Eston Resident Thinks Path Too Wide

by Claudia Brazel

Is an eight foot wide, safety path really a safe path? And, how safe is safe?

These are two questions, that remain unsatisfactorily answered, for many residents of Independence Township, when talk turns to safety path site selections and installation.

Resident Paul Giusti of Eston Road, is in doubt as to the safety of eight foot paths, particularly after reviewing the proposed Eston Road site.

Giusti, feels that 8' paths offer too great a temptation for use by motorized vehicles and create a potential hazard for pedestrians and bicyclists who will utilize the path connections.

Giusti, who is 75 years old, and presently semi-confined to home, due to a broken hip, called Township Clerk Chris Rose to inform the township of his concerns and objections, to the proposed eight foot path.

Rose told Giusti that posts could be installed along the paths center to stop motor vehicle use.

Giusti feels that would be dangerous especially to fast moving kids on bikes or on foot. "One turned head, for just a second, and someone's wrapped up on a pole," said Giusti.

Giusti wonders about township liability in such a case. Also among Giusti's concerns is the possibility of a driver being unaware of the posts placement or perhaps driving under the influence of alcohol and attempting to run the path anyway.

Giusti considers the long, straight, stretch of Eston as being an unsafe site for an 8 foot path, that could give path users a false sense of security. A path width of 8 foot, in Giusti's opinion, places the path too close to the road for safety. He adds that people do speed on the straight stretch and cars do go off the road frequently enough to be considered a threat.

At the minimum Giusti would accept a five or six foot path but he would prefer to see the path rerouted through back streets that parallel Eston.

Rerouting safety paths in this manner, Giusti feels, offers far safer conditions day or night for path users. It takes the pedestrian or bicyclist off main traffic roads, offers the safety of persons being close-by to give aide, if needed, and provides some degree of lighting from homes for night use.

Utilizing back roads that are parallel and close to main traffic lanes might be an option township officials and committee members may have to consider, for Giusti's concerns and objections are being raised throughout the township by various citizens, concerning other proposed path sites.

The topography and developmental fan-out of Independence Township, has created several, unforeseen, difficulties for implementation of safety path connections.

Throughout path selection discussions, board members and residents have been confronted with many, apparent, safety considerations.

Curving roads, safe crossing points, distance from the road pavement, dips in the road, sufficient, protective barricades, and protection from personal injury or bodily harm have all been looked at during the process of site selection.

Sites that seemed to offer the least amount of problems were advanced for further consideration for 1983 construction, narrowing it to four: White Lake Road from Mustang Dr. to village limits; Clarkston Road from Snowapple Dr. to Perry Lake Road; Eston Road from Clarkston Road to Algonquin; Maybee Road from Sashabaw to Winell.

The greatest amount of work was thought to have been done, however, curves along Clarkston-Orion Road and Maybee Road, in particular, have raised questions about path safety that board members are trying to resolve.

Trustee Dale Stuart, who has been most vocal of the board members, regarding safety measures and township liabilities, was asked to respond to Mr. Giusti's concerns.

Stuart assures citizens that all factors of safety will be considered by the township and that township decisions will be based on highly researched safety and engineering studies.

Stuart feels the board is taking all the necessary steps to guarantee that maximum safety standards are applied to safety path construction in the township. The board relies heavily on data that has been researched and compiled over a period of years regarding path safety. These studies clearly indicate that 8 foot paths provide the safest means for simultaneous pedestrian and bicyclist use.

The Clarkston Youth Assistance is sponsoring a Bowlathon at Howe's Lanes Sunday, March 20th.

The event is being held to earn money to send kids to camp. Bowlers will bowl free. C.Y.A. will collect contribution pledges for the number of pins scored by each bowler, in a 3 game series.

Last year Clarkston Youth Assistance sent 71 youngsters to camp. Most attended Camp Oakland in Oxford. The county camp has been offering substantially lower rates than their camp facilities. Last years fee was $35 per child or nearly half the $60 rate charged by similar campsites.

This year, state cut-backs and increased operational costs have forced Camp Oakland into raising their fee.

C.Y.A. Social Worker, Garry Pullins doesn't want to see the kids lose out on a chance to go to camp.

According to Pullins most of the children are referred by elementary teachers and usually extremely shy or withdrawn and generally lack a good self-image.

Pullins says that nine days at camp, making new friends to chase away home sickness and allowing independence to flourish can really help a youngster find himself.

The response to the camping adventure has been positive from parents, kids, counselors, and teachers. In recent years the C.Y.A. has received 100 to 110 referrals each year.

If you'd like to help, Pullins suggest you call in a pledge or bowl yourself. If you can't bowl Sunday, league handicaps will be used to accept pledges.

Prizes will be awarded to the three bowlers raising the most money. First prize is a Toronto weekend for two; second prize, a wireless telephone; and third prize is a 12 inch black and white television.

For information or pledge contributions call the Youth Assistance Office at 625-9007.

Recurring

by Paul A. Rumph, D.C.

Suffering from throbbing pain, stiffness in the neck, nausea, dizziness, eye and ear problems (spots in front of eyes, occasional ringing in ears), nervousness, insomnia or chronic tiredness? The above problems could lead to more serious complications or even a nervous breakdown if not corrected promptly.

These symptoms indicate a great possibility that there are spinal fixations with nerve degeneration. Dr. Rumph seeks the exact location of these spinal fixations and corrects them through scientific healing. The treatments correct the cause, not cover up the effect.

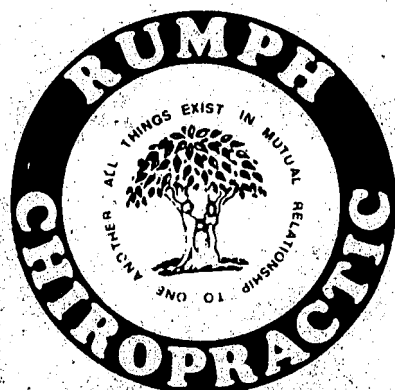

DON'T IGNORE THESE DANGER SIGNALS:

- Lower back and leg pains
- Difficulty in breathing
- Recurring headaches and nervousness

- Numbness in hands, legs or feet
- Painful joints and restless nights

- Neck, shoulder or arm pain

If not corrected, these can lead to more serious complications

Who Can Help With Funeral Planning?

As professional funeral directors, we know that funeral planning should be done carefully, taking the advice of several important people into consideration.

For example, the clergyman should be consulted on religious services that are appropriate. He or she can provide advice on many funeral-related topics.

An attorney is necessary to handle details of the will and other legal documents. His services are a vital necessity. Your bank officer can help you plan for funeral costs, perhaps with a trust fund or other such arrangements. And you might wish to consult with your family about these arrangements. It's important that they know where to find certain information in the event of your death.

We, as professional funeral directors, can help with funeral arrangements by providing complete, accurate information about all services.

Pre-planning can save worry and prevent hasty decisions at the time of need. Peace of mind is only one of the benefits of this important decision. Please call us or stop by soon for free information about funeral pre-planning.

Waterford Mott's gymnasium was hotter than a 4th of July fireworks display. The temperature outside might have been a cool 38, but inside where Clarkston and Waterford basketball fans were loudly cheering on their respective teams, sweat was pouring off most of the spectators.

They call it March Madness, and nowhere was it more perfectly displayed than last Saturday night at Mott High.

Experts say that team sports build character. They teach youngsters how to compete and how to win and lose graciously. Sometimes that is true. Other times it is not.

At Mott High, it was true. Although Clarkston High School won the District Championship, and the right to continue to the Flint IMA regionals this week, they did not win it easily.

Underdog Kettering, behind a ferocious zone defense and sizzling outside shooting, grabbed a five point lead and had the Wolves on the ropes for the better part of the first half.

Even when it all seemed lost for Kettering late in the final stanza, the Captains, out-matched in talent and height, used every bit of hustle they could muster to make the game go down to the wire.

Like all good teams, Clarkston did not fold. They kept their poise, and behind their big men, Mike McCormick and Ray Kuban, finished off the pesky Captains. It has not been an easy season for rookie coach Dan Fife. Even though his team has marched to a 20-2 season, some have been critical of his coaching style.

Fife and the Wolves have not succumbed to the pressure, however. And now they find themselves going against one of the state's very best basketball teams in the state-Flint Central. Can they repeat their performance of three year's ago when another McCormick, Tim, lead the Wolves past the Eric Turner led Flint Central? It would be a big victory in a season that has already had many big Wolfpack victories.

For Kettering the season is over, but who will forget their stunning upset of Pontiac Central two nights earlier? And who will forget their scrappy play against heavily favored Clarkston?

As Coach Charlie Shires said after the game, we have nothing to be ashamed of. I'm very proud of my players and how they performed.

Both coaches have every right to be proud. Saturday's game was everything a high school sports fan could ask for. There was plenty of excitement, skilled performances and great sportsmanship.

As a fan, I was proud to witness it.

SMALL TALK

by Rebecca Roberts

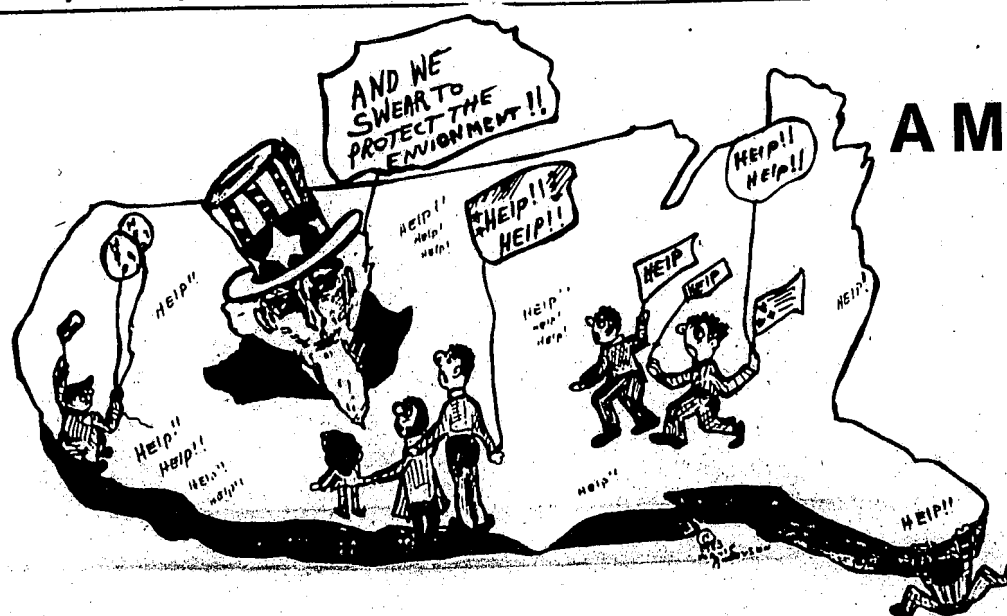

The relationship between patient and doctor is like no other. It is intimacy between strangers, an intimacy carefully designed and constructed to the specifications of science allowing within it only the small civil emotions, like embarrassment or confusion.

When patient meets doctor, there is on the part of both, a suspension of belief or not unlike that which exists between actors and audience. Both must, for the time being, rewrite social structures, the most obvious being the sexual ones.

Intimate touch is allowed, required actually, if conditions dictate. In this motivation becomes the operative word. The patient wants to be healed. The physician, in various degrees is equipped to heal. Both patient and doctor sublimely believe any contact to be asexual.

Society, that megalomaniacal voice/spirit that tells us how to think and feel, says its o.k. after all - labeling the doctor-patient liaison unique and therefore exempt from many of the usual social taboos. This "intimacy rule" such as it is, is clear in its tenets, maintaining a one-way tolerance for intimate contact-doctor-to-patient.

What strange beings we are, so capable at such gymnastic nationalization, shutting out, with a flick of our moral wrists, the personal self whenever it suits the collective, and ultimately, our own welfare.

This flight from convention, brief as it is, involves a profound shift in how we, doctor and patient, view ourselves. In order for the shift to occur, each must assume anonymity: the doctor becomes the faceless body of Science; the patient, that of the disease or condition which brought them together in the first place.

Thus, a symbiosis is formed, as neat and as functional as any found in nature. And it works with the same precision, existing and surprising facility, any irrelevant rules, or convention.

It is an unspoken partnership in which, in true Spock-like fashion, manage to divest a relationship of troublesome emotional debris in order to suit a common purpose.

Where else but in the human arrangement could such convenient doublethink be found.

Dear Editor:

I am concerned about our new state leader (?) James Blanchard wanting to levy increased taxes on the already over-taxed working citizens of Michigan. On March 1, 1983 I joined Dan Powers (leader of "Tired of Taxes" group) and approximately 1,000 other citizens in Lansing to protest increased taxes.

Despite repeated attempts to have the governor attend this rally to express his views and listen to ours, he did not attend. His absence from our rally and lack of response to our calls provide the following message loud and clear:

As governor, I don't want to exchange ideas with the working people of the state and I don't care what they think or want!

The rally was a resounding success in expressing the feelings of our citizens who are "tired of taxes". And it served as a springboard for future anti-tax activities.

Following the rally, I met with Representative Mat Dunaskiss/District #61 and he emphasized that the most effective way to express the need for more jobs and our opposition to tax increases is to write your legislators and newspapers. When you write your letter, the following factors should be taken into consideration:

*Unemployment is the number one problem of the citizens of Michigan.

*Increased taxes do not reduce unemployment.

*Reduced unemployment will help alleviate Michigan's financial problems.

*Each 1% reduction in unemployment will generate approximately $100,000,000 in tax revenue.

We need leadership that will take into consideration the above factors, reestablish priorities for spending, and reemphasize our commitment to jobs, concerns of citizens and the future.

In a nutshell, I urge every citizen of Michigan to cast off the self-imposed shackles of special interest groups and contact your legislator now. If you are in doubt as to who your legislators are, consult your local library, Dan Powers at (313) 739-2855 or me at (313) 693-8906.

Also please contact me if you are interested in supporting the "Tired of Taxes" group activities.

Sincerely,
E. Mick Steiner
Lake Orion

Letter to Editor:

GUESS WHAT! The party of the people, the party which has controlled both legislative houses of the State as long as anyone can remember has a solution to the State's financial dilemma. The solution is unique - it is imaginative - it is sensitive to depressed economic times:

RAISE TAXES!

For all of you who wanted a change, who wanted a new approach - GUESS WHAT - you voted out the wrong party.

Dale A. Stuart

Dear Editor:

I'm responding to "The Stablax Response". Mr. Wolf wrote that words like gamble, take a chance, catastrophic results and destruction were not researched by Mr. Wilcox. I submit that these words are not only accurately used in my opinion by Mr. Wilcox but that the Wilcox's should be commended on their caring for the State of Michigan and it's people. I'm sure some of comments, words and ideas came from the following persons and organizations statements:

Michigan Department of Public Health
"Administrative rules should prohibit siting such facilities over usable aquifers."

Oakland County Health Department - "I don't see how anyone can find them acceptable."

National Water Well Association - "It would not be wise to build such a landfill in an area so closely connected to two aquifers."

Michigan Well Drillers Association - "In our opinion, the Groveland Township disposal site is an extremely poor selection."

Brownhills, England Environmental Group

Dear Mr. Wilcox:

I would personally like to extend my appreciation to you as Editor of The Reminder for the article your newspaper published about North Sashabaw Elementary in its edition of the week of March 7-11, 1983. I would especially like to commend Mrs. Claudia Brazel for devoting the time and effort required to spend a full day at school and write an article about her findings.

In these times of negative press coverage of education, it is most refreshing to see a newspaper exert the journalistic leadership to emphasize the good things about our schools. Indeed, we are proud of our staff at

Dear Mr. Wieling:

This is in response to "A Pontiac Resident, who says Welfare Cheats Everywhere."

Welfare is not a nice thing to have to support your family on, true, but some of us must, with the current recession. Where this party gets the information that we get refunds on taxes I don't know; but I know we don't, why would we get a refund on something we don't earn? We only get what we need to live. My two sons and I live on $5,300.00 a year. Now tell me who's skimping?! If there are welfare recipients who are out playing "bingo" every night or buying a new washer and dryer, than they are not living on welfare

"The Stablax Plant operation in England has litigation pending because of poor management practices and odors."

Many independent citizens, professionals (including those in the field of hazardous waste) and leaders of our government feel the proposed location (not necessarily the method) is not a proper one when considering human health, safety and the environment. I feel like Mr. Wolf, that the use of electricity in houses at the turn of the century was a large step forward for mankind. But I feel that letting any Toxic and Hazardous waste facility locate over an unprotected aquifer and in a residential and recreational area is as absurd as the perfection of electricity in the turn of the century in the middle of a kerosene plant.

Also when Mr. Wolf alleges the success of Stablax in England and Canada he failed to mention that there are no operating facilities in the U.S. to date and the names of the places and states that Stablax has not been allowed to operate or build a facility in. As citizens of Michigan we must demand responsible safe disposal of our wastes with the present and future in mind.

Ruth Johnson-Nanney

North Sashabaw Elementary. We have been for a long time that they do a fine job of educating Clarkston's children and that they exhibit the true qualities of the teaching profession -- the ability to care for children and make learning a meaningful experience. The dedication of this staff was truly worthy of recognition.

Again, I would like to express my appreciation to your staff for its farsighted approach to educational journalism.

Sincerely,
H. Allen Bartlett

alone!

I'm going through correspondence school right now for college because I can't afford transportation to get to a regular one, but I'm trying my hardest to do what I can to better myself and get off welfare!!!

It just burns our butts when someone has the nerve to call us "all" cheaters.

Comments from Kettering Coach Charlie Shires, after the game:

"I was very proud of the way that the kids played. They gave it a good shot. We did what we wanted to. We got up and down that court real well. I think that a lot of credit has to go to Clarkston."

"Our biggest problem was their height advantage. We couldn't get inside as much as we wanted to. When we did get Ray Kubani in foul trouble, McCormick came through and took over for them. He was probably the key to the game."

"I thought that it was a well played game by both teams, and we just came up a few points short."

It wasn't very easy, but the Wolves of Clarkston beat Waterford Kettering 66-59, in the class A district championship held at Waterford Mott Saturday Night.

The Captains were flying high, after an upset at the hands of Pontiac Central Thursday. Kettering's upset over Central, had to be one of the best in Waterford Sports history.

Kettering opened up the first period with a 15-10 lead shooting extremely well from the outside. The second quarter was a different story. Clarkston began going inside, and outscored Kettering 21-13, and Clarkston had a 31-28 lead at the half.

Clarkston outscored Kettering, only by two points each in the last two periods and went on to victory.

With under three minutes left in the final period, Clarkston's Ray Kubani scored two of his 16 points, and the Wolves had already started celebrating. The Captains maintained composure and reduced Clarkston's lead to 62-57. Mike McCormick then sunk two of his 21 points at the charity stripe, and some of the pressure was relieved from Clarkston.

McCormick held the game together in the second half, while center, Ray Kubani sat the bench with four fouls.

Clarkston will now advance to the two time defending state champions, Flint Central. The game will be Wednesday night, at the Flint IMA, and the game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Kettering was led by Tony Dudley's 18 points and Tim Bell finished with 15 in the losing effort.

Mike McCormick led Clarkston with 21 and Ray Kubani had 16 points.

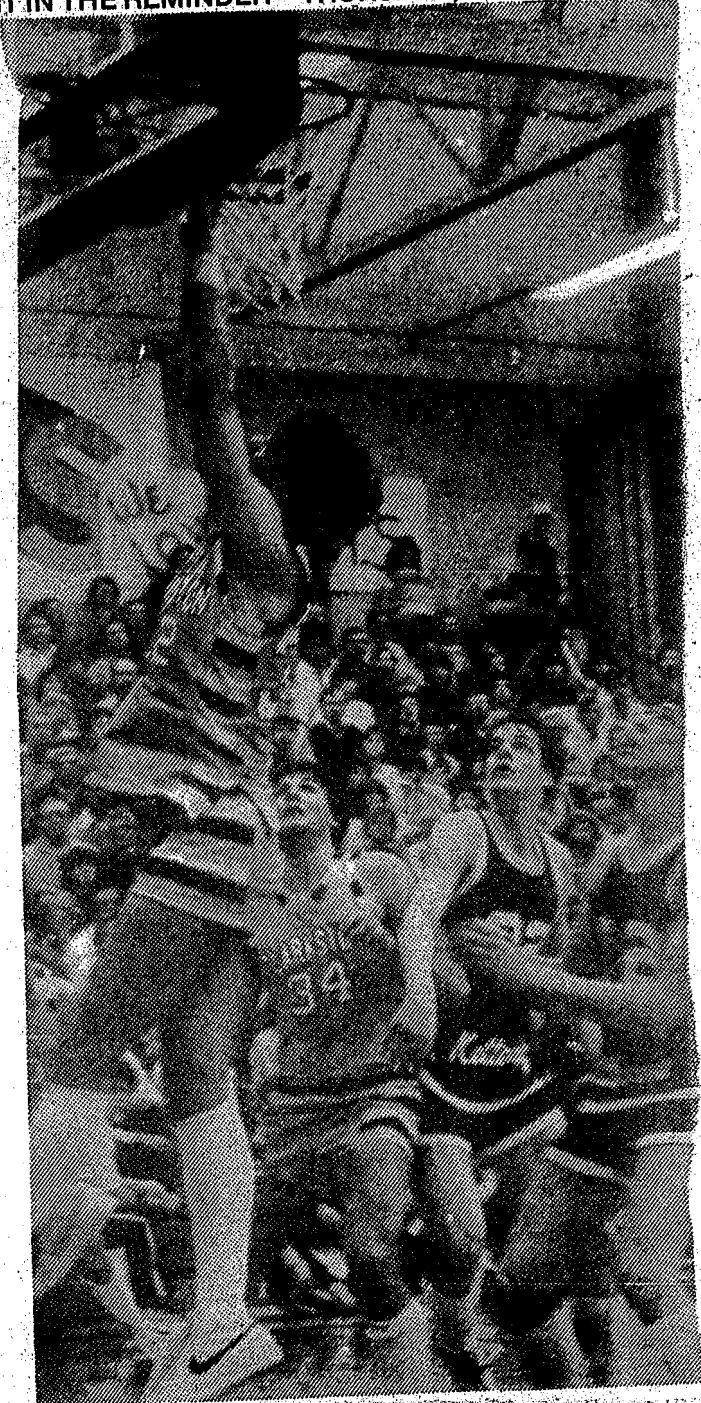

Comments from Clarkston Coach Dan Fife, after the game:

"Our kids came back and got in the game in the second quarter. They were up 19-12 and we came back and got ahead."

"All along I have said that our bench has been coming along and that has been our strength. Greg Molzon had had a great five or six games for us, and our kids in practice this week were super."

"They created a problem when they hit those 25-30 foot jump shots, and we had to go out there and guard them in the first quarter. We went into a man-to-man in the second quarter. Chris Bruce came off the bench and did a great job defensively. He was the key in the second quarter."

"Mike McCormick never lets the emotion carry him away. He is always thinking. He is always doing his own thing and people forget about him and they don't notice him until after the game when he had 15-17 rebounds and 21 points."

Springfield Condemns Income Tax Increase

by Theresa Catalano

During Springfield Township's regular board meeting held on the 9th of this month, the Board unanimously passed two resolutions: one dealing with Governor Blanchard's call for an increase in the state income tax and the other asking for an impact review of Act 641 and Act 64 on lands with the state.

It was Township Clerk, Calvin Walters, who informed the board that resolutions were passed in the City of Berkley, as well as in White Lake Township, in opposition of the state income tax to be increased from 4.6% to 6.1% and motioned that Springfield Township do the same. This was supported by Treasurer Patricia Kramer.

The resolution reads in part: "The Township of Springfield resolves that Governor Blanchard is asked to reconsider and to set aside his call for such an unproductive and clearly excessive permanent income tax increase and that the State Legislature be and hereby is strongly urged to defeat this proposal, and further, that the Governor, his administrators, and the State Legislature are urged to work together to set a comprehensive agenda of priorities to guide all future State spending, and further, that only after such a comprehensive agenda has been developed and then and only then should a need for additional revenues be required, that such necessary tax increase to be clearly moderate and temporary, not exceeding one year."

The City of Holly had passed two resolutions: one concerning Stablex and the other, Act 641 and 64. Having already passed a resolution regarding Stablex last month, the Board was not concerned about that particular resolution but on the one concerning the disposal of waste materials of all types as regulated by Acts 64 and 641.

Motion by Walters and supported by Trustee Glen Vermilye to pass a resolution regarding these acts.

The resolution read in part: "That the Township of Springfield strongly opposes Michigan laws that allow governmental agencies the right to grant permits endangering our natural resources and that the Township of Springfield respectfully requests that:

1. Governor Blanchard call for an immediate halt on the issuance of all construction permits and operation licenses for landfills, either toxic or solid, that are proposed over identified aquifers.

2. That Acts 641 and 64 be reviewed for their environmental impact on the natural resources of the State of Michigan.

3. That Acts 641 and 64 be amended to become an avenue for protection of our natural resources."

With the arrival of spring weather, chloriding for area dirt roads was an area of major discussion due to a rate increase imposed by the Oakland County Road Commission. The cost of having a road chlorided by the Road Commission this years is 35¢ per foot, an increase of 4¢.

companies to find out prices. For the Township to go with an independent company, the Township would have to stake, measure, collect the funds, arrange to have the roads graded as well as possibly have to hire several people. This would really not save any money in the long run said Walls. It was suggested that they stay with the Road Commission.

Steve Dice, of Ormond Road, stated that the way the Road Commission chlorided the roads, it isn't worth the money and suggested again the use of independent dealers.

That part of the chloride issue remained up in the air and is going to be placed on April's agenda.

The other issue was how much of the chloriding the Township is going to pay.

Walls pointed out in the past the Township had paid the increase. To chloride the roads in 1981, the Township paid 12¢ per foot and the residents paid 10¢, in 1982 the Township 20¢ per foot the residents 10¢.

Trustee William Whitley motioned that 20¢ per foot be paid by the Township and the residents should pay 14¢ per foot (giving the increase to the residents).

This was seconded by Vermilye and passed unanimously.

NOTICE SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the next Annual Township Meeting of the electors of the Township of Springfield, County of Oakland, State of Michigan, will be held at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway, Davisburg, Michigan beginning at one o'clock p.m., Saturday, March 26, 1983. Proposed budget for the fiscal year 1983-1984 will be submitted.

A Public Hearing will be held at the Annual Township Meeting on how Revenue Sharing Funds are to be used in relation to its entire budget before the budget is finally enacted. Revenue Sharing for the amount of approximately $18,000 will be allocated to Springfield Township for a portion of Entitlement Period Fourteen (March 30, 1983 through September 30, 1983) and $18,000 for one-half of Anticipated Entitlement Period Fifteen (October 1, 1983 through March 31, 1984).

Library Corner

Pre-School Story Time at Independence Township Library is Wednesday, March 23, 11 a.m.

The pre-school program will offer the movie "Walter the Lazy Mouse," the adventures of a late-and-lazy mouse who came home one day to discover his family had moved out. The second film is "Swimmy", the tale of a shrewd little fish who found a way to escape the hungry tunas. Stories and games will also be a part of this session for three to five year olds. No fees are charged and registration isn't required.

After School Movie Hour is Wednesday, March 23, 4:30 p.m.

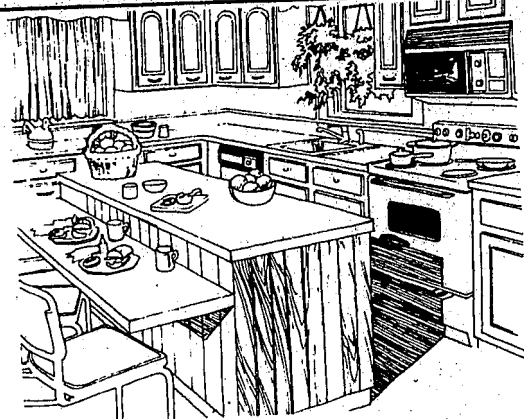

"Paris of Francois" is a film that explores the happenings in the life of a young son of a river boat captain. Along with well known landmarks of Paris, there is shown the schools and recreation of young people of France. In the movie, "Ali Baba" the central character is a small boy with a turban full of butterflies who manages to outwit a band of thieves. "Ali and His Baby Camel" explains the value and work of camels in the desert, and "Legend of Johnny Appleseed" points up the help this American folkhero was to the pioneers. The films for this program are geared to young students of elementary school age.

Dun & Bradstreet's "Billion Dollar Directory" is the reference sections latest acquisition. Of interest to area artists is the newest "Artists Market-1983", put out by the Writers Digest Publishing Company, which has just been received at the library. New fiction just in includes "Son Long, Daddy" by H.B. Gilmour and "War Toys" by Hampton Howard. The latest mystery on the shelves is "Bitter Finish" by Linda Barnes.

A number of young adult paperbacks have been added recently. Among the popular titles are: "Just Friends" by James Knudsen, "An X-Rated Romance" by Tina Sunshine, "For the Love of Lori" by Veronica Ladd, "Smart Girl" by Sandy Miller and Nobody's Brother" by Anne Snyder and Louis Pelletier.

For young patrons still being read to, the junior easy book, "We Laughed a Lot, My First Day of School" by Sylvia Tester has just been added.

THE REMINDER'S SPRING SUPPLEMENT FEATURING THE CANDLE FACTORY AND SAVOIE INSULATION

Here's some advice for do-it-yourselfers Vinyl Windows Need Less Upkeep Than Wood or Metal Frame

Every spring, thousands of homeowners decide that their tired old windows just won't make it through another year. If you are one of them, you're probably wondering what type of replacement windows to buy.

There is a wide variety of replacement windows on the market today, but if you are interested in a window that will continue to look good with a minimal amount of maintenance, then you should consider installing solid vinyl replacement windows.

Vinyl Versus Wood

Unlike wood frame windows that need periodic touch-ups and re-painting, vinyl replacement windows never have to be painted because the color is molded clear through the durable window frames. Since there are no painted surfaces, the windows will not chip, peel or flake the way wood windows will.

Another advantage of vinyl windows is that they aren't subject to the moisture-related problems that plague wood windows. Vinyl will not rot, regardless of the amount of rain or moisture that it is exposed to. Nor are vinyl window frames prone to warp or swell the way wood frames are, making it difficult to open or close the windows.

And while vinyl windows like those made by CertainTeed Corporation have a very tasteful appearance, termites and other wood-boring insects find them tasteless, so they leave them alone.

Vinyl Versus Metal

Vinyl windows have many advantages over metal frame windows as well. They will not, for example, rust, corrode or dent. And if you live in a coastal area where salt air is a problem, you will be pleased to know that vinyl will not pit as will some metal windows.

Two of the most dreaded home maintenance chores are the hanging of storm windows and re-glazing of windows. With solid vinyl replacement windows from CertainTeed Corporation, you can avoid these unpleasant tasks without sacrificing good thermal efficiency.

CertainTeed's vinyl replacement window is made of double-pane insulated glass that is sealed within a chambered frame. This design permits the windows to perform like a prime and storm window combination, so you won't have to lug that second set of windows up and down after you install your vinyl windows.

As for glazing, the company uses a wraparound vinyl material that virtually eliminates the need to chip and putty. In fact, this glazing is so flexible that it can be reused if the window glass is ever broken.

Periodic cleaning is also easy with the CertainTeed product. The sash on the double-hung style tilts in for better accessibility, while the sash on the glider windows are completely removable. The tough vinyl frames can be washed clean with a soap and water solution.

FEB'83

IN CONTRAST TO WOOD WINDOWS, solid vinyl replacement windows are virtually maintenance free. They resist dents, too, unlike metal frame windows. And with the double-hung CertainTeed solid vinyl replacement windows shown here, cleaning is a snap, since the sash is designed to tilt in for added convenience.

More information on solid vinyl replacement windows can be obtained by writing to Vinyl Building Products Division, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482. Ask for the "Consumer's Guide to Home Improvements."

Booklet Advises On Window Selection

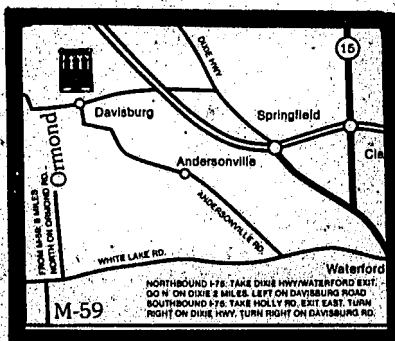

Help in selecting replacement and storm windows is offered to homeowners by the Aluminum Window Information Bureau in a new booklet entitled "A Homeowner's Guide to Choosing Windows."

This new, 19-page illustrated booklet is chock full of information on how to determine whether your windows need replacement or storm sash, the insulating values of the different kinds of windows available, and possible fuel savings. It also includes a quick reference chart.

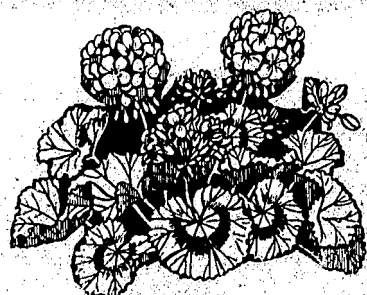

You will learn the meaning of terms like thermalized windows, double and triple glazing and condensation.

"A Homeowner's Guide to Choosing Windows" is available free by writing to the Aluminum Window Information Bureau, 818 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20006.

Wallcovering Puts the "Country" Into Your Kitchen

You don't have to live in the country to have a countrified kitchen. Even modern houses lend themselves to inexpensive, down-home style decorating if you use a little imagination and planning.

Here are some tips from Sanitas® brand wallcoverings to help you put the "country" in your kitchen.

- Pattern is the key. Country themes run the gamut from petite florals, floral stripes and ribbon stripes to large-scale florals, patchwork quilt designs and stylized folk motifs.

- The fastest and easiest way to get a country look to your kitchen is with wallcoverings. Use patterns and colors that coordinate. Sanitas makes it easy because they group designs together in color coordinated combinations, like those in their collections: Country Prints, The American Way, Our Town, and Nantucket Country Charm. Sanitas is practical, too, because spills and grease spatters wipe up from its vinyl surface.

FEB'83

A COUNTRY COZY KITCHEN. It owes a lot of its comfortable, country look to the use of patterns. The three wallcoverings shown here, from the Sanitas Our Town collection, include a floral ribbon stripe, "Emily," its coordinated print, "Emily's Bouquet," and the petite cross stitch "Sampler." The rustic atmosphere is enhanced with the use of old-fashioned canisters, wall plaques and Early American furniture.

- Choose accessories with a country theme. They can be copper pots, wooden spice racks, old canisters, Americana motif wall plaques, antique teapots — whatever says "old fashioned" or "hand-crafted" to you.

- Use natural woods. They're homey and warming. Furniture styles can be anything from unbleached to highly polished... as long as they're rustic. Early American, Shaker, Mission are three styles that all have a country look.

Friend of the Court

by Roland C. Fancher, Esq.

The Oakland County Circuit Court in conjunction with the Oakland County Friend of the Court is sponsoring Divorce and Family Counseling Workshops on five consecutive Mondays from 7-9 p.m. beginning March 21, 1983. These will be held at the First United Methodist Church, 1589 W. Maple Road, Birmingham, MI. The program promises to be of benefit to parents and children who are involved in the divorce process. There is no charge for admission.

The program begins on Monday, March 21 with Dr. Paul Pearsall discussing "How Did I Get Into This Mess In The First Place?" This presentation will serve as an introduction to the program and lay the groundwork for future sessions. The March 28 gathering will continue with attorney John Schaefer and Oakland County Friend of the Court John J. Houghton discussing "The Law and Divorce - American Style."

On April 4, 1983, attorney Ivan Barris will speak on the subject of "Financial Planning Around Divorce," a subject of particular importance to persons involved in or contemplating divorce. This date also begins the special three week children's program discussed later in this article.

On April 11, 1983, Dr. Carolyn Veresh will discuss "What Divorce May Do To Your Children." This should be of great significance to any divorced or divorcing parent with minor children. The program will conclude on April 18, 1983 with an analysis by Dr. Sandra Lyness of "How to Cope With the Trauma of Divorce." This will be meaningful to any divorced or divorcing person.

The children's program is for children ages 5 to 17 years and is designed to provide a format for them to express and experience their feelings about their family's separation and reorganization. On April 4, the children will meet with the Honorable Robert C. Anderson, Oakland County Circuit Judge. They will look at the initial stages of the divorce process, what changes may take place as a result of the divorce, and how this may affect them.

The children's session on April 11 will be hosted by the Honorable Steven N. Andrews, Chief Judge for the Oakland County Circuit Court. The subject of discussion will be the legal aspects of divorce, an area which children often hear about but seldom understand. Child support and custody problems will be discussed, as well as the role of the Friend of the Court.

The program will conclude on April 18. The Honorable Gene Schmelz will lead the discussion centering around the theme of visitation.

Great effort has been taken to present these programs on a level suitable for children, including the use of puppets to create a light, informal atmosphere for the younger children. Older children will be involved in performing skits regarding specific problems. This is intended to stimulate discussion and promote greater understanding of the problems involved in divorce.

Both the adult and children's session should be of considerable benefit to all in-involved. For more information, call 338-9271 or 545-8030.

If you have questions involving the Friend of the Court, address them to Mr. Fancher in care of The Reminder. Questions regarding individual cases should be sent directly to the Oakland County Friend of the Court.

Racquetball Winners

Winners in Waterford Courts first annual Racquetball Tournament were Julie Bowling, Jerry Insho, Rufus Gage and Doug Gage. Consolation winners were Michelle Pieckert, William Bowling, Ken McLean and Mike Germuska.

Spring Stroll at Park

A "Spring Stroll", a family nature walk will be held at the Nature Center of Indian Springs Metropark near Clarkston on Saturday, March 26 at 10:30 a.m.

Naturalist Karen Blake will lead a 2-hour walk along the trails looking for signs of spring. Local plants and wildlife will be observed.

This program is "free", however, advance registration is required.

For information/registration -- contact the Nature Center at Indian Springs Metropark, phone 625-2781.

Stonington kennels inc.

Stonington Kennels, inc. a full service kennel, is owned and operated by Carolyn Garrity and family. Carolyn has worked in many areas of dogdom for over 35 years. The kennel has 44 indoor bedrooms which are heated in winter and air-cooled in summer, and lead to each dog's individual cement exercise area. A large, fenced-in, exercise yard is also available to individual dogs upon the owner's request. Each dog is cared for 24 hours a day on an individual basis. Only if the owner requests will two dogs be accommodated in the same bedroom. To protect each dog, emphasis is placed on maintaining the areas in a near sterile condition by repeated daily wash downs and disinfection. All dogs are fed an excellent grade of kibble with chopped beef, however, should your dog be on a special diet or medication, they will gladly administer it according to your instructions. When your dog is being boarded, he is bathed the day he is returned to you at no additional charge.

Carolyn offers a complete all-breed grooming service. Grooming includes bathing, dipping, clipping, pedicure, ears and anal glands. Dogs may be brought in for grooming by appointment only.

The kennel maintains an indoor, heated 40 x 80 facility know as "The Training Barn". Training sessions are offered January, April and September. There are three programs designed to fit your individual needs. These consist of the following: 1) your dog is boarded and trained by a professional; 2) private training for you and your dog; 3) classroom training for you and your dog. For the past two years the Blue Ribbon Heelers comprised of 4-Hers from Oakland and Genesee Counties met and trained their dogs at the kennel.

Another service that the kennel offers is professional all-breed conformation training and handling. Conformation classes, to teach owners how to handle their own dogs in the show ring, are held in the spring and fall.

All dogs partaking in any of the kennel services must be able to show proof of current inoculations.

Stonington Kennels, inc. located half-way between Ortonville and Goodrich, one third mile west of M-15 invites all area residents to share in its celebration of five successful years in business by using the ten percent discount coupon for boarding, grooming or training of your canine family member. x

Oakhill 4-H Elects Donnellon

The Oak Hill 4-H Club has started its new project year. Officers were installed in a symbolic candle lighting ceremony following a family supper at Belle Ann school.

Officers for 1983 are:

President-Mike Donnellon
Vice President-Ann Donnellon
Secretary-Kristi Stewert
Treasurer-Nick Mazick
Reporter & Historian-DeeAnna Tiedeman

General Leaders are Pam Mazick and Marlene Tiedeman.

Two All Stars were chosen to represent the club at the All-Star Review to be held March 20th at the Holly High School.

They are Nick Mazick and Mike Donnellon. Others who will attend from the club are county medal winners DeeAnna Tiedeman, Janet Mailey, Cheryl Tiedeman, Cathy Applegate, Holly Tiedeman, Kevin Scramlin, Cindy Applegate, Christine Tiedeman, and Livestock Club President Brett Seavey.

The club is planning a roller skating party as a money making project. It will be held March 31 in Fenton.

Personal Appearance members are busily sewing, getting ready for the Style Review which will be held April 23rd.

Craft project leaders are beginning classes for the members in some of the craft project areas.

Three CJH Students Honored for Essays

Three students from Clarkston Junior High School, Clarkston, have been named local winners in the 14th annual America & Me Essay Contest, sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

The three, who earned the first, second and third place awards for their school, are Chris Scharfenkamp, first; Todd Zeller, second; and Andrea Andryco, third.

All three received award certificates for their achievement. As the school's first place winner, Chris's name will also be engraved on a plaque for permanent display in the school.

Chris's first place essay now advances to the state level competition, from which the top ten essays in Michigan will be selected.

Armed Service News

Pfc. Brian C. White, son of Larry P. and Claudine P. Drinkard of 3280 Genoa, Clarkston, has arrived for duty at Fort Benning, Ga.

White, an armor crewman with the U.S. Army Infantry Center, was previously assigned in Bindlock, West Germany.

Airman Richard C. Pfahlert, son of William C. and Margret M. Pfahlert of 5703 Warbler, Clarkston has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the communications-electronics systems field.

He is a 1977 graduate of Clarkston Senior High School.

McKay "Woman of the Year"

Holly Businesswoman Barbara McKay has been elected Woman of the Year by the Inde-Spring Charter Chapter. Barbara is the owner of McKay's Hardware in Holly.

Annually, each year ABWA chapters elect one of its members for this award. Selections are based on the member's achievements in her field of business, education, community activities and her participation in the Association.

McKay's employs 10 people including her son, Ken. She is responsible for ordering, handling sales, public relations and is very involved in the hardware needs of her customers.

Barb is currently Vice President of the chapter and has been corresponding secretary, education chairman and bulletin chairman. She has attended three conventions and earned her Hand of Friendship this year. She is also a charter member of Inde-Spring joining in February 1979.

Barb recently received her 20 year membership pin from the 4-H Oakland County Chapter. She is also a member of the M.H.R.A. (Michigan Hardware Retail Association), Holly Chamber of Commerce, Holly Economical Development Association and a member of Holy Family Church in Grand Blanc.

Said Barb of her award, "I was pleasantly surprised and realized on the way what a great honor it is. I thoroughly enjoy ABWA and think it is a great organization. I now have a trophy to put on the trophy shelf at home.

Briefly Speaking...

An Oakland University psychologist is conducting a study on sibling relationships, how they start and are strengthened, and he is asking for volunteers from the community.

Robert Stewart is conducting the research designed to provide a in-depth look at the development of early sibling relationships and on a family's reaction to the birth of a second child.

Parents who have one child between two and four years of age and the wife is in the third trimester of pregnancy are asked to contact Stewart at 377-2302 or 337-2300 for more information.

Individuals with multiple sclerosis who wish to join an organization group for help in dealing with their disease, can come to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital-Pontiac, for meetings.

Act (Aid, Concern and Trust) offers programs designed to help the MS victim learn to deal with their life situations more effectively. They meet the third Wednesday of every month at 7:30 p.m. in rooms A and B of the Hospital's McAuley Building.

For more information about ACT, Call 623-1559 or 674-3089.

The annual easter seal coffee day campaign is about to begin at restaurants all across Oakland County. From March 18 through April 1, coffee drinkers can obtain a coffee day button for a $1.00 donation. Then on Good Friday, April 1, customers wearing their buttons may drink free coffee at any participating restaurant.

The donations from this event will help support: scoliosis screening for 7th and 8th grade students. Recreational, physical, occupational therapy and equipment loans for handicapped persons, an infant car seat loan program and summer speech therapy programs.

Awards and prizes will be given to the restaurant and employees who are the top money raisers.

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Health Care Center, in conjunction with Fleet Ambulance, will be presenting an eight-week course on Standard First Aid and Personal Safety for any interested area residents. The course, which will begin on Wednesday, April 6, will run for eight consecutive Wednesday evenings from 6:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., in the Health Care Center Auditorium, located at 1155 North Milford Road. Certification will be presented to those individuals completing the course. Due to the limited class size, pre-registration is required.

To register or for more information, call the Health Care Center at 685-0921, Extension 224.

Talking About... Burn First Aid

First Degree. First degree burns are caused by sunburn, scalding, contact with hot objects, etc. The skin will be red. To relieve pain, apply cold water applications or submerge in cold water. Do not apply ointments or fats.

Second Degree. Second degree burns are caused by a very deep sunburn, contact with hot liquids or flash burns from liquid fuels. The skin will probably blister. Do not try to break blisters. Pain can be relieved by keeping air from the wound. Three ways to do this are:

1. Submerge in cold or iced water.
2. Apply a cold pack (freshly laundered cloths wrung out in cold water).
3. Cover with a wet dressing under plastic (dry dressing will adhere to the wound).

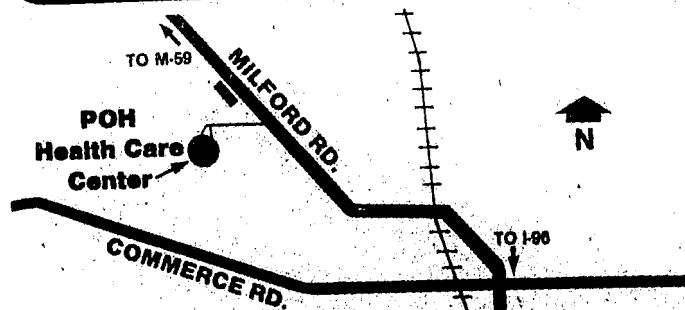

Third Degree. Third degree burns are caused by contact with hot objects, flame, ignited clothing, immersion in scalding water and electrical shock. The skin will appear white or charred. Call for an ambulance immediately. Do not remove adhered particles of charred clothing. Cover the burned area with a sterile dressing or a freshly laundered sheet or linen. If the victim's hands are involved, keep them higher than his heart. Burned feet or legs should also be elevated. The victim should not be allowed to walk. Keep persons with facial burns under close observation for breathing difficulties.

In the case of electrical burns, if the victim is still touching the source of electricity, do not make contact with individual until the source of electricity is removed from victim. If the victim is not conscious, check his breathing and heartbeat. Administer CPR (if qualified).

Note: Do not use an antiseptic preparation, ointment, fat, spray or home remedy on severe burns. Any first degree burn (or extensive sunburn) covering 10% of body surface for a child and 15% for an adult should be seen by a doctor. Seek medical attention as soon as possible for all 2nd and 3rd degree burns.

To register for an upcoming free CPR class, call the Registration Office of the Milford Health Care Center.

Fighting Periodontal (Gum) Disease: You Can Win With Commitment

by Joseph R. Nemeth, D.D.S.

More than 95 percent of adult Americans have or will develop some form of periodontal disease during their lifetimes. In spite of this overwhelming statistic, you can beat the odds of getting gum disease through your personal care and commitment. Even when the disease process has begun or advanced to critical stages, what you do about it can mean the difference between minor treatment and major tooth loss.

Knowing how periodontal disease begins and progresses can help you understand your role in combating it. Your teeth are held in place by bone, and your gums provide a protective covering over this bone. Healthy gums hug the teeth like a tight collar, preventing food particles and bacteria from invading the bone. (See Diagram A.)

Your gums are under attack every day from bacterial plaque - a sticky, invisible substance that is actually a growing colony of living bacteria. Unless they're removed, the bacteria will produce toxins that inflame your gums, creating a condition called gingivitis. Gingivitis is the first stage of periodontal disease, and it is common even in school age children.

Good daily home care, including brushing and flossing, will eliminate bacterial plaque. Brushing alone will not solve the problem. Dental floss removes plaque from between the teeth where brushes can't reach and where periodontal problems most often begin. Other home care procedures, such as irrigating your gums with a rubber tip, can be very effective if used properly. However, it is extremely important that your use of these tools be monitored by your dentist or periodontist (a dentist who specializes in treating periodontal disease). Misuse can worsen a situation and create new problems.

DIAGRAM A

When plaque is not completely removed, it hardens and calcifies into a substance called tartar or calculus. Calculus serves as a breeding ground for more bacteria and leads to the destruction of the bone that supports your teeth. Calculus cannot be brushed or flossed away; it can only be removed by a dentist or dental hygienist. If calculus is not removed, the toxins produced by the bacteria it breeds will cause your gums to pull away from your teeth. As they pull away, "pockets" or spaces form between the gum tissue and teeth. This starts a vicious cycle in which bacteria collect in the pockets and produce toxins and which pass into the underlying tissue, deepening the pockets and creating new spaces for bacteria to grow. Eventually the toxins begin to destroy the bone that supports your teeth, and when sufficient bone has been lost, the tooth loosens.

Once a deep pocket forms, even excellent home care won't reach the plaque and bacteria that collect in it. However, the condition can be treated professionally and the tooth saved. But once deprived of most of its supporting bone, the tooth becomes so loose it either falls out or must be extracted.

The most insidious aspect of periodontal disease is its frequent lack of obvious signs. Although the public associates the disease with bleeding gums or sore, puffy gum tissue, the fact is that these symptoms occur only some of the time, and the disease can be present and progressing without these or any other outward signs. For this reason, the best safeguard you have against periodontal disease reaching advanced stages in your mouth is to see your dentist or periodontist regularly. He is trained to diagnose periodontal disease in its early stages.

The most accurate way of identifying periodontal disease is for the dentist to examine all the gum crevices (the spaces between the gum and the crown of the teeth for hidden areas of the disease). Using a periodontal probe, the dentist gently slides this instrument under the gum tissue to see how far it will go. The patient usually experiences no discomfort, and the resulting measurement alerts the dentist to any deep pockets of infection. Your dentist can also examine your x-rays for signs of bone loss, especially in areas where deep pockets may have been found. (See Diagram B.)

Communicating with your dentist is extremely important, and what you tell him may be just as valuable in diagnosing periodontal disease as what he finds in his examination. Any family history of periodontal disease should be brought to your dentist's attention. If your parents or other close relatives have lost some or all of their teeth, the chances are good that the loss was due to gum disease. Since heredity is a factor in this disease, your dentist should be alerted to your potential for developing periodontal problems.

You may notice some possible symptoms of periodontal disease that will not necessarily be visible during your check-ups. These can include bleeding gums, sore or tender gums, or a vague itching in the gums. You may suspect a shifting of your teeth, such as a widening of the space between your front teeth or a crowding of your lower teeth. Relate all your observations and suspicions to your dentist.

Periodontal disease usually develops very slowly, and sometimes its gradual worsening will not be obvious from check-up to check-up. Keep in mind that you're working with your dentist, and your input can make a difference in when periodontal disease is diagnosed. That difference can determine whether you lose your teeth or keep them for a lifetime.

Addendum:

Joseph R. Nemeth, D.D.S. is licensed by the State of Michigan in the specialty of periodontics. He received his degree in general dentistry from the University of Michigan and his specialized training in periodontics from New York University. Dr. Nemeth has served on the faculty of the University of Southern California and the University of Detroit Dental Schools and currently has a periodontal practice serving both the Pontiac-Waterford and Southfield areas.

So You Think You're Having a Heart Attack

by Lyle S. Mindlin, D.O.

"I think I'm having a heart attack!" Many times a patient comes into the emergency room with this "complaint". But is it really a "heart attack"? Well, let's examine what a "heart attack" is, its signs and symptoms, and what to do about preventing one, and see if we can come to an understanding about one.

In medical terms a heart attack is known as a myocardial infarction (MI). Myocardial refers to the muscle which makes up the greater part of the heart, and infarction refers to the death of tissue. This death is due to a loss of oxygen, which is carried by the blood. Thus, a myocardial infarction is the death of a part of the heart (myocardium) due to a lack of oxygen flowing to that part of the heart (the infarction).

By far the most common patient complaint during an MI is chest pain. The severity may be enough to have a person collapse. Usually, it is a deep pain into the chest which sometimes is described as "heavy", "crushing", or "like somebody sitting on my chest". Most commonly the pain involves the central area of the chest or the left side. In about 25% of people the pain radiates to one or both arms, and less commonly to the jaw, back, abdomen, and/or neck. Along the pain, the patient may experience weakness, sweating, nausea, vomiting, and a high degree of anxiety. Very often the pain occurs with increased physical activity and does not subside with rest.

While it is true that the majority of people experiencing MI's have chest pain, at least 15-20% of heart attack victims may experience no pain whatsoever. These types of MI's occur more often in diabetics and increase in frequency with age, and in these types of patients the presenting symptom may be a sudden breathlessness, sudden loss of consciousness, or sudden confusion.

There are a number of illnesses which, although not as serious in nature as an MI, may mimic one in their symptoms. Commonly, the person who thinks they're having a heart attack has one of the following:

1. an attack of indigestion,
2. a strained muscle in the chest,
3. angina pectoris,
4. or an anxiety attack.

Numbers 3 and 4 need elaboration. A person with angina pectoris has the same symptoms as a person with a heart attack as MI is merely a prolonged bout of angina leading to injury. The patient should see a physician immediately and be evaluated and treated. The pain of angina subsides with a short rest period after it's onset as oxygen flow is restored to the heart and is less severe than the pain of MI. It should be noted that angina pectoris is a warning sign and that a person who regularly experiences it is at increased risk for a heart attack.

When a person has an anxiety attack, he/she begins to breathe quite rapidly (hyperventilation)? This uses up the oxygen that is supposed to go to the heart and consequently, the person may truly experience chest pain. However, unlike a heart attack, the loss of oxygen is quite temporary in virtually all cases, and merely calming the person down, and in some cases mildly sedating them is all that is necessary to restore normal oxygen flow to the heart, thus ending the pain.

How can a person prevent a heart attack? The fact is that you can't. But one can reduce their susceptibility to heart attacks by reducing the number of risk factors they have. Anything that causes the heart to work harder and thus need more oxygen than the body is prepared to deliver to the heart is a risk factor. The most common and important risk factors to eliminate are gross obesity, excessive smoking, high blood pressure, hyperthyroidism, anemia, and uncontrolled diabetes.

Childbirth Classes in Waterford

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital-Pontiac, in cooperation with the Waterford Adult Education Department, is sponsoring childbirth preparation classes for couples in their seventh or eighth months of pregnancy.

The series of five, two-hour weekly classes will be held every Wednesday, March 23 through April 20 from 7-9 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School, 5145 Hatchery Road, Drayton Plains.

Classes, led by St. Joseph Mercy's professional registered nurses, including instruction in Lamaze breathing techniques, relaxation exercises and information on all phases of labor, delivery and post partum. A tour of the hospital, for those participants who will deliver at St. Joseph Mercy, is also included in the series.

To enroll for classes, call St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, 858-3525. Class size is limited to 15 couples. The program is free and open to the community.

Herpes of the Brain

A Life or Death Situation for Waterford Resident

by Julie Prahler

Michael Crabtree says he can't remember anything about the afternoon he was transported by ambulance to Pontiac General Hospital's emergency room.

But his wife, Dawn, remembers and will never forget the nightmare existence that began for their family on Dec. 7, 1982 and almost shattered their lives.

It was a Tuesday, about 3:30 p.m. and Dawn was at home chatting on the telephone with her friend Betty Murphy, when the operator cut into their conversation and said that she had an emergency call for Mrs. Crabtree from the Walled Lake Police Department.

The police officer told Dawn that her husband was on his way to the hospital. Mike has suffered a seizure. Dawn called Mike's parents and her family. She couldn't say too much to them about Mike's condition except that the ambulance personnel said that Mike was in "stable condition."

Dawn's father came to the house and picked up the children, Becky, age 10 and Christopher, 5. Mike's parents drove Dawn to the hospital.

A nurse in the emergency center guided Dawn to Mike's room. She told Dawn that Mike was having problems with his speech and that Dawn might not be able to understand him. The nurse put her arm around Dawn and gently asked a few questions about Mike's medical history. She also explained his present condition. Dawn says, "The nurses at Pontiac General were super nice. They were just fantastic when I needed help!"

Mike was admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit. He couldn't speak. He could utter noises. He was "numb". He couldn't move voluntarily.

Mike's friends and family thought he'd had a stroke. He'd been laid off work from the Fisher Body Plant in Pontiac for about two years. His finances were drained. Christmas was coming soon and he had two little kids that were going to be very disappointed when Santa Claus didn't arrive on schedule. He was under a great deal of pressure.

On the surface, Mike looked "the picture of health." He was 5'11" tall, dark hair, well-proportioned, exercised regularly, and coached third grade boys basketball. He was active in the school PTA and had served as father vice president for 2½ years. He was only 29 years old.

Mike had been having very painful headaches for three weeks before his seizure. He felt "pretty good" otherwise, until now.

Mike endured many tests some were an electroencephalogram (E.E.G.), electrocardiogram (E.K.G.), three spinal taps and a brain scan that was given at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. After testing, he was given medication for seizures.

It was the results of the third spinal tap that led doctors to believe that Mike might have a viral infection of the brain called Herpes encephalitis, or "herpes of the brain."

"People need to know that herpes is more than just a venereal disease," says Mike. "My speech didn't return for two days. I have no memory of what occurred that day. I was hooked up to heart monitors and everything else. I remained in Pontiac General Hospital for ten days."

Mike was told about a new medication used to treat "herpes of the brain." It has serious possible side effects such as liver disorders and bone marrow disease. The doctors did not give Mike the drug. They waited to see how well the robust young man could recover without it.

On the tenth day, Mike was improving enough to talk on the phone to a friend, Sharon Powers. Mike was telling Sharon that he hoped to go home soon. Then he had another seizure! Mike fell out of bed while trying to reach the nurses signal.

Sharon couldn't get any response from Michael over the phone. She was panic-stricken, because she didn't know what had happened to him.

Clad only in a night gown, she ran barefoot through the snow to a neighbors home to use their phone to contact the hospital. Meanwhile, Sharon's daughter tried to yell to Mike over the phone in hopes of getting a response. No response.

That night Mike was transported by ambulance to Hutzel Hospital in Detroit. He was placed in intensive care and isolation overnight. He went through more testing. Dawn was again "worried to death" that she might lose her husband. She hadn't slept or eaten for several days.

Mike's headaches continued for all of the time he was hospitalized. He also had headaches for three weeks after his hospital stay. Some of the doctors in Detroit concluded that Mike had probably suffered a brain trauma, perhaps due to an old injury received when he had a bicycle accident in September 1982. He was released from the hospital on Christmas Eve.

Mike will continue to take Dilantin and phenobarbital for his seizures for "the next two or three years." His speech is still a problem. "Sometimes I think of a word and can't pronounce it," he said. "I could spell very well before this happened and the other day it took me ten minutes to spell Christopher. That's my son's name. I know how to spell but I just couldn't do it. Sometimes I think my mind is just burned up - gone."

He still has headaches. He continues to see his doctors regularly. He has been told that his symptoms can reoccur at any time and he may never be cured. He has also been told that maybe they will never reoccur. His life is in limbo. He has been hospitalized three times for incidents related to his illness. Dawn praises her family and friends. "Honestly we couldn't have made it through this struggle without out friends. I thank I would have lost my mind. Everyone has been so kind to us."

Meanwhile Mike, Dawn, Chris and Becky "make the most of each day of life," and Mike wonders daily if he will ever fully recover.

PGH Takes A Look at Nursing

Pontiac General Hospital's Nursing Education Department will present a workshop for nurses, "Nursing Practice: A Legal Perspective" on Thursday, April 14 and repeated on Friday, April 15 at the St. George Cultural Center, Bloomfield Hills. Dr. Helen Creighton, R.N., J.D., will be the featured speaker. For more information contact Lois Seddon at 857-7324.

A Closer Look at Herpes

by Claudia Brazel

Herpes is becoming a social word guaranteed to bring a blush; a name, that a year ago, few had heard, but that now, appears in newspapers daily. Herpes is broadly labeled as a social disease. There are, however, several types of Herpes, and all are not contracted through sexual relations.

Herpes is a disease created by the presence of a viral system, within the body, that infects the nervous system directly. The seriousness of the disease varies, depending on the viral strain, and is manifested by an outbreak of the skin.

Herpes Simplex is as common as a cold. In fact, Herpes Simplex often erupts during a cold or accompanies a high fever. When this occurs, Herpes confirms its presence with a rupture to the skin, that is commonly call a "cold sore."

Unattractive, as the blister may be, it is not contracted by means of a social disease. Herpes Simplex often follows periods of illness in which antibiotics were taken; before or during mild illness such as a cold or flu; and during times of personal tension or emotional disturbance.

The rash from Herpes Simplex, usually appears near the mouth and nose, creating tense and tender blisters around those areas that eventually burst and become encrusted and sore before healing.

Herpes Simplex can be brought on, in some cases, by exposure to too much wind or sun, and although some people do seem more susceptible than others, it can attack anyone's system.

The Simplex virus will remain dormant, within the body system. It may appear, active once again, when the body conditions are again susceptible to attack.

Herpes Zoster is closely related to the virus that causes Chicken-pox and it can be contracted from a carrier of that Chicken-pox virus. This generally occurs in persons who have had herpes of some kind before or who have general susceptibility of it.

Herpes Zoster can also be contracted by exposure to syphilis; or by the presence of a tumor; or more simply, it may occur due to old age.

The Zoster virus also attacks the nervous system, specifically the nerve root. Once in place and active the virus appears along the course of nerve; and encircles the body, wherever the nerve goes. Usually, one side of the body is affected.

The virus eruptions or tiny cluster of blisters are often preceded by fever, chills, and weakness that generally disappear when the rash breaks out. Pain and redness may also occur on the skin areas where blisters will later appear.

Pain is common to sufferers of Herpes Zoster. Pain can appear before the rash; will become intensified during the rash; and may persist long after the rash has gone.

The burning pain of Herpes Zoster is

ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT LAZY EYE

Q. What is lazy eye or amblyopia

A. Lazy eye is a vision condition which causes an unexplained loss of near and distance visual acuity (clarity or sharpness of vision), usually in only one eye.

Q. Who is likely to have lazy eye?

A. Statistics indicate that between one and two percent of the population have lazy eye.

Q. How does lazy eye affect vision?

A. Normally, the images sent from both eyes to the brain are the same. The clarity of the image sent by the lazy eye will be significantly lower. Eventually, the brain will compensate for the lower clarity of vision by ignoring what is seen by the lazy eye. Further weakening of the lazy eye usually results from this disuse.

Q. What are the signs of lazy eye?

A. Typical signs are blurred near and distance vision, a noticeable favoring of one eye and the tendency to continually bump into objects on one particular side.

Q. Is the lazy eye blind?

A. Although the clarity of vision in a lazy eye may be low enough to be judged legally blind, (an acuity of less than 20/200), the lazy eye is usually not completely sightless or blacked out.

Q. How is lazy eye diagnosed?

A. Since amblyopia usually occurs in only one eye and the better eye "takes over" seeing for both, persons are often unaware of the condition. Periodic optometric examinations, beginning by or before age three, are the best means of diagnosing lazy eye.

Q. How is lazy eye treated?

A. Corrective lenses, prisms, contact lenses and/or vision therapy programs can be prescribed to teach the lazy eye to function normally. Sometimes, the better eye is covered with a patch to stimulate use and strengthening of the lazy one. Early diagnosis and treatment can usually improve the clarity of vision in the lazy eye.

Aging Revolution Upon Us

by Dr. Shelby Baylis

There are now more than 65 million persons in the United States over 45 years of age; about 23 million of them are over 65. Current life expectancy tables indicate that today's average fifth grader will attain at least an age of 74. Medical advances, expanding health knowledge in possession of the layman, and better living standards have all contributed to the aging revolution. Making your child aware of what this extended life span means in terms of changing his or her overall pattern of living is important.

It should be made clear to children that aging is a natural process which begins at birth, and is characterized by shifts in abilities and interests as one grows older. As one grows older, then, wisdom and experience replace the physical agility and endurance of youth. Equally important is that chronological age is among the least dependable ways of evaluating individuals. It should also be pointed out that obvious physical characteristics are unreliable. For example, lack of color in one's hair, or lack of hair at all, is not proof that one is decrepit.

Because of greater life expectancy, the individual must recognize the probability that he will live and be capable long after his children have moved from the home. In this context, it is wise to extend ones interests beyond the narrow confines of supporting a family. It will be important to have broadened life interests, including recreational pursuits, that will serve through a very long life. It is sometimes difficult in adult life to engage in team sports, because of the large numbers of people required. On the other hand, tennis, golf, handball, racquetball and swimming are sports capable of providing lifelong physical activity.

Health education takes on a new meaning with the aging revolution. Teeth, for example, should be cared for properly, not just because cavities and extractions can be inconvenient, but because they will be called upon to serve another 60 or 70 years, and optimum nutrition depends on their retention. This same line of reasoning can be applied to every element when teaching youngsters healthful living habits.

Even more certain than a longer life is the probability that the capacity for meaningful activity in years past 60 will be greater as a result of future advances in health. It is not unreasonable to expect dramatic breakthroughs in the treatment and cure of cancer, cardiovascular and renal diseases, and continued progress in the control of accidents, diseases of early infancy, influenza, pneumonia, and other causes of death.

There has been a twentieth century revolution in length and quality of life, and we, as parents, should recognize that our children should be adequately prepared for the new era of aging.

"That's the significant difference between ambulatory care and general office practice, is being treated when they perceive that need," stated Dr. Paul Treusch, Co-Medical Director of the facility. "This is the type of medical care unit that the American public is coming too."

"It is good to have a family doctor, especially if you have a chronic, long standing-type problem."

"In this very fast society, you don't make an appointment to see me next Tuesday at 2 o'clock for your sore throat. People like to be taken care of when they perceive that need. I have a sore throat now and I call my doctor's office and they make an appointment for me next Monday," continued Dr. Treusch. "That's not good enough because my throat hurts now and I want something about it. So you can come in here, we'll take a look at you and see what we can do."

The heart of the center is the 24-hour Clinic which is run similar to an emergency room with the exception of the treatment of very critical patients. The clinic is set up to diagnose and treat non-critical patients, and stabilizing of critical patients that are to be transported to the main hospital. A critical area in the unit is set up where patients which complain of acute chest pains, overdose, and burns that cover 17% or less of the body are treated.

The building also houses a Family Practice Clinic, Mental Health Clinic, Orthopedic Clinic and a 24 hour Radiology and Laboratory.

"We do all kinds of x-rays. Most of those are done either as emergency or out-patient," explained Marge O'Dell, Medical Care Manager of the facility. "Doctors order them from their offices and send them here to be done. We can have our x-rays back in about 10 minutes."

"If a patient doesn't have a doctor, then we send them down here to be seen in the Family Practice. If they have a broken bone, then we send them to ortho," stated Ms. O'Dell.

Physical therapy is also available in the building from 8 til noon.

"They're pretty much un-related. The only thing is they get referrals from the 24-hour Clinic."

In helping to enrich the community, the center holds classes in First Aid, C.P.R. Heart Saver and Cancer-I Can Cope programs.

Having been open in November of 1980, the center is growing in popularity.

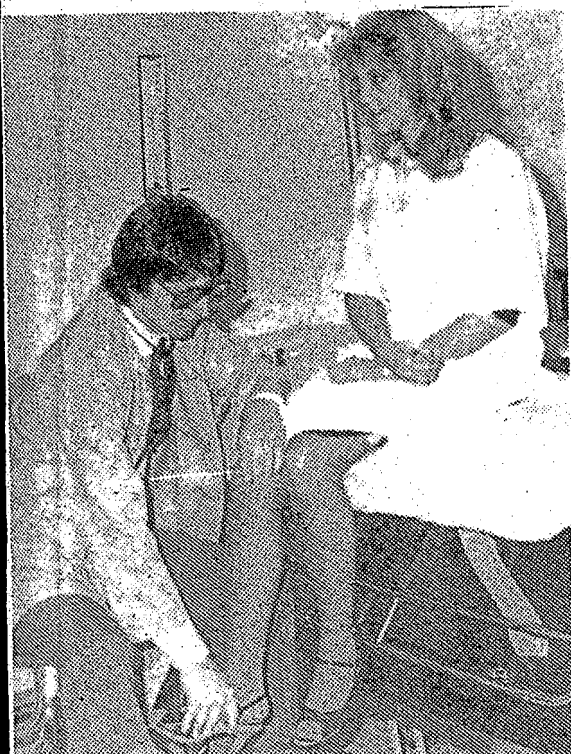

"We take a lot of time with each patient and make sure that we get them in to be seen as soon as possible," stated O'Dell, "We help them all we can. If they need referrals to someplace else, if they need other kind of help, ect."

Contributing to the excellence of the facility is its employees, approximately 44 strong.

"A competent medical staff here is really a big plus," commented Ms. O'Dell, "Competent nursing that can handle everything that comes in the door is very important."

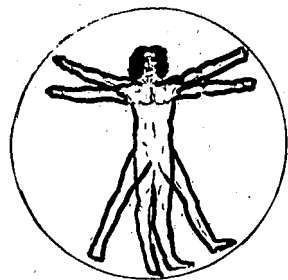

"This is a very happy place to work," added Dr. Treusch, "I'll never tell this to their faces. They're a damn good crew. I couldn't hand pick better nurses than I have here. I mean, the entire staff, lab people, x-ray people, even janitorial people. Like when a lot of work hits the fan, here everyone kinda pitches in."

Carol's foot is examined by Dr. Paul Treusch.

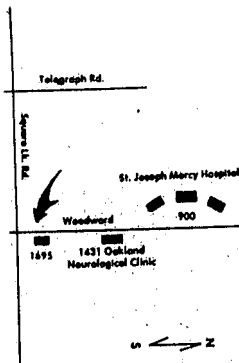

Nancy Wheaton and Dr. Paul Treusch treat Jan Egres, who simulates a cardiac arrest.

Herpes

occasionally severe enough to warrant the prescribing of codeine and similar medications.

Occasionally, pregnant women contract a form of Herpes Zoster and much attention must be given to its presence for it can infect the birth canal area or the fetus, causing blindness or death.

The Zoster virus, when infecting the nerve of the eye, can cause ulcers to form on the cornea, resulting in blindness. The herpes blister can be seen on the eye or its lid areas if looked for closely. Infected eyes generally tear, are sensitive to light and are painful. The Zoster virus takes four to six weeks to become inactive and it can scar tissue.

There are other, rarer, herpes virus's that can attack the brain and other body systems. There is no permanent cure for any of them. They can return. Many Persons feel they have gained some relief from the disease's attacks by having four to eight Small-pox vaccinations at two week intervals. The vaccination method of prevention is not all that reliable however.

The best thing a herpes sufferer can do is see his doctor, who may prescribe treatment along these lines to help promote healing:

Simplex: Treat blisters with drying lotions and powders such as; spirits of camphor; tincture of benzoin or zinc oxide with a fraction of a percent of menthol.

Zoster: Applying same lotions after boric rinse while taking antibiotics such as; aureomycin or terramycin. Eyes require prescribed ointments.

Early treatment is necessary to relieve discomfort and to decrease possible complications.

Using CO₂ Laser to Treat Genital Herpes and Venereal Warts

by Dr. Joann M. Gates M.D.

Herpes is a common viral disease caused by Herpes Simplex Virus Type 2 affecting mostly the genital area. Herpes 2 is related to Herpes Type 1, which is the cause of cold sores. There is thought to be a cross over of these viruses, which may result from oral-genital sex.

Herpes virus is contracted from the secretions of the mouth or genitalia of infected people, who usually have symptoms. However, there are people who are asymptomatic carriers. Herpes Type 2 has an incubation period of 2 to 7 days.

The virus enters the cells of mucous membranes or skin. Painful blister, ulcers, or red bumps result. When these sores are open the Herpes virus may be easily contagious to other people. Fever, flu-like symptoms, and enlarged lymph nodes may be present during the acute attack. The virus then ascends sensory nerves to para vertebral nerve ganglia and may go into a latent stage, to be present for a lifetime. A new attack can then occur at any time.

Diagnosis is made by appearance of lesions and by culture.

A woman who has Herpes may have an increased risk of cervical cancer. When pregnant, she may have a miscarriage, stillbirth, or premature delivery. Herpes can be contracted by a baby passing through the birth canal; severe brain damage can result.

CO₂ Laser may be used on the Herpetic lesion in the acute phase of Herpes 2. This is considered to have some benefit to reduce severity of future attacks and to reduce the severity length of the acute attack.

Factors to improve immunity may raise host resistance against future attacks. Avoid fatigue, tension and emotional stress and treat promptly of other infections.

Genital wart or condyloma acuminata are caused by the papilloma virus and are sexually transmitted. Incubation period is one to three months after contact with the infected person. They may be very small, or they may be large raised cauliflower-like lesions. They may be isolated lesions or numerous and coalescent.

Diagnosis is made by appearance and by biopsy.

The CO₂ laser, guided by colposcopy (microscopic viewing) is a most effective treatment for genital condylomata. CO₂ laser offers very rapid precise destruction of the lesions with lack of scar formation complications are rare.

Careful microscopic examination of the involved area-cervix vagina, perineum, vulva, and anal areas with microscopically directed CO₂ Laser vaporization of the lesion is the treatment of choice. CO₂ laser to genital condyloma may also be used safely during pregnancy.

60 Seconds for Good Dental Health

Program For Kids

by Julie Prahler

Many Waterford elementary school principals and parent organization presidents attended a recent meeting sponsored by the Oakland County Health Department to explain a weekly fluoride rinse procedure entitled "60 Seconds for Good Dental Health."

Waterford Township water does not contain fluoride. Township water is supplied by a system of wells.

According to Health Department officials, the weekly rinsing procedure involves a rinse solution containing 0.2% Sodium Fluoride and water. The rinse solution is mixed according to product directions. This usually involves adding a premeasured package of fluoride to a specific amount of tap water. This procedure should not be varied in anyway. Effectiveness will be reduced if the solution is not mixed exactly as directed. Once the solution is mixed it can be kept for three weeks. The fluoride solution and packets must be stored in a locked area away from children's access.

A calibrated pump (10 ml for first grade through eighth grades) is used to dispense the prescribed amount of fluoride into the cups.

Each student's name is checked on the "Classroom Attendance and Mouthrinsing Records" (a list of children on which parental permission and weekly participation is recorded). The child is then given a cup containing the fluoride solution and a paper napkin. Only those children with written parental permission may participate.

The children are told not to swallow according to the Oakland County Health Department, if a child were to accidentally swallow - 10 ml of the rinse solution, it would not produce adverse or ill effects, but should not be done regularly. For the younger children, a practice rinsing session with water is recommended to get them used to rinsing and emptying their mouths.

The students are instructed to empty the contents of the cup into their mouth and rinse for 60 seconds: swishing the solution all over the mouth for the first 15 seconds, then back left teeth for the second 15 seconds, the back right teeth for the third 15 seconds and the front teeth for the last 15 seconds.

The solution is then emptied back into the cup, the face is wiped with a napkin; the napkin is stuffed back into the cup to absorb the liquid, and then collected in a plastic bag and disposed.

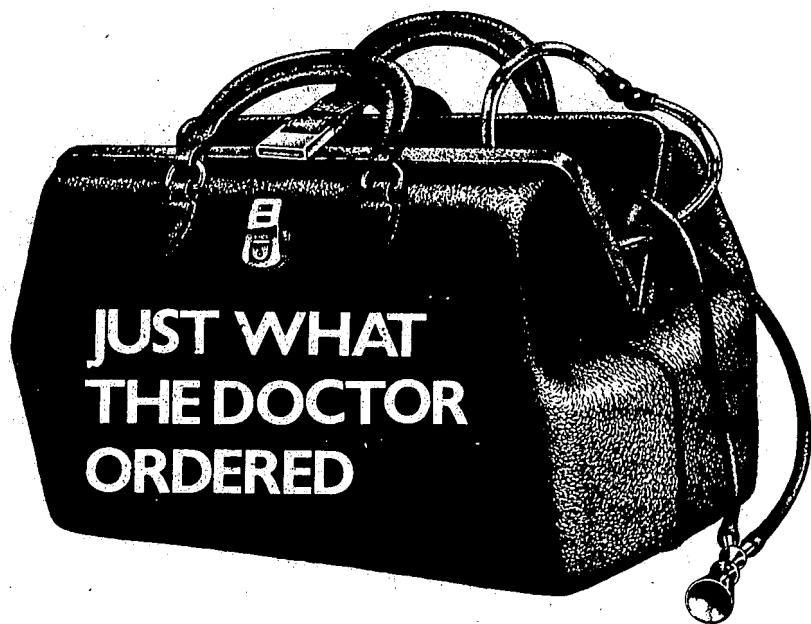

The children are instructed not to eat or drink (including water and chewing gum) for 30 minutes after rinsing. The rinsing should not be scheduled immediately before lunch or recess.

The Health Department recommends that for "maximum benefits the children must rinse each week of the school year."

The program will be supervised by volunteers who will be trained by Health Department dentists and nurses.

Schools may, or may not, choose to participate at their option. Manley School is participating in the program. The Hazel Park School District has participated in the program.

Cost per child for the entire school year is $1.00.

X-rays the Easy Way

by Lawrence G. Wayburn, M.D.

Your doctor has requested that you have an x-ray examination. What is the advantage of having the study at a private Radiology Office rather than the Out-patient Department at a hospital? I cannot speak for all private offices, but I can speak for North Oakland Radiology in Clarkston.

First, there is the convenience of free parking near the office building rather than pay parking in a parking structure that may be some distance from the hospital.

At many hospitals, the out patient has to have forms processed at the out patient department prior to going to the x-ray department. Once at the x-ray department, the out patient usually has to be signed in again before their examination is performed. The overall signing in process can be time consuming, whereas at a private office, the preliminary questions can be taken care of quickly and efficiently at one time.

Another consideration is that the priority of a hospital is for the in patient as well as emergency room patient. You as an out patient, going to a hospital may find that your appointment may be delayed somewhat in time because of a "stat" examination from the emergency room which would take precedence over your appointment. At a private office, there is a much greater tendency for your exam to be performed at the specified time since the office adheres to a schedule which allows ample time for everyone.

As to the scheduling of appointments, there may be a several day to two to three week delay in having an ultrasound or CT scan examination at a hospital. However at a private office, this problem may be alleviated. These studies can be performed if not the day they are ordered, then the next day or at a later date if the patient so desires. Of course, most exams need no appointment, however, GI's, ultrasounds, CT scans, contrast studies, and tomograms are done by appointment because the examination usually requires a special preparation to be followed by the patient. It is because of the special preparation that may dictate when the examination is to be scheduled. For example, a CT scan of the abdomen cannot be done right after an upper or lower GI because the residual barium produces computer artifacts due to its density. Therefore, the CT examination may be delayed two days to allow the barium to clear the patient's system.

Finally, when visiting a private practice you as the patient, have to deal with only one doctor as compared with a larger group practice where you may not see the same physician twice. Just as with your own physician, over a period of time, trust and rapport can be gained with the radiologist who interprets your x-ray studies as he or she becomes more familiar with you.

In conclusion, some of the advantages of going to a private radiology office rather than the out patient x-ray department of a hospital have been discussed. Your time is important and you are entitled to have examinations performed and interpreted in an expeditious, convenient and professional manner without undue delay.

Med-I-Dent New Mouthwash Cure-All?

Gailon Morisette is absolutely ecstatic about Med-I-Dent, a new dental mouthwash he is marketing.

The product is actually a germicidal mouthwash which has been tested for the last year and just hit the market on February 15. Morisette, president of Heritage Marketing in Holly, is marketing the product locally.

"I'm very excited about it, and in fact, I've dropped everything else so I can concentrate on this," said Morisette.

The Med-I-Dent story began in Scottsdale, Arizona. A dentist there began testing a compound to see if it would help heal some bad cases of cankers. The dentist discovered that the compound had significant additional benefits and during the next several months, he began treating some of his most difficult cases with the product.

The dentist made the following conclusions:

1. Persistent plaque, once cleaned away, did not return.
2. Longstanding inflamed and bleeding gums became healthy.
3. Trench mouth became odor free within hours.
4. Mouth sores, cankers, and post operative wounds healed much faster than usual.

5. Mouth ceased to create bad breath.

By far the most dramatic claim made is that it prevents plaque. The American Dental Association (ADA) states that "plaque is a primary cause of tooth decay and periodontal disease."

Dr. Robert G. Kesel, professor and head of the department of therapeutics at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry adds, "If some effective, easily applied method could be found for harmlessly preventing these hard accumulations from forming on the teeth, it would be the greatest possible single discovery for the preservation of the teeth of the adult population."

But because of its newness, the ADA had not yet given Med-I-Dent its stamp of approval.

To legitimize the product, a full scale, double-blind testing of Med-I-Dent is being undertaken by a major university on the East Coast. Although their initial report was due in February, the study had yet been concluded.

That hasn't stopped Morisette, however. "Out in California it's growing like wildfire and it's coming in this direction," he warned.

COMMON DENTAL EMERGENCIES AND PROBLEMS

1. If someone has a tooth "knocked out", place a clean gauze over the area to control bleeding. Then, wrap the tooth in a clean moist cloth. Do not clean or scrub the tooth. Go to the dentist immediately, time is of the essence.
2. For a broken tooth, lost filling, or a filling that feels loose: see a dentist as soon as possible to prevent further damage to tooth.
3. Severe toothache or swelling of area around a tooth are signs of infection. See a dentist immediately for dental infections can become serious if not treated.
4. For a toothache in an obviously decayed tooth, apply oil of cloves on a small piece of cotton directly into tooth cavity to relieve pain. Do not apply aspirin to the tooth or gum, this may cause burns. Contact a dentist.
5. A temporary or permanent crown may come off. If it is still intact, it may be replaced with a small amount of toothpaste inside crown. Contact a dentist to have it checked and recemented.
6. Any sores in your mouth, throat, or on your lips that do not seem to be healing on their own within 7-10 days should be seen by a dentist.
7. Any cuts in mouth or on lip should have pressure applied to them and then be seen by a dentist.
8. If your denture or partial denture breaks, save the pieces and see a dentist as soon as possible to have it repaired.

In Appreciation for a Local Doctor

There is a man that I know
That lives not too far
On a street, near a lake
In our own little town.

He's a collector of gems
Not like any you've known
For he's a collector of hearts
Not of stone.

The most precious by far
They number in seven
And truly they are a blessing from heaven
There's a Georgia from the south
The most shining of all
Then there's a Gene and a Barb
A Gary and Greg, A Jackie and Bev
But many unsaid.

They all have a brilliance
Of their own
Because of the way
That they have been shown.

I'm sure his collection
Would number so many
For all he has touched
They shine like a new penny.

He keeps on collecting
With never a pause
And won't even take time
For any applause.

In my own little way
I'm speaking for all
When I say how we care
For this man who's so tall.

His whistle it tells us
That all is OK
And it also has started
Our beautiful day.

I am just one of the gems
That he has touched
But I want to say Thank You
So very much.

For teaching me how
To stand alone
And showing me how to feel at home
For believing I am as good as can be
And most of all
Believing in me.

This collector I've known
Through-out his career
Has sent many a gem home
With a lot less fear.

Although I know
He would not like a fuss
I wish to say now
We all love you Gus.

My friend
My doctor.

TO YOUR HEALTH

by Dr. Shelby Baylis

Weekend athletes in America are incapacitating themselves by the millions with such injuries as tennis elbow, runner's knee, Achilles' tendonitis, shin splints and hamstring pulls.

Most sports injuries are easy to understand and avoid if you know something about muscles, tendons, bones and ligaments and the jobs they do.

Muscles are bundles of fibers that stretch; when they shorten, they produce movement.

Tendons are tough bands of fibers similar to muscles, but they do not stretch. Most tendons are attached to muscle at one end and bone at the other. The Achilles' tendon, for example, connects the calf muscle to the heel bone.

Bones, of course, serve as the body's framework and leverage system for muscles, and ligaments are the tough fibrous bands attached to the ends of bones, holding them together to make joints.

A "pulled muscle" then is actually a tear of muscle fibers, usually caused by failure to loosen tight muscles with warm-up exercises. A tennis elbow results from small tears of the forearm muscle's tendons where they attach to the elbow joint. Tennis elbow is caused by excessive strain on the forearm muscles that move the wrist, sometimes from using a wrist movement to hit the ball instead of using the entire upper arm and locking the wrist.

To avoid such injuries, warm up the appropriate muscles slowly and gradually increase the intensity of play. For runners, this usually means starting out jogging, joggers start out walking, tennis players start out volleying. Stretching exercises, similar to what football players do, are also good for warming up.

Warming down is also important. Bringing your heart rate and breathing down gradually helps alleviate cramping.

Anyone over 35 considering vigorous exercise should first be given a complete physical, including a "stress" electrocardiogram, which is taken on a treadmill, and is carefully monitored by the physician.

Surprisingly, it takes only a few weeks to lose conditioning built up over many months, because muscles soon lose the ability to use oxygen efficiently if not stressed often. So, even if you do stretching and warm-up exercises, try not to overdo your favorite sport. If you find yourself with a pulled muscle or tendon, the only cure is to rest the muscle.
