Barb Lacey-Clarkston's Own Soap Star

by Mike Wilcox and Al Wielling

Like former Clarkston resident and now famous movie actress Valerie Bertinelli, Clarkston's Barbara Lacey will soon be a familiar face on television.

Ms. Bertinelli has become well known for her lead role on the hit TV series "One Day at a Time".

Ms. Lacey is beginning her television acting career with a lead role on the soap opera "Generations" which will be telecast on Channel 20 (WXON) September 23-28.

Ms. Lacey has been acting at this and that all her life, but hasn't really taken it serious until lately.

She was plucked from Royal Oak's Fourth Street Playhouse for the "Generations" role.

"I was auditioning for the Fourth Street Playhouse," recalled Ms. Lacey. "It was a very emotional scene. As I started reading the lines I became emotional with my voice breaking and lots of tears flowing."

"After that a lady came running up to me named Lorrie Johnson from WXON," continued Ms. Lacey. "She said she had a part in a soap opera that she felt I would be interested in. She asked me to audition, I agreed, and got the part."

Her acting talent came from her father who had a country band in Arkansas and New Mexico. She remembers starring in several Shakespeare Classics while attending high school in Detroit.

Eventually, Ms. Lacey got married and became mother to four children. While caring for her children she engaged in writing. When the family moved to Clarkston she became involved first with Brandon Stage and then with the Clarkston Village Players.

With the Clarkston Village Players she acted in "Deadwood Dick", "Treasure Island" and "Fall River".

In the meantime, Ms. Lacey was going through a divorce. Friends offered her words of encouragement and often suggested that she should pursue an acting career.

"But I felt my age was a deterrent," she said.

Barb Lacey will turn 34 on September 2.

"I felt that if you were going to make acting a career that you should start when you are 18 or 19," she said.

She added, "My friends urged me to contact an agent. When I did I was thrilled when they told me that I was the perfect age. That was all I needed. I knew I had a chance."

On her way to the Fourth Street Playhouse, Ms. Lacey obtained a job with WMZK as a deejay. Simultaneously she was also selling advertising for a Renaissance Center publication.

"I made many flub-ups and I inserted my foot in my mouth many times, but I also bit hard," she said. "It was a fantastic learning experience."

WXON's "Generations" centers around the fictional Dewitt family, who live in fictional Arbor Hills. Most of the scenes are shot in and around Detroit.

Carl Dewitt, the family patriarch is a business tycoon with his fingers in all sorts of things. He comes back to Arbor Hills to prevent a business partner from selling a company to the Japanese. All the while he must deal with an alcoholic wife and two feisty daughters.

Ms. Lacey plays Dr. Helen Gunther. To develop the role she has sought out several doctors, interviewed them and watched actual surgery so she could get the feel of how

EXTENDED COVERAGE

North Oaks
Insurance Agency

Will your homeowner's insurance cover the replacement cost if some or all of the house's contents are lost to fire or theft? It probably will, if you've got a replacement cost policy or rider to your regular policy.

Under most homeowners' policies, you would collect the current cash value of what was lost, or cost minus depreciation. Replacement cost insurance would usually pay you whatever you needed to get a new item at current prices.

Your dwelling itself must be insured for at least 80 percent of its replacement value for you to get full payment, up to the limits of the policy. If you're only insured for 50 percent of actual value, for instance, you're considered a "co-insurer" and will only receive 50 percent of your loss.

Replacement cost insurance for contents is a new concept; only about 20 percent of all policies have it now. It's especially important when your belongings are no longer new and there is a great discrepancy between their cash value and replacement cost.

This extra protection costs a little more, but the difference in payoff can be impressive. Some insurance companies require extra coverage on contents and set limits on what they'll pay for certain valuables.

Does your homeowner's policy give you all the protection you need?

IS PRE-PLANNING WORTHWHILE?

Yes! Pre-planning for funeral services is well worth the hour or so it takes to talk over your final wishes with our trained funeral directors. Pre-planning is important for three reasons:

First, pre-planning makes your wishes known in advance, so difficult decisions won't have to be made at the time of death.

Second, pre-planning permits free choice of all those personal and intimate aspects of a funeral (music, scriptures, eulogy, etc.) in a comfortable, relaxed atmosphere.

Finally, any possible disagreement among the bereaved is eliminated when your wishes are expressed and recorded in advance.

As funeral directors, we have all the information you might need in pre-planning for funeral services. Please stop by if you would like more information on this very important decision-making.

Panhandling for Profit

Some guys really go to a lot of trouble to make a buck. Jim Lund, a laid-off employee of Pontiac's F.J. Boutells, can be seen applying the old technique of panhandling in area streams. In this photo, Lund is sifting through water in the stream that ran through the Old Mill Restaurant.

Lund has found over 3000 coins, watches, old bottles and other items. The oldest coin he can credit to panhandling is an 1898 Liberty quarter.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

GRAVITY AFFECTS YOUR BODY

If you had been a member of the crew on the 84-day Skylab space mission, you would have had a first-hand experience on how the body reacts in a gravity-free world. And if you thought your body had stopped "growing," you might be in for a surprise. All of the astronauts while on that mission grew taller, some of them almost two inches taller. Why? Without the pull of gravity, the body loosens up. The distance between each disc in the spinal column expands slightly.

Here on Earth, we all know how important the force of gravity is in keeping our feet on the ground. In fact, the whole body is affected by this force. If your spine is in proper alignment, this is one sign of good health. But if it isn't, then you may be suffering unnecessarily from back pain and other discomforts. If that's the case, you may want to consider an examination to find out how you can get relief.

Singing Up a Storm

Guests at the Davisburg house of Les Spiegel were in for a rare treat when the award winning Wayne State University Chamber Choir gave a performance at the home over the weekend.

Spiegel, along with nearly 30 others, under the direction of Harry M. Lankford sang madrigals, classical and contemporary music.

The Chamber Singers have placed third in international competition. Their goal is to become the best in the world.

Employees Count

This week we are devoting a great deal of space to our annual Focus on Industry Issue. The special section takes a look at a sampling of industries and businesses in the area that are doing well.

Pessimists might suggest that number has dwindled to very few in the last year or so, but our section points to many fine operations that are thriving despite hard economic times.

Take Nickola Foods for instance. In a few short years they have made a multi-million dollar business out of what was once a small store front in White Lake. A & A Collectables got its start strictly as a lapidary store, but since the beginning of this year has blossomed into precious gemstones and rare coins and stamps.

Family Video, which opened a year ago, has introduced a number of innovations to video retailing, including the opening last week of a drive-thru service window. Wright and Filippi has sponsored a gigantic picnic for thousands of people as a fresh and subtle approach to getting their name known.

It takes ingenuity and it takes resourcefulness to be successful in business these days. It also takes good employees.

All the businesses we talked with to make this Focus on Industry section had a high regard for their employees. They wanted us to note that they wouldn't be where they are today without a good, conscientious staff. Conversely, some businesses that didn't advertise, told us they would not, because they did not speak fondly of employer-employee relations.

In a state where labor relations plays a big part in our economic well-being, we've become accustomed to walk-outs, lock-outs, picket lines and strikes.

But lately, when times have been bad, we've seen a real spirit of cooperation between management and labor. In my opinion that's a good sign, a sign that tells us Michigan is well on the way to economic recovery.

TRIVIA

by Mike Morrow

Getting on a boat for the first time is not the easiest thing to do. You have to jump down from the dock, across the water and into the boat. If I had known at the time that that was going to be the most enjoyable part of the trip, I would have waited in the car for everyone to return.

Since I was too dumb to see the signs, I plunged off the dock in the general direction of the boat hoping I wouldn't crash through the floor.

After I landed and the boat was no longer in danger of capsizing, we headed out.

I must admit that at first I liked the trip. I settled back in my chair, drink in hand, as we putzed through the marina at a safe three miles per hour.

The fun ended when we hit open water. That's when our captain went berserk. He got an evil glint in his eyes, laughed crazily and jammed down on the accelerator.

Let me tell you, you haven't lived until you've played "chicken" with a freighter.

Now I understood why his wife wouldn't go out in the boat with him anymore.

At one point, as we were closing in on the back end of a freighter, I thought about taking my chances and jumping overboard to swim for it. The chances for survival seemed better than if I stayed in the boat with a crazed captain.

A sudden bout of seasickness saved me from having to make the choice. I spent the rest of the trip hanging out the back of the boat polluting the lake, blissfully unaware of what Captain Bligh was doing until we passed it by.

Fortunately the trip hasn't had much of a lasting impact. Within a week I could drink water again and the Doctors here at the home tell me that soon I'll be able to see a bath tub without crying.

SMALL TALK LETTERS

by Rebecca Roberts

Family reunions are an American phenomenon, I think, born out of the frenetic mobilization of our twentieth century families.

Like everybody else, I made the annual trek to mine this summer, just a little grudgingly, but with some curiosity too.

The first few hours of any reunion is a redundant echoing of vague phrases, like, "Gads! you've changed!" and "Look at the size of that kid!", phrases meant to buy time until you stumble onto the real meat of a person's life, or heaven forbid, actually find something in common with those strangers called relatives.

When I was a kid, I remember the canvas-wrapped tubs of vanilla ice cream that came after a deluge of jello, potato salad and ham. Free ice cream. It seemed almost mystical.

I had an aunt who was the matriarchal figure of the reunions back then. At 101, she became, in her home of Pleasant Valley, the nation's oldest justice of the peace. She had been a school teacher, but retired, and then, consummately dissatisfied with her non-working life, set out to do other things. She wrote for the local newspaper for years.

Old Aunt Clarey, we called her. Frail, so small, I couldn't imagine such a frail fine-boned woman could be so alive.

But she was very much alive, presiding over the reunions - in later years from a wheelchair - like a tiny queen, that silkwhite hair tufting every which way from her fragile head. She seemed to me she would break every time she opened her mouth to speak in those caw-like tones.

But she didn't. Her chatter and her presence carried on for a long time, until I became a teenager, and no longer attended the reunions.

This year's reunion was much like the others, the small talk, the exclamations. The food. But there are no tubs of ice cream anymore. And no Aunt Clarey.

It isn't quite the same.

Open letter to Mr. Headlee,

"Politics Make Strange Bedfellows"

You are not even trying to hide your contempt for the people of Michigan.

You really must feel that they are complete idiots and will vote for any smooth talking politician.

On August 17th, in the Oakland Press you made the following statement, which I will quote.

"Patterson is going to have to quit telling lies if he wants my support." "You've got a prosecutor using deceptive and dishonest campaign tactics, I would have a very hard time supporting a guy that does not tell the truth."

"Obviously, Brooks is running a dishonest campaign. Trouble is, sometimes, people believe it."

That is what you said, Mr. Headlee.

Now in order to get the people who voted for Patterson, the "man" who uses deceptive and dishonest campaign tactics, to vote for you... You want him to run on the Republican ticket as Michigan's Attorney General.

Maybe if we get enough of them in Lansing, we can release them all 90 days early to relieve overcrowding.

In re: Response to July 2, 1982,
Correspondence from Wm. M. Spinelli

As members of the Sheriff's Jail Consent Judgment Ad Hoc Coordinating Committee composed of four Captains and the Undersheriff, four of whom have served as Commander of the Jail at some time over the past ten years, we feel we must respond to some of the inaccurate and irresponsible statements made by William Spinelli, a subordinate of the County Executive.

1. First of all, we, the undersigned, have never, we repeat never had any knowledge of, or reason to suspect there has been, a deliberate misstatement of the Jail Count. Human mistakes are made, a poorly designed computer program has further added to our problems. These problems are being addressed by an increased staff at the Jail and by a reprogramming of our computer by Oakland County Computer Services.

2. As to the claim that we are not accepting the recommendations of the Jail Study Subcommittee, this is simply not true. We have followed most of the recommendations with the exception of a concept which would remove sentenced prisoners from our Jail to be mixed with our Work Release residents. This solution was deemed not feasible by the Sheriff and Undersheriff.

3. The proposed use of credit cards for posting bond was actually researched and suggested to the Jail Study Subcommittee by Sheriff's personnel, but it was ruled illegal by the Prosecutor's Office. We are, therefore, awaiting direction from a higher authority before any further moves on this concept will be made.

4. We have installed phones in nearly every prisoner area of the Jail, contrary to Mr. Spinelli's statements.

5. We are prepared to house overflow prisoners in the Circuit Court Detention area as the new staff becomes available.

6. We must accept certain prearranged prisoners from various police departments. Sheriff Spreen is in Circuit Court at the present time because we refused one such arrest. We are refusing most prearranged new arrests as a means of controlling our population.

7. The courts determine who is Work Release eligible, not the Sheriff. However, we notice Mr. Spinelli is not taking the judges to task.

8. Our Trusty Camp, contrary to Mr. Spinelli's charges, is operating as close to its designed capacity as the number of eligible low-risk prisoners allows.

In summary, Mr. Spinelli is either; (a) woefully uninformed as to what is really happening in the Jail; (b) embarking on a political mission to embarrass Sheriff Spreen by his attacks on the credibility of our Corrective Services Division officers, with little concern for truth or accuracy, or (c) both of the above.

Sincerely,

Clarkston Village Players constantly strive for total perfection."

Ms. Lacey expects her role in "Generations" to be a springboard for bigger and better things. She already has been told that that may be the case. But she also realizes that acting may not develop into a fulltime career. In case that happens, she says she'd be just as happy as a TV anchor-woman.

But before she bows out, Ms. Lacey has set her sights on a couple of roles. One, she would like to play Gypsy Rose Lee. "I think that would be fun," she said.

Secondly, she yearns to play a pioneer-type woman in the mold of Ellen Burstyn's critically acclaimed performance in "Woman of the North".

"I could get my teeth into that type of role. Women need all the respect they can get, particularly respect for their abilities. Men need to know we can make it with or without them," she said.

Pre-School Story Time at Independence Township Library is Wednesday, Sept. 8, 11 a.m.

Movies for this date are "Mole and the Green Star". Mole thinks a shining green stone is a fallen star and tries to put it back in the sky, and "Mother Goose Rhymes" in which boys and girls take a trip to Mother Goose land.

After-School Movie Hour is Wednesday, September 8, 4:30 p.m.

Films for this hour are "Cuckoo Clock That Wouldn't Cuckoo" about Hans Ticktocker, a kindly clockmaster. "Legend of the Magic Knives" describes the special art and history of the totem poles and "A Different Kind of Winning".

New books in the adult section include three mysteries: "Murder in the Supreme Court" by Margaret Truman, "An Uprush of Mayhem" by Jack Scott and "Uneasy Lies the Head" by Robert Tine, and "Lace" by Shirley Conran.

Non-fiction includes "Remodeling & Decorating Bedrooms" a Sunset Book and "How to Make Your Money Make Money," edited by Arthur Levitt, Jr.

The Springfield Township Library Summer Reading Program ended August 18th with a picnic. The Friends of the Library provided the refreshments. 114 area boys and girls participated in the Summer Program. 72 boys and girls received certificates and a paperback book for completing the program by reading 15 or more books in eight weeks.

A reminder that the Coupon Club meets the second Thursday of every month at 6:30 at the Library to exchange coupons and refunding forms.

Some new books are: "My Sweet Audrina" by V.C. Andrews, "The Valley of the Horses" by Jean Auel, "Wrecks and Rescues of the Great Lakes" by James Barry, "Lace" by Shirley Conran, "E.T.-The Extra-Terrestrial" by William Kotzwinkle, "Ride the Wind" by Lucia St. Clair Robson, and "Washington!" by Dana Fuller Ross.

The Reminder's Focus on Industry

Sell the Best, Service the Rest

The advertisement states, "We sell the best and service the rest."

Al Distel, owner of Superior Water on Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains, believes wholeheartedly in that motto.

The best, he says, is Duracube. It will remove iron and soften water at the same time where as a water softener will only remove part of the iron.

Superior Water deals in a complete line of water conditioning products for residential, commercial and industrial purposes. They have been in business for 20 years.

Drive-Up Window Opens

Last weekend Family Video unveiled a drive-up window, the first of its kind in the area. The drive-up window is open 9 p.m.-5 a.m. at Family Video's Pontiac location at 5090 Highland Road.

New innovations, however, are not new to Family Video. In an effort to stay a step ahead of the competition, Family Video has been the first to start a number of new ideas.

Some of the features unique to Family Video are a 3-month trial membership that costs a paltry $15; a lifetime membership that costs $99.95; video game club rates; free adult movies; 4 day rental period; and free birthday rental.

Family Video claims to have the largest selection of Beta movies in Pontiac.

For more information call 674-1800.

They Emphasize Remodeling

Dave Zuehlke, owner of Beauty Craft Homes, has been practicing his craft for 20 years, and he thinks he's gotten pretty darn good at it.

Zuehlke, who works out of offices located on M-59 in Waterford Township, said because very little new home building is taking place, he currently is specializing in remodeling.

"I can do anything -- painting, remodeling, office buildings, new construction from $28,900 to whatever."

That is not an overstatement either. Zuehlke has a home priced at $350,000 that he built as well as a subdivision called Loon Lake Woods that he developed.

The Handicapper's Best Friend

If you're handicapped, chances are you know about Wright and Filippis, Inc. The company located on Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains, sells and services equipment like wheelchairs, hospital beds, canes and walkers to hospitals, universities, schools and individuals.

In addition, Wright and Filippis has a construction department from which they make or modify, construct or reconstruct, a home or business to make it barrier free for handicap people.

As a gesture of thanks to their customers and to help publicize the plight of the handicapped, Wright and Filippis sponsors a gigantic picnic each year in which literally thousands of people, the majority of them handicapped, attend. This year's picnic was held in late July, and as always, was a huge success.

Although the picnic has indirectly helped to publicize the good reputation of Wright and Filippis, over the years, hard work has helped more to make that reputation.

Another reason for their success, says spokesperson Mike Kilbourn is that "We do employ the handicap and have bumped into a lot of walls ourselves and have learned from our experiences."

"So the bottom line is in a sense that we do almost everything there is to be done, or deal with almost every capacity one can imagine in handicap living," added Kilbourn.

Gulf Sierra Aero Club and Stick & Rudder Ltd. are two unique aviation companies based at Oakland Pontiac Airport.

Unique in the sense that Stick & Rudder Ltd. specializes in Aerobatic Flight Instruction. Owner Ron Foucault teaches the precision and fun of one of the most exciting sports.

He uses new aircraft that resemble the old fashion vintage aircraft that makes the sport of open cockpit goggles and wind burn face flying as authentic as the beginning of aviation. Precision is his speciality, demonstrating from the simple spin to the most difficult aerobatic maneuvers used quite frequently in air shows. Five hour courses run $325.00 and appointments can be made seven days a week by calling 666-2220.

Gulf Sierra Aero Club on the other hand specializes in complete flight training programs starting from student training to multi-engine training. The club has been designed to reduce the rates of flying to allow the general public the capability of affording a sport most people think is out of their financial reach.

Both are open seven days, appointments scheduled to the customer's convenience with financing programs to fit anyone's needs makes it an easy way to further a person's education and a fun way of traveling.

J & J Introduces New Geothermal Heat Pump

J & J Refrigeration Co. has added a new product line to their business, and they expect it to become a big seller in the near future. The line, Carrier Geothermal heat pumps can save homeowners as much as 70 percent in energy savings according to J & J president John C. DiPietro.

DiPietro claimed additional savings could also be applied for through state and federal tax credits. In addition, the heat pump can be installed to existing forced air furnaces, saving the consumer more money.

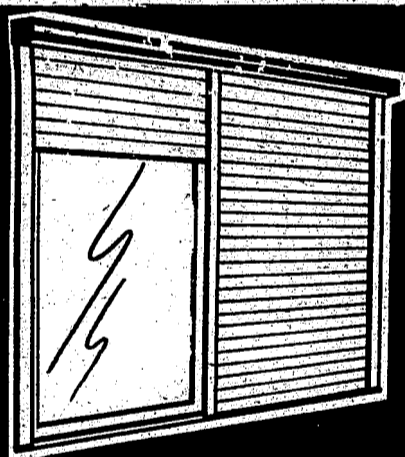

The Carrier Geothermal heat pump is certified by Detroit Edison and the Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute. DiPietro said it will be the only heat pump certified by both Edison and the Institute.

J & J Refrigeration has been in business since 1967. Located at 7170 Dixie, just north of the Secretary of State's Office in Clarkston, J & J is owned by three DiPietros--John C., Greg and John J.

The company installs and services refrigeration and heating units in residential, commercial, institutional and light industrial areas. J & J proudly displays a State Refrigeration license, a State Heating license and product licenses from manufacturers.

Poolmart Tests Water Free

Poolmart's "Tower of Power" water analysis computer is an extension of their comprehensive water testing lab. It will diagnose water condition instantly. Pool water balance is critical to the operation of a pool or spa and something being out of balance can either in the short hand cloud water and cause bacteria growth or, in the long run, cause equipment deterioration.

The computer is fully programmed for not only pool water analysis but for the special problems in spas and hot tubs plus a comprehensive winterizing program.

For the customer, simply bring in a quart of water in a clean glass jar or plastic bag and Poolmart will run your test free of charge in only a few minutes while you wait.

Format Distributes Roll Shutters

Exterior Roll Shutter Systems are now available in this area by a new company - Format Enterprises. Owners George Graves and Doug Peterson, both local residents, are retailing and installing the shutters for homes and business places.

Graves first saw the shutters on a friend's house and purchased the system for his own home. After four years of saving energy dollars George decided to market the product himself.

The Roll Shutter System consists of horizontal vinyl slats mounted on the exterior of windows and energy inefficient patio doors. The shutters are operated by either manual or electric controls inside the home. When the shutters are open they are self contained out of sight above the window, when closed the available colors compliment most any architectural design.

The PVC vinyl slats are modern technology, but the concept of roll up shutters has been widely used in Europe for many years.

Roll up shutters protect homes and businesses from the elements: closed to prevent excessive solar gain in the summer and night time heat escape and frost build up during the winter. Glass accounts for up to 65% of heat/energy loss during the winter months. Roll up shutters reduce the loss considerably.

In addition to energy dollars saved, they provide privacy, light and ventilation control and security protection. The impact resistant poly-vinyl chloride shutters resist vandalism and deter thieves.

Due to increasing energy costs George feels he has realized a return on the money invested for the roll shutter system installed in the home in the form of fuel cost savings.

For more information about the Format Roll Shutter System, call George or Doug at 625-4289 or 625-5877.

It's About Time Says Thanks

"We want to say thank you to Clarkston and the people of Clarkston Mills for having us in their community," said Cliff Hammond, owner of It's About Time, a retail store in the Clarkston Mills Mall.

It's About Time sells and repairs clocks. Cliff Hammond is a registered horologist as well as being certified to repair all types of clock and appraise antique clocks and timepieces.

According to Hammond business has been good for the store this past year. He invites those that haven't already, to come in and browse.

Hahn Ready to Make Deals

Lots of new things are happening at Hahn Motors, a Chrysler/AMC dealership on Dixie Highway in Clarkston. The management is new, the staff is new, the cars are new, and the outlook is very, very positive.

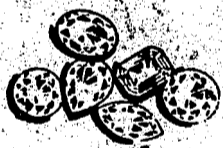

Part of that positive outlook is a real desire to take care of their customers. Another part is the effort to wheel and deal on both new and used cars. Particularly now when it's end-of-the-year closeout time and some cars are available at 12½ percent financing.

The used car lot is being expanded and now includes a budget lot for cars priced $99-$1999. All the used cars have been safety inspected, as well as given lube and oil changes.

"We want to take care of people right today so that they will come back tomorrow and buy another car," said a spokesperson for the dealership.

Leagues About to Begin

Waterford Hill Courts is gearing up for their youth leagues which will start in late September. The youth leagues are unique in that they offer instruction in racquetball as well as league play. The leagues are for youngsters ages 6-16. Adult leagues are also available. Call and register now.

According to manager Terry Templeton, Waterford Hill Courts has something for everyone. Because they are a non-membership club, anybody can walk in and utilize the club's vast facilities that include eight air-conditioned racquetball courts, private saunas, exercise rooms and a nursery.

Two of the racquetball/paddleball courts can easily be converted to wally ball for those interested in the volleyball-type sport. Each of the locker rooms are equipped with saunas or if you enjoy privacy, private saunas are available at reasonable rates.

The exercise room is free with the reservation of a court or sauna. It is well equipped with a variety of Universal gym equipment.

Ms. Templeton noted, "Our block times are starting next week so come in and get yourself a five-week block. We have a friendly atmosphere and we have fun people."

The courts feature a new look. Walls have been repainted and floors refinished, making everything seem like new.

For information or court times, call 623-9622.

From Hummels to Diamonds A & A Collects & Sells Them All

A & A Collectables has evolved from a lapidary shop started five years ago to an all-purpose collectible business dealing in rare coins, rare stamps, estate jewelry, and rare gemstones.

Norma Heatley, who operates the store with her husband, on Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains, says they combine nearly 30 years of collecting experience.

The business is involved in a plethora of activities including dealing in Hummels, helping with investment portfolios, teaching children on Saturday mornings about gems and rare coins and custom designing rings and jewelry. In addition A & A Collectables is licensed by the state to buy scrap gold.

Although diamonds remain the public's favorite, Mrs. Heatley sees great value in other less popular gemstones. "There are many more gemstones that are much more valuable than any diamond," she said.

The Heatleys enjoy working with the public. They like to educate their customers about collectibles such as where they come from, what are the current best buys, and why it is they are so valuable.

Contractor Helping Build Disney

In July, 1973 E.R. Mandilk Construction, Inc. started in the excavating business. Work was tough to come by in the early years, especially for a new company.

Today, nine years later, E.R. Mandilk Construction is still doing business from their Ortonville Office on Wolfe Road.

The type of work has basically remained the same—Industrial and Commercial excavation. Occasionally, some Municipal and Government Contracts are secured.

During the past six years, besides excavation, another aspect of work has kept the Company busy during the winter months—snow removal. The most demanding Contract has been the Pontiac Silverdome. Attempting to clear 12 inches of snow from 100 acres of parking area ten hours before a Lions Game has always presented a challenge.

Many unique projects have been done during the past nine years, but none of which is more outstanding than our latest endeavor. In February of 1981, Mandilk Construction ventured out of state for the first time. Although we had bid on work in Illinois, Ohio and North Carolina, we had never obtained out of state work.

Then the opportunity was there—to work on the new phase of Disney World in Florida—EPCOT—which stands for Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow. This was Walt Disney's greatest dream. Since that first job in February, 1981, we have added two more projects at EPCOT.

Presently we are involved in the Japan, France and China Pavilions of the World Showcase and the Horizons and Area Development of Future World. This project has definitely required the most unique methods of Construction available, not to mention the massive manpower and equipment necessary to build a permanent Worlds Fair in less than two years. EPCOT will open October 1, 1982.

Our Contract included the excavation for the footing, underground utility lines and sewers. This work was typical of our Michigan Contracts. But, never had we done work which involved excavating for a Japanese Koi pond, castle moat, Oriental beach, Chinese reflection pond, Japanese Pagoda, Torii gate or a computer controlled laser beam fountain.

Another part of our Contract called for the grading of 800,000 square feet for the placement of colored concrete which connects the Future World Pavilions, and yet another to excavate for over five miles of electrical conduit and control wires.

E.R. Mandilk Construction is very proud of what it has accomplished in its first nine years and hopes to expand its operations in the future.

Main Office: 103 Wolfe Road, Ortonville. Officers: Edward R. Mandilk, President; Gary L. Farah, Secretary/Treasurer; James R. Rich, V. President-Florida; Executive Secretary, Mary A. Moore; Chief Estimator, William E. Meadowcroft.

Despite closing their new showroom on Dixie Highway, Higginbotham's Roofing and Siding is very much still in business. In fact, they are doing the same types of things they always have since beginning business in 1954, with the exception of selling retail do-it-yourself products.

According to Barb Higginbotham, "Do-it-yourselfers aren't doing anything at all due to declining economic conditions."

OOM-The Office Machine Experts

It it has to do with office machines, chances are Oakland Office Machines can help you out.

The business owned by John Priebe and located at the corner of Dixie Highway and M-15 in Clarkston, has been supplying area businesses, schools, local governments and individuals with new and used equipment and top-notch service since 1974.

Currently Priebe claims to have a staff of five servicemen, three of fice people and himself. He said the business sells file cabinets, desks, chairs, safe files, floor mats, typewriters, calculators and copy machines.

One benefit local residents can take advantage of is a longstanding policy to charge less if office equipment is brought directly to Oakland Office, rather than them having to send out a repairman.

Higginbotham Still Going Strong

Thus why maintain a retail outlet when installations are the bulk of the business.

Mrs. Higginbotham listed a number of reasons people should be preparing for winter now. One very important reason is that people can earn energy credits if they install storm windows and doors. Higginbotham's has a variety of both windows and doors, and they're of good quality and reasonably priced.

People should be preparing now also because if they wait too much longer there is a chance they won't get installation when they want it. "People really should be considering it now, before the big rush hits the manufacturer," said Mrs. Higginbotham.

Higginbotham's is an all-purpose exterior remodeling firm that has earned a well-deserved reputation in the Clarkston-Waterford area in the 28 years of their existence.

Metal Spinning a Real Art Form

One of the unique industries in this area is Precision Metal located on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township. Owner Dennis Frederick claims it's unique because they do not work primarily for the auto companies and secondly because their craft, metal spinning, is much like an art form.

Frederick said the company is orientated to the chemical, medical and aircraft industries. Precision makes fittings out of titanium for chemical companies. For the medical field they make artificial hip sockets and for the aircraft industry they make missile parts. Occasionally Precision will make prototype aluminum rims and pulleys for the automobile companies.

"Metal spinning is when you form material by rotating it on a lathe and push against it with a hook to spin the metal while you are working it...similar to a potter working his clay," explained Frederick.

Functional Offers Gaging to Automotive, Chemical Fields

Functional Gage, Inc., which recently moved into a new building at 10445 Dixie in Springfield Township specializes in gear and spline gaging for production inspection, quality control and laboratory installations.

According to Joseph Gresock, President, Functional Gage's expertise and products are now successfully at work in the automotive and chemical as well as the construction and farm equipment industries.

Some of the products designed and built by Functional Gage are rolling fixtures and tooling, master gears, spline gages, automatic and semi-automatic machines, arbors, gear lab tooling, gear burnishing machines and gear burnisher tooling.

Explained Gresock, "We can supply inspection products ranging from hand rolling fixtures with solid stud arbors to fully automatic gage systems capable of measuring gear elements at rates up to 1000 pieces/hr."

"Despite their sensitivity they are heavy-duty designed and built to be used in production floors without endangering accuracy or dependability."

Herk's Stresses Fair Prices, Quality Parts

One of the Pontiac area's most well established businesses is Herk's Auto Parts, with stores all over the Pontiac area.

One of the stores is located on Dixie Highway in Springfield Township. The manager is Jerry Wolfe.

Wolfe said Herk's has been successful by offering quality name brand auto parts at fair prices. Their variety and stock is extensive, and if they don't have a particular part they can always get it in a hurry.

The Springfield store also has a machine shop for turning brake shoes and drums.

Expansion in Nickola's Future

Nickola Foods Inc., a wholesale foods business located on Airport Road in Waterford, has had a stunning growth rate since opening in a small White Lake Plaza in 1979.

Pete Caleca, president, said the company now has an office in Cleveland, with anticipation of opening another in Chicago soon.

Thirty-eight trucks are on the road between the Waterford home office and Cleveland filled with gourmet steaks and seafoods.

Caleca explained, they sell gourmet steaks and seafoods to independent jobbers who in turn sell them to business and professional people.

"The products are quality and represent a convenience to the customer," said Caleca. "I want to emphasize, a lot of the products we sell the customer can't buy in a grocery store...stuff like stuffed flounder and chicken on a stick."

Neighbors to Neighbors Plan Contest

The monthly meeting of "Neighbors for Neighbors", a community council involving groups and organizations in the Springfield, Rose and White Lake Townships area, was held Monday, August 23 at Colomblere Center. By-laws are in the process of being written; the purpose of this non-profit organization is an umbrella council that, when requested, assists and coordinates community organizations as well as initiate needful community projects.

The meetings will be held the fourth Monday of every month at rotating sites: Springfield Township Hall, Indian Springs Metropark, Rose Township Hall, and Colomblere Center. Guidelines for the Board of Directors, their appointments and terms were set down.

"This council, only in its infancy, has tremendous potential to coordinate and facilitate community projects, to disseminate information, and to draw people to make community projects more successful," said Ina Golden, spokesperson.

One project is the Farmers Market. Held at the Mill Pond in Davisburg, it is a weekly event ongoing through the month of September. It is held on Saturday mornings from 7:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and booth space is free.

An Antique Ploughing Contest and Demonstration is being planned for October 9, 1982. Antique Engines and Tractors will be ploughing, discing, grinding flour, buzzing up wood and threshing.

The next meeting will be held at the Springfield Township Hall, Monday, September 27, at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

For further information on how "Neighbors for Neighbors" can help with your community project or how you can help call 634-4235.

Area Students to Attend Alma

Freshmen entering Alma College in the fall of 1982 will be members of the Class of 1986, the class which will graduate during Alma's centennial year.

The 310 freshmen Alma expects to enroll in the fall far exceed the 34 students who registered when Alma's doors first opened on September 12, 1887. The college was founded by Presbyterians in 1886.

Among the students accepted by Alma and expected to attend the 1982 preterm orientation are several freshmen from this area. They are:

From Clarkston, Penny Mueller, a graduate of Clarkston High School, is the daughter of Wayne and Juanita Mueller, 5358 Parview, Clarkston.

From Drayton Plains, Michael Conway, a graduate of Clarkston High School, is the son of James and Judy Conway, 4841 Riverview, Drayton Plains.

From Waterford, Deborah Adams, a graduate of Waterford Kettering High School, is the daughter of John and Margaret Adams, 6857 Wellesley Terrace.

Bradley Atwell, a graduate of Waterford Kettering High School, is the son of Gary and Diane Atwell, 2951 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford.

Living in Africa

Jim Bleau Tells What it is Like

Jim Bleau, a Clarkston resident, recently returned home from a 2 year stint with the Peace Corps in the African nation of Senegal. He told us what it was like in a recent interview with Reminder reporter Al Wieling.

What is the Peace Corps?

Bleau: The Peace Corps was started in 1961 by the Kennedy Administration. The main goal was to get young people into different countries doing services and originating projects. The particular area I was involved in was called World Development.

What was your particular objective?

Bleau: I was placed in a village, told to learn the languages of that village and to help the village leaders and groups in finding their needs and then matching resources with what they had.

How did you get involved in the Peace Corps?

Bleau: When I was in college I thought it would be interesting to get out and travel and see the other countries. Somebody told me to look into the Peace Corps. I found out what programs they had going and what countries were involved. They had 63 countries involved and I was assigned to the Senegal, which is the farthest western point in Africa.

What was Senegal like?

Bleau: It's more or less a desolate area with a very small rainfall. There is always a problem with water. I applied for a grant and got the money to administer some projects. We dug something like 3-5 new wells.

French is the official language of Senegal. The national language is called Wolof. The people I lived with were called Sereeren-Dut, and that was another language I had to deal with. That was a local language for about 1500 people.

Was the language hard for you to pick up?

Bleau: Yes. However if you wanted water or food you soon learned it very fast. If you didn't learn you didn't eat and didn't know where you were going to sleep the night. It took a good 6-7 months with hair pulling at times because you really didn't know what was going on.

Would you consider the culture primitive?

Bleau: It depends. You will have one guy with a nice tape recorder and then see a grass roof hut and he will have it inside the hut.

What kind of transportation is used in Senegal?

Bleau: People do have cars, but for the most part I guess you would call it public transportation. Peugeot pick-up trucks with benches in back to ride on are often used. When you go out farther in the bush you find that people use horse and buggies or carts. I myself had a moped to get around in.

Bleau

What do the people do for a living?

Bleau: In the villages and the rural areas their main source of income is agriculture. In Senegal the main crop is peanuts which they sell to the French government. The food crop they grow is millet. Millet is not very tasty but it does have protein. It is nutritious and does seem to fill you up.

What was life like in the city?

Bleau: The city has running water and the villages have wells. The house in the city had electricity. My house in the village was made of cement with a grass roof.

What religion do they follow?

Bleau: This is a Moslem society and they are Polygamists. A man can have as many as four wives. As Americans we look at that as bad but they look at it as a way to share the work. In Senegalese society the women do a great deal of the work, take care of the kids, make the meals, and go get the water. Getting the water may take an hour or two because you are getting it by hand and bring it up by ropes and then transporting it back to the hut areas.

What is family life like?

Bleau: One of the big problems is education isn't mandatory and you have a lot of children that come from broken homes that live out in the streets. In Senegal you have what is called an extended family where you have brothers, being taken care of by brothers, the old people being taken care of by younger people, etc., etc.

What was the food like?

Bleau: The food was usually a millet porridge in the morning. Fish and rice at noon with vegetables on top. Everyone would go around the big bowl and get a portion. It is an unwritten agreement that we all shared our food with as many as ten people eating from the same bowl. In the villages they eat with their right hand, not with forks and spoons.

What do you think of your experience?

Bleau: It was good because when you are away from the USA you learn to appreciate the things we have. I was the only American

In the village and it gave me a chance to see how other cultures live. There is a whole world outside of Clarkston, Michigan. There is a lot of people out there and I was glad to have the opportunity to meet some of them.

What are your thoughts of American foreign policy?

Bleau: It is not working in many ways. Foreign policy is usually directed from Washington and sometimes the people in Washington are not up on the problems of certain countries. That is why you have certain countries that don't appreciate the USA as much as the people in the USA think that they should. The aid that is funneled to the countries doesn't solve the objective that they are trying to get at.

CRAFTS AND CIDER FESTIVAL

The charm of the open air fair and the artistry of the early guilds will be recalled when some seventy artists and craftsmen gather for the Clarkston Community Historical Society's Crafts and Cider Festival on September 17, 18, and 19 at the Clarkston Village Park on Depot Road.

Handwrought wares of great variety and unique style will be on display. Crafts offered for sale or order include ceramics, basketry and weavings, soft sculptures and needlework of all sorts, stained and etched glass, jewelry, dolls and dollhouse miniatures, woodcrafts and toys, photographic prints, original paintings and watercolors. Familiar festival participants as well as new artisans will be joining this eighth annual affair.

Fresh cider and donuts will again be available at the Historical Society's pavilion. Also available will be herbal spiced teas and hot and cold sandwiches, Michigan honey and apples.

The Clarkston Community Historical Society invites everyone to visit and enjoy the festival and to take this opportunity to stroll the village itself. Clarkston's authenticity as an historic nineteenth century village has brought it recent recognition by the National Register of Historic Sites.

The festival will be open from noon to 6 p.m. on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.
