William Henry Chilman Passes Suddenly Here

William Henry Chilman, father of Mrs. C. J. Cheeseman, died suddenly at the home of his daughter here from an internal hemorrhage early Sunday morning.

Mr. Chilman, who was 79 years of age, was born in Hamilton, Ontario, but had lived in Detroit and had spent his summers in Clarkston for the past 42 years. He had been married 54 years. For a period of thirty years Mr. Chilman was in the employ of the First National Bank of Detroit. Two years ago this October 11 he underwent an operation at Ann Arbor for cancer of the throat. The operation was performed by the noted Dr. Firstenberg and was a remarkable feat. Mr. Chilman has breathed through an opening at the base of the neck since, as the entire interior of the throat was removed. Since that time, however, his health has steadily failed.

He is survived by his wife, Emma Jane, his daughter, Mrs. C. J. Cheeseman, and two sons, Albert A. and William S., both of Detroit.

Funeral services were held from the residence of William S. Chilman at 2916 Glynn, Court, Detroit, on Tuesday of this week, with burial in Roseland Cemetery. Pallbearers included three friends from the First National Bank of Detroit, George Hoppin, Vice President, Mr. Patterson, and Mr. McKinney, and Mr. Daughtry, Mr. Frederick Coleman and Mr. John Townsend, all of Detroit.

Bandit Makes Series of Robberies on Dixie

Hunt's Garage, Beach's Inn, Massey's are Victims

A lone bandit performed a series of robberies and holdups on the Dixie Highway about daylight Monday morning and paid for it with his life.

His tour began at the White Tower Lunch Room, 142 North Saginaw, Pontiac, where he robbed the cash drawer of its contents, an unlearned sum, and took the counter man's personal money, $4.00 in bills. He then stated: "I'm going to rob everybody in this damned town until I get enough money. I'm hungry. So long."

He proceeded down the Dixie while Pontiac authorities were investigating this robbery and stopped at the Waterford Service Garage, belonging to William D. Hunt. The night attend ant, Frank Cooper, was sweeping the office when the bandit's car stopped. Mr. Cooper opened the door to ask him what he wanted when the bandit stuck his gun in Cooper's ribs and said:

"Back up. I want your money."

"You're working rather early, aren't you son?" replied Mr. Cooper.

"Shut up. I'd work faster if I had another set of hands. Give me your money," responded the bandit.

He proceeded to rob the garage of a sum in the neighborhood of $19 or $20.

A few minutes later, shortly after six o'clock, he entered Beach's Inn at the junction of the Dixie and M-15. Dave Denton and Edwin Sarvis were alone in the place. The bandit soon made it plain that he wanted money and armed, robbed the place of about $18.00. Mr. Frank Cooper from Waterford Service Garage had, in the meantime, followed him down the Dixie, keeping a safe distance behind. As soon as he left Beach's with his roll of money still growing, the bandit drove on down the Dixie toward Flint.

Edwin Sarvis hopped in Don Beach's new Ford V-8 and gave chase closely behind Mr. Cooper. They watched him enter Massey's at Austin Corners, at which place he secured between $15.00 and $18.00. Sarvis did not know who was in the second car, and thought that perhaps it might be a second bandit, keeping watch. It was Mr. Cooper. Sarvis however, did creep up close enough to the car while it was parked at Austin Corners to take down the license number. Officials later found the car to be a stolen one.

From Austin Corners both Sarvis and Cooper kept close to the bandit giving him a speedy chase. At Grand Blanc Sarvis called authorities. Cooper continued to follow and kept his eye on him until he was captured in Flint. The State Police had been notified of the robberies and had broadcast a description of the bandit and his car. State and Flint police were waiting for him at the southern limits of Flint.

The bandit refused to stop and fired two shots. A gun battle ensued, in which the bandit, unidentified, was killed, Patrolman Herbert Fitzgerald, was injured, and three bystanders who were attracted by the first shot, were also injured.

Mr. Cooper, Mr. Sarvis, Mr. Denton and Mr. Massey were all called to the hospital in Flint to identify the bandit.

Good News

"The Annalist", one of the most conservative of economic journals reviewing the trend of business, at last reports a definite increase in business activity.

A spectacular increase in cotton consumption together with increased consumption of wool and silk, an increase in the use of electric power and increased freight car loadings have raised the business index from a low of 51.7 in July to 54.0 for August.

The trend should continue upward since many people will realize that never again may they see the present bargains in merchandise, many items of which are selling at retail for less than the cost of production.

"DID YOU KNOW"

Mozart wrote the overture to one of his operas the night before the opening performance, keeping awake by drinking coffee?

Marl Digging Demonstration

The method of excavating marl using the Musselman bucket is to be demonstrated at two places in Oakland County during the week of October 11-14th. The demonstration is sponsored by the Agricultural Engineering Department of the Michigan State College and the County Agricultural Agent, K. D. Bailey. The schedule for the demonstration is as follows:

October 11-12th—Russell Maybee, 2 miles Southeast of Clarkston.
October 13-14th—Ray Bradford, 1 1/2 miles East of Oxford.

The demonstrations will last two days, with a meeting scheduled for the afternoon of the second day. The first day the outfit will be set up and the marl bed opened up.

Marl is used as a substitute for limestone in correcting soil acidity, this being essential for the production of many crops. Oakland County is fortunate in having hundreds of deposits, many of which have been opened. Included among these are deposits owned by C. J. Lane, Holly; L. J. Mitchell, Holly; Robert Wilder, Ortonville; E. V. Bailey, Clarkston; Lewis Prince, Highland; Levi Mitchell, Holly; George Haack, South Lyon; Standard Gravel Co., New Hudson; B. A. Holden, Wixom; Roy Bradford, Oxford.

Guard That Gun!

While a quarter of a million shot guns banging away for the next two months in Michigan's woods, fields and marshes will cause some unavoidable accidents, it is possible to keep the accident rate at a minimum if every hunter takes the proper precautions, according to the Department of Conservation.

For several years the Department has been keeping statistics concerning hunting accidents and the figures have offered explanations as to why most hunting accidents occur.

Among the suggestions given by the Department for proper handling of guns are:
'Carry your gun over the fence with you, with the barrel pointed away from yourself and others.'
'If your gun falls on the ground or touches water make certain the barrel is clear before you fire it.'
'A gun lying on the bottom of the boat tempts an accident.'
'Make certain no other human is in the line of fire.'

Good News

'The Annalist', one of the most conservative of economic journals reviewing the trend of business, at last reports a definite increase in business activity.
A spectacular increase in cotton consumption together with increased consumption of wool and silk, an increase in the use of electric power and increased freight car loadings have raised the business index from a low of 51.7 in July to 54.0 for August. September seems to have held and added to these gains.
The trend should continue upward since many people will realize that never again may they see the present bargains in merchandise, many items of which are selling at retail for less than the cost of production.

Why Is a Woman Like a Newspaper?

- This reason why women are like newspapers, given by Mrs. Bruce Palmer, a subscriber, won the prize, a six dollar subscription to the newspaper, in a recent contest held by the Redding (Cal.) Courier Free-Press:
'Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's.'
Other answers sent in were:
'Because their work is never done.'
'Because both are tactful, desirable, interesting and indispensable.'
'Because they have forms.'
'Because they have bold faced types.'
'Because they are easy to read.'
'Because they are well worth looking over.'
'Because back numbers are not in demand.'
'Because they are not afraid to speak their minds.'
'Because if they know anything they usually tell it.'
'Because they always have the last word.'
'Because they carry the news wherever they go.'
'Because they have a great deal of influence.'
'You may often disagree with them but you can't get along without them.'
