Clarkston P. T. A. Meets Wednesday Evening

The Clarkston P. T. A. met Wednesday evening in the High School auditorium with a large attendance. Before the business meeting opened the audience was favored with a few selections by the school orchestra. This musical treat always puts pep into the meeting that follows. Th ollowing officers were elected;

President-Mrs. Elizabeth Ronk. Vice-President—Virginia Forge. Recording Secretary—Eva Dorr. Cor. Secretary Ethel Shaughnessy. Treas.—Mrs. Edward Lee Porritt.

After the business meeting a fine gram was given. Mrs Ray Clark acted as chairman. A Thanksgiving number was given by Mrs. Hutton's room, introduced by Louise Newman. The Girls' Glee club rendered two selections, "That is Gene" and "The Prayer of Thanksgiving."

Mrs. Rockwell's room, grades 3 and 4, introduced by Ann Russell. A speech of welcome by Laverne Hoyt. A song, "Thanksgiving Praise," by the group. A recitation, "The Pilgrim Fathers," by Betty Ash "The Pilgrim Maidens," by Mary Craven. A song,
"Little Pilgrim Maidens," by four girls, Mary Craven, Elaine Gravilla, Ann Russell and Betty Ash.

A Thanksgiving play was well enacted by Betty Beach, Stanley Perrin, Alvin Beardslee, Warner Smith, Byron Miller, Phyllis Walter, Helen Howe, Billie O'Roark, Mazie Wompole, Inez Mae Miller, Barbara Andrews and Carmen Clark.

A dance of the Four Winds by Inez Mae Miller. Those representing the winds were Mazie, Wompole, Inez Mae Miller, Barbara Andrews and Carmen Clark.

"Thankful Sambo" was well given by the boys. A duet, "Mothers," by Marjorie and Beverly McFarland.

Mrs. Beardslee's room, accompanied by Mrs. Louis Walter and introduced by Larry Newman, presented a tableau, "America the Beautiful." This was depicted in three scenes. In the first scene the five girls who appeared were Kathryn Elliott, Marilyn the best talent that Broadway, Holly-Tucker, Ina Rouse, June Taylor and scene represented 'Pilgrims Konzen, Burton Steiner and Ray Gradate. villa. # CLARKSTON P. T. A. TO SPONSOR PARTY

On Dec. 5 the Clarkston P. T. A. will give a bridge party. This party will be in the evening so the men can attend. We have not found out whether the women think they can beat their husbands or just can't play without them. Anyway it behooves the men to practice a bit.

A lot more details next week.

COMMENT CRITICISM

It never seems cold until the state starts erecting its snow fences.

From now until Chistmas the peak of buying will be reached. And from now until Christmas every merchant if he intends to do his share of selling, should advertise. The Detroit Edison Company has increased their advertising, at least for the Christmas season.

Do not forget the Red Cross.

NRA will be more of a success when you start buying the things you need, Like any other contract, this movement needs two contracting parties, the seller and the buyer.

Things are kind of quiet in town this week. No "big" hunting stories. Cheer up, though, the boys will be back shortly with some good tales for the coming year.

It has been said that nothing travels like bad news. Personally we doubt the statement. We have never seen news travel any faster than a notice of payment of deposits being made available by a bank-just any bank. Every large daily in the state has a story about the Detroit banks making a payment this week. Every story concerning good news of our bank has been copied in every nearby paper. Of all forms, of investments, money deposited in banks ranks nearest the top, even in times of bank holidays.

Chevrolet Sales Increase 175 Per Cent in October

Retail sales reported by Chevrolet lealers for the first ten months of the year exceeded all estimates and projections made by executives of the company, W. E. Holler, general sales manager, announced today. Sales for the month just ended reached 50,988 new cars and trucks, by far the best October since 1929. The figure compares with 58,000 in September and 18,547 in October last year, Mr. Holler stated. This October was 175 per cent better than last.

Ten months' sales this year dealers reported as totaling 550,816 new cars and trucks, compared with 354,517 in the comparable period last year, a gain of 55.4 per cent, Mr. Holler announced.

"At this time last year," Mr. Holler stated, "we set a quota of. 450,000 new cars and trucks for 1933. We felt at that time that the quota f anything, was on the liberal side, because we sold only about 378,000 units in 1932, and

"But our 1933 quota was met in mid-summer, and on August I we moved it to 508,000 cars and trucks. This figure was so far exceeded by the end of October that we stand an excellent chance of selling close to 600,000 units before the end of 1933. "October sales showed surprising strength in all parts of the country, and went considerably ahead of our projection for the month. Field stocks of new cars are now at a low point, and used stocks also were reduced in

Friends of Ralph W. Smith, former local pilot, will be interested to know that Neil Brackstone, manager of the Pontiac Municipal Airport, received a etter from him on Tuesday. He is with the Byrd Antarctic Expedition and has arrived at Panama. Smith wrote that the next point would be Wellington, New Zealand, and he would be pleased to receive letters addressed in care of the Byrd Expedition at that point. Let us get busy and surprise Ralph with letters from this locality.

office. Prediction has often been made in recent years that the time will come when business will be decentralized and the skyscraper will be no more: when-the executive will live in the country and his workers will be scattered where needed; and when organization and adequate communication will permit of such remote

Fulton Oursler, the author, traveler, music critic, playwright, editor of the magazine Liberty and editorin-chief of seven other magazines, is daily giving a working demonstration of the practicability of regularly carrying on his business and direct ing the activities of his subordinates from a distance of several hundred miles. And it is a convincing demonstration.

Directs Magazine by Wire Mr. Oursler realizes that he is a bit ahead of his times, but his experience this year has proved, to him at least, that he is not so far ahead as many people might believe. What has made his experiment a success is the teletypewriter exchange service of the Bell System. For, by its means, he is able to live in Falmouth, Mass., on the shores of Cape Cod overlooking Buzzards Bay, and direct his publications in New York He does this entirely by teletype-Twice a day regularly, and sometimes oftener, he sits at his machine and "talks" with his New York office, handling the many details of his job with all the facility of personal contact. Although he is 250 miles from his office, by the use of the teletypewriter it is as near to him as the corner of the sun porch which his secretaries use for an offices .

Mr. Oursier declares, with emphasis, that this is the only life for a job like his. But he adds that it couldn't be done without the teletypewriter service which carries his messages back and forth, and also furnishes that important feature— a written record of the entire com-

the teletypewriter a means changing the whole structure of business.

It was early in 1933 that Mr. Oursler began what was then purely an experiment but which he now regards as a complete success. All he needs for personal contact is to visit New York about every fortnight or so and close up such matters as demand personal attention, and also have a visit with his own boss, Ber-

narr MacFadden. Operates Without Attendant

"Like all writing men, Mr. Oursler gets many of his ideas at a time of day or night when most people are not thinking of work. Very often in the middle of the night, he will get an idea; by morning he might forget it. So he signals for a connection with his New York office and taps off the message by teletypewriter. In the morning, the office force, upon their arrival at the New York office, find the message all ready for them. This is a valuable help to the editor, as it enables him to leave a message in the absence of any one to receive the call.

It is his custom to use the machine for half an hour in the morning, and for another half hour in the late afternoon just before the office closes. In that way he knows what the morning mail has brought and all the developments of the day. He teletypewrites corrections of proofs, changes in headlines, copy for blurbs, and all manner of suggestions and orders. Not Chained to a Desk

Besides, he thinks he gets it all ccomplished more efficiently than if he were in New York, and he boasts that he can type faster than any of his stenographers. Similarly, the editor is not confined to his desk to the extent that he would be if he were in his New York office. Some-times he and the members of his family like to take a sail, or a trip, or a walk through the country. This they can do, and while they are out. New York can send a message which will be all written out for him upon munication. Thus, the editor sees in his return.

187 telephones in the United States Canada has 1,364,200 telephones, or 3.89 per cent, and is outranked in number of telephones only by the United States, Germany, and Great Britain. Figures for the latter country include Northern Ireland but not the Irish Free State.

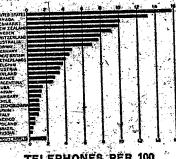

In North America, Mexico takes third rank in number of telephones, and is followed by Cuba Taking into account the other countries of Central America and the West Indies, North America has 60.69 per cent of the world's telephones.

Relephone development in South America has been hampered by geographical and other causes, but substantial gains are being made.

THE WORLD'S TELEPHONES as of January 1, 1932

Argentina has more telephones than any other country on the continent, with Brazil standing in second place, followed by Chile, Uruguay, colombia and Venezuela in the order named. The other South American countries have but a few thousand telephones each, excepting Peru with 14,632.

In Europe, Germany outranks every other nation, with a total of 3,143,655 telephones. Next comes Great Britain and Northern Ireland, with 2,080,056; and France, with 1,-228 879. Sweden has 560,605 tele phones, which is a much better showing than the figures indicate because, on a population basis Swe den outranks every other European country with the single exception or 56.17 per cent of the world's total. of Denmark. Both Russia and Italy have in the vicinity of 450,000 tele phones.

lead over all other countries, with China holding second place. British India has 54,500 telephones. In Africa, the Union of South Africa leads. In Oceania, Australia, with about 500,000 telephones, and New Zealand with over 160,000 account in large measure for the number of nstruments included in that section of the globe.

In recent years there has been a reat increase, not alone in the United States, but throughout the world; in dial telephones. Slightly more than 50 per cent of all the dial telephones now in use are located in the United States, and the number of such instruments throughout the world totals 12,500,000. Telephone development, however, is a question not merely of the actual number of telephones in use but also of the number in proportion to population. On this basis, averaging telephones per 100 of the world's population, the United States takes first place, with Canada second, Denmark third, New Zealand fourth, Sweden fifth, Switzerland sixth, Australia seventh, and Norway eighth.

Figures for the United States show 15.8 telephones for each hundred of its population, and for Canada 13.1. For the entire world, there are 1.8 telephones for each hundred of population.

HIGHWAY HAZARDS TURKEYS SHOULD BE WELL DRESSED

Sand and Calcium Chloride Ap-Yields More Profit plied on Danger Spots

Advance preparations to meet icy road conditions made short work of highway hazards during the season's first cold wave, accompanied by snow that detail, according to the poultry the State, who will distant ice, last week-end in southeast department at Michigan State Colset-up for welfare aid.

Perllous conditions which greeted automobile drivers when the first Miss Dorothy Jewell will entertain heavy snowfall turned to ice on the pavements were promptly met with applications of sand treated with calcium chloride. Sharp curves, steep grades, and heavy traffic intersections were covered quickly by highway workmen.

speed and efficiency expected from the fire or police departments", said E. J. Vaughn, maintenance engineer of the Oakland County Road Commission. "There is no time to consider or methods. They must be planned in advance. Every minute's lelay endangers additional lives."

In Oakland County, stock piles of sand treated with calcium chloride are maintained at locations convenient to the highways. Additional supplies are obtained in winter emergen cies from sandpits throughout the county. The calcium chloride thaws the ice and snow sufficiently to imbed the sand, resulting in a rough road surface and elimination of the hazardous slippery condition

STATE MATTERS OF INTEREST TO ALL

Digest Prepared in Office of the Secretary of State

Notices informing more than 3,000 non-profit Michigan corporations that their charters are in peril unless they file annual reports were sent out last week by the Department of State.

Prior to the 1981 revision of the corporation code, educational and religious non-profit corporations were exempt from filing reports but all others were required to file reports every three years paying a $10 tax and $2 filing fee. The 1931 law requires all non-profit corporations to file annual reports without tax but accompanied with the $2 filing fee. The new law also states that if a non-profit corporation is delinquent in filing reports for one year, the char-ter shall be revoked. Most of the cor-porations that have failed to file the required reports consist of cemetery associations, clubs, churches, lodges, civic improvement associations and church societies in the smaller cities and villages.

Many conflicting views on the best method of dispensing liquor in Michgan are expected to come to light during the special session of the legislature, which convenes Now 22. Two different bills on this subject have been presented to the Legislative Council and a great many other legislators have announced that they will sponsor bills containing their own ideas.
