U.S. Must Strive for Oil Self-Sufficiency

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1980

A lotta talk and no action. That's what we seem to be getting from the oil companies, the President and the Congress, when, now, more than ever before we must make a concerted effort to vastly reduce our dependence on foreign oil imports:

Over 50% of the oil used in the United States is imported. Most of that comes from Saudi Arabia and Nigeria. Although Saudi Arabia is very friendly with the U.S., it's not difficult to imagine an overthrow of the Saudi government. Just look what a few fanatical Moslems did to the Holy city of Mecca (located in Saudi Arabia) a month ago.

There is further danger down the road to consider. The Soviet Union, which currently exports more oil than they import, is expected to reverse that trend, importing up to a million barrels a day by 1982. Their suppliers are likely to be the very same countries the U.S. is currently importing from.

So without even considering the continual OPEC price increases and the threat of war, there are many valid reasons to get off our duffs and find our own methods of producing oil. That inlative must come from our government. President Carter must work actively to see that the oil companies step up experimentation and exploration. Congress must do the same

To do nothing, or worse yet, to just talk and talk, is a serious mistake. The age of energy politics is here and the U.S. must learn to cope with it -- or we can all kiss our prosperity and high standard of living goodbye.

Don't pass up a chance to win the free vacation being given away by The Reminder and nearly 50 participating

All you have to do is fill out the coupons on pages 8 and 9 and take them to their respective businesses. You can enter only once per trip to each business, but as many times as you like through the duration of the contest (4 weeks).

Winners will be flown to Las Vegas, The Bahamas or New York City.

Past winners (the contest is in its fourth year) have all indicated their vacations were truly "dream" vacations.

Why Not Ask Carolyn?

Dear Carolyn,

My husband and I really had one heck of a fight. We've had fights before but this one was bad. He knocked me across the room, I picked up an ashtray and threw it at him. He's hit me before, but I swore, the next time he hit me. I'd leave.

Well, the next morning he left for work. I leave just after him. I threw what I could in the car and took off. I'm at my mother's. I talked to him and he said, "Sure come on back for your things," But I'm scared. My mom says I should call the police. Do you think they would help? Do you have any other suggestions?

Scared

I called the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. I was told that an officer would accompany you and serve as a peace officer. You have a right to your personal possessions and a deputy will see to it you are not harmed when you go to claim your goods. Simply call the department and explain your situation. They will help you from there on the best way to proceed. I have found the officers to be very pleasant, understanding, and supportive in such times of crisis. I would not hesitate to call on them.

Thoughtfully,

Carolyn Veresh is a therapist in private practice with Counseling & Evaluation Associates, Davisburg, Michigan. Send correspondence to:

CARE Needs Your Donations

Once again CARE is making an appeal to the people of Michigan who, when they know the need and that the funds will be well used, respond magnificently.

For 30 years CARE has been battling malnutrition afflicting half of Pakistan's 75 million people. One out of every four babies die before age. five: Thirty times as many women die in childbirth as do mothers in developed countries. Scarce funds must be used to import food.

Now into this, one of the world's poorest of poor countries, almost 500,000 registered refugees, and countless unregistered Afganistan refugees have poured. Desperately they need shoes and blankets to protect them from the bitter cold and inhospitable terrain.

CARE, as always, is concerned with PEOPLE. Some $500,000 is committed to alleviating the suffering in this most recent tragedy. Blankets have been bought locally, children's clothes and medicines are being provided.

Much more is needed. Please, today send your. check to CARE's Afghan Refugee Fund, 1704 Guardian Bldg., Detroit, M1 48226.

FORECAS by Robert Davis

by Robert C. Davis

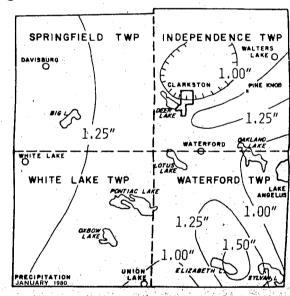

The milder than normal conditions that we experienced in December continued through portions of the first 3 weeks in January. Along with the mild conditions: there was also very little snow. However, towards the end of January, Old Man Winter finally arrived, bringing with him cold temperatures and a snow of our 4-township and surrounding area. Monthly totals ranged from a low of 0.30 of an inch at Chrystal Lake in Pontiac to 1.67 inches at Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township. Reports of less than 1 inch of precipitation were received from stations in Rochester, northern Clarkston, Crystal Lake/City of Pontiac, Union Lake/West Bloomfield Township, St. Clair Shores, Northville, and Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Locally, the northern Clarkston station reported 0.86 of an inch and the eastern Clarkston station reported 1.28 inches of precipitation during January. Very localized areas of snow showers were a common occurrence during the month, accounting in part for the unusual isophyetal pattern observed in this month's map.

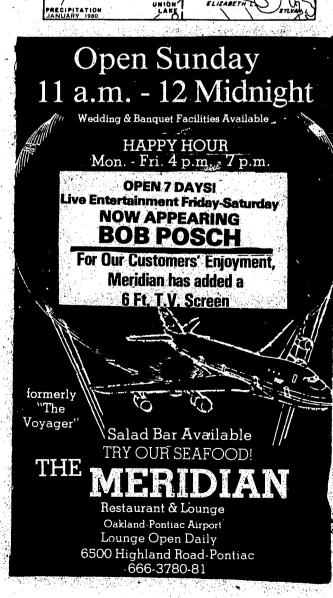

Snowfall was also below normal over our area during the month of January. The eastern Clarkston station reported 8.1 inches of snow during the month, which is about 2 inches below normal. Measurable snow was recorded on 14 different days during January, but no more than 11/2 inches fell on any given day.

Temperatures for January averaged slightly above normal, as mild temperatures earlier in the month were nearly balanced by the colder than normal temperatures at the end of the month. The eastern Clarkston station recorded a mean temperature of 22.4 degrees, which is 0.2 of a degree above normal. Temperatures ranged from a low of 3 degrees below zero on the morning of the 26th to a high of 51 degrees on the 11sth.

As promised in last month's report, let's look at how our January weather averages changed in our switch from 1940-1969 to 1950-1979 30-year climatological "mean". Oddly enough, average precipitation did not change at all; our January mean precipitation will remain at 1.65 inches. Snowfall is a different story, however. Thanks in part to heavy snowfalls in January 1976, 1977, 1978, and 1979, our January mean snowfall rose from 8.7 to 10.4 inches. Our January mean temperature also changed rather drastically, dropping 1 full degree from 23.2 to 22.2 degrees. The January drop of one degree was the largest one-month change in mean temperature recorded for the entire year. Notice also that if we had not changed to the new 30-year means, that this past month's January 1980 mean temperature of 22.4 degrees would have actually been 0.8 of a degree below normal instead of 0.2 of a degree above normal.

Before closing, I would like to correct an error of omission from my last report. In declaring that 7 of our volunteers had obtained yearly precipitation totals, I proceeded to list only 6 volunteers. My apologies go to A. John Church of Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township. who recorded the area high of 42.45 inches of precipitation in 1979. (The isohyetal map was prepared by Robert C. Davis and Mary Sue Perria, and was sponsored by Johnson and Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers).

"Absurd Person Singular" A Three-Kitchen Comedy

The Clarkston Village Players' next attraction will be "Absurd Person Singular" written by Alan Ayckbourn, described by People Magazine as the "British bard of sex and bad marriages.

What the so-called bard has created this time is the tale of three married couples who give wildly disorganized parties for each other on three successive Christmas Eves. The scene is always the kitchen of each household giving rise to the speculation that's where the action is when a party is in progress.

Jim Tyrrell and Barb Markwood are the Hopcrofts, nervous hosts of the first party. He is a storekeeper with dreams of becoming a real estate developer. She is the original Mrs. Clean who is more interested in dusting and polishing than entertaining.

Bob Arend and Marilyn Bridgeman, whose marriage is falling apart, host the second party. He is an architect failing in his profession but thriving in an extra-marital affair. She is Mrs. Clean's direct opposite who keeps trying unsuccessfully to commit suicide each time thwarted by an unperceptive guest.

Pete Rose and Marlene Sewick, seem as the haughty guests "slumming" at the previous parties, host the third one. She is now an alcoholic who sips delicately from the bottle cap while he, the banker, has sunk into apathy.

This three-kitchen comedy is directed by Russ Inman with his wife Sally as his producer. Inman also designed the sets requiring a great deal of ingenuity and a larger than usual stage crew to maneuver them.

"Absurd Person Singular" opens at the Depot Theatre on White Lake Road February 22 and runs February 22, 23, 24, 28, 29, March 1, 7, 8. The play will run three weekends because of anticipated audience reponse.

Performance time is 8:30 p.m. except Sunday at 7:30 p.m. There will be an afterglow for audience and cast following the opening night performance. The Thursday benefit is for the Waterford Jaycees who are in charge of those tickets.

Tickets are available at Tierra Arts and Design in Clarkston or by calling 363-0188.

Lawis E. Wint Funeral Home Clarkston

HERE REALLY A PURPOSE FOR A FUNERAL?

Many social and personal customs undergo changes and are criticized as obsolete and void customs and directors have of purpose. Funeral not escaped these critics.

However, these very criticisms have given strength to the tradition of funeral service, because it has caused the public to think seriously about the purpose of the funeral.

The funeral provides, of course, for the proper disposition of the body. It also provides a service of love and caring for the living, those who place value in life and pay respect to the dignity of man.

The funeral is generally a basic religious rite just as the baptism and the marriage ceremony. It provides a time for friends, neighbors and associates to express group support and compassion for the bereaved.

The funeral director is professionally trained to provide a compassionate and understanding service during the difficult emotional experience of death. We are at your service, whenever needed.

Gary Pullins of Youth Assistance

He Fights Never Ending Battle Against Youth Delinquency

by Mike Wilcox

Gary Pullins spends a good portion of every day trying to keep area teens from getting themselves into trouble. As the social worker assigned by the Oakland County Juvenile Court to The Clarkston Area Youth Assistance program, Pullins probably has done more than any other person in the community to prevent delinquency.

In explaining his work Pullins said, "My main job is to keep these kids out of the court so they don't have a permanent record."

He does this with the help of Youth Assistance, a program that has been in Clarkston since 1961, and currently boasts a working membership of about 40 people. The program is sponsored and funded by Clarkston Schools, Independence Township and the Village of Clarkston.

Pullins and Youth Assistance members have a number of committees that are working on projects to help troubled youth.

One of the most interesting projects is what Pullins calls PLUS -- People Listening, Understanding and Sharing. Much like the better known Big Brother/Big Sister organization, PLUS matches a teenager with a responsible adult.

The adult is expected to see the teenager at least once a week for at least a year. According to Pullins, the PLUS committee has matched five adults and teenagers and each of the matches is working out well.

But there is one problem the committee is finding difficult to overcome. They have currently seven teens waiting but no adults interested in playing the role of surrogate parents.

"We are practically begging for responsible adults in the area," added Pullins.

Pullins has a couple of new projects that he hopes to bring to the schools this spring.

One will try to tackle the problem of substance abuse through a Mime troupe from Common Ground in Birmingham. Called Buzz Bazaar, the mime troupe attempts to display the evils of drugs in a bazaar-like setting that has people selling a variety of drugs to others wanting to get a "buzz on." The show will be shown in both junior highs in April.

The latest Pullins brainstorm is called the Early Referral Project. It's an effort to use his counseling skills at the elementary level. He currently takes referrals only from the junior highs and high school. "I feel at the elementary level you're going to make a greater impact," said Pullins. "A lot of older kids...you can't tell them what to do...there is general breakdown in authority."

Other projects offered by Youth Assistance include LOVE (Little Ones to Value and Educate); a spring clean-up in which youth cleaned-up school grounds; and a committee to send students to summer camps.

Of course when Pullins is not helping coordinate the aforementioned projects, he's active with his own caseload. He receives referrals from the police, schools, businesses, citizens and parents for all kinds of offenses--the most popular being school truancy, shoplifting, breaking and entering and incorrigibility.

Pullins claimed there recently has been a disturbing upswing in incorrigibility-in particular defying adult authority figures. "My referrals have really increased in this area," noted Pullins.

On the other hand, he's noted a downturn in the useage of hard drugs. "The number of OD's (overdoses) has diminished down to zilch. Involvement with harder drugs definitely has diminished," he said.

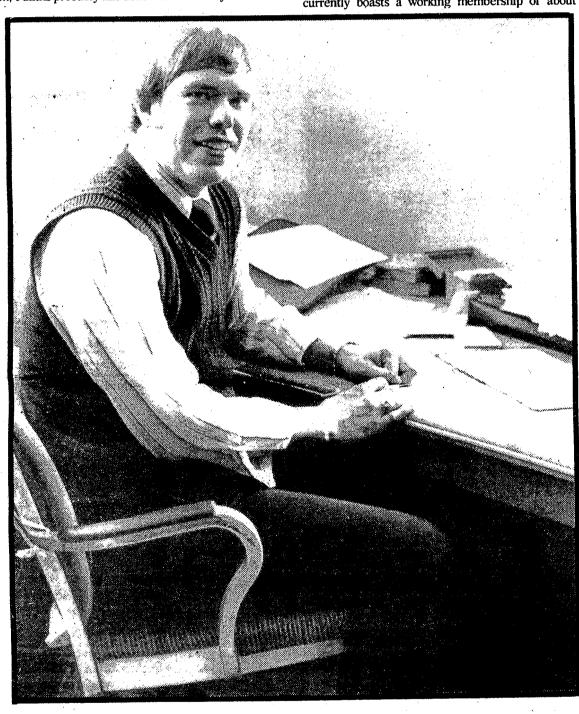

One hard drug that still is popular in this area however is referred to as angel dust. Pullins calls them horse tranquilizers. "They are extremely dangerous and I'm very concerned about them," said Pullins.

If Pullins were to describe a typical referral it would be a 15 year old boy of divorced parents, referred to him because he was caught shoplifting. The boy typically would be quite rebellious against his mother, who in turn, is distraught over her lack of control.

Although the parent appears to be distraught, Pullins indicated one of his biggest problems is getting the parents to sit down and talk with him.

"A lot of them (parents) just don't care," lamented Pullins. "We try to have a family counseling service but unfortunately a lot of them won't come in. I can count on one hand the number of times both parents have come in together."

Despite the lack of parent cooperation and many teenagers who could care less whether they were helped or not, Pullins is proud of the accomplishments he and Youth Assistance have achieved. By the way, if you need his services, Pullins is temporarily housed in the new Senior Citizens Center on Clarkston Road.

Dr. George E. Krull, a dentist with training in pediatric dentistry, is a recent addition to the local medical community. He, his wife Pam and their son Ryan, moved to Clarkston from Grosse Pointe last While treating pediatric patients for the Oakland County Health Department, Dr. Krull is also practicing dentistry in Clarkston with temporary offices in the Village Clinic on South Main Street. Once the Clarkston Professional Plaza is completed, he will practice here on a full-time basis.

A special part of pediatric dentistry for Dr. Krull is working with handicapped children and adults. He said that aspect of his work is very demanding because these patients require longer periods of time to care for often with little or no cooperation. Much of his time can be spent just trying to make their dental experiences as pleasant as possible.

Krull emphasized the diet of a handicapped child is extremely important because parents tend to bribe him with treats to get a little cooperation. Tooth-brushing may also be a low priority item for parents at the end of a particularly difficult day.

Dr. Krull recommended a child's dental care begin as early as 18-20 months with a trip to the dentist if only to talk about cleaning teeth properly and about his diet.

Dr. Krull is a 1975 graduate of Indiana University's School of Dentistry. He did his post graduate work there and at James Whitcomb Riley Children's Hospital in Indianapolis. He taught pediatric dentistry both at Indiana University and at the University of Detroit.

Meet Your Friendly Merchants Clarkston Cinema and The Lumber Yard

Recently Dan and Kathy Daniel celebrated their first anniversary as owners of the Clarkston Cinema.

When they bought the theatre in the fall of 1978 they promised many changes: a new screen and sound system, a thorough cleaning and a revised parking system to alleviate some of the traffic problems. Since then all of the promises have been fulfilled including the painting of the interior. The most noticeable change is the reduced admission price.

Many of our customers have asked how we can charge only a $1.50 and still show a profit. The only answer Daniel can give is volume. The only way to have volume is to keep the theatre clean, show the best movies available, and treat your customers like friends instead of just another

We have no intentions of raising our admission price at this time as long as people continue to patronize the Clarkston Cinema.

In an effort to present first rate films for the family, Daniel has had a continuous battle with the film companies. Recently he had to seek legal action with the drafting of a lawsuit to obtain the rights to show Mountain Family Robinson.

Daniel wanted to show the movie but was refused unless he raised his admission price to $3.00. Finally, when the film distributor was faced with a threat of an injunction to prevent him from showing it anywhere in Oakland County, he relented and gave it to us the week of February 29. If we had raised our prices to $3.00 we could have had the movie on February 8 when other area theatres will begin showing it. We felt that to raise prices for one movie would not be fair to our customers who regularly patronize the Clarkston Cinema.

The Lumber Yard in Davisburg.

"Quality service and quality merchandise is what we base our retail operation on," says "Lumber Yard" owner Steve Dice. Apparently shoppers feel that quality service and quality merchandise is important also because sales at "The Lumberyard" in Davisburg have increased ten times in just three years of doing business.

Reacting to what forecasters indicate is a growing trend away from "price shopping" at large chain stores, shopping centers and malls, "The Lumberyard" emphasizes the friendly atmosphere of a local business. No long check-out lines with indifferent sales people here.

A rapidly expanding merchandise variety has required a search for warehouse and showroom area. "With every nook and cranny being filled with so many different products to sell, we're getting squeezed right out," says "Lumberyard" office manager Sandy Robbins.

In addition to quality lumber products, builder's hardware is now available. As expansion continues, more and more hardware goods are being added along with hand tools and power tools.

The yard and garden line is growing too. In addition to hand tools, seeds, fertilizer, chain saws, and lawn mowers, garden tractors have recently been added.

As business volume grows, prices come closer and closer to other more distant establishments. "In fact, according to customer surveys, there is virtually no price difference on most items between us and the next guy-especially when you consider the overall value of the product," according to Dice.

So you are encouraged to join the trend back to shopping locally. On top of everything else, it saves gas money too.

When asked why he chose this type of business, Russ replied, "I worked in a Birmingham frame shop during high school. Both of my parents were self-employed business people and opening my own business was a natural for me." Russ is a talented musician and played the piano and saxophone during his teen years with a group of other musicians, playing the Detroit Concert Halls through the early 1970's.

When the idea of the framing business came to light, Russ sold his musical equipment and invested in frames.

Everybody Seems to Want a Share of Independence's Federal Revenue Fund

Independence Township held the first of two public hearings prior to final allocation of some $121,000 in federal revenue sharing funds. The second will be held during the first meeting of the township board in March.

In the past three entitlement periods, the township has received about $143,000. Of that figure about half has been spent leaving over $72,000 designated but unspent. Leftover funds may still be spent for designated purposes or transferred to other funds.

Village Councilwoman Ruth Basinger, who had just received a commitment from the township for her hydrology committee with its monitoring of the Mill Pond, suggested the township begin setting aside funds for the improvement of the Upper Mill Pond.

Lynn Mead reminded the township board of a previous commitment to the paving of Pine Knob Road from Clarkston Road to the north end of the Bailey Lake Elementary property. The Oakland County Road Commission has estimated it will take $200,000 for work to be done sometime in 1981. A question remains as to what part the Clarkston Community School District will play in the funding.

Bruce Shull, chairmann of the Community Center Committee, suggested allocation of $20,000 to his committee to replace an identical amount previously allocated. That money was diverted by township board agreement to purchase six-tenths acre of land located within the boundaries of Clintonwood Park adjacent to the Senior Citizen Center.

Shull told board members his committee has been interested in the same eighty acres township residents had just voted three-tenths of a mill to acquire in the October special election. It is presently owned by the Edward Levy Company which has plans for a gravel minir g operation in that area.

Joe Figa of the Safety Path Committee said he would take whatever amount was suggested for their plans; Clerk Chris Rose had suggested $20,000. Figa said he'd take that and more to go with Block Grant funds already allocated, every little bit helped. He said his committee had an unofficial master plan for safety paths now in the hands of the Planning Commission.

Mike Clark told board members these federal funds should be used to benefit the greatest number of people in the township and proposed the formation of an Energy Mobilization Task Force. This task force would inspect all businesses and residences who requested it for energy efficiency and would make recommendations for improvements. He said he would be willing to volunteer as a consultant in this education program. He estimated about two man hours per dwelling and suggested an allocation of $15,000.

Director of Parks and Recreation Tim Doyle proposed a concrete boat launch and dock for Deer Lake for some $23,000, improvements to the Flemings Lake Road property such as moto-cross tracks and ball fields for $10,000 and a 30 by 60 foot shelter complete with fireplace for Clintonwood Park for an estimated $21,000.

Clerk Chris Rose listed other suggestions for use of the funds including dust control as in the past, microfilming at the suggestion of the historical society and algae and weed control in the Mill Pond.

The library put in a request for $15,000 and the fire department one for $50,000 for equipment and to counteract the effects of inflation.

Courageous and Outspoken, Cop Charlie Retires with Rewards and Remembrances

by Kathy Rush

'The excellence of his work for people truly makes him a man and public servant beyond compare." This is just one of the many quotes of praise comprised in a tribute to Charles T. Whitlock of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. The award was presented to the former Captain at a retirement dinner recently by Representative Richard Fessler and sponsored by the House of Representatives and Senators of the Michigan.

Whitlock was very appreciative of the award but refused to accept it alone. He truly felt it belonged to his family in virtue of, the efforts and sacrifices toward his achievements. During the hardship years they waited at home while he worked sixteen and eighteen hours a day gaining self-fulfillment through achievement and recognition. And so it was. Whitlock's wife was there to accept with him the award so truly deserved.

Former Captain Whitlock retired from the department on January 15th after thirty years of dedicated performance. To substantiate this statement, Whitlock gave The Reminder a review of his career in the police

In 1949 he kicked-off his career by becoming an officer for the Pontiac Police Department. Whitlock's true desire was to be a lawyer but due to family commitment and financial needs he took the steady job of an officer, earning $2700 a year and was expected to purchase his own uniform out of that salary.

Whitlock stayed with the Pontiac Police Department until 1951 when he was appointed Special Investigator for the Prosecutor's office who at that time was under the direction of Clyde D. Underwood. Later that same year he took on road patrol for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, until 1954, when he became one of the original seven members to organize the Waterford Township Police Department.

Whitlock contended that the Waterford Chief, of Police whitlock contended that the waterford Chief of Fonce encouraged his men to abuse their ticket writing capabilities, even encouraging them to write tickets without valid reason. In view of Whitfock's integrity, he found this to be an impossible situation and he left his position to return to the Sheriff's Department. Only a few weeks after his departure, the Chief of Police was exposed for fee-splitting with a local Justice of the

In 1959, Whitlock was promptly promoted to Chief of Detectives and during the same year, according to Whitlock did something rarely ever done. He apprehended a criminal who had fled to Australia by obtaining an extradition. This, Whitlock explained, required first a Governor's warrant followed by a warrant from the President.

1973 brought another promotion to the rank of Lieutenant in charge of administrative services for the Sheriff's Department, running the budget and personnel. Whitlock was well-equipped for this promotion, which he attributed to his schooling while on the force. This schooling covered numerous aspects of police operational work ranging from homicide to police discipline and management. In reference to this position so unattractive in terms of police work, Whitlock would dress it up by calling it, "the invisible thread that would bind the department into an efficient working force."

Two years later, Whitlock fought a battle with cancer, and in his own words, "unlike John Wayne, I whipped it." Although he did lose a kidney in the process, it slowed him down very little for he only missed approximately three months work.

January 1976, Whitlock fought another formidable battle with a more visible opponent. His name, Johannes F. Spreen, Sheriff of Oakland County. Spreen brought charges again, the then Lieutenant Whitlock, and was taken to court. According to the Master of Ceremonies at his retirement party, Charlie Whitlock went through the ranks faster than anybody on the Sheriff's Department. Whitlock said he went from Lieutenant to fired, to Sergeant to Lieutenant again...all within four days! Whitlock beat the charges and went on to become Captain in 1978.

Describing the origin of his battle with Spreen, Whitlock said, "The true role of the sheriff of the county, under the federal principles of democracy at state level, is executive officer of the courts." His job, of course, does not involve police work, but by tradition, when the area was sparsely populated the sheriff took on responsibilities almost identical to that of the Chief of Police, which does indeed involve police work. Presently the sheriff is slowly being forced back into its original role. Whitlock went on to sympathize with Spreen's

Laker Stall No Threat to Unbeaten Wolfpack

by John Huttenlocher

The Clarkston gym was jam packed Friday night. The fans were screaming and the Clarkston Wolves' mascot was leading the cheers. Those cheers though, turned to boos as soon as the game started. West Bloomfield did something that is tops in the Wolfpack blacklist, right behind losing and injuring Tim McCormick. The Lakers stalled the first three quarters, and, like Rochester, it didn't work.

In double figures for the Wolves were Tim McCormick with 18 points and he had 6 blocked shots along with 8 rebounds. Junior forward Scott McKoin picked up 16 points and Greg Lane had 8.

Even though it was a low scoring game, the margin when McCormick and the rest of the starters left the court was Clarkston 48, West Bloomfield 19.

So, Clarkston is all alone on top, 15-0, with a 7-0 record in the G.O.A.L. Andover holds a distant second place with a league record of 5-3. They lost Friday to the

The Clarkston Wolves junior varsity was defeated by the West Bloomfield Lakers, 43-40. The Wolves did have an explosive 11 point lead at the beginning of the third quarter.

The Wolves lost their lead due to inconsistency. The fourth quarter was full of turnovers and fouls.

High scorers for Clarkston were Brad Beattie with 15 and Craig Schnable with 13. Sophomore center Kevin Coppersmith and junior forward Schnable both pulled down 10 rebounds. Schnable also had 6 assists.

The Cubpack drops to 5-2 in the league and 11-5 overall.

Wolves Roll Over Tough Township, 90-60

by John Huttenlocher

'We played super offense," was Clarkston Wolves coach Gary Nustad's reply after the game. He couldn't have felt better, his team had just handed the 10-3 Waterford Township Skippers another defeat, 90-60.

The offense wasn't Clarkston's only key. Defense also played a very big part of the game. Ed Haddad, Clarkston Wolves' senior guard had to guard and contain one of the highest scoring playmakers in the county is John Coe. Haddad did remarkably well, too, limiting Coe to only 20 points.

Tim McCormick and Scott McKoin were outrebounding everyone on the court, and at the half, it was Clarkston 59, Township 25. The second half looked a little bit more promising for the Skippers, one by one, McCormick and Company got to retire from the game, and the Wolves brought in their unheralded second and Still, Waterford Township had too many buckets to make up for and time ran out. For the Wolves, it was the skyscraping center Tim McCormick with 30 points and 11 rebounds. Next was junior forward Scott McKoin with 24 points and he also had 11 rebounds. Also scoring in double figures for the Wolfpack were senior guard John Sheldon and senior forward Chuck Nicolai. They both contributed with 11. The Wolfpack's win streak continues to be unbroken.

The Clarkston Wolves junior varsity snuffed out the Waterford Township Skippers, 44-39. The Skippers made many threats, but all were contained by the defensive abilities of Klaus Ohrnberger, Brad Beattie, Graig Schnable, Kevin Coppersmith and Rick Schebor.

High scorer for Clarkston was Brad Beattie with 15 and

struggle to hold the position of police officer by adding, "He (Spreen) has to recognize that he was elected Sheriff of Oakland County not Chief of Police.'

Whitlock, because of his continual drive and ambition has achieved many great accomplishments throughout his life. Among some of his most fulfilling experiences have been writing a book entitled "Civil Law Procedures" in which the rough draft was completed in two months time. Subsequent to its publication, he received numerous letter of praise from judges and attorneys. "Even the Attorney General's office bought three copies."

Another accomplishment of Whitlock's was his assistance with the Oakland County Schools in establishing a 6th grade level project called "Youth Legal Education", a federally-funded program that received recognition from the American Bar Association as an outstanding program.

For three years, Charles Whitlock was a well-known member of the recently disbanded Independence Township Police Advisory Board. The board, having non-authoritative purposes, the members of which were experts in their field, was formed strictly to make recommendations. The township officials ignoring the advice of the Police Advisory Board went on to discontinue the Independence Township Police Department on a full-time basis, whereupon Whitlock quit in disgust.

Although, Whitlock does lean towards local law enforcement "There is no way, at present, that this township can afford to operate its own police department with the proficiency that is offered at a cost by the county. A local police operation knows the problems in the community, they know what the community needs, and they will anticipate those needs and meet them. If we have an outside, or rent-a-cop system as the sheriff's department has offered, nine chances out of ten the officers assigned here will be from another area and may not be familiar with the area, so we will not get the personalized police protection. We will get a high degree of professionalism from the sheriff's department. We cannot hire that caliber of people to do the job at a lower

Whitlock further added, "If we want our own police department, people have to be convinced that it has to be paid for it's not fair to the community, and it's not fair to the individual who has to do the work. Either they have to operate without proper equipment, or at such reduced numbers that there's no safety. Police officers are not paid to get hurt. They get paid to protect, enforce and assist. If they can't have the proper tools, they have to hire someone else."

Charles Whitlock is not the type of person to retire to a rocking chair. In the future he has hopes of running for a public office, be it a township office, or maybe more appropriately, a county office, due to his vast knowledge of county government.

Whitlock feels that many areas of county and township governments are interrelated and of mutual interest. Though Independence Township and Oakland County seem to have their difficulties in this respect. "Each tries to be their own autonomous entity," Whitlock explained, "Representatives from districts seldom attend the township meetings. There are no conjunctive efforts, except what the county attempts to dictate to the local unit of government. The communication and understanding is not in the best interest of all. There must be a balance of interests."
