Our Trip to Cranbrook
 Fern Batchelor
 On November 24, Friday night, our eighth grade General Science class went to the Cranbrook Observatory to study the stars.
 We were all to meet at the school house, and one by one the cars drew up to the school. The drivers were Mr. McVittie, Mr. Batchelor and Mr. Burt, our General Science teacher.
 We paid our twenty cents to the driver, for gas; then, with light hearts and happy faces, we started on our trip to Cranbrook.
 We had a nice, long ride, and when we got to the observatory, we noticed there was not a star in sight!
 It was decided to go through the museum first. We had to go quickly, because a man was going to give us a lecture.
 One of the many things we saw was the beautiful, sparkling colored stones. I think that is one of the things that impressed me most.
 There were about a hundred different kinds of birds, stuffed of course, placed in natural, life-like positions. We saw many stuffed animals, too.
 Then—the lecture! You see, the clouds covered up the stars, so we couldn't look through the telescope. A moving picture was shown on the wall, instead. The man explained and pointed out the moon's surface, and its nights and days. He also said that a certain picture of the moon sometimes takes as long as two hours at one sitting.
 After the lecture, he took some groups of people up to see the telescope. He explained all about it, and how it worked.
 After that, we saw more of the museum. There were snakes, Indian relics, birds' eggs, and a very clever miniature Indian village.
 Near there were some very interesting scenes of insects, ants, bugs, butterflies, all in their natural state. In the background the sky, etc., was painted.
 One very interesting thing was what may be called a "slice" of the trunk of a redwood tree.
 After we had seen all of the museum, we all met in the front of the building. There we signed our names in the visitor's book.
 Then, a tired, but happy, lot of children went homeward bound, thinking, "didn't you have a lovely time, and wasn't it interesting?"
 Thanks to Mr. Burt, who saw that we had such a good time.

Clarkston School News
Mrs. Rockwell's Room
Children who received credits in our spell-down on Friday, Dec. 15, were:
Third Grade: Inez Mae Miller, Elaine Grayilla, Anne Russell, Florence Allen, Richard Lawson and Stanley Perrin.
Fourth Grade: Marjorie Dickman, Jenny Poniatowski, Laura Vliet, Betty Ash, Doris Reynnells and La Vern Hoyt.

Mrs. Hutton's Room
Billy Judd was all excited about being a reindeer in the Christmas play at school. He rushed home to tell his mother, and said, "but I don't know where I'm going to get my front feet." This fact worried him for some time, and we understand he was quite relieved to discover "front feet" were not a part of his equipment.

These are great days for the kiddies. Everyone is so happy, eyes shining with delight, toes and fingers tingling with excitement. We find it rather difficult to keep each one in routine. In fact we do not try very hard, because we're excited too.
A real Santa Claus is visiting our room Friday morning, bringing with him gifts and sweetmeats for all. Santa has phoned Mrs. Hutton to keep a list of children who would make good helpers to assist him when he arrives. We feel sure he will have plenty of helpers, as each one just about "breaks his neck" to get his name on the list.
Oh! the joys of childhood. Would to God, we could always keep them happy and care free.

Grade News
Miss Johnson of the Oakland County Health Department came Tuesday morning and carefully examined everyone of the grade children and found them to be absolutely free from any infectious skin trouble.
The attendance has been extremely good this month. Very few children were absent regardless of the cold weather.

Ninth Grade News
Our class is planning to give a short play for an Assembly, under the direction of Mrs. Dunston.

Jokes
Policeman: "How did you knock him down?"
Motorist: "I didn't, I pulled up to let him go across and he fainted."
Pedestrian (to boy with mongrel pup): "What kind of a dog is that, my boy?"
Boy: "A police dog."
Pedestrian: "He doesn't look like one."
Boy: "Nope, he's in the Secret Service!"

Clarkston Overcomes Last Rally to Mark Win from Hadley 13-10

The Clarkston High School Basketball team took the measure of Friday night's games. The girls, however, were unfortunate in losing to a more experienced team.

The Reserves started off with a flying start and kept up the pace until the end of the game. As a result the Reserves were on the long end of a score which was 12-9. Max Souby, a newcomer, provided some good playing and made his share of the points. The boys all shared in the scoring and each one played his position well.
The girls under the coaching of Miss Le Forge lost a thrilling battle to the Hadley girls. The score however was close and indicated that they played well and will be going places in the future. Miss Le Forge had difficulty in the game getting her material organized but we expect to see much improvement in the future. Some of the material was inexperienced. The score was 15-10.

Clarkston's lineup:
R. F.—Sarah Lowrie.
L. F.—Florence Chamberlain.
R. C.—Charlotte Spencer.
J. C.—Marian Yost.
R. G.—Mildred Shell.
L. G.—Mary K. Hammond.
The boys won a real hard fought contest and probably as the result of Waters' plan for using two teams. One bunch is sent into the game for the first quarter. This wears the other team down, then a new squad is sent in and, as a result, the new players can score easier.
This plan should bring good results later and we believe this point was proved last Friday night.
For the Clarkston team Miller was high point man with two field goals and one free goal for a total of 5 points.
Next week a real game is expected when the varsity teams play the Alumni.
Clarkston scoring:

Waterford Good Will Club Has Xmas Party

The Good Will Club was entertained on Friday at the home of Mrs. H. B. Mehlberg at a one o'clock luncheon. This was the Christmas party of the club. A tree held possession of the sun room, while the dining room was arranged in the Christmas style and decoration. A two course luncheon was served, followed by the business meeting led by the president, Mrs. Mehlberg. Christmas songs were sung. Prayer. The club decided to continue bringing Christmas cheer in different ways to others.
The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth McVittie. This is the annual business meeting and election of officers.
Gifts were exchanged in rather a novel way. Black stockings were hung by the fireplace and gifts placed in them topped by packages of candy, reminding each one of their childhood days.

STATE MATTERS OF INTEREST TO ALL

Digest Prepared in Office of the Secretary of State

The necessity for a rigid examination for all applicants for motor vehicle operators licenses is shown by records of the Department of State.
For the first 11 months of 1932, a total of 1,167 applications were refused and 5,196 licenses were revoked or suspended after being issued. In 1933 applicants were required to submit to a more thorough examination with the result that for the first 11 months of the present year, 5,620 applications were rejected while it was necessary to revoke but 1,902 licenses.

The value of Michigan's motor vehicle certificate of title law is shown by the experience of automobile owners in Illinois and Washington. The two states named have title laws, similar to Michigan's, which become effective January 1.
In both states are many vehicles which previously were registered in Michigan and authorities are demanding that they be furnished Michigan certificates of title in such cases before the Illinois or Washington titles are issued.

The penalty for driving improperly registered motor vehicles or driving without proper licenses is increased greatly under the new financial responsibility law. Before this law became effective, nominal fines were levied in most sections of the state. Since Oct. 17, seven persons have been found guilty of driving without proper licenses and eight for driving improperly registered vehicles. And in each case the persons have been placed under the provisions of the new law, which requires proof of financial responsibility be furnished the Department of State.

FARMERS' WEEK AT E. LANSING

Special Attention Will Be Given to Livestock Subjects

"The Security of Agriculture in Livestock" will be the subject of a talk on the program for the annual Farmers' Week to be held at Michigan State College Jan. 29 to Feb. 2.
Dean W. C. Coffey, of the agricultural division at the University of Minnesota, will give this talk on the value of livestock to the farming industry. Dean Coffey is well versed in livestock production and its value, and was formerly professor of sheep husbandry at the University of Illinois.
Livestock annually brings approximately twice as much profit to Michigan farmers as they net from the production of crops. A study of agricultural profits throughout the country for recent years shows that livestock is the most dependable of all produce from the farmer's standpoint. In several instances, farm animals have proved a boon when crops such as wheat have fallen far short of expectations.

Several outstanding agricultural speakers have been engaged by the committee in charge of Farmers' Week arrangements. All of these nationally prominent men will discuss pertinent subjects of vital interest to Michigan farmers during the annual rural convention to be held at the College the last of January and first of February.
There are about 25 species of the gar-pike fish family known in America.
