Community Awards Dinner A Citizenship Celebration

Barbara Gibson, outstanding contributor to creative arts, receives plaque and a kiss on the cheek from Russ Inman.

Photos by Jim Nichols

Over 130 local noteworthies filled the new Deer Lake Racquet Club dining room to overflowing last Wednesday for the third annual Clarkston area Community Awards Banquet.

The awards were part of a belated Michigan Week celebration and were sponsored by the Michigan Week Committee, North Oakland Civitans, and the Clarkston Jaycees.

Seventeen area groups and individuals were honored for the outstanding contributions to the betterment of Clarkston community life.

As keynote speaker, Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy, put it, "There are too many people and not enough human beings in the world. I'm glad to be among a group of human beings tonight."

Among those honored -- Alex Stewart, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection in Clarkston, as this year's "Superperson". Reverend Stewart was last year's chairman of Clarkston Area Youth

OPENING JULY 20th

The Cowan Family - John, Linda and sons Jeremy and Jason.

Dr. John Cowan leads a busy life. A member of state, national and international associations, his professional responsibilities require extensive time and traveling.

But that doesn't keep him from pursuing an active family and recreational life. After all, leisure pastimes are important to good health. And to Dr. Cowan good health is the gospel.

Dr. Cowan and his wife Linda moved to Clarkston's Deerwood Subdivision three years ago. They enjoy the lifestyle of country living in a convenient location. As do the Cowan children, eight-year-old Jeremy and three-year-old Jason.

Dr. Cowan says they intend to stay.

"Clarkston has all the amenities one could want," says the doctor.

Surrounded by recreational facilities, Clarkston is the kind of place where someone like Dr. Cowan, an avid golfer and racquetball player, is truly at home.

And with the opening of his new Cowan Chiropractic Clinic on Sashabaw Road, a few minutes drive from Deerwood, the doctor can be at home when he's at work too.

4,200 square feet of chiropractic space to serve you at the new Cowan Chiropractic Clinic on Sashabaw Road in Clarkston. The new quarters for Dr. John Cowan feature energy-saving earthen berms, completely modern interior and the maximum in patient comfort.

It must come as no great surprise to those who are regular visitors to Dr. John Cowan's Greater Pontiac Life Center, at 3125 West Walton Boulevard, that something big was in the air. This is especially true of those who have noticed the color photographs on the wall, showing the progress being made on the clinic's new facility, located at I-75 and Sashabaw, in Clarkston.

The air of anticipation was evident in the staff, and has been growing to an almost unbearable peak in the past few weeks. And now the time has come to announce that Dr. Cowan's longtime dream is about to become a reality. The new Cowan Chiropractic Clinic will open its doors for business on Monday, July 20.

The very contemporary 4,200 square foot facility, twice as large as the Walton Boulevard facility, has two waiting rooms, four treatment rooms, two examination rooms, two X-ray rooms, a lecture hall, a large consultation room, and a special "Acute Care" section. The business section of the office has a fully computerized insurance department, and a large staff room, which houses the offices for the office manager, Dr. Cowan, and his three associate doctors.

The building has been designed to be energy-efficient, and will use less energy to heat and cool than a normal building half its size. Special features include electrostatic heating and cooling, which permits the continual introduction and cir-ulation of fresh, clean air from the outside throughout the interior of the building. They also include toned-down fluorescent lighting that is easy on the eyes, and customized, color-coordinated interior decor designed for patient comfort.

As noted above, the new facility, due to its expanded floor space, will have a separate section for the treatment of acute or emergency patients, such as those who have been involved in work-related injury, falls, or automobile accidents. There is also a special section for new patients who, having been treated elsewhere for such chronic conditions as headaches or other nerve-related health problems, are visiting Dr. Cowan for the first time.

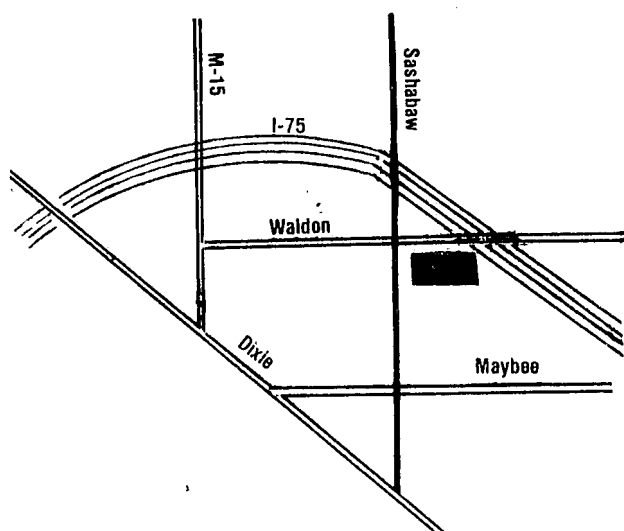

Another new department of particular significance in today's advanced approach to health care, is one specifically geared for the consideration of matters pertaining to nutrition. The nutritional needs of a patient will be carefully analyzed. Specific guidelines that will best serve the patient's good health will be determined, and strict adherence to them advised. In addition, spinal exercise classes and lectures on healthy living will be offered weekly in the facility's lecture hall.

In line with Dr. Cowan's continuing policy, the new office will continue to be staffed by highly skilled, expertly trained professionals, dedicated to offering his patients the most advanced and meticulous health care available.

Drain Funding A Must for M-15 Improvement

by Dawson Bell

The Independence Township board has taken under advisement a request from the State Department of Transportation (DOT) to pledge township support for a $300,000 drain project in the area of M-15 and Paramus Drive.

The drain is considered a prerequisite to any DOT involvement in traffic safety improvements for M-15 south of the Village of Clarkston.

If the township agrees to assume a share of responsibility for the drain, the State will renew planning efforts for the highway, a DOT spokesman told the board last Tuesday.

Jack Morgan, public manager of the public involvement section for DOT, said the M-15 project has "basically been put on the back burner" because of public opposition to previous State proposals and the refusal of the township to help finance the drain.

And, he said, "Our management might, upon receiving the resolution, still feel it is not a high enough priority (to proceed)."

But if the State did give the go ahead he said the DOT would be willing to consult with local residents and accept input into the possible alternatives for highway improvement.

Independence had requested representatives from the Department of Transportation meet with a committee of three board members and Clarkston resident, Jennifer Radcliff, to discuss plans for M-15.

The township has been considering the retention of an engineering firm to study possible options for the road in anticipation of renewed pressure from the State to widen the highway.

In 1979 State planners had suggested that M-15 south of Paramus be widened to five lanes to accommodate a growing flow of commercial traffic. And some local residents feared pressure would then be created to widen the highway to and through the village.

Morgan said the State would now be willing to address several options, although five lanes was still a leading possibility.

"We did not and do not believe that the five lanes will have an impact on the village," he said.

Morgan suggested the need for highway widening was not something created by DOT. In response to a question about the elimination of parking on Main Street in the village, he said, "I'm not saying it wouldn't be done because it might be needed...those needs might be there right now."

Morgan said data collected in the study would be a means of projecting what impact M-15 widening south of the village would have on the downtown area. As part of their study, he said they intended to conduct a license plate survey of traffic entering M-15 at Dixie and staying on as far as I-75.

Morgan also told the committee that he did not believe the township would require a special consultant at this point because a consultant would have to rely on data collected by the State anyway.

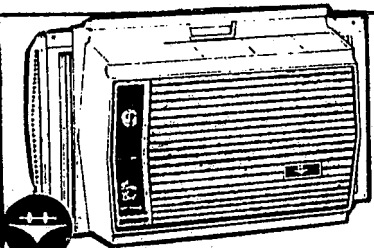

The board moved to table action until some assessment could be made of the township's position. Supervisor James Smith expressed particular concern over the local share of drain financing, which, he said, could amount to more than $100,000.

If the township agrees to the DOT conditions, and the state puts M-15 back up on its high priority list, it would still probably take at least three years for the improvements to be initiated, according to John Morgan.

WHAT KIND OF A LAWYER CAN HELP ME WRITE MY WILL?

A general-service lawyer can usually take care of your will unless the estate is quite large, extensive or complicated.

If your estate includes a variety of assets such as business holdings, real estate, bonds, stocks - and especially if you operate your own business - you should probably contact a lawyer who specializes in estate planning. The services of a specialist may be more costly at the outset, but he can minimize the effects of federal and state taxes.

No matter the size of your estate, you should consult an attorney. He knows so many of the pitfalls of improperly drawn wills. He keeps up with the latest tax and legal implications. He also knows of the problems of inter-family squabbling when the will is not precisely worded to cover all future situations. Our local lawyers can help to assure your survivors of receiving the most benefit possible which you will to them.

If you're not acquainted with a lawyer who can help you with your will, contact the county bar association. Or call us and we'll give you the names of several who could help you.

One last thing: be sure you have wills prepared for both adult members of the family and not just the breadwinners.

Dental Dialogue

by Gary R. Ushman, D.D.S.

GEORGE'S SMILE WOODEN?

Q. Is it really true George Washington wore false teeth made of wood?

A. It has been reported that our first president had many problems with his teeth. He had various sets of dentures made from human and animal teeth, and even an ivory set. They were all very uncomfortable, so George had his famous portrait painted with rolls of cotton in his mouth to give his face a more natural look. While George's smile may be wooden, by last accounts the dollar is still genuine.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Dr. Gary R. Ushman, 55 S. Main St., Clarkston, Michigan 48016. Phone 625-2066.

Added Taxes to Pay for Big Lake Study

by Dawson Bell

Property owners in the Big Lake special assessment district in Springfield Township can expect to see an increase in their property taxes this fall after action taken by the Big Lake Improvement Board on Friday, July 3.

At a public hearing held at Colomiere College the board voted unanimously to assess the area's 343 affected property owners to pay for the lake board's share of a Department of Natural Resources (DNR) study currently underway on what ails Big Lake and how it can be fixed.

Peg Bostwich, of the DNR and member of the lake board, said, "It's obvious to anyone that has been on the lake that its basic problem is that it is shallow and it's weedy."

But the study was necessary she said because "there is no point in spending a half million dollars on a solution if you don't know the source of the problem."

The DNR will be working on phase I, a diagnostic study of the lake, throughout the summer and into the spring of 1982. As the study concludes they will begin to draw up an "assessment of alternatives" and put together a proposal for lake restoration.

The diagnostic study will cost taxpayers in the special assessment district (all those who live on or have access to the lake) $16,390 or approximately 30 percent of the study's total cost. The remainder is being paid for by the federal government.

Residents will be taxed on the same base rate as was established when the district was formed to pay for the Big Lake flood control dam. Lake frontage owners will pay approximately 50 cents per year per foot of frontage. Off lake property owners in the district will be taxed on the same per foot rate, divided by the number of parcels sharing the access.

The phase I study involves the collection and analysis of data on Big Lake's watershed, its fish and plant populations and an examination of the lake's sediment.

The primary objective of the DNR study is to determine what factors are involved in "nuisance weed" growth in the lake. The study is required prior to application for lake improvement money under the water pollution control act (No. 314 of 1972). Upon conclusion of the diagnostic study the DNR will also assist the lake board in putting together a feasibility study and applying for clean-up grants under 314.

Testing will also include sampling of the water and the sediment in the lake for toxic chemicals. Bostwich said that was an important concern on Big Lake because of its proximity to the toxic waste dump site discovered at Shindler Road, a mile and a half southeast of the lake, in 1978.

The most likely alternative for lake improvement, Bostwich said, would be a dredging project to remove plant fostering sediment from the lake bottom. Because Big Lake is so shallow (mean depth of 4 1/2 feet to 5 feet) Bostwich feels it may be virtually impossible to control weed growth without dredging.

She cautioned, however, that dredging was very expensive, possibly as much as $1 1/2 million for Big Lake, depending on how deep the removal would go, whether the sediments were toxically contaminated, and at what proximity a "spoil" site could be found.

The earliest she said an improvement project could begin would be 1983. In the meantime, "you could find that weed harvesting will be beneficial."

Big Lake has an ongoing weed control program, initiated by the lake association to remove weeds chemically. Tom Rabette, association president, has petitioned the lake board to place that program on the tax rolls.

He said the association was currently receiving only partial support from lake property owners and that, with lake board action, a more "equitable" means of financing could be achieved.

He proposed the purchase of a mechanical weed harvester be added to the tax rolls. A harvester, he said, would cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

If the lake board adopts his suggestion public hearings on that question will be held. Bostwich said a hearing on lake improvement alternatives will also be held when the DNR concludes its diagnostic study.

Concert Band Performs Fridays in the Village Park

For the second year in a row outdoor music in Independence Township isn't limited to the Pine Knob Music Theatre. Thanks to the efforts of the Clarkston Business Association, area resident James Morris and the Music Performance Trust Fund, the Clarkston Village Band will be playing Friday evening concerts in the Village Park through the month of July.

As assemblage of professional musicians from all over Oakland County, the thirty-one piece band performs march music, show tunes and big band tunes at the Depot Park pavilion.

The hour long shows are made possible through business association sponsorship, in conjunction with funds made available nationally by the trust fund which collects a percentage of revenues on every recording made in the country.

The performers are all members of the Pontiac Federation of Musicians, Local No. 784.

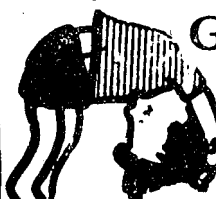

James Morris, the retired owner of Morris Music in Pontiac, is the band's organizer and director. A member of the volunteer band that played the park back in the mid-70's, Morris worked with the Business Association to revive the concert series and did most of the promotion.

Frank Merwin, president of local No. 784 and the band's bass drummer, says, "We try to diversify the program so that someone could come to all five concerts and not hear the same music twice."

The group also practices down at the park on Tuesday nights. Friday concerts start at 7 p.m. There are three performances left in the series, July 17, 24, and 31.

Springfield Gets Wastewater Treatment Estimates

Costs Approach 1/2 Million to Clean-Up Davisburg

by Dawson Bell
The Springfield Township Board received copies last week of a summary report compiled by engineers Mosher-Kapelczak Inc. on the problem of wastewater disposal in Davisburg. Preliminary indications are that Mosher-Kapelczak's proposed solutions will be both costly and involved.

Supervisor Collin Walls said the dollar figures submitted under the conceptual cost estimates, "Blew my mind."

The study suggests a joint wastewater system for the town's business district linked to disposal sites on either Davisburg Elementary school grounds or the old Oakland County gravel pit north of town on Eaton Road. Total cost estimates for the two alternatives ranged from $162,000-$430,000 for the school site, to $331,000-$443,000 for the gravel pit.

"prohibitively expensive", Mosher-Kapelczak suggested funding the system through Farmer's Home Administration or Housing and Urban Development grants.

If the township is to go ahead with the project, permits for wastewater discharge will have to be applied for from the State Department of Natural Resources and extensive further testing conducted.

It was hoped, when the study was commissioned in February, that a workable solution to wastewater discharge would open the way for expansion of the Davisburg business district. Presently, the Oakland County Health Department has prohibited the expansion of conventional disposal systems because of the area's high water

Although Mosher-Kapelczak considered several alternatives for modified on-site disposal systems, all were rejected as inappropriate or too costly.

Their recommended proposal would include an on-site wastewater collector system, a pumping station, transport pipes to either of the selected locations, and disposal site facilities.

Because the school site is already in service, it is anticipated the development costs for that location may be less than for the gravel pit, where extensive site modification would be required.

In either case, it would be necessary for Springfield Township to "accept responsibility for proper operation and maintenance of the treatment system", according to Mosher-Kapelczak.

That requirement has possibly dampened some of the enthusiasm for the project, coming so soon after township voters rejected plans to take over the sewer and water treatment facility at Bavarian Village.

Coupled with the high cost estimates, Supervisor Walls said he was unsure how they would proceed. "I don't know what I expected, except that I didn't expect it to cost that much."

The board received copies of the study for the first time at last Wednesday's monthly meeting and chose not to discuss the issue until after further study.

editor's note

Let's Hope CURE's Lobbying Efforts are Successful

Three cheers for CURE! As we have been reporting in the last several issues of The Reminder, citizens from local school districts have organized in an effort to lobby at the State Capitol for more local school funds.

Well, it seems to be full steam ahead for the group that actually started here in Clarkston. A couple of weeks ago they met in Lansing with area legislators and received a favorable response. Now they've begun to spread their doctrine to neighboring school districts.

The purpose is to create a massive coalition that would include members from school systems statewide and thusly put enough pressure on our lawmakers to either loosen the purse strings or change the current method of school financing.

At the very least, it's a long shot attempt, but then, very few people expected CURE to get as far as it has.

You can bet this newspaper will be watching CURE for future developments. We believe in their cause and wish them the very best of success. We will also be watching our lawmakers. They are the people that can make change. If they are really interested in the public welfare, they will do more than listen to CURE. They will ACT to see that change comes about.

Speaking of change.....From all accounts, it looks like our Social Security program will go bankrupt unless something is done rather quickly. More money is going out of the program than is coming in. A deplorable situation for those people facing retirement within the next ten years.

A couple of changes that would merit consideration include increasing the eligibility age to 70 and decreasing the rate at which Social Security is paid out.

Of course another obvious change would be to increase the amount paid in by each employee. However, I for one, would be quite reluctant to pay even more money into a fund that I wasn't sure would be around when the time came for myself to collect Social Security.

Rather, a fairer consideration, would be to gradually increase the age of eligibility so that within twenty years a person would have to be seventy in order to qualify. Secondly, experts indicate, if the cost of living adjustments were only slightly reduced, all would be well.

Inflation is so bad
Sometimes I think it's sad
You go into a store
And you have to pay a fine
for coming in the door
When you get in
You must have committed a sin
Because you have to pay
A fine for getting out that day
You try to buy a simple jar
And end up buying a huge car
You drive away and run out of gas
Boy it's a pain in the a en sored
After a while you find a gas station
And it seems like it's the only one in the nation
You ask them to fill up the tank
And they ask for the key to your bank
You ask them for five dollars worth
And they say, "Hold out your hand."
You started at six and now it's noon
As you're walking home you make plans to move to the moon.

Dear Clarkston CURE supporters and volunteers,

It seemed the most effective way to reach all of you who expressed an interest in or wanted to work for CURE was to place a letter

Those of you who wrote letters during the recent millage campaign will be pleased to five of them have been mailed to Governor

mike morrow's trivia

by Mike Morrow

I'm writing this from a cabin so far out in the woods that it makes the Black Forest look like a bunch of saplings in a new subdivision.

I am not the outdoorsy type but determined to let the pioneer spirit in me come out I have forced myself to stick out this week's vacation; and what a week it's been.
I've suffered through fuzzy TV reception, being miles from the nearest store and braved attacks of wild chipmunks on the patio. I imagine this is what life must have been like for the early pioneers.

During my week here at "Camp God-forsaken" as I call it, I have learned quite a bit about survival in the woods. I have put it all down on paper in a little manual called "survival in the woods on two fifths a day or how to take a week in the woods without killing yourself." Here is an excerpt.

1. Many strange and wonderful things grow in the woods. Often these strange and wonderous things come equipped with thorns and pickers. Therefore it is not advisable to go tromping through the woods without shoes since it is quite likely that you will slice your feet to ribbons and lord only knows what the scent of fresh blood will attract.

2. If you become overwhelmed by the fresh, clean smell of the woods and feel a tremendous desire to breathe deeply, do so through clenched teeth or you may find that instead of a lung full of clean air you will end up with a mouthful of bugs.

3. Do not expect to be able to run into town and find anything and everything you desire because rural towns often consist of a bar and a bait store, neither of which sells Solarcaine.

4. Squirrels, rabbits and raccoons will not, by nature, take handouts. If you wander across one that will take food from your hand you have probably not found a friendly exception, you have found a rabid one.

5. Cleanliness may be next to Godliness but in the woods it is next to impossible. Do not expect to look as fresh as a daisy when taking a bath from a canteen.

I hope I haven't discouraged anyone from taking a vacation in the woods but to be honest for my next vacation I'm not going anywhere near a tree. I plan on going to a nice hotel where the ice is plentiful, room service is fast and the only snake I'll find in my bed is me.

Sunday! Sunday! Sunday! BMX Nationals at Waterford Oaks August 2

It doesn't seem like the kind of sport that could boast a nationwide professional circuit, or 5000 registered members just in the State of Michigan.

But it is, and it is Bicycle Motocross.

Every Saturday throughout the summer, kids ranging in age from six to (in one instance) forty-five, gather at Oakland County's Waterford Oaks County Park to hit the dirt track, fly over the bumps, and take an occasional end-over-end spill.

The average turnout at the park's Saturday races is about 300, with an equal number of spectators. Except on weekends like this week's, when the ranks will be so depleted by the number of area entrants in a national race at Elkhart, Indiana, that Waterford Oaks cancelled its competition.

They'll make up for it two weeks later, August 1-2, when, in addition to regular regional competition, Waterford will be hosting an American Bicycle Association (ABA) National of its own.

Park officials expect over 1200 riders on Sunday the 2nd for the Great Lakes National showdown. Points from the national race count towards national ranking.

Also slated for Sunday's round of racing activity, a professional class. The top pro will receive a $1000 cash prize.

Waterford Oaks is located off Scott Lake Road, just north of the Watkins Lake Road intersection. For information call 858-0913.

Activity Room Eliminates Crowding

CONTEMPORARY RANCH FOR ECONOMY

© By W. D. FARMER

The entrance to this home is through a foyer area divided with ornate half partitions. The activity room is in full view and of tremendous effect.

The kitchen is corridor style with built-ins, counter top work surface and adequate cabinet storage space. A rear terrace is convenient to the kitchen and activity room for those outdoor cookouts.

The washer dryer area and furnace area are central, or if your lot allows, a basement stair is placed here and the laundry and furnace facilities are relocated in the basement.

Coat, walk-in, and linen closets are abundant in the bedroom end where there are also two full baths, one with shower private to master bed room and the other bath being available to the other two bedrooms and daytime guests. A disappearing attic storage access stair is from the central hall.

This plan is also available with slab foundation and crawl space foundation. You also have the choice of a single or double car port.

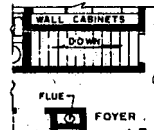

The exterior is contemporary style, accented with horizontal siding and brick with casement windows. Front wall changes for B front pictured are shown on actual working drawings.

All W.D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency, and are guaranteed to meet F.H.A. and V.A. requirements. # Holly Celebrates Founder's Day This Weekend

Holly's Founder's Day celebration featuring antique shows, historic shop tour, live entertainment, bucket brigade and games for the children will take place on July 17th and 18th.

The northeast Oakland County Historical Society offers their 12th annual antique show and sale, located at the Benjamin Sherman Middle School, 14470 North Holly Road. Thirty dealers will be on duty Friday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Proceeds to benefit the historical museum. Also on Saturday at 1:00 p.m. the Town Crier, Homer Biondi, will begin a Historical Shop tour starting at the Holly Hotel. The walk will introduce the history of the buildings and some of the past pictorial events:

The Battle Alley merchants will present live entertainment at the corner of Battle Alley and Saginaw. "Gemini", a twin duet, popular to the area will delight with their folk and guitar music. Lord Neveaux, a well known juggler will perform at 3:00 on Saturday.

Clad in railroad outfits, the merchants on Saginaw Street will present railroad days -- Good old sales which even include a garage sale at McKay's Hardware.

The Flea Market at the old mill behind the Citizens Bank will be open and in the center of Saginaw the Holly Jaycees offer games for the kids and a 10,000-meter road run for the adults. The race starts at Holly High School, going 6.2 miles and ending at Saginaw Street.

Holly's volunteer Fire Department is in challenge for a bucket brigade, renewing the history of fire fighting at the turn of the century (time to be announced).

Thomas Returned as Clarkston Board President

In a series of unanimous votes Monday night the Clarkston School Board re-elected each of their officers to another term.

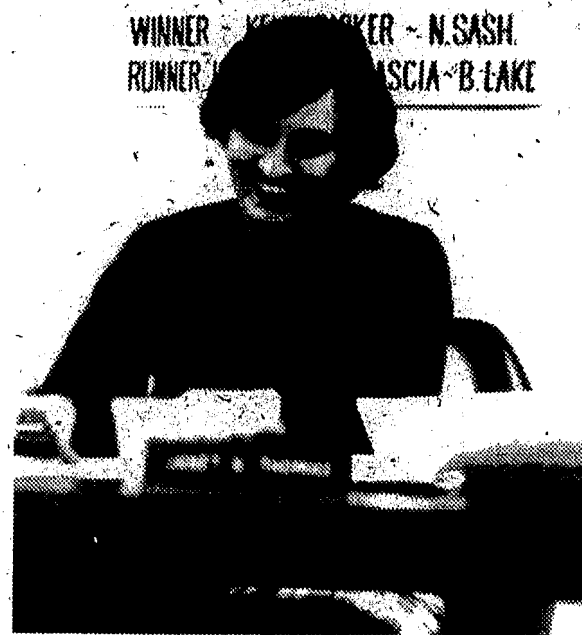

Janet Thomas returns for a second year as president of the board in 1981-82. C. Vincent Luzi will hold his post as vice-president for another term.

Mary Jane Chaustowich was re-elected as board secretary. And Addison Hubbard will continue as treasurer.

The only suggested departure from the status quo came from Carolyn Place who nominated newly elected board member Dr. Stephen Werner for the post of treasurer.

Mrs. Place said she felt an initiation as the board's financial officer was the "best way to learn" the system. Her motion died, however, for lack of support.

Mrs. Thomas was also retained as the Clarkston Board's general representative to the Oakland Intermediate School District and as member of the Oakland Schools legislative committee. Addison Hubbard will fill the Clarkston slot on the financial committee to Oakland Schools.

Board members voted, too, to maintain their stipends at current levels, $30 per meeting, their fourth consecutive year without an increase. Although, at the suggestion of Luzi, the 24 meetings per year limit on compensation was removed.

Luzi said board members had to prepare for every meeting and that Clarkston was not in the habit of calling an excessive number of meetings anyway.

In other action the School Board approved in concept the formation of a Department of Community Education for the district. If the administration can put together an acceptable proposal by the board's next meeting it is conceivable that the district will lose this year its distinction as the only one of 28 public school districts in Oakland County without a community education program.

The initiative for the board's action came with the submission of a report from a committee appointed last year to look into community education. Alberta Ellis, Vocational Center Administrator and a member of that committee, said, "Community education would allow us to utilize the (school) system to its fullest potential."

She said programs in adult education, after school "enrichment" for gifted and slow learners, and a whole variety of community service operations could be created with the schools as a focal point.

Community education, she said, would not only provide additional educational opportunities for residents of the area but provide the district with a broader base of support from the general public.

"Our official name is the Clarkston 'Community' Schools," she said. "But if you look at our whole program, we're not really community."

Ellis also stressed the need for direct action. A fundamental component of a community education would be the appointment of a program director.

Right now, the State Department of Education (DOE) could provide a grant to the district which would pay two-thirds of the director's salary for the first two years of the program. According to Ellis, that money might not be available by next year.

Superintendent Milford Mason told the board he would put together a "nuts and bolts" outline of a community education program and try to have it ready for their August meeting.

He agreed that it was important to reach people not directly involved in the school system at present. But he also cautioned, "Times being what they are (community education) would have to be self-sustaining."

Football Lights Ready to be Installed

Members of the Clarkston Schools Lighting Fund Committee were preparing to open the champagne this week as the "raising" of the high school football field's new lighting system neared.

On Monday and Tuesday the gigantic, feet long red cedar standards were delivered to the field after a journey from Washington State by way of a lumber mill in Minnesota.

Committee member, Rick Huttenlocher, said the installation of the new lighting system would take place on the weekends of July 24-25 and August 1. The weekend work is required because so much of the labor on the project is being donated by volunteer area contractors.

Then by the second week in August all that will remain is for someone to throw the switch.

The committee is understandably pleased with the nearly completed lighting fund-project which started in the fall of 1980 when it became apparent the old lights wouldn't live through another football season.

Unfortunately, it was also apparent that the school district would not have sufficient funds available to replace the system. The lighting fund committee decided to go it alone.

Through the winter more than $30,000 in cash was raised to help pay for the new system.

Some of that came in straight contributions, but more than half came in on a series of fundraisers. A single project, the sale of light bulbs at bulk rates, netted $10,000.

Local residents, who contributed labor, materials and technical advice, were also instrumental in putting the committee within $2,000 of their original $60,000 goal.

Area electrician Glen Hagyard of Schultz Electric in Pontiac has assumed responsibility as construction manager for the project. And has, within the last few weeks, installed the control panels and above-ground wiring required for the new system.

Hagyard is now in the process of mounting the lights on the crossbars in preparation for the last push.

Conrad Bruce, administrative assistant who has coordinated the committee's work with the school, says more volunteers will be welcome for the final installation. Depending on when a crane can be rented, the poles will go up either Friday, July 24, or Saturday, July 25.

When the wiring is in place the job will be complete, ready for the marching bands and athletic teams of the future.

Bruce says donations are still coming in but, "If we're still short (the $2000) when we turn 'em on the first time, we'll turn it into a benefit."

Heat Wave: 90 Degree Days Unbearable

Damned!! & **?)!!Awful!! Too *c?&*? Much!!--Adjectives, used to describe the human condition locally for the week of July 5-11.

The nearly universal discord was not, however, aimed in any particular direction. For once the politicians were off the hook; no one was looking for a scapegoat; Chinese nuclear testing was forgotten.

It was just too Hot. How hot is too hot?

According to Reminder weather watcher, Robert C. Davis, on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week it was more than ten degrees fahrenheit too hot.

Mean temperatures in southeastern Michigan for this time of the year should run from eighty degrees to eighty-two degrees. For two days in a row in mid-week, the mercury here climbed above ninety-three degrees. And Thursday, until a cold front blew in from the northwest, we were headed in the same direction.

In addition, the warm Gulf air that was causing all the problems brought with it

When it's hot you look for relief. And four-year-old Tim Collins didn't have to look any farther than his front yard. This unlikely swimming hole appeared in front of the Motel Oakland on Dixie Highway during last week's heat wave.

plenty of moisture and, adding insult to injury, the humidity that accompanied last week's hot weather was near the intolerable range too.

Heat effects different people in different ways. It saps the strength for most. It makes children grouchy. And for some it is a positive endangerment to life.

Independence Township Fire Chief, Frank "Tink" Ronk, says his department has to hustle in the hot weather. Not because of an increased incidence of structural fires, but on a wide assortment of emergency runs.

"We get a lot more medicals when it's this hot," he says. "People who overdo. Mowing the lawn in this kind of weather can give somebody a case of heat exhaustion in a hurry."

Ronk says the incidence of vehicle fires increases too, as poorly-maintained autos overheat and gas, grease and oil in the engine compartment spontaneously combust.

Grass fires are also a problem at this time of year. Circumstances that wouldn't normally lead to ignition, like a discarded cigarette or even a pop bottle lying in a field, result in an out-of-control backyard blaze.

High heat is supposed to be bad for business, too. People head for the beach or stay inside with the air conditioner rather than attending to their responsibilities as consumers.

That is, unless they happen to live in a home where the air conditioner ain't workin'.

John Paalman, General Manager with Danny Paris TV and Appliance in Drayton Plains, says, "We hope it gets hotter."

The reason—People buy air conditioners (and refrigerators, freezers, de-humidifiers and the like) in hot weather.

"We're probably one of two or three businesses in the area that like it when it gets this hot," says Paalman.

"Recession or not, air conditioners sell in this kind of weather."

And not only air conditioners. When the thermometer tops 90 degrees, the mortality rate among old refrigerators, freezers, and other hardworking appliances goes up.

"If you have a refrigerator that's on its last legs, this kind of weather will kill it," says Paalman.

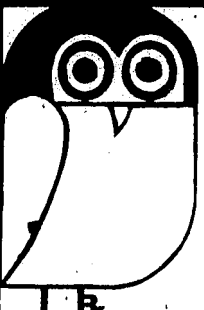

"I noticed the Dairy Queen was doing pretty well when I drove home last night, too," he says.

Thursday did bring some relief. Afternoon thundershowers ushered in a less humid front from the northwest that drove back some of the gulf air.

But the battle resumed on Saturday. And forecasters say it is likely to continue this week.

There is some consolation, though. Weatherman Davis says that since he started keeping local records five years ago, we haven't had a single reading over one hundred degrees fahrenheit. It reached 103 degrees in Detroit back in 1977. But this is, remember, the cool country.

A Celebration of Citizenship

Assistance; Christopher Rose, Independence Township Clerk, was selected as this year's outstanding government official; and recent graduate of Clarkston High School, Richard Harken, was chosen as the outstanding young person for 1981. Harken was cited for selfless service both in and out of the classroom.

The evening's festivities were highlighted by a buffet banquet supper in the Racquet Club's latest addition, an expansive dining area looking over Deer Lake.

State Representative Claude A. Trim and Independence Township Supervisor James B. Smith joined a host of "celebrities" in honoring the community awards recipients.

Boat Launch Bid Accepted

The Independence Township Board accepted a bid from Advance Concrete Products of Highland Park to construct a 60 foot long boat ramp at the township's Deer Lake Beach at their regular meeting on Tuesday, July 7.

The ramp, which will be installed in pre-cast concrete slabs, will cost $5,995 and will be paid for out of Federal Revenue Sharing (FRS) money.

That figure exceeds the $3,000 that had been allocated for the ramp at March's FRS hearings. But the board felt there was sufficient need for an established boat launching site to warrant approval.

According to Frank Beale, engineer with Hubbel, Roth and Clark, the design of the ramp is similar to that employed by the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR). It will allow hard surface access from White Lake Road, on to the lake and into the water.

Construction is expected to begin after the township receives permit approval from the DNR, possibly by the end of this month.

Hurlbert Replaces Ohrnberger on Task Force

In a unanimous vote, the Independence Township Board has approved the appointment of attorney Robert Hurlbert to fill the vacancy on the supervisor's cable television task force vacated by chairman Peter Ohrnberger.

Supervisor James B. Smith asked the board to accept a replacement for Ohrnberger who was forced to resign because of increasing business responsibilities.

Hurlbert, whose Detroit law firm represents ON-TV, is well acquainted with the cable TV phenomena and will assume the chairmanship immediately, according to Smith.

The task force is presently involved in the examination of model ordinances for the regulation of a township cable TV franchise agreement.

Baffling Bill Entertains Readers

Adventures '81, the Summer Reading Club which has been meeting at Independence Township Library, has only three more weeks of activities scheduled. The time is short to hand in book reports. Participants must read 8 books to qualify for a certificate. To date, twenty-one members have reached this goal.

On July 8, 115 youngsters welcomed Baffling Bill the Magician. This is the second summer this enthusiastic man has entertained the Reading Club. Games Day was celebrated on July 15. Winners will be announced next week.

The remaining events are the July 22 Animal Talk and a Costume Party on July 29. The Grand Finale is on August 5 when Certificate winners will be announced. There will be special films for that day.

Pre-School Story Times this week are: Tuesday, July 21 at 4:30 p.m. and Wednesday, July 22 at 11 a.m. Films for these dates are "Princess and The Pea" and "Old Mother Hubbard and Her Dog".

The new Cowan Chiropractic Clinic features lecture hall, "Acute Care" center, and ample space for Dr. John Cowan and three associates.

New Chiropractic Clinic to Open July 20

Local chiropractor, Dr. John Cowan, has scheduled a July opening for his newly constructed Cowan Chiropractic Clinic. The new facility will replace Cowan's home for the last five years, the Greater Pontiac Life Center on Walton Boulevard in Waterford.

Cowan says the reason for the move is that "we simply outgrew the old building."

The new clinic, at 6330 Sashabaw Road, will open its doors on July 20.

Cowan, a Clarkston resident, said that his office is now seeing up to two hundred people a day and that the new facility will allow him and his staff to expedite treatment and introduce innovative chiropractic procedures.

The building will contain office space for Cowan, three associates, staff, four treatment rooms, two examination rooms, two X-ray rooms, a consultation room, and a lecture hall.

One of the innovations planned into the building is something called the "Acute (or Day) Care" section, space set aside for the treatment of injuries which require immediate and follow-up attention. The "Acute Care" section will be equipped with a lounge area and color television for patients who may need to be under supervision for a period of hours.

Cowan sits on the board of directors of the Michigan Chiropractic Council and is chairman of educational programming for the Michigan Chiropractic Association. He has also been appointed to represent Michigan at the International Chiropractor's Association in Washington, D.C.

He is familiar to area residents as the host of a half-hour weekly radio program on Pontiac's WPON, in which he and guest commentators discuss chiropractic care and take calls from listeners.

The Cowan Chiropractic Clinic will offer, in addition to standard services and the "Acute Care" section, weekly lectures on health care, nutritional programming, and spinal exercise.

Cowan says his ultimate goal is to expand the services at his new location to include dental and medical offices, creating "one stop shopping" for health care.
