Complete Plans for Clarkston Golf Meet

Close to Forty Contestants to Compete For Prizes

Final arrangements for the annual golf tournament among local residents next Sunday morning have been completed by the committee in charge, being released today. In order to facilitate the teeing off of each foursome and to avoid any necessity for waiting at the course, the members of each foursome will be listed below, along with the individual handicaps and the time they will start from No. 1 tee. It is especially requested that each contestant be ready to play when they are scheduled to go. Satisfactory arrangements have been concluded with the management of the Duck Lake Golf and Country Club, located 10 miles west of Clarkston on the White Lake Road.

There will be four prizes which will be awarded respectively to, (1) Low Net Score, (2) Runner-up, Net, (3) Low Score, and (4) Consolation, High Gross Score. All contestants are expected to comply with course rules, and in addition, one provision is made by the committee; any player's ball may be moved from a poor lie any place in the fairway, (always move the ball away from the green) but in no case may the ball be touched in the rough without penalty of one stroke. The American Legion is adding a prize to the list.

All handicaps were calculated by taking 75% of the difference between the player's acknowledged score and scratch score, which in this case is 85.

Raymond Miller, Jr., Weds Ypsilanti Girl

The marriage of Raymond E. Miller, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Miller of Clarkston, to Miss Hilda Pearl Bear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bear of Ypsilanti, was announced at the home of the parents of the groom on Saturday last. The announcement comes as a surprise to the friends and relatives of both the bride and groom, as the ceremony was performed privately and secretly in the parsonage of the Reverend Williamson at Bowling Green, Ohio, August 25.

Following the ceremony, the couple motored to Niagara Falls, where they spent a few days, returning to Ypsilanti where they will make their home and where the groom is employed with the Ford Motor Company. The couple spent the week-end at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Miller here. The groom formerly attended the Clarkston Schools.

John W. McMahon is Buried at Lake View

John W. McMahon, 76 years of age, and father of Mrs. Raymond E. Miller, Mrs. Judd Skarritt and Mrs. Fred Owen of Clarkston, died suddenly last Thursday morning at his home in Pontiac following a heart attack. Funeral services were held at the Ogden Funeral Home at 2:30 Saturday afternoon with Dr. Weldon F. Crossland of Pontiac officiating. Burial took place in Lake View Cemetery.

Mr. McMahon formerly resided in Clarkston and was well-known here. He was born in White Lake Township, December 11, 1855, and attended schools in that township. He was a member of the Methodist Church. He was married to May Yaeger on June 1, 1882, at Pontiac. She died January 12, 23. Mr. McMahon moved to Pontiac from Detroit three years ago.

He is survived by Mrs. R. E. Miller, Mrs. Fred Owen, Mrs. Judd Skarritt, Clarkston, Mrs. Roy Ackerson and Mrs. Albert Janks of Detroit, all daughters; Don J. McMahon of Pontiac, H. C. McMahon of Detroit, sons and the following brothers and sisters: Warren MacMahon of Flint, William McMahon of Portland, Oregon, Henry McMahon of Boston, Mrs. Minnie Schultz and Mrs. May Halstead of Owosso and Julia Baird of Lansing.

Football Dance Is Very Well Attended

The first benefit dance of the series of the season of the Clarkston Independent football team was very well attended last Friday evening when it was held at the Clarkston Opera House. An estimate of one hundred and forty present was given.

The music was donated by Louis "Tug" Borst and his ten sinchopaters and it was certainly good. The crowd was peppy and the floor excellent and everyone had a good time. Ward Dunston, manager, wants to thank everyone for their cooperation and especially the orchestra.

The next dance will be next Friday, September 30th.

Asa L. Kelley, 72, Dies in Pontiac

Asa Loren Kelley, 72 years old, a former resident of the village, passed away at his home at 1039 Oakland avenue, Pontiac, Saturday last at 5:15 p. m. following an illness of one week. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Kelley moved to Pontiac from here. He was a native of White Lake and was a retired farmer.

Asa Kelley leaves his widow, Mrs. Carrie E. Kelley, and the following children: Arthur J., of Clarkston; Dennis A., of Pontiac; Mrs. Ben Lawrey of Pontiac; Mrs. Otto Geliske, of Pontiac; and Mrs. David Scott, Imlay City. Ainsleys Enjoy Vacation Trip

Mr. Ray Ainsley, his father, W. C. Ainsley, and his aunt, Mrs. Grace De Mond, returned last Sunday to the village after spending a week vacationing at Muskegon Lake. They had a summer cottage at the lake, but made frequent sight-seeing trips out around that part of the state. They found splendid fishing. Among the places of interest which they visited were the State Park at Black Lake, a beautiful spot, and the Ocuqueo Falls on the Ocuqueo River.

The party became quite interested in beaver dams and made a study of several. They found one at the Valentine Creek that was between 175 and 200 feet long and more than seven feet high. There was a beaver house built in the dam and the workmanship of these little animals was marvelous. Mr. Ainsley has some splendid pictures of the dams.

When they visited at Atlanta they found a party drilling for oil. At the time they were there last week they had drilled down 1400 feet. They stated they had passed up the natural gas supply at a higher level and that they had found enough natural gas there to supply the entire community. But they were drilling for oil and expected quite a return. Sounds like the Ainsleys had a fine vacation trip.

Frank Yaeger Has Interesting Collection

Frank Yaeger, fine old gentleman who has lived in Clarkston perhaps longer than any other resident, weaves wonderful tales about his collection of iron work, pictures, war medals of his father's and reminiscences back to the olden days when men shod horses and automobiles were unknown.

Mr. Yaeger has a collection of picture easels on which rest his family portraits and other favorites. He was, as many will remember, a former owner and manager of a blacksmith shop which stood where Beattie Brothers now have a place of business. It was in this shop and later in his shop at home in which he made these easels. They are all wrought iron and are highly decorated with floral designs. On one stands the picture of the "Battle of Atlanta," under which is inscribed "Death of General James B. McPherson, July 22, 1864." Army of the Tennessee Engaged". This picture was copyrighted in 1888 and is a good reproduction of a war scene of the Civil War. The first eagle Mr. Yaeger made was when his son Fred was six years old, in 1893. On one eagle rests his grandfather's picture, and above the picture Mr. Yaeger has placed a horseshoe which he made in his grandfather's shop in New York many years ago.

On one wall of Mr. Yaeger's home hangs a framed photo of the old Clarkston band which is indeed a prize. It is taken in front of the old business block which burned completely in the spring of 1887. The photo was taken in 1885 and included in the picture is our Butler Holcomb. Others in the group will be remembered by many: A. R. Carran, John McKinney, Leman Allen, Wilson Vliet, Harvey Drescher, and Joe Jossman. The background shows very clearly A. R. Carran's Feed Store and Hardware, the village post office and Frank Walter's Store. Hitching posts can be seen along the sidewalk and, of course, there is no pavement. Another picture which was taken on the main street in the old days and which is very interesting was shown by Mr. Yaeger and is a scene of a "McCormick Day". On this day, there was great celebration and the street looked like a regular carnival. It seems that Mr. Carran would take orders from the farmers for their farm machinery and this would be given on given on a gala occasion to every farmer in person. The farmers, sometimes accompanied by their families would ride in to the village and call for their machinery. They would gather at the hardware store and Mr. Carran would always treat them to a big dinner at the hotel. Then they would all parade with new machinery and have a regular celebration on Main street. In the foreground of the picture may be seen Mr. Carran and also James Morrison, Mr. Carran's agent.

Some of the pieces of old furniture Mr. Yaeger has in his home are priceless, as for instance the beautiful organ which stands in the parlor. It is a hand carved solid walnut organ, still giving out lovely soft tones and is a work of art. Mr. Yaeger used to sit at this organ and play for the family. Another piece is a lovely hand carved solid walnut occasional table, and still another that attracted our interest was the old carpet chair which Mr. Yaeger says he bought for ten cents at an auction sale from the Ogden brothers' father's furniture.

Among Mr. Yaeger's other interesting collections are one of a salt formation which was made in the salt works in Meyers, New York, ten miles from Ithaca, and a collection of a dozen or so stuffed birds of different varieties. He has a group of war medals which his father had saved and included in this case is a "cat of nine tails", which was used to whip the prisoners in the olden days, and which was over 100 years old when it came into Mr. Yaeger's possession. Mr. Yaeger tells some very fascinating tales about the olden days and one gleams a picture of "when father was a boy".

Child Specialist Talks To P. T. A.

Belle Farley Murray, specialist in Child Care and Training of the Merrill-Palmer School of Motherhood of Detroit, spoke before the first fall meeting of the P. T. A. at the school Wednesday evening to a small group of parents.

Mrs. Iva M. Miller, president, led the business meeting and opened with a welcome back after vacation time. She presented Lewis Warden, who, accompanied by Miss Adele Gardner, sang two well-received numbers, "Kashmir Love Song" and "Home on the Range". The treasurer's report was then given by Mr. John Shaughnessy, who reported the balance of $20.10 in the treasury. It was announced by Mrs. Miller that this money would be used to supply milk for children in need of it and for the building of a lunch table to be used by the pupils at noon who carry their lunch. She appointed a committee of three to work with her on the problem. Mrs. John Shaughnessy will serve as chairman and Mrs. A. B. Wompole and Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk will assist. Frank Bach gave two beautiful violin solos and then Mrs. Miller presented Mrs. Murray.

Mrs. Murray's talk was an inspiring, guiding talk to both mothers and teachers. She stressed two main points: first, that every child is neglected unless he has sympathetic understanding adults as guides and is given two kinds of care: loving care and intelligent care; and second, that his physical needs must be met. She brought out the points that children are regular little mirrors and reflect as their models. They get a good start in life if they have good models; namely, parents and teachers. Mrs. Murray pointed out that today at our finger tips we have every available opportunity to study scientifically child care and that there is no behavior occurring in the child which does not have a cause. We must assemble good knowledge of how to handle this behavior. She also said that we must teach our children "how to think" instead of "what to think". Our job, she stated, is to nurture the child's innate capacities.

The program was concluded with two delightful duets by Miss Elsa Buchanan and Mrs. Charles Hutton.

Charles Campbell Village Visitor Saturday

Tells of Former Life Here; Has Wonderful Career

Charles Campbell, of 219 Josephine street, Detroit, called on friends in the village on Saturday last and fortunately stopped at the home of the editor, who was able to get him to tell the wonderful and fascinating story of his life in Clarkston and elsewhere.

Charles Campbell's father moved to Clarkston in 1856 and purchased the Tavern, the place now known as the Terrace, and which tavern he operated for some time. The boy Charles was brought up here and his father and mother are buried in the family lot in Lakeview Cemetery. Charles Campbell is the last one of his immediate family.

In 1863 he joined the 8th Michigan Cavalry in company with Dr. Robinson of Waterford and went off to war. During the first Morgantown raid he became ill and was sent home, arriving back in Clarkston in August of the same year. The following January he enlisted with the 9th Michigan Cavalry and joined the regiment at Nashville. After a second Morgan raid he joined General Sherman's ranks at Savannah, where he was a member of the Griffin Scouts. These Scouts were Sherman's escort and he remained with them until the close of the war, returning here in July.

Charles Campbell used to drive with the mail between here and Grand Blanc and Goodrich. Sometimes it was tough going and when it was too muddy, snowy or bad weather to drive a team and buggy, he would have to go on horseback. In the year 1864 he drove the bus, an old depot bus, with a team of horses, from the village to the depot and back, daily, which trip was a long and tough one. He knew every farmer within a twenty mile radius of Clarkston. He was married and settled in the village, but his son died at the age of two and his wife's death followed soon after.

He left here in 1879 and went to Newark, New Jersey, where he began to railroad on the old line of the Hoboken and Eastern Pennsylvania road. He began work there on the day in March when he was twenty years old.

Later, Mr. Campbell joined the staff on the Pennsylvania lines and while he was with that company he made a visit here at his old home and it was at this time his father sold the Tavern.

Mr. Campbell's next connection was with the Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad and he ran a local freight between Saginaw and Reed City until he went to work as a clerk at the old Hotel Standish in Detroit. He later left them and went traveling for a wholesale whiskey house out of Detroit. He relates many interesting experiences when on this job. His next work was as a deputy collector of customs in Detroit.

But railroading called to him and he went back to it for a while. He felt then that he was getting too old for the strenuous jobs of railroading and secured a job as special officer in the old Russell House of Detroit. Finally he accepted a position with the Engineering Department at the National Military Home at Dayton, Ohio, where he worked and made his home for ten years. He left there last May 6, moving to Detroit. He is living on his Civil War pension and is now enjoying life immensely when his "bum leg", which was injured while on his last railroad job, doesn't bother him too much.

Occasionally he calls in Clarkston. He was here last Memorial Day and met some of his old friends. He always visits with Amzi Dennis and Frank Yaeger, and considers Durand Ogden his special friend.

Enjoy Trip

Mr. and Mrs. David Teggardine, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McNaught of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McNaught of Glidden, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. William Damerel of Brooklyn, New York, enjoyed a two weeks vacation at St. Ignace recently, the Teggardines returning home Saturday last.

The group had a large cottage near St. Ignace at Silver Beach. They took several trips while there including one to Mackinac Island, one to the Snow Island, a big resort, and others to Newberry and Curtis. While on one of these by-trips they saw two deer in the road.

One item of special interest in their camping incidents was that of an immense beet. It was given to them and it took five hours of cooking to make it palatable. And then it served for a vegetable for two meals for the entire group—what a beet!

Aid Supper

The fourth division of the Ladies Aid of the M. B. Church served a splendid supper Wednesday evening to a large crowd. Mrs. Elizabeth Rockwell was chairman and the division netted $18.50.

Sports

LOOK IN ON THE TEAM

I was watching the team practice the other night and those that are out are sure working hard but it's a very small percentage of those bruisers that we see in the halls.

The boys will show their stuff September 30th when they play Keego Harbor on the home field with Mr. Garrison refereeing.

Looking around I saw several old faces: DeWitt Clinton, George Holmes, Jack Huntly, Harve Porritt, Tom Parnell, Lynn Rexford, Floyd Hursfall.

There were also quite a few new ones: Harry Edwards, Kenneth Evans, Ralph Grate, Stanley Irish, George Miller, Kenneth Marthy, Lloyd Patrick, Bob Reynolds, Clark Souly, Basil Tucker, Jack Wilds, Glenn Putnam.

There are nineteen eligible players in all. I hope, as the rest of you do, that we have a winning team.

Nearly all the players are green this year, there are only four of last year's regulars and three subs.

The line will be made up of last year's men with an entirely new back field.

At present Mr. Waters is looking for a quarter to take Buck's place, a line smasher for Sam Walter's and a punter and passer for Bob Kelly's place.

Some possibilities are: Ralph Grate, Kenneth Evans, George Holmes, Lloyd Patrick and Basil Tucker.

The late afternoon was spent in making interesting snap-shots of the different members of the family after which the party motored to Waterford where they enjoyed an inspection of the grocery store on Maple street of which Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lambertson are the new proprietors.

The guests enjoying the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Lambertson were: Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lambertson and the latter's mother, Mrs. R. J. Beattie of Waterford; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. SAVE WITH SIX CYLINDERS

—with more than six you sacrifice economy
—with less than six you sacrifice smoothness

IF YOU'RE careful about the way you spend your dollars for a low-priced car, you'll be extra-careful about the way you count cylinders. Because if you count more than six, you're not going to get the lowest all-round motoring cost that is saving so many thousands of dollars for Chevrolet owners every day.

If you count less than six—you won't be any better off from a dollars-and-cents standpoint. Six is the smallest number of cylinders you can have, and still get Chevrolet's built-in smoothness. And it's built-in smoothness that saves you money in so many ways! It protects the youth of the car—its stamina—and low maintenance cost. It guards against the insidious workings of excessive vibration. It holds repair bills down to rock-bottom.

But if the car is a Chevrolet Six—you'll SAVE! You'll enjoy the lowest all-round operating cost available in today's automobile market. And because of the simplicity of Chevrolet engine-design and the ease with which adjustments can be made, you'll save on repair-costs, too!

ESPECIALLY AFTER 5,000 MILES

What's even more important—you'll keep on saving, month after month, season after season. There's nothing temporary about Chevrolet economy. It lasts! Especially after 5,000—10,000—15,000 miles, when the cost of operating other low-priced cars goes up, Chevrolet's cost stays down. More economical to start with, Chevrolet is more economical still, after long usage!

Best of all: you can save with six cylinders, and not sacrifice one single thing that makes a car a pride to own and a pleasure to drive! You enjoy the delightful handling-ease of Free Wheeling in combination with Syncro-Mesh gear-shifting—the comfort of roomy Fisher bodies. The satisfaction of driving one of the smartest-looking cars on the road. And considering the fact that you can enjoy all these things, for such a low purchase price and such small monthly payments—do you honestly think it's wise—or economical—to keep that old car any longer?

HOME BURNING OPERATOR REMAINS AT SWITCHBOARD

Mrs. W. E. Hogan, night telephone operator at Louisville, Ga., was on switchboard duty when her house caught fire recently, and remained at the switchboard during the entire time her home was burning. When a relief operator arrived at the exchange after some time, Mrs. Hogan left to find her home completely destroyed.

Upon being notified that her house was ablaze, Mrs. Hogan reported the fire to the fire department, and made request for help to her neighbors. She then continued her duty, maintaining the tradition that the switchboard should never be deserted. "I realized, when the telephone was the agency through which I spread the alarm that my house was burning, just how important it is that service should never be interrupted," said Mrs. Hogan. "When neighbors told me over the wire that our home was in a full blaze and I felt that all was lost, I wanted to go, but I felt that if I left the switchboard I would be deserting my duty, and I just stayed."
