Back in the days following the Civil War, there was a widow in our village who deserves all the credit of the decorating for the first time the graves of the soldier dead in our community. She was Elizabeth Ann Vliet, widow of that brave soldier, Nelson Vliet, who died in a southern prison days when there were not fine gravel roads and paved streets, Mrs. Vliet gathered together flowers and flags and trudged to the cemetery to pay yearly tribute to the soldiers dead. And yearly this work drew more and more interest in the community and Mrs. Vliet carried on the work until she herself was laid to rest, wrapped in our flag as another brave soldier.

From the time of her death her sephine Smith, until last year, directed the work and gathered the flowers and flags unaided. At that time the American Legion helped in the services and they are now taking the work over. They will keep the list complete that has been so carefully compiled by this family of that sol-

The services Monday were in charge of the Legion and Mrs. Smith. The group wishes to thank Davies Floral Company and Cyrus Linabury for their fine donations and assistance in making the sixty bouquets for the graves. The grave of George Sibley, that last member of the ranks of the War of the Rebellion to pass to the Great Beyond in 1981, was decorated with a special memorial to this fine soldier.

Homage Paid on Memorial Day

Monday, May 30, 1932, marked another day on the calendar of memories on which homage was paid to our soldier dead and to dear friends and relatives who have gone to the great beyond.

This year the American Legion, in cooperation with Mrs. Josephine Smith, were in charge of the program and services. The Legion members, part of the school band and the scouts marched from Legion Hall to the Lake View Cemetery at 9:30 a. m. The Girl Scouts, led by Mrs. Smith, decorated the fifty-five soldiers' graves with beautiful bouquets. The Legion then observed the firing rites and the entire group then sang "America." Mr. Lee M. Clark read the roll of honor, naming all those who fought in some war and who have passed on. Reverend Irwin C. Johnson inspired the audience with beautiful thoughts of memorial to those dead in his speech at the services. The program closed, with the singing of the National Anthem.

Allied Group Meets At Bloomfield

A group of young folks from the village attended the semi-weekly meeting of the Allied Youth of Amer ica organization at Bloomfield Hills

last Saturday evening.

The meeting opened with the executive and business meeting. The club members were informed that the new club pin would soon be available, but that the pin would not be given to just any member who wished one. There will be formal initiation, including the giving of an oath to live up to the standards of the club in all ways and at all times. If any member should violate this eath, he will be expected to turn over his pin.

It was also decided at the meeting that Clarkston shall furnish the program for another meeting soon.

A new secretary was elected, and it was decided that the activities of the club extend into the summer months in full swing. The meeting adjourned and then the Clarkston quartette was presented.

The quartette consisted of Marvin Porritt, Robert Jones, Lewis Warden and Ralph Marshall. They offered three numbers which were highly successful and were asked to sing at the next inter-post meeting in De-

Groups Singing Divided into Classes at College Contest Held Farmers Day

The country church choir singing contest to be held at Michigan State College Friday, July 29, has been divided into two sections this year so choirs which have had relatively little training will not have to compete against choirs which have won prizes in previous years.

Choirs from country churches or those from churches in towns with less than 2,000 population are eligible morning, May 30. Both mother and to compete in the contest. Each choir baby are getting along splendidly. must have at least six members, who have sung regularly in the church

Groups which won first, second, or third prize in last year's contest will comprise Class A this year. Other choirs will compete in Class B. The prize money, obtained from the R. E. Olds Community singing fund, will be equally divided between the two classes. First prize in each case is

Each choir is required to sing two numbers, one of which may be selected by the choir leader. The number which must be sung by each Class A choir is 'Listen to the Lambs." Class B choirs will sing "The Sun Shall Be No More My Light by Day."

All the choirs will combine in a chorus to sing two selections in the Farmers' Day Program, July 29.

Those interested in entering this contest can get detailed information about the rules for entry and the basis for judging the choirs from the Director of Short Courses, Michigan State College.

Dorothea Bair, daughter of Wallace . Bair of Detroit, and Allen M. Fiske, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Fiske. were united in marriage Saturday evening at a lovely twilight ceremony it the home of the groom's parents on Orion Road.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend R. H. Prouse under an improvised white archway at one end of the living room, before a group of sixty relatives and friends. The arch way was banked with ferns, palms and baskets of white flowers. Tall white tapers in candelabra lighted either side of the archway. At eight o'clock the sounds of Lohengrin's Wedding March resounded as the wedding procession entered the room. Miss Louise Pierson of Detroit was at the piano and the violin obligato was played by

Mr. John Davis of Detroit. The bridal procession was led by Rev. Prouse, who took his stand in the archway. He was followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Lloyd: Sibley, and then came to bridesmaid, Miss. Wilma Bair of Detroit, sister of the bride. The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The bridal pair stood under a huge white wedding bell while the vows were spoken at the single ring ceremony.

The bride was gowned in modish white organdy, with a picture hat and accessories to match. She carried a shower bouquet of tea roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Wilma Bair wore a gown of pink organdy, with hat to match and carried a corsage of roses and narcissus.

A reception followed the ceremony and the guests viewed the display of the many lovely and useful gifts for the couple. Refreshments were serv-Colsed for the Year ed and the table was set for the bridal party. Waterford P. T. A. Elects New Officers

The Waterford P.-T. A. met on Thursday at the school house. A small attendance of people wos there, owing to the hard storm which came up at the time of the meeting. The P. T. A. is sponsoring a summer round-up which is a pre-school clinic, and will be held Monday, June 6, at the school house, at 9 o'clock.

The Club also is to go on a trip to Cranbrook and inspect the school and church there on Sunday, June 5th. Everyone interested is invited to go and are to assemble at the school house at 2 o'clock sharp.

There was some fine discussion of what would be of interest for the coming year. Each parent will be given a chance to send in ideas of ways to make the P. T. A. a very interesting and helpful organization for the coming year. This was the final meeting for the year, which has been a very busy and interesting one under the leadership of Mrs. George Kimball, Jr., and a committee for programs headed by Kenneth McVittie. The programs were veried and very instructive as well as interesting.

Sales of new automobiles in Michigan have taken a decided spurt in the past two weeks, according to records of the title division of the department of state. For the week ending May 28, slightly in excess of 4,300 automobile titles were issued by the department.

. The increase in application for title registrations became noticeable about May I and has been increasi ly since that time.

Home of Mystery Cult Found by Michigan Archeologists

Built with fortress-like strength, with caulted underground chambers and rooms paneled in hardwoods, a strange structure, believed to be the temple of one of the many mystery religions which flourished when Rome ruled the known world, has been excavated from the ruins of Dime, an ancient town in the Egyptian Fayoum, during the first season of work on the site by archeologists of the University

Another invident bringing back the personalities of one of the most excitin periods in history was the discovery in the ruins, lying side by side, of two coins, one of Cleopatra and the other of Octavius, the later emperor Augustus, who drove the exotic Egyptian queen from the throne upon which she had been placed by Julius Caesar.

Dime, located near the edge of the desert, is now only a huge mound, 680 yards long and 380 yards wide. Excavation shows, however, that it was for many centuries the site of a flourishing series of towns, each built upon the ruins of the one before. The Michigan scientists received permission of the Egyptian government recently to excavate the area and when the work is complete it is expected to picture the way in which the people of a typical small town lived in the days when Ptolemies and their Roman successors ruled over Egypt, the country which played to great a part

Very early in its history Dime was an island, surrounded by a vast lake, which is now shrunken to a small sheet of backish water far below the level of the town. Long before Alexander the Great conquered the known world the inhabitant worshipped the crocodile God and the Greeks named the place "the Island of Soknopaids," or "Sobek of the Island," after the

Dark rems mixed with light shades

Then white roses are in bloom 💌

Oh, their petals gleam and shine, Like sweet angels so divine.

There are flowers of every hue,

Seems to me is sometimes spun

From deepest scarlet to faintest blue

There are leaves of every hue,

And they all portray to you

Silver children of the moon,

And the golden of the sun

And those tiny souls on high

Winging far across the sky,

Feel a tingling in their breast,

When they settle on their nest;

Why we name them as we do,

And wishing vanities appeased,

Sport News

The Southern Oakland County League Track Meet was held on May 27 ford. The participating schools were South Lyons, Keego Harbor, New Hudson, Walled Lake, Milford, and

C. H. S. placed in the mile second. The school was represented by Harvey Porritt, who did an excellent piece of running, coming from tenth place to second. Farner took third place in the 440. Kelly tied for third in the pole vault.

Vallad tied for third place in the high jump. The meet was a success except for the small crowd. We hope for a larger crowd next year.

Senior News

The Seniors have been having quite bit of good practice writing poetry and are now in full realization of the value of good poetry. Mrs. Huttenlocher gave out topics upon which the students should write poems. They were to be original and the purpose for the study was to develop a finer appreciation of real good poetry, in making them realize the difficulty in writing good poetry.

Some of the poems were splendid and below are a few of the best ones.

Girl Scout Directors, who will ap noint people to help in this work are Mrs. R. C. Lunger, Miss M. Hines and Miss Aneta Harris.

Monday morning at 9 o'clock will be the "Summer Round-up", which is the clinic for all children who are entering school in September for the first time. All mothers are asked to come with the children as near as possible or else have them in the care of an older child. There will be two doctors and a dentist. Miss Berg, who is the county health nurse, is in charge of arrangements. There will be a doctor for the ear, eye, nose, throat, and one for the general health. Nurses accompany the doctors. Six local ladies have been asked to assist in this project. This is a fine opportunity to see that your child is in good shape to start out on his or her school career.

The pupils of Mae Beattie's class of Waterford Sunday School were taken by their teacher on a picnic to Williams Lake, where a good share of them went in swimming. Those who were not equipped with bathing suits "accidentally" fell in anyway. They enjoyed a weenie roast and marshmallows. Ball was played and all enjoyed the treat. Miss Aneta Harris helped Miss Beattie.

Sunday at Waterford is Full of Activities

Sunday afternoon the P. T. A. and anyone who is interested in school and children are to meet at the Waterford School and are to make a trip to Cranbrook Church and school, where one will see a very interesting school. Mrs. George, Kimball, Jr., and Mr. Kimball are arranging for the trip, which will be very instructive as well as interesting.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock is the baccalaureate service for the graduating class of the Waterford School. The service will be conducted by Rev. H. A. OPERATOR LOCATES DOG BY THE NAME OF BILE

It required only seven minutes for Miss Ethel Barlow, long dis. tance telephone operator in Dallas, Tex., to locate the owner of a fine pointer dog living somewhere between Sulphur Springs and Como. Tex. The operator was not informed of the name of the owner, but she was given the name of the dog. J. A. Wilkerson, deputy game warden in charge of the fish hatchery at Fair Park. Dallas, went hunting in East Texas. He came across a dog by the name of Bill, to which he became much attached. but he did not learn the name of the owner of the dog. After his return home, however, he decided he wanted to purchase Bill, so he explained his problem to the telephone operator. She was successful in locating the owner, and in no more time than it had taken Mr. Wilkerson to tell his story. A few minutes' conversation and the deal was closed, and John Dewberry, the former owner, dispatched Bill to Mr. Wilkerson.

LOCAL DOG AWARDED MICHIGAN MEDAL

"Buddy", a six-pound Pomeranian, owned by Mrs. Ella Ward, Genesee road, has been named the Michigan winner in the nation-wide contest, to determine the outstanding dog hero in every state.

Two selections are made annually in each state—on June 1 and December 1, by a jury of nationally known og lovers from nominations submit ted by dog owners in the previous six months. Courage and intelligence are the only factors in determining the prize winners, no consideration being given to breeding or appear-

"Buddy" won his medal for saving the life of his mistress when fire destroyed her home. Mrs. Ward told the story which brought "Buddy" his honor in these words: "I was sleeping alone in my house when I was awakened about 3:00 a. m. by the frantic barking of 'Buddy'. Being already nearly overcome by smoke. I thought the dog had gone mad. He continued to back and pull at the bedding until stepped out of bed. Then he seized my night clothing and pulled me toward the door. After rushing out and calling for help, I returned to the house and attempted to save some of the furnishings. I became confused in the smoke and was again guided to the outside door by 'Buddy'. I am confident that 'Buddy' saved my life for the house burned to the ground before help arrived."

Last December fourteen dogs in as many states received medals. Awards this year totaled twenty-one, seventeen of which went to dogs of no par-ticular breeding. —Mt. Morris Times.
