Dump Clean-Up Needs Our Cooperation

The Springfield-Rose illegal dump sites and resulting water contamination have earned a lot of publicity in the last few weeks. Publicity that has served as a catalyst for action in some respects, but on the other hand it has also served to create fear and a sense of helplessness in the minds of many.

Here's a plea for rationality. I'm not going to join the bandwagon and lambast the state, the county and local authorities.

Indeed they were slow to act. Each of the levels of government was aware of the illegal dumps as far back as ten years ago. But ten, eight, even five years ago, toxic wastes were not a major concern. The concern for chemical damage didn't really surface until PBB was discovered in feed produced and packaged by Michigan Chemical.

Thus those that knew about possible contaminants at the Shindler Road site really didn't consider the situation grave at the time. You or I would most likely have reacted in the same manner.

Where the real concern should lie now is to see that the dumpsite is cleaned thoroughly and intelligently. By attempting to place blame on a particular agency or to pit one against another, will only serve to slow the

To help carry out this plea for a spirit of cooperation The Reminder is offering to intercede if you are having a problem getting your concerns answered from a particular agency. Why Not Ask Carolyn?

Carolyn Veresh, a psycho therapist, with an extensive background in counseling has joined the staff of The Reminder and will be writing an advice column. Her educational background includes an undergraduate degree in Psychology, Sociology, Family Relations from Michigan State University, a Master's degree from Texas Women's University in Marriage and Family Relations and a PHD candidacy legal degree in chemical psychology from the Merrill-Palmer Institute Residence program for the Humanistic Psychology Institute. Carolyn began her professional career with Macomb Intermediate School District where she directed a field program for expectant teen mothers. In this capacity, she served as both teacher and counselor to the girls, and after times was called on to counsel with the girls and their families.

When I worked with this group of girls, I usually had a girl in my learning center for several months out of the academic year," she said in a recent interview. "While academics were certainly important, during this type of crisis in a teen girls life, I felt it was imperative to help the girls sort out such problems such as; should I keep my baby, how can I best provide for the needs of this child, what should I do about my relationship with the baby's father, should I get married, what about child care, and what about my own education."

Along with her work with expectant teen mothers, Carolyn has also taught on the University level for Texas Women's University, Wayne State University and Eastern Michgian University. Currently she is a senior instructor and consultant for the Foster Parent Education Program through Eastern Michigann University and is involved on a full-time-basis as a psychotherapist with Counseling and Evaluation Associates at the Davisburg Medical Clinic.

Carolyn is accustomed to writing. During her first year of studies at the Merrill-Palmer Institute she had selected case studies published. In her work with the Foster Parent Education Program she published her first complete book, "Guiding The Sexual Development Of The Foster Child" and has another book which will be out this fall entitled "Community As Part Of The Professional Team.

In Caroyln's column, which will be called, "Why Not Ask Carolyn" she will entertain all types of questions regarding relationships, marital, sexual and family problems. One issue that is often raised in marital counseling is the problem of money. Carolyn says, "The real sources of conflict around money are often hidden. Some people use gifts as a way of expressing their love and affection. Other people use money as a source of security. For these people, a comfortable savings account is important to their feelings of security. Often one person will complain that their partner doesn't love them because they never bring them anything nice; that they are a tight wad. In this situation, the couple is encouraged to sit down and talk openly about what money really means to them and how each really enjoys using and spending money. Money is a value-ladden area and one that people need to talk about how they feel about it, its uses and its abuses."

Another common problem area is that of child rearing and the single parent. When a divorce occurs, in most cases the mother has custody. Children become angry and upset when a divorce occurs and the mother is left to cope with the angry acting-out of the children. Parents need to be reassured that anger is to be expected and is a normal part of grieving the loss of the in-tact family unit. Parents are encouraged to listen to the child's feelings and allow expression of them. It is also important to reassure a child that it is not their fault their parents are divorcing. Divorce is a result of problems between adults and trauma to the children can be minimized if they are not used as pawns between angry

Carolyn invites people to write to her about any of their problems, concerns, or worries. She says that it is not necessary to sign your name and that any name used in the letters will be changed to protect people's privacy. DO SURVIVORS OF A SUDDEN-DEATH FEEL THE "STAGES OF DEATH"?

In her book, On Death and Dying, Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross indicates that the acceptance of any death usually goes through these stages: shock and denial; great anger and trying to place blame; a brief period of bargaining followed by a long and often deep depression; then, hopefully, ultimate acceptance of the facts of life - and death.

Dr. Kubler-Ross further states that the survivors of sudden-death victims must go through the same stages of grief as for survivors of those whose death comes slowly.

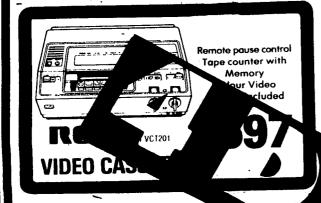

Reading about and becoming better acquainted with the stages of grief can provide insights for thoughtful contemplation. Reaching a point of understanding how others have had to cope with similar situations can provide strength and consolation at the time of death of a loved one.

We have quite a few books and lists of others which may assist you in coping with your loss of loved ones. We stand ready to help you as best we can. Remember, your needs are our concerns.

Hockey Murder Suspects Bound Over

Commentary:

Poem Expresses Suspects Feelings

by Carol Balzarini

Whether the family and friends of a murder victim or the family and friends of those accused of a crime, people still have common emotions. Despite background and lifestyle, they love and they laugh, they grieve and

Following the preliminary examination in District Court last week, a young woman approached me, identified herself as the girlfriend of one of the accused, and asked me to read a poem he had written while in jail.

It is printed here with no comments other than those already made.

NICHIMARE

I got out on parol about a few weeks ago,
How long was I gona stay out? I didn't know.
I looked hard for jobs but I found none,
Nobody hired me because I been in prison.
It's people like that, that make my days short,
So I get mad, get drunk, now I gotta go to court.

But I know I'll never get out cause in prison I will die.

Kyle Johnson

Independence Slaying Was Brutal

by Carol Balzarini

Kyle Johnson and Jeffery Coyle have been bound over for trial in Circuit Court following a preliminary examination in 52nd district court last week. The pair are accused in the Labor Day weekend death of 20-year old Monica Hockey of Clarkston. The young woman's body was found September 2 in a remote area off Clintonville Road

Johnson, 19 of Independence Township, is a parolee from Jackson Prison while, Coyle, also 19 of Lake Orion, was a walkaway from a halfway house in Pontiac.

The status of the accused men led to the decision by County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson to prosecute the case himself. Patterson is a long-time opponent of so-called "good time" practices parolling a person from prison before even the minimum sentence has been served.

Robert Sterling was the court-appointed attorney for Johnson, Howard Arnkoff represented Coyle.

Thursday's preliminary examination began with the introduction of the pathologist's report stating Ms. Hockey had died as a result of "multiple blows to the head."

Deputy Lawrence Liggett of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department was the first witness to testify as the first officer from his department to respond to a call from Dirk Feneley of Independence Township Police Services.

The local officer had received a call from an unidentified witness resident who had discovered Ms. Hockey's body in an area off Clintonville Road described as an Edison corridor also used as a dump site.

Liggett testified he was led to the scene by Feneley and the unidentified resident. Barefoot and clad in jeans and a blouse, the young woman's body was partially hidden under a discarded couch. The officer called for a backup and later left the scene accompanying the ambulance to the county morgue.

At that point, court recessed for ten minutes allowing counsel to confer. The two defendants clad in blue uniforms from the county jail talked quietly. They remained handcuffed through the entire proceedings and showed no apparent emotion during the testimony.

Chief witness for the prosecution was 25 year-old Carl Berendt described as a friend of Ms. Hockey and an acquaintance of Johnson and Coyle.

Under cross examination Berendt admitted he had been convicted of felonious assault and unarmed robbery. He had spent time in Jackson Prison and had only been paroled in July.

In his testimony, Berendt recounted the events of that weekend saying he first saw Johnson and Coyle about 5 a.m. Friday, August 31. He had gone there after work to see Johnson's mother.

Ms. Hockey was there at the time, he said, in what he described as an "unusual situation." He described the circumstances in detail saying he had asked her to leave with him but that she had refused.

Berendt, then, testified he spent the rest of the night with Mrs. Johnson leaving later that day at 10 a.m. He was not sure who else was in the house at that time.

On Saturday, September 1, Berendt said he returned to the Johnson home about 7 or 8 p.m. Johnson was there at the time. Berendt asked him if he had seen Ms. Hockey because her parents were looking for her. Johnson's reply was negative.

Under cross examination by Sterling, Berendt admitted having seen the young woman later that evening at a party in Drayton Plains. He said she came in alone and left alone, as far as he knew, about 10 p.m. He said it was the last time he saw her.

On Monday, Berendt testified, he saw Johnson and Johnson's sister Diane about 2:30 or 3 a.m. at their mother's home. Johnson told him he had killed Ms. Hockey and related some of the details.

Berendt left with Diane Johnson on his motorcycle taking her to a party at a friend's home near Walton Blvd. in Drayton Plains. Coyle was there.

Berendt said he mentioned his conversation with Johnson to Coyle who, reportedly, seemed surprised, but then gave Berendt some details as Johnson had done. Coyle also told him, Berendt testified, he was waiting for a check so he could leave the state and go to Florida.

After leaving the party, Berendt said he had a friend drive him to the Pontiac post of the Michigan State Police where he made a statement to a trooper. Then he went to the OCSD with his information.

After he left the OCSD, Berendt said he returned to his friend's home, slept until noon and went back to the Johnson home about 1 p.m.

Berendt said he made no statement to the prosecutor's office and was not offered any deals. There was no attempt by anyone to influence his testimony, it was "free and voluntary."

He said he was not sent there a second time by the prosecutor's office or by any law enforcement agency. Only his friend knew he was going back. He went, he said, "because Monica was a friend of mine and I cared about her."

After leaving the Johnson home, Berendt said he went back to his friend's house and called OCSD again. The officers came to see him and took notes, but Berendt said he signed nothing.

Later, he testified, while he was at Johnson's, the two of them were in the basement drinking beer Johnson said he had stolen from a party store the night before. Berendt said Johnson once again described how he and Coyle had killed Ms. Hockey. Berendt said he showed him the hammer and a "small rod" the alleged weapons. Then Coyle arrived.

The third and final witness to testify was Johnson's 18 year old sister Diane who gave her address as East Walton Blvd.

She said she and her boyfriend Vernon "Rusty" Foor

Rather cool conditions persisted over Southeastern Michigan during the month of August. Rainfall totals were quite variable over our 4-township and surrounding area with totals ranging from 2.53 inches at Bishop Airport in Flint to 4.80 inches near Van Norman Lake/Waterford Township. Locally, the nurthern Clarkston station recorded 2.72 inches and the eastern Clarkston station recorded 3.21 inches of rainfall during August. Rainfall was generally well-distributed throughout the month, with no prolonged dry or wet

Temperatures during August averaged about 21/2 degrees below normal per day, as the mean temperature for the month was only 67.3 degrees. Based on data from the eastern Clarkston station, temperatures ranged from a low of 40 degrees on the morning of the 16th to a high of 91 degrees on the 7th. The 91-degree temperature recorded on the 7th marked the first time that the thermometer topped the 90-degree mark this summer (and it will probably be the last time, too). Last year, the Clarkston area experienced 9 days with temperatures in During this past August, Detroit Metropolitan Airport had 2 all-time low temperatures broken-both times by 5 degrees. Could this be a warning sign of an early autumn this year? Some trees have already started showing their fall colors and are in the process of dropping their leaves. For you home gardeners, we have a 10% chance of frost in our area by September 25, and a 50% chance by October 11.

If you have watched or listened to the news lately, you have probably noticed that some hurricanes have been given men's names. Beginning this year, men's names have been added to the list of hurricane names for the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico. This years list includes the following names: Ana, Bob, Claudette, David, Elena, Frederic, Gloria, Henri, Isabel, Juan, Kate, Larry, Mindy, Nicolas, Odette, Peter, Rose, Sam, Teresa, Victor, and Wanda. The letters Q, U, X, Y, and Z are not used due to the scarcity of names beginning with those letters. Five different lists have been set up for use over the next five years; after five years, this year's list will be used again. The Weather Service has a policy, however, of retiring the name of any storm that becomes notable due to its destructive effects. Possibly "David" will become the first of the male "himmicane" names to be retired. (The isohyetal map was prepared by Robert C. Davis and Brian M. Iversen and was sponsored by Johnson & Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers).

they had done but she refused to believe it. When he started to go into detail, she told him she didn't want to Foor told her later Coyle had admitted burning Ms. Hockey's purse and shoes behind the house. She said Coyle had told her nothing.

Ms. Johnson said she met Berendt later that night at the Lion's Den and told him of her conversation with her brother.

She said she talked to the OCSD on Tuesday, made a statement, and signed it.

On cross examination by the defendant's attorney, Ms. Johnson said she, Foor, Johnson, Coyle and Hockey had all been together Saturday night at a party. They left in what Ms. Hockey had said was her car but Foor was driving. The other woman had been drinking, she testified, and had passed out in the back seat.

Testimony ended with Patterson making the motion to have the case bound over to Circuit Court, the crime having been established as the result of testimony. There was probable cause, he said, to believe the crime,

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1979. Arnhoff argued the alleged statements made by the two defendants and the coroner's report were not sufficient to establish first degree or an open charge of murder. It was just "unlawful death."

Judge Gerald McNally said he was satisfied with the charge and granted the prosecutor's motion. Johnson and Coyle will remain in the Oakland County jail without bond until their arraignment in Circuit Court on Tuesday, October 9 at 9 a.m., before Judge Farrell Roberts.

This Week-Brooks Patterson

L. Brooks Patterson is the Oakland County Prosecutor who also happens to be an Independence Township resident. Last week he appeared in 52nd District Court as the prosecuting attorney in the Monica Hockey murder case. He is the subject of this week's R. by Carol Balzarini

R.-Why did you decide to prosecute the Hockey case yourself?

A.-I try a couple of cases a year anyway, but this case is significant as far as my office is concerned.

R.-Why is it significant?

A. There has been a breakdown in the penal system. These two are a walkaway and a parolee. It was a cold-blooded and vicious crime with no motive. If they had not killed Monica Hockey, they would have killed someone else.

R.-What is wrong with the system?

A.-The criminal justice system in this state is a miserable failure. It does not deter crime, it does not punish the offender, it does not protect the innocent victim.

R.-What solution would you recommend?

A.-I'm starting a petition drive for capital punishment. It's in the organizing stage right now, but the drive should begin probably in January. Most of the research has been done on an appropriate constitutional amendment. It will cost about $15,000 to launch this drive. I also plan to make a lot of speaking engagements.

R.-How much support do you anticipate?

A. There have been similar moves in other areas of the state. I have been in contact with the father of a young girl who was killed recently in the western part of the state. The Fraternal Order of Police is interested and so is former State Senator Kirby Holmes whose own campaign for capital punishment was narrowly defeated at the time.

R.-Aren't you concerned about your pre-trial statements prejudicing your case?

A.-No. I would not make statements of this sort if the trial was imminent, but that won't be before December or January. I also anticipate a separate trial for each defendant because of statements made during the testimony using the term "we."

Illegal Dump Clean-Up Time Consuming

by Mike Wilcox

Since the state's Toxic Substance Control Commission's declaration of emergency at the Springfield and Rose Township illegal dumpsites was put into effect two weeks ago, a steady stream of clean-up crews have been working in the area.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1979

To many the clean-up is ten years too late. That's about how long ago Joseph Nickson stopped allowing haulers to dump the barrels containing toxic waste on his forty acres off of a remote rural road called Shindler.

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has received the lions share of criticism for not reacting sooner to the contamination problem.

State Senator Kerry Kammer, who represents Springfield Township, said, "the department (DNR) has known about the present situation since at least 1970. Nothing was done about it until some worried people living near the landfills complained in 1978."

Now tests have shown traces of toxic industrial solvents in the well water of at least twelve families near the dumpsites. These residents have been advised not to drink or cook with the tainted water.

But how is the clean-up proceeding and where are the contaminated barrels being taken?

The clean-up would not be possible without the declaration of emergency that provided essential funds to take on the massive clean-up project.

In the Declaration, the commission, in justifying appropriation of the money said, "The toxic substances were disposed in a manner which posed and continues to pose an immediate threat to the ground water which supplies private drinking wells in adjacent areas..."

"The commission further finds that without immediate action to contain these toxic substances, the material will continue to leach into the groundwaters threatening widespread contamination of domestic wells."

In the emergency order, the toxic commission spelled out a number of steps that were to be taken by appropriate agencies. They included:

A. An order for the DNR to take the actions necessary to isolate and contain the concentrated toxic substances.

B. An order to begin hydrogeologic studies of the land to determine aquifer depths, direction, rate of flow and volume of groundwater contaminated.

C. An order to develop a statistically valid sampling program to test water supply wells for toxic substances.

D. An order to ensure an immediate interim supply of water to those persons served by wells which have been found to be contaminated.

E. An order to initiate an appropriate health-effects evaluation for persons exposed to toxic contaminants at levels of concern.

F. An order to orient the medical profession serving the area to the potential human health hazards associated with the toxic chemicals.

G. An order to study alternate sources for providing permanent water supplies for those persons whose present water is likely to be contaminated.

H. An order to evaluate the effects of the toxic substances on agricultural animals and products raised in the area.

I. An order to expedite the release of funds necessary to comply with the Declaration.

The DNR began their Springfield Township clean-up by placing the 55 gallon drums and other containers found on the Shindler Road dump site in 85 gallon steel recovery drums. The drums containing solid material with PCB content greater than 50 ppm were to be disposed at a U.S. EPA approved PCB disposal location. Those solids with a lower PCB content could go to a site in Michigan.

Liquids are another problem, however. There is no site in Michigan at which liquids containing greater than 50 pp. PCB's can be stored. The DNR has proposed to construct a temporary site for the liquids.

Once the drums and containers have been picked up, clean-up of contaminated soils and buried 55 gallon drums will begin. Some brush and trees will be removed so that large capacity earth moving equipment can operate on the site.

Initially, one or two pans (machines capable of removing thin layers of soil) will be used to expose subsurface soils and drum burial sites. Once these drums are removed a back-hoe will be employed to excavate each drum burial site until the level of phenols in the soil decreases below 0.25 ppm. Each pit will then be sampled for other toxic substances. Based on the analyses, if everything checks out the pits will be closed and graded.

The cost of the initial containment phase of the clean-up is expected to be between $200,000 - $300,000.

TCE, PCE Concentration Remains a Mystery

TCE and PCE are two of the major toxic substances found in the contaminated well water. Tricholorethylene (TCE) and Perchloroethylene (PCE) are both aliphatic chloronated hydrocarbons that are used extensively as solvents. Industry uses them as a degreasing agent, and dry cleaners use them to clean clothes.

These compounds do have some medical usage, in that PCE was used in the past as a deworming agent and TCE is used as an anesthetic for surgery. Like any compound, these two substances can cause harmful effects if they are taken in too high concentrations. Their chief action would be to depress the central nervous system and, secondly, cause malfunction of the liver and kidneys.

The question in this case is, "in what concentration?." The answer to that question is not clear. A search of the literature has, so far, not revealed any definite knowledge of what concentration ingested by mouth over what period of time actually causes a demonstrable effect in a human being. There are certain arbitrary standards that have been set up for inhalation of these compounds in the gaseous state, but no controlled studies to verify these standards.

The only written reference the Oakland County Health Division has been able to locate on standards for drinking water in regard to TCE and PCE is held by the Environmental Protection Agency. According to a telephone conversation with their district office in Detroit, the acceptable levels for these compounds are 200-parts-per-billion in drinking water for a "short term" and 10-parts-per-billion over a "long term."

Of the 10 homes found to have PCE or TCE in their water supply, 8 had less than 10-parts-per-billion.

Independence Attorney Rules Zero Collection Legal

by Carol Balzarini

Saying it was the "fairest way to distribute the money." Independence Township Clerk Chris Rose revealed his proposal to use up $236,000 in surplus funds by levying no general fund millage for the next year has been upheld by the township attorney. That proposal was narrowly passed by the board over the objections of Treasurer Fred Ritter that it was "fiscally irresponsible.'

In a letter to members of the township board, attorney Richard Campbell said he had reviewed all available material, of which there was little, and checked with the state Attorney General's office. He has concluded the township should have "no trouble again levying millage after reducing to a zero collection for the present year..." under the terms of the Headlee amendment.

In the most basic terms, the Headlee amendment limits taxation without approval of the voters. Ritter had feared levying zero general fund millage for one year would make that year the basis for the next year's levy. Campbell interpreted the base year for taxation to be the one in which Headlee was ratified.

The authorized rate, according to Campbell's letter, is the one to be considered, not the actual one. The maximum authorized rate for Independence Township is 1.41 mills for the general fund although only 1.33 has

Although the 1.33 mills is only 2.9 percent of the total tax bill Rose felt it was the most equitable way to return the surplus to the taxpayers.

"It was becoming obvious the board would never agree on the use of surplus funds. It seemed inappropriate to just hold them and never apply them," Rose said.

'Also we've talked about several millage requests to buy land and for police and fire. I don't think we could pass a millage as long as we held onto that surplus. It's just the fairest way to distribute the money."

At the time of his proposal, Rose said he was "very sure" Headlee would not be a problem. "We already had our tax rate fixed at 1.41 mills and the state legislature had agreed that the rollback would be from the maximum authorized rate not the maximum levied

Another consideration is the tax rebate will affect both the township and the village. The village had made a request for its share of the surplus, but that figure in terms of dollars and cents could not be determined.

'We don't know why we had the surplus. It can't be attributed to any one source other than fiscal responsibility," Rose said with a smile.

Teachers, Board Ratify Three Year Contract at Eight Percent

by Carol Balzarini

Clarkston Community Schools teachers and the School Board have ratified a three-year contract previously agreed upon by negotiators. Both groups okayed the eight percent a year increase for teaching personnel with up to ten years' experience and ten percent for those at the top of the salary schedule. This is in addition to the annual increments built into the schedule. Increments average about 2.9 percent.

A combination of the two bring teaching salaries for the 1979-80 school year up an average of 11 percent over last year's. After the 10th step teachers receive no increments, but have longevity additions of about $1,000 at the 16th and 21st steps.

Conrad Bruce, chief negotiator for the school district, said about fifty percent of the district's teachers are at the top of the salary scale for the first time.

There were no firm figures as to how the Clarkston school district compared county-wide with salary totals, but the percentage of the increase was one of the highest, according to Al Bartlett, president of the CEA.

He added, "We were looking for movement upward from where we were. That's more significant than percentages."

Oakland County is about the fifth wealthiest county in the country and was ranked number 360 of 512 school districts in average teachers' salaries in 1977-78, Bruce said

The average Clarkston teacher's salary for the coming school year will be about $19,000.

Fringe benefits gained under the terms of the new contract called for no change in health insurance with teachers still having the option of either Blue Cross or Super-Med II offered by MESSA.

Life insurance benefits will be increased from $20,000 to $25,000 for the first two years, $30,000 the third. The term insurance is available only for as long as the teacher is with the district. Total cost of the improved life insurance package amounts to some $3,500 per year for district.

Improvements were gained in dental insurance. The current policy, with Delta of Michigan, pays 80 percent of routine dental care, 80 percent in special areas.

The new terms give teachers 100 percent coverage in routine care and 90 percent in special area. It was termed a "better program all around."

In response to a question about why a three-year contract instead of two, Bruce said "labor peace" was the number one reason.

"Number two, we can plan and budget for the next three years. We know what our revenues will be for the next three years."

"The negotiating process is very time-consuming. Our plans began in January and culminated in Setpember. It takes an enormous amount of time and energy," Bruce concluded.

Cost of the contract for the coming year Bruce set at $5,991,499 or about half of the total school district budget. He added that it was within the board budget for this year, one point the board members were adament about.

Contract talks also resulted in board/teacher agreement to work on several areas together.

One area was elementary playgrounds. Better communication and cooperation will be sought between teachers and aides. A committee will be set up with one lower elementary teacher and one upper from each building to meet with Bill Neff.

Better supervision and discipline are also sought along with consistent procedures in all buildings.

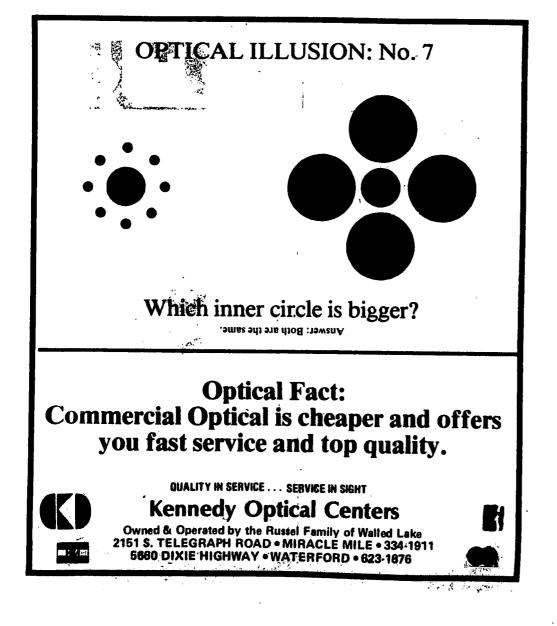

Another look will be taken at the 7-period day at the high school, termed "unusual" in high schools these days as most are six with longer class periods and time given for homework.

Bartlett said the number of study halls had been reduced from seven to four but they would like to eliminate the remaining ones also. The problem, he said, was there was no class space available for those students.

The CEA has agreed to a joint curriculum committee to look into the problem. A related concern is the large class sizes with preparation time being low in proportion to the number of students for many teachers.

Another by-product of the three-year agreement is a three-year school calendar. The next two school years will begin before Labor Day "to get out at a decent time in June." There will also be a separate calendar for the vocational school.

The three student days to be made up due to the short-lived teachers' strike will occur on the two record days at the end of each semester plus the mid-winter break day sometime in February.

Poet Protests Gravel Mining

GRAVEL SONG FROM THE YEAR 2,000

(The following should be sung to the tune stolen from the Battle Hymn of the Republic)

Gravel trucks are traveling day and night on highway 75; Flying stones make it impossible for you to safely drive Unless your windshield's made of plastic

And you care not to arrive At the place you wish to go.

(Chorus to be repeated at the end of each stanza)

Glory, glory gravel mining Glory, glory gravel mining Glory, glory gravel mining The trucks are rolling on.

The Township had a choice to make in nineteen-seventynine:

Whether to stop invading miners & preserve their land so fine

Or to put their heads into the sand And let the real estate decline -And the choice is obvious!

Now the Clinton River's damaged and the lakes have drained away;

Many houses are surrounded by a thick and oozing clay. Grass and trees have long since gone;

There are no residents today Hurrah for barren lands!

Had the people only heeded the advice of those who

They could have fended off invaders & the land would have been spared.

Greed has wired out lakes and hills

Greed has wiped out lakes and hills And the scene can't be repaired -Three cheers for apathy!

by Anne Ominous, U.P. (Unlicensed poet)

They Support Pine Knob Hotel

Letter to the Editor:

As property owners in Independence Township for 25 years, we would like to express our opinion and encourage those who have pondered the question of the high rise hotel at Pine Knob to consider this.

We have noticed more and more, the spread of offices, shopping centers and parking lots. Is it better that our land be consumed by sprawling shopping malls and black top? Are we going that way? We would much rather see a few buildings than the continuous loss of our land.

In the name of progress in our community, which is inevitable, let us look at where the best possible location for a structure such as this. In the middle of the Pine Knob Complex is the ideal place for it. We have had many lovely homes built in our area, which is no more than right, and we have the Village which will and must remain a Historical sight.

In this county we are fortunate to have the Silverdome, Meadowbrook, Pine Knob, many parks and more. The heart of winter and summer entertainment.

As retirees the proximity of these places is important to us.

Other pluses which will help us all are reduction in taxes and employment for people of our community.

Memorial Fund for Gerald Carpenter

Dear Editor:

In the early morning hurs of December 7, 1976 Pontiac Police Officer Gerald Carpenter gave up his life in the performance of his duties. As police officers we all realize that this is a distinct possibility and we accept this fact. Gerald Carpenter gave his life on that morning and we would now like to give in his memory.

At a general membership meeting of the Pontiac Police Officers Association on September 12, 1979 we voted to activate and support the Gerald Carpenter Memorial Fund. This has long been a dream of many police officers in Pontiac who have pledged to work very hard for this fund.

The fund hopes to eventually sponsor programs honoring citizens, students, and other police officers who exemplify the spirit of GErald Carpenter. It is our hope to involve the total community as we build.

On Saturday, September 29, 1979 between the hours of 6 a.m. and 1 p.m. we are sponsoring a pancake breakfast at the shelter at Water and Perry in downtown Pontiac. This breakfast is to raise funds for a Christmas program that we have supported in the past years. Tickets for the breakfast entitle you to O.J. coffee or milk, smoky link sausage, and pancakes with butter and syrup. Come downtown, let us serve you breakfast.

We are optimistic about this fund and would like to ask your assistance in publishing this letter so that the community can hear about this program and hopefully support us by having breakfast with us. Advance tickets can be purchased by asking your local police officer for information.

We as police officers know that we need the support of this community, we know also how they need us. Gerry gave, we all stand ready to give. Please support us, working together, the spirit of Gerald Carpenter will never die in this community.

Pizza Test Proves No One is Best

by Mike Wilcox

The pizza business is big in North Oakland County. Each Friday and Saturday thousands of area residents make the trek to the local pizza parlor to pick-up that "super special" that tastes so good with soft drinks and beer.

The Reminder decided to find out where the "true pizza connisseurs" hang out. Thus, last Saturday night, four Reminder staffers (all between 18-30, the age group where pizza is most popular) armed with notebooks and pencils, visited four area pizza parlors to compare pizzas and to establish the best pizza parlor in the area.

Calling it "The Reminder Pizza Taste Test," Mike and Lorie Wilcox along with Kathy McReynolds and Renee Voit meticulously tasted piece after piece of pizza until it became evident that one more bite of pizza would likely send someone running to the nearest restroom.

Who are these taste testers and what makes them qualified to judge America's favorite late hour snack?

Youngest of the quartet is Renee Voit, an eighteen year old that was practically raised on pizza. "Although pizza has never been my favorite food, I think I've had enough of them to know what I'm talking about," she Indeed she has. Just last week she had pizza four nights in a row leading up to the Pizza Taste Test.

Kathy McReynolds, oldest member of the taste testers, could be classified a pizza fanatic. She eats it hot or cold, morning and night. She's sampled pizza from hundreds of parlors across the United States and has even tasted in the saucy stuff in Italy and other European countries.

Lorie Wilcox made it into her college honor society primarily because she had pizza to look forward to after a hard night of studying. She and her roommates ordered pizza nightly, making it as much a part of their daily routine as getting up in the morning.

Me, well I like pizza--but it's got to be a certain way. Most people like a lot of toppings--things like anchovies. green peppers and sausage. I absolutely abhor those things. To me a true pizza is one with cheese--and cheese alone with maybe a pepperoni or two.

Thus you can see--a diverse group--but one determined to seek the best pizza in North Oakland County.

Our first stop was Little Caesars on Ortonville Road in Clarkston. The atmosphere is not what you would call top notch. One customer complained loudly about the length of time it took just to get waited on. We noticed our pizza was taking a long time to prepare.

But once we got it, all four of us agreed it was worth the wait. We ordered a medium super which contained exotic ingredients like banana peppers and Italian sausage. All four tasters rated the crust a 10, the highest rating possible. It also had high marks for its lack of grease and tasty topping. It probably would have swept the contest if it weren't for low marks on service and atmosphere. As it was, Mike rated it his top choice.

Next stop was the Pizza Hut on Walton in Drayton Plains. There we were greeted by the chef who said he was about to give us his best--a pizza he had spent extra time on to hopefully please us.

And please us he did. Despite each having eaten three pieces at our first stop, we hungrily ate two more at the Pizza Hut. We ate their Super Supreme which included black olives, onions, Canadian bacon, and assorted other received high marks from each of the testers. If Pizza Hut had any weaknesses it was in the crust, and possibly in the cost of the pizza. Although not by much, its pizzas were slightly more expensive than the others. Despite that, Renee made it her top choice.

After five pieces of pizza each, the testers were beginning to complain. The long drive to our next stop, Nanjo's on Dixie Highway in Springfield did not help the digestion process either. Lorie claimed she couldn't force down another bite. Renee was having trouble staying awake and Kathy, despite having only a glass of beer said the pizza was making her drunk. Mike, well he was all set to tackle the next pizza.

Instead of jumping for joy, the ladies slumped in their seats when we were told by the Nanjo waitress we were going to get the works. The works began with a huge Greek salad (delicious) and some very tasty pizza bread. The next step was their best pizza.

Nanjos received mediocre marks from everyone on grease and crust. The crust was a little too thick and the grease was more visible than the previous stops. But the restaurant more than made up for it with their service and topping. Nobody could possibly rate their service less than a ten and their toppings were not spread sparingly, covering the pizza from edge to edge. Lorie rated Nanjos as her all time favorite.

Our final stop was home where we tasted our last pizza, a carryout from Jo Angelos in the Independence Commons on Dixie Highway. This was after we all had had at least six or seven pieces of pizza, a Greek salad, several pieces of pizza bread, and various soft drinks along the way.

For some reason the tasters were very inconsistent when rating the final pizza. Jo Angelos seemed to receive high and low marks in every category except service where they were rated quite high by all. Despite being nearly sick from overeating, Kathy rated it as the best she had had all night.

The evening ended with several vows that pizza would never be eaten again and that this pizza test was a lousy idea. In some respects it was. We set out to find the best pizza around and completely failed. Each of us picked a different parlor as the best. I guess it only goes to show that pizza is as different as night and day, and depending on what you like, one person's best can be another person's all time worst. All we seemed to accomplish was several severe cases of indigestion.

(Editors Note: A big thank you to those pizza parlors who agreed to host us during this pizza test. There were some parlors that refused to get involved for fear that their pizza would be criticized.)

Wolves Blitzed by Powerful Andover

By John Huttenlocher

The Clarkston Wolves varsity football team lost to a red-hot Bloomfield Hills Andover team by a score of 30-6. The Barons had a tough defense that held the Wolves to 72 yards rushing and 80 yards passing. Andover's offense rolled over Clarkston for 294 yards rushing and 75 yards passing. They scored on runs from 56, 10, and 2 yards out. They also scored on an 8 yard pass.

Clarkston's offense was cold all night long. Brad Sheldon and Nick Lekas both quarterbacked for Clarkston. They combined for 9 completions out of 24 passes with 3 interceptions. Clarkston's only touchdown came on a 1 yard run by Lekas. The 2 point conversion Clarkston goes 0-3 into their next game. They play the Rochester Falcons at home on Friday night.

SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE REMINDER

This Week - Decorator Den

Linda Boyer has always been fascinated with interior decorating. She's decorated homes of friends and attended many decorating classes. But it wasn't until about three years ago that she became serious about owning her own business. And after checking with various franchises she chose Decorating Den in 1978.

Despite the long hours, Ms. Boyer is happy with her decision. "I really enjoy working with the people. Most people have excellent ideas. They just need somebody to put them together," she said.

When Ms Boyer bought the franchise she thought it would be a part-time thing. But she quickly found out, it wasn't. "If there were nine days a week it would be all nine days," she added.

Linda has an office in her home on Clark Road in Davisburg, but keeps 5000 samples of carpeting, draperies, wallpaper and other decorating needs in the cream colored van.

The biggest advantage Ms. Boyer offers her customers is being able to come to their home instead of them coming to her.

"Decorating decisions should be made in the home," she said. That way you don't have to run back and forth to the store. We'll set up an appointment at your convenience and come right to the door with our samples, she continued.

Linda claimed her decorating van is "very well organized." "There are shelves and racks all over and I even got a little bit of room to sit on the floor.'

Another thing Ms. Boyer likes about being affiliated with the franchise is being able to attend the continuing classes they sponsor to update decorating ideas and talk about lifestyle decorating.

"I think most people are very uncomfortable with having a decorator come in," said Ms. Boyer. But she considers it a tremendous challenge to try and work with the interior that is already there--to build from the existing decorating. "That's what lifestyle decorating is all about," she added.

"Some people think of a decorator as a person who's going to rip up their home and pooh-pooh their ideas and work way above their budget," said Linda.

But that's not true in the case of Decorator Den, claimed Ms. Boyer. We work with people and their ideas and never try to go over a budget.

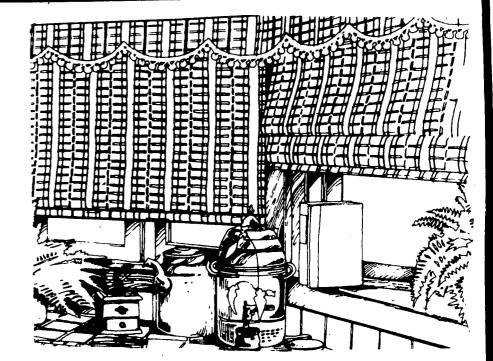

Linda said many of the women she works with have more talent than they realize. It is her job to bring that

As an example, Ms. Boyer recalled visiting a woman who was concerned about new furniture she had just bought. She wanted a neutral tone for her room but was really afraid to do it. Ms. Boyer agreed with her that the neutral looked best and together they used a neutral scheme in decorating the room. "She just needed a little bit of confidence, that's all," said Linda.

When she's not on the job, Linda spends time at home with her husband Michael, an electrical engineer and their six children (Geoffrey, Steve, Julie, Sheryl, Chris and Debbie). And as if six children were not enough to keep her company, Linda speaks fondly of their three dogs (a Labrador Retriever, a German Sheperd and a Dalmation) and a cat.

Standard Federal Savings Opens Doors to New Waterford Branch Office

Standard Federal Savings celebrated the opening of their new Waterford Township office on September 4, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony featuring Mrs. Naomi F. Griffin, Waterford Township Clerk, and Mr. Dennis M. Ritter, Waterford Township Treasurer. The new branch office, located at 5619 Dixie Highway, adjacent to the Waterfall Shopping Center, was previously housed in a temporary facility which was opened in April of 1978.

Susan Keys, manager of the new office, stated, "My staff and I have been pleased with our reception in the Waterford-Clarkston area. We are sure that we will be able to respond even more effectively to the savings and mortgage needs of our customers and the community now that we have more space and better facilities in which to operate."

During a special grand opening celebration, customers who deposit $500 or more or add to an existing account at the Waterford Township branch, will receive a beautiful free gift of Oneida Silverplate.

A full range of savings programs is available at the new office. Regular savings accounts earn 51/2% per year, with interest computed daily and paid quarterly. Certificate savings accounts are also available at the branch and include a one-year certificate which earns $61\!\!/\!_2\%$ per year; a $21\!\!/\!_2\text{-year}$ certificate which earns $63\!\!/\!_4\%$ per year; a 4-year certificate earns 71/2% per year; a 6-year certificate earns 73/4%; and the 8-year certificate, which earns 8% per year. All these certificate accounts require a minimum balance of \$100 and interest is paid and compounded quarterly. The 26-Week Money Market Certificate requires a mimimum balance of \$10,000.00 and the rate is determined on a weekly basis. The 4-year Money Market Certificate requires a minimum balance of \$100 and the rate is determined on a monthly basis. The current rate on these accounts may be obtained by calling the Waterford office, 623-9255.

Standard Federal Savings is one of the nation's largest savings associations with assets of more than $2.7 billion and presently operates 46 branch offices in the metropolitan area.

The Lumber Yard Adds Showroom Space

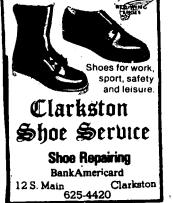

The Lumber Yard in Davisburg announces the opening of a new showroom area. The area provides extra floor space in which customers can better view paneling and other merchandise where color, pattern and size is important.

Although not entirely completed yet, The Lumber Yard is stocking the new area with merchandise that is not now available in Davisburg (sporting goods for example).

In remodeling to add the extra space. The Lumber Yard neither made it expensive or fancy, because it is their philosophy that customers should not have to pay for elaborate showrooms through the higher costs of products. They expect to continue to offer quality products at competitive prices.

The Creative Cooperative Nursery will be starting its new school year October 1, at their new home in the Community United Presbyterian Church at the corner of Sashabaw and Monroe (near Dixie Highway). There are still openings in both the three and four year old classes. If you are interested in sharing your child's school experience and learning along with him/her, call 673-2751 or 625-1351 for more information.

Clarkston JV Shuts Out Rochester, 18-0

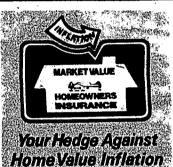

The Clarkston J.V. Stormed to another victory Thursday night as they shut out the Rochester Falcons 18-0. It was all Clarkston in the first half as they dominated with their offense.

When quarterback Mike Stefanski went to the air, Duane Cahill was the receiver. He caught two touchdown passes. When Stefanski kept the ball on the ground, he gave it to Tim Brennan. Brennan rushed for 102 yards in 16 carries. Stefanski ran in for a touchdown from the 1 yard line.

In the second half, the Wolves died. The Falcons came alive and had several scoring opportunities. They were, however, stopped by Bruce Burwitz and Mike Westwater who had key interceptions on the goal-line.

A Development Emphasizing the Preservation of Wetlands

by Carol Balzarini

We've come a long way in our attitudes toward land development.

At one time it was a grid pattern laid out on a piece of land after the trees had been cut down and its contours erased by a bulldozer.

The opposite end of the spectrum can be found in Poquosin here in Independence Township.

Poquosin's homes all have the same natural wood siding, white stucco, and visual simplicity, but no two are alike. They were designed by Frank Noftz to blend with their natural surroundings, not interfere with it.

Springfield Township NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given that the following Public Hearing will be held by the Springfield Township Planning Commission on - Tuesday, October 16, 1979 Beginning at 7:30 p.m.

at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan 48019, to hear comments relating to proposed text amendments to the Title. Preamble, definitions, and Sections 3.03, 4.02, 5.02, 5.05, 5.06, 5.07, 5.08, 5.09, 6.02, 7.02, 8.02, .02, 11.02, 12.02, 13.00 13A.04, 14.05, 16.07, 16.08, 16.09, and 23.00 of the Township Zoning Ordinance #26 as amended, in conformance with recent changes to the Township Rural Zoning Act, Act 637- of 1978, and the Township Board creation of new Zoning District R-1-A Suburban Estates, July 5, 1979. This is a summary notice of the Sections to be discussed at the Public Hearing. The full text of amendments and Ordinance #26 are available in the Clerk's Office, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan 48019, for inspection between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, until the date of Public Hearing.

The diagram shows Poquosin I and II. The areas separated by dotted lines in each parcel have been designated as scenic easements dedicated to the Independence Land Conservancy assuring preservation in their natural state. Poquosin means "swamp," Musquash is "muskrat," both Indian words.

Here, the developers are not only willing to build in a wetland but they are also willing to preserve it. They are also selling large, irregularly shaped lots to people who are willing to cultivate only a small portion of their own land and to have some of it in the care of a third party. To top that, they are willing to pay upwards of $225,000 to Poquosin, an Indian word meaning "swamp" or wetland, is the result of the philosophy of developers Jim and Lucy Kasl who had an appreciation for nature in its natural state. They have proved man and nature can exist side by side in harmony.

Poquosin is located on the east side of Perry Lake Road north of I-75. It has been developed in two phases on thirty-three acres of land. It owes it marsh land to the Clinton River which flows along the rear of the acreage, it's part of the river's flood plain.

This unique development is made more so by the dedication of much of its land to the Independence Land Conservancy. The conservancy becomes a third party in the arrangement, insuring the land will be kept in its natural state. It will allow no construction or alteration of the land in any way. The portion of the land dedicated to the conservancy becomes a scenic easement.

The harmonious relationship of man and nature is further enhanced by designer and builder Frank Noftz who has created homes of natural wood and stucco to blend with the natural surroundings. Although made of the same materials, no two are alike.

One two-story has a master bedroom with its own small balcony overlooking the pond. The water table is too high for a basement; an abundance of storage space more than compensates.

Another design has a courtyard on one side and a balcony running the length of it on the other with a view of the marsh and pond.

Completing this group of people who espouse the philosophy of man in harmony with nature are Poquosin's agents, Doug Hargreaves and Bob Pilarcik. One of their own developments has land dedicated to the conservancy, the west end of Little Walters Lake.

NOTICE PUBLIC HEARING Springfield Township

Notice is hereby given that the Springfield Township Board will hold a Public Hearing on Wednesday, October 3, 1979, 8:00 p.m. in the Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan, to hear comments regarding the proposed creation of an Industrial Development District consisting of the following:

1. Proposed Lots 6 through 27 of Holly Greens Industrial Park No. 2, an Industrial Subdivision of Part of the S½ of Sec. 3, T4N, R8E of Springfield Township, Oakland County, Michigan, located at East Holly Road and Dixie Highway.

Notice is further given that the creation of an Industrial Development District will allow owners of said property to apply for an exemption certificate which entitles the facility to exemption from Ad Valorem Real and Personal property taxes for a period of up to 12 years up to 50 percent of the property tax which would otherwise be payable.

Notice is also given that any act on file in the Township Office pertaining to said Public Hearing is available for public inspection during regular office hours Monday through Friday. Written comments may be submitted prior to or at the Public Hearing.
