Miss Helen Beardsley, Laid to Rest Here

Miss Helen. Beardsley of Hersey, Michigan, passed away suddenly last Thursday evening, following a stroke and short paralytic illness, Miss Beardsley came to Clarkston on Thursday of last week in company with her mother, and brother, to visit her aunt, Miss Clara Foster, who is ill here. "She suffered a stroke about five o'clock on that afternoon and passed away at 11:30 that evening. Her body was taken to the Ogden Funeral Home from which place services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. J. W. Jacobus of Yassar officiated at the services and burial tock place in Lake View Cemetery

Miss Beardsley was well known in our vicinity, as she often visited Miss Foster.⁴ For years she has not been well.

She was born January 20, 1880, at Hersey: She was educated in the Hersey schools and then studied one year at Oberlin College in the department of music. She studied the following year at Ann Arbor and then completed her studies at the Conservatory of Music of Detroit. She became a talented musician and she was a splendid teacher of music until the last few years when her health was oo poorly.

In 1911 Miss Beardsley went to Tacoma, Washington and was engaged in Travelers' Aid work. Later she went to Richmond, Virginia, for the same work. She became ill while there and entered the tuberculosis sanatarium of Richmond. Later she was in a sanatarium at Detroit. For the past number of years she has been caring for her mother at Hersey.

Surviving are the following relatives: Her mother, Mrs. Adelaide L. Beardsley of Hersey; five brothers, Fred. F., of Hersey, Parker M., of Corvallis, Oregon, Ralph R., of Beaverton, Ray D., of Hersey, and Bruce of New York City; one sister, Mrs. Clara Kennedy of Laurium; her aunt, Miss Clara Foster, of Clarkston; cousins, George Beardsley, Mrs. Julian Gordan, and Miss Elizabeth and Romilly Prouse. It will be fine Beardsley of Springfield, Fred Foster to tune in at 4:30 Sunday afternoon of Detroit, Anna Seeley and Mrs. Edith Lyons of Holly, and Fred Beardsley of Oxford.

Pallbearers were four brothers, one nephew, John Beardsley, and Fred Foster. All of the near relatives were able to attend the funeral.

Helen Tindall, Bernice McFarland llaine Marshall, Adele Gardner, Elizabeth Belitz, and Lewis Warden attended the Epworth League Institute at Albion all last week, returning here Sunday. They report splendid, inspirational meetings and a wonderful time.

The group represented Clarkston as a part of the Flint District of the League. Lewis Warden, as 4th vice president of the District, served as recreation leader for songs, yells, etc., for the group, Six hundred young folks were in attendance at the Institute and Flint District brought home the cup for ef ficiency for work during the past year. The work is based on reports, church activities, charity work, results obtained in League work, etc., and it is a high honor to win this cup.

The group registered Monday morn ng, signed for their classes, were assigned to their homes and then began a week of study, worship, recreation. Each morning the 600 were inspired at morning watch service by the Reverend Doty. Classes were then held in all lines of religious and leadership work, including classes in prolibition, hymnology, Christian living, boy and girl relations, Bible studies, missions, and general training classes for League and Church work.

In addition to their studies, the young folks enjoyed a huge parade, a campfire meeting, a stonepile service on the campus, a roller skating party in the college gym, baseball games, tennis matches, and at the close of the week, a large reception. Miss Adele Gardner participated in a tennis match and gave her opponent some good stiff competition.

The group came home inspired, happy and tired.

Motorists Must answer Court Summons

Motorists who fail to answer court summonses for traffic violations, which are misdemeanors under state laws, are liable to have their drivers' licenses revoked.

In recent weeks, police departments in Detroit and other cities have been asked for the revocation of approximately 100 licenses weekly on this ground. The offences for which failure to appear in court, may result in loss of the right to drive are failure to stop at "through" streets and highways and driving at speeds faster than those allowed by cities and villages. After the secretary of state is no tified of the failure to appear in court a summons in such cases, it is mandatory on the department to revoke the license to operate a motor vehicle. To obtain a new license, the law requires that a new application that there be attached to the new application a court release for the previous alleged offence.

"This same desire for votes also leads to many high sounding pledges and promises. Such promises are easily made, and just as easily broken. The candidate who promises every-thing, usually gives nothing better than a poor administration.

"It is also this desire for votes which leads to promises of remuneration of one kind or another, usually in the form of appointments and positions. In such cases the successful candidate after election finds himself confronted with the obligation of either passing out appointments and favors regardless of qualifications and to the detriment of the interests of the public or of incurring the ill will of those who, by reason of the promise of reward, have helped to elect

"Shortly after making known my decision to run for the office of prósecuting attorney I was approached by. persons desiring political favors in exchange for services which they proposed to render in my campaign. I was also advised by certain groups and factions to ally myself with them without whose aid, I was informed, it would be impossible for me to be elected to office. It, therefore became necessary for me to decide between a campaign wherein the sole objective was election to office and a campaign which would permit me to retain my independence and to be able in the event of election to render the maximum service to the public. I deemed it advisable to choose the latter course. Only in so doing could I be in position to discharge the trust that the people of this county would place in me should they elect me to office. It is on this platform that I solicit your support.

Free Camp Facilities

Free use of camp buildings for boys and girls provided in nine of Michigan's state parks is proving more popular than ever this year, according to the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation, citing the large numbers of applications for use of the facilities now being received:

The camp buildings, equipped with stoves, tables seats and other facilities, are offered to properly supervised groups, free of charge, for two ed the limit permitted in this grade weeks period on a single permit. Last of milk. The cows are cleaner than year more than 16,000 people occupied the buildings.

The nine group camp buildings are located as follows:

Bay City State Park, six miles from Bay City; Walter J. Hayes State Park, seven miles from Brooklyn; Dodge Bros. State Park No. 9, a half mile from Rockwood; Dodge Bros. State Park No. 10, a mile from Highland; Interlochen State Park, a mile from Interlochen; Marquette State Park, three miles from Mar-

The smaller unit is built attached or near to the main barn and contains space for five or six stanchions if twenty-five cows are to be kept. The cows are fed grain in this unit which is used as a milking room.

The main barn at Lake City is cleaned three times a year. Grade A milk is produced. The bacterial count in the milk at no time has approachthe average lot kept in the old type of barn.

One farmer near Cadillac remodeled his barn at a cost of $100 to product Grade A milk and has met all the requirements of that grade for the past two years.

This type of barn is recommended by the agricultural engineering de partment at M. S. C., for use by farmers interested in economically equipping their buildings for the production of fluid milk.

H. RAY JUDY

H. Ray Judy, of Berkley, formally announced his entry into the race for sheriff of Oakland county on the republican ticket when his petitions were filed Thursday, June 30, with the county clerk.

Mr. Judy, who for the past eight years has been an active member of the Berkley police department, and who, before that, was engaged in business in West Virginia, his native state, and in Detroit before coming to Oakand county, and who also for a time engaged in building and selling homes in Oakland county, will be a candidate on the republican ticket.

"In making my announcement as a candidate for the republican nomination for sheriff, I want it understood that I am no politician. My business for the past eight years has been that of a practical law enforcement official. I believe the sheriff of this county should be just that," he stated. 🗽

It seems to me that the cost of the sheriff's department in this county is entirely too expensive, in fact, is all out of proportion to the cost of administering law enforcement in other counties of about the same population. I realize that our county is a summer playground for thousands of persons from Detroit and other sections out-. side of Oakland Co., requiring many deputies for special work, still I am convinced that there is room for great economies without cutting down on he force.

I would completely reorganize this department and equalize the pay of my men, giving all men like salaries for the same work instead of having salaries ranging from $1,200 to $3,000 per year for men doing like work and having like responsibility, as at present, . } I believe the people of Oakland

The Market Basket

The thought of French cuisine suggests an atmosphere of fine cooking, but to most persons it means also elaborate dishes which only a chef can achieve: However, there are many simple; nourishing, and inexpensive French dishes which any housewife can prepare, points out the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Depart ment of Agriculture, in its weekly dis-oussion of low-cost foods. The dishes of the homely French kitchen and the small establishment Besides putting a finishing touch to many delicious dishes, French sauces are especially for American families who budget their food. Economy and thrift are not new to French house-wives, who justly pride themselves on their ability to utilize every bit of edible, food in one appetizing dish or another. An illustration of this is their potau-feu, which means "pot on the fire," and which might be called the national dish of the the country, On the store of every French kitchen is a special not into which all sorts of leftovers Each one has special dishes to which go, Scraps of meat, bones, necks, gizzards and other parts of fowl, carefully selected vegetable waters, and bits of vegetables like, the outside stalks of celery, find their way into pot-au-feu. This soup is never watery and always has a good meat foundation; as the recipe in todays Market Basket shows. It frequently serves as the entire meal for a French peasant family.

Following the French custom, the clear broth may be served alone at the beginning of the dinner. A savory tomato sauce usually accompanies the meats, after which the vegetables are served, also alone. Because the soup is simmered, the shin meat, for which the recipe calls, is sweet flavored and very tender. Follow the directions for cooking carefully, advises the bureau, or the meat will be tough, the broth evaporated, and the vegetables mushy. Another soup that is typically

Some Americans may not share his enthusiasm, but it is a prime favorite with those who are fond of onions. Pageant Will Show Forward Strides in Farm and Home Life

A pageant, depicting steps in the mprovement of equipment to aid farm and home life during nearly, a century of Michigan rural develop-ment, will be an outstanding feature of the annual Farmers Day at M. S. C., on Friday, July 29.

From the days when the squirrel rifle was the chief bit of 'harvesting" machinery at the Michigan - homestead, and the ox cart was the height of luxury in transportation, down to the modern combine and the latest thing in gasoline buggies, flogers in the pageant will show briefy but graphically the tremendous progress made in the equipment of the farm. Night 134

No Federal Tax on Low Phone Calls

There is no federal tax on toll and long distance telephone calls that cost less than 50 cents each, or on local telephone calls, according to Mr. G. W. Harsch, manager in this area for the Michigan Bell Conipany.

Manager Mr. G. W. Harsch states that the local telephone office has had numbers of inquiries in that regard indicating that many persons do not understand clearly all the provisions of the new revenue act that was passed by congress and signed by President Hoover June 6. The provisions of the act became effective June 21.

The great volume of long distance telephone calls, he says, is to Detroit and other nearby points, the charges on the messages being so low that they are not affected by the act.
