rose, Trustees Bill Vandermark and Rudy Lozano and Tower, it was opposed by Ritter and Trustee Mike Thayer.

The Headlee rollback formula was also applied to the police, fire and sewer millages. The fire levy will be 1.9072 mills and not the usual two mills. The police millage will be .9536 down from one mill, while the sewer levy will be reduced from 1.46 to .635. Surplus funds totalling $100,000 has also been applied thus lowering the levy for sewers further.

Independence Tables Drain Issues Again

by Carol Balzarini

Two drain issues making their third appearances before the Independence Township Board were tabled to the satisfaction of citizens who oppose them although not to the satisfaction of the businessmen who favor them.

The M-15 drain issue, tabled from the July 17 meeting, is opposed by many people because it is tied to a proposed widening of that section of the road north of the Dixie Highway as far as Paramus to five lanes.

Village residents fear wider roads both north and south of the village limits will eventually lead to the same situation within the limits.

Council President Fontie ApMadoc asked the township board to once again delay any decisions on the drain until another public hearing scheduled by the State Department of Transportation can be held after the first of the year.

The results of the previous hearing had sent highway officials back to the drawing board to come up with a more popular proposal as far as protesting residents were concerned. They convinced highway people at that hearing there must be a better way than the one proposed.

DPW director George Anderson told the board construction of the drain even if approved that night likely would not take place until next spring.

Howard Kieft of Kieft Engineering located on M-15 argued the drain and the road widening were two separate issues. He contended someone had to make the first move and it was time the township did. He told them the village was not part of the drain project in the first place.

Clerk Chis Rose told Kieft the two were a single issue because price alone tied them together, and that the township wanted to see the entire proposal before making any decision.

The initial estimate of drain costs given the township was $650,000 of which the township would pay 35 percent. A revised estimate provided later was $350,000. The township was told the second estimate was lower because the drain project had been combined with road widening.

Other objections came from residents of Hidden Lane who are unhappy over where the drain would empty into Dollar Lake.

After learning the county drain commission had refused to put any more money into engineering, Kieft volunteered to do it himself at no charge.

Once again, board opinion was divided with Trustee Rudy Lozano siding with the businessmen and urging approval of the drain project.

Treasurer Fred Ritter's motion to table the issue until after the Transportation Department's public hearing was approved on a 5-1 vote with only Lozano dissenting although Supervisor Floyd Tower was not entirely happy with the decision.

In the second event of people vs. drains, the people won again as the proposed HiWood drain was tabled to seek the township attorney's opinion.

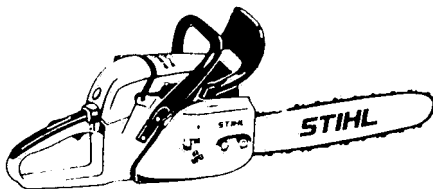

The drain project proposed by developer Hugh Garner to alleviate water problems in his new Chestnut Hills subdivision on Maybee Road had been approved by the board when first presented some months ago.

The board's resolution and petition to the Oakland County Drain Commission was first rejected because it was not in the proper form. The second time it was sent back for "clarification."

That clarification would have the township assessed for the costs of the drain and not the developer because the county can only assess a governmental body. The township would then have to make its own arrangements with the developer who has stated his intentions of paying for the entire project. If reworded, the township would be responsible.

Hiwood residents who have opposed the project from the outset told the board, "We don't trust you," citing past experiences with the township, the county and the contractors who put the sewer lines through the subdivision last year.

Tower was unable to convince them the safeguards built into the agreement with Garner were sufficient to guarantee the township would not be responsible for payment should the developer default.

State Fair Winners

During the sheep showing and judging of the Michigan State Fair the exhibitors have what is known as a lead class. Several age groups dress to compliment their yearling ewes which have been taught to lead with a halter. In the pre-school group leading his lamb was Matt Scramlin of Holly. Matt is not quite three years old but showed his lamb like a pro winning second place in a large group of children. Matt is on the left with first place winner Tim Bortel of Lenewee Co.

Matt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Scramlin of Wildwood Road, Holly.

TENNIS TEAM CAN ONLY GET BETTER

Girls tennis, only in its second year at Clarkston High school, has a new coach this year. She's Becky Craig who teaches special education students at Sashabaw Junior High School.

Craig has never coached tennis before although she has coached track and intramural basketball at the junior high.

Only fourteen girls have come out for tennis this season. Craig said more usually come out once school starts but that has been hampered by the delay of the start of school. Only four of those fourteen girls played last year.

With no wins to their credit last season, Craig said optimistically, "The only way to go is up."

Although Craig has never coached before, she does play herself. She doesn't know all of the rules yet for high school tennis but she's learning. At the same time she's had to teach the girls many of the basics before they can even get into playing.

NEW FOOTBALL COACH HOPES TO BUILD FOOTBALL PROGRAM EVERYONE CAN BE PROUD OF

Clarkston High School has a new head football coach this year, Walt Wyniemko. Wyniemko comes from Madison Heights Bishop Foley with eight years of coaching experience behind him. At CHS he will teach U.S. History in addition to his coaching duties.

When asked if he was optimistic about the Wolves' prospects for the season, Wyniemko replied, "if I weren't optimistic, I shouldn't be a coach."

He added, "I want to build a program the kids, the administration and the parents can all be proud of."

Coaching is learning process, he said. After five weeks of it, he is still learning about his players but he knows more about them now than when he started.

Wyniemko would not make any predictions about possible success in the greater Oakland Activities League saying he didn't know the other teams well enough to make any.

He was proud of the fact 55 boys had come out for Varsity football this season. Combined with the 48 on the junior varsity team, he said the total was close to an eighth of the male population of the high school.

Wyniemko's assistant coaches this season are Kurt Richardson and Dave Smith.

SENIORS TO LEAD 30-MAN GOLF SQUAD

Coach Jim Chamberlain reports thirty boys have come out for the Clarkston High School golf team this season and he expects to pick up more once school starts.

Because of the large number of boys on the roster and the fact that only six usually play in competition, Chamberlain would like to have Tim Kaul assist him and set up inter-school competition for those who don't play varsity.

His main concern is to keep the boys active and interested. No one is ever cut from the team.

Although the boys lost their first match with Davison last week by two strokes, Chamberlain is optimistic. He expects seniors Paul Dushane, who shot a 38 in that match, Doug Hagyard, Paul Chad, and John Spillum to be the mainstays of the team.

The team has a "pretty good scattering" of grades although Chamberlain says he hasn't had a chance to get that well acquainted with all of the boys yet.

SMALL CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD HOPES TO DO WELL

Another new face on the coaching scene at Clarkston High School belongs to Mike Kaul who will work with the cross-country runners. Kaul will teach history and geography at Clarkston Junior High after working as an aide at the learning resource center at Sashabaw Junior High.

Kaul's cross country team this year has only ten runners, "a very small squad," he said. "We hope to pick up more when school starts."

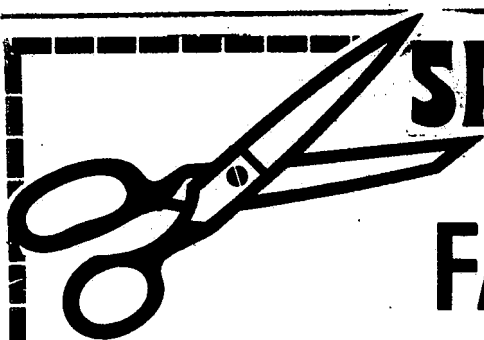

Right now he is in need of girl runners, not having enough for a varsity team to compete. He must have no less than five and no more than seven; he has four.

The boys are coming along well, Kaul said, describing it as a young team with only one senior. The "meat" of last year's team graduated in June.

Kaul admitted it was hard to compete with football at times plus the fact that the three miles sometimes turns kids off.

"There are no crowds cheering you on...not much recognition," he added.

New Coach to Lead Girl Cagers

Dave McDonald takes over this year as the new coach of the Clarkston High School Varsity girls basketball team.

McDonald, a science teacher at Clarkston Junior High, has coached eight straight years of boys basketball, five of them at Clarkston High School and the past three at Bloomfield Hills Roper. While at CHS, McDonald's boys won two league championships.

He assesses his new team as having "very little experience as a whole." Some of the girls have played together in junior high, some in senior high, but not all of them on the same team at the same time.

McDonald admitted he was upset about the girls loss to Fenton 59-22 last week, but added Fenton was a state contender and probably second best if not the best in the state.

"But we'll be alright...we want to start out looking good, under control," he said.

Three of his players are sophomores, Lynn McCormick, Tracee Antos and Lanette Whitehead, McCormick, sister of the Wolfpack's Tim McCormick, and Antos played together at Clarkston Junior, while Whitehead played for Sashabaw junior.

Both teams combined, varsity and junior varsity, have a total of seventeen sophomore players.

JV Football Team Loaded With Individual Talent

Gordie Richardson prefers to call himself a co-coach of the Clarkston High School junior varsity football team. Working with him this year is John Getzan. Richardson teaches health and physical education at the high school while Getzan is a social worker in special services.

Richardson assessed his team of 48 members as having "some fine individual talent...but we'll meet a team tomorrow with even more players and they're BIG," he referred to the season opener last Thursday with Grand Blanc.

"Nobody rates JV teams but their varsity team is outstanding," he said.

Richardson is a former JV coach at Andover who had good teams there and expects to here also. This will be his first year as coach although he assisted with varsity backs last year.

Some pre-season problems developed with a reshuffling of coaches with Dave Smith going to assist Walt Wyniemo with the varsity squad and Getzan coming out to work with Richardson on J.V. This year the JV coaches are using the varsity playbook with a few exceptions as has not been done in the past.

No team pictures have been taken as the JV squad is still waiting for their uniforms due to be delivered any time now.

JV CAGERS HAVE Rough Road Ahead

Sheryl Stickley takes over this year as the new coach of the Clarkston High School girls basketball team.

This will be Stickley's first year of teaching at the high school although she coached volleyball and softball there for two years. She will teach physical education and health in addition to her coaching duties.

Fourteen sophomores were selected last month in tryouts to play for the junior Wolves. The girls are new and so is the coach who said, "We are still getting acquainted. . . it's a rough road to go."

The "rough road" refers to two factors: the girls first loss to a tough Fenton team last week, 35-19 and to the fact the varsity team was short and has taken some of her sophomores.

The girls have a full schedule ahead of them with 20 games averaging two a week between now and November.
