COMMUNITY NEWS BULLETIN

We have established a bulletin for the community, the first one being issued Monday evening on the election returns.

We will hereafter issue a bulletin upon any important event that takes place between the issues of the News. It will give only the most important part, details to follow in the News issue following the event.

Monday evening a bulletin was printed and posted in the stores during the election returns at 8:00 for 5 minutes after they had closed.

CLARKSTON HISTORY

What do you know about Clarkston? The Community News is working on a history of our village from the beginning up to date. Will you help us do this?

After we have gotten it all together, it will be published in our paper in serial form until it has all been printed; then for those who desire it we will print it in book form.

Please answer as many of the following questions as you can.

Write them plainly on paper and mail to the Community News.

Please sign your name to your answers:

Who was the first settler in Clarkston?

Where did they first settle and when?

What was the reason or attraction that made them settle here?

What was the first industry, and by whom owned?

Another set of questions will be given in our next issue.

The folks over at the bank report a fine run of business lately in articles left. Three pairs of gloves, one umbrella, one coat, one sack corn meal, one sack full of sparrow heads, and one dime. We wonder what they are doing to folks over there to make them walk away and leave such valuable articles.

Some one brought a pair of mules to Yager's shop to be shod the other day but couldn't get them to enter the shop. We don't know whether it was just pure mulish bullheadness or they knew Frank Yager.

It is too bad he didn't have Elmer Vleit's Ford there too hitch on to them, as she has a habit of keeping right on when she gets started.

"Uncle" Hugh Green, who has been sick for some time, is out again.

Notice

The Junior High School Play has been postponed until Tuesday April 10, owing to the death of Mr. D. Addis.

Clarkston's Black Cats

It has been said, and of truth, that Clarkston is situated on one of the most beautiful spots in this country; being surrounded as we are by lakes and good roads, and yet just far enough from the main highway to miss all the heavy truck traffic with its dust and noise and in fact we are the natural center of a fine community. BUT! Listen!

Now for the BLACK CATS. You know they say a black cat is a "Joker." Well, we have some here in Clarkston and they should be gotten rid of.

Would any one think they were approaching "The Best Little Town in the State" when they approach Clarkston from the spring or over across the dam? There are two of our BLACK CATS. We mean the bank of the ravine on the east side just below the dam: rubbish, cans etc. all down the side. To look over across the pond is quite a pretty sight then across the ravine below the dam: comparison isn't it?

Do not make any difference who owns this site now or what they intend to do with it, it is Clarkston rubbish there and Clarkston should clean it up. A very small effort on the part of some of our men for a day or so to load this rubbish in wagons and send it down to our new park site at the lake where it will do some good, then a few axe swingers to clean out the under brush and some of the old dead limbs on the trees would make this a spot of beauty instead of a BLACK CAT. And it might have some influence with the present owner to help get the things we want done on this site.

All this rubbish that has been dumped here and along the other road leading to our village at the end of the ravine is needed badly out to our new park site by the lake. Every load of cans, ashes and rubbish dumped out there will save the village the cost of one load of gravel to complete this splendid undertaking.

Now one more BLACK CAT. Soon the summer visitors and tourists will be coming to our village to purchase their supplies for cottages, etc. and what are they going to think of us as a live village when they see the ugly looking spot where we had our fire last winter. Of course we realize certain things must be preventing the owners, (they are unknown to us at this writing), from doing what they would like to with this matter, but at least we would like to see what is left of the one building torn down and both cleaned up before summer in the past.

a personal matter for individuals, but a personal every citizen in the village do you think of this matter? Write us your views and we will print them in the next issue. Please sign your name to letter, but we will not print your name with letter if you request us not to.

"O, BOYS" Will this ice ever go out of the pond and lake so we can go "swimmin'?"

Dr. Rader's Lecture

Dr. Rader gave a lecture to a very small audience in the opera house last Saturday evening. It was too bad more of Clarkston folks were not present to listen to this lecture. Dr. Rader gave a splendid address on "Makers of the Nation I have known."

TOWNSHIP BUSINESS MEETING

April 2, 1932

Meeting called to order, after which Supervisor Irish read the report for the year just finished.

It seems that orders for work done on road repair were given to the amount of about $1500 over the amount apportioned for this work. Mr. Irish asked the people to cast a vote upon whether they would authorize the board to pay this amount. It was voted to pay it.

Then there arose a very lengthy discussion as to the financial standing of the township among the people present. It seemed almost impossible to explain to everyone's satisfaction just what the situation was.

Below is the final condition of the township to date as near as we could get it:

Balance on hand in bank, $9999.70
Note due at bank with interest, approx. $1530.00.

After this note is paid it leaves about $8460.00 on hand which is about the amount the township owes the Schools; primary money.

This leaves the township indebtedness in the neighborhood of $5000.

A motion was made, supported and carried that the township raise $2000 for emergency road repair such as snow shoveling, wash outs, etc.

Geo. King ran out of gas in his new "flivver" out in the country the other day and says he could get nothing but kerosene, so put a gallon of this in, but Henry would stand for no such insults and refused to run more than a mile or two. Geo. calls Big Ben of Ford Garage and says the flivver he sold him was no good; wouldn't start, so they bring her in and put her on the operating table and Ben says he "fussed and cranked for an hour before he discovered Henry was full of kerosene instead of gas." Then over to the bank Ben goes after Geo. King saw him coming and knew what was up and was laughing up his sleeve, and if you know Big Ben of Leonard & Miller you can guess at the rest.

The Caribou Garage has moved to their new location in the Building on main street. They ready to give the same personal service that has pleased their customers in the past.

Fire Bell

In the issue of January 29, 1921, we see the following article:

"When the fire-bell rings at 7:30 p. m. the first Monday of the month announcing the monthly meeting of the village council, consider this an invitation to attend the meeting."

We wonder why this was discontinued?

While passing through France to the front, a colored regiment of infantry entered the outskirts of a village and one of them spied a chicken running along the side of the road. He broke ranks and after Mrs. Hen he went.

An officer seeing him commanded him to halt, yet on he went after this hen. Again he cried "HALT!". Just then the colored boy caught the hen and rung her neck exclaiming "Dere you disobedient bird, ah done teach you to stop when an officer says halt."

Florence Flapp (to ardent suitor): "The only men I kiss are my brothers."

Radio? No, not this time, it's birds now. While our editor was "pecking away" on the typewriter the other evening, things were very quiet except for the rattle of the machine when all of a sudden—Listen, Hubby, what kind of a bird is that singing out there? The machine is silenced and Hubby listens. Why, that's Miller's Radio Windmill again! "Good night," wifie says, "I have been sitting here trying to make out what kind of a bird that was."

Every Coleman Quick-Lite has a highly ornamental shade which makes it attractive in any room. The lamps are made of brass, heavily nickel plated and beautifully polished. Will last a lifetime. No wick. No chimney. No daily or weekly cleaning. No smoke, soot or grease.

Cost to operate in the average home is only 10 to 12 cents a week. A handy light—carries safely anywhere—no danger if it tipped over. Without question the greatest home lamp. Thousands in use.
