editor's note -- a busy Michigan Week!

Next week is Michigan Week, and for the Clarkston area, the oft-times forgotten week takes on special meaning.

For Clarkston this is the one week in the entire year that organizations get together to produce one helluva festival. It's also the week of the statewide Presidential Primary.

Gearing up for Band Day and the beginning of Michigan Week fun.

This week's Reminder has devoted several of its pages to the numerous festivities. Band Day kicks off the week Saturday, and reporter Kathy Rush caught them practicing for their big moment earlier this week.

We've also included reports on the Community Awards Dinner, the Village Business Association's Spring Stroll and the Recreation Department's 10,000 meter run.

It might be very easy to forget about voting

Vote May 20

In the Presidential Primary with President Carter and Ronald Reagan on their way to easy convention nominations. But in both Independence and Springfield, important local proposals are on the ballot.

Independence voters will be asked to create a special assessment district for the purpose of providing fire protection. If passed, the district would allow the township board to allocate up to 10 mills on an annual basis for fire protection. It would eliminate the need for additional fire millage to be approved by the electorate.

Springfield voters will be asked to renew one mill for police protection. The renewal is for a five year period.

Remember the Presidential Primary Election will be held on May 20. Polls are open in both townships from 7 a.m. - 8 p.m.

This week's Special Report highlights another very important day on the calendar.

The Coopers... Sold on foster care

May 16th, has been declared Foster Parent Day in Oakland County and Carolyn Veresh, Reminder columnist and a psychotherapist with her own private practice, has written a moving article on foster parenting. It begins on page 7.

Help Fight Inflation!

Consumers and Small Business Owners; and Reminder Editor:

Are you tired of escalating prices and de-escalating quality in items you buy and sell? Let's join together and organize! I am Nancy Overfield, owner and manager of Nan's Coiffures of Waterford and I've found some ways to beat inflation. If you own a business, keep your profits down, do not keep ordering from suppliers who keep demanding higher and higher profits. If you are a customer, demand quality, business's main concern should be happy customers, any astute business person knows, a happy customer is a return customer. If you're unhappy, sound off, if a business won't listen--don't go back.

I haven't had to raise my prices in two years and I will only deal with suppliers who will fight inflation with me. If we join together, small businesses and consumer, I'm convinced, we can make a real impact on inflation.

Another great way to fight inflation, I've found is to advertise with smaller blanket coverage newspapers, like The Reminder. I have found The Reminder to be an inflation fighter, while still giving me the service I demand! The other "larger" newspapers offer me empty promises, charge three times the price while only giving me 1/3 the service of The Reminder.

If The Reminder can do it and I can do it, we can all do it! Greed is a terrible tyrant who has undermined the American way of life and driven us to the brink of real economic problems.

Come on people, join with me in re-evaluating your profit margins, rolling back prices and putting "people" not "profits" first.

Waterford's Discipline.

Problems Nil

To the Editor:

In response to Mr. Walter F. Grogan's letter in the May 8 edition my intent is neither to prolong a debate on the percentage of students who "cause school problems," nor to necessarily be an advocate of the Waterford School District. However, facts do speak for themselves. As an administrator in a junior high school in Waterford, I know what Dr. Pagen stated in his referenced article is true. On an average, the 1.3% figure used is about right. My own records show that year after year, I have to "discipline" approximately 5% of the total student body each year. That means that 95% of the students never have a serious discipline problem. I also know that Waterford is not unique in this regard. Administrators that I have talked to from throughout the state tell me that they also feel 5 to 7% is their average. Also, these figures have remained rather constant for several years.

I do not intend to draw any conclusions from these figures, nor to use them as a statement regarding today's youth. As I have already stated, facts do speak for themselves.

Clarkston 5th Graders Test High, 3rd Graders Score at Norm

Clarkston 5th graders scored significantly higher than the nation's average on the Metropolitan Achievement Test (METRO), according to William Potvin, an assistant superintendent in charge of the testing. On the same test, Clarkston School District 3rd graders scored at a similar level to the nation's average.

This is the first year of standardized testing district wide in 15 years for Clarkston. The only exception has been the Michigan Assessment Tests.

"We're not unhappy with the results," said Potvin. "We do recognize a math problem, however."

In math, 3rd graders scored at a 48 level, significantly lower than the national norm of 50. 5th graders also scored below the national norm with a 49.6.

That's in contrast with a 5th grade score of 53 in science, 52.5 in social studies, 52.6 in language and 51.7 in reading.

Third graders scored 51.9 in science, 51.7 in social studies, 50.7 in reading and dipped below the national norm with a 49.6 in language.

The test, said Potvin, offered other interesting conclusions. For one, a significant number of students were not achieving close to their aptitude level. These students were mostly in the above average category.

A second conclusion, supported by results that showed most students were in the average category, is that Clarkston offers a good basic education, said Potvin.

"Our school district has always prided itself in doing a good job for the great majority of our kids," noted Potvin.

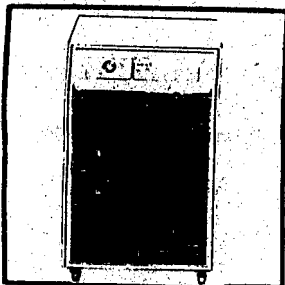

He also added that the addition of a gifted student program, that is being considered for next year, would help those above average students reach their potential.

The METRO test will be expanded to take in the 8th grade next year, said Potvin. And then the following year he plans to implement it to 11th graders also.

Other vintage wheels will include a 1908 Buick, 1909 Humber, 1911 Hupp, 1911 and 1912 Ford Model T's, to name a few.

ARE EVENING VISITATIONS IMPORTANT?

We say "Yes" and we underline it - YES!

The evening visitation at the funeral home, ours or the other fine funeral homes in our area, can be absolutely vital to the family of the deceased AND to the visitors as well.

Friends and relatives bring strength and support to the family when they need it most. They show their love and their loyalty in a heart-lifting way.

In our workaday world, your friends may simply be unable to attend the funeral. They want to express their feelings and their caring so that a visit with you one or two nights before the funeral is good for them, good for you and good for the spirit of the departed.

We believe so strongly in the therapeutic power of these hours that we offer an open invitation to attend at the wakes and visitations for friends and relatives.

If you have any questions about visiting procedures, please stop by and talk.

special report

A Houseful of Children is a Homeful of Love

by Carolyn Veresh

Do you know that May 16, 1980, is "Foster Parent Recognition Day"? Do you even know what foster care is?

Until a few years ago, I had never heard of foster care. My first experience was with a student. When she began to attend my school, her mother said, "I'm her foster mother..." It took awhile for me to fully understand that relationship.

Today, I view things from the inside out. As a senior instructor and consultant for the Eastern Michigan Foster Parent Education Program, I have a bird's-eye view of the foster care system. I have taught Foster Parent Education courses, have written two text books for the program, and have consulted with various agencies in the United States and Canada interested in improving services offered to children in foster care. The foster parents with whom I have worked have taught me everything I know. I am indebted to them, and I am humbled by their skills, patience, and dedication.

If you asked me for a job description for a foster parent, it would go something like this:

WANTED: Either one set of parents or a single parent to care for a child or children in the home. Responsibilities include total care of the child, consultation with other professionals including social workers, school officials, health care professionals, and depending on the legal status of the child and the agency policies, working with the child's natural parents. Hours, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Occupational hazards include frustration from working with traumatized kids, separation grief when children leave, and outrage at the injustices of the system. Pay, varies agency to agency and according to the age of the child; however, it rarely covers the expenses of rearing a child. Pay does come in the forms of emotional and psychological joy, excitement, and satisfaction. The rewards are sharing of the children's smiles, successes, and personal growth. Please apply at a social service agency-hurry, a child needs you.

Fostering is a rough job, and it is not made any easier by many myths that exist. One common myth is that people get into fostering for the money. I have yet to meet a foster parent who begins to break even on costs. Costs for providing for a child almost always exceed what parents are paid. It is not uncommon for a child to arrive in only the clothes on his back, and these are often so tattered and torn that parents are ashamed to send them anywhere dressed such. If an agency does provide a clothing allowance, it rarely is enough to cover bare essentials. Besides clothing, another issue surrounding money is Christmas. If you have three children of your own and a foster child, do you forego buying your foster child Christmas presents because the agency does not allocate money for Christmas? Let's lay at rest the myth that people foster for the money.

Foster children are psychologically distressed children. If a home is so terribly disrupted that a child must be removed, then obviously the child has suffered severe emotional, psychological, social, or even physical trauma. The child's unalienable rights to be loved, wanted and cared for have been violated. Wouldn't you be a little angry and rebellious, too? In this respect foster parents definitely have their hands full. The alternative is to institutionalize the children; however, this often compounds their problems. A home is a far better place for kids.

So with all of these problems, why do people foster? Hundreds of foster parents have said, "Because we love children, and this is a way of sharing our love and helping kids." This is the common theme running through most parents' answers. Individually, however, the answers vary. "We reared our family and the house just seemed so empty." "We love babies, so we specialize in infants." "Teens are so fresh and exciting to have around; we love the teens." "We were ready for a bigger challenge, so we began fostering physically handicapped children." "We are unable to have our own, so this is a way to fill our home with children." "We did it partly for our children, we thought it would be really good for them to learn about caring, compassion, and helping your brother-sort of a 'you're your brother's keeper' attitude."

Marc and Martha Cooper are foster parents who live in Davisburg. They have been fostering for the past five years. When I asked them why they got into fostering, Marc replied, "Well, while reading the Oakland Press, I came across a want-ad that read: 'Homes needed for mentally retarded and handicapped children.' When I asked Martha if she thought we could do it, she said 'Sure, absolutely'. Martha has a mentally retarded cousin, therefore has been exposed to the problems involved and care needed to provide for these individuals. The Coopers have two children of their own, but are unable to have any more. They both agreed, "We love kids and would have a dozen if we could. We have a huge house with lots of room. It's a great place to raise kids."

The Coopers foster through Macomb-Oakland Regional Center, and their specialty is hard of hearing and deaf children. Martha said, "It's been a real challenge, but the rewards are beyond anything that you could possibly imagine. Our first foster child came to us when he was fifteen years old. He left when he was seventeen and moved into supervised independent living. One of our great joys with this boy is that he is now number three in State Class D wrestling. We are so proud of him. We recently received a letter from him and he wants us to get together. We hope to see him this summer."

Currently, the Coopers have a thirteen year-old hard of hearing boy in their home. Their son has been with them for a year now, and Martha says their biggest problem so far has been convincing the school to get him into the proper program. The Coopers had him tested independently by a psychologist and also by the school psychologist. The reports were conflicting; however, the independent testing verified behavior and academic skills which the Coopers had already observed in their son. Their frustration has been in trying to convince the school to provide him with a more appropriate and stimulating academic program.

Martha feels that one of the greatest frustrations of fostering is not being able to treat your foster kids completely like your own. She elaborated on this concerning discipline. Physical discipline, such as spanking, is not allowed with fostering. Marc and Martha are not advocates of spanking; nevertheless, like most parents they feel it is occasionally a necessary form of discipline.

Martha felt the problem was that both foster kids and your own kids know that the foster kids cannot be disciplined. Foster children may use this knowledge as a means of "testing" the foster parents, and at times the natural children feel that the foster children are receiving "special treatment".

When asked if they would continue fostering, the Coopers replied, "Yes, definitely! The rewards are far, far greater than the frustrations."

Working with foster parents can be a humbling experience. Their untiring, unselfish dedication to children can make even the most secure parent feel slightly inadequate. In my mind's eye, they are "super parents".

10,000 Meter Run Sunday

Running in competition, having become one of the nation's favorite past-times has dashed into the Clarkston area for the second year in a row.

The Independence Township Parks and Recreation Department and "Runnin' Gear", a sporting goods outlet in Waterford are co-sponsoring a 10,000 meter run. 10,000 meters may sound overwhelming but converts to a mere 6.2 miles.

It is anticipated that John Grabowski of Orchard Lake, last year's winner will be among the contestants although his entry form has not as yet been submitted.

This year's first place winner will win a gift certificate from Runnin' Gear, while second and third place winners will receive medals or trophies (still undecided). There will also be special awards for the youngest and oldest entry.

The race will take place on Sunday, May 25th beginning at 10:00 a.m. The starting point will be at Pine Knob Music Theatre down Pine Knob Road to Clintonville Road to Clarkston Road and back to the theatre.

Registrations for entry can be submitted at Independence Township Hall. The fee is $5.00 until Friday, May 23rd or $6.00 on May 25th, the day of the race. Participants who enter on or before Wednesday, May 21st, will receive a free T-shirt.

Spring Stroll Features Free Seedlings, Hot Air Balloon

The Clarkston Business Association will be sponsoring the "Spring Stroll" downtown on Thursday, May 22nd from 6:00-9:00 p.m. Area merchants will be having big sales and purchasing customers will receive free pine seedlings donated by Valerie Phaup of Max Brook Realtors. Pontiac State Bank will have their Hot Air Balloon hovering the town plus there will be baked goods to be sold by area civic groups, clowns, musicians and free balloons for the kids.

Elementary Fair May 17

The Clarkston Elementary School Fair will be held Saturday May 17 between 12-4 p.m. There will be games of fun, chance and skill, a country store, food, plant sale, and a 40 prize raffle. All proceeds will go towards the purchase of playground equipment.

Bring those ideas for your windows to Norma and let her make your dreams for beautiful windows come true! Norma even does balloon shades.

Redken gives your hair more of what it needs.

Your hair may need protein for one of these reasons:

- ☐ To increase body and stylability
- ☐ To solve dryness
- ☐ To help correct frizzy damage
- ☐ To close split ends
- ☐ To help correct sun damage
- ☐ To maintain a healthy look

Protein is a primary hair conditioning agent. We have a six-year scientific study that confirms it. And only Redken products use CPP Catipeptide™ protein, an exclusive protein that gives your hair more of what it needs. CPP Catipeptide is absorbed up to three times better than proteins previously used by Redken. So its benefits last longer. Only Redken products have CPP Catipeptide, because Redken has a patent on its use. (U.S. Pat. No. 4,188,186).

Try Redken's superior hair protein. No matter what others may claim, protein has been scientifically proven effective in improving hair condition.

Community to Applaud People and Projects at Dinner

Special people and projects will be honored at the second annual Independence Township Community Awards Dinner, a Michigan Week event slated for Friday, May 23, at Spring Lake Country Club.

Those people singled out by their peers for honors this year include Dave Sherrill, Independence Township Assessor; Artemis Pappas, treasurer for the Village of Clarkston for many years; Marilyn Hanson, a counselor at Clarkston High School; Sherril Bailey, Andersonville Elementary teacher; Tim McCormick, Clarkston High School senior and much-heralded basketball player; Ken Clayton, Clarkston's own "super scout" receiving the country's highest award for scouting; Leslie Wirpsa, DAR Good Citizen and Clarkston's Junior Miss; Janet Rose, retired teacher and active in community organizations for many years; Russ Inman, former president of the Clarkston Village Players, nominated by his friends who appreciated his many talents both on stage and backstage; and Lucy Embry, as much a part of the Independence Township Library as the books themselves.

Two projects were singled out for honors. Clarkston Rotary will take a bow for giving the community "Wolfpack Fever Night" at the Silverdome capping an exciting high school basketball season.

Administrative Assistant for Elementary Education William Neff gave the Picture Lady program the school district's seal of approval with his nomination of this project. Volunteers appreciated by their peers include senior citizen Dorothy Gallavan, Jennifer Radcliff of the Historical Society, Virginia Walter of Youth Assistance, Duane Richardson of the Athletic Boosters, Jeanne Molzon of the Clarkston Elementary PTO, Janet McCord of the Garden Club and her "Gravel Isn't Green" campaign, Joseph Figa of the Safety Path Committee, and Art Ruelle nominated by his four sons for being a "super" dad.

Join the Clarkston Jaycees, the North Oakland Civitans and the Michigan Week Committee on the 23rd of May in honoring these people. Tickets are available from any committee member, at the township hall and library, and at The Reminder.

Spring Concert, May 19 8:00 CHS Auditorium

The annual spring concert presented by the Clarkston High School Bands will be held at 8:00 p.m. in the CHS Little Theatre. The evening's program will provide a preview of the music prepared by the Symphonic Band and Jazz Ensemble for their upcoming trip to the Festival of Nations in Washington D.C. May 23-26.

Preceding the concert, students will be recognized for service and achievement in instrumental music at the first annual Band Awards Pollock Dinner. Class awards, outstanding performance and service certificates and the Arion Foundation Medal for musical excellent will be presented.

Musical selections include two outstanding senior students performing solos with the band. Jerry Rowland will perform the "Carnival of Venice" on trumpet. Jerry was awarded a First Division rating at the M.S.B.O.A. State Solo and Ensemble Festival in April. Sarah McKoin, clarinetist, will perform the "Rondo" movement of the Mozart Clarinet Concerto. Sarah will be attending Michigan State University as a music major in clarinet performance and music education. Other selections include "Sketches on a Tudor Psalm" by Fisher Tull, "Selections from Annie" and "The Thunderer" by John Phillip Sousa.

The Jazz Ensemble will also present their Washington repertoire featuring music that won their near perfect First Division rating at the M.S.B.O.A. Jazz Festival on April 19. During this portion of the program the Louis Armstrong Outstanding Jazz Instrumental Award will be presented. Admission to the concert is free.

why not ask Carolyn?

This article is the first in a two-part series on rape and serves the beginning of the answer to the woman who wrote in on her experience of being raped. It will highlight her reactions, her husband's reactions and comment on society's reactions.

Dear Angry,

Many myths surround rape. The first myth is that it is a sexual act. It is, more accurately, an act of terror and aggression. A second myth is women secretly want to be raped. A third myth is that a woman provokes a man's behavior. A rapist is an angry hateful person and acts out his aggression on the nearest victim. Studies show many rapists can not even identify the victim's face. She simply serves as the object of his aggression.

You were the object of a man's aggression. Unfortunately you were in the wrong place at the wrong time. His behavior was not directly at you, personally, but at women in general.

Sometimes a woman can out-smart her attacker, more often she cooperates out of fear of being shot, beaten, disfigured, murdered or slandered. You described your attacker as being very forceful. Very few women can physically defend themselves against the strength of a man, unless they have special self-protection skills. Do not feel guilty for what you physically can not do.

Women suffer from all these societal myths. A first consequence is that rape is very often not reported. Shame, guilt, and fear of rejection keep a woman from going to authorities. Women say to me, "I was afraid they wouldn't believe me." This fear grows out of the primary experience of telling a husband or boyfriend. When the most important man in a woman's life doubts her story, why would she think anyone else would believe her? This sounds like what happened to you. I can understand why you are angry at him, and unexpressed anger hurts a marriage.

There are many reasons why a man doubts a woman's story. A man is also affected by society's myths surrounding rape. One myth related to men is that he should always be a woman's protector. When the woman he loves is raped, he has failed. He hates himself and feels guilty. He also feels a great urge to retaliate. He wants revenge. He considers the rape an attack on his masculinity.

Next a man becomes angry at the woman. He thinks, "Somehow she allowed it to happen." Here the psychological phenomenon is, "I don't want to feel guilty for not protecting my woman, so I'll put the blame on her and be angry at her for allowing it to happen." It sounds like your husband has a lot of unexpressed anger.

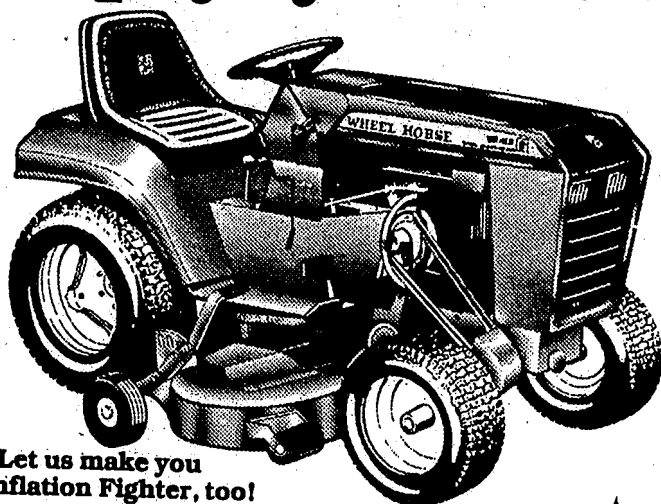

To compound the whole problem, men and women do not sit down and tell each other how they really think and feel about the rape. Unsaid feelings and thoughts fester to become blocks of misunderstanding.

In all of the above respects, the actual physical act has a domino effect. Next week I will discuss where people can go for help in solving this multi-dimensional problem.

Thoughtfully,
Carolyn

business profile

Kathy King Insurance Agent

Kathy King

A fourteen hour day is nothing unusual for Kathy King, who has won top honors for commercial sales for Farmers Insurance Agency for the State of Michigan for the past three years, consecutively.

Placing 18th out of 10,000 salespersons in a five state-region is something to be proud of, but to Kathy it means responsibility and the challenge of upholding her high standards of excellence.

King says, "People of today are very aware of what they want. They want someone to not only interpret their insurance needs and give them the very best coverage at the most economical rates but also to understand their unique needs and problems. That's why," says Kathy, "I make housecalls!"

King believes that women have unique attributes to bring to the commercial insurance field. Among them she lists empathy and perception for their clientele. She also points out that women must work very hard but that an ever increasing number of women are discovering helping people with their insurance problems is answering a very real need in their lives. Kathy says, "I love my work." Proving that statement are the many plaques and certificates adorning her new spacious office walls, evidences of her accomplishments in the insurance world.

King invites the public to visit her new comfortable, convenient offices located at 4672 West Walton in Dayton Plains. Kathy says, "Come in, relax and visit."

Planning Commission Denies Mobile Home Park

by Mike Wilcox

The Independence Township Planning Commission unanimously voted to deny a request by Greg Christopher to rezone 51 acres near Maybee and Clintonville roads from residential to mobile home park at a meeting last Thursday.

Christopher, owner of Clinton Villa Mobile Home Park on Clintonville Road wanted to construct a park for 402 units on the site that is located in the extreme southeast corner of the township.

Legal counsel for Christopher, Jerry Fisher, in recognizing the somewhat hostile audience, said, "I'm standing here as a bull in a china shop. Nevertheless, mobile home parks are a necessary use and must exist somewhere..."

He continued, "Many people do demand the type of housing provided by a mobile home park. Many people can't afford a lot in Deerwood."

Fisher also said that compared to neighboring townships, Independence has significantly less mobile home sites available.

"Independence Township has a regional burden to provide its fair share of housing in a complete range of costs," said Fisher. "We are here tonight to suggest we have a pretty good means in which Independence Township can bare their burden."

Also present to speak on Christopher's behalf was Raymond Pike, owner of Pike Manufacturing Co., a mobile home sales center.

Pike noted, "Park space in Oakland County is practically nil. There are a few sites available in Springfield Estates that were just opened up this spring. Other than that all other sites are filled. I think there is a responsibility somewhere for someone to furnish sites."

The average mobile home is 14' X 70' in size said Pike. "I can put a family in for $18,000. There is just no other form of housing available at that price," he said.

Pike added, "People that are buying mobile homes today are not the type of people that were buying them ten years ago. The mobile home business in general has been upgraded tremendously."

Tod Kilroy, Independence Township Planner, although he didn't argue with Pike's general assessments, he did indicate disfavor with the rezoning proposal because it was inconsistent with the present planned use for that area and according to the Master Plan, only 162 mobile home units could be built on a 51 acre site.

Several members of the large audience spoke out against the proposed rezoning.

Owners of this mobile home park want to build another close by.

Ted Thomson, a member of the Clarkston Village Planning Commission said, "I think every effort should be made to adhere to the Master Plan. I'm very much opposed to a change of this sort. It's a downgrade. The density is totally out of line."

Both Graham Fortney, who owns 40 acres across from the proposed rezoning and Mike Clark, who owns 40 acres nearby on Clintonville Road voiced their opposition.

Ward Bowker of Dora Lane noted, "Our roads couldn't handle that kind of traffic (from the mobile home park)."

And Rose Trevino of Maybee Road said, "I've lived in a mobile home and I don't want it near me. The owners should go out there and clean it up before they sell it."

James Brennan summed up the planning commission's decision to deny the request by suggesting this type of development would bring many needs for services to that area, and no taxes to pay for them. Thus, he said, property owners in the township would have to pick up the tab, or live with the resulting blight that would occur without proper services. Until the state legislature realizes that mobile home parks create this type of burden on a township, it is not our responsibility to pass rezoning for them, said Brennan.

Springfield Township Clerk

by Robert C. Davis

The saying "April showers bring May flowers" was right on target this year in southeastern Michigan. Our March "sog" continued right on into April, with our area experiencing its second consecutive month of above normal precipitation. Beginning this month, I am replacing the isohyetal map with a listing of all of our contributing volunteers' monthly precipitation totals. Following are the monthly precipitation totals for April (in descending order):

Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township	5.33"
Van Norman Lake/Waterford Township	5.21"
Eastern Clarkston	4.92"
Oxbow Lake/White Lake Township	4.73"
Union Lake/West Bloomfield Township	4.71"
Northern Clarkston	4.56"
Detroit Metropolitan Airport	4.23"
Lake Orion	4.15"
Fenton	4.12"
Northern Ann Arbor	4.12"
St. Clair Shores	3.55"
Bishop Airport/Flint	3.4"

The eastern Clarkston station also recorded 1.2 inches of snowfall during March, which is one inch below normal. Total snowfall for the season now stands at 45.4 inches, which is normal for our area (based on the new 1950/1979 climatological "means").

Temperatures were only slightly below normal in April, as the eastern Clarkston station reported a mean temperature of 45.9 degrees for the month. This is only 0.3 of a degree below normal, producing 573 heating degree days. Clarkston temperatures ranged from a low of 23 degrees on the morning of the 17th to a high of 85 degrees on the 22nd. As I mentioned in last month's report, the average date (50% chance) of our last spring frost is May 9th, but home gardeners should be aware that there is still a 10% chance of frost by May 24th.

Before closing, I would like to welcome Barbara Thomas and Jim Ridgway to my raingage network. Barbara's gage will furnish data for Sullivan Lake in Tyrone Township (south of Fenton), and Jim will be providing data for the west side of Ann Arbor. I would also like to thank Mal Sillars and John McMurray from WJR's Weather Center for their continuing assistance in providing data for the N.O.A.A. weather stations at Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Bishop Airport in Flint.

Clarkston Road May Get Bike Paths

YOU SAW IT
REMINDER

The Board of Oakland County Road Commissioners is attempting to get federal funding for bike paths along Clarkston Road in Orion Township.

If funding is received, bike paths would be constructed as paved shoulders along both sides of Clarkston Road from M-24 to Joslyn while the Road Commission is resurfacing the roadway this year.

"Such bike paths would add $142,000 to the project cost, but we are willing to pay our share if the project qualifies for available federal bike path funds," said Road Commission Chairman Fred D. Houghten. He said 75 percent, or $106,500, is the federal share; and the remaining 25 percent would be paid equally by the Road Commission and Orion Township ($35,500 each).

The plan is in keeping with a township-wide bikeway plan developed by the Orion Township Bikeway Committee, which called primarily paving shoulders on county roads such as Clarkston Road. This would be the first element of that plan.

"This 2.7-mile route (5.4 miles of bikeway) was chosen because it would provide bicyclists with a link to several features of the community in combination with paved shoulders being built along M-24. Access would be provided to Bald Mountain State Recreation Area,

Orion Community High School and local commercial areas for residents clustered at either end.

The Oakland County Road Commission accepted the low bid for a paving project on Holcomb.

For the paving of Holcomb Road in Independence Township for 0.3 mile from Clarkston Village Limits to I-75, the Stolaruk Corporation of Southfield was low bidder at $67,108. Funding will be shared equally by the Road Commission and the Township.

township government

(A summary of action taken at Independence and Springfield Township meetings last week.)

by Mike Wilcox
INDEPENDENCE

Ardath Regan, representing the Michigan Alliance of Small Communities and Bev Klemmer, an Independence Township resident, requested the Board to look into joining the Village of Holly in their fight to force Michigan Bell Telephone to lower their rates and offer better service.

Last week the Village of Holly filed a complaint with the Michigan Public Services Commission (MPSC). Holly, like other communities in the area, must pay long distance rates to neighboring communities. According to Ms. Regan, within 45 days the MPSC will hold a hearing on the complaint in Lansing, however she doesn't expect the matter to be resolved for several years.

The Safety Path Committee has recommended Independence Township commit $71,000 to a safety path 1 mile long on the West side of Sashabaw from Clinton to Maybee.

The federal money ($20,000 of it won't be released until the fall) will serve a congested that currently has no sidewalks. It's also one of the cheapest routes because the path would follow the underground sewer line whose topography had previously been cleared of all trees and obstacles.

A bid to construct the Senior Citizen Carriage House was awarded to Lanny Jackson for the amount of $51,125. $42,000 will be paid from Community Development Funds. The rest will come from contingency funds.

Accepted to serve on the Economic Development Commission were Pat Beach and Rudy Lozano. They'll serve on the committee until the EDC's first project, The Clarkston Professional Center, to be located on M-15, just north of Dixie is completed.

SPRINGFIELD

The final plat of the Holly Greens Industrial Park, to be located at Dixie and Holly Roads was tabled. A report from the township's engineers, Mosher, Mead and Kopalczyk indicated there were still problems on the site.

The development's chief engineer Barnard Feldhauser and selling agent Sheldon Fuller both were present to plead for a favorable decision. "Every day, every week, every month, at these interest rates...man it could kill you," said Fuller. Despite the pleas, the Board unanimously tabled the plat approval until next month.

The final plat of Susin Hills Farms did gain approval after engineer Del Lohff agreed to build a retention basin before any construction started.

The final preliminary plat for Indian Springs Estates was approved subject to health department approval. Because of the proximity to the toxic waste site on Shindler Road, the Michigan Department of Public Health has asked that a test well be drilled to sample water and determine the proper depth for wells in the development.

Al Carter and Gary Pullins representing Clarkston Area Youth Assistance (CYA) were present to ask the Board for $500 to help send Springfield youth to summer camp in Attica. The request was granted unanimously.

A motion to gravel a portion of Davisburg Road, east of Dixie, passed. The Road Commission has refused to chloride the road, because they say it needs a 2" gravel base to cover-up oil that had previously been placed on the road. The cost to the township will be approximately $2000.

A request from the Road Commission to abandon Crosby Lake Road between Teggerdine and Hillsboro gained the Board's approval. The closing would be necessary once the proposed Indian Springs Metro Park opens. Although the Board agreed with abandonment, they also suggested improvements of White Lake and Cuthbert roads.

The Board appointed Doug Ferguson, Past

President of the Dixie Lake Improvement Association to a planning commission seat.

Supervisor Collin Walls announced that only two nominating petitions for township elected positions had been taken out. Final filing date is June 3.

Service News

Marine Lance Cpl. Wayde E. Stallard, son of Sally A. Stallard of 10050 Dixie Highway, Clarkston, recently participated in exercise "Gallant Eagle" in the California desert.

He is a member of the 1st Battalion, 5th Marines, based at Camp Pendleton, California.

"Gallant Eagle" was an electronic warfare exercise conducted at Fort Irwin and involved forces from the Army, Air Force and Marine Corps. It was designed to test the capabilities of the participating units in a concentrated electromagnetic threat environment.

Stallard joined the Marine Corps in August 1977.

Spec. 5 Timothy A. Preseau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wright, 5310 Winell, Clarkston, recently was assigned as an administrative specialist with the Troop Brigade at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

Announces Candidacy

Charles T. Whitlock, 58, of Clarkston, announced he will be a Republican candidate for the office of County Commissioner, District Three. Whitlock retired in January, 1980, with the rank of Captain in charge of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department Civil Division. Captain Whitlock also served in the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office in 1951. He was one of the original organizers of the Waterford Township Police and had previous experience with the Pontiac City Police. He is a veteran, having served with both the 8th and 9th Air Forces in Europe.

Whitlock has involved himself in many civic functions. He served three years on the Independence Township Planning Commission and a term on the Independence Policy Advisory Board. During his career, he helped establish Oakland County's Narcotics Enforcement Team, a conjunctive police agency program to fight drug abuse. The program became a model for similar units throughout the nation. In conjunction with the Oakland Schools he assisted in designing a "Youth Legal Education" instructional program for 6th grade students. The program gained recognition by the American Bar Association but ended when federal funding ceased for that type of program.

Whitlock authored a manual on Civil Law Procedures which was later published, copyrighted, and sold throughout Michigan. The booklet was also the text for a new program of instruction for Sheriffs and Deputies in a seven-county area, initiated at Montcalm County Community College.

For his efforts in behalf of the Civil Justice System, Whitlock has recently been nominated and selected to receive a Distinguished Service Award by the 2,200 member Oakland County Bar Association.

Upon retirement, Whitlock was the recipient of House Concurrent Resolution No. 514, Senate Concurring and was depicted as a "man and public servant beyond compare".

Whitlock believes unnecessary hierarchies, frills and waste should be constrained in government spending with more emphasis being placed on the more important priorities. The current tax rebellion should encourage more austerity and greater attempts should be made to live within the intent of the Headlee Amendment, according to Whitlock.

His memberships include VFW, American Legion, International Association of Chiefs of Police, life member of F.O.P. and past member of Michigan Society of Planning Officials.

Whitlock and his wife Thelma have been married 38 years and live at 5364 Drayton Road, Clarkston. They have three children and four grandchildren.

More Letters

Dear Editor:

Page 3, 7 lines from the bottom of the page. Quote: "A list of those people I have spoken with is supplied with this resume - Note: This list in no way supplies any hint of endorsement at the present time."

Page 4, 7 lines from the bottom of the page. Quote: "Those we are presently making arrangements to meet with include the following:"

Please remember these quotes as you read the following text.

Recently a letter was published in many local papers which accused me of misrepresenting a very respected individual in my community. As of this writing he is out of town and I have not been able to discover why he felt as he did about my resume and position statement.

As I said he is a highly respected individual and I in no way will attempt to diminish that respect. I must though, state the facts as they are so it will be clearly seen that I did nothing to be ashamed of or regret having done.

What I did was publish a resume stating my qualifications and a list of those I had talked to or was planning to contact. I listed those people only with the intent to demonstrate that I am doing those things which any good candidate for commissioner should. There was a great deal of time and effort put forth in that paper to guarantee no one would be intimidated by seeing their name in print.

The letter accusing me stated:

1. That my resume said I had talked with this gentleman. Fact: His name was three down the list from the following: "Those we are presently making arrangements to meet with including the following:"

2. I was accused of insinuating that he and perhaps everyone on that list was supporting my candidacy.

Fact: On page 3 just before the list of people I have indeed contacted was this statement: "A list of those people I have spoken with is supplied with this resume - Note: this list in no way supplies any hint of endorsement at the present time."

Please draw your own conclusions!

As I said the gentleman that accused me of misrepresenting him is out of town at the moment. I am certain that once we meet our problem will be resolved. Let me state again that he is a highly respected man and I intend him no disrespect but I felt it very important to present the facts as they are.

I distributed an honest and factual resume and position statement. The only intent of which was to demonstrate my feelings on the issues and the fact that I am working hard to become a good candidate and commissioner.

Thank you,
R. Kirk McLaughlin
Republican Candidate
District 2
Oakland County Board of Commissioners

Dear Supporters and Editor:

Since May 1978, the Clarkston Community, inspired by the efforts and achievements of the Clarkston Bands and enthusiastic support of the Band Boosters, has been the focal point for Band Day. This day has deeper significance than an event on the busy schedule of concerts and activities. It is an experience to be shared by everyone who enjoys and appreciates music, and its vital role in the education of Clarkston's youth. It is the 6th grade band students playing their first concert, the excitement of the first District Festival in junior high, and the traveling and success of the high school concert and marching bands, and most of all, the joy and satisfaction of making music.

This year the high school Symphonic Band and Jazz Ensemble is entering the Festival of the Nations in Washington D.C., and with your support, we hope to continue our record of success in musical achievement and education.

Band Day is the individual accomplishment of each student, the support and cooperation of every parent, and the collective effort of an entire community demonstrating that culture has no limitations in the educational process. We have much to be proud of in our bands, and with the success of this very special day, the future will be exciting.

Sincerely,
The Clarkston Band Boosters
