Rep. P. J. Miller Of Walled Lake Has Prominent Part In Special Session

Representative Philemon J. Miller of Walled Lake, representing the west side of Oakland County in the House of Representatives at Lansing, is one of the several legislators who has emerged from the special session ended Friday, May 6, with distinctly enhanced prestige.

Rep. Miller was one of the leading figures among representatives of the lower part of the State fighting in the stormy three-hour struggle for passage of the automobile weight tax bill, a fight that was crowned with victory after Gov. Brucker had taken a hand and made a personal appeal that routed the opposition. Representative Miller, scoring "diplomacy" or compromise, vigorously attacked the opposition in language that minced no words and left no question as to his meaning, displaying a frankness and fearlessness rarely witnessed in recent years in the legislative halls.

Whether auto tax money should go to build more roads in the northern part of the State, or to relieve overburdened taxpayers carrying a tremendous load of highway levies, was the issue. Representative Miller, as spokesman for people of a large part of Oakland County, the County carrying the heaviest burden, spoke vehemently for relief. His expression was summed up in a single question, he asked his colleagues: "Are you going to help the distressed taxpayer, or are you going to leave this $2,500,000 in the highway fund to buy cement and make profits for the road builders?"

The first part of the program was presented by the pupils of Miss Hyde, consisting of the kindergarten and the first grade. A group of pantomime dances were given by the children, accompanied by Miss Hyde. They then gave a series of skips and rhythmical activities, all to music.

The second half of the program was presented by the students of Mr. and Mrs. D. Armand of Detroit. Ann Russell, looking like a doll herself, gave two readings, The Housekeeping Heart, and The little Rag Doll. Charlotte Sue and Leda Miller, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Miller, gracefully danced the Minuet in G. They have been studying under Mrs. Armand for a few months and show splendid development in rhythm study. Little Inez May Miller captured the audience with her dainty toe dance to "Love's Dream". Other numbers on the program were two readings by Norman Getsinger of Detroit; a student at the Armand studio there.

The 20-piece school orchestra offered several numbers at the beginning and close of the program. The orchestra shows fine work under the direction of Mr. Bach.

Forest Fire Prevention Campaign Started

An intensive forest fire campaign among school children in the "fire zone" of Michigan is being carried on this spring by the Department of Conservation with the cooperation of the various county school commissioners and city school superintendents.

Conservation officers are now making arrangements with school authorities. The teachers will read to their students brief essays on forest fire prevention, various methods of forest fire control, and how the students may aid in reducing the number of forest fires in Michigan.

A series of five brief essays has been prepared by the Educational Division of the Department, each one dealing with one particular phase of forest fire work. One essay will be read each morning for a school week.

In the essays the children are given a comprehensive description of how fires are located and fought and what measures the state is taking to prevent fires. The children are shown how they may take an active and important part in Michigan's effort to stop fires.

The Division of Field Administration of the Department believes that the educational campaign among school children may go a long way in preventing fires. Children are being asked to assume the responsibility of determining that camp fires are out before they are left alone and have to have ash receivers installed in the family automobile.

Old Swimming Hole Still Preferred by Boy Campers

"Oh! The old swimming hole! in the long lazy days, When the hum-drum of school made so many run-a-ways."

And the swimming hole is still the favorite summer pastime of the modern city boy, just as it was for the bare-foot boy of James Whitcomb Riley's day, according to records of what features of camp life boys like best, compiled by the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, which has given an outing to 12,000 city youths in the last 11 years.

Last season each boy at the camp was asked to name the two things he liked best and the two he disliked worst in the camp life. Swimming led all other "likes" with 66.9 per cent of the boys voting for it; while boating followed with 32 per cent; food, 23 per cent; sports, 23 per cent; Leaders, 20 per cent; and detail work gave pleasure to only 1.5 per cent. On "dislikes", 36 per cent of the boys expressed their hearty approval of roughing it by declaring that they disliked nothing in the camp routine, but 25 per cent reported detail work irksome, 22 per cent "cookee" duty, 17 per cent discipline, while only 7 per cent found the "interest hour" boring. The fact that 18 per cent disliked the early morning was attributed to youth's aversion to early rising rather than to bathing.

During the coming twelfth season the Fresh Air Camp will inaugurate a new system to give camp leaders a knowledge of what camp life may do for city boys. Instead of taking all boys for a two-week period, a group will be kept all summer and the same process followed with the same group for several seasons. Social histories well kept and compared with that of the short vacation boys, and in this way it is expected that valuable data for camp leaders and social workers may be obtained on the recreational, educational, and character building possibilities of camping.

Sponsored jointly by the University and the Student Christian Association of the University, the camp, located on Patterson Lake, 25 miles from Ann Arbor, has developed into one of the best equipped in the middle west. The camp itself has 180 acres, 60 being in hardwood timber, and is adjacent to the 1,400 acre tract presented the University by Col. Edwin S. George, of Detroit, in 1930. Co-operation with the natural science departments of the University gives the boys a museum collection to aid their nature study, a log building for a permanent museum being planned for erection this year. Planned also for the coming season is a zoo, where beaver, bear, opossum, deer, mink, fox, wood rats, birds and fish will be available for the young nature students.

"My ELECTROCHEF is simply a revelation!"

"I never knew that cooking could be such fun until I bought my new Electrochef. This modern range is so clean, so convenient, so different from ordinary stoves! Cooking with electric heat makes one think of pure SUNLIGHT... There is no smoke or soot to blacken utensils, to darken kitchen walls and curtains. A glowing wire in the center of a polished reflector furnishes only pure heat."

"Another nice thing about my Electrochef is the fact that it's easy to KEEP clean. The smooth surfaces of glistening porcelain are as easy to clean as a china dish. Simply wiping with a damp cloth restores the original luster. All corners are rounded, inside and out. There are no cracks or crevices anywhere to collect dirt. Even the round-cornered oven interior, finished in bright chromeplate, can be easily and quickly polished to its original brightness. My Electrochef will look new and sparkling for years!"

time-proved and reliable Chevrolet motor, which combines unequalled economy with smoothness, speed, quietness and flexibility

Raise that big, impressive Chevrolet hood! The fine, modern, six-cylinder engine underneath is one of the chief reasons why Chevrolet continues to be America's largest-selling automobile! For that engine is a six—and only a six, as Chevrolet builds it, combines both built-in smoothness and maximum economy. That engine is mechanically sound! Three and a half years of continuous improving, refining, and testing have made it as nearly perfect as it can be! That engine is thoroughly proved—Its basic design and construction have been tested and proved by billions of miles of service. That engine is up-to-date in every respect—It develops 60 horsepower—delivers a speed of from 65 to 70 miles an hour—and accelerates from a standstill to 35 miles an hour in less than 7 seconds. Its advantages are yours for as little as $445—Due to new reduced prices, the new Chevrolet Six now sells for one of the very lowest prices in the market.

No Sleeves Are Summer Feature

It's time to put away or cut off the long-sleeved winter school dresses and make ready for hot weather, isn't it? Even before mother has made up her mind to discard her spring coat the children are begging for sleeveless outfits in which they can throw balls and climb trees unhampered and without feeling too hot.

Collars are not recommended by the bureau specialists on children's garments. They are hot on a hot day and get in the way when a coat is put on. Simulated flat collars or simple binding are preferred as finishes for the neck. A yoke on a little girl's dress is just as pretty as a collar, and is much less bother. The armholes should be cut with care to make the dress shapely, but avoid binding or cramping the arm movements.

Front openings are emphasized for children of all ages so they can dress themselves without bothering older persons, and develop self-reliance.

Many Women Attend Achievement Day

Mrs. Joseph P. Hubbard of near Clarkston was one of the county leaders who attended the Oakland County Achievement Day program at Pontiac on Wednesday. Mrs. Hubbard has been leader of Pontiac district.

Mrs. Harold M. Vaughn, formerly of the village, led the community singing. Other features of the program included talks by Miss Elizabeth Weld, home demonstration agent, Dr. Irma Cross of Michigan State College, Mr. H. Avery, 4-H Clubs leader, and K. D. Bailey, County Agricultural Agent.

Women of the clubs throughout the county displayed the clothing they had made in a style show.

Spring Festival May 24 at W. C. School

The teachers and pupils of the Waterford Center School are busy planning and practicing for the May festival, which will be given at the school grounds Tuesday, May 24, at 1:30 p. m. Katherine Fetterly was chosen queen of the festival. There will be birds, flowers, butterflies, and bees, fairies, etc. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Virgin spent Wednesday in Detroit and called on Mrs. Virgin's mother, who has been ill for two years.

Chevrolet Increases Production Schedule

Chevrolet built 55,432 cars and trucks in April, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, announced recently.

This compares with 38,890 built in March and is the highest month's output so far into 1932, Mr. Knudsen said.

Total production of the new 1932 line of Chevrolet sixes since its introduction last winter is now in excess of 260,000 units, the Chevrolet head announced.

He stated that the April schedule was stepped up several times during the month, as commitments for cars were increased over the original estimates, and that Chevrolet dealers reported the sale at retail of 89.2 per cent more cars during the first twenty days of April than in the corresponding days of March.
