Work to Revive i.c. Programs

Without much fanfare, the area's finest "people" agency died two weeks ago. Independence Center is no longer in operation, and frankly the announcement caught myself and many other people by surprise.

But now that the initial shock has faded, we at The Reminder would like to know if there is any support to revive some of the programs i.c. had to offer. We feel i.c. offered some essential services that will leave a great void if not maintained. We go on record to offer any support we possibly can as a newspaper--and hope to hear from other groups and individuals who will do the same.

This week The Reminder spotlights area senior citizens and the services available to them. Independence Township is also celebrating the opening of their new senior citizen center--a project long OVERDUE!

All this points to the emergence of the responsibility our society has to care for its elder citizens. They've been long forgotten by our society and often too proud to remind us of their sometimes dreadful plight.

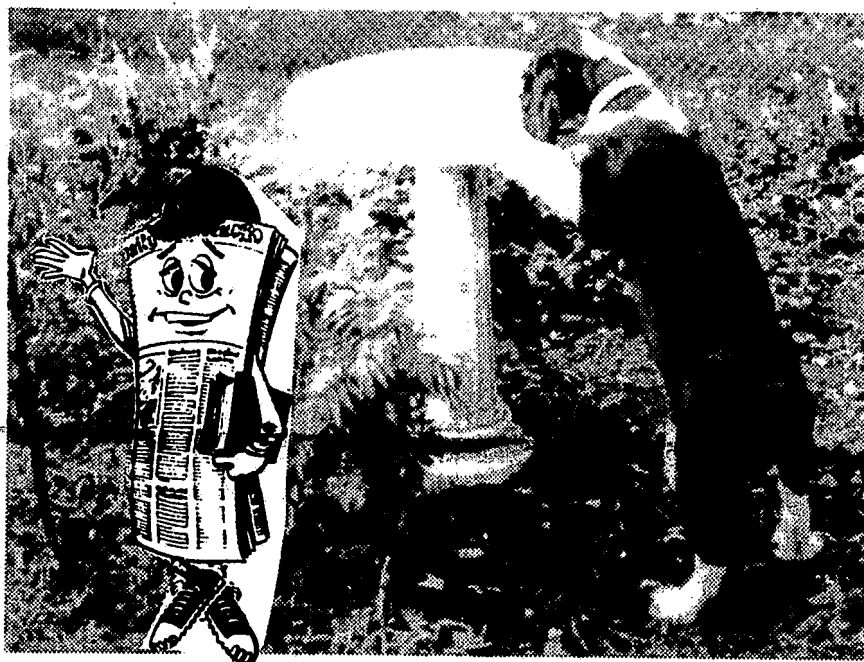

Let's hope all of us in this area will wake up and recognize the important role senior citizens can play in our society. And for gosh sakes, if you know of a senior that has transportation problems or may be lonely--make him aware of the fine facility now available in Clarkston.

One Hundred Percent Behind Pine Knob Hotel

Dear Editor:

It was a tremendous pleasure to see the results of the Pine Knob Hotel vote on Tuesday, October 16, 1979. To think that those opposed to this fantastic venture could only come up with a total of 2000 supporters while in only one month's time the Residents For The Pine Knob Hotel roused 1000 supporters; which means there are 9,000 voters who are not opposed, and more than likely have a better understanding of economics, as in "today's economy".

To quote a line from one of Clarkston's very successful merchants "you can't talk to somebody who doesn't think it is the hottest growth area around".

Developers have known this for years with their feasibility and marketing studies and planned subdivisions in all directions. Using techniques like "Ravines, lake access, lake front, close to I-75, M-59, M-15, Meadowbrook, Alpine, Pine Knob", etc. These new purchasers of these homes brought with them families or plans for families, requiring good fire and police protection. New medical facilities continue to mushroom or expand, banks appear on every corner, the beautiful Deer Lake Racquet Club, and the elegant Clarkston Mills. Boutiques have sprung up on Main Street. The Independence Township offices will be inadequate and will require new facilities and additional employees. People found their property values skyrocket and took advantage to make fabulous profits. So you closet thinkers who oppose Pine Knob Hotel had better take a good look around because you are surrounded with people who live in the real world, today's. History is fine to read about but we have to make it first and every day adds a new page. I intend to stand up and be counted as one who is 100% for the Pine Knob Hotel. And to S.S. "Long Live the King".

Goye Gravilla
Independence Township

Says Thank You to Those Who Worked Against Hotel

Letter to The Editor:

Thank you Independence Township Residents! During the last several months, a small but vocal group of your neighbors have worked selflessly and ardently to prevent the character assassination of our township. I appreciate every one of those tireless workers for the job they did. I thank every voter who went to the polls to make your voice heard--regardless of how you voted. The referendum election has proven again that this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

The October 16, 1979, mandatory referendum has declared the direction that this township is to follow. Let's see if the township officials can get in step.

Center Celebrates Grand Opening This Saturday

by Mike Wilcox

Independence citizens who attend the Senior Citizen Center Open House October 27 will see a completely remodeled home with library, fireplace, large kitchen and splendid work area, just begging to be used by area senior citizens.

And if you believe new Senior Citizen Coordinator Rina Chemin (she's held the job for six months) it won't be long before the center will have a constant flow of people traffic. It is Ms. Chemin's major goal to seek out more seniors and to see that they have the opportunity to share in the Center and its activities.

"Basically, I'd like to build the program both people wise and program-wise," said Ms. Chemin. A special target are senior citizen shut-ins who have no method of transportation. "I think there are quite a few of the shut-ins in the area."

Another target are the handicapped. "I hope to have a special hour for people who are blind or handicapped where they can come into the Center and talk," said Ms. Chemin.

A third program that will be expanded is the daily lunch program. Currently there are 50-75 regulars that partake in a lunch at the Center occasionally. Ms. Chemin hopes to at least double that figure.

The total membership for the center runs around 175. Membership allows use of the center and the right to receive an occasional newsletter.

Coordinator Chemin comes to the center with an exceptional background in volunteer work. She holds a recreation degree from Wayne State University where she gained experience working with the Boys Club, YWCA and with senior citizens.

She's been surprised at the support she's received from the community at large. Volunteers have come forth to help with programs and to donate furnishings for the new center.

"There's always somebody there that's willing to help us," Ms. Chemin added.

The center is open 9 - 5, weekdays. It is located at the entrance of Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road.

WWI Veterans Honor Trempers

Eunice and John Tremper were honored at World War I Veterans dinner Saturday, October 13 at the Springfield Township Hall, Davisburg. It was the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary. John is the Quartermaster of the Clinton Valley Barracks and Eunice is a Trustee in the Auxiliary. Concord and white grapes and apples lined the center of the long tables in keeping with the "Harvest" theme and orange candles and jack-o-lantern and cat candles in keeping with the Halloween theme. The anniversary cake baked and decorated by Marie Green was the centerpiece. Place cards made by Minnie Schneller carried out the patriotic theme.

Opening and closing of the business meeting was carried out according to ritual by President Minnie Schneller. Barracks held their separate meeting upstairs in the Township Hall. It was reported that nine persons donated their time selling apple blossoms for a total of three hundred seventeen dollars and eight cents. One half of this amount will be sent to the six veterans hospitals, namely: Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Allen Park, Saginaw, Iron Mountain and the Michigan Veteran's Facility at Grand Rapids.

The Veterans in these hospitals are from all wars, not just from World War I. The other half of our amount will be sent at Easter time.

Hilda Mansard fell in her home and injured her back. Helen Bates received third prize in the cake contest for her cake baked by a one hundred year old recipe in the Carrie Nation Festival.

Iva Landon who just returned from Kitzbuhel, Tirol Austria talked about her trip and showed pictures. John Kliffel, past Commander of the fifth district was a guest. Lucile Gries and Iva Landon will attend the Conference of State Commanders and State Service Officers at the Michigan Veteran's Facility at Grand Rapids Friday, November 9th. The purpose of the Conference is to provide information on all aspects, programs, and services currently available at the facility and to provide first-hand information and observation of these services to participants. Lucile Gries is Past Department President and Iva Landon is Hospital Chairman on the State level. Next meeting of the Barracks and Auxiliary is November 10th.

Petition Raises Questions and Eyebrows

The Clarkston area has had more than its share of petitions circulated lately, so when students went door to door circulating one of their own, both questions and eyebrows were raised about the document. It read, in part:

When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another...a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

That whenever any form of government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government...But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security."

Some recognized it as a portion of the Declaration of Independence written over 200 years ago when our forefathers decided to free themselves from English rule. Those who did not were concerned this type of "revolutionary" material was being circulated by school children with a teacher's knowledge.

One adult was concerned enough to contact Township Clerk Chris Rose who agreed to look into the matter for her.

A little investigation showed the petitioners were eight graders from John Craven's history classes at Clarkston Junior High School.

Craven said his idea came from a similar experiment in Miami, Florida, where students circulated the entire Declaration of Independence in a similar fashion. The reaction to the document was extraordinary because not everyone recognized it.

The eight graders were told to take a copy of the petition and contact ten adults. If they recognized it or were willing to sign it, there was a space provided. If they were not willing to sign it, they were asked to just comment at the bottom of the sheet as to why they did not want to sign.

Craven said the students were disappointed when the

ZBA to Settle Zoning Map Election Over Now What Happens?

by Carol Balzarini

Votes cast against the questions of hotel use and building height and for the park millage ranged from 71-74 percent of the total number cast in the October 16 election in Independence Township. A slightly higher percentage, however, opposed the height increase from the present 35' to 200' than opposed the hotel use in a recreational district.

Of the township's 11,304 registered, as of October 1978, 4,487 or 40 percent, went to the polls in this special election. That number compares with 2,600 in the last school election, 6,500 in the 1978 general election, and 7,100 in the 1976 presidential election, according to township clerk Chris Rose.

Although the election is over, the issues are by no means settled.

Township attorney Richard Campbell said he will advise the Zoning Board of Appeals to meet as planned on October 24 to settle the question of the zoning map.

He said the matter should be resolved. But, he added, mistake or not, the map was adopted and the ZBA shouldn't be "too casual about moving lines." There is a difference between the township's zoning map and the one Pine Knob has making part of the area they wanted for a hotel zoned multiple instead of recreation.

Campbell said he could see no need for former township planner Larry Burkhart to attend the meeting. ZBA members had wanted to consult with him about the new zoning map drawn up in 1975 when the new ordinance went into effect.

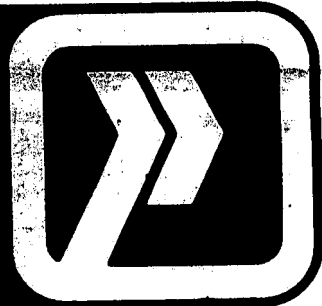

As far as the proposed Pine Knob hotel is concerned, Campbell continued, "The use is lost in my opinion. There is no point in the ZBA answering the question now. Hotels are no longer a conditional use in a recreation district."

Although Pine Knob still maintains they have the use, the attorney doesn't agree. Things done in the early 70s do not, he stated, give them the right to have a hotel now. Even the rooms above the ski lodge do not give them the right to build a bigger one.

Other than having the ZBA "clarify" the map, Campbell said the next move is up to Pine Knob.

Through the efforts of Janet McCord (right) and Ann Hubchen, Channel 7 came to Independence Township prior to last week's special election to do a feature on the park millage and attempts to keep a proposed gravel operation out of the township. Shown with them are Joe Figa (left) of the County Parks Department and Tim Doyle, head of the Township Parks Department.

Township Treasurer Fred Ritter was the on-camera spokesman interviewed by Vince Wade at the spot designated as the headwaters of the Clinton River. It was Ritter's motion to ask for the .3 mill to acquire the 80-acre parcel adjacent to Clintonwood Park putting on last week's ballot. The millage was approved by over seventy percent of the votes cast.

passages were recognized but it was a "fun" assignment for them and they enjoyed it.

Many of those who commented said they didn't understand it. Others agreed government should be changed, but by election not overthrow. Still others called it both "too radical" and "too general."

The document was called "socialism" and full of "double talk". Some didn't like the way it was worded.

One said it could lead to anarchy or communism while another said it was more pertinent for the Revolutionary period than now.

Whatever the reaction, it may be an indication of the current political climate that many people would take the petition seriously. There has been a lot of talk lately about government's responsibility to represent the people and not just their own person interests or the interests of special groups. Maybe it's time for public officials to become a little more introspective about some of the decisions they make in "the public interest."

When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political band which have connected them with another and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

That whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.

I, the undersigned, hereby declare my support for the document I have just read and examined:

the best in business

The Village Photographer

Bob and his prize portrait

For the owner of a small photography studio in downtown Ortonville, Bob Flath has some pretty impressive credentials. His photography has spanned the length of the United States, where in the process he has photographed the late Hubert Humphrey, Bart Starr, Arthur Godfrey, the Detroit riots, and did all the restoration work on the photos hanging in the Pontiac State Bank in downtown Clarkston.

Flath has been awarded the prestigious Michigan Professional Photographers Award of Excellence twice and has consistently placed in the top ten for several years.

His wife, Barb, who also comes from a photography background, (her mother owns Sayles Studio in Drayton Plains) is currently holder of the Color Artist of the Year Award for 1979.

But their biggest achievement didn't happen until this year when Bob was able to photograph Governor William Milliken in a studio setting. The portrait hangs proudly in a prominent display in the reception area of their business, The Village Photographer.

The Flaths began the business three years ago when many of the area's leaders felt a photography studio had no chance to survive in Ortonville. Well, Flath has proved not only can a studio survive—but it can thrive.

Just recently they completed decorating an addition that provides a semi-private room in which clients and the Flaths can discuss business away from the hustle and bustle of the reception area.

The full service studio provides a number of services including passbook photos, portraits, weddings, publicity photos, commercial photography, portrait and custom framing, animal photos and restorations.

Senior pictures are a big part of the studio's business. Not only do they have seniors from Goodrich and Ortonville, but Holly, West Bloomfield and Grand Blanc students have been known to arrange an appointment for their Senior photos.

Flath's formula for success is simple. "The main thing we can attribute our success to is we give the customer what they want."

Pleasing the customer might take more time than usual—but that doesn't phase the Flaths, in fact they encourage it.

"We take a lot of time with every setting," said Mrs. Flath. "That's what makes us different from everyone else."

She further explained that hour setting appointments were normal and a lot of time was spent just relaxing the customer. We've even sent people home because they couldn't relax and told them to come back the next day said Flath.

When Flath isn't busy with customers, he still manages to latch onto some pretty exciting assignments. Just a couple of weeks ago he was asked to do a series of portraits of the founder of Serta Mattresses. He hopes to be named a photographer for the Republican National Convention next year, also.

In the meantime his equally talented wife continues to perform her color artistry—bringing old, rundown photographs to a new, colorful life.

Barb demonstrates color artistry.

Why Not Ask Carolyn?

Carolyn Veresh

Dear Carolyn,

I'm 26 years old, single, attractive, live alone, and am self-employed. I don't feel lonely but from time to time would like to enjoy the company of an honest man. I guess the biggest thing that burns me is the fact that I'm very honest with men (no matter the age) and I end up scaring them to a death because I might mention after a terrific evening, "You know, I really like you, you're a lot of fun, and I hope we can get together again soon!" WHAMEE! They're gone like greased lightning! Seriously, I've considered sitting quietly like the stereo-type dumb blonde and fluttering my eyelashes, instead of being my friendly, open and honest self. Why do men have such a hard time being with a real person, real woman?

Single & Confused

Dear Single,

There is a difference between being honest and coming on too strong. A sincerely said, "thank you, I enjoyed myself," is universally appreciated. However, when you overdo a good thing, it comes across as pushy, whether you intend it or not. I encourage you to be yourself, but I would caution you to temper your honesty so you don't overstate your case. Coming on too strong or being pushy is not apart of being a real person, a genuine person, and this quality of pushiness in a person's personality will put others off, male or female.

Thoughtfully,
Carolyn

Dear Carolyn,

Friends of mine have a teenaged daughter who frequently does work around the house for us. I noticed one day our liquor supply was really dwindling. I mentioned this to my husband and he agreed with me. The only thing we can think of is perhaps our teen-aged friend has been into it. We don't want to accuse her because we aren't sure. Do you have a suggestion?

Hesitant

Dear Hesitant,

Here is a suggestion that may work. Turn all liquor bottles upside down and mark the level unnoticably and replace. Check them a few after your friend has been there to see if indeed she has snitched. Be sure to change the mark if you have a drink. If you suspect her, remove them and in their place leave a note telling her the next time you find her in your liquor cabinet, that will be the end of her employment. One word of caution, a favorite trick is to cut gin and Vodka and other clear liquors with water, so better put those very safely away!

Thoughtfully,
Carolyn

Clarkston Pom-Pom Girls Refuse to Bow to Identity Woes

by Mike Wilcox

The pom-pom girls at Clarkston High School are suffering from an identity crisis. They claim a lot of teachers and students confuse them with the cheerleaders. So much so, that they recently made up a showcase in the school entitled "Who Are The Clarkston Pom-Pom Girls?"

Well the pom-pom girls are alive and kicking (or dancing) to the beat of popular music during every football pre-game. The only problem is they say that no one shows up for pre-game--waiting instead until the football action begins.

Although the pom-pom girls have been in existence for a number of years at Clarkston, and at other Greater Oakland Athletic league schools, this year they were told they would have to disband.

"There almost wasn't a squad this year," explained Sandy Weisel, who along with Amber VanHouten, manages the fourteen member squad. A lot of the teachers thought we weren't necessary because we served the same function as the cheerleaders. There also was a problem in finding teachers to volunteer being sponsors for the group.

Finally, after several visits with the principal and other teachers, Sandy and Amber were able to convince the school the pom-pom girls were needed.

So who are these girls and what do they do?

The squad consists of five seniors: Kellie Franks, Lisa Morgan, Leslie Raguso, Weisel and VanHouten. They are supported by nine juniors: Tracy Swift, Cheryl Maxon, Carol Olney, Patty Moore, Michelle St. Charles, Sonya Smallwood, Janice Maynard, Kathy Schrubbel and Dee Milner. They now have two faculty sponsors.

Mrs. Hicks and Mrs. Fetsco.

They claim their function is to entertain more than to cheer. They do dance routines to popular music.

Sandy said, "Ours is mainly halftime entertainment during basketball, and pre-game during football. This is a big difference from the cheerleaders."

Last year the group also added wrestling to their calendar. They claim to be the first pom-pom squad to entertain during wrestling meets. "It really made the wrestling team feel good," added Amber.

The pom-pom girls are not school funded, thus besides practicing three times a week, they must set aside time to hold fundraising activities. Over the last year they've sponsored two car washes, a garage sale, several bake sales, a flower sale and a candle sale.

The squad also sponsored a pom-pom clinic for younger girls in the second through eighth grades.

The money earned from the various money-making schemes helps the girls pay for their summer camp and uniforms. An average uniform can run close to $200.00.

They attended the Badgerette Pom-Pom Camp in Grand Rapids last summer. There they won two first place awards, three seconds and a plaque.

Right now they are looking forward to the basketball season and especially the night of February 13, when Clarkston plays at The Silverdome. Although they consider football fun, basketball provides them with a captive audience and they are allowed to do their routine during halftime.

A couple of weeks ago they debuted a new routine taken from the movie "The Main Event". This week they are attempting to adapt another from the Abba hit "Waterloo".

They admit being a pom-pom girl isn't easy. Practice three times a week, fundraising activities on the weekend and camp during the summer takes up an awful lot of time. But for Sandy, and Amber and the twelve other squad members it's a neat way to be involved in school activities and promote school spirit.

Now if they could only have an audience for their pre-game routines....

Exercise is an important part of practice

Clarkston Drops Squeaker to Kettering

by John Huttenlocher

The Clarkston Wolves Varsity football team lost in a last minute effort to Waterford Kettering. The score was 12-7 with only a few minutes in the game and Clarkston had to score. Kettering had scored in the third and fourth quarters.

A drive was started and Clarkston came alive. With 14 seconds left, a pass was thrown only to be intercepted on the 1-yard line.

Scoring for the Wolves was Mark Hughes, on a 1-yard run in the 2nd quarter. Ron Feneley's kick was good for the PAT. Scoring for Kettering were Andy Hepburn in the 3rd quarter on a 14-yard run and David Schmidt in the 4th on a 7-yard run.

Clarkston's record is now 2-5 overall, and 2-3 for the GOAL. Their next game is against Rochester Adams at home.

JV Chalks up Another Win

The Clarkston Wolves have another victory in the record books. They beat the Milford Redskins, 21-14.

The Wolves looked impressive in the first half. On the second play of the game Wolf running back Bruce Burwitz carried the ball for a 50-yard touchdown run. A while later, Tim Ellis ran a reverse for a 25-yard touchdown. The next to score for Clarkston was quarterback Mike Stefanski on a 1-yard run. All of the PAT's by Kim Lair were good and the Wolves went into the locker room with a 21-0 lead.

When they came out for the third quarter with more touchdowns on their minds, something went wrong. The Redskins scored on a 7-yard run. The next touchdown belonged to Milford also as they scored on a 5-yard run. It was a game that could have been decided by one more touchdown, but it wasn't. Milford failed to score on their last possession, and Clarkston took the ball game.

The next game for the junior Wolves is Thursday, when they play the Waterford Kettering Captains at 7:00.
