Pet and Doll Parade Draws Large Crowd

Little Billy Porritt Takes Sweepstakes, 92 Children in Parade

Ninety-two children participated in the Doll and Pet Parade which was one of the features in the recent Clarkston Fall Festival staged on Washington Street, on Friday last, and every sort of animal and doll was shown before the large crowd that gathered to see the parade.

Judges were Mr. Thomas Parker, Mr. Charles Roehm, and Mr. Walter Whitfield. Mr. Wilson, manager of the carnival, was in charge, and the parade formed on Church Street shortly after 4:30. Howard Newbanks led the parade with his base drum.

Little Billy Porritt, four years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Porritt, took sweepstakes and won the blanket. He was uniquely decorated with a pink crepe paper costume and he rode on a tricycle, similarly decorated and on which was placed a wire basket carrying a large cat, also decorated.

First honors for the girls' division were won by little Ruth Davies, two and one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farmer E. Davies. Little Ruth was dressed in a domino costume and pushed along her little doll buggy, which carried six tiny angora kittens, each with a large bow around its neck. Ruth made quite a hit. She received one dollar.

The Hubbard brothers, Eugene and Robert, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hubbard, won first place for the boys' section and were awarded a prize of one dollar for their entry, which was a large horse drawing two carts in which rode four boys.

Second place in the girls' division was given to Joan Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fuller, while King McIntyre took second place for the boys. He rode on a horse at the head of the parade and was attractively dressed as a knight of old. His horse also wore a plume and a banner on which was printed: "One of the King's Men". He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McIntyre.

The other prizes were awarded, in their order to the following boys and girls: Ruth Belitz, Billy O'Roark, Colleen Connolly, Richard Lawson, Barbara Andrews, Aldon Rouse, Doris Reynells, Bartlett Mann, Mazy Womple, Hugh Chessman, June Dunston, Jimmy McCollum, Inez May Miller, Rita Frushour, Vivian O'Roark.

The parade was indeed interesting. Accompanying the 92 children were 32 dolls, 15 cats or kittens, 1 white rat, 1 real baby, several horses, ponies, 1 frog, 2 goats, 6 pigeons, 12 rabbits, 14 dogs, 1 toy monkey, a doll over 70 years old, and one family of dolls of four generations.

Want to Know How to Win Tournaments?

Ask Guy Walter

When Guy A. Walter, village championship golf tournament winner, was questioned on the subject: "How do you win a golf tournament?" he replied that it was altogether a simple matter.

In the first place, stated Mr. Walter, one must fool his public and get a good handicap and a good start. "Now I, for instance," Mr. Walter continued, "I played with various villagers all summer—as George King, Cliff Waterbury, Jim Van Every, and many others—and I just dubbed along. You see, it's like this. I had them fooled. They thought I was a real dub. But I had this tournament in mind all summer and when it came time for it, I got my good handicap and—well, I UP AND PLAYED BALL!"

Yes, Guy Walter played ball. And how. And maybe he did have this tournament in mind as his goal of the summer. And maybe he did dub all summer. But anyhow—the fact of the matter is—he can't kid us. We know that he played a better game of golf Sunday than he ever has played in his life. And we also know that he wouldn't let George or Jim or Cliff or whoever beat him all summer, just kidding them along.

Mr. Walter stated that golf was a splendid diversion, not only as good exercise, but also as a wonderful tonic to take one's mind off business.

Award Pictures

Each week an enlargement is awarded by the Frank E. Welsh Studio of Pontiac through his local dealer, G. G. Huntly, Druggist, of the best snapshot finished there. The snap is also entered in the national $5,000 prize contest. This week's award went to Colleen Connolly. Watch the window for next week's award and enter your snaps in the contest.

Walter-Fisk Nuptials to be Tomorrow Night

Miss Helen Fisk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fisk of Walled Lake will be united in marriage to Russell E. Walter, son of Mrs. Jessie Walter at a simple church service at the Baptist Church in Walled Lake tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. The ceremony will be read by Rev. A. K. McRae, a former minister of the church.

The bride will be gowned in a modish gown of rose delicately trimmed with blue at the wrists and waist. She will wear a rose colored hat and will carry a shower bouquet of bride's pink rose buds and valley lilies.

Miss Sarah Fisk will attend her sister as bridesmaid and will be gowned in an attractive model of blue delicately trimmed in rose. She will carry a corsage of rose buds.

Ray Jarvis will serve Mr. Walter as best man and will accompany him to the altar where the single ring ceremony will be used. The altar will be beautifully banked and trimmed with fall flowers, ferns and palms. Following the ceremony there will be a reception in the dining room of the church, which will also be decorated with fall flowers.

The bridal couple will return to Clarkston early next week and plan to make their home here. Mr. Walter is owner and manager of Walter's Ice Company.

Summary of Game Laws Is Given Hunters

A summary of the game laws which must be observed are given out by the State Department of Conservation, with George R. Hogarth of Lansing, Michigan, Director. It is impossible to give all the laws in detail but many requests have been received for a brief summary of the laws.

Rev. C. E. Edwards to Fill Methodist Pulpit

Rev. C. E. Edwards, Methodist minister, will fill the pulpit of the local M. E. Church for the coming year, according to reports received here from the conference, which has been in session at Mt. Clemens. Rev. R. H. Prouse will leave here to take up the pastorate at Swartz Creek.

Rev. Edwards comes to us from Ironwood, Michigan.

Truck and Car Collide At Beach's Corner

One person was killed and others were injured in a serious accident last Friday evening near Beach's corner. Reports have it that there were two cars racing and they passed this large truck, one on either side.

The car, belonging to Dr. W. J. Benthin of Detroit, and being driven by a Mr. Lane, collided with the truck. An occupant of the car, Miss Frances Benthin, a sister of Dr. Benthin, and whose home was in Lake City, was fatally injured and died the next morning.

Ogden Ambulance Service responded to the call and took Dr. Benthin and Miss Frances Benthin to the General Hospital in Pontiac, where Miss Benthin died. The truck was a large transport truck, loaded with steel and iron, making the total weight of it ten tons. It was very badly damaged, and Dr. Benthin's Ford was almost demolished.

Pomona Grange

Holly is to entertain Oakland County Pomona Grange on October 4. It has been decided that the meeting shall be in the nature of a supper with election of officers and other business following. The affair, it is planned, is to be held in the dining room of the Presbyterian Church.

Carnival Draws Small Crowd; Village Gets $19

Approximately one thousand persons visited the Clarkston Fall Festival over the four-day period last week and participated in the regular carnival activities. The carnival was sponsored by a Mr. Wilson of the Walled Lake Amusement Park and in conjunction with the village Good Fellows Club, an organization of the business men of Clarkston for the purpose of welfare work.

The Good Fellows Club received $19.50, a percentage of the net income, which sum has been handed over to Mr. C. G. Huntly, treasurer. This money is to be used for welfare work and David McClelland, village president, is in charge of it.

Clarkston Home News

Mr. and Mrs. Mark McCollum spent Wednesday in Detroit.

Some of the reports we have from those young folks who have gone to the various colleges are that they are having a fine, busy time getting settled and started and a few of them are a little homesick. They all report that their work is starting off splendidly.

We heard over the radio the other day that the United States Treasury borrowed one hundred million dollars for 90 days at the lowest rate of interest in history—one fourth of one per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett entertained Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McFarland Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Louis F. Walter and Mrs. LeRoy Addis were guests at a bridge at the home of Mrs. Peter Addis of Holly on Friday afternoon of last week.

Wins Picture

Kenneth Skarritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judd Skarritt, has been awarded an enlargement of a snap-shot of himself and his little dog, as a prize in the local Master-Snap Shot Contest conducted by Tamlyn, The Camera Man, of Fenton, through his local dealers, Roy Addis and A. Jacober. The picture has been on display in Mr. Addis's window. These awards are also entered in the national $5,000 contest and your snaps may be entered through Mr. Addis of Mr. Jacober.

An award has just been given to Mrs. Earl Terry, also, with an enlargement of an adorable picture of her two daughters, Norma Grace and Shirley Mae. The picture is in Addis's window.

Attends Meeting

Mrs. W. E. Russell, Associate Matron of the local Order of Eastern Star, attended the meeting of the Oakland County Matron's Club at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Russell is treasurer of the county organization.

Newcomers

We join the village in welcoming the newcomers to our community. We are happy to have the following three families move here and we know that they will enjoy it here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. LaBoe have moved here from Detroit. They have purchased Mrs. David Newlands' house on North Main street and have had the south side, the larger part, all redecorated and refurnished. The house also has a new roofing. Mr. and Mrs. LaBoe are getting nicely settled. Mr. LaBoe is affiliated with the Washington National Insurance Company and works with the Board of Education.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Holm and family, three daughters and one son, have moved from Saginaw into Ben Miller's big brown house on North Main street. Their daughters are Mary, who is enrolled as a Junior in Clarkston High School, Margaret, a Sophomore at the High School, Betty, who is in the sixth grade, and they have one son, Burns, at home. The Holm family spent a summer at Clarkston several years ago and liked it here. We hope they enjoy making their residence in our village.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Dunning are nicely settled in their home at the corner of North Main and Miller road. Dr. Dunning has fully equipped an office in his home for all dental work.

Out At Sea

Mrs. Milton O. Clark made a short visit in San Francisco where she stopped, with her daughters, at the St. Frances Hotel. They are now on the ocean on the SS President Hoover on their way to join Mr. Clark in China, and the reports are that they are having a wonderful trip. Their first stop will be at Honolulu, and the next one at Yokohama, Japan, and from there they will go to Kobe, Japan. At each of these places they will make a short stay. They will stop at Shanghai and then will go on down to Hong Kong. The entire trip will take about three weeks. The SS President Hoover is beautifully equipped with swimming pool, there is a movie every evening, tea every afternoon, deck games, etc. The Clarks will make their home in Hong Kong for two years.

Independents To Meet Davison in First Game

The Clarkston Independents open the season Sunday against the strong Davison Club team. The game is expected to be exciting and will start at three o'clock at the High School football field, Clarkston.

The probable starting line-up will be: Croasdel and Beemer, ends; Chamberlain and Porritt, guards; Dunston and Daniels, tackles; Morrison, center; Jones, quarterback; Cross, right half; M. Porritt, left half; Boice, full back.

First string reserves include Kelly and Hall, backs; Larson, Holcomb, Ferguson, Hammond, Parnell, Clark, D. Beemer, W. Andrews, and S. Orr, linemen.

Thirty-Eight Take Part In Tournament

Guy A. Walter Wins First Place; Lou Chamberlain, Second

Thirty-eight local men took part in the Clarkston Golf Tournament Sunday morning at the Duck Lake Golf and Country Club and reports indicate that the crowd had a good time. The weather looked as if it might be damp at first, as the fog made everything wet when the first foursome drove off, but Old Man Sol soon showed up and dried things off, and the day turned out to be splendid. The course was in excellent condition, with the greens and fairways in fine shape.

Guy A. Walter took first prize with a net score of 78. Mr. Walter says that his game went exceptionally well Sunday morning and that never before, as near as he can recall, has he shot less than a 49 for nine holes. Sunday he had a 46 on the inside nine. He received his choice between a golf club, which was donated by the American Legion, or a half dozen Kro-Flite golf balls. He chose the latter and the club automatically went to Lou Chamberlain, who shot a net score of 80, ranking him second.

Third place went to Sherman Hall with a net score of 81 and four contestants tied for fourth place with net scores of 82. They were Ferris Miller, Louis Borst, Jim Bennett, and Ernie Church. Sherman Hall received two Fairway balls and each of the fourth place winners received one ball apiece.

The following gives the name of the player, his gross and net scores.

	Gross	Net
B. Chamberlain	112	92
R. Jones	104	84

T. Thomas	120	101
R. Alcer	109	94
L. L. Connolly	87	87
C. Sweet	124	101
C. E. Marsh	99	88

The handicaps this year were a little difficult to estimate, but these gross scores will be filed for reference for next year. Several have suggested that these village tournaments be planned for at various times during the season next year.

The winner in each foursome on the low net basis received a box of tees donated by the Alger Hardware and The Clarkston News jointly. The winners are as follows: Eddie Larson, Louis Borst, Jim Bennett, Sherman Hall, Guy A. Walter, Dan Winn, George Smith, Lou Chamberlain, L. L. Connolly, Clayton Marsh.

The committee wishes to express its appreciation of the manner in which the boys cooperated, including early entries, fair estimate of the respective golf scores, and appearance at the course on schedule Sunday morning.

Reception Planned For P. T. A. Meeting

Plans for a reception honoring the teachers of the Clarkston Schools and the new Methodist minister, Rev. Edwards, are being formulated by the local P. T. A. cabinet and committees. The reception is to be a community affair and the committees are asking the cooperation of both local churches and the villagers. The entire community is included in this reception. It will be at the time of the next regular P. T. A. meeting, the third Wednesday in October or October 19, and will be held at the high school. An interesting program is being arranged and further details will be given.

The committee composed of Mrs. A. B. Womple, Mrs. Elizabeth Rank, Mrs. John Shaughnessy and Mrs. Iva M. Miller has been working on plans for having the tables made for a luncheon for pupils who carry lunch at the school, and also on plans for supplying twenty-five bottles of milk per day for school children. It is planned that this milk will be supplied.

Looking in on the Team

by Don Beach Went over and watched the boys play Oxford to see what they looked like. Considering the fact that we are one of the smallest schools in class C and Oxford one of the largest, I didn't expect to see them win. Oxford had three teams on the field against our nineteen players.

The boys played a pretty nice game against these odds but it was easy to see that it was the first game that several of the boys had been in. Three of the few men left from last year were out of the game with minor injuries. During the game Tom Parnell and Dewitt Clinton both received injured arms.

Junior News

Our work in History is very interesting as it is an introduction to the American Revolution. We have been studying the Colonial period and had our monthly test on it early this week. Our work in Commercial Arithmetic has taken up checking cash accounts, fundamentals in bookkeeping and checking addition and subtraction by nines and elevens. We have been studying contracts, their elements, types of contracts and various definitions in Law. In Literature we are taking up the writers of the Revolutionary Period.

We have added a new student to our ranks. Mary Hogan comes to us from Saginaw.

Thrifty Worrying

It's great to worry! Sure—worry your market until it begins to give you business.

The business is there. People want commodities. They need service. But you have to keep telling them until they can no longer resist.

Wherever the buying level may be—you still need your share, don't you? How do you know what business there may be for you, unless you keep everlastingly stirring it up?

Put the law of averages to work for you. The Clarkston News offers you a good medium for reaching your potential customers every week.

Hoover Host to Michigan Scribes

President Sets New Precedent in Chatting With Editors

President Herbert Hoover set a new White House precedent a week ago when he spent slightly more than two hours in informal conversation with 22 Michigan editors.

Previous to that time, a group of newspapermen had never been able to interview the President informally. But so pleased was Mr. Hoover with the fact that the editors had come to Washington on their own initiative to aid him, that he dropped his mantle of formal dignity and for two hours chatted informally with the editors, most of whom were members of the Michigan Press association.

Floyd J. Miller of the Daily Tribune, Royal Oak, was the only editor to have much of a story in his paper about the trip this week. Well written, it brings some of the inspiration these men received to us. His story follows:

Twenty Michigan newspaper editors returned to their home towns today from a conference with President Hoover in Washington, thoroughly convinced that the one man most capable of leading this country the rest of the way out of the depression is Herbert Hoover.

In the historic Lincoln room of the White House, they heard from the President's own lips a thrilling, dramatic story of a great battle that exceeds in size and importance the gigantic struggle of the World War. It is a battle being fought on many fronts and by more men and women than were engaged in the World War. But its causes are as complex and its solving is many times more difficult than the conflict that dealt death more directly.

Briefly, one's impressions of the conference might be summed up as follows:

1. Herbert Hoover understands, probably better than any other one man, "what it is all about," the causes and nature of the depression.

2. He has done more than any other one man, already, to overcome the depression that has threatened to engulf the whole world.

3. He is thinking of the whole situation from the standpoint of a humanitarian, which he is; and very little from a political standpoint.

4. He radiates strength, cheerfulness and a quiet confidence that, silently, speaks more loudly than any words. One realizes that here in one of the world's biggest men; and that this bigness is evidenced in a powerful, straight-forward attack on the problems at hand, without egotism or worry about his own personal or political fortunes.

5. Not only does the average man have no idea of the size and importance of the great world economic battle, but even the captains, the majors and the narrow escapes from catastrophe are ignorant of many of its horrors, and the narrow escapes from catastrophe. Only the commander-in-chief must bear the brunt of all the problems, must be aware of all the dangers.

Now one might almost say, on reading these statements, that perhaps the writer had been unduly hypnotized by a great orator, or dazzled by the lights of great office. Not after twenty-five years of newspaper work that previously had included interviews with three other Presidents of the United States, Roosevelt, Wilson and Taft, with near-Presidents like William Jennings Bryan and General Leonard Wood and many others of political or financial greatness. No, a great man is the easiest to deal with, the most frank and truthful in his statements. There was no oratory, no pounding on the table in an effort to "convince" us of something.

In a way it is unfortunate that the rules absolutely forbid one to quote a President, directly or indirectly, on such an occasion. Because of the great importance of his every word, only statements that are given out in writing to the entire nation can be quoted.

On the other hand, the absolute confidence in this group of twenty Michigan newspapermen allowed him to drop the curtain of formality and necessary official secrecy. It was as though we were taken personally to the very front trenches of a great battle, where we could see and hear all without being killed. We learned of great deeds of heroism; too, we learned of dirty treason by many who pose as our business leaders or as loyal Americans in the ranks. There is plenty of yellow in the backbones of this country. Its workings are a stab at the heart of every leader and President Hoover displayed more feeling over this than over any of the other blows which he has had to withstand. Like Caesar, amazed at the duplicity of his old friend Brutus, Herbert Hoover has been deeply grieved at the double dealing of those Americans whose actions to save their own financial skin might have wrecked the nation.

Herbert Hoover speaks with feeling? Yes, that too was one of the surprises of the conference. Somehow we have been led to regard him as an austere man, too much of an engineering machine and perhaps too little of a real human being. That false impression was wiped out instantly for all of us who saw his ready smile who appreciated the ease with which he chased away our own lack of ease at the beginning of the conference. We sat around his study like any group of friends, and talked things over.

Mrs. Hoover sat with us, adding to the informality of the occasion by her gracious presence. She is just as real a human being as her husband, and in her interested following of every word one could read evidence of her great assistance to her life companion.

No, Herbert Hoover is far from being hard to approach. We believe he is as human as any of our recent Presidents. But this can be touched on later.

This group went to see the President as a representation of the Republican editors of the smaller papers of Michigan. Eighteen represented weekly papers and two of us were from dailies. The Daily Tribune was the largest paper represented, but our group included some of the outstanding writers, party leaders and community leaders in the state.

So far as I know, not a man is Republican-inclined for any other reason than that he honestly and sincerely believes that way. He can change his own opinion and that of his party tomorrow. Every man in the party, I believe, is in complete charge of the editorial policy of his newspaper and not responsible to anyone or anything except his own judgment and conscience.

Our visit to the White House was the inspiration of George R. Averill, publisher of the Birmingham Eclectic. He talked with others of us and we agreed that it would provide a great service to our readers if we could go direct to Washington and have a talk with the President. We were not so much concerned with party success as with preserving and improving the nation. We wanted to see this man in the White House close at hand. We wanted to hear him tell us his side of the story, and get as near as possible to the center of this great economic and political maze.

We succeeded wonderfully well. But there was an astonishing lack of political tone to the conference. I don't remember whether our chairman even mentioned that we were all Republicans, although the President knew it, of course. But at any rate, he did not talk to us as members of a certain political party, intent only on getting or holding control. He spoke to us as American citizens, who by the very nature of our professions, must work for the success of all our communities and not primarily for that of any political party.

The President paid liberal tribute to the Democrats in Congress who worked with their Republican colleagues to stem the tide of the economic deluge. He criticized groups of both parties who acted in stupid or selfish ways. But he had only a few words for criticism or vain regrets. His attention is centered on the battle of today and tomorrow.

Improved equipment enabled the University of Michigan heating plant to heat 11.5% more space in 1931 than in 1930, with a saving of 2,800 tons of coal, and saved an estimated total of $28,500 for heat, light, power and hot water.

Group Quits Golf to Kill Snake and Lizzard

One of the foursomes of Clarkston's Sunday golf tournament had a great time when they espied a snake swallowing a lizzard.

The boys were Robert Jones, Eddie Larion, John Visgatis and Bruce Chamberlain. They were walking along one fairway when one of them noticed this snake. The snake was a nice big fat one, approximately three feet long. It was gliding along the ground at a rapid rate with about one foot of the forepart of the body and the head straight up in the air. It was in the act of swallowing a nice juicy lizzard.

So Eddie and Bob got out the first clubs they could lay their hands on, the result being that Bob grabbed a mashie niblic and Eddie a putter. They went after the snake and finally managed—not only to cut the snake's head off—but also to break their clubs. They then got the lizzard out of the snake, and found it unharmed and wiggling, and killed it.

According to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, it rains inside the Goodyear Zeppelin Dock at Akron, Ohio (where the USS Macon is being built), when it is clear outside. The dock is so large (45,000,000 cubic feet) that sudden changes of temperatures cause clouds to form inside the hanger and rain falls.

USS Ranger

According to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, when the aircraft carrier Ranger, now under construction, joins the fleet in 1934, she will be the eighth vessel to carry that name. The first Ranger was built in 1777 and the seventh never entered the Navy in completed form. She was a battle cruiser, a type of which the Navy has none, and was scrapped under the provisions of the Washington Treaty. The new carrier is 727 feet long at the water-line and is of 13,800 tons displacement.

In Probate Court

The Probate Court for the County of Oakland.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate in the City of Pontiac, in said County, on the 27th day of September A. D. 1932.

Present: Hon. Dan A. McGaffey, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of William B. Grant Deceased, George D. King, administrator of said estate, having filed in said court a petition praying that the time for the presentation of claims against said estate be limited and that a time and place be appointed to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against said deceased by and before said court.

It is Ordered, that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present claims against said estate.

It is Further Ordered, that the sixth day of February 1933, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for the examination and adjustment of all claims against said deceased.

DAN A. MCGAFFEY,
Judge of Probate.

Is Paint Heavy?

According to the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, it takes approximately 250 gallons of anti-corrosive paint and 230 gallons of anti-fouling paint to paint the bottom of the Arizona when she goes into dry-dock, and about 175 gallons of grey to give her one coat above the water line. It has been estimated that after a battleship has been in commission two or three years, the weight of the paint alone is five hundred tons. Quite a lot of paint for a lady to wear around.

It Costs Less than a Stamp

Yes—you spend more for the postage stamp, bought so casually for the mailing of a letter, than you do for your copy of The Clarkston News each week!

How many avenues of pleasure and economy are open to you at such a slight cost?

PLEASURE—four pages full of community news You can keep intelligently informed on the affairs of your home town and the surroundings by reading The Clarkston News regularly. Read the good news about your friends and get acquainted with those who are strangers to you thru its columns. School, church and organization news is all there for you to read.

ECONOMY—When local merchants have real bargains they tell you about them in their advertisements. When your neighbor has something to sell, he uses the Want Ad Column. When you want to buy or sell a commodity you will find those same Want Ads an inexpensive, effective medium.

Send in your subscription now. You will find the weekly contribution the paper makes, is worth much more than the $1.00 a year it costs you.

For Sale, Rent, Trade Or—What Have You?

It's really good to have "long" ears now and then, because, once in a while one hears something that is just a little bit different. And this time the editor's "long ears" brought her in contact with a bit of humor that sent the blues chasing and that has afforded many a secret chuckle since. We cannot help but share this with our readers. And so the story goes:

The other day Dot McFarland McCollum returned home from a trip and came in contact with our friend and neighbor, Casper Warden. (You see, we're going to get personal.) And the conversation was such and how:

"Why, hell-o, Cas. How are you?"

"Fine, Dot, and how are you?"

"Splendid. But for heaven's sake! About three years ago I told you, and you agreed, that you should have sold that hat of yours before you lost money on it. And here you are, still wearing it."

"Uh-huh. Gee, I did forget it. Well, what can we do about it? Let's see. Can we put on some kind of a campaign to sell his antique hat, but we are going to beat him to it and let you all know so that you can get in on the first bidding.

The hat is a lovely model, guaranteed to give the wearer good ventilation. It is splendidly ill-shaped, and has the best looking ruffled rim. However, Cas did mention to Dot that it must not be worn in the rain, as one might get "water in the belfry". We would judge the hat to be about a number nine and it sits so comfortably on one's ears. You know, you couldn't afford to pass up a bargain like this—especially in this day when antiques are in the fore.

Waterford Center

The next regular meeting of the W. C. P. T. A. will be held at the school on Friday evening October 7. After the short business meeting bridge, 500 and Pedro will be played. Prizes will be awarded and a small fee will be charged. Everyone is invited to attend. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Elder and Mr. and Mrs. Gil Roddewig are the committee in charge of arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Ross of Oxford visited their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bird last Sunday.

Jess Watson and wife and Mrs. Charles Watson and daughter, Shirley are moving to the Cheal residence on State avenue for the winter.

Mrs. DeMatt Gilbo and daughter Marian visited Mrs. Gilbo's mother, Mrs. Amy Whitcomb on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Al Pierson from Detroit were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Krenz.

Dr. Monroe and Dr. Volk assisted by County nurses Miss Murphy and Miss Roy gave toxoid serum for diphtheria to 39 children at Waterford Center school at the beginning of the school term.

Waterford Center school is well attended this year. The enrollment to date is 157 pupils.

Orchard and Pine Lakes in Oakland County will remain closed to hunting and trapping for another five years. The Conservation Commission at its September meeting voted to renew the closing order which had expired. The two lakes and the areas immediately surrounding them are closed to all hunting and trapping.

Francis has recently launched two new submarines, the Psyche and Sulfane. Both boats are in the 600 ton category displacing 630 tons on the surface and 800 tons under water. They are 213 feet long. Instead of moving entirely to larger sizes with great cruising ranges and heavier armament, the French have in the main returned to the type of submarine that was popular near the close of the war.—Navy News.
