It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

In France, the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China.

It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference (which, happily, no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events.

Of our troubles no man can see the end. They are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and if painful poverty be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy, and of charity—no man need seriously despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity.

Good friends—let our conduct prove that the call comes to men who have large hearts, however narrowed their homes may be; who have nothing but manhood, strong in its faith in God, to rely upon; and who ever shows himself truly a God-fearing man now, by helping wherever and however he can, will be blessed and beloved as a great light in darkness.

Now comes the remarkable fact. What you have just read was not written yesterday, about the condition of today—but is a verbatim reprint of an editorial which appeared in Harper's Weekly on October 10, 1857.

July of that year was normal. September marked the beginning of depression. This editorial appeared in October. Seventeen months later, in March of 1859, business was back at normal again.

Of our own troubles no man can see the end. They said it in 1857, and it has been said many times, before and since. Depressions have occurred in American business since the Revolutionary war, and every one has looked black, seemed unending. Every one has been followed by recovery—and prosperity.

Beattie Brothers Purchase Wrecker

Literary Club

The Clarkston Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk for their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon.

After the business meeting a program was presented. Miss Mary Katherine Hammond played two piano selections. Two papers, "The Founders of Penn.," by Mrs. Earl Waters, and "The Quakers," by Mrs. Josephine Smith, were given. These papers dealt with the early life of Wm. Penn, of the life of the Quakers and their influence in early settlement of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Wm. Stanning is spending the winter in Detroit with her sons, but prepared a paper, which was read by Mrs. E. J. Miller. Her subject was "The True Story of Pocahontas."

Three of our members, Mrs. C. H. Souby, Mrs. A. H. McIntyre, and Mrs. Lucy King, were guests of the Holly Monday Club last Monday.

The next meeting of Clarkston Literary Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Roehm, February 2.

Series of Robberies Last Week

Last week robbers visited three places of business and did some damage and made away with a certain amount of goods. Three places, a store in Waterford, Bowden's store in Springfield, and Noskey's garage at Silver Crest were the victims of the robbers.

The Bowden Grocery store was entered sometime during the night Wednesday, of last week. Thieves pried the cash register from the counter with a small crowbar and took it with them. Away from the store they broke it open, and in doing so did a great amount of damage to the register, which was an expensive one. They discarded it and Gerald Vess ran into it Thursday morning while he was driving on the Andersonville Road. The incident was reported to Deputy Sheriff Seeterlin, who investigated and reported to Pontiac officials.

Little is known about the robbery at Waterford and at the Noskey Garage, but authorities are investigating the matter.

The meeting was opened with the offering of several selections by the complete high school band. Two piano duets were given and Mr. Mel. Avery, County 4-H leader, led the community singing.

Dr. Mumford's talk had a direct bearing on the depression and its direct effect on farmers. He sketched other depressions and the history of the present one and emphasized that this one is no worse or as bad as many have been. Dr. Mumford claims the farmer was the first to be hit by the depression, and will be the first to rise from it to prosperity.

RICHARDS GOT THE JOB BECAUSE HE HAD A TELEPHONE

When an application is made for work, employers are quite likely to ask for a telephone number. For they know that the easiest and quickest way to get into touch with additional help is by telephone. Your home telephone is an important asset in business and social life. It places you within instant reach of business associates and friends. And, in emergencies, such as fire or sudden sickness, it will summon help immediately. Of all the things you buy, probably none gives so much for so little as your telephone.

For the new Buick Four-Door Sedan for 1932, listing at $995, is a Straight Eight with Wizard Control and scores of important advancements.

Here is a record of value-giving that the motor industry, represented by Buick, actually achieved. And here is how the motoring public has rewarded Buick for the achievement: Today, as a result of Buick's policy of giving greater value year after year, America is awarding Buick more than three-to-one preference over all other eights in its price class. It's A Poor Joke

When someone blushes with embarrassment.
When someone's feelings are hurt.
When something is made to appear commonplace.
When it is directed at someone's infirmity.
When it is uttered in a bitter spirit.
When everyone cannot join in the laughter.

Sardines packed by Pacific coast fisheries are now stood up in tall cans, instead of laid in the old flat type. In other words, instead of being packed like sardines, they are now packed in like passengers in the subway.
Judge: "The traffic officer says you got sarcastic with him."
Mr. Nagger: "But I didn't intend to be. He talked to me like my wife does, and I forgot myself and answered, 'Yes, my dear.'"
